No Teachers To Be Elected Here Until After April 7 Vote

Members of Cross Plains school board in regular session Monday night called an election to be held here April seventh for the purpose of naming a complete new board of trustees. The action is necessary to comply with law which requires that an entire new board be chosen following the consolidation of another district.

No teachers for next year will be named until after the election in April, the Review was told.

Named to serve as judges at the election were: Clyde D. Sims and W. C. Rouse. They will choose two clerks to assist.

To have a candidate's name listed on the election ballot application must be filed with Junior Ford, secretary of the board, at least 10 days prior to voting. This will make the deadline March 29, the Review was told. A petition bearing the names of 10 voters will nominate any candidate, or a person may have his name listed on the ballot by simply filing his own application in due time.

The seven persons elected will cast lots for the length of their terms. Three will get one year terms, two will receive two year terms and the other two will get three year tenures.

8 Medals Will Be Given High School Students This Year

Eight medals are to be awarded high school students at the close of the present school term, it was announced Tuesday by superintendent Newell H. O'Dell.

The medals are to be given most outstanding students in these subjects: Agriculture, band, citizenship, home economics, and to the valedictorian, salutatorian, and the student best exemplifying the spirit of Cross Plains high school.

Recipients of the medal will be chosen by a secret vote of faculty members.

Denton Valley Girls Capture Region Two Basketball Crown

Mrs. Blain Odom and her Denton Valley girls have done it again. Saturday night the sharp shooting Denton Valley sextet emerged winners of the girls regional basketball tournament held at Brownwood, winning the right to enter the state meet at Austin this week end.

The Denton lassies defeated Hawley in the final game 36 to 31, with Jean Farmer pacing the scoring with 16 points. Her twin sister, Jo, accounted for 13, and Patsy Crow bucketed seven.

Prior to the final contest Denton Valley had breezed through games with Mason and Fairy. Those who attended the tourney and watched all teams participate say the Callahan county girls were by far the classiest outfit entered. Their baffling passing and superior floor work brought quick leads in all games, none of which was ever seriously threatened.

Two Large Lions Seen Near Putnam Monday Morning

The little city of Putnam has been alerted for action since early Monday morning when reports were brought in that two large Mexican lions had been seen near there.

The lions were reportedly viewed by J. W. Miller and his section gang of five workmen early Monday morning. They were traveling west of Putnam in a handcar. As they neared Catclaw creek, about two miles west of town, a huge lion was seen straddling the tracks. Miller says the lion leaped off to the south and was joined by another. The two lions moved off about 200 yards and stopped.

Miller and his workmen returned immediately to Putnam and notified Deputy Sheriff Sam Maynard, who is regarded as one of the county's foremost hunters. Maynard took his pack of six dogs to Catclaw creek and immediately picked up the trail. The dogs soon outdistanced the men on foot, traveling in a southerly direction. After the trail was lost Maynard got three of his dogs and returned to Putnam. Another dog showed up Tuesday but the remaining two are unreported.

Maynard told a Review reporter Tuesday night that he felt confident there are Mexican lions in the area south of Putnam. He reports having seen one near the highway several years ago. Too, he tells of a hunt some eight or 10 years ago in which one of his dogs was killed and others frightened away by some large beast. Alton Tatom, of Atwell, was hunting with Maynard at the time.

Charley Cunningham, Putnam drug merchant, says interest was pretty keen about the report of lions Monday but that things have quieted down now.

For several years Forest Scott and several other farmers and stockmen in the area north of Cottonwood have reported unaccountable losses of goats, some sheep and calves. Similar reports have also come from the Admiral locality.

A number of hunters in the Putnam locality have sought to "jump" the animals, whose presence in these parts is unexplainable, however, they have never been brought to bay with a sufficient number of dogs to make a kill.

His parents have been in constant attendance at the bedside the past two days.

City Election April 3rd Will Be Write-In Affair

The annual city election here April third will be strictly a write-in affair.

Although terms of three councilmen will expire next month and an election had been called to fill the vacancies, no candidates complied with the law which covers printing of names on the official ballot.

If the election is now held as ordered April third, voters will be given blank pieces of paper upon which to write names of anyone they choose for the three council posts. The three highest vote getters, willing to serve, will then be certified.

Terms of Lindsey W. Tyson,

Edwin Baum, Jr., and Howard Cox expire in April. None of the three has yet publicly announced whether or not he is willing to be drafted for another two year tenure. According to attorneys though, the three may serve until their successors are chosen and qualify. If the write-in voting April third ended in ties or if for some other reason the results remained in doubt the present councilmen would be expected to serve until such time as properly relieved, city officials have been advised by attorneys.

In checking with Mrs. Ava Childers, city secretary, Monday afternoon it was learned that the law requires candidates who wish to have their names listed on the ballot to sign "candidacy blanks" at least 30 days prior to the date of voting. Saturday was the deadline for signing by city office aspirants, and Mrs. Childers informs that no blanks were filed at her office.

The council is expected to proceed with the election as originally planned. The only difference between it and an ordinary election will be that in this one there will be no names printed on the ballot. Voters will be expected to write-in three names.

The three persons receiving the greatest number of votes will then be considered winners and if they are willing to serve will be certified as city officials, assuming responsibilities immediately thereafter. In the event a person is one of the three high and is unwilling to serve on the council the next highest name will be substituted.

Mayor S. N. Foster conferred with legal talent this week in order to ascertain the proper method of proceeding in a case of this kind. This is believed to be the first time that Cross Plains ever passed the filing period without having candidates for its council positions.

Members of the council, elected last year and whose tenures carry them through another year, are: Mayor Foster, Dave Lee and L. F. Foster.

Cross Plains School Has Expanded Many Times Since First One Room Structure Held Classes Here In 1883

The story of the growth and development of the Cross Plains school is one of great interest. It is a far cry from the one room log structure which first served the community to the fine modern plant now accommodating the students of a school district some 250 square miles in extent, and the steady progress made in educational standards and achievements is a tribute to the far-sighted citizens and school administrators of the Cross Plains area over a period of many years.

According to the best information available, pupils from this community first attended a school located near the present site of Cottonwood in what was called the "Cottonwood brakes". The building was of log construction with a sod roof and dirt floor. It had no windows but was provided with openings in the walls to which wooden shutters on hinges were attached. Benches for students were made by splitting logs and placing them, split side up, on pegs or arms driven into the walls of the building. There were no desks, and students sat or crouched on the log benches through the long school day. When heat for the building was necessary a spot in the center of the dirt floor was scooped out and a fire kindled. This school was in operation about the year 1878 and the length of the school term was about three months. Miss Mamie Porter, of Brownwood, was one of the first teachers in this school and its enrollment was somewhere near 30 pupils, most of whom came from the Cross Plains area. Mont Jones, who came to Callahan county in 1873, and the late Jim McDaniel were students in this school. In 1883 a small boxed school house was built on land just west of the Cross Plains cemetery. An early teacher in this school was a Mr. Brookshire who lived in a log cabin on the farm now known as the Charlie Neeb place. In the fall of 1888 a two story wooden structure about 24 by 40 feet was built on the same site to replace the smaller building. At this time the Masonic lodge of Caddo Peak moved to Cross Plains and occupied the upper floor of the new building. In 1902 two rooms were added to the school for the accommodation of the increased enrollment. Some of the teachers in the school after 1888 were Captain Curry, father of Ed Curry of Pioneer, and Uncle Benny Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Kirksey, Dr. Dill of Rising Star, Al Erwin, a Mr. Shearer, Miss Idelia Nance and a Mr.

Darden. When the two story frame building was abandoned as a school in 1912 it was moved to a site on East 7th Street in Cross Plains and converted into the dwelling now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Mack Campbell. Chief school books then in use were the Blue Back Speller and McGuffey's Reader. A Saunders First Reader now in the possession of S. F. Bond of this place is illustrative of the type of text book then employed. This book contains reading lessons accompanied by spelling drills of which some of the words would now be considered suitable for high school study. Recitations were conducted by calling students to the front of the room where they were seated on a long bench and drilled in reading and spelling, progressing from one syllable words to those longer.

In 1912 a two story brick building was erected on the same site west of the cemetery and the school was moved into its new quarters. By this time the enrollment had increased and eight teachers were needed to conduct the classes. Superintendents during this period were M. E. Wakefield, H. L. Gantz, Joe Fielder, Hugh Davaney, Cecil Freeman, Earnest Settle, Clarence Martin, a Mr. McAdams and T. R. Haggard. In 1924 the first football team was organized and an athletic program put into operation.

In 1927, due to oil activity in this area, a large increase in the scholastic population made it necessary to again enlarge the school quarters and the present high school and grammar school buildings were constructed. Since that time a gymnasium, shop, homemaking cottage, band hall, vocational agriculture building and lunch room have been added, and it now appears that still more room will be necessary for the rapidly expanding school activities within the near future. Superintendents who have served the school since its removal to the present site have been Haggard, Nat Williams, Lewis Norman, Leo Varner, A. J. McCuin and Newell H. O'Dell.

The present school faculty includes 27 teachers and administrative officials. The school has 31 units of affiliation and an enrollment of over 600 students. Districts which have consolidated to form the present Cross Plains school are Union Hill, Sabanno, Board Flat, Dressy, Comal, Cedar Bluff, Burnt Branch, Turkey Creek, Victoria, Atwell, Caddo Peak, Deer Plains, Pioneer and Bayou.

In checking the minutes of school board meetings of years past, it is interesting to note how the attitude of the community toward teachers has changed. Several years ago teachers were notified at the beginning of the term that they must not attend social functions on any night other than Friday or Saturday. They were also required to resign their positions immediately if, in the case of women teachers, they married during the school year. One record states that the school board would request city aldermen to ban tent shows from the city limits during the school year. The present tendency in this and other communities is to allow teachers more freedom in the choice of social and allied activities.

Present indications are that the Cross Plains school will employ 30 teachers next year and that it will continue its steady growth. Patrons of the (Continued on Back Page)

Teachers Organize At Gathering Here On Thursday Night

Mrs. Garland Austin of Cross Plains has been elected president of a newly-organized Callahan County Teachers Association.

Organization was completed here this month, the group being the fifth complete county unit of CTA in the state.

Other officers are: Mrs. Archie Nichols, Baird, vice-president; Mrs. Florence DeBusk, acting secretary and treasurer.

Towns represented are Baird, Clyde, Putnam, Euila, Denton, Valley, Oplin, Cottonwood and Cross Plains.

Abilene visitors in the organization meeting were Mrs. Alice Williamson, one time resident and teacher of Cross Plains, and the following members of the Abilene Classroom Teachers Association: Willie M. Floyd, research chairman; Mrs. Selma Bishop, president; Mrs. Edith Ballard, membership chairman; Vera Hayes, publicity chairman; Mrs. H. A. Dunn, credit union president.

Clive Pierce of the Callahan county superintendent's office was also present.

Newell O'Dell, superintendent of Cross Plains schools, introduced the speaker, J. B. Golden.

Golden is superintendent of the Vernon schools and a member of the Texas State Teachers' Association Executive Board. He told the group that a majority of Texas administrators are for the long-term program.

He stressed the fact that a fight should be made for the property which "rightfully belongs" to the school children of Texas and which should be producing for their education. He cited the tidelands problem and the gas that is piped to New York. This gas leaves Texas tax free, but New York City receives revenue for its schools by taxing it there, Golden said.

IN MEMOR OF JOHN A. MOORE

Dear Dad you have left us, And we miss you from your place, We miss your tender sympathy,

That shone forth from your face, Yet we hope again to meet you, When our time on earth has fled, In a world that's free from trouble, And no farewell there is said.

Peaceful be your silent slumber, Lying in thy grave so low, You no more will join our number, You no more our sorrows know, We can not back the dear departed, Anchored safe where storms are ore, But only be prepared to meet you, On that bright and happy shore.

Farewell dear dad, sweet slumber, Weary with years and worn with pain,

We our burden will bear with patience,

Till we see your face again, Tender memories of you we'll keep, Till we leave this world of care, Then with you we all will sleep, And the resurrection share.

You are gone but not forgotten, We still think of you and sigh, That your form is no longer present,

But we'll meet it bye and bye, Taken away from earth forever, We can hardly realize, That your form is no longer with us,

But your soul is in the skies.

SHORT STORY

On The Payroll

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

JUD HAD SEEN the redheaded girl in Mr. Jones' outer office every day for a week.

He himself was a copy man, and if she were after the same job that he wanted it would complicate things. It would cut his chances of success in half, and it would be rather embarrassing because—well, because he thought she was an awfully pretty girl and he liked the way she held her chin high and tried to appear brave.

On Monday of the second week, the redheaded girl dropped her handbag. Its contents spilled all over the place. Jud helped pick them up—lipstick, a bunch of keys, a pawn ticket! Jud's lips tightened when he saw that. Just as he thought—she's had to pawn something in order to live.

Of course the handbag episode gave him the liberty of talking with her. Without half trying, he got her story. It was just as he figured. A sad tale of deprivation and lost hope. If only she could see Mr. Jones. She knew he needed a stenographer and she really was awfully good.

A determined light came into Jud's eyes.

Ignoring the protestations of the switchboard girl, he burst through the railed-in space, crossed it in two bounds and threw open the door to Mr. Jones' office.

Mr. Jones was sitting at his desk, smoking a cigar. He looked up with a startled expression when Jud entered. He had heavy jowls and a shock of grey hair and belligerent, bushy eyebrows.

The cigar fell from his mouth. He stood up. Before Jud could utter a word, he barked: "Your name Jud Essex?"

"Yes, sir," said Jud, taken aback.

"I'll be damned!" exclaimed Mr. Jones. "Did she tell you who she was?"

"Did who tell me who who was?" Jud asked, beginning to think he was mistaken for some one else.

"My daughter! That redheaded girl in the outer office?"

It was Jud's turn to drop a cigar, if he'd had one. "Your daughter? That—the girl who wants a job as a stenographer?"

Mr. Jones came round his desk. He was short, but rotund. He glared up at Jud. "You're hired," he said. "I lost a bet, so you're hired. But you'd better make good, or you're fired. Get that!"

"Shut up! Do you want the job, or don't you?"

Mr. Jones stalked out of the office. A man came in another door.

"Of course, I'm serious. I made a bet with Dad that I'd marry you."

and told Jud to follow him. "Kate always wins," the man said. "Here's your desk, Kate wants you to go to lunch with her this noon."

JUD SAT DOWN, speechless. "Do you mean—am I one of several who have been hired in this fashion?"

Jud passed a hand through his hair. The man left. Jud sat down at his desk. He tried to straighten things out in his mind, and was beginning to get places, when Kate entered.

At lunch Kate said: "Would you like to marry me?"

"Sure," said Jud, grinning weakly.

"All right then. Right after work. I'll be waiting."

She was, too.

He wondered what was next. He found out. She took him to a minister's. She produced a license. Jud tried to grin. He gulped and stared at her.

"Good lord! You're not serious about this?"

Jud suddenly no longer had the feeling that he liked all this. "Now listen," he said. "I can't marry you. In the first place I don't love you. In the second I think you and your old man are crazy. And in the next place, I'm already married and have three kids!"

Mr. Jones called Jud on the phone the next morning. "Mister, you're still working for me if you want the job. I won a bet from Kate, and it's cured her of her screwy notions. Come on down. Your salary's doubled."

COMING BACK MONDAY?

"So long, Joe—see you Monday." Sure, you take it for granted that you'll be back on the job bright and early Monday morning. Always have been—well, 'most always. There was the time on a picnic when you fell off a rock and sprained your ankle—and oh, yes, the auto accident that put your arm in a sling for a couple of weeks; but nothing really too serious.

Don't count on it! Every year 32,000 workers are killed, over 2,500,000 injured in off-the-job accidents. That's almost double the number of deaths caused by accidents on the job.

It's great to have fun. Relax and enjoy yourself over the week end, holiday or vacation. But remember—somewhere during every two-day holiday, 175 workers will be accidentally killed and 15,000 injured, many maimed for life. One of these could be you. A large part of these casualties will be caused by traffic accidents, but drownings, falls, firearms, poisons, burns and other accidents will help to swell the total.

Coming back Monday? The chances are all in your favor—if you just use plain common sense in what you do and how you do it over the week end.

Think safely on-the-job, off-the-job, always!

F. V. Tunnell, vice president of the Citizens State Bank, has announced receipt from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C. of a new certificate of membership giving effect to the recent increase in insurance coverage to $10,000. The Citizens State Bank has been a member of FDIC since 1935.

Tunnell pointed out that this insurance does not cost depositors of the bank a single penny. The surplus of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which now exceeds $1,300,000,000, in addition to all deposit insurance losses and operating expenses of the Corporation has been paid in by the 13,650 insured banks of the nation in the form of annual assessments based on their total deposits.

"Under the leadership of its Chairman, Maple T. Harl, and his predecessors," Tunnell said, "the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has made a great contribution to the soundness and solvency of our banking system and to the safety and security of bank depositors. It has been seven years since any depositor of an insured bank suffered a loss, a new record for depositor safety in this nation."

Recent photograph of a Texas primary highway

$115,282,344

Damaged highways, such as the Texas highway shown in this picture, are a hazard to the safe operation of automobiles, farm trucks and other motor vehicles.

It costs three times as much to build roads that will withstand the loads of big trucks now being operated over them than it does for the smaller trucks and automobiles.

Latest records show $115,282,344 was spent on Texas highways for the year ending August 31, 1950.

A bill sponsored by the big truck operators is before the Texas Legislature. This bill proposes . . .

- (1) to increase the load limit from the present 48,000 pounds to 72,000 pounds, and
- (2) to increase the maximum truck length from 45 feet to 50 feet.

Recent official highway tests at La Plata, Md., sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, the highway departments of eleven states and the District of Columbia, effectively demonstrated that as trucks increased in size and loads, roads cracked up and "died" more quickly.

We need to safeguard our highways for Civilian and Military use. "Increased heavy loading might seriously disrupt the effectiveness of essential routes in the event of an all-out war," according to T. J. Kauer, director of the Ohio Highway Department and Chairman of the La Plata road test committee.

The big truckers want the taxpayers to continue providing expensive highways for them to use as "rights-of-way" for their own, selfish, personal gain.

THIS IS A TUG-OF-WAR BETWEEN THE BIG TRUCKERS AND THE TAXPAYERS OF TEXAS!

Automobiles and small trucks do not require extra strong, extra costly highways. The truth is, that the big truckers are putting the "pinch" on the pocketbooks of the Texas taxpayers.

Baptist W. M. S. In Meeting On Friday

The ladies of the Baptist Missionary Society met last Friday, March second, to study the book: "O, Jerusalem." This book gives a statistical review of the mission work promoted by the Southern Baptist convention in the Home Land. It also gives a most interesting challenge for the future as well as valuable information about conditions in the Home Land. Sixteen ladies enjoyed the discussion which was directed by Mrs. Harry Coppinger, the mission study chairman.

During the business meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Tom Cox, local president, Mrs. Earl Smith presented her plans for the all day "Week of Prayer" service to be held next Friday, March 9, at the church. This meeting will also begin at 10 a.m. and a covered dish luncheon at noon. Also an offering for home missions will be taken.

Every lady in the church is urged to come and visitors are welcome.

NATURAL GAS SAID TO BE ODORLESS IN NATURAL STATE

Gas in its natural form is odorless. In order to protect the public, utility companies or sellers are required by law to include a scent. This is so persons can distinguish the gas when it is leaking, and prevent injury to themselves and others and personal property.

Unfortunately, most persons refuse to recognize the dangers inherent in breathing even small quantities of fuel gas—either natural or manufactured. Both some headaches, a rundown feeling, low body metabolic rate are all indications of having breathed gas.

More than frequently a person will enter a business establishment or home or an office and be struck immediately by the sometimes faint, sometimes strong, but always definite odor of escaping gas.

It is odd that after all the safeguards provided for people that there should be so much carelessness in the handling of this dangerous product. Within its limits and safely used, gas is an undeniable necessity. Carelessly used, individually, it is more dangerous than a rattlesnake and many times more powerful.

Because of the intensity of the recent cold wave and with the prospects of more to come in the ensuing weeks, the Associated Plumbing Contractors of Texas is issuing from its headquarters in Austin, a broad and emphatic warning to everyone. Guard your homes, your lives and your families by careful and meticulous care.

See that stoves are adjusted properly and are not giving off carbon monoxide gas. See that all connections, especially old dangerous rubber hose connections, are checked and renewed. See that valves are tight and that there is no leakage.

The recent flurry of gas hot water heater explosions, gas pocket explosions and destructive fires should be ample warning. Check your gas equipment and see that it conforms strictly to local municipal code requirements. If there is no local code, have your equipment adjusted according to the standards of the nearest city.

Friends will be gratified to learn that Mrs. Todd Newton who recently was taken to the Rising Star hospital, is now at home again and believed improving satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth White and family have moved to Corpus Christi where he is to be employed.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to the many friends who sent flowers and cards while I was ill in the hospital. Your kindness will always be remembered.

Veterans' Box

Q—I saw a house I'd like to buy with a GI loan, but the selling price is a good deal higher than VA's appraisal of reasonable value. Will I be able to get a GI loan anyhow?

A—No. The law prohibits GI loans being made on property where the selling price is higher than the VA appraisal.

Q—While in service during peacetime, I was disabled as a result of an aircraft accident. At the time of the accident, I was on duty as a flight engineer on the plane that crashed. If I am awarded disability compensation by VA, will the pay be at wartime or peacetime rates?

A—The answer to this question depends upon the conditions under which you were serving at the time. Wartime rates apply to all service-connected disabilities resulting from conditions simulating war or extra hazardous conditions. Peacetime rates if these conditions are not met.

Q—I was awarded disability compensation a year and a half ago, and only recently someone told me he thought I should be getting more. Is it too late to appeal my disability rating?

A—Yes. Ratings must be appealed within one year after they were determined by VA. However, you may file a new application for increased compensation.

Edwin Baum came to work as usual at the Citizens State Bank last Friday morning. Being the first to arrive he swept and dusted the premises, got everything in order for the day's business. # When Nasty Colds Leave You WEAK AND RUNDOWN HADACOL CAN HELP

If Your System Lacks Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron, Which HADACOL Contains

When a nasty cold leaves you in a weakened and run-down condition, HADACOL can help you up if your system is lacking in Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron, important elements contained in HADACOL. Many folks have found that this fine family formula helps overcome these deficiencies and soon they feel good again.

Mrs. A. Jimenez, 141 East 13th St., Port Arthur, Texas, gave HADACOL to her young son, Floyd, after he had recovered from a bad cold when she heard how HADACOL was helping folks suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron. It helped him so much in regaining his strength and energy that Mrs. Jimenez says she is always going to have HADACOL on hand for Floyd.

Here is Mrs. Jimenez's statement: "My son Floyd was very subject to colds. He's eleven years old, and he was run-down, didn't seem to have an appetite at all, and just simply lacked energy. I heard about HADACOL on the radio, and it was about this time that Floyd was just recovering from a siege of a bad cold. He was very run-down, lacked an appetite, and I started giving him HADACOL. After about a bottle and a half I could no longer Floyd Jimenez's statement: "My son Floyd was very subject to colds. A check has been made at mail time in our little village and the usual group is there to pass away the time with various kinds of chatter. Most of it brings about the important IF it should rain and soon enough there will be a big demand for cotton pickers and long white trailers. However, some have bargained to pick as much as one farmer will make by noon the first day if they will let the boll weevils help them. But the prospects for a cotton crop is not the only reason we need rain, stock water and other supplies are getting low. Water hauling will be a big item in these parts.

HYBRID CORN CONTEST

All farmers and 4-H club boys and FFA boys are eligible to compete in the Texas Hybrid Corn contest for this year. The state is divided into four areas and there will be five prizes in each of the areas. The prizes will be $50.00, $35.00, $25.00, $10.00, and $5.00 in each area. Callahan county is in area number one and will compete against counties south, north and west of it, but no counties east of here.

A minimum of one acre is required to enter the contest and the prizes are awarded on the basis of the largest per acre yield. All contestants must enroll with the county agent and must plant a Texas corn hybrid.

SEED FERTILIZER AND INSECTICIDES

Reports from over the state show that there is a definite shortage of cottonseed for planting, fertilizers of all kinds, and insecticides. Callahan county farmers can still get some good Certified Delinted cotton seed through local dealers who have some 7500 pounds available. There is also some good second year seed located on farms in the county.

The fertilizer situation looks worse now than at this time a month ago according to all reports. Buying a part of your fertilizer supplies now will open up storage space needed to keep the fertilizer plants working.

The increased acreage in cotton this year and the fact that farmers want to produce more cotton per acre are the reason that insecticides are becoming scarce. At the present time the recommended cotton insecticides are available in Callahan county at a good price. It would probably be a wise move for a farmer to get part of his insecticide supply laid in now while it is cheap if he plans to do any cotton poisoning.

From now on, all exports to Russia and its satellites will require government licenses, the Commerce Department announced.

New Equipment Is Installed Here At The Plains Theatre

Installation has just been completed of all new booth equipment at the Plains Theatre here, making the local show house as modern as is to be found anywhere.

The new equipment includes two projection machines, specially equipped with a new type light which eliminates eye strain for those watching the pictures, as well as the most modern sound tracks and automatic devices to ease the work and increase efficiency of operators.

Of special interest to theatre goers is the news that automatic fire extinguishing equipment is now installed in the booth which would make it impossible for fire to spread. Although most films are now fire proofed and the booth is lined with sheet metal, the fire extinguishing equipment was installed to give Cross Plains patrons the finest precautions available, and eliminate any cause for panic in the event of emergency.

Heating and air conditioning systems, both of which are new, have been recently inspected and readjusted for perfect performance.

The concession equipment in the theatre lobby is maintained in keeping with most rigid sanitary requirements.

Bomb Shaped Egg Laid By Hen Here

A pear shaped egg, somewhat resembling certain types of bombs, was laid last week by a hen belonging to L. F. Hounshell of Cross Plains.

New Plan On 'E' Bonds Advocated

Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder recently asked Congress to enact enabling legislation so that the Treasury could put into effect a plan for handling maturing Series E Savings Bonds, beginning May 1, 1951. Under this plan, the holder of a Series E bond would have the choice, as the bond matures, of: (a) accepting cash, if he so desires. Bonds are cashable at any time; or (b) continuing to hold his present bond, with an automatic interest-bearing extension. Owners who exercise this extension privilege will receive 2 1/2 per cent simple interest for all or any part of the next 7 1/2 years; interest during the final 2 1/2 years of the extension will bring the total interest to 2.9 per cent compounded; or (c) exchanging his matured bond for a current income Saving Bond of Series G.

The House in Congress has passed this legislation. As of this date (Feb. 16, 1951), the Senate must yet approve it, and is expected to do so in its regular order of business.

The plan will apply to Series E Savings Bonds only, including both those sold during the past and those sold in the future.

The interest-bearing extension is for 10 years only.

When legislation is finally passed by Congress and signed by the President, the plan will go into effect on May 1, 1951, which is the tenth anniversary of the beginning of Series E sales. (Savings Bonds sold prior to May 1, 1941, were of a series other than E.)

There are several distinct advantages in the plan to people holding Series E Bonds and who want to reinvest the proceeds. First, the plan makes it unnecessary for the bond holder to cash in their matured bonds and then buy new ones; they simply hold the old bonds and the interest on them accrues automatically for another 10 years. This means that Savings Bonds purchaser will receive 78 per cent more than his original investment by holding his bond to maturity and then taking full advantage of his extension privilege for another 10 years. Dollar-wise, this means that a Savings Bond buyer has the opportunity to receive $133.33 for the bond he originally purchased for $75.00. Second, the 2 1/2 per cent interest during the earlier years of the extension is a somewhat better return than for a new bond.

The Treasury emphasizes these two things: (1) Holders of maturing E bonds may cash them at any time; and (2) the holder of maturing E bonds has the privilege of retaining them for all of any part of another 10 years, but he is under no obligation to do so.

Rest Of County Barely Raises As Much Money For Polio As Does Cross Plains

Facts and figures released Wednesday morning on the recent campaign to raise funds for the nationwide fight on polio, revealed that Cross Plains raised more money than any other Callahan county community for the humanitarian undertaking.

In fact Cross Plains lacked only $4.42 raising as much money as all other Callahan county places combined. Of the $3,374.02 total for the county, $1,682.59 came from Cross Plains.

D. C. Cox, of Baird, who served as county chairman, Wednesday morning gave the Review the following figures showing the take from each of the 10 Callahan county communities which participated:

Cross Plains	$1,682.59
Baird	940.12
Clyde	251.44
Putnam	107.63
Oplin	95.01
Eula	89.71
Cottonwood	79.01
Denton	65.77
Belle Plain	53.40
Turkey Creek Quilters	9.35
Total	$3,374.02

Mrs. Fred Cutbirth and Mrs. Howard E. Coburn, who served as co-chairmen of the drive in Cross Plains, told the Review that they were deeply grateful for the fine cooperation in response to the appeal to raise money for the fight on polio.

"It was a real pleasure to work with such an enthusiastic group, and we are indeed gratified to know that Cross Plains responded to the good cause without a single person being solicited for a contribution. It was all done on a free will basis", the two ladies told the Review.

The Pioneer Home Demonstration Club met Monday, February 26, in the home of Mrs. Calvin Rody with 14 members present. Mrs. H. A. Freeman is a new member who was there.

Funeral Plans Not Complete For Mrs. W. M. McWilliams

As the Review went to press Wednesday afternoon funeral arrangements were incomplete for Mrs. W. M. McWilliams, 75, who died suddenly of heart attack at her home in the northwest part of town here Wednesday morning at 8:45.

Mrs. McWilliams had been slightly ill two or three days, however, her condition was not believed dangerous.

Born Baude Frazier at Mason, Texas, October 7, 1875, the deceased was at the time of her passing 75 years and five months of age. She was married to W. M. McWilliams at Mason on June 2, 1895, and to this union were born six children, four of whom survive. They are: Mrs. J. A. Burton, Cross Plains; Roy McWilliams, Brownwood; Mrs. A. V. Shaw, also of Brownwood, and Louie McWilliams, Waco.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed as the Review went to press shortly after noon Wednesday, however, it was expected that the services would probably be held Thursday afternoon.

The deceased and her husband moved to Cross Plains two years ago, coming here from Benjamin, in Knox County. They made their home in a rent house, on the Mrs. J. A. Barr place.

PEARSON VOTES TO DISSOLVE DISTRICT HE NOW REPRESENTS

AUSTIN, March 5.—L. R. Pearson of Ranger is one member of the House of Representatives who "worked himself out of a job."

He was supporter of the re-districting measure—which abolished his district, the 107th.

That doesn't mean, of course, that he could not make another bid for the House where he served in the 49th and 50th as well as the present 52nd Legislature. It's too early in this term, however, for him to commit himself as to his future plans.

His current district, a floridal one, comprises Eastland and Callahan counties. Under the redistricting Shackleford, Callahan and Eastland counties will make up the new 75th Legislative District.
