AN EGG CIRCLE SOON

The Review is in receipt of a letter from the A. & M. College stating that Dr. F. L. Craddock, representing the College, will be here about the middle or the last of the month to meet with the farmers of this section to assist in the organization of an egg circle. Those who have been selling infertile and rotten eggs during the hot month realize that the price has been low. With a circle in operation several more cents a dozen should be realized. Those interested, who should be every man who sells eggs every week, are requested to watch The Review for announcement as to date of coming of Dr. Craddock. Those that are sure they want to join it will see The Review man who has the necessary blanks. The following is the letter:

College Station, Texas Aug. 5, 1916
Editor Review, Cross Plains, Tex.,

Dear Sir:
Answering your letter of August 1st, will say that we will arrange for our Dr. F. L. Craddock to meet your farmers sometime the middle or latter part of this month and assist them in organizing an egg circle. We will advise you a little later of the exact date when Dr. Craddock can be with your people. Trusting this will be satisfactory, and assuring you of our readiness to help you in any way possible, I remain,

Very truly yours,
H. L. McKnight,
Field Organizer.

FOR SALE

Cross Plains, Texas, 1930. I offer for sale my farm, well improved, near Cross Plains, at 1700 dollars per acre. I could have got $30.00 or more dollars for the same fifteen years ago. Then Cross Plains was a thriving little city, with live merchants, who had nice stocks of goods, paid good prices for grain, cotton, cream, in fact everything we had to sell. We don't have the class of merchants we used to have, our school is not satisfactory, the building is in dilapidated condition. The churches, too, look like they may be inhabited by bats rather than used for religious services. The streets are rough and unsightly, the dwellings of the town are not attractive, and are mostly occupied by transient population. Thus our farms, once the pride of their owners who lived on them, are now tilled by transient renters. Good houses have become almost uninhabitable because of the wear of weather and neglect. Prospectors from the East and other places pass us because our town has lost its prestige and use as a market to sell and buy in, with the result that our lands have depreciated by twenty-five to fifty per cent from their original value. Our little paper which once we all read, after year of alternate suspension and revival, on account of the lack of business, is now defunct for food, I suppose. All of these deplorable conditions exist to-day because we failed to buy goods at our home town and because the merchants sent their orders for job work to foreign concerns. Money that went out of our community never returned. We, alas, killed the goose that laid the golden egg. (A confession like this is a little bit unusual, but it is true.) (Signed) A Farmer.

D. E. Atwood of north of town was here Wednesday. Dan reports that he has sold his crop to Willis Brown and W. B. Irving, and that he is making preparations to move to Haskel county. We are sorry to lose him and his family. He ordered The Review to follow him there, and paid for it for two years.

FROM J. R. ADAMS IN ARIZ.

Dragon, Ariz., Aug. 1, 1916
The Review, Cross Plains, Texas.

Dear Sirs:

I will drop a few lines to let you know that we arrived alright. We landed here the 28th and found we had traveled 876 miles. We have seen some very fine country and some very wet, traveling 70 miles in water sometimes to our rim. It required 65 gallons of gasoline to make the trip. We had only one blow out and very little trouble of any kind.

This has been the finest trip of all my life. Some wonderful things we have seen. We traveled more than 100 miles in sight of the Mexican line and we saw many Mexican soldiers and thousands of American soldiers and many big guns. Arriving at El Paso, we went across the line into Jaures. To-morrow we will leave for Douglas and will cross the line and go over the old battle ground and visit some of the biggest mines of the west. After returning from this trip, we will leave in a few days for another trip west to points not exactly settled on, but mean to see the Grand Canon. Do not know when we will start east.

Send me the paper to Dragoon.

Very sincerely yours,

J. R. Adams.

THE M. E. PROTRACTED MEETING

The Methodist protracted meeting will begin the fourth Sunday in August and will be held under a tabernacle which will accommodate 1,000 people. It will be conducted by the pastor, A. D. Jameson, and his singer, Prof. Riley Tallant, a Baptist. These men have had no little experience. Let the Christian forces of the town rally to this evangelistic campaign. All of every name and order are invited to participate.—The Pastor.

Rainfall For July

Rainfall in Callahan county for the month of July was 1-4 inches. Average temperature at noon 98 1-4 degrees.—Baird Star.

FLY FILTHIEST INSECT

SOME PRECAUTIONS YOU SHOULD TAKE TO BE RID OF PEST.

Get Habit of Keeping Premises Clean and You Will Not Have Much Trouble Fighting Them.

LIES do not waste their time loafing around clean premises. They demand filth for sustenance. So wherever you see flies you can be sure there's filth close by.

During the course of a statewide campaign last year, the Connecticut experiment station conducted an investigation to learn how many bacteria the average fly carried away from the slop barrel, the hog pen, the cow stable and the house. The investigation was thorough and nothing was left to guess work.

This is the report: Each slop barrel fly carried an average of more than 6,000,000 germs; the hog-pen fly carried a little less than one million; the cow-stable fly carried only about 420,000; the housefly carried about twice that number, or 850,000.

If you must have a slop barrel on the premises, keep it carefully screened, else it may spread disease. If you have a garbage can at the kitchen door, keep the can covered. Burn all garbage if you can do so practically. Otherwise drain it and wrap it in paper before putting it in the can.

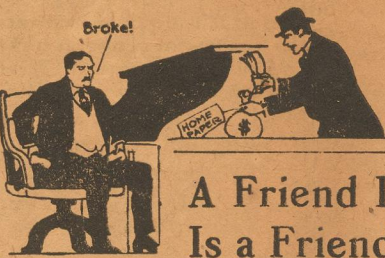

Some day we shall come to look on the fly in the same light we now look on bedbugs and body lice. The fly is filthier than these other vermin. He is born in filth, lives in it, feeds on it, carries it and spreads it on our food. Don't take any chances. Screen your house carefully. Destroy all excretory and kitchen waste. Keep your premises clean.

Teach your children the dangers of flies and make crusaders of them. If your neighbor is a "pull-back" and dirty, report him.

A farmer with a few bushels of wheat is now not in bad condition. $1.35 per bushels is a pretty good price. The farmer that does not make money this year never need try it again.

Prospects for cotton are better this August than they have been for several years. This hot dry summer is pretty hard on his majesty, the weevil. On with the plow. It we had a warehouse this fall we could get money on our cotton at six per cent which would enable us to hold for better prices if we wished.

The compulsory school attendance law is to be enforced commencing this September, if we remember correctly. The State per capital apportionment has been fixed by the board of education at $7.00, which amount is based upon estimated receipts of $8,800,000 and a scholastic enumeration of 1,246,896. This is a good apportionment. The scholastic enumeration includes those seventeen years of age. All under twenty-one can attend school free.

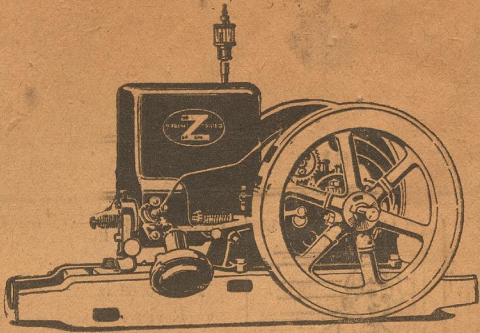

The dry and warm weather the country is experiencing, or enjoying, is doubtful that the dwellers on earth are enjoying it, though they may judge it for the best) is the best antidote in the world for the weevil. Cotton is holding its fruit pretty well just now; with much rain, or even many showers, the forms would begin to fall, and the weevil would be encouraged to do his worst work. A good rain with no follow-up showers, might do good. Feed crops in the sand are doing very well. Corn, though necessarily cut short, is a very good crop, and would, with a rain a few weeks ago, have made a bumper crop. The sand is not suffering much, anyway. Cotton has a knack of holding on a long time without rain, even in the black land.

This country is between the deep and the deep blue sea. No country can make crops without rain; but if it rains the weevil takes the cotton. Let's take without complaining what Nature in her bounty, or God in his providence, sees fit to let us have.

One of the largest accounts allowed by the County this week was in favor of a Dallas house for printing, which house pays no taxes and trades none in Taylor county. This work would have furnished employment for an extra printer if given to a local shop, who would have paid rent and bought his necessities in Abilene, and the money we pay in to the treasury would have remained in circulation here. And local shops could do the work.—Taylor County Times.

The Times works hard to put out a good paper and works hard for Abilene printing. This paper, no doubt, consistently preaches and practices trading at home, a thing the merchant or whatever he is, failed to do who ordered that work done at Dallas. The Review has little complaint to make in the matter of job work being sent out of

He who sends his job work to other places can only say "amen" to the fellow who should be his customer who orders from S. R. & Co. and what can the local paper say.

Cross Plains has many things to recommend her to the world. She can boast, probably, of more brick buildings, than any other town of size in this whole section, and buildings of ample dimensions and modern in every respect. She has a business well able to take care of your every want, and really some that are better and larger than the country deserves. She is admirably located, being the hub of a circle of territory on whose circumference are Coleman, Brownwood, Cisco, Baird, De Leon, etc. the average radius of this circle being about 30 miles. Cross Plains has a few things that retard her growth, such as lack of water, and of initiative, and wealth, etc. But some of these things will be provided later. Our water question will be settled some time. It is an expensive proposition, and a hard problem to solve. Not in vain the distance becomes

Well Pleased.

We sold a De Laval Cream Separator to a family last week, who were not getting enough butter from 7 average cows to supply their table for breakfast, and within 3 days after using the De Laval, they were making enough butter to last three days, eating all the butter they wanted at every meal; and in ten days, they sold $3.00 worth of cream above their own use from these 7 average cows. They are well pleased.

This same thing will happen to you, if you will only give us a chance to show you. Don't think it won't—for you are no exception. You will be "WELL PLEASED."

Why put this seemingly insignificant matter off any longer? Let us bring you a De Laval out to-day for trial.

FROM THOSE HIGH UP

Let Those Who Have Been Successful Advise You As To The Kind Of An Education You Should Have— Men At The Head Of The Affairs Of Our State And Nation.

Following are extracts from letters from some of America's greatest men on the value of a business education. Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Washington D. C., says: "Since I have been elected Speaker I have had it more thoroughly impressed on me than ever before that a thorough business college training is of exceeding importance."

O. M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War, Washington, D. C., "Contemporaneously with taking my general education, I took a course in a business college and found it of value to me, not only generally, but in the practice of law." R. B. Glenn, Ex-Governor of North Carolina: "I cheerfully recommend to every one a practical business education for their children". Oswald West, Ex-Governor of Oregon: "The modern business school plays a large part in fitting young men and women for their entrance into the business world." T. C. Pickett, Representative from Iowa: "The value-even necessity of a practical education to young people today is so obvious that no argument should be required in support of it". E. F. Noell, Ex-Governor of Mississippi: "I take pleasure in testifying to the importance of a practical business education, and to the efficiency of a properly conducted business school in imparting such knowledge". C. N. Haskell, Ex-Governor of Oklahoma: "I consider practical business education of the greatest importance." John W. Kern United States Senator: "Every body ought by this time to understand that business men and business women need business education on the same principle that a doctor must have a medical education." Joseph M. Cary, Governor of Wyoming. "Too much cannot be said in behalf of a good commercial education. I do not believe that such an education can be too highly recommended."

Shouldn't the above evidence settle the question with you as to what kind of an education is needed? Write for catalogue of America's largest commercial school, the one giving the most extensive course of study, the one that has more than 2000 enrollments annually from over half the states of the Union, the school with a National reputation, a salary raiser, the Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas. OBITUARY

My friend was born in Kentucky 72 years ago, came to Texas at an early date settling with his father's family in East Texas where he was reared to young manhood. When the war began was founded in 61, Friend A. W. Booth, then a mere youth, enlisted in the Confederate Army and served with distinction until the close of the struggle. He was among the pioneers of Callahan county where he married and reared a family of ten children, who with his noble wife are left to mourn his untimely death. Have known the deceased for over thirty years and a nobler man never lived or died. He was my friend and I prized him highly. Eccentric at times he seemed odd and strange, but his nobleness of soul actuated to deeds kindness and love. A loving husband, a devoted father and a true and faithful friend has crossed to the great beyond and rests in the shade of the trees with Lee, Jackson and other war spirits he so faithfully served.

To his sorrowing family and many friends I extend my heartfelt condolence.—"Juan" in Baird Star.

SAXON

$815.00 ECONOMY $885.00
F. O. B. Detroit Complete—Delivered

St. Louis Dealers win 300-mile non-stop Saxon Cup—making an average per gallon of gas 34.67 miles.

The grand average of some 2,000 Saxon dealers throughout the United States in the 300-mile non-stop run last Saturday per gallon of gas was 23.5 miles.

Our average in the 300-mile non-stop run Saturday on Dallas county roads per gallon of gas was 21.8.

On one measured gallon of gas on Hutchins Pike this same car made better than 24 miles.

The average of all Texas dealers per gallon was 21.5 miles.

That 300-Mile Non-Stop Run

(By One of the Tourists)

I rode on an automobile tour of 300 miles Saturday and never left Dallas County. I witnessed a six-cylinder touring car go the 300 miles at an average speed of 28.56 miles each hour and use an average of one gallon of gasoline to every 21.8 miles. Its engine never stopped turning over during the whole day—from 6:45 o'clock in the morning until 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon—and when it finally was stopped, it stopped, it seemed unwillingly, so sweetly had it run all day long and so thoroughly had it responded to the call put upon it.

This car was a Saxon Six touring car, entered by Ray-Rose Company, Dallas, and was driven by Ike Anderson of the Service Department. Anderson knew his car and what it would do, but even he was surprised at its perfect performance. G. L. Cade of the Dallas Automobile Club was the official observer.

The writer returned grinning and blistered, but feeling like Mark Twain's jack rabbit—that he had made a little crack in the atmosphere and crawled into it.

Starting in the cool hours of the morning, the first 93 miles was made with only 2 3/4 gallons of gasoline used. As the heat of the day increased, the amount of gasoline used per mile increased in proportion to the heat. The test was one that would be made by any owner on a public road. It can even be judged a little too conservative, for the day being Saturday and harvest time, the roads were crowded with threshers and wagons with grain and farmers en route to and from town.

It was one tour of several thousand that were similarly driven in various sections of the United States—an endurance test and an economy showing of the Saxon Six. Dallas' tour was around the thirty mile Carrollton loop—ten times around it—and the staunch car went at it willingly and without a murmur.

The Strength and Service of the SAXON is proven daily and the above Statements set a High Mark of Economy that should satisfy any one interested in Automobiles.
