

Spring Festival Is Set At Cottonwood On Saturday

The Cottonwood community has long been noted for its benevolence, and Saturday it undertakes a new chapter to extend a helping hand.

The first annual Spring Festival is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the grounds of the First Baptist Church. Funds raised from this endeavor are to be deposited in a love fund which will be used, when disaster strikes, emergencies arise or other worthy causes happen.

Sponsored by the Cottonwood area Baptist women, they ask cooperation and involvement of all the folk in the community and surrounding countryside and communities. Everyone is invited.

It was pointed out that persons who wish to donate items for the festival may bring those articles to the annex building at the church from 1 to 5 p.m. on Thursday or all day Friday.

All sorts of items are expected to be offered for sale in the garage and handcraft division of the festival. There is also expected to be an abundant amount of baked goods for sale.

To help those who wish to browse and shop through the offerings, chili dogs and drinks will be offered for sale.

Special program is planned for the youth from 2 to 4 p.m., and all are invited and will be welcomed.

Persons wishing to donate may call Mrs. Eddy Albrecht at 725-5587, Mrs. Wayne Brown at 725-7369, or after 6 p.m. Mrs. J. O. Williams at 725-6277.

Nettie Wilson To Note 100 Years Sunday

Nettie Wilson will be honored on her 100th birthday Sunday, May 8, at a party-reception at the nursing home in Rising Star where she resides.

All friends, neighbors and relatives are invited to drop by and wish her well during the reception which is to begin after 3 p.m., according to word received here.

Born May 8, 1883, she has lived in and around Cross Plains since she was 8 years old, and has resided at the nursing home in Rising Star for the past five years.

Shower Monday Caressees Part Of Area, Slaps Other

An early thunderstorm which rumbled through this portion of Texas ignored parts of the Cross Plains area while it lashed in fury at others.

The cloud virtually "missed" country to the west and north of Cross Plains, while that to the south bore the brunt of its lashing. In Rowden only a light sprinkle was recorded, and in the Cottonwood sector moisture reports ranged from a "trace to .30 of an inch" according to Beverly Brown, Review correspondent. The Atwell community also received only a light sprinkle.

Meanwhile in the Burkett locality heavy rain, hail and wind was reported by correspondent Freeda Burkett. The cloud struck at 4:20 a.m. she stated lasting about 30 minutes. Gauges measured from 2.50 to 3 inches of rain in the community. Although she stated that no homes had been reported damaged, several vegetable gardens were "beat to the ground" and fruit and pecan trees heavily damaged.

Cross Cut also received hail with D. L. Rife reporting 1.70 inches of rain and enough hail to damage gardens and other tender vegetation. O. B. Byrd reported 2.50 inches of rain with some hail, and Mrs. Les Byrd said in town rain was somewhat less, but only scattered hail balls fell.

Cross Plains recorded 1 inch of rain and a small amount of hail doing no damage. Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Dill reported .60 of an inch of rain at their home to the north, and at Sabanno Edwin Erwin measured .50 of an inch. Pioneer reports were of 1.30 inches with no hail.

Monday's inch of rain brings the total for 1983 to an even 10 inches in Cross Plains. In April .95 of an inch of rain fell.

Monday's moisture was considered a boon by most of the area receiving it. It was especially good for the small grain crops. One observer in the country to the south of Cross Plains said this might make the wheat.

Damage Is Heavy In Odd Crash Thursday

Damage was heavy to a 1982 Buick, driven by Ophelia Fort of Brownwood, and the back section of Mrs. Dora Smith's home Thursday morning just south of the city limit on Highway 206-279.

According to investigating officer Larry Nelson, Cross Plains DPS trooper, Mrs. Fort was traveling north on 206, came up behind a Steve Brown truck also traveling north. She went into a ditch, lost control spun around, crossed highway, crashed through fence, hit guy-line on utility pole and then hit back of Smith house.

Mrs. Fort was transported to Brownwood Regional Hospital by Cross Plains E. M. S. with multiple, but not believed critical injuries.

Sunday, May 8, is Mother's Day, and I would like to wish each of you mom's out there a very special day. I know that there are some of you who no longer have your mothers here with you, but I'm sure that there are memories that still linger. Mother's Day can be special to you because of those memories. I thank God that my mother is still with us, and that He blessed my sister Sharolyn, and me with such a special one. Good Mothers are a blessing from God so please remember to thank Him for yours, and don't forget to remember Mom on her day.

To our Mom, Sharolyn and I would like to say that we love you and that you still have that special place in our hearts.

I would like to pass this song or poem on to all you mother's. It was on a card made for me by my oldest daughter when she was in the first grade and had a special meaning to me.

M is for the many things she gave me.

O is that she's slowly growing old.

T is for the tears she shed to save me.

H is for her heart as pure as gold.

F is for her eyes with love light shining.

Put them all together, they spell MOTHER, The one who means so much to me!

There is a possibility that daylight-savings time could start the first Sunday in March instead of the last Sunday in April if the legislation is passed by the full House and Senate and signed by President Reagan. It has been approved by the House Energy and Commerce Committee. The daylight-savings time would continue to end on the last Sunday of October. Moving clocks ahead one hour in the spring and back one hour in the fall applies to areas who have not exempt themselves.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

In the topsy-turvy world of state politics, taxes, taxes, taxes are hogging the limelight while pretty near blinding any observer trying to closely watch the show.

Early last week, House and Senate budget writers crowded they finally balanced the state budget at $29 billion with no new taxes, and conservatives in the House (where a tax bill by law must originate) vowed no tax bill would make it out of committee there.

Within four days, following an onslaught on the Capitol of tax hike proponents, most of that same leadership was touting the probability that some form of tax hike will be passed this session.

Governor Mark White, who wants a tax hike to upgrade public education and teachers salaries, announced after an hour-long skull session with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis he expects the trio to reach agreement to raise some state taxes and finance most of the state's spending needs.

Speaker Lewis, who had until last week stood firm against any tax hikes, did not commit publicly to a softening of position, but surprised many by saying he is looking at the options.

Most surprising was Hobby's announcement he may have found a loophole allowing the Senate to initiate an increase in the state gasoline tax which funds highway construction.

"The Pothole Bill"

Hobby said the proposed "pothole bill" which revises the highway spending formula could provide a legislative vehicle for a fuel tax hike. The Senate can initiate a tax-increase proposal provided the money was intended for a dedicated fund and not for general coffers.

However, the initial reaction of Capitol legal staff was their office would not provide such a loophole.

A gasoline tax is favored by many legislators because its proceeds are split 75-25 between highways and public schools, thus providing an estimated extra $642 million for roads and $214 million for education.

"Wish List"

Why the need for taxes if the budget leadership has balanced the budget as it claims?

This session the Legislature is writing the budget in a manner different from the past: the first six sections are the traditional appropriations bill which the lawmakers have balanced. But added this year is a seventh section, dubbed the "wish list" section, which increases in funding if taxes are raised.

Contained here are the proposals to increase highway construction, prison construction, increase teachers' salaries, fix the state's potholes.

Spending in Section Seven is about $2 billion.

The Senate

The Senate voted to suspend the rules and allow consideration of the controversial horserace wagering bill, but an all-afternoon filibuster by Dallas Republican John Leedom postponed a vote on passage until after the week end. Leedom read fistful after fistful of anti-horseracing mail while his bored constituents yawned, left to go eat lunch, then returned to give him the temporary victory.

Earlier in the week, the Senate approved measures to:

—Authorize school districts to excuse students of all faiths on holy days but count the students present for state funding purposes.

—Outlaw sport dogfighting for betting or entertainment.

—Allow the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission to order new car dealers and manufacturers to replace "lemon" vehicles or refund the purchase price.

—Penalize persons giving false residence information or establish guardianships so school-age children can switch public schools.

The House

The House approved legislation which would:

—Set up a "workfare" program for recipients of state welfare benefits.

—Allow Texas votes to decide whether to issue $500 million in bonds for low-interest loans to farmers and ranchers.

—Make the unofficial counting of votes in statewide elections a duty of the secretary of state, replacing the private Texas Election Bureau.

Hart, Mondale

Two Democratic presidential hopefuls separately addressed joint sessions of the Legislature last week, getting mostly yawns on both occasions. Colorado U. S. Sen. Gary Hart called on legislators to outthink opponents, not outspend them, just after he met with the governor and minority caucus members. Former Vice President Walter Mondale, speaking two days later, vowed greater support to education and science.

Mondale touched a little closer to home by asking legislators to increase education funding, but he drew the line on telling Texans to raise taxes for teachers salaries.

He blamed the state's revenue woes on the policies of President Ronald Reagan.

Pioneer News Items

By Mabel Halsell

An example of Paul's great love and solicitude for The New Testament Church is shown in the beautiful Apostolic Salutations that he used in most of his Epistles. To the Philippians he wrote:

"Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ."

We accept the letter as being written to His Church today; Paul, the person through whom Christ salutes His followers. Therefore we can depend upon the Epistle for daily guidance.

Paul sums up the Philippian letter in Chapter 4: 8b with these words "think on these things."

I wish to share some of my thoughts on this whole verse.

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true. What is truth? Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." Jn 14: 6 "The law is the truth." Ps. 119: 142;

"Whatsoever things are honest." Diogenes, the Greek philosopher went about the streets of Athens with a lighted lantern, seeking an honest man; so it is said. Have we reached that "point in time" again? The seven chosen to be deacons as given in Acts 6: 3 were honest men. Stephen was among that seven "Look ye out seven men of honest report. . . ."

Read, also, Romans 8: 21.

"Whatsoever things are just." Our very liberty, our Democratic government and our favor with God depend upon justice. Read Deut. 16: 20; Ps. 82: 3 and Prov. 21: 3; Isa. 56: 1.

"Whatsoever things are pure." Take heed for herein lies the potential for the downfall of the individual, the home, the nation. Remember Sodom and Gomorrah. Read 1 Tim. 5: 22; 1 Jn. 7: 3 and Jn. 1: 27.

"Whatsoever things are lovely," linked with "pleasant" in David's describing Saul and Johnathon in 2 Sam. 1: 23. Read Solomon's description of Christ in Songs of Solomon 5: 16. The very essence of Christianity is loveliness.

"Whatsoever things are of good report." The greatest report, one that is old but ever new is of the saving mission of our Lord Jesus Christ; the Gospel Message.

The remainder of the verse begins with "if" if there be any virtue; if there be any praise. . . . "THINK".

When there is no virtue and no praise, God is grieved "THINK". Mrs. Ethel Brown and Lou Grier went to Brownwood on Tuesday, where Mrs. Brown had an appointment with her doctor.

Mrs. Brown's visitors were Mrs. Mildred Coggin for lunch on Friday, William Lowery of Dallas, Velma Brown and Helen Tillotson. Mrs. Brown visited with Mrs. Cora Howland on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sessum's visit in Lancaster, with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Witherspoon and Rachel, netted a return visit by Rachel. She says she wants to stay a month. That is an undetermined issue. Rachel is having a great time splashing in the irrigation water, picking wild flowers, making stories about the rain, the hail, the lightning and the thunder. The first crisis for "Grandma" or "Grandpa" was finding Rachel's glasses. They came up missing after the irrigation bath.

Where else could the glasses be? Thankfully they were intact; just a little muddy. Keep having a good visit. Rachel! Rachel! is five years old.

Travis Parsons, Tabitha and Jamie Hutton went to Dallas to a Church Youth Rally, Saturday afternoon. Saturday morning Travis and Warren Parsons went to Stephenville for the 4-H competition at Tarleton State. Travis entered an illustrated talk on Companion Animals. Warren's entry was an illustrated talk on Safety. Tabitha was on the Dairy judging team. They represented the Rising Star 4-H Club.

Fishing in the farm tank, Sunday evening, after church, netted Robbie Hutton a four pound eight ounce Catfish. An excellent fete for a seven year old child.

Sunday visitors in the Vernon Phillips home Sunday for lunch were Mrs. Nora Phillips, Vernon's mother and Mr. Boyd, Glenda's father. Mrs. Phillips had lunch with her grandson and wife, Allen and Janis on Friday.

Mrs. Roady's sister, Mrs. Edyth Morton is seriously ill in a hospital in Arizona. We hope the best for her.

Joe Roady returned from a fishing trip to Lake Brownwood. He had caught seven pounds of Catfish.

Their visitors were her daughter Billie Freeman, son Bob and wife and Charley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Barton have returned from a trip to the Rio Grand Valley. Enroute they visited a niece in Rockport. Mrs. Barton reported extreme dry weather in the valley, with irrigation water restricted and Lake Falcon and other lakes at record lows.

Mrs. Juanita Harlow and daughter, Janet picked up her mother, Mrs. Foster in Bangs and went to Houston during the week end where they attended the Foster Family Reunion. They were accompanied by Billy Foster of Pecos.

Cottonwood News

By Beverly Brown

What a beautiful Monday morning with a thunderstorm and rain falling! The birds, certainly agree with their singing of thankfulness. The ground is in need of moisture, especially the small grains and gardens. Rainfall as of 10:00 a.m. a trace to three tenths (.30) received.

Cottonwood makes its first T. V. debut. The Waggoner's Cottonwood Store's grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremonies was covered by K. T. A. B. Channel 32 and K. R. B. C. Channel 9 of Abilene on Saturday morning. Local and area residents attending the event met Rusty Rhodes K-FAB and Jana Echols K. R. B. C. news-reporters. A Gift To Mother

By: Mrs. W. A. Ernst of Irving

What perfect gift Mother to you can I give?
Only the Christian life that I live

No other gift can better say,
Thank you for guiding me along life's way.

Ranger-Born Infant Has 9 Grandparents

Following is the story which appeared on the front page of a recent edition of the Eastland Telegram concerning the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. John Schaefer, residents of Cross Plains until last July.

Johnathon Wayne Schaefer, born in Ranger Hospital at 8:40 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, 1983, created quite a bit of interest in Eastland County and elsewhere. For not all babies have as many living grandparents, much less a living great-grandmother.

Johnathon Wayne weighed 7 pounds, 14 1/2 ounces at birth, and was 20 inches long. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Schaefer of Eastland. He has a sister, Rachel Leann, (19 months old). Maternal grandparents are Pete and Doris McCoy of Eastland. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schaefer of Cisco and Merilyn Whitely of Cross Plains. Maternal great-grandparents are Joe and Pearl Howell of Eastland. Paternal great-grandparent is Oscar Schaefer of Cisco. The baby's paternal great-great-mother is Ida Gray of Stanton.

Burkett News Items

By Freeda Burkett

Heavy rain, hail and wind hit the Burkett Community at 4:20 a.m. Monday. Rain was gauged at 2 1/2" to 3" over the town. Several nice vegetable gardens were beat to the ground and fruit trees and pecan trees were heavily damaged. The storm lasted about thirty minutes, quitting as suddenly as it had started. Little damage to homes has been reported at the time of this writing, however, only a portion of the reports have been received.

The annual meeting of the Smith Cemetery as scheduled at the cemetery Saturday morning a week ago. A discussion was held between the directors concerning accomplishments gained in the past few years, and some things they plan to do.

A short business session was held to elect officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Fay Merrill of Cross Plains was re-elected as president, Mildred Jennings re-elected as their secretary-treasurer and the committee was completed with the election of Ron Cagle of Goldthwaite, C. H. Edgington of Burkett, Howard Carmichael of May, Arvin Lewis of Bangs, and Raymond Hounshell of Cisco as directors. The present caretakers, Bret and Lance Porter of Burkett were re-elected to that position.

Mildred received $325.00 in donations for the upkeep of the cemetery. Donors were Jo Davee $25.00, Howard Carmichael $25.00, Mildred Jennings $15.00, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Moore $25.00, C. H. Edgington $20.00, T. G. Phillips $10.00, Freeda Burkett $15.00, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Lewis $20.00, Mrs. Charity Cagle of Goldthwaite $100.00, Ron Cagle $20.00, Clois Cagle $20.00, Ray Strawn $20.00, and Cleo Edgington $10.00.

There were twelve people in attendance and they enjoyed browsing around over the cemetery which is about one square acre of land nicely fenced and very well kept. It is located on a high slightly rolling area amidst beautiful green trees and grass covered ranch land. The place has drainage in all four directions and enters Pecan Bayou nearby. Almost all graves are graced with very pretty headstones dating back to 1850 and perhaps earlier. The stones were so well cut that the writing has remained clear on most of them.

The cemetery is not totally ancient because it is still being used with some recent graves of descendants of those early settlers of that area.

Because not many people were present for the meeting it is understandable because the cemetery is so hidden away in its serene, peaceful and humble location. After leaving the main road one turns into pasture land with not much more than trails to follow and at times one just follows tracks made by those ahead of you to get to it. These paths are not smooth. Several chug holes and mud puddles must be gone through or around-maybe, and rough with three or four wire gates to open, etc.

This could sound like a dull trip and a waste of time. Not so! It's a beautiful drive through scenic ranchland and along fence rows in some fields. "Roughing it" a little only adds character to the beautiful landscapes framed by nature for us to enjoy.

Those in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. Fay Merrill of Cross Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lewis of Bangs, T. G. Phillips of Grosvenor, Mrs. Charity Cagle of Goldthwaite, Ray Strawn of Grosvenor, Howard Carmichael of May, and Mildred Jennings, Jo Davee, Grace Green, Freeda Burkett and C. H. Edgington all of Burkett.

On returning to Burkett, Grace invited Jo, Mildred and Freeda in her home for refreshments and an enjoyable visit together.

The American Cancer Crusade in the Burkett area was concluded last week with total contributions amounting to $522.00. As the local chairman of the crusade I want to thank everyone that had any part in making it a very successful one here, and ask each of you that gave to this worthy cause to accept this as a personal "Thank You". We want to give a very special note of appreciation to our local crusaders that canvassed each district in our area. They are Mrs. Billie Adams, Comal Dist., Hap Bearden, Live Oak Dist., Lucile Cross north side of Burkett, Maurine Clark east of town and I did the south side of town. I appreciate these workers who made my job successful.

The Ladies 42 Club met in the home of Mrs. Ernestine Watson in Cross Plains Thursday last week. Those present were Lucille Gould, Zora DeBusk, Lillian Brown, and Jo Davee all of Burkett, Ruby Beihl of Coleman, Vera Pearl Bunnell and a guest player, Mrs. Vera Ferrell, both of Cross Plains. Members not present were Mrs. Otis Mayo of Coleman and Mrs. Otis Mayfield of Burkett.

Jim and Edna Burkett are proud grandparents of a 7 lb. boy, Matthew Clayton, born April 22 to their daughter and husband, John and Pam Tillery of Burkett. Little Matthew has a five year old brother, Johnathon Shane. They live at the Jim Burkett place on Burkett Rt. out of Coleman.

Virgil and Freeda Burkett were guests of Charles and Audette Butler of Cross Plains for a Chinese luncheon in Brownwoods following worship services Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Enson of Odessa, Mrs. Cora Hoover of Coleman, and Mrs. Ora Hoover of Grosvenor were recent visitors of their sister and husband, Oma and Pete Walker.

Mrs. Virgie Adams spent last Friday morning with Mrs. Eula Hunter. Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Riley of Cross Cut and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunter of Coleman and Johnnie Slaughter of Abilene visited her Saturday and Birdie Helms visited her Sunday evening. Mrs. Hunter continues to have a lot of pain from the broken arm and we all hope she will feel better soon.

Mrs. Virgil Burkett accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Clint Edgar of Millersview to Cisco Saturday to attend the funeral of a friend, Mrs. Kizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Mayfield attended the birthday celebration of his mother at Rising Star, Thursday of last week. She was 104 years old that day and enjoyed the excitement of the event and all the attention of the occasion including an interview and pictures by a TV reporter from Abilene. When asked what she attributed her longevity to she replied, "By living it one day at a time" She said she had in times passed, worried about her children and raising them up, but went on to say, "They are old men and women now!"

An account of the celebration and pictures of the interview were shown that evening on the N. B. C. news cast.

Mrs. Susan Andes of Coleman and her son, Charles, of Nacogdoches visited Jack and Zora DeBusk Wednesday of last week and enjoyed an oyster supper with them.

Wayne Harris and son, Will, of Midland were here turkey hunt-

"WHO IS MOTHER?"

Mother — the poet applauds her, the historian lauds her. But who is Mother? Mother is the one who rises up from sleep to soothe the cries from the crib, who sits beside the bed with cool hand upon small feverish brow. Mother is the one who sews, scrubs, cooks, irons, patches, mops but somehow still has time for your every problem, no matter how great, no matter how small.

Mother is the one who sings that forever remembered lullaby. Altho her voice may crack and creak, altho she may sharp the naturals and natural the flats, to a child and to childhood memories the song of Mother is the song of the angels. Mother is the one who bandages skinned knees and stubbed toes, who can kiss the pain away and say just the right consoling word that makes everything all right. Mother is the one who sits in the pew and with memories crowding in will smile a little and cry a little as she hears the words intoned, "to love love and to cherish till death do us part".

Mother is the one who, as grandmother, will spoil your children because she loves them so deeply and because in them she sees another you. Mother is the one who will do the most for you and in return ask the least. Her love never fades. No matter how far away you are, no matter how often you have neglected her, she is always there to do whatever you ask in the same way she has always done: her best for you.

Mother is the one for whom you must finally pluck the white rose and tenderly pin it to your heart. Life is never the same without her. You never become accustomed to the absence of her presence. She should call or write, but she does not. That which you took for granted for so long is no longer granted you. A part of the best of earth has slipped away, and you miss her dreadfully.
