It Doesn't Always Happen To Someone Else

By DON TABOR
Publisher

We always think they will happen to someone else, someone we don't know.

But only recently I've talked with two friends who have had their homes burglarized.

Dick Tarpley, retired editor of The Abilene Reporter-News and my former boss, was the victim of a burglary of his home in a nice section of Abilene a few months ago. Not only were the items taken of high monetary value, many were irreplaceable keepsakes.

I also talked last week with Eddie Plowman, also a former co-worker at The Reporter-News. It has been some time since I'd seen him and he updated me on the burglary of his nice rural home south of Merkel. The intruders there had carried off practically everything inside the house.

Obviously, no one was home in either burglary.

And, with vacation season upon us, some tips on how possibly to avoid a burglary might be in order.

These come from the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters:

— Leave blinds open in their usual position.

— Lower the sound of your telephone bell so its ring cannot be heard outside.

— Suspend deliveries of mail and newspapers.

— Arrange to have your lawn mowed and ask a friend to pick up "throwaway" newspapers and circulars.

— Use automatic timers to turn lights on and off in your living room and bedrooms at appropriate times. Consider connecting a radio to a timer.

— Notify the police that you will be away and ask dependable neighbors to keep an eye on your house or apartment.

— Equip doors with dead-bolt or double cylinder locks, put a slide bolt or other lock on sliding glass doors and be sure locks on windows are adequate. Also, install a burglar alarm. Many insurance companies offer discounts for approved burglar and fire alarm systems.

— Remove extra keys from around mailbox, doormat or flower pots. Change your locks if your keys are lost or stolen.

— Put large amounts of cash, jewelry and other valuables in a safe deposit box at the bank.

— Don't advertise your vacation in the newspaper. Burglars could be among the readers.

Before leaving on vacation, The Society of CPCU says it pays to make an inventory of your personal belongings and to make sure your insurance coverage is adequate.

If you return home and find signs of burglary, it is best to go to a neighbor's residence to call the police and wait for their arrival.

Also, I might inject one suggestion of my own. Keep an eye out for any suspicious persons or vehicles in your neighborhood. They might just be casing somebody's house for a hit. If you see a strange car that keeps cruising around, jot down the license number and give it to the police. That way they can keep an eye on them too.

Dairy Queen Rock-A-Thon Nets Over $4,000

The Rock-A-Thon sponsored by the Cross Plains Dairy Queen Saturday evening was a great success for the Children's Miracle Network Telethon. Over $4,237.62 were raised to benefit the Lubbock General Hospital, Children's Pavilion.

This figure does not include the amount of 50 cents donated from each blizzard purchased or the sale of caps, T-shirts, and coupon booklets, all of which are still available at the Dairy

Queen. Local response was terrific and our community proved their generosity once again.

There were 25 rockers who volunteered their time and 19 of them rocked all night. According to one of the volunteers, it was pretty rough staying awake. It was like having a giant slumber party.

Most of the participants came prepared with blankets, pillows, and all the comforts they felt they needed. The Dairy Queen provided food and all the snacks. The Junior Girl Scouts waited on the volunteers and cleaned tables until 11:00 p.m.

A large crowd was on hand during the entertainment. Performing were Mike Kelley; the Jami Dee Dancers from Ranger; Dorothy Reynolds; the Hallelujah Puppets; Senior Citizens Band of Cisco; Hands of God Puppets; and Bill and Elaine Pancake. Robbin Poteet and Robbie Eppard were the clowns who were selling balloons.

Beverly Massagee of Ranger was another entertainer who sang and performed a ventriloquist act. She was also the mother of a child which she referred to as "one of the miracles" which such benefits had aided. Her little girl, Pebbles, is now 5 years old, but had received two kidney transplants before she was 30 months old. She was living proof of what the Children's Hospital could do.

The volunteers were treated to a breakfast buffet at 7:00 a.m. Sunday. Food was provided by McClane Foods of Lubbock. Gandy's of Coleman donated the buttermilk for the biscuits. Bonnie Hedrick donated homemade donuts and other Dairy Queen employees donated food items. For a $4 donation anyone could eat the breakfast buffet.

Coca Cola donated all the cokes served to the volunteer rockers during the marathon. A welding company from Abilene provided the helium for the balloons, which were sold for a $1 donation.

The benefit was a fun event which served a worthy cause. The town was really cracking and everyone was having a great time.

ROCK AROUND THE CLOCK — Volunteers of all ages were getting settled for the night at the Rock-A-Thon sponsored by the Dairy Queen.

Those attending the graduation from Cross Plains were Rolan, Sandra and Jamie Jones, Earl and Velma Lee and Richard Wilson. Kim Jones was there from San Angelo.

DO YOU THINK WE CAN MAKE IT? — Susan McNeel (with big sun glasses) and Cliffadean Hargrove were rocking along at the Children's Benefit Saturday night.

Watch Those Clouds

By VANDA KING
Editor

Last Thursday evening was a little less than normal for the residents of Cross Plains due to dangerous weather conditions.

The Fire Department siren belted out the alert that a tornado had been sighted and for everyone to take cover. As everyone scurried to find their family and find safe shelter the town was alive with activity. Most were out in their yards looking to the skies in search of the threatening danger.

One thing is for sure, the clouds were in a hurry, too. Watching the fast moving and sometime swirling dark cloud formations were enough warning of possible tornadoes.

The entire day had been very strange with an eerie feeling in the air that something was about to happen.

Everyone was looking for the closest cellar for safety. We stayed at the home of James Nichols during the worst of the storm and there were a total of 12 people who would have had to crowd into the small cellar. Thank goodness, it didn't come to that. It is wonderful how people will bond together in a time of crisis.

Makes you wonder if that is why we have these little scares to keep us from drifting so far away from our fellow man.

The Review received a call Friday from Naoma McClure stating that anyone was welcome to use her cellar, which is located in her front yard on 7th and Avenue D. It is this kind of compassion that makes Cross Plains the kind of community you like to call home.

Sitings of tornadoes near the Show Barn just north of town and at Cottonwood were close enough. We were very fortunate indeed that our community was untouched by any disaster. After the tornado destruction at Saragosa, an awareness of the power the natural phenomenon possesses is quite evident.

After talking to several people who have lived in this area for years, they all agree that the weather conditions in the spring and early summer have become more dramatic as of late. It's becoming more obvious that we do live in "tornado alley."

Excessive moisture will delay peanut planting, and wheat farmers are needing to harvest their crops, but the fields are too wet to get into.

More than anything else, we are grateful that our little town was spared any harm.

Commodities Distributed Thursday, June 11

Commodities will be distributed on June 11 at the Cross Plains Multi-Purpose Center by Central Texas Opportunities, Inc. If eligible and commodities are available, all persons have the right to apply for and receive emergency food assistance without regard to race, religion, sex, political belief, age, national origin, or handicap.

Rash of Forgeries Hit Cross Plains

Sheriff's office reports that a rash of forgeries are hitting the Cross Plains and Coleman area. Several different checks are being passed.

Two accounts that have been passed are on Jones Ranch Account signed by Lewis Barker, Jr. Also some checks on Steve Moore have been forged.

Deputy Wayne Knowles advises merchants to be on alert for these, and contact him if any checks show up.

Two suspects are being sought at this time.

Tornado Safety Program Thursday

To know what to do when a tornado is approaching may mean the difference between life and death!

Jerry Martinez, with the assistance of Office Windell Rehm (Texas Department of Public Safety, Abilene) will conduct this much needed program. Everyone is urged to attend regardless of where you live in this area.

The program will consist of: Safety rules (precautions) Danger areas Designating shelter areas Identifying cloud formations Reporting tornado sightings Establishing emergency plans for schools, homes, churches and businesses.

This program will take place at the Cross Plains Community Center on Thursday, June 4, at 7:00 p.m. For information call 725-6661 Cross Plains City Marshal.

Yellow Rose of Texas Arts and Crafts Festival Saturday

The second annual Arts and Crafts Festival, sponsored by the Cross Plains Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, will take place Saturday, June 6, at the Treadway/Cross Plains City Park from 10:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m.

The Arts and Crafts Festival will be moved to the Show Barn just north of town, if weather conditions demand.

Everyone is invited to view the wares displayed by different artists and craftsmen. There is sure to be something of interest for everyone.

Entertainment will be provided throughout the day. Some of the performers will be the Senior Citizens Band from May; the Hallelujah Puppets from Cottonwood; and James and Dorothy Reynolds of Rowden.

Arts, crafts, and food booths may still be reserved by contacting Mary Dunn at (817) 725-7136 or Cathy Permenter at (817) 725-6712 or 725-6564.

A 10' X 10' space is $15 and 20' X 20' is $25, plus $5 for electricity. Call immediately if you would like to participate.

Beta Sigma Phi invites everyone to come out and have a good time and enjoy the entertainment. Plan on a fun day Saturday!!!!

ATPE Honors Jim Isbell

BRECKENRIDGE — Despite being named Secondary Educator of the Year by the Association of Texas Professional Educators, Jim Isbell says he is not even the best teacher in Breckenridge.

"Certainly, I don't want anyone to think I'm the best teacher in the state," he says. "There are better teachers right here in this school system."

His wife, Becky, is among those teachers he believes is more deserving of recognition. Her students have won awards in one-act plays, debate, and prose and poetry reading.

This is the second year that ATPE honored a local teacher. Last year, Judy Gibson was named Elementary Educator of the Year. Also, this year, Mary Jo Butler, a reading and math aide, was named Associate of the Year.

Isbell, 41, teaches chemistry, physics, introductory physical science and sometimes biology.

"Every student I teach in physics, I expect to win the Nobel Prize sometime on down the line — not based on what I teach, but based on those horizons I open for them."

Isbell says he has developed an aggressive attitude toward teaching in part through serving in the U.S. Army Reserves. In the reserves, he was teaching men who knew the subjects as well as he did. It was great training, he says, explaining he had to get their attention and make the subject interesting.

Isbell says his teaching is influenced by his wife and his son, James, who was recently elected state president of the Future Teachers of America. Isbell's own career as a teacher was encouraged by his high school vocational agriculture teacher in Odessa.

He went to school at Texas A&M University and began teaching in Lewisville. He taught in Danbury and Cross Plains before coming to Breckenridge in 1981.

When he first came here, he drove a school bus for 1½ hours before and after school each day. Bus drivers, too, have important roles in the education process.

In the mornings, he says, he was the first person to greet students on behalf of the school district. And, when dropping off students in the afternoon, he says, he hoped he left them with an attitude to do their homework and to look forward to school the next day.

Spraying Dates Set for June 2-7

The pecan nut casebearer will soon be making its appearance in Callahan County, according to Greg Gerngross, County Extension Agent. The predicted spray dates are June 2-7 according to our Area Entomologist. Several things may foul up this prediction including rain, humidity and temperature.

Homeowners and others in the area should check their trees to observe egg deposition on the tips of the nuts. Eggs, just visible to the naked eye are greenish-white when deposited, but later become reddish. After larva hatch, the egg shell is opaque white and remains in place. First generation larvae hatch from eggs in 4-5 days and migrate to buds below the nuts to feed. After a day or two, they enter the nuts, usually at the base. As it feeds, each larva frequently destroys several or all of the small pecans in a cluster.

A number of different insecticides are recommended for control of the casebearer. Producers spraying for the casebearer should follow label recommendations when applying any type of insecticides. For more information on the casebearer and its control, please contact the County Extension office.

Shadows Of Truth

Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer any man. Colossians 4:6 (KJV)

Sticks And Stones
By SANDRA PRICKETT

It happened again. I lost my well known temper and in anger lashed out at my almost adult son. "Why can't you grow up — show some responsibility," I had yelled, among other insults.

And I knew that although my words fell on deaf ears I had hurt him deeply. I could have given him the same message in a gentle voice, seasoned with love, instead of the harsh yelling tone I had used, which had instantly cut off any response my son may have had. And he may have had a satisfactory explanation.

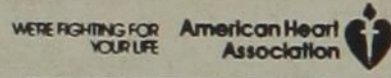

I remember a piece I had read recently. "Sticks and stones may break my bones...but words will squeeze the very heartbeat from my heart, the breath from my soul, the lift from my walk, the twinkle from my eyes, and the hope from my day. Please throw sticks and stones."

I had taken away the twinkle from my son's eyes and the hope from his day. I remembered many times when others, because of thoughtless or angry remarks, had taken the breath from my soul and the lift from my walk.

I rushed to my son's room. "I'm sorry, son. Can we talk about it," I said, gently.

Dear Lord, let my speech be always with grace. Curb my temper, and give me seasonings of love and patience.

Quit smoking.

PIONEER NEWS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

My! My! Here it is June, already! Doesn't time fly, when one is having so much fun! Yes, I'm having fun — just being sincerely grateful for good health, good friends, including my precious family (son, daughter, two brothers, two sisters, and all their offspring).

Just one month from now, we will have our annual Family Reunion at Breckenridge.

I thought of my good friend, Lorena Settle, the other day — I think of her often, really. She used to tease me for always reading the speedometer of my car, every time I got in the car. One day just recently, as I drove out, the reading was 84,444.4.

Tim Bishop just might say "it's time to buy a new Chevrolet."

I visited in town with Lucille Callaway on Saturday morning. We've been friends a lot of years, besides having "mutual kids", her granddaughter, Karen, is my "favorite" daughter-in-law.

Mrs. Ethel Brown's visitors this week were Jean Fore, Lou Grider and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Tillotson.

On Thursday of last week, J.T. and Betty Beggs accompanied Rex Lee Beggs and family of Cross Plains, and Rusty Beggs and family of LaJunta, Colo., on a camping and fishing trip on the Colorado River. Although they were rained on, they caught some fish and had a great time.

Last Friday Jesse Moon, Gregg Williams and family visited the Beggs' farm. L.W. and Jeanette Mitchell visited briefly after church last Sunday.

Joe and Beverly Rody of Brownwood visited Sally and Bobby last Saturday. They picked a lot of dewberries — and also vaccinated the cows. On Friday Gene Hicks of Rising Star, and his daughter and granddaughter of California visited Sally and Bobby. On Sunday they took Ms. Nettie Rody with them to visit Art and Bertie Rody in Abilene.

Nell Fleming called me last week — reported the death of their good neighbor, Mr. Speck Connors. I regret that I do not have any details — and I cannot get Nell on the telephone this Monday morning.

Others whom I called, either didn't have any news or didn't answer. I hope they all will call me next week.

I have a pair of quail residing around here somewhere — they crossed the sidewalk right at my front door the other day. Later I saw a huge "skunk" out near the fig bush — he came out of that old garden spot, which is a mass of tall weeds (needs shredding), and went back into that area. If I could trust my marksmanship, I'd try to get him with my little target. I hope he doesn't get the quail.

Pioneer Cemetery Gifts Total $434.44

Gifts to the Pioneer Historical Association for the upkeep of the cemetery have come to $434.44 since July 1986, according to Mrs. Irma B. Miller, Treasurer.

The donors were Mrs. Lola Pancake, Lucille Harris, Snova Walker, J.L. Stephenson, Waldeine Foster, Maxine Lee, Vernelle Goins, Kathryn Brown, D.C. Underwood, J. Hughes, Vernon Falkner, and Mrs. T.E. Buckholt.

Added to these were the proceeds of $76.44 from sale of "Pioneering People," a history compiled by Irma Miller.

Your gifts are appreciated and will be added to the fund for the upkeep of the cemetery. Gifts may be made to the Pioneer Historical Association, c/o Mrs. Irma B. Miller, Rt. 1, Box 210A, Rising Star, TX 76471.

"Pioneering People" is again promoted for sale at the Pioneer School Reunion on Saturday, June 6, for $3 a copy.

Canine Parvo Disease

There have been an alarming number of parvovirus infections diagnosed in our area in the last two weeks.

Canine parvovirus is a viral disease of dogs which is capable of causing two different sets of clinical problems. The first to be recognized, and the most common, is the "intestinal form" which is manifested by bloody diarrhea, vomiting, loss of appetite, depression and often death. The second to be recognized is the "cardiac form", which occurs in very young pups and is manifested by an acute inflammation of the heart muscle.

Any age, breed or sex of dog can be affected by parvovirus. Several factors such as age, environment, stress, parasites and general health status of each individual dog infected could affect the severity of illness. The disease is usually more severe in young dogs (less than 6 months of age) or old dogs. Early, vigorous treatment of the illness is imperative since vomiting and diarrhea can lead to dehydration and chemical imbalance in the body.

Control of parvovirus by sanitation measures alone is extremely difficult because the virus is such a resistant, hardy organism and because it is so easily spread. Parvovirus is transmitted through contact with the feces of an affected dog. The virus can be carried on the dog's hair and feet, as well as contaminated cages, shoes, or other objects. Isolation of infected dogs is one method of control, although moderately effective. Just as any other virus, only vaccination of susceptible animals will control the actual source of infection.

A properly immunized dog will have circulating protection in the blood that will destroy parvovirus following exposure. It is important to begin vaccination at an early age and repeat every 2-3 weeks until the puppy is at least 14-16 weeks old. Adult dogs should receive two doses of vaccine given 3-4 weeks apart for maximum protection. All dogs should receive an annual booster vaccination to assure an enduring immunity.

Comparing the dog population in this area to the number of parvovirus infections that have been diagnosed, we have an infection percentage comparable to any other area in the state.

Treasures Of Truth

By far, the most vital human part of the Body of Christ, is its God designed government.

Besides the leading and guiding elders; each congregation is supposed to have a group of specially qualified men called deacons (1 Tim. 3:8-13; Acts 6:1-6).

Whereas, the responsibility and work of the elders pertains to leadership and guidance for the Christian life of their flock. The deacons must care for the physical needs and necessities of the congregation they are a part of, and serve.

They are not endowed with God's authority to make decisions or discipline the unruly in the congregation.

They certainly should be able to teach and even preach the Word of God (Acts 6:5,10; 8:5).

Many of the human devised churches have ignored and abused God's perfect arrangement for the government of His Kingdom. They are building on the sand (Matt. 7:24-29).

Hydro Mulch...Again!

By JAMES AMES-ROBBIE WHEELER

Last week the football men sprigged the football field and the practice field. They did a very good job and Coach Permenter really appreciated the help. After being sprigged, the field was hydro-mulched by Hydro-Mulch System out of Brownwood.

So far, it has been done 3 times due to all the recent heavy rains. The school only has to make one payment as the company guarantees their work.

the field will not be ready for next season.

As far as the track work goes, it too has been greatly slowed down due to the rains. The concrete curbs have been completed, but they haven't had much chance to do anything else.

Building Up

By SHEILA PAYNE

Cross Plains Ag 2, 3, and 4 students have just recently finished some very interesting wood projects that they have been working on for the last month or so.

The projects consisted of everything from bird houses, desks, storage boxes, work-out bats, and saddle racks, to various sizes of entertainment centers. Most of the projects turned out very well.

Under the supervision of Ag teachers Roy Richie and Ray Connors, the students learned to use the various power tools required for such projects...such as the electric table saw, band saw, belt sander, and router. Through the projects they learned some very useful building skills that can be applied to future projects.

Faculty Has Last Chance To Visit

By DARLENE HINESLY

Last Wednesday, May 27, the Cross Plains Faculty honored the teachers that will either be leaving Cross Plains this year or retiring. The get-together was held in the high school library from about 8:00 to 8:30. Coffee, donuts, and orange juice were served.

The faculty members that will be leaving after this year are Coach Jerry Walker, Counselor Bobbie Trammel, Band Director Ricky Beam, Librarian Jeri Wilson, and English/Spanish teacher Penny Segars.

In addition to those faculty members, Mrs. Wanda Grable was also honored in recognition of her retirement after 30 years in education. She has spent the last 6 of those years here at Cross Plains.

Superintendent Lee Thompson presented Mrs. Grable a gift given to her on behalf of all the faculty. After a short time to visit, it was back to work with a normal school day.

ROWDEN NEWS

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

More rain this week has really made the ground wet and boggy. Nearly three inches has been measured for the week, but no hail or stormy clouds. We can be thankful for that. Tommie Harris reported that oat crops which are ripe will begin to shatter before combines can get in the fields.

Sterling Odom came home from the hospital Friday and is doing better. His brother, Franzel Odom, of Cross Plains was out to see him Saturday morning.

Roland and Faye Mauldin and son, Kenneth, of Denton Valley visited in the Gene Mauldin home Thursday. Vernie Belle Mauldin visited with Ima Gibbs in Baird Wednesday.

A letter came from this writer's Aunt Faye White who lives in Baird. The news in the letter was that a distant cousin from Ohio was coming to visit those in the family of John Milton Bryant and wife, Malissa, who came to Callahan County in the late 1800's. Children of this couple were this writer's mother, Maude Bryant Tabor, and Faye White of Baird. This relative coming on June 1 is Franklin Miller of Gambier, Ohio. He has compiled a family history, and after discovering relatives in Texas is coming to meet some of them.

Anyone in the Bryant family mentioned above can meet Franklin on the above date at the home of Nila Towler in Baird. The members of the Bryant family were Hershel, Walter, Joe, John, Mary (Bryant) Story, Pearl (Bryant) Appleton, and Maude (Bryant) Tabor, Rosa (Bryant) Bentley, Beulah (Bryant) Bauchette, Blanch (Bryant) Summerhour, and Bertha (Bryant) Reed. All deceased except Faye and Bertha.

Those from here attending the funeral of J.P. McCord were Dorothy Reynolds, Claribel Gibbs, and Tommie Harris.

This writer was in Abilene last Monday visiting Sterling Odom in the hospital and also visited Elveda Sikes. In Clyde, a short visit was made at her aunts' home, Jewel Swanzy and Anna Bell Tabor.

James and Dorothy Reynolds, along with Jon and Betty Hardwick of Baird, were in Midland visiting their children, Jim Reynolds and Crecia and grandchildren, Chris and Colby, on Memorial Day. Dorothy said Jim barbecued meat for their meal.

Last Saturday night James and Dorothy Reynolds attended graduation exercises in Novice where her niece, Renea Moore, was a graduate. Renea's mother is a sister of Dorothy and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Henry.

Dorothy Watson attended the Awards Program at the Baird School Thursday and on Saturday she and Robert were in Wichita Falls visiting his brother and family, the Dutch Watsons. Their visitors early in the week were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Yarborough of Abilene.

Pat and Dale Gibbs of Abilene came by Saturday to visit this writer. It was an enjoyable visit. Pat and Dale grew up here in the community. She is the daughter of Bernard Crow, deceased, and Opal Crow of Abilene. Dale's mother is Ima Gibbs of Baird. His father, Barney Gibbs, is deceased.

James and Dorothy Reynolds attended the wedding of Diana Davis and Pete Bilbrey at the Cherry Heights Baptist

June 15 Deadline For Contel Wire Care Program

Contel customers have until Monday, June 15, to subscribe to the telephone company's Wire Care or Wire Care Plus programs without paying an enrollment fee. After that date, customers will be charged a fee of $20 to sign up for either program.

Both the Wire Care and Wire Care Plus programs protect customers from having to pay unexpected repair bills for telephone wiring problems inside their businesses or residences.

For 89 cents per month, Contel's Wire Care program covers all costs of service calls, material and repair to a subscriber's inside telephone wiring system.

A more comprehensive program that costs a monthly fee of $1.89, Wire Care Plus covers all costs to repair inside telephone wiring, plus the loan of a telephone instrument for up to 60 days if a subscriber's phone needs to be repaired or replaced.

Contel has been offering the two programs since the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) ruled that customers were responsible for their own maintenance and repair of inside telephone wiring, effective January 1, 1987.

For more information, customers should contact their Contel business office.

Slight Increase In Contel Bill

Telephone customers across the United States may notice a slight increase in their telephone bills, beginning July 1. The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has adopted a proposal for a three-step $1.50 increase in subscriber line charges. Customers currently pay a monthly fee of $2 in subscriber line charges.

The commission postponed the first 60 cent increase on telephone bills until July 1, 1987, and the second 60 cent increase until December 1, 1988. The proposal had set June 1, 1987, and September 1, 1988, respectively, as implementation dates. The third increase, 30 cents, will be added April 1, 1989, as originally proposed.

The increased charge moves more of the fixed costs of telephone lines from long-distance rates to local telephone subscribers, and is expected to reduce long-distance rates at least 15 percent over the next six years, according to the FCC.

The first delay will allow the FCC more time to review the tariffs that will pass on the increase in the form of lower long-distance rates. Also, Congress will

Heartworm: A Growing Problem

Canine heartworm is such a deadly disease that it's well worth reminding ourselves of certain facts as we move into the warmer months of the year:

—The net result of heartworm disease is the serious mechanical damage it causes to a dog's heart, lungs, liver and kidneys. But while it is stopping up kidneys and blood flow, there are a few outward signs of all of the internal damage being caused until the disease is very far along.

—Mosquitoes are key carriers of heartworm disease. When an infected dog is bitten by a mosquito, blood is carried away which may include tiny, immature forms of heartworms called microfilariae.

—It takes about three months for these larvae to travel through the tissues of the body to enter the heart. Dozens of these larvae (some of which can actually become up to 14 inches long) become adults within another three months. By that time, much of the mechanical damage just mentioned has become fact.

Thanks to research and modern preventive medicine, there is a lot you can do to avoid heartworm in the first place—or see that it is successfully treated if it hasn't progressed too far:

—A blood test is the only way to detect heartworm disease in its early stages.

—Since it's possible for an infected dog to have adult heartworms without microfilariae, an X-ray examination and other lab tests may be needed to confirm heartworm infection.

—After the disease has progressed, symptoms can include frequent coughing, sluggishness, rapid tiring and finally, labored breathing.

—If caught in time, a series of injections of an organic arsenical drug can be used to kill heartworms. Then another drug can be used to get rid of the microfilariae.

—No vaccine is available for heartworm disease, but we can give you regular doses of a drug which can prevent infective larvae from developing into adult worms. This can be in the form of a daily tablet; another possibility is a new, monthly tablet which has just become available.

The only requirement prior to either preventative is a negative blood test which takes your veterinarian only minutes to perform.

The Key to Solving Mexico—U.S. Problems Lies in Working Together

By Governor William P. Clements, Jr.

Sometimes if you are having problems pushing a box, another set of hands can be quite useful, and provide just the needed force.

Well, Mexico has been suffering economic stagnation for decades. Fortunately, that situation is relatively new to Texans living along the Rio Grande Valley.

We in Texas have been trying to solve our economic problems—push that box, if you will—by ourselves in recent years. I think it is about time we called in some help.

We need to get a helping hand from Mexico, and to do that, we must seek the assistance of other American states bordering that nation.

Recently I met in Phoenix with the governors of Arizona, New Mexico and California. The goal was to identify subjects for discussion with our Mexican counterparts next fall.

It was, I am happy to report, a productive meeting.

Let me give you some background. During my first administration, 1979-83, meetings between Mexican and U.S. border governors were frequent.

There has not been such a formal gathering, for whatever reason, since 1984.

That is a shame. We have common problems. We should work together on solutions. I am committed to seeing that happen, and our meeting in Phoenix was a springboard to the renewal of those sessions.

In Phoenix, I had an agenda of topics that I am suggesting we discuss with our Mexican counterparts. I would like to list some broad topics for you, and put forth some of my ideas.

*Improving the border economies. This is a priority. One solution lies in the twin-plant concept, which could increase the standard of living on both sides of the border as it spawns the demand for more workers.

We must also commit to increasing the number of bridges and entry points connecting the two countries. Doing so, in addition to creating construction jobs, will improve the flow of goods between both nations.

*The environment. There are some serious environmental problems shared between the two nations, particularly in terms of water quality.

We must, in some instances, work with the Mexican government to share our anti-pollution technologies and encourage the development of wastewater treatment plants on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande.

*Tourism. We must foster a tourism network enabling not only Mexican and U.S. citizens to visit each other's country in a coordinated fashion, but those from other countries as well.

This could, quite easily, involve better coordination of tourism promotion programs between our two countries.

*Drugs. While our two nations work to solve the drug problem on a federal level, we, at the state level, should foster community programs to discourage drug usage by our youth.

*Agriculture. We should foster technical exchange programs to ensure maximum crop production—and crop variety—on both sides of the border.

The list could go on and on. There are health and communicable disease problems to explore, law enforcement questions to answer and, of course, the immigration issue.

Solving those problems will be hard. It will help to have others pushing in the same—not opposite—direction.

"Feelin' Great" Will Leave You Feeling Very Broke

There are a number of instructional or motivational seminars available to the public these days. Many of these programs help participants to feel better about themselves and to achieve better relationships with friends and family. Others involve the participants in illegal schemes for making money. One such scheme here in Texas goes under the name Feelin' Great.

Feelin' Great involves extremely high pressure sales tactics in the recruitment of new salespersons. Many people have been recruited into the program without being told that they were joining an illegal pyramid or multi-level marketing program.

IT SOUNDS GOOD AT FIRST

Initially, the program requires participants to pay $80 to attend a weekend seminar. At the seminar, prospects are told that they can become rich by being a sales representative of Feelin' Great. Those who wish to become sales reps are then required to pay another $50 to attend a second workshop. At that workshop, the recruits are told to pull others into the program in order to make their way up the ladder. Each person in the chain takes some of the money brought in by his or her recruits.

WHY PYRAMID SCHEMES FAIL

In our lawsuit against Feelin' Great, my Consumer Protection Division has exposed the fallacy of the "endless chain" or pyramid scheme.

The "Steps to Greatness" promoted by Feelin' Great are four in number, and contain the following material: 48 hours of instruction on basic nutrition, motivation and related subjects; and the following items: 19 tapes, 2 tape recorders, an exercise book, a diet analysis, a nutritional guide, miscellaneous written material and a briefcase. The recruit is supposed to receive these items after paying $6,000 to Feelin' Great.

The recruiters de-emphasize the services and products offered to recruits and instead emphasize that recruits can make money from bringing new recruits into the organization. However, Feelin' Great's salespeople fail to mention that the market for new recruits will be saturated much more quickly than the market for their goods and services—thus cutting off the avenue for the recruits to make up for the exorbitant amount they have paid for the services and products.

Feelin' Great uses skills in the audience who make supposedly spontaneous speeches about the virtues of the program in order to convince new recruits to join up.

RESTITUTION IS POSSIBLE

As a result of our lawsuit, Feelin' Great has promised to return about $35,000 to those who initially complained and has promised to stop its deceptive sales practices in Texas. If you have had a similar experience with Feelin' Great, your complaint will be mediated by our McAllen branch office. You may ask for a complaint form from any of our regional offices.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas government is budgetless, and how we get ourselves out of this predicament is the Capitol's favorite guessing game.

Technically, lawmakers have a little less than two months to forge a budget in special session, since Comptroller Bob Bullock must certify the new budget by August. When will the governor call it? When he feels confident his 56 Republican House members are harnessed to stay hitched to his veto wagon.

As long as they stay hitched, they will control the budget session. The other issues have gotten their attention, and now in this single-issue session, the rules of the game will change.

Clements Vows Firmness

The excitement will come from watching a 'first' in Texas history. A Republican governor is positioned against the might of a Democratic legislature accustomed to running the show. This collision will be heard across the nation.

Lawmakers and onlookers are just beginning to sense the battle nigh, perhaps like some Southerners did while watching Union troops muster into formation on the other side of the battlefield. This is going to be a little tougher than most observers thought.

As the curtain rang down on the regular session, Governor Clements fired his parting shot, a vow to veto new taxes even if it pushes the state into the next budget period without a budget.

Brinkmanship

Brinkmanship in the halls of the Texas Legislature has never gotten any tougher than that.

But the Democrats will bring some mighty good generals to the affair, and all they need to do is peel off six votes, maybe less, from the Republican bloc.

One realism lawmakers know about budget-making is this: If you don't go along and vote for a budget, then you don't enjoy a player's share of the pork barrel.

Thus, the fun and games begin for individual legislators as they reconcile the needs of their districts with the lash of the leadership.

Money Crunch

A money crunch does funny things to people, conservative and liberal alike. When one takes a pencil to numbers in a more or less private setting, the political rhetoric left at the door, one's real heart emerges.

It's tough to walk back out the door and oppose your group, no matter which side you're on. No good deed goes unpunished.

But there have always been lawmakers, a handful at a time, who dare to go against the grain. This summer, whether it's Republicans or Democrats who bolt on this issue, they will make the difference.

Constitution Squeezed

Suppose lawmakers come back into special session, burning up the days in conference committee and then hand the governor a tax bill just before August.

Clements vetoes it. The new biennium comes, and we enter in the red. Crack! The sacred altar of pay-as-you-go will be in the balance.

The Constitution of Texas will be dangling over the crevice of brinkmanship, even if we do keep issuing cash management notes, such as were approved last week by Clements and the Democrats.

Campaign Fodder

Things, of course, will work out. Our Legislature isn't going to abandon the Ship of State with no money.

But no matter the outcome of the session, the political scene here will be altered.

After the hoopla dies down, even the most casual voter in Texas will see political parties here more closely divided among conservative-liberal lines. If you're for taxes, you're a Democrat; if you're against them, you're a Republican.

Certainly this tax vote will be the fodder for next campaign season. If the economy is still depressed a year from now, the voters can decide again the age-old question: In hard times, is it best for government to spend money or tighten the belt?

Texas' overworked legislators don't have a year. They've just got a couple of months to make up their minds.

One of the most dreaded sights in America today.

No one likes to see a repair truck pull up in front of the house.

But when it's a Contel truck and you have Wire Care service, you don't have to worry.

Because the service call is free. With Wire Care, we'll repair any problem you have with the wiring between your phone and the outside connection point.

It's the convenient way to maintain your inside wire and it costs just a few cents a day.

To order Wire Care or for more information, just call us at your nearest Contel business office.
