Though 77 Years Old S. F. Bond Handling Much Heavy Freight

Usually when a man passes 75 years of age he's much more interested in a rocking chair than heavy work, but S. F. Bond, now nearing 77, finds time for both.

As agent for two truck lines, Bond last month dispatched 144,000 pounds of freight, virtually all of which he handled three times, with help from no one. It was his biggest month in more than 10 years of freight handling.

"I feel fine, the work seems to agree with me", Bond says.

The rocking chair is there, though, and most any afternoon after the day's work has been done, "Foss", as he is affectionately known, can be seen enjoying its comforts as he reads the days news or philosophises to some visitor.

LEGION HAS COMMITTEE HANDLING ITS BUILDING

"Anyone desiring use of the American Legion Hall should contact members of the committee delineated with authority of leasing the quarters for entertainments", said Junior Ford, commander of the local post to the Review yesterday.

Members of the committee, Ford advised, are: Don F. McCall, Ira H. Hall and Chester Glover.

Mrs. J. L. Bonner and daughters and Mrs. Fred Cutbirth were week end visitors in Lubbock.

In Memory of Little Sherry Ann Bowden (Contributed)

Gerald and Nell's baby came for just a short day, and returned to her home in the skies.

With sorrowing hearts we think of them both, Of the little empty crib and tears fill our eyes.

But if Sherry Nell could speak from her home up there And we could catch the sweet words we would hear.

Daddy and mother, Mike and Kent, I love all of you so much, But I am in a home from which I'll never stray for I rest in heavenly places now and always. You do not live in such, And though I am not in your home, I am in your hearts; Me you will never forget.

So, through all the years of your lives I'll be, your baby, your darling, your pet.

So weep not, mother, daddy and dear little brothers for me. For I am safe on the golden shore and I'm waiting in heaven for thee.

30 YEARS AGO October 24, 1919

Uncle Joe Pyle, who lives five miles south of town, is building a nice addition to his home. He will have plenty of room and a nice country home.

Dr. I. M. Howard and family have moved here from Burkett and are occupying one of the Cofman houses in the old town, which he bought sometime ago. He has fixed up a nice office over the Farmer's National Bank. He is preparing to practice his profession in earnest here. We are glad to have them with us.

Last Friday night an even dozen of Cross Plains' noble young men met in the Westerman barber shop for the purpose of organizing a young mens club. The following officers were elected: Ross Wagner, president; Taylor Bond, vice-president; C. A. Freeman, secretary; Tige Gilbert, assistant secretary; J. D. Conlee, treasurer; and Hub Swan, sentry; Committees were then appointed to purchase fixtures, to draft by-laws and a constitution, and to select an appropriate name for the club.

Charter members are: Ross Wagner, Taylor Bond, Walter Westerman, J. D. Conlee, Tige Gilbert, Russell McGowen, Jim McGowen, Ollie Harlow, Hub Swan, C. A. Freeman, Drew Baum, and DeWitt Anderson. Bill Forbes and Claude Harrell are new members.

J. A. Joy of Cottonwood was here Monday with a load of fine apples. He sprayed his orchard with the result that his apples are pretty free from defect.

J. J. Holder has sold and delivered his job of delivering for the town to J. R. Cutbirth. John will ply his old trade of trading for cattle.

20 YEARS AGO October 18, 1929

business firm in Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mable attended the wedding.

Uncle Noah Johnson is in the Sealy hospital in Santa Anna suffering from an infected foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Wilburn were in Fort Worth the first of the week and Mrs. Wilburn underwent a tonsil operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley plan to move to their new home soon.

Word has been received here that Basil Lusk, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lusk, has enlisted in the United States Marines.

Jack Graves who was seriously burned about the eyes in an explosion last week while working on a frigidaire at the West Texas Utilities Co. here is reported to be improving nicely.

Jim Helms, who has been in Chicago for the past several weeks, returned home Wednesday.

Robert Rutledge is bidding adieu to the old home town next Tuesday night to accept a good job in Abilene. Eugene (Tiny) Cross has replaced Robert at Honest Ed's filling station, and Jay Mayes has taken over management of the Magnolia station on East Eighth where "Tiny" formerly hung out.

Evidence that buffaloes once roamed the fertile valleys of Cross Plains trade territory was found Tuesday as workmen uncovered bones believed to be that of a large bison, while digging case-ments for a bridge to span Turkey Creek on highway 36. Observers agreed that the bones were those of a buffalo, with the single exception J. W. (Pappy) Cox argued that the remains were those of a rhinoceros.

Most unusual in the finding was the fact that the bones were uncovered some 12 feet in the earth, indicating that the creek's channel had changed its course since bison watered at Turkey Creek.

Coleman Beats Local "B" Team Thursday

Cross Plains high school 'B' team suffered a 46 to six reverse here Thursday night in a football game with the Coleman reserves. Decidedly outmatched, the local boys did their best to make a game of the affair but Coleman's greater strength was too much, rolling to three touchdowns in the opening period.

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON
Past President, Texas District and County Attorneys' Association

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short case histories, all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson, of Dallas, is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate these loopholes.)

Joe Doakes was charged with robbery with a pistol. A jury found him guilty, and his sentence was fixed at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The indictment of Doakes read, in part, as follows: "that one Joe Doakes, by assault and by violence, with a firearm, robbed one John Smith of one ten-cent piece. . . . However, when John Smith took the stand during the trial he testified that he actually had been robbed of two nickels instead of one dime. The jury saw no difference and promptly convicted Doakes.

The case was reversed by a higher court. Its ruling was that proof did not meet the allegations against Doakes—simply because of the difference between two five-cent pieces and one ten-cent piece. The higher court ruled that Doakes was entitled to a new trial.

The State Bar favors revisions of Texas' criminal statutes in such a way as to eliminate technicalities that result in delay and additional expenditures from public funds.

J. Bond Johnson, Pastor

Our booster band got off to a good start Sunday night under the direction of Mr. Doyle Burchfield, but there is still room for a good many more children between the ages of two and 12 to join.

If there is someone in your family in that age group, you are urged to send or bring the child at seven each Sunday night. In a couple of weeks the children will be singing a few songs at each of the Sunday night evangelistic services. Encourage your children to worship God in this fine manner.

The pastor's Sunday morning message will be "Forgive Us Our Tresspasses" and is based on Matt. 6:14-15; the evening sermon will be "The Perils of One Talent", taken from Matt. 25:26. If you are not afraid of hearing the truth, come and hear these challenging thoughts at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The time for Sunday school has been changed from 10 until 9:45 a.m. in order to allow more time for the assembly periods each Sunday. Please plan to be on time in order not to delay the services.

All youth of the community are invited to team up with Methodist youth for a weiner roast Monday night at seven. Wear your old clothes and come expecting a good time together.

FRUIT DRIPPINGS

A heartbreaking experience is to discover nematode root knot in a young peach orchard. The time to correct this possibility is before the trees are set out. During the fall season while there is still plant growth on the ground is a good time to do some checking for possible nematode infestation. First pull up cotton stalks or susceptible weeds and look for the bead like bumps on the roots and in heavy soils, look for evidence of root rot on random cotton stalks which may have died from the trouble.

On soils which have sufficient slope to justify terracing, this job should be done now. With the soil checked for infestation and diseases and terraced to check erosion, you are then ready to check varieties.

Tom Denman, horticulturist at the experiment station at Stephenville, summarizes his variety testing work by scoring the new varieties. In the group of varieties ripening four or five weeks before Elberta, the high score goes to Dixigem, a yellow freestone red-checked variety which has been outstanding in most test in the past two or three year period. Red Haven scores second in this group. It is a fiery red skinned yellow fleshed freestone peach that is not as large as Dixigem, but is extremely prolific. Varieties ripening two and one-half to three and one-half weeks before Elberta are Sullivan Elberta, which is one of the outstanding peaches. Red Elberta is also a good variety for this period. In this group and unnamed U. S. Department of Agriculture introduction is far superior to any of the other varieties in the test.

These peaches will fit well into a commercial planting program in West Texas.

CHECK FOR TREE BORERS

If you did not start using DDT in the fight against the peach tree borers about two months ago, you had better use something now. It is too late for DDT but, something better is ethylene dichloride emulsion. In recent weeks borers have appeared in many trees in commercial orchards. Ethylene dichloride emulsion is a quick and effective way to control peach tree borer at this season of the year. Clear the trash away from the base of the trunk and apply the following doses: For trees one year old, you should use about one-eighth pint per tree. For two year old trees use one-fourth pint, and for three year old and older trees use one-half pint per tree.

Paradichlorobenzene is an old method which has been used with good results. Wait until the weather has cooled off some before using paradichlorobenzene. Clear the trash away from the base of the tree four to six inches from the trunk. Paradichlorobenzene crystals are then evenly distributed in a narrow continuous circular band one inch wide on the soil two inches from the trunk of the tree. Do not allow the paradichlorobenzene to come in contact with the body of the tree. Pull the soil over the ring of the chemical band to form a cone about three inches deep. Pack the soil to hold the gas around the bark of the tree. Remove the soil cone about six weeks after the treatment has been made.

COVER CROPS FOR ORCHARDS

Cover crop planting time is almost here. The question is—what kind of cover crop should be planned, leguminous or non-leguminous. These observations may help you decide. In orchards where leguminous cover crops have been planted annually for the past several years, growers have found that their trees continue to grow throughout the season, causing delayed maturity of fruit, lack of uniformity in ripening, poor fruit color and many cracks, split seeds, etc. These conditions are the result of an imbalance of soil nutrients—nitrogen, phosphorous, and potassium. The nitrogen level may not be necessarily too high, but more probably the nitrogen level is out of balance with the available phosphorous and potassium. If these conditions described above existed in your orchard last year, it might be well to substitute a non-legume cover crop such as Abruzzi rye or something else.

Junior Ford Points Out Accomplishment Of American Legion

By Junior Ford

Whether you have ever been a member of The American Legion or not, as a veteran, you should know some of the major achievements of the organization, both for veterans and for the nation as a whole. Space will not permit telling the complete story of all of the work accomplished by the Legion, therefore, we have set forth here just a few of the major high lighted accomplishments of the organization. In reviewing these, keep in mind the fact that the Legion is or can be your organization.

Look these high lights over; read them carefully, compare them with what other organizations have done or plan to do, then decide for yourself whether or not you want to continue to be a part of such an organization or if you haven't belonged before, decide for yourself whether you want to join and help carry your proportionate share of the load.

The GI Bill of Rights was conceived, drafted and piloted through Congress by the American Legion, as were the amendments to that piece of legislation.

The Terminal Leave Pay Bill for enlisted men is another result of Legion legislative effort as is the legislation calling for the immediate payment of the Terminal Leave Bonds.

It was the Legion who fought for and secured the legislation making possible the 20 per cent increase in disability pension for veterans.

It was the American Legion that spearheaded the drive to liberalize the GI Insurance.

Public Law 16 providing educational benefits for disabled veterans is a result of Legion legislative effort.

These are but a few of the legislative successes of the Legion at the federal level. In nearly every state in the union, state legislation of benefit to veterans has been enacted at the insistence of the American Legion.

In the field of service to community, state and nation, the Legion at the National, departmental and community levels carries on many types of unselfish activities. A few of the more important ones are as follows:

Well over one half million high school boys taking part in Junior baseball each summer.

More than 200,000 high school students participating in the Legion sponsored oratorical contests each year.

At least 25,000 young men attend Boys State each year with outstanding lay leaders participating in a national forum of government in the nations capital.

Over 3,000 boy scout troops are sponsored by American Legion Posts.

This past year witnessed the presentation of more than 16,000 school award medals to outstanding students in both grade and high schools.

Through the child welfare program more than $68,000,000 has been spent assisting in the care of more than 7,000,000 children. In this program $50,000 was donated for further research in the field of rheumatic fever.

It is highly important that every man and woman belonging to the American Legion renew membership at the beginning of each Legion year. It is also highly important that these Legionnaires take the message of Legion service to all honorably discharged veterans in the community and enroll them in the organization. A continuous large membership is necessary if the program and activities for veterans and for the nation are to go forward.

Legion Posts throughout the nation now have club rooms valued far in excess of $100,000,000 and a paid up membership card gives to the bearer Legion club room privileges wherever he might be.

Add to all of these achievements the fact that any veteran can apply for assistance to any Post Service Officer in the filing of his or her claim for benefits provided by the Federal Government and you still have just a sample of the services rendered by the Legion. The veteran needs the Legion and the Legion needs the veteran.

Brownwood People Favor Dam Project

The score on whether Brownwood wants the Corps of Engineers to build a new dam at Lake Brownwood is now 3,509 to 21.

The 3,509 represents the number of Brownwood residents who signed petitions asking the U. S. Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors to approve the Lake Brownwood flood control project.

The 21 represents the Brown and Coleman County citizens whose signatures are on documents protesting the proposed project.

Most of the names on the petitions asking that the project be approved were obtained by 30 Brownwood Bulletin carrier boys. The newspaper carriers took petitions with them as they collected Friday and Saturday and turned in 3,488 signatures.

Hearing Set October 14

The board of engineers will hold a hearing in Washington October 14, at which time both sides will present evidence concerning the new dam and other work at the lake.

Construction of a new dam and installation of gates in the spillway already have been approved in reports made by the Galveston District and Southwestern Division offices of the Corps of Engineers.

The present dam at Lake Brownwood has been termed a flood hazard by the Corps of Engineers.

A report made by Col. B. L. Robinson said the existing dam is inadequate to withstand an extreme flood and probably would fall under such flood conditions.

"Should the dam fail, the resulting damage and loss of lives in Brownwood and in the valley lands below would be tremendous," the report said.

1,000 Feet Below

In July 1932, 219,000 acre-feet of water ran through the lake in a 26 hour period, although the dam had just been completed and there was no lake.

Officials of the Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1, which owns and operates the lake, say they shudder to think of what would happen if another 219,000 acre-feet hit on top of the 140,000 acre-feet normally carried in the lake.

The new dam proposed by the Corps of Engineers, which would be 1,000 feet downstream from the present dam, would have a 20-foot conduit with floodgates. This would permit rapid discharge of floodwaters, a lowering of the lake level, and creation of a reserve to handle additional floods.

One of the objections to the new dam has been that, along with construction of gates in the spillway, it would double the size of the lake, inundating farm and ranch lands, above the present lake.

Present Level

Corps of Engineer officials have emphasized that the lake would be kept at 1,425 feet above sea level, present spillway level, and that the Brown County Water Improvement District would have control of all water below 1,425.

However, the reserve flood capacity would be available as an emergency measure. Flood waters might be held above 1,425 for several days until the Colorado River's channel could handle the water. Ranch lands might be under water for several days, but on the other hand such a step might avoid serious damage to cities downstream from Brownwood.

Three groups have expressed formal disapproval of the plan—a small group of landowners above the lake, Coleman citizens who prefer a series of small dams rather than one large dam, and residents of the Williams community who have expressed general opposition to federal expenditures in the area.

Plans are being made in Brownwood to charter an airliner to take a delegation to Washington to appear before the rivers and harbors board on behalf of the project.

Health Department Gives Good Advice

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is a very serious disease caused by a tiny germ that looks like a stick with a ball on one end—something like a microscopic lollipop, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. This ball is called a spore and it is the seed of the germ. Lockjaw germs are found in the soil, especially in manured soil of the barnyard or garden; in blank cartridges; etc.—in fact, just about everything. These germs grow best in wounds where there is considerable tissue destruction and in which chips of glass, wood splinters, or grains of dirt have been embedded.

Every accident seen by the physician must be considered from the lockjaw angle; and whenever there is any question, tetanus antitoxin should be given, for it is the antitoxin that has helped to keep the incident of lockjaw at its low level. Your physician will advise you as to its use. Its disadvantages are that it gives only temporary protection; it does not get rid of the lockjaw germs in the wound; and it does sometimes cause hives and other disagreeable symptoms for a few days, particularly if the subject has had previous injections. Should lockjaw develop, it requires much antitoxin and entails great expense; and even then, not all cases can be saved.

It is not possible to free the environment of lockjaw germs, but now there is a method of active immunization. The subject becomes his own manufacturing establishment for antitoxin to combat lockjaw poison.

One nice feature about the treatment is that it can be combined with diphtheria and whooping cough prophylaxis. The current immunization is, preferably, carried out in infancy. Should a child already have had his diphtheria toxoid and whooping cough vaccine injections, he can take the lockjaw toxoid injection alone; and these can be given at any time with very little discomfort.
