Just Wait

By DON TABOR
Publisher

If you think local school taxes are high now, just wait.

Just wait until Governor Bill and the lawmakers get through with them.

As we all know, the oil depression has put the State of Texas in a financial bind. (I guess a projected deficit of over $5 billion could be considered a bind.)

The state constitution won't allow deficit spending and Governor Bill says he won't allow any new state tax increases, so he, in effect, has dumped the whole thing in the state legislature's collective lap with one choice, to cut spending.

Where does the state do most of its spending? That's right, the biggest hunk of it goes for education.

So where are the biggest spending cuts going to be made? Right again, education.

Last week, a copy of a Legislative Budget Board "working paper" was placed in my hands. It was dated March 10 and tells what Governor Bill's proposal to reduce state education spending would mean to local school districts in the state, including those in Callahan County. It ain't pretty.

For instance, his plan would cut state spending for each student in the Cross Plains Independent School District by $196 a year starting in the fiscal year 1988. That would mean the district would have to raise taxes by 21 per cent to raise the same amount of money.

The Clyde school district would fare a little better under his plan, which calls for cutting $69 per student in FY 1988. This would necessitate only a 6 per cent local tax hike.

The Eula school district doesn't do as well. The $189 per student cut would mean that local taxes would have to be raised 11 per cent to bring in the same amount of money.

In percentages, the Baird school district does the best of all. The proposed cut of $81 per student would mean a local tax hike of only 5 per cent to raise the same amount of money.

I can just see it now. Our legislature will make these cuts, then brag about how it made great sacrifices for the overall good of the people and balanced the budget.

The our local school trustees will be left with the onerous job of telling their neighbors why they had to raise their taxes.

$5,375 Award For New Books

Billie R. Loving, librarian for the Cross Plains Public Library, announced with pleasure that the library is the recipient of an award from the J. Frank Dobie Library Trust. This award is in the amount of $5,375 and is to be used to purchase new books, primarily in the adult and young adult non-fiction sections.

J. Frank Dobie was a well-known Texas writer who established this trust to assist small libraries which are not only in need of serious books of lasting value, but also trying hard to improve themselves. Therefore, the criteria for awarding grants are the need and the community support which the library has in terms of leadership, active board and friends groups, local tax support from county and city governments, and local gifts.

The committee administering this trust awards the grant to the most deserving libraries in Texas in order to make a real impact on the quality of library service to small towns, and Cross Plains is honored to be one of only 9 libraries chosen this year of the 22 considered.

Miss Loving and Joan McCowen, President of the Friends of the Cross Plains Public Library, attended the Texas Library Association Conference in San Antonio last week at which the grants were awarded. Upon presentation of the check, Mr. Young of the Dobie Trust Award Committee stated, "The committee is appreciative of the support given the library by the staff, board/friends, local organizations and individuals, and, last but not least, your county and city governments. It is the combined effort of the library and the community that earned the award."

McCoy Is Kiwanis Layman of the Year

The Cross Plains Kiwanis Club selected Wimpy McCoy, President of the Citizens State Bank, as Layman of the Year 1986-87. Joe Coppinger, Spiritual Aims Committeeman, presented him a plaque last Tuesday morning at the Kiwanis Club meeting.

Rolan Jones, President of the Kiwanis Club, explained that this award was bestowed upon a leader in the community who demonstrated a dedication above and beyond the call of duty. Also, the recipient had to fulfill spiritual leadership requirements, and McCoy's active participation in his church speaks for itself.

McCoy is a deacon of the First Baptist Church and serves on numerous committees.

He has been associated with the Emergency Medical Service since it was founded, having served on the Executive Board three times and twice the Co-ordinator. Presently, he is an ambulance driver and attendant.

McCoy was active in organizing the Cross Plains Kiwanis Club, and currently acts as its Vice-President.

Service to the City of Cross Plains includes one term as Councilman. On the county level, he is a past Chairman of the Callahan County Junior Livestock Show.

The local blood drive was originated by McCoy three years ago when the Citizens State Bank sponsored the project.

Involvements with the local youth include the Pee Wee Basketball Association and Little League Baseball.

His participation in community activities in varied areas display the enthusiasm of an outstanding citizen.

Amy Foller Gets $1,000 Scholarship

Amy Foller, a senior at Cross Plains High School, has been awarded a $1,000 Carr Academic Scholarship at Angelo State University for 1987-88. Foller is the daughter of Kenneth and Jeannie Foller of Cross Plains.

Foller, who currently ranks first in her graduating class, is vice-president of the National Honor Society. Foller was also active in U.I.L. prose competitions, and a member of the F.H.A.

Foller is among 224 distinguished high school students who have been awarded Carr Academic Scholarships for 1987-88. The recently concluded selection process will result in a total of approximately 1,000 scholarship awards for next year.

The extensive scholarship program is made possible through funds provided by the Robert G. and Nona K. Carr Scholarship Foundation. Carr Academic Scholarships are awarded annually to approximately 1,000 undergraduate and graduate students who enroll at Angelo State. The scholarships may be renewed annually until graduation for qualified students who maintain academic and personal records.

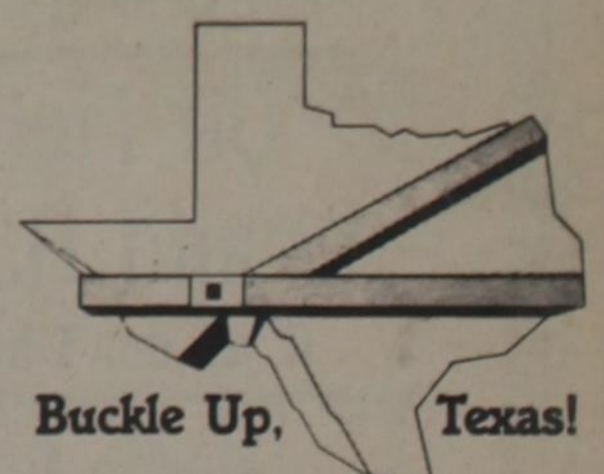

Now in its seventh year, the Carr Academic Scholarship Program has provided $7 million in academic scholarships since the 1981-82 academic year. Awards are based on the students' outstanding academic records and personal achievements.

Several National Merit Scholars, a large number of National Merit finalists, semifinalists and commended students, and several hundred valedictorians and salutatorians are among the distinguished students who will be attending ASU on Carr Academic Scholarships during 1987-88. The distinctive scholarship program, created by the late Mr. Carr in 1978, will provide approximately $1.5 million

PIONEER NEWS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

Often in our church, our pastor states, while we are standing, "hug the person standing by you and let them know you are glad they are here." I like that - we do not express our love often enough.

My week was made a bit more "cheery" on Wednesday evening of last week when my friend, Ardelia McMillan, hugged me and expressed her pleasure in reading this column - and I'm glad.

On Friday, my little neighbor, Helen Tillotson, embraced me at the post office, and invited me to the Flower Show on Sunday afternoon. On Saturday, sweet Peggy Dickson greeted me with a hug downtown, and made me very happy.

My good neighbor, David Goble, came down to see if he could catch one of the black squirrels which has bedded down under my house. He nailed the "Papa" of the family - the "Mama" is still here - she ran across my front porch on Sunday afternoon.

I moaned, last week, about the condition of our oak trees. We have been compensated by the beautiful pink phlox growing all over the place - it is a wonder they were not frozen also.

Mrs. Ethel Brown called early on Monday morning. Her visitors last week were Dorman Graves of Coleman, Mrs. Kathleen Hardesty and her granddaughter, Heather Wright; also Ms. Jewel Foster (she brought her some quilting frames), and Ms. Helen Tillotson visits her often.

Betty Beggs was in Cisco on business on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Sam Beggs of Morton Valley had dinner with the family on Sunday. Edith Beggs is recovering normally since her operation last week.

Sally and Bobby Roady had a very busy week. Their cousin, Doris Cooper, of Houston visited them Wednesday of that night. On Thursday they went to Billie and H.A. Freeman's and spent the night. Bob McNeel, a brother-in-law, of Baird had surgery and is doing fine. On Friday and Sunday, they visited Art and Bertie Roady of Fort Phantom Hill Lake. They visit Mr. Howard Hicks and Mrs. Nettie Roady almost every day.

Several members I called this morning didn't answer. I hope all my neighbors will feel free to call me anytime - I appreciate them and want their news for this column.

Child Welfare Board Meets In Baird

The Callahan County Child Welfare Board met Thursday, March 19. The Board met Bill Davis, the new Child Protective Services agent for Callahan County. Bill comes to us from the Abilene area. He is a graduate of McMurry and has been in the Abilene business community for the last fourteen years. He has one child and one due at any time. Bill and his family are planning to move to Callahan County. We welcome Bill as part of the fight against child abuse.

Further action by the Board was the installation of new officers. President of the Board is Clara Nell Spencer of Cross Plains; Vice-President is Daniel Moore of Baird; Secretary is Joann Vestal of Baird; Treasurer is Zeldia Dugan of Clyde; and Reporter is Sandy Scaramuzzo, also of Clyde.

The Board took notice of the serious funding problems confronting the child protective agencies in the State. It was cited that current levels of funding only allow for 35 percent of cases reported ever being fully investigated. If the current funding is not cut, nor is increased, then by the '89 legislative session less than 30 percent of reported cases will be investigated in the State. Indeed fiscal responsibility is a crucial question especially in hard economic times, but what is the price tag of the future? What is a balanced budget? Could it in effect be a generation of children that propagate poverty, emotional abuse, and sexual abuse? Every citizen must answer that question and must, in the future, bear the responsibility for their decision. It was also noted that April is National Child Abuse month.

A teenager in New Jersey is a hero. Awakening in the middle of the night to find the apartment building on fire and children screaming, she saved five children, including a two month old baby from the burning building. The five children had been left alone for the night! That's New Jersey...it can't happen here? Over two years ago a baby was left with someone too elderly to even take care of herself, much less a baby.

The elderly person was able to save herself as fire engulfed her home, sadly there was no teenager present to rush in and save this baby. Yes, this was in Abilene, the parents came from Callahan County. Maybe April is the month to become aware THAT IT DOES HAPPEN HERE!

DRY THROAT

The catch in your throat that causes a raspy voice and a hacking cough may be due to drinking sugar-sweetened liquids or eating syrupy foods. Sweets containing refined (white) sugar absorb moisture and create a dry throat. Your throat and body will be healthier if you substitute honey or molasses for refined sugar. The 33 members of Carol Atchley's two Art I classes left Cross Plains at 6:30 a.m. and returned about 8:30 p.m. that evening.

Our stops included the Amon Carter Museum, the Fort Worth Art Museum, the Kimball Art Museum, and the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History.

While there, and with the permission of the art museums, we were able to make a video tape of our tours, and take photographs of some of the exhibits that are part of their permanent collections. The art classes have been studying various phases of art history from the prehistoric through contemporary art and this trip allowed the students to actually see works done by many of the artists they have been studying such as El Greco, Rembrandt, Cezanne, Picasso, Georgia O'Keefe, Frederick Remington, Charlie Russell, Frank Stella, and many more covering a wide range of styles and time periods.

Another highlight of the trip was the visit to the Omni Theater, which is located in the science museum. The Omni (if you have never been there) is very unique with its dome shaped screen which literally surrounds you and makes it seem as if you were actually part of the action in the picture. The students were certainly enthusiastic about going on the trip and all went quite well.

A Question Of Spring Break

By DARLENE HINESLEY

There has been quite a bit of discussion about when our spring break should be held at school. The Journalism class decided to take another survey...this one to see how everyone felt about the topic.

The question was "For spring break, would you rather have a full week off or Fridays off?" We asked the Elementary and High School teachers and 50% of students from each class from the 7th grade to the 11th. (The students were just randomly selected.)

The results of the survey were as follows:

	Full Week	Fridays
Elementary teachers.....	13	4
H.S. teachers.....	16	4
Seventh grade.....	17	1
Eighth grade.....	15	0
Ninth grade.....	12	0
Tenth grade.....	24	0
Eleventh grade.....	10	0

Obviously, from the results it can be seen that the majority of those surveyed would rather have a full week spring break. As it is now, several of the Fridays off are selected to coincide with events such as stock shows and district competition such as track meets. This prevents so many students from missing too many classes.

The 1987-88 schedule has not been drawn up yet, so as of now, it has not been determined how the spring break will be arranged.

Treasures Of Truth

When God instructed Moses to build a Sanctuary, also called the Tabernacle, so God could dwell among His people He did not allow Moses to use his own ideas and plans for its design and organization. Build and organize God said as I shewed you in the Mount (Exodus 26:30; 25:8,9).

In like manner when Jesus announced that He would build His church (Matt. 16:18), He did not give to anyone else the right to use their ideas and plans for its design and organization. He said, "I will build my church," and that clearly rules out all other designers.

Friend, can you look in the Divinely inspired New Testament and identify the church you belong to by the plainly revealed Divine pattern?

The Lord willing, beginning next week join with me and we shall together search out the Lord's own design and organization of His church.

I love you,
Ed Will

ROWDEN NEWS

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

Spring really arrived Saturday when the temperature rose to the upper eighties by late afternoon. Some of the farmers say we need rain again.

Dorothy Reynolds attended the Pioneer Baptist Church revival in Pioneer Thursday night where she rendered a song during the service. She also was going to her daughter's, Janet Flippin, and family on Friday after singing for a funeral in Rising Star.

Bob and Kathy Dye made a business trip to Austin Tuesday. Kathy and daughter, Julie, drove to Mason Saturday to see her mother, Ann Dendy.

When the Don Harrell family were called Saturday, Don reported that he and Mary and daughter, Leigh, had enjoyed a picnic lunch out in their pasture and rode their horses in the afternoon.

Nell and Gundy Gunderson of Minneapolis, Minnesota stopped here to visit her sisters and families this week on their return to Minnesota after spending the winter in McAllen. The group had dinner in the Sterling Odom home Thursday. On Wednesday, Nell and Gundy and this writer visited Faye White in Baird and Jewel Swanzy and Anna Bell Tabor in Clyde. Nell also attended the Cross Plains Garden Club meeting in Cross Plains with her sisters, Mrs. Sterling Odom and Mrs. N.V. Gibbs, Friday.

Those visiting in the Emma Johnson and Lizzie Burks home during the week were Carroll Burks of Abilene and Eugene Dillard of Cross Plains.

Mrs. Gene Mauldin and Jessie Odom attended their Sunday School class social in Baird Monday night. On Monday, Mrs. Mauldin visited her friend, Carolyn Burns, in Potosi. Joy West visited in the Mauldin home one day this week.

Irene Masters of Snyder spent Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mauldin. The Roland Mauldin family had dinner in the home Saturday, and later had the group at their house for homemade ice cream. That was a treat on a hot spring day.

While Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin visited in the Dorse Harris home in Baird, they visited with Chief Horner of Weatherford, who was visiting his mother, Lee Horner. Chief spent part of his growing up years in this community.

Robert and Dorothy Watson visited friends, Dr. and Mrs. Bill Pierce, of Abilene at their Brownwood Lake place Saturday afternoon.

LETTER to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am contacting your newspaper because since childhood I have suffered from a rare, debilitating and potentially fatal disease called scleroderma. Not only did I feel frustrated and alone growing up, but to complicate matters, my mother recently came down with this devastating disease.

In our search for answers and support, we eventually located the United Scleroderma Foundation. Not only did we receive information, we received a renewed "hope" that we were no longer alone. We learned that this disease affects some 700,000 people and that President Ronald Reagan declared the second week of June as National Scleroderma Awareness week.

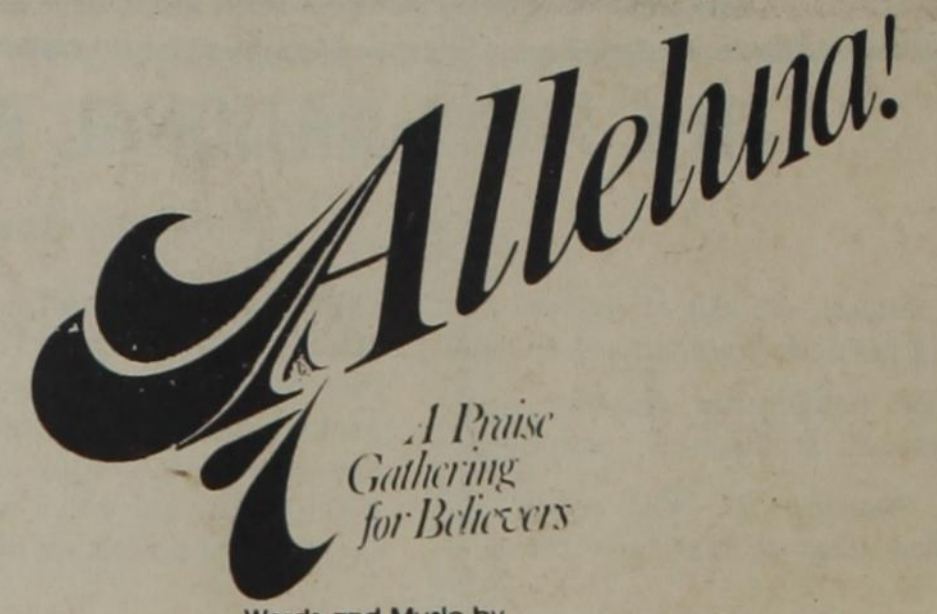

I'm so thrilled to no longer feel isolated that I want to shout from the rooftops so others won't have to suffer alone as I did these last 40 years.

Please make your readers aware of the USF, Inc., P.O. Box 350, Watsonville, CA 95077. Their toll free number says it all, 800-722-HOPE. They have information and answers I never believed existed. In California call (408) 728-2202.

Thank you for your assistance.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The Texas Senate is poised to challenge the veto powers of Gov. Bill Clements with a controversial budget that is $3.5 billion over the new taxes ceiling he set.

Politically, it's not pretty, but the Senate Finance Committee last week approved a $39.4 billion budget that is either too fat or too lean, depending on who's talking, and sent it to the floor for debate.

In the House, leaders said the Senate bill is too expensive, but members expect to report out a bill only $1 billion less, still over the governor's ceiling.

Some senators doubted their version contains enough money for education and the prison system, but agreed it was the only way to get a bill out of committee.

The debate is expected to be tough and tedious as senators try to refashion the bill on the floor.

Crisis Plan Sought

State Treasurer Ann Richards, meanwhile, wants legislators to establish a priority system for paying bills in case the state runs out of money in the fall.

Richards says key questions concerning how much law enforcement to keep, or which life-supporting hospitals to maintain, may have to be decided by legislation.

Certainly, her sobering reminder to lawmakers had an effect on their actions.

Public Works Bonds

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and others met with Clements to discuss a $1.1 billion public works idea to spread costs of expensive water and facilities projects.

"Texas is in an absolutely classic situation for an accelerated public works program," Hobby said, comparing the program to the Federal Works Progress Administration (WPA) created during the Depression.

Hobby will appear before the Senate State Affairs Committee this week to endorse resolutions permitting the state to issue $300 million in general obligation bonds for prison construction, $400 million for water development projects and $400 million in a state loan program for local public facilities.

"The aim is job creation," said an official in Hobby's office. "The state will have 3 million more people, 20 million people, by 1990."

The package, called the "Build Texas Program," contains three separate proposed constitutional amendments. The three senators sponsoring those amendments are Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Hugh Farmer, D-Fort Worth.

AT&T Deregulation

Senators approved by one vote a plan to deregulate AT&T, the only one of Texas' 165 long distance carriers that is regulated by the state, but only after adding an amendment that the sponsor called "schizophrenic."

Currently, AT&T can raise or lower its rates within a narrow range without asking permission from the Public Utilities Commission. The new bill allows AT&T to lower rates without PUC approval, but if commissioners suspect an anti-competition situation, the PUC can investigate and invalidate the rates.

The House

The House passed a package of economic development bills, including three proposed constitutional amendments to end the state ban on investing tax money and state credit in private businesses.

One bill creates a Texas Department of Commerce to make business loans.

The House also approved legislation to allow the State Board of Insurance to watch more closely the job-safety programs of insurance companies.

Also approved was a measure allowing judges to order the installation of Breathalyzer equipment on car ignitions of persons convicted of DWI.

Other Highlights

• A West Texas judge ruled in favor of the state in a dispute over millions in royalties from the Yates Field, and the Texas General Land Office could collect up to $13 million.

• Out-of-state businesses have been buying troubled Texas businesses at record rates. Last year, 114 Texas-based companies were acquired by non-Texas interests, compared to 71 in 1986.

• Meanwhile, farmland prices in Texas dropped an average 11 percent last year, compared to a 17 percent decline in 1985.

• The Texas House heard a plan to give property tax exemptions to mothballed offshore drilling rigs, which are usually moved to non-Texas waters to avoid such taxes. Owners spend $500 to $2500 daily to maintain mothballed rigs which could mean more jobs in Texas.

Don't mess with Texas.
