

Parade, Junior Rodeo Set Friday, Saturday

Cross Plains Roping Club will sponsor a parade Friday evening and performances of a junior rodeo Friday and Saturday nights. The parade will begin at 6 p.m. and will include all comers, according to Charlotte Brown, organizer of the processional. "We need entries," said Miss Brown, "especially do we need bicycles and vehicles of all types. All types of entries will be welcomed, including three-wheelers and motorcycles, that are decorated and in good taste, she continued. "About the only requirement to have a place in the parade down Main Street is to call Miss Brown, advising her of the entry. She may be contacted at 725-6545 or 725-7777 by Thursday, Aug. 9.

All entrants in the parade will meet at the school Friday, Aug. 10, at 5:30 p.m., according to Miss Brown. Cross Plains Roping Club Junior Rodeo performances will begin at 8 p.m. both Friday and Saturday in the club's arena on banks of Turkey Creek on western edge of town. Sammy Smith Rodeo Company will again this year furnish stock for the wild west show. Admission at the gate both nights will be $2 for adults and $1 for students 12 and under. It was noted that all contestants in the rodeo must be 21 years old and under as of January 1, 1984. All entries must also be called in to Norma Evans at 725-6209 by Wednesday, Aug. 8, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Competition will be broken down into three age groups, 16-21, 13-15 and 12 and under for both boys and girls. All-around buckles will be awarded in each age group in both divisions. Entry forms are available at Cross Plains Grain and Peanut Co., Inc. and Lawrence Farm & Ranch Supply, Inc. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Evans.

Outgoing rodeo queen, Tina Evans, and incoming queen, Shelley Key, will be presented at each performance. A dance will be held at the grounds each night. Admission charge will be $3 per single and $5 for a couple. Music will be furnished by Ann Dye and the Sundance Band of Abilene.

The August 11 gathering will begin about 9:30 a.m. with registration at the park, located on the western edge of the city just off Highway 36. Supervising the day's activities will be Jack Scott, serving as master of ceremonies, and Turner Simpson, who is in charge of the entertainment through-out the day.

Kiwanis Club Offering Free Smoke Detectors

The Cross Plains Kiwanis Club has purchased a limited number of smoke detectors, which are being made available free of charge to persons who are eligible. You must own your own home, have a Cross Plains mailing address and be a SSI recipient.

Persons living in rental property are not included at this time since they are protected under Article 5236, which was passed by the Texas Legislature in September 1981 making it mandatory for all landlords to install smoke detectors in all dwelling units before September 1984. All new units built after this date were to have them installed before renting.

The smoke detectors may be obtained by contacting James Oscar Koenig at the Western Auto Store.

Anyone needing information concerning the smoke detector project may contact Joe E. Hanke, Jr., a Kiwanis spokesman said.

Carolyn's Corner

By Carolyn Glover

Ethel Brown of the Pioneer community donated the following poem for use in this column, stating that it comes from an old lady that knows what she is talking about. It is entitled Never Grow Old. There is a time in life I'm told. When people will say you're old. Though your mind is alert and sound.

In the wrong, you're too often found.

There are times when I'm sad and lonely. And just think of myself only. I'd give much for a friendly hand

And a heart that could understand. It's not the years that sets you apart

Nor that you forget things a lot. So many changes come too fast. Then you retreat to a quieter past.

When you grow old and ugly and gray. Wanting to impress people in your own way.

No one will want you to be around. Where fun and good fellowship is found.

The older ones are loving and giving. Experience teaches much about living.

They only want to spare you the pain. Of falling and having to rise again.

Their feeble hands are always held out. For they know pitfalls are all about.

Many tiny hands reach out in fear. For the loving touch that's always near.

If you are lucky to live many years. In spite of trials, heartaches and tears.

Keep a stiff upperlip and a heart that's bold. But never, never grow old!

By Ethel King Brown 7-28-84

The following was contributed by Leonard Wood, principal of Cross Plains High School. It is entitled World, Take My Son By The Hand. My son starts to school tomorrow.

It's all going to be strange and new to him for awhile and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now, he's been king of the roost. He's been boss of the backyard.

I have always been around to repair his wounds and I've always been handy to soothe his feelings.

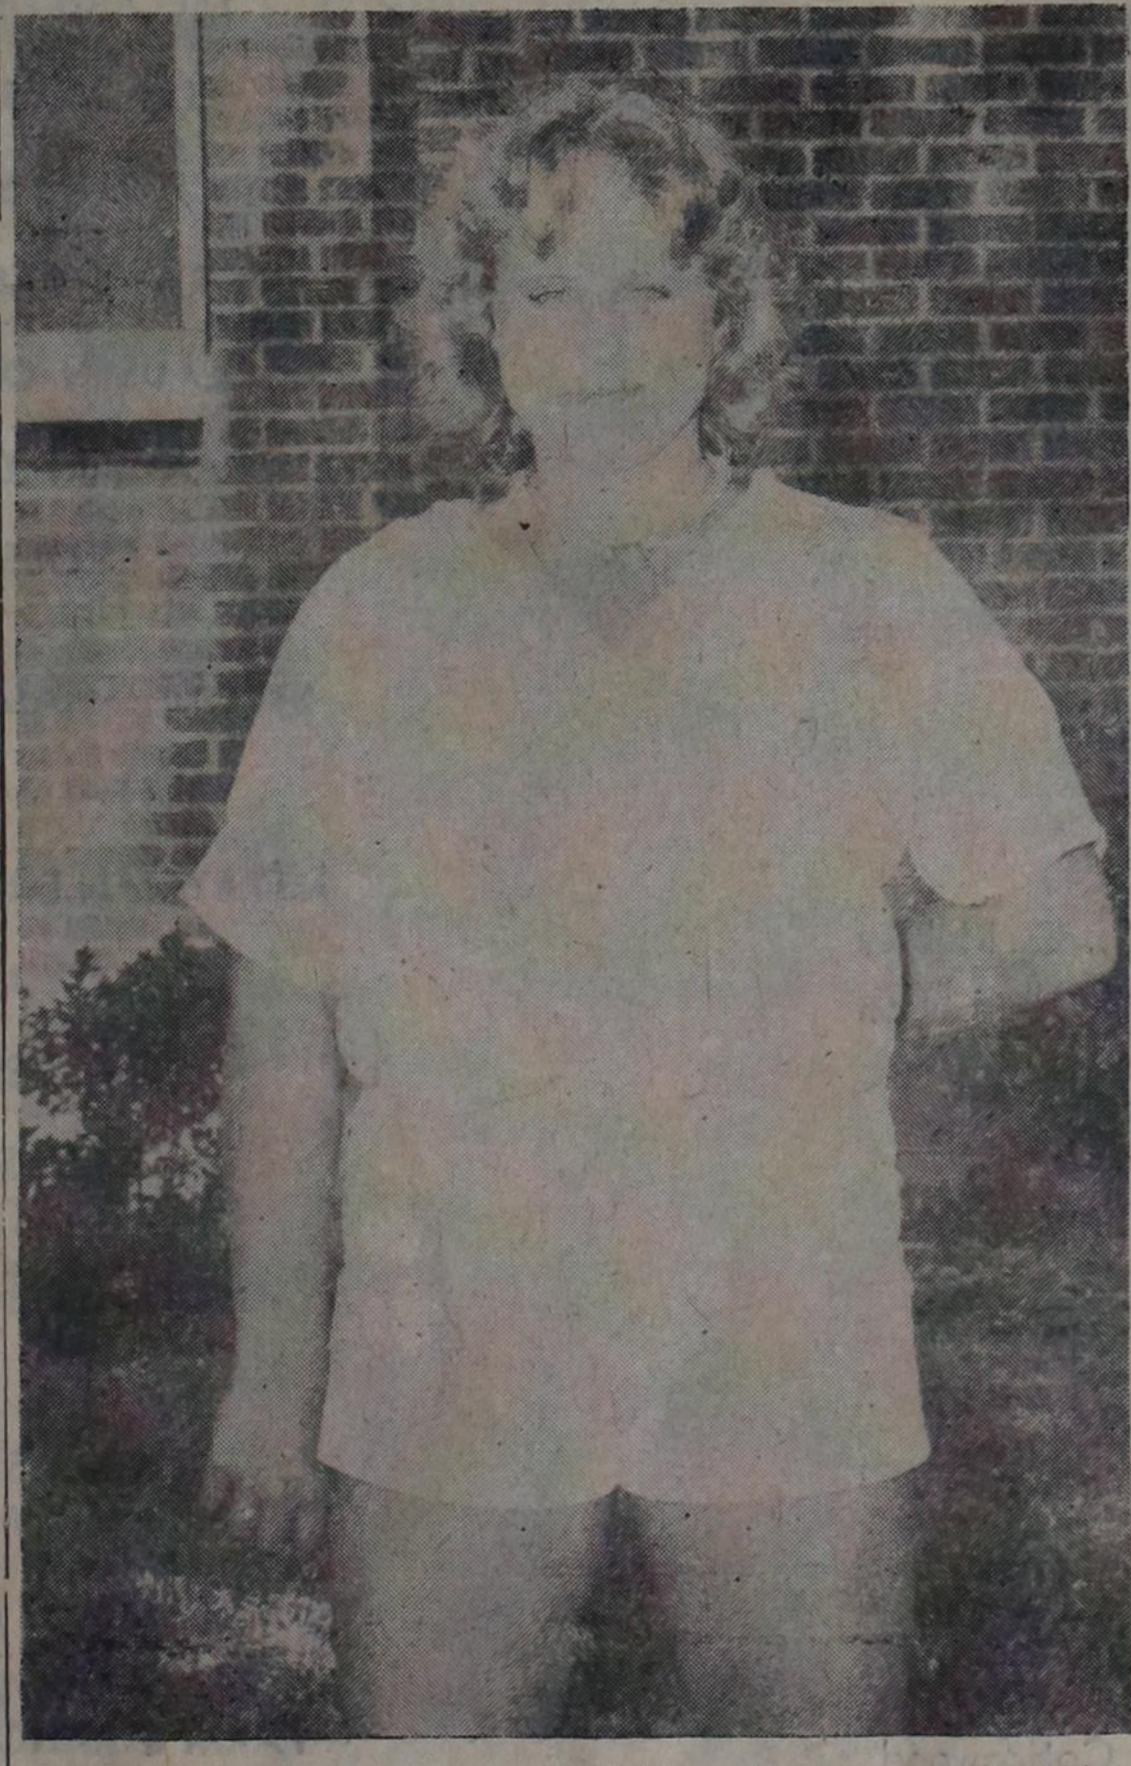

But now...things are going to be different. This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start on Approximately 145 persons attended the 64th annual reunion of Pioneer Ex-Students Association under the tabernacle at Pioneer Saturday.

The annual reunion which includes ex-students, former teachers and community residents of Pioneer, Sabanno, Liberty, Cook, Curtiss, Peak and Gunn, began with registration about 9 a.m. and officially got underway with the invocation by Hiram Foster of the Pioneer community.

Outgoing president Bobby Jack McCowen of Cross Plains spoke briefly on topic of "Our Freedom in America to Have Such Assemblies (as the reunion)", and then led the group in singing God Bless America."

John Hanke Is Awarded $400 Texas National Guard Grant

John Hanke was recently awarded a $400 educational grant offered by the Texas Army National Guard in conjunction with the first annual Governor's Leadership Camp. The presentation was made in the state capitol by Speaker of The House Gib Lewis. He and Alesia Thompson, both senior students at Cross Plains High School, attended this unique workshop. Alesia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thompson and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Hanke.

The week long camp, held in Austin July 9-13, was composed of more than 100 students from across the state. Local representatives were selected on the basis of teacher recommendation, PSAT scores, and short essays. Mrs. Bobbie Trammell, school counselor, was the local supervisor.

Participants engaged in various lectures and activities designed to make them more competent and resourceful leaders. During the week John was nominated for the grant by his fellow students. He then competed against 11 other finalists before a selection committee. He was chosen using an elaborate scoring system which encompassed 14 areas.

An exciting trip to the capitol highlighted the camp. The group witnessed the signing of the education reform bill. Afterwards, John presented Governor Mark White with a report on education prepared by the students during the workshop. The report openly voiced both likes and dislikes about the bill and the current educational system.

The party will be held at the fire station.

He explained that a representative from an oil company will be on hand to lecture on fires, fire prevention and how to deal with fires. He will cover such blazes as minor grease fires on cook stoves to oil storage batteries ablaze.

Scott said that the representative has attended extensive training for the position he holds.

Sorority Fashion Show Set Monday At Lakewood

By Kathy Word

The wait for the Beta Sigma Phi Second Annual Fashion Show is now coming to an end. The style show will be held poolside at Lakewood Recreation Center Monday, August 13.

We urge those who plan to attend that have not done so, to get their tickets as they will be sold on a first come first serve basis, says Dora Smith, sorority president. The admission is $2 which includes meal and entertainment as well as the fashion show itself. If you have not purchased a ticket, and would like to do so, please call 725-6476 or 725-6605 for ticket availability.

The meal will be served at 6 p.m. by sorority hostesses, and is sure to be a treat, as it is being prepared by a gourmet chef, from Austin, Texas. Jesse Duran, father of Mrs. John Sharpe of Cross Plains, has planned a menu of fajitas, refried beans, spanish rice and other tidbits to tempt even the most dedicated dieter. Mr. Duran was in the Air Force for 20 years, and for the past 18 years has been passing along his knowledge as a chef to his students at the Camp Gary Vocational School in San Marcos. He specializes in ice and food sculpture, really showing his creative abilities with the art of cuisine.

You will be dazzled by the fancy footwork of the Bonnie Lassies, who attend dance classes at the Slim Gym in Cross Plains, under the direction of Bonnie Potter. The girls have been working diligently on their classical spanish dances, with a special surprise ending for your enjoyment. The girls performing will be Tonja Potter, Deana Conlee and Lynn Reeves who are all members of the Senior Dance Class. Also performing in the junior high group are Stephanie Walker, Kami Hargrove, Kathy Parrish and Blandye King.

And, last but not least, the fall fashions will be modeled by sorority members, local women and school girls. The fashions will range from the very casual to exquisitely feminine evening wear. These fashions will be brought to you by Trails West of Rising Star, The Gazebo of Cisco, Johnson's and Higginbotham's, both of Cross Plains and Utah Tailoring, which consists of custom designs sold locally by Yvonne Peevy.

This will surely be a night to be remembered, so make plans to attend. Come, relax and enjoy the South of the Border flare with us. Hope to see you there. Ole!

Maybe You Didn't Know

THE 9 MYTHS OF UNEMPLOYMENT
Fourth In A Series.

MYTH NO. 8: We must do something.

Although the U. S. provides some of the most generous unemployment benefits known, and despite the fact that our economy is the world's leading job-creating machine there are still those who demand that we "do something" for those millions who want jobs and can't find them. Such people correctly point out that unemployment is a waste, and that if everyone had a job, it would go a long way towards curing our social ills. (Every 1 percent increase in unemployment "costs" the Federal government $25 billion in lost taxes and increased hand-outs.) The problem isn't with the goal, which is commendable, but with the means by which they advise accomplishing it, which are terrible.

Essentially, the "do something" proposals fall into three categories: traditional pork-barrel programs and protectionist measures, popular with the unions; grandiose "industrial policy" schemes, favored by the intellectuals; and subsidy programs for big business.

The first set of proposals have been tried in various forms for fifty years, with negligible results. Both public-works programs and protectionism have saved some jobs — usually union ones — but at a terrible cost to jobs in other sectors of the economy and to the general prosperity. Though it's quite possible that we'll see protectionist legislation (such as "local-content" bills) passed if the Democrats win in November, it will be pushed through with a notable lack of enthusiasm. Not even the liberals believe in these notions any more.

The various industrial policy schemes are even worse: they'd substitute bureaucratic judgments for those of the free market, with predictably disastrous consequences. And, though every proponent of industrial policy will assure you politics won't intrude in the planning process, it's clear that sooner or later any industrial program will be dedicated to serving the most influential interests, to the detriment of everyone else.

Subsidizing business to create jobs has become a popular policy, particularly with state and local governments. Recent years have seen the spectacle of bidding wars among locales to see which can successfully bribe Fortune 500 firms to locate plants in their area. Such programs ignore two basic truths about the economy. First, as Lewis Lehr, the chairman of IM has said, "businesses do not hire people because of tax-incentives... they hire people because there is work to do." Second someone has to pay for the benefits, and high taxes not only keep away potential industry; they also drive out businesses already in existence.

MYTH NO. 9: Unemployment isn't important.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The reality of unemployment in America today is that there are over eight million Americans who want jobs and cannot find them.

At the 1980 Republican convention, Ronald Reagan brought down the house when he said he'd emphasize three issues in the Presidential race: "jobs, jobs, and jobs." He went on to win a stunning victory, becoming the first Republican in modern times to carry the blue-collar vote and do respectably well with the union rank-and-file.

During the campaign, Reagan advocated specific proposals to cure unemployment, including a two-tier minimum wage and urban "enterprise" zones to promote youth and minority employment; consideration of eliminating the tax on interest and capital gains to encourage savings; and reform of such restrictive legislation as Davis-Bacon, which lowers employment in the construction industry and adds needless dollars to the tax mill.

CLOSING:

But once in office, he retreated to emphasizing the usual Conservative-Republican defense, tax and spending priorities, leaving all of his job-creation ideas to gather dust in congressional committees.

Hopefully, Reagan will be reelected. If he is, he could give his second term a bright star by keeping faith with the unemployed, and with those millions of working men and women who've sided with him and his program despite the recommendations of union leaders and the pull of tradition. He could demonstrate that faith by aggressively promoting his previous agenda, and adding to it new proposals not formulated in the politics of redistribution, but based on a sound understanding of the free market. To do this he should concentrate on the following areas:

- 1 — Pro-union legislation which gives unions unfair control of the job market must be eliminated;
- 2 — Minimum wage laws must be abolished so employers are free to hire workers at an economically feasible rate;
- 3 — The government must stop subsidizing unemployment so that the jobless have more incentive to find work.

And he should keep in mind the words of Jack Kemp: "Real jobs — those that produce goods and services and, in turn, create more jobs — come in only one way: by harnessing the private enterprise system, the ultimate source of all America's wealth."

Coach Asks Help To Build Buffalo Pride

By Coach Ron Lankford
Attention all Cross Plains Buffalo fans! It is the time of the year to think about supporting the Buffaloes through another exciting year. The Cross Plains All-Sports Booster Club is meeting Monday Aug. 13 at the football field at 8 p.m. to get organized for an exciting year.

If you have a son or daughter, a relative, or any interest at all in anybody who is involved with athletics at Cross Plains Schools, your attendance is needed. Our young athletes need to know they have your support. Attendance at club meetings has sunk to ridiculously low numbers, with only a handful of loyal, die-hard supporters there every time. We must show the athletes we are behind them.

I want to stress that it is an All-Sports Booster Club, not just a quarterback club. It has done things to benefit basketball, track, and other sports as well as football.

I believe we are in for an exciting year for Cross Plains athletes, and we want the whole town to share in our enthusiasm. Get behind the Buffaloes this year and be proud of our young athletes.

Thank You,
Coach Lankford

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Ruby McCowen and Naoma over the week end were Joyce Richardson and his nephew, Jack Jr. (Skipper) Richardson of Midland, Vic and Linda Curry and their baby son, Richard Powell of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Burlie Paul McCowen of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCowen of Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pattison and Lori of Del Rio. Bruce has recently been promoted to the rank of Major in the United States Air Force.

The noon meal was again catered by the Colony Restaurant at Cisco, which is owned and operated by former residents Bill and Lucille Hester. The meal was served to 118 persons.

Most of us are usually ready to try new methods and new ways of teaching, but sometimes in doing this we lose the facts and the message we set out to teach. I'm afraid we are casting out too many proven ways for the yet unproven. Be cautious, find out where these ideas are coming from and what the end result will be. This brings to mind what Gregg Knight said in his article "Lifting Up Jesus" in which he wrote "I am talking about a fact of truth which is backed up with scripture and not some far out idea or theory. We can dream and imagine something, but truth is what the world needs. The world has gotten away from the Bible into theological jargon and fuzzy chatter. How many religious leaders today really stick with the Bible only."

The following poem carries out this train of thought. "You're out of date" said young preacher Bate To one of our faithful old preachers:

Who carried for years, in travail and with tears
The gospel to poor sinful creatures.

"You still preach on Hell and shock cultured ladies,
With your barbarous doctrine of blood:

You're so far behind you will never catch up
You're a flat tire stuck in the mud."

For some little while, a wee bit of a smile,
Enlightened the old preacher's face;

Being made the butt of ridicule's cut.
Did not ruffle his sweetness or grace.

Then he turned to young Bate, so swane and sedate,
'Catch up, did my ears hear you say?

Why I couldn't succeed if I dot-
ed my speed.
My friend, I'm not going you-
way."

It's beginning to look like the Democratic Convention may have been a Sunday picnic compared to what may be in the making for the Republican Convention. A radical organization has formulated plans to protest and possibly disrupt the Republican National Convention, including the establishment of a tent city and promising "Creative Civil Disobedience".

They are a coalition of groups called the Alliance for Justice in '84". An Alliance for Justice bulletin reveals that one of its national planning meetings was held in the office of the Institute for Policy Studies, the far-left "think tank" that serves as a headquarters for various revolutionary and Maxists movement. The following groups are some that are active in the Alliance for Justice: The U. S. Student Ass'n., the American Fed. of State, N. O. W., the Progressive Student Network, Church Women United, Pedagogical Task Force, National Gay Task Force, U. S. Peace Council, United Church of Christ, Lutheran Council and the National Council of Senior Citizens. Behind these groups is the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now (ACORN). Then there are the Liberal Republicans to deal with at the convention led by Auspitz with the liberal wing who want to change the rules of the convention. —So time will tell.

Callahan To Share In Job Training Fund

Governor Mark White has announced that $1,112,468 will be used for job training programs for economically disadvantaged, unemployed, and underemployed Texans in the West Central Texas area. The Governor has approved the expenditure of these funds for job training programs in Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Haskell, Jones, Kent, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Rannels, Scurry, Shackelford Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor and Throckmorton Counties. The Texas Department of Community Affairs has executed a contract effective July 1 for the provision of a job training program under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA).

The Job Training Partnership Act is a catalyst for integrating the private and public sector in developing skills needed by Texans for productive employment and economic self-sufficiency," Governor White said.

Under the Job Training Partnership Act, local elected officials in partnership with private industry councils, composed of business and community representatives, plan and provide programs best suited for residents of their area. Program services include basic education skills training and job placement.

Screwworm Cases Found In Mexico

Confirmation of three screwworm cases about 100 miles south of Rio Grande City in Mexico should concern livestock producers in this area, Dr. John W. Holcombe executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission has said.

The three cases are in an area about 30 miles southeast of Monterrey in Mexico.

"Cattlemen in this area need to begin to take the look for possible screwworm infestations. Producers are encouraged to submit any suspected screwworm cases to the fly lab in Mission. Take a sample of the infestation. Sample kits are available from Texas Animal Health Commission area offices, county agent offices, and other outlets," Dr. Holcombe said.

The last confirmed screwworm case in Texas was Aug. 31, 1962. It has been nearly two years since we have had a screwworm case in Texas," Dr. Holcombe noted.

"This is due in large part to the cooperation of livestock producers in checking for possible screwworm outbreaks, and continued vigilance is needed now," he said.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

(Intended for Last Week)

AUSTIN — As late as two or three weeks ago, West Texas, particularly conservative Democrats, were seething over the lack of consideration being given to them in the state's electoral process. But two or three weeks from now, they may well find themselves the objects of a lot of political attention, especially behind-the-scenes vote-wooing.

President Ronald Reagan and his Texas Vice President George Bush spoke to an estimated crowd of 28,000-30,000 in Austin last week. They pointedly and repeatedly invited disgruntled conservative Democrats to cross party lines and find a permanent GOP welcome mat.

By coming to Austin, the politically liberal oasis of Texas, to hand deliver his Republican invitation, Reagan puzzled the incumbent Democratic leadership... but he sure got the attention of a few of them.

Leaders of today's Democratic coalition, including labor, blacks, Hispanics and urban liberals, almost ignored West Texas during the primary process. The majority of votes are located east of Interstate 35 and the Rio Grande Valley. Liberal Democrats have in recent years, regarded West Texas conservative Democrats as something akin to a red-headed stepchild who really has nowhere else to go.

Gramm's Effect

But with Democrat-turned-Republican Phil Gramm as the GOP nominee for U.S. Senate, the rules of the game are changed... now they do have a place to go.

Moreover, many conservative Democrats who voted in their U.S. Senate primary for either Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock or former Ambassador Bob Krueger, who also represented a large portion of West Texas in Congress, do not have any inclination to vote for the eventual winner, liberal Lloyd Doggett of Austin.

Besides a lack of philosophical agreement, Doggett's low-road attacks on both Krueger and Hance have not been followed up by even sheepish apologies, leaving many conservatives still fuming. The presence of two northern liberals on top of the ticket doesn't help soothe them, either.

But if Gramm symbolizes the concept that a Democrat can change parties in Texas and still prosper, the leaders of his former party are aware of his effect and are very anxious to defeat him in November. A few weeks ago, some West Texans were seriously talking about seceding from the state. Now, they find themselves as much or more a key to victory for either party as any other group.

Bullock Halts

The good news for Gov. Mark White last week was that Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock told reporters he would not challenge White for the Governor's Mansion in 1986. Saying he had found no "groundswell of support", Bullock surmised a continued candidacy would be detrimental to good government.

The bad news for White came when the Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox and former Attorney General John Hill were subpoenaed to appear in federal court where atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair was successful in overturning a section in the Texas Constitution mandating Texas officials to "acknowledge the existence of a supreme being". O'Hair had a few choice words to direct at the presiding judge: "He saw me in court, and then the first thing he did was open court with a prayer."

Bullock Forecast

Last week Bullock told Texans they can expect a stronger state economy than the national economy for the next year.

After polling 222 Texas companies, Bullock said they are producing more employees in the next six months. Less than one-tenth planned personnel cuts.

Trial Delayed

The trial of Attorney General Mattox on a commercial bribery charge, scheduled Sept. 17, will be delayed until February. Mattox' defense counsel has conflicting trial dates throughout the fall.

Candidate Back In

A Republican candidate for the Austin state Senate seat being vacated by Doggett was back in the race again last week after resigning for lack of GOP support.

The withdrawal of Pat McNamara would have left his party with no nominee against Democrat Gonzalo Barrientos. But Austin GOP leaders, perhaps embarrassed by McNamara's departure on the eye of Reagan's visit to thied town, pledged to provide him with both staff and funds if he would get back in the race, an offer he accepted.

Texas Tackles

Two Texas legislators visiting Boston last week during the National Conference for State Legislators found themselves witnessing a store robbery...while they were inside the store.

They tackled the robber recovering the $270 taken from the cash register of an elderly women store manager and returning it to her. The bipartisan "crimebusters," Rodney Tow, a Conroe Democrat, and Terrel Smith, an Austin Republican, were with the wives in a bookstore, when the incident, which spilled out onto the sidewalk in downtown Boston, occurred.

To live his life in the world he has to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

Teach him...but gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true.

Teach him that for every scoundrel, there is a hero — that for every crooked politician, there is a dedicated leader.

Teach him that for every enemy there is a friend.

Let him learn early that the bullies are the easiest people to lick.

Teach him the wonders of books. Give him quiet time to ponder the eternal mystery of birds in the sky, bees in the sun, and flowers on a green hill.

Teach him that it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat.

Teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone tells him they are wrong.
