Cross Plains School Now Fully Accredited

A letter from Walter L. Chandler, Assistant Commissioner Accreditation and School Improvement, stated that because of the progress made by the district, its accreditation status is being raised from Accredited, Advised to Accredited. The public is cordially invited to attend and review the findings. The session will take place in the faculty room of the high school at 8 p.m.

Superintendent M. Lee Thompson expressed his appreciation and that of the board of trustees, administration, and faculty for the support of the community during the period of making corrective and improvement actions to teach reinstatement. The corrective measures were met within a year and the efforts of all involved were to be commended.

Cross Plains I.S.D. received an accreditation visit on October 18, 1989 in which twenty-five deficiencies were found in the areas of Planning, Curriculum, Instruction, Student Services, Instructional Resources, Governance, and Physical Facilities.

The accreditation follow-up report for Cross Plains Independent School District resulting from the visit conducted on February 11-13, 1991 and chaired by Mr. Perry P. Spears from the Division of Accreditation at the Texas Education Agency summarizes the deficiencies and the progress. The corrective/improvement actions are as follows:

PLANNING — A list of 12 committee members including administrators, teachers, parents, and members of the community were established to develop district goals and objectives. An outline of its planning process for 1990-91 was submitted. Each campus has an administrator and at least one faculty representative on the committee.

CURRICULUM — A plan for completing all curriculum documents was submitted with a realistic timeline for additional training sessions and for monitoring the adaption process. It consisted of objectives, persons responsible, expectations and timelines.

COURSE OFFERINGS — The district submitted a copy of its class schedule reflecting all courses offered with proper names and designations, including courses that are offered in alternate years.

COEDUCATIONAL CLASSES — A statement and class rolls indicating that all classes, with the exception of athletics for boys and girls, have been rearranged to reflect a coeducational setting.

ALTERNATIVE CLASS PLACEMENT — Written criteria for identifying and placing students in alternative classes was submitted.

SCHEDULE FOR CHAPTER 1 TEACHER AND AIDE — The district was to submit a schedule for the Chapter 1 teacher and aide documenting that identified students have been ranked according to need and that 75 students are receiving instruction. Chapter 1 Program summary includes a schedule for teacher and the aide, the number of students being served, an eligibility list and the placement procedures. The district has constructed two kindergarten classrooms, eliminating any illegal use or overcrowding in the Chapter 1 facility. The district is now serving all eligible Chapter 1 students.

TUTORIALS — Evidence that students are provided the opportunity to participate in tutorials in four core subjects at least twice a week for a cumulative total of 90 minutes was required. This corrective/improvement action was superseded by Senate Bill 1.

His handling of the dangerous mission earned him a Distinguished Flying Cross, which Vice-President Dan Quayle pinned onto Young's uniform at a VII Corps welcome home ceremony in Erlangen, a Bavarian town that serves as home to the 2nd Brigade of the U.S. Army Europe's 1st Armored Division.

The Flying Cross is awarded to soldiers who perform heroically in combat, voluntarily going beyond the call of duty while participating in an aerial flight.

Young said it was "an honor" to receive the award from the vice-president, who was in Europe on a five-nation tour with his wife, Marilyn, and two of their children.

More than 1,200 troops and their families came to one of the Ferris Barracks motor pools, which usually houses M1-A1 tanks, to see Vice-President Quayle pin medals on Young and six other soldiers.

Quayle told the cheering crowd that he and his family came to Germany "to pay tribute and respect to the men and women of our armed forces."

"Because of your dedication and courage, the forces of freedom have defeated the forces of tyranny," Quayle said. "We were successful because of the men and women in our armed forces. You made the difference."

Tasked with entrapping and attacking the Iraqi Republican Guard, the 1st Armored Division saw heavy combat during the 100 hours of the war.

Randy is assigned to H Company, 1st Aviation Regiment, Task Force Phoenix of the 1st AD, and has served in the Army for five years. A graduate of the University of North Texas, he now calls Cross Plains his hometown, where his parents, Bill and Barbara Young reside. The couple own Lakeway Grocery and Barbara is employed by Citizens State Bank. He is the grandson of Alma Illingworth of Cross Plains.

Young flew his Black Hawk deep into Iraq to pick up the Special Forces soldiers because the soldiers' positions had been spotted by the enemy. The

BANKS OF CROSS PLAINS

BY CLARA NELL SPENCER

The first bank of Cross Plains was a private bank with Tom Powell as president and S.F. Bond as cashier. It was organized in 1904 and became a national bank March 2, 1907. It was called The Farmers National Bank.

The officers of The Farmers National Bank in 1907 were T.E. Powell, president, S.L. Driskill, vice-president, S.F. Bond, cashier, and Taylor Bond, assistant cashier. Powell and Driskill were probably originally from Baird.

S.F. and Taylor Bond were brothers who came with their parents to Cross Plains in 1884. Samuel Foster Bond was born in Holly Springs, Mississippi, on March 16, 1873 and died in Cross Plains, April 27, 1974 at the age of 101. During his long life, he established The Cross Plains Mercantile, was president of a bank, established a cotton gin, put in the first electric utility in Cross Plains, hauled freight from Brownwood, and many other activities. Taylor, born in 1882, was active in business and banking and died in 1937.

Directors of the bank were T.B. Vestal, E.J. Barr and his son, John A. Barr, and R.P. Odom. Descendants of the directors still live in the Cross Plains vicinity. Juanita Mayes, Vida Balkum, Lorena Wright, and Alma Armstrong are granddaughters of T.B. Vestal. Zeldia Long and C.A. Barr are

The Farmers National Bank carried a large, front page ad in the Cross Plains Review from January 1911 through December 1929.

Morgan (Uncle Morg) Harlow was prominent in early phases of both banks.

In July 1931, the Farmers National failed and never reopened. It was located at the site of the present Citizens State Bank, when along with many others, the bank was a victim of the Great Depression.

In the parlor of Jim Coffman's in 1911, the Cross Plains Bank was organized with H.W. Kuteman, president, J.E. Spencer of Carbon, vice-president, and Dodd Price, cashier. It was Mr. Spencer and his brother, W.E. Spencer, who were some of the men who formed the townsite company in 1910. The bank started in a little frame building near the banks of Turkey Creek. In January 1911, the bank moved to the townsite and opened its door as an unincorporated bank. An account could be opened for one ($1.00) dollar deposit. The bank was later called The Guaranty State Bank, The First State Bank, and eventually the Citizens State Bank.

It always ran an ad in the Cross Plains Review in the opposite corner from the Farmers National Bank. The ad ran from 1911 through 1929.

In 1922, George B. Scott moved to Cross Plains and became cashier, a position he held until his untimely death in May 1929. Mr. Scott who was the father of Jack Scott, Maggie Scott Cook, Baird, Texas, and Anna Myrl Scott McGowen, Sherman, Texas, was born in Clay County, Alabama, April 14, 1876. He came with his family to Texas in 1878. In the early eighties, the family moved to Cottonwood. Jack Scott served as a director of the local bank for twenty-four years.

During the Great Depression, the bank closed in October 1931. The bank weathered the most severe financial panic in the history of the world. After reorganization the Citizens State Bank opened November 1, 1931 with R.C. Durringer as cashier. John Barr, for many years, was a director at both the national and state banks. It was said that he, his brother, Sam Barr, and other directors put in a great deal of their own money to save the bank.

Following Durringer's tenure of Chief Executive were J.R. Patterson, the father of Exa McCord Williams, C.C. Neeb, Fred V. Tunnell, father of Jack Tunnell, Edwin Baum, Jack Tunnell, and W.G. McCoy, president of today's bank.

Ethel Sims went to work as a regular employee of the Citizens State Bank in 1937 with Fred V. Tunnell and remained for forty years as a very important part of the banking institution. Present directors of the Citizens State Bank are W.G. McCoy, N.L. Dillard, Tommie Harris, James Lawrence, Jim Skinner, Marshall Newcomb Jr., and Lynn Nabers.

skies were dark and dirty with smoke and ash from burning oil wells, greatly reducing Young's visibility and that of his co-pilot and an accompanying Black Hawk crew.

The pilots flew through enemy fire, and, as Young's crew chief tells, enemy radar locked onto the two U.S. choppers, putting both crews in danger of being shot out of the sky.

Adrenaline admittedly flowing fast, Young out-maneuvered the radar. He brought his helicopter down low to the ground to stir up dust so the enemy would lose him, and the maneuver worked.

Both Black Hawks flew back to their unit intact and with the Special Forces troops aboard.

"We were all hyped-up...and it was scary," said Young of the rescue mission. "But we were just doing our job. I think we were also real lucky."

When the cease fire was called two days later, Young said he and his crew "couldn't let down."

"Everything was going so fast and the battle was so violent, we were all on a high," he said. "All the bad stuff that was happening in the battle was happening to them, not to us. We were confident, because we didn't see people we knew getting hurt."

Young, who soon will be promoted to captain, has applied to law school, with Army sponsorship, at the University of Texas at Austin. He has also been the recipient of two additional military honors, the Air Medal with "V" for Valor and the Bronze Star.

He and his wife, Roxanna, a Corpus Christi native, have one son, William, and are expecting their second child shortly.

The Young family is expected to be in the United States on September 11 and will arrive in Cross Plains September 20. Bill and Barbara, his proud parents, are eager to see them after the long separation and perils of the war.

Of the surge of patriotism in the U.S. during the war, Randy said, "It's been very good for the soldiers."

Co. Jail Plans Told

Local Justice Of The Peace Attends New Legislation Seminar

CROSS PLAINS REVIEW
Thursday, July 4, 1991

Callahan County Commissioners voted to hire an architect to continue preliminary plans for an addition to the Callahan County Jail to bring it into compliance with the Texas Jail Standards Commission.

County commissioners, in a regular meeting Monday, June 24, voted unanimously to hire the architecture firm of Franz, Jeanes, Lazo, Cora & Associates, Inc. of Fort Worth to proceed with plans for a remodeling and addition to the jail in Baird.

The county is being forced by the Jail Standards Commission to add several classification areas to the current jail.

In the present jail, there are currently four areas that prisoners can be classified into but with the addition and remodeling of the present jail, there will be a total of eight classification areas.

Plans call for an addition to be constructed on the northwest corner of the present jail that would house an additional six prisoners. An extensive PLANS FOR COUNTY JAIL — The preliminary plans for the Callahan County Law Enforcement Center were recently approved by Callahan County Commissioners. Plans call for an extensive remodeling project of the current jail building in Baird along with an addition to the northwest corner of the building. The project cost is being estimated at $110,000.

Callahan Co. 4-H Shooting Sports Project Group Fundraiser

The Callahan County 4-H Shooting Sports Project Group is taking orders for peaches from the Dan and Nancy Childress orchard at Cottonwood. The Childress' always produce an excellent peach crop and this year is no different. The peach crop is large and the fruit is in good shape.

Orders are being taken now for the peaches at $9 per box (1/2 bushel) delivered to your doorstep. Delivery date will be mid-July.

Anyone who would like to place an order, can call the County Extension office at (915) 854-1518 or one of the following 4-H Shooting Sports leaders: Margaret Ellis 529-3748, Billy Collins 893-4504, B.P. Stephenson 854-1808, Kelton's Flower Show 854-1093, Robertson Ham 854-1569 or Greg Gerngross 854-1039.

"Your support for this activity will be appreciated and I know you will enjoy the tasty tree ripen fruit from the Childress orchard," stated Greg Gerngross, County Extension Agent.

remodeling project will take place on the first floor of the current jail to allow the county to house an additional 12 prisoners.

After the remodeling and addition is completed, 18 prisoners could be housed in the jail. The present jail facility can hold a maximum of nine prisoners.

There would be no remodeling of the second floor of the present jail building. Currently, up to nine prisoners can be housed on the second floor. There is no housing of prisoners taking place on the first floor of the present jail facility.

Total cost for the jail project is being estimated at between $105,000 and $110,000, including the architects fees. The architecture firm would receive a flat $10,000 fee for its work, with 50 percent to be paid when the project is bid and the other half to be paid when the project is completed.

Callahan County Judge Bill Johnson said that the architects told the county commissioners that the addition could solve the county's jail housing problems for another 20 to 30 years. The next step is for the architecture firm to have the additional and remodeling plans finalized by the Jail Standards Commission.

The bidding of the project is not expected for another six months. Construction of the addition is not planned until possibly January of 1992 and the project would not be completed until the spring of 1992.

Judge Johnson said that there will be no bonds issued to finance the jail project. The jail addition and remodeling would be funded from the current and future budget plans of the county, Judge Johnson said.

Last Friday, June 28, Justice of the Peace Rolan Jones attended a New Legislation Seminar sponsored by the Justice Court Training Center through Southwest Texas University at San Marcos.

Effects of the newly passed legislation on the Justice Court System and County finances were discussed.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter to the person or persons responsible for feeding my dogs poison and ground glass. On Sunday, June 30th, two of my dogs were poisoned. Both dogs stay inside a fenced yard. Neither of them roamed the streets or aggravated anyone, unlike some dogs.

It is a really sad situation when a dog can't be safe in its own yard.

Whoever you are, not only did you put the lives of my pets in danger, you probably never stopped to think about my two-year-old niece.

She could have very easily picked up that poisoned hamburger meat. So the next time you decide to do something so heartless and cruel, remember that there just might be a child around who doesn't know any better than to eat something off the ground.

I'm glad I don't know who you are, because it takes someone very low to endanger defenseless animals. But I also feel sorry for you, because you have no feelings whatsoever.

Judge A. E. Dyer

BAIRD — Callahan County's former judge, A.E. "Colonel" Dyer Jr., 64, who enjoyed the comforts of living in a small town, died Tuesday, June 25, at an Abilene hospital.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Daniel Moore officiating, assisted by the Rev. Jack Willoughby. Burial was in Ross Cemetery, directed by Parker Funeral Home.

A lifetime resident of Baird, Dyer, who inherited his nickname from his late father, A.E. Dyer Sr., was a third-generation Callahan County rancher.

The Dyers raised Black Angus cattle and were the largest commercial Angus raisers in the state at one time. After building a large ranching operation, A.E. "Colonel" Dyer Sr., died in 1960.

Judge Dyer graduated from Baird High School in 1944 and got in one semester at the University of Texas before volunteering for military duty. He served in the U.S. Navy and was discharged after 16 months of duty. He enrolled in Hardin-Simmons University and received his degree in 1949, majoring in math and minoring in chemistry. He later returned to ranching.

In a 1970, Reporter-News interview, he recalled, "I knew I wanted ranching. And I knew I would go back home — that's where the land was."

He ran for the office of Democratic party chairman in 1960 after a neighbor decided he was too busy to do the job. Dyer kept on running for office and kept getting elected. After the death of Callahan County Judge Roy Gilbert in the summer of 1968, Dyer ran unopposed for two consecutive terms.

He was named to the board which manages the Callahan County Hospital in 1962 and served until 1968. In 1963, he was named director of the local water district and resigned from that to serve on the Baird school board from 1967-71.

Dyer was a member of First United Methodist Church, chairman of the church's administrative board and a member of the six-man board of trustees. He was first vice president of West Central Council of Governments in 1971.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia Barnhill Dyer of Baird; two sons, A.E. "Trey" Dyer III of Midland and John Louis Dyer of Baird; two daughters, Cathy Dyer Goldsmith and Cindy Dyer Brooker, both of Baird; a brother, James Dyer of Fort Davis; three sisters, Gayle Akers of Clyde, and Marion Windham and Ruth Elliott, both of Baird; two grandsons; and several nieces and nephews.

Memorials may be made to the church of one's choice.

Odis Bailey Starks

CLYDE — Odis Bailey Starks, died Friday, June 28, in an Abilene hospital.

Services were held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at Elliott-Hamil Funeral Home Chapel of Memories, 542 Hickory St., with Chaplin Don Cauble officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Memorial Park in Abilene.

Mr. Starks was born in Des Arc, Arkansas, and was a graduate of the Glenwood Arkansas High School.

He was a member of the U.S. Air Force, serving from October 1942 to July 1963. He was an air-conditioning mechanic.

He had been a resident of Abilene before moving to Clyde in 1982.

Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth "Betty" Starks of Clyde; five daughters, Dianna Goodson of Sulfur Springs, Margaret Brazee of Hodges, Betty Henegar, Shirley Davila and Sharron Witt, all of Abilene; three sons, Darrell Starks of Albuquerque, N.M., and Bill Starks and Kelsey Starks, both of Abilene; a brother, Pete Starks of Rising Star; a sister, Clara Baker of Little Rock, Arkansas; and 24 grandchildren.

Project Pride Meets Tuesday

Project Pride will meet Tuesday evening, July 9, at 6 p.m. at the Library. The public is invited. Reports will be heard from all committees.

SCHOOL

schedule and a statement certifying that all elementary teachers receive a 30-minute, duty-free lunch was submitted.

CLASS-TIME REQUIREMENTS — District was asked to submit copies of elementary teachers' schedules and a statement certifying that Chapter 75 time requirements were being met. This required corrective/improvement action has been superseded by Senate Bill 1.

GRADING — A copy of its board policy and the student handbook reflecting detailed procedures for implementing a uniform grading policy. Evidence that staff development was held in October and November 1989 to ensure that teachers understood the procedure used was submitted.

SPECIAL EDUCATION — The district submitted statements to the Division of Accreditation addressing each of the four problems: (1) reviewing and processing for referring, diagnosing, and placing students in special education; (2) certified that the Admission, Review, and Dismissal (ARD) process was being conducted in accordance with the law; (3) Individual Education Plans (IEPs) are individualized and; (4) complete student folders are available for teachers.

DYSLEXIA PLAN — A referral committee consisting of the counselor, referring teacher, and the appraisal person who has observed the student in regular class was established. The Slingerland Test is used in student referrals. Several students have gone through the referral process, and those identified are now being served under the Herman Method. Three teachers have received training in the Herman Method as of June 1990.

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM — The construction of the additional six rooms to the elementary facilities was completed before the beginning of the 1990-91 school year. Three rooms are used to house the kindergarten classes. Kindergarten teachers obtained instructional materials needed for the 1990-91 school year. An in-service training program was set up through the Region XIV Education Service Center (ESC).

HEALTH SERVICES — The district submitted a statement certifying that school health services meet state regulations. Each campus is provided with locked cabinets to store medications. A record is being kept on all medications administered to students by designated persons. Vision, hearing, and scoliosis screenings were conducted. Health and immunizations records are up to date for all students.

SAFETY REQUIREMENTS — The team found the safety features in the science laboratory to be adequate.

LIBRARY MEDIA SERVICES — The budget for 1990-91 fiscal year reflected an increased amount allocated to library media services. The 10 books per student was met. A certified librarian-consultant is on campus one day in every two-week periods, and a full-time library aide spends half of each day in the elementary library and the other half day in the high school library.

STAFF DEVELOPMENT — The planning for staff development involved cooperative in-service with the Brown County Schools and the ESC. Teacher appraisal records, faculty surveys, and the accreditation report were used in planning the programs.

LEADERSHIP GROWTH PLAN — An outline of its leadership growth plan for administrators based on district needs and individual leadership assessments were submitted.

CODE OF ETHICS — A resolution, signed by all the members of the board of trustees, to adhere to the School Board Members Code of Ethics was submitted.

BOARD POLICY MANUAL — The district was to submit a statement certifying that the board policy manual had been updated, organized, and adopted. On July 19, 1990, the Cross Plains ISD Board of Trustees met and adopted an updated board policy manual. The manual was prepared and presented to the board with the assistance of the Texas Association of School Boards.

BOARD AGENDAS AND EXECUTIVE SESSIONS — Evidence of a change in the format of agendas and a statement that the board is complying with legal requirements in conducting executive sessions was submitted.

BOARD MEMBER TRAINING — The district was to submit a plan for each board member to complete training in all areas of the Statewide Standards as required. All seven board members have complied to the specified number of training hours.

CHAPTER 1 BUILDING — The team noted that kindergarten classes conducted in the Chapter 1 building at the time of the March 1989 compliance visit and the October 1989 accreditation visit have been relocated. The use of the Chapter 1 building is now limited to the Chapter 1 Program as required by law.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES — The team noted that the six classrooms had been completed as scheduled; and they were in use. Overcrowded classroom conditions have been eliminated.

HEALTH AND SAFETY HAZARDS — The district's facilities are free from health and safety hazards.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

I am in agreement with the major churches who have held general assemblies, and who labored with anxious prayers to keeping our virtues pure upon which our churches were founded.

One outspoken group has a response to guidelines on human sexuality - "Stick to what the Bible says," - reaffirming its traditional biblical views on sex and homosexuality at its annual conference. The voting delegates approved a resolution on human sexuality.

The resolution declared that sex should be limited to marriage. Homosexuality is a degrading passion "deserving the wrath of God", and single people should remain celibate.

By FREDIA BURKETT

The Brown-Harris family reunion is scheduled for Sunday, July 14, at the Burkett Community Center. All descendants of these families are urged to be present and their friends are invited.

A noon luncheon is planned and each family is asked to bring a basket lunch or covered dishes of food to be spread together. Tea, coffee, ice and paper articles will be provided. Make plans now to attend and enjoy a great day of fellowship together.

Weekend guests of Birdie and Gill Helms were Wayne Harris of Midland, R.E. Harris of Emory, and Lois Garrett of Cross Plains.

Lucille Cross, secretary-treasurer of the Burkett Community Center Board, reports another generous gift of $200 from R.T. Watson to help repair the center roof. Cynthia Connelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers of Coleman and daughter-in-law of Tommie and Charlyene Connelly of Burkett, was on the Dean's List at Cisco Junior College the past semester. She has transferred to Howard Payne University in Brownwood to finish her schooling. We are always proud of our young people who do well in whatever endeavor they choose.

Virgil and Fredia Burkett were in Zephyr Friday evening visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Young. They also visited her niece and son, Marsha Penson and Bryan.

Fredia had spent Monday to Tuesday of that week with her other sister and husband, Clint and Clairene Edgar of Millersview.

George and Martha Coffey have been blessed with friends and relatives in the past weeks. Rose Mary Parsons of Coleman paid a surprise visit and spent one afternoon with them which was really an enjoyable visit. Friends, Buster and Gean Wilkinson, came also, and he had made a nice picnic table for Martha. Their youngest daughter, Martha Hunt, her husband, David, their two children, Stephanie and Katy came on Friday and spent five days of their vacation with the Coffeys. They all left Monday to go to the Alamo and Sea World in San Antonio. On Tuesday they drove to Moran to see Aunt Ruell Tabor. Nena treated them with a fishing trip and a canoe ride in their tanks. Everyone caught at least one fish, but Nena tried to show the rest of them how it was done! Aunt Ruell really set a fine table of food before they returned home.

Then the Coffeys had several cousins from Burkett come to visit the Hunts whom they had never met. Vickey and Sumner, Jan, Emily, Aaron, and Justine, and Lynn Kuebler came and played with Stephanie and Katy. And of course, Miriam Kuebler, sister of George Coffey, came, too, with her little granddaughters for a nice visit.

Buddy and Nita Thate spent Friday and Monday a week ago in Abilene visiting relatives and friends of Mrs. S.E. Clayton who passed away at Humana Hospital on Thursday night. The Claytons were close friends of the Thates. Buddy spent twenty years with Clayton Chemical Company as salesman in Abilene. They spent many weekends hunting, fishing or traveling together.

Nita Thate spent two days last week in Coleman with her sister, Mrs. Ruby Allen.

COLONIAL OAKS NURSING HOME NEWS

By LINDA EDINGTON
Activity Director

We appreciate the support of the people of Cross Plains and would like to share a portion of a letter we received from Rolan Jones. This kind of comment makes us feel good about the things that we do for our residents.

"In May 1991, acting as Emergency Medical Service Supervisor for students at the Emergency Room at Brownwood Regional Hospital, I overheard a conversation I thought you would be interested in.

"The nurse did not know I or the student were from Cross Plains, and her words were as follows:

"There is one nursing home that you can tell where they are from as soon as they come through the door, because they are clean, no odor or bed sores, and they are well taken care of. That is the nursing home in Cross Plains."

"I felt a sense of pride in the job you are performing and felt you should know about your reputation."

Sincerely,
Rolan Jones

County To Realign Voting Precincts

Callahan County Commissioners, during a regular commissioner's court meeting Monday, June 24, voted to hire a law firm to redraw voting precinct and commissioner's precinct lines in the county.

Commissioners voted unanimously to hire the law firm of Bickerstaff, Heath and Smiley of Austin to redraw the county's eight voting precincts and the four county commissioner precincts.

The four commissioner precincts are being redrawn because the Clyde precinct (Roy LaFoy's Precinct #1) has the most widely travelled roads in the county but receives only 26 percent of the county's funds.

The new commissioner precincts are hoped to have the same amount of roadways along with the same population numbers.

The new voting precincts are being redrawn because the Clyde voting precinct #2 has twice the number of registered voters as do the other seven precincts.

The cost to redraw voting and commissioner precinct lines is estimated at between $10,000 and $11,000.

The redrawing of county precinct lines must be completed by December 1, 1991.

Other items brought before commissioner's court included:

Commissioners voted to change the signature list for those from the county to purchase surplus property to the county judge and four county commissioners. Only one signature is needed from any of the five men to purchase surplus property from the Texas Surplus Property.

Commissioners voted to post new load totals on six county bridges as was being requested by the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Carl Shousae and James Grant with the state highway department met with commissioners requesting the changes to the bridge loads be made. Weight limit changes will be made to four county bridges while weight limit signs from two bridges will be removed.

Commissioners discussed the county receiving a bill from the West Central Texas Council of Governments for a solid waste management plan performed for the county. The plan was not requested by the county and commissioners felt the county should not be charged. Callahan County Judge Bill Johnson met with Council of Governments officials and WCTCOG officials agreed to lower county's bill by two-thirds. County commissioners will take action on whether to pay the bill after the new statement is received by the county. No action was taken.

Commissioners received an update on the 911 emergency telephone exchange for the county. No action was taken.

Voted to hire the architecture firm of Franz, Jeanes, Lazo, Cora & Associates, Inc. of Fort Worth to proceed with preliminary plans for an addition and remodeling of the Callahan County Jail. The architect's fee for the proposed project is $10,000 with 50 percent to be paid when the project is bid and the other half to be paid when completed.

Commissioners discussed the contract with the Citizens Emergency Ambulance Service serving Callahan County. A new contract is currently being drawn up to make the Citizens EMS service a separate entity. Commissioners voted to give the county judge the authority to sign the contract with the Citizens EMS when it is completed.

Commissioners voted to appoint the election judges for the upcoming Constitutional Amendments Special Election slated for August 10 county-wide. The election judges include: Baird Precinct #1, Jon Hardwick; Clyde Precinct #2, Patsy Hogan; Cross Plains Precinct #3, Sarah Brashear; Putnam Precinct #4, Meta Isenhower; Eula Precinct #5, Reo Jolly; Denton Valley Precinct #6, R.C. Logan; Oplin Precinct #7, Shirley Landers; and Clyde Precinct #8, Silas Tucker.

Weekly Health Tip

STRENGTHEN BONES

By holding a tennis ball in the palm of the hand and squeezing it very hard, three times, twice a day, doctors have found that the forearm bones of the elderly are strengthened enough to avoid easy fracture. Frequent walking likewise tends to increase bone strength. Exercise and a calcium rich diet can strengthen bones weakened by osteoporosis.
