COMING ACROSS — Terry Brown, New Home Leopard and area high scorer coming over for five yards and a touch-down. TD tied the score six and six. The Longhorns broke the tie in the last two seconds of the game to upset New Home 12-6.

Longhorns Gore Leopards In Last Seconds Of Play

Underdog Lazbuddie Longhorns stomped previously undefeated New Home in a hard fought, rough and tumble game won in the last two seconds of play.

Coach Paul Kitchen's New Home Boys picked up a six point deficit early in the second half when Longhorn Lloyd Bradshaw smashed through the New Hope line for a three yard T. D.

New Home fought back to a six-six score and held the game in its pocket until high-spirited, Lazbuddie turned on the pressure, and got the ball with two minutes left in the game. They drove through from their own 40-yard line to the Leopard 35 in six hard running plays.

From there, with two seconds left to play, Longhorn quarterback, Kenneth McGehee, bulletted a long pass to halfback Mack Brown. The stands were silent as the ball seemed beyond Brown's reach.

Then pandemonium broke loose as Brown, calling on some unknown reserve of speed snatched the ball from the air for the winning six points.

The victory was doubly sweet for the Longhorns as this was the Lazbuddie Homecoming and most sports pundits had predicted the Leopards would carry on easy victory.

The Longhorns held a 1-2-1 record going into the game. Neither team was able to fight the ball across in the first half Lazbuddie scored.

New Home tied the score when top scorer, Terry Brown, fought across five yards for the TD.

Lazbuddie had 13 firsts against the Leopards 10. Rushing yardage went to New Home with 188 to 182. The Longhorns, however, passed 79 yards on four completions out of nine attempts. New Home carried 61 yards on four completes.

Linda Gleason was crowned Lazbuddie sweetheart and McGehee football Hero at half-time.

Deamons Down Vamps By Wide Margin: 14-6

Junior-Senior Deamons romped over the freshman sophomore vamps 14 to 6 in the F. T. A powder puff clash Thursday.

The Vamps received the opening kickoff and failed to move the ball against the crushing Deamon defense.

The Deamons took over after a punt and moved goalward aided by crashing blocks and speedy backs. From the Vamp 40 Quarterback Dianne Chappell ran up the middle for the score. Linda Scott ran for extra points.

The Vamps received the kickoff and made a sustained drive to the Deamon 45 and from there Quarterback Jeannie King scored on a very contested play. The run for the point was stopped short.

The rest of the 1st half was fought hard between the 20 yard line. Score at the end of the 1st half was 8 to 6.

Junior-Seniors received the second half opening kickoff and fumbled. It was recovered by the Vamps. From the Deamon 45, the Vamps couldn't move against the aggressive Deamon defense so they punted.

The Deamons couldn't move and punted. The Vamps fumbled the ball and the Deamons recovered on the 30 and drove to the goal from there where Dianne Chappell went over from the 1. Try for points was stopped.

The game was marked by penalties and water balloons. The game so active after a rash of penalties against the Deamons, they answered with water balloons and wet referees.

At halftime the Zombie band was out in full uniform to crown the Football beau Hoacio Cabalero.

Mules Showing Spirit: May Go All The Way

The Muleshoe Mules went through their workouts this week with plenty of spirit and hard work, according to Willie McAlpin, assistant coach.

The Mules, in preparing to defend their District Championship, worked on general fundamentals and reaction drills.

After normal practice routine the Muleshoe varsity put on defensive jerseys and held spirited scrimmage with the second unit running offense, for about 45 minutes. Fullback Clifford Gray and Halfback Ronnie Johnson are out with injuries, but will be ready for next week's clash with Morton.

The coaches seem to feel more optimistic despite five straight defeats. "The team is showing high spirits and seem to feel we'll go all the way next week," says Louis Powers, end coach.

The only comment from Coach Bill Taylor, head coach, was "They're looking sharper," was from watching the practices and seeing the spirit and desire evident. I can only say "District JAA watch out!"

"Land Ho"...

Three days out to sea, the Pinta lost her rudder but the ship captained by Martin Pinzon put into harbor at Tenerife.

The Nina and the Santa Maria stood by while the Pinta was being repaired and finally on the sixth of September the three ships weighed anchor again. But in the meantime, news of the journey of Columbus had spread to other countries and the Portuguese sent out several ships to stop him, to wreck him if possible.

Columbus hearing of the news realized he had to out-strip the Portuguese men of war. Speed was of the essence. They were blessed with good winds and they outstripped the Portuguese ships sent to catch them.

It was a long, mysterious frightening journey. On the eleventh day out to sea, the men began to react strangely, frightened by the phenomenon of the ship's compass spinning wildly, startled by the strange birds which greeted them.

The tension was such that Martin Pinzon, an able Captain, believed he saw land less than four weeks out to sea. But it was a mirage.

Exactly one month from the start of their journey, the Pinta came across a stick in the ocean and the Nina saw a branch covered with berries floating in the water. But still the cries of mutiny came and they reached a crescendo.

It was only the fear of having gone too far and not knowing what awaited them Westward, plus the able leadership of Columbus and Captain Martin Pinzon and his brother, Vincente, which kept the men in check.

Exactly thirty-six days after the three ships, set sail from Tenerife, spurred in their departure to destroy them, Christopher Columbus pointed to a light on land. It was ten o'clock at night Thursday night, October 11, 1492. The word quickly spread to the other ships. LAND HO, LAND HO.

But they had to wait for the darkness to dissipate before they recognized that they had truly sighted land. This was the island of San Salvadore. That morning, Friday, October 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus dressed in a manner befitting an Admiral of the Open Seas and accompanied by wide-eyed sailors went ashore bearing the Admiral's Banner. When they landed all the men knelt on shore, kissed the ground and thanked the Almighty. Then recognizing the purpose for which he had come, Christopher Columbus took possession of the land in the name of their majesties, Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand.

When Christopher Columbus returned to the court at Barcelona he was given a royal reception and exhibited to the King and world: cotton, strange plants, unknown birds, some gold, parrots.

He was given the title of Don and in the immediate excitement of the discovery by Christopher Columbus of this new route to the Orient, no one, in the wildest stretch of the imagination, could ever foresee the truly stupendous riches that would someday be discovered in the New World.

It is of no import when it began, it only concerns us that it ended with two words, LAND HO. The end of one journey and the beginning of another. For, soon men who sought Freedom would follow the path of Columbus and create on the shores of the New World and empire built not on gold or cotton or parrots or strange plants but built upon the integrity of the individual.

Screwworm Infestation On the Rise

There is no longer any doubt that Texas will experience an increase in screwworms this fall. The buildup that officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program warned about recently is a reality.

Officials at the sterile fly production plant near Mission say that more than four times as many infestations are now being reported weekly as a month ago.

Producers in a number of counties where no screwworms have been reported for months are now discovering cases. However none have been reported in Bailey County for several weeks. Recent rains over most of the state and plenty of animal wounds are credited for the upswing in cases elsewhere.

Eradication workers are concerned about the increase because it necessitates using more sterile flies for treatment of individual cases.

In spite of the upsurge of cases, the September total of 439 was still far below the September 1962 tally of 3,967. However, officials said, early eradication will depend on the cooperation received from livestock producers. They should continue to treat animal wounds, collect larvae samples and report cases promptly to the county agent, livestock inspector or vocational agriculture teacher.

President Is Installed At Wayland

Roy C. McClung was installed as the eighth president of Wayland Baptist College in ceremonies Tuesday attended by over 1,000 persons.

Dr. McClung succeeds Dr. A. Hope Owen of Lubbock, who became president emeritus.

Dr. McClung pledged Wayland to "quality education, strict discipline and dedication to scholarship."

He was installed by Dr. R. A. Springer of Dallas, representing the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and by J. D. McPhaul of Lubbock, chairman of Wayland's board of trustees.

Dr. Abner V. McCall, president of Baylor University, introduced the speaker, Dr. Kenneth Scott Latourette of Yale University, who predicted outstanding accomplishments for the college and said "one of the challenges of a Christian college is not to be afraid to face facts in the search for knowledge."

Roger Maris of the New York Yankees hit his record breaking 61st home run Oct. 1, 1961 against Boston's Tracy Stallard.

SOUTH VIETNAM MISSION

President Kennedy ordered Defense Secretary McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor on a special mission to South Vietnam where they will review military efforts for a week and report their findings for further study.

The main purpose of the mission is to sort the truth from conflicting reports to Kennedy from different official United States sources in Vietnam.

ATOM TREATY APPROVED

was passed by a vote of 80 to 19. Explosions underground are permitted so long as there is no fallout of radioactive material outside the testing country.

When Russia and Britain officially ratify the treaty it will be the first treaty on a point of major East-West conflict that the West has been able to work out with the Soviet Union since 1955.

HOUSE PASSES TAX BILL

The House passed by a vote of 271 to 155 the largest tax cut bill in history.

If the Senate passes the measure it holds the prospects of $100 to $200 more take-home pay every year for the majority of tax-paying families. The administration proposes the tax cut to begin January 1.

Goldwater Is Strong Today But His Future Worries GOP

If the Republican presidential nominating convention were to be held tomorrow, many feel Senator Barry Goldwater would be the party's candidate against President John F. Kennedy a year from next November.

That is the view of many political writers and pundits, whether or not they happen to personally agree with the Goldwater philosophy. And it is backed up by some public opinion polls with excellent past performance records. In these polls, the Senator is significantly ahead of other possible candidates.

The Goldwater boom has been a dramatic one. Numbers of his followers are imbued with almost a Messiah-like zeal. Goldwater clubs have sprung up throughout the country. Goldwater stickers and buttons are seen growing in number. He seems to have a particularly strong following among the younger Republicans, which is a very great asset indeed. And this has happened even though he is not a formally announced candidate for anything except his Senate seat.

Senator Goldwater is a conservative, who has small use for most of the ideas of the liberal wing either in or out of his party. Yet he is a strong party man, who had charge of the campaign to elect Republican senators in '62 and labored loyally for all concerned, including some with whom he is in profound disagreement. Moreover, he has gone to some length, particularly of late, to disassociate himself from the extreme conservative right wing. He has modified some of his positions — on taxation, certain government welfare activities and other controversies. But he is the tireless and eloquent enemy of policies which, in his view, threaten to create a central governmental colossus, possessed of virtually limitless powers, at the expense of local and individual rights and responsibilities. The individual human being looms very large in his esteem. He doesn't think of people as statistics.

But the fact that the Senator now seems well ahead of any other Republican hopeful does not mean that this condition will obtain next summer, when the convention is held. A great deal of water can go under the bridge between now and then. Some Goldwater supporters feel that the drive to nominate him may have started too early — that it may run out of steam at the crucial time. In any event, a real fight looms. The anti-Goldwater forces are now gathering, in large part at last, behind Governor Rockefeller. The Governor, liked the Senator, is not formally a candidate. But few doubt that he will make a run for the prize. And, like the Senator, the governor on the big issues in speeches and avoid labels, either liberal or conservative, and to make it clear that his views aren't just a Republican version of the present Administration's. He has strongly emphasized his faith in private enterprise, in maintaining vigorous and responsible local government, in holding federal spending to the present level, and so on. Actually, there are a good many important areas in which he and Goldwater see pretty much eye to eye. But there are others where the differences are great, and it is this that will be stressed in the months ahead.

Cotton Root Rot Can Be Reduced In Several Ways

Farmers have been planting cotton on root rot infested land for years with little effort to control this major cotton disease.

Root rot, which is making marginal land out of otherwise productive cotton land, thrives during wet weather. However, it has been severe in many dry areas this year. Research has shown that several practices will reduce cotton root rot. They are crop rotation, deep plowing, and residue management. Any one of these practices will help to reduce root rot, but a combination of them will do a better job of controlling disease.

Through this year's crop is in the harvest stage, now is the time to plan for next year's crop. Plan a crop rotation, and residue crop on the root rot land. A good three year rotation program to follow is grain sorghum, small grain and cotton. Grain sorghum and small grain are high residue crops when grown under good productive conditions, say agronomists. By following the small grain with cotton the farmer has the opportunity to deep plow the grain stubble during the hot, dry summer months to a depth of 8-10 inches, which will kill some of the root rot fungi. The following spring the soil is ready for cotton.

These soil management practices will not control the cotton root rot completely, but they will greatly reduce it.

TO SCHOOL REUNION

Mrs. Effie Bray and Mrs. Horace Blackburn left Amarillo by plane Thursday for Okolona, Miss. where Mrs. Bray will attend the 67th class reunion at Okolona College.

This will be the last reunion held by the class.

Rockefeller's Return

More liberal Republicans have been encouraged of late to speak of Governor Nelson Rockefeller's comeback. They point to a recent Gallup Poll which shows that the New York Governor has picked up two or three points on Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona. They also are cheered by the fact that, among both Democrats and Republicans, Rockefeller is running about even with Goldwater.

Comeback talk makes for interesting political speculation. But it should be remembered that the main factor for Republican candidates to consider is their popularity within their own party. They must win the nomination from Republicans.

And while it is important for Republicans to think the nominee can win, it is also true that the opinion of most Democratic voters is relatively unimportant, for they are not going to vote Republican, in any degree, except perhaps in the South. And there Goldwater is the overwhelming favorite.

Those who are trying to explain Rockefeller's comeback say that his private life is now dropping into the past.

Nevertheless, perhaps this will drop into the background. Then the only issue which Republicans would be faced with would be one of following a candidate who was very much like the Democrats in his liberalism, or a conservative. That is the basic issue, and not the personal life of either candidate. It should be the basic issue.

DeGaulle-Adenauer

Elderly, retiring Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany has paid his last official visit to President Charles DeGaulle of France. In a somewhat romantic communique from Paris, it was said that the two men had broken all kinds of diplomatic precedents with their fondness for each other.

De Gaulle not only shattered protocol to go to the airport to greet Adenauer but did it again when the Chancellor left. And the two men, at De Gaulle's suggestion, had agreed to meet again from time to time, even after Adenauer is a private citizen.

The Paris communique spoke somewhat wondrously of this simple arrangement as "unprecedented" in modern history.

Of course, it all adds up to the fact that De Gaulle hates to see the aging Chancellor, whom he won over almost completely, departing the scene. He will have no such adulation from the new German Chancellor, Lewis Erhard, though Erhard has pledged himself to honor the Franco-German alliance.

It is unlikely that Erhard will further this aim, for Erhard has made it clear he favors British entry into the European Common Market, and also that he places the United States goal of a broad Atlantic alliance and community ahead of the smaller goal of a Bonn-Paris axis, dominated by Paris.

Thus the sentimental farewell, Americans will hope, marks the diminution of the axis philosophy over and above the broader concepts championed by President John Kennedy.

Recent Grant

The 1963-64 budget was greatly aided by a recent grant of $25,000 made by the Moody Foundation of Galveston and a $10,000 grant by the Sears-Roebuck, Southwestern Division, of Dallas, according to W. L. Stangel retired Dean of Agriculture at Texas Tech and John I. Bowling of Hale Center, Paishandle members of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation's Board of Trustees. The Bailey County United Fund has ear-marked $150,000 in support of the 4-H Foundation.

"The Texas 4-H Club youth movement is one of Texas's oldest youth organizations and continues to play a vital role in agricultural production and improving the farm standard of living of early corn clubs for boys and canning clubs for girls. Prior to World War I 4-H Club youth pioneered efforts to diversify Texas agriculture from essentially a single cash crop, cotton, then severely threatened by the North

Girl members of canning clubs learned how to preserve foods for home winter use and often sold their wares for profit; money thereby earned was invested in better clothing or in chickens or other farm enterprises.

The 4-H Club movement today places primary emphasis on the development of member character, thrift, individual enterprise, and leadership. A 4-H Club member selects one or more of 142 projects in which he or she invests capital, time, energy, and management.

Accurate records must be kept on the project, it is entered in competition and is later sold for profit or loss, a practical personal experience in the individual enterprise business system that undergirds the strength of Texas," according to Cal Johnson, Chairman of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.
