Callahan County Oil News

BY W. S. PARKS

Effective August 1st, the Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency, reduced the price of Pennsylvania crude 25c per barrel making the range in price of crude oil in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York from 2.35 to 2.65 per barrel.

With the cutting of Pennsylvania crude, it bears out the general market condition, and with the closing good market on gasoline nearing the end, it is very little question among the students of the oil industry, but what a cut in the price of Mid-Continent crude can be expected, unless something unforeseen happens for the benefit of the oil industry.

The general outlook for the recovery of the crude market is still very uncertain on account of the large production being obtained from the Seminole field in Oklahoma, and the further extension of the Yates pool, in Pecos County, which many operators are of the opinion that it will produce well over 300,000 barrels of oil per day, should it be developed immediately.

The Moutray Pool continues to furnish a nice well now and then, but this is only holding up the production in the field and is not tending to increase the production of the field materially.

Crabtree and others, No. 1, Brown on the T. F. Royston Survey, Section No. 251, west of Belle Plains, has a nice showing of oil in sandy lime at around 907 to 912 feet. It is thought possible that it might make a small well after shot, but a good many of the scouts report it only as a showing of oil.

Rinehart et al No. 1, Tom French in Section 90, B. B. & C. Ry. Co., is shut down at 1343 feet, but will be drilled deeper and work will commence immediately.

Very little active trading has been reported in Callahan County during the past week. The Prairie Oil & Gas Company is laying a line to the Empire's well on the Johnson farm in Section 146, G. H. & H. Survey, and the well is shut in at the present time having no available tankage on the lease. It has produced a total of 2900 barrels up to the present time and as soon as the Prairie's line is completed will be opened up again.

The well of Adams et al in the Dudley field, which has been reported as being good for from 100 to 150 barrels, does not seem to be so good and scouts who have visited the well reported that in their opinion will not make a commercial well.

It is understood that the Pioneer Petroleum Company will drill on their block on the Jackson ranch in the James O. Young Survey No. 523, three miles south of Clyde. This is to be a 1600 foot test.

Miss Ruth Simons Hostes to Triple T Club

Miss Ruth Simons entertained the Triple T Club with a dinner Monday at the beautiful home of Mrs. H. D. Driskill.

The dining room was artistically decorated with lavender and pink. The table bore a vase of beautiful lilies and roses. Guest places were marked by place cards resembling each guest.

After a pleasant social hour the party departed for the theatre.

Those attending were: Misses Ora Elder, Doris Foy, Madge Holmes, Oleta White, Mildred Bell, Maude McGowan, Grace Jackson, Frances Cochran and Ruth Simons, with their Honor Guest, Miss Beth Williams, of Abilene, who is visiting friends here.

PLEASE SHUT CEMETERY GATE

Mr. Cummings who has charge of the cemetery asks the people who visit the cemetery, to please shut the gate when they pass in or out. Many thoughtless leave the gate open and let stock in among the graves, and people blame Mr. Cummings for it.

Mrs. Don Carter and children, Haynie and Don, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blakley on the Bayou.

Keep Money In Circulation Here

Every Dollar Sent Out of the Community Reduces the Chances of Prosperity and Growth

This is an age of competition, an age where the things that survive in the business world are the things that must prove their merit. Anything that is useless or inefficient soon loses out in the strenuous race for supremacy. So when you view your successful business establishments in your home community you are viewing those who have proven their merit an da right to your patronage an deonsideration.

The business field in the small towns especially, is not exclusive to anybody. The game is open to anybody who desires to enter and cares to risk the necessary capital. No body faces fiercer competition on every hand than the country merchant. A dissatisfied customer does not have to trade with him and he knows it. There are the competing stores across the street or next door. Or if those do not suit there are usually towns within a very short distance that invite his patronage. So the country merchant must find a way to meet these conditions, and he can only meet them by giving the service, the goods and prices that do satisfy the customers.

Most people expect and receive accommodations from the home merchant which they would never receive in a thousand dyears from the mail order concern. Just this feature of accommodation should be a strong point in favor of the home merchant, but that is not all. There are the churches, the schools, the various public activities that are only possible because the home merchant and business. All of these things are inseparable and if everybody would trade out of town, the town would decay and public activities would soon cease. There is no way that a prosperous town can be maintained and at the same time have a large part of the business of the town sent elsewhere.

Many people do not realize what it means to send money out of the town. Of course a few would not matter, but when it begins to mount up to thousands of dollars per month then one can see the vast damage to the town caused by the loss of this liquid capital. The banks find their business curtailed, the merchants cannot carry the stock they should, money becomes "tight" and everybody finds it scarce because it has been sent away to the everlasting benefit of some big, overgrown metropolis.

On another page of The Star will be found the advertisements of business institutions that are particularly interested in getting their side of this question before the public. They have selected The Baird Star as their medium of expression. Take note of their advertising. They have their capital invested in their various enterprises and wish to show you by service rendered that they deserve your patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pruitt and little son, Mrs. Cheney Allphin and Mrs. V. Z. Perriman and family, spent last week end in Mineral Wells, where they attended the Sacred Harp Singing. Miss Lolo Faye Perriman drove the car an Overland Six on the trip and on the way down, near Strawn where a rain had fallen making the highway rather slick, she ran the car into a ditch but none of the occupants were hurt and very little damage done the car. Mrs. Long, son and daughter accompanied them home. Mrs. Long bringing her daughter here to Dr. Griggs to have her tonsils removed. Mrs. Long is the mother of Mesdames Perriman and Pruitt.

To Work Belle Plaine Cemetery

All who have loved ones buried in the Belle Plaine Cemetery are urged to meet at the cemetery on Wednesday, August 17th for the purpose of cleaning it off. The men are requested to bring hoes and rakes and the ladies will bring filled lunch baskets. Please don't overlook this matter. If all will help for a day, the cemetery can be put in good condition. Let us not forget or neglect the silent city or ours, our beloved dead. We expect you to be there on Wednesday, August 17th.

Former Baird Boy Killed By Live Wire

Clyde Culwell, age 21 years, son of Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Culwell, was killed at Midlothian, Texas on Wednesday afternoon, July 27th by coming in contact with a live electric wire at the rear of his tailor shop, while attempting to remove a radio wire from his clothes line. A bolt of lightning had thrown the radio wire across an electric wire and the end was dangling down to the clothes wire.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Midlothian, where the deceased father is pastor of the First Methodist Church. Clyde Culwell is survived by his wife, father, mother and sister. Rev. Culwell was formerly pastor of the Methodist Church here and many friends regret to learn of the tragic death of their only son.

Cross Plains Lets Contract For Street Paving

The City Council of Cross Plains has let the contract to the Fuller Construction Company of Dallas, for paving seven blocks in the business section of that city. It is also planned to grade and gravel other streets. Paving will begin at once. The West Texas Utilities Company will also install a white way on Main street.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday July 31st was a good day with us, Prof. Will D. Bond of Simmons preached at 11 o'clock and the church greatly appreciated him and his good sermon.

The Sunday School attendance was good and we sure do want that record to keep up. You see to it my friend that it is so because you are there.

The Pastor preached to a small but splendid audience Sunday night, he is always rejoiced to get back and get acquainted with the members of the church occasionally.

On Monday night, August 1st Bro. Craig, who has spent a considerable time abroad, was with us, and gave us his pictures and lecture of Palestine. It was fine indeed, we like Brother Craig and want him to come again with one of his good lectures, his pictures are excellent and so is his lectures.

Next Sunday Brother Joe Ford, of Abilene, will preach for us, both hours. Bro. Ford is a special life long friend of mine, every thought and memory of him is a pleasant one and it is a joy to have him in my pulpit. I earnestly urge all to come and hear him.

The Pastor will be away for another meeting this time at Token in Rannels County. I sincerely covet your prayers.

We had a good meeting of the young peoples unions last Sunday and when they meet at their regular hours next Sunday, we are anxious for all to be in their places, Joe R. Mayes Pastor

C. D. Jones Elected Chief of Fire Dept.

Wednesday night at a regular meeting of the Fire Department, 1st Asst. Chief, Jones was promoted to Chief, and 2nd Asst. Chief James Asbury was made 1st Chief ad G. M. King was elected 2nd Asst.

Chief B. M. Brundage resigned, owing to the fact that he is moving to Fort Worth to make his home. It was with deep regret that the Department accepted Chief Brundage's resignation as he has been a faithful and efficient chief and the boy's will miss him, his leadership and association.

Chief Jones was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. He has been 1st Asst. Chief for several years and is capable of filling the position to which he was promoted.

Judge Virgil V. Hart Dies At Cross Plains

Judge Virgil V. Hart, a prominent Attorney of Cross Plains, died at his home in that city, on Wednesday night of last week, following an illness of several weeks with typhoid fever. Funeral services were held at the family home at 10 o'clock Thursday morning after which the body was carried to Mineola, his former home, for burial beside his father.

Mr. Hart was 52 years of age. He is survived by his wife and several children, who have the sympathy of all in their sorrow.

Mrs. V. O. Bowden Buried At Bryan

Miss Ruth Newland Bowden, wife of V. O. Bowden, who died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Newland, in Dallas on Thursday of last week, was carried to Bryan, her former home for burial. Funeral services being held at the First Methodist Church, of Bryan, of which Mrs. Bowden had been a member since childhood. High School class mates acted as pall bearers. Besides her husband and parents Mrs. Bowden is survived by two brothers and five sisters.

Presbyterian Ladies Entertained

The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church met in a social meeting Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock with Mesdames Barnhill and Mullican as hostesses. A dime contest was held in which Mrs. Franklin won the prize. Much merriment was had when each member was asked to stand in a corner, close their eyes and drink from a closed glass.

They were favored with a reading by little Miss Billie Bloom. The hostesses served raspberry Sherbert and angel food cake to the following: Mesdames Fulton, Hart, Franklin, McGowan, McFarlane, Ebert, Vestal, Smith, Bloom, Misses Dorothy Barnhill, Mae Claire Wheeler and Billie Bloom.

NOTICE

To all members of the Independent Order Of Odd Fellow. The next meeting of the I. O. O. F. Federation of Callahan County will be held with Baird Lodge No. 271 on Tuesday Night August 9th, and Baird Lodge extends a cordial invitation to all Brothers who can make it possible to be with us on that date. TO MY FRIENDS

I have decided to withdraw from the contest for the Free Trip to Paris as I could not make the trip under the present changes and be back home in time to begin my school. All those who have pledged votes to me, may be at liberty to cast them for your next choice.

Thanks,
A. L. Johnson.

Didn't Have Them On

The modern girl was talking to an old-fashioned man.
"Next week I'm going to Paris for some clothes," she said.
"Ah!" he replied in a relieved tone, "I wondered where you'd left them."—London Tit-Bits.

"Fire Brigade" Wonderful Picture

The Fire Brigade shown at the Sigal Theatre Monday and Tuesday for the benefit of the Baird Fire Department was one of the best pictures ever shown in Baird. It is a picture made under the cooperation of the International Association of Fire Chiefs and endorsed by Fire Departments where ever shown.

The Fire Boys were disappointed in the patronage the citizens gave and it seems that the people of Baird do not appreciate the efforts of the Fire Department to make their department one of the best in the state. The work of the Fire Department is wholly volunteer, they devote their time and efforts to not only fight the fires after they have started but to prevent them from starting and regardless of their positions, or their clothing they are required at all times to turn out for duty when an alarm is sounded. The law requires them to do a certain amount of practice each month in order that they be recognized as an active Fire Department which gives everyone who carries Fire Insurance on their property a substantial saving.

The Department deserves the support of every citizen, especially the property owners, and in order to have the proper fire protection, you have to do your part toward the men who volunteer their services to protect the lives and property of your home town.

The Fire Boys appreciate the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Sigal in bringing a picture of this type to Baird and are highly pleased with the cooperation they gave the Department.

Texas Co. Sells Gas Business To Lone Star Gas Company

The Texas Company has sold the gas business to the Lone Star Gas Company, who took charge of the business on August 1st. Max Brundage, manager of the local department, will remain with the new company for a few weeks, after which time he and his family will move to Fort Worth.

THE OPLIN MEETING

The meeting with the Baptist Church at Oplin closed Sunday night and I say truthfully that it was a good meeting. There were 7 confessions of faith and all of them joined the church, one joined by letter.

The services were all well attended and the finest sort of attention was had all the way thru.

It was a pretty busy week. We had church in the morning, singing school in the afternoon and preaching or meeting again at night, and all of it was good. The people of Oplin community are an appreciative people and they showed that they knew when they had a good thing, so they went in full length for their exercises.

One of the extraordinary things during the meeting was on Friday when the community met at the cemetery and cleaned it up and at 11 o'clock when the work was done, we had our services there. Splendid indeed it was, but no more so than Sunday morning when some 29 or 30 of us climbed to the top of the mountain and had a sunrise service, enough good way to start the day. As far as I know every single thing during the meeting went pleasantly and the good people demonstrated their appreciation with a nice substantial offering to the visiting preacher and a nice check to the pastor. God bless the Oplin people. I will always be glad for an opportunity to go back among them for any service I may render or any fellowship I may enjoy.
Joe R. Mayes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fulton and little daughter, Helen returned a few days ago from an auto trip through Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas. They returned by way of Dallas, where they spent a few days. Miss Annie Fulton of Dallas, accompanied them home for a week's visit.

W. R. Hickman, who formerly lived on Pecan Bayou, but has moved to Coleman, was in town last week. Dick is building a brick house in Coleman. All the business part of town is paved, he said, and we are going to pave out in front of my house this fall.

Coyotes Lose To Breckenridge

Last Sunday, July 31st at the T-P Park, the Baird Coyotes and the Breckenridge team met for the third time this year, and after the pasttaming was over, it was evidence to all present that the Coyotes were outclassed or that the Breckenridge aggregation surely had the Coyote's Goat for the third time this year the Coyotes were defeated by the Breckenridge team and for the third time one Mr. Stedman did the twirling for the Breckenridge outfit, and it must be said in all candor that he did a neat job of singing the old horsehide, he allowing the Coyotes ten hits, but he kept them well scattered in the second inning Earl Hall scratched a hit off the shortstop's glove, Raleigh Ray followed with a single by third base, Hall stopping at second, both advanced a peg on a wild-pitch; Earl was out at third on a fielder's choice and Bennett being safe at first, Harold Ray struck and Pool flew out to the leftfielder, to leave Raleigh and Bennett stranded on the bags; in the fifth Harold singled over second Pool again flew out the the left-fielder, Bearden struck out, but Harold went to third when the catcher overthrew second; Pete Bouchette tripled to right field scoring Harold but Fred Wristen grounded out pitcher to first in the sixth Earl Hall again nicked a single off of Stedman's delivery; in the seventh Harold grounded out shortstop to first Pool singled to center, Bearden singled to right-center, Pete flew out to the right-fielder and Wristen struck out; in the eighth Meadows went out second to first Hall hit a high one just back of first base, the second-base-baseman and right fielder, did the Alphonso and Gaston stunt and let the ball hit for a single, Raleigh Ray did the jack-rabbit stunt on this play and scored from firstbase; Harold struck out to retire the side; in the ninth Baird lost a wonderful opportunity to win the old ball game Pool was safe at first when the third baseman threw wild to first; Bearden safe at first and Pool on second when the shortstop dropped a peg from the second-base-man trying to catch Pool, Pete singled to left filling the bases, Wristen flew out to centerfield no advance; Meadows flew out to left field, Pool scoring after the catch, but Hall forced Pete at second to retire the side and add another victory for Breckenridge to the tune of 5 to 3.

Bryant Bennett pitched for Baird, the first time this year, pitched a wonderful game allowing the Breckenridge players only three hits however his wildness caused his downfall, the first hit off of Bennett came in the fourth when Mack first up doubled down the third base line, but failed to reach the registering station due to the inability of the following batters to safely connect with Bennett's spitter, in the fifth, after two were down, Stedman the pitcher for Breckenridge, hit a terrific drive to right center that went for a home-run; nothing doing in the sixth or seventh, but in that hectic eighth, more peculiar baseball was unreal that ever before staged at one time, the visitors scored four times and only got one clean hit; Bennett hit Zarafonitis, then Bennett missed a bunt and Zarafonitis went to second and Stedman on first, Tabor bunted to Bennett, Wristen also played for the bunt, and one covered first base and all hands safe, bases loaded and no body out, Bennett tightened and struck out Lewis, Mack hit one to Bearden playing second, Frank fumbled and Zarafonitis and Stedman scored, and Tabor went to third, Tabor scored a moment later on a wild throw to the catcher; Edwards stpped one of Bennett's fast-pitches with his shoulder, Bennett then hit Russell on the lower extremity, this being the third man that he had hit during this one fatal inning, Shuman sent a long double to center, the first hit of this inning scoring Edwards but Cox grounded out to Wristen unassisted; it was one-two-three in the ninth, leaving the count 5 to 3 in favor of the Visitors.

C. E. Mahan of Fort Worth, was in Baird a few wdays ago.

DAVID BRINGS THE ARK TO JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—II Sam. 6:1-19; Ps. 24.
GOLDEN TEXT—We shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house,
even of thy holy temple.

PRIMARY TOPIC—David Worships
God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—David Worships
God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—How to Worship God.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Exalting God in Individual and National Life.

I. David Made King.

1. Over Judah (II Sam. 2:1-14).
Upon the death of Saul and Jonathan, David knew that the time had come for the fulfillment of God's purpose, but he carefully inquired of the Lord as to the proper movement to make. God directed him to Hebron, whereupon the children of Judah
anointed him to be their king.

2. Over Israel (II Sam. 5:1-5).

After the death of Ishbosheth, the children of Israel came and formed a league with David, anointing him as their king. They assigned as their reasons:

(1) He was their brother (v. 1).

This is true of Jesus Christ, who has become our kinsman through the incarnation.

(2) He was their leader in war.
even in Saul's time (v. 2).

(3) He was the Lord's choice (v.
2).

II. David's Unsuccessful Attempt to Bring Up the Ark (vv. 1-5).

This is an example of a wrong way of doing a right thing. That the Ark of the Lord of Hosts, the symbol of God's presence, should be brought to the center of the nation's life was a decision worthy of all praise. David gathered together the representatives of the nation in order that the movement might be a national one.
That David was sincere in this meaning cannot be doubted, but he was hasty and inconsiderate, for the procedure was an express violation of God's statutes. The dictum that it matters little what you do, just so you are honest and sincere is one of the devil's blackest lies.

III. God Vindicates His Law and Holiness (vv. 6-9).

The people were very joyful as they moved on toward Jerusalem with the ark, but suddenly there was a stop to the jubilant voices and music. At some rough place in the road the oxen stumbled and Uzzah, anxious for the precious freight on his cart reached forth his hand to steady it.
This resulted in his being stricken to death, as a man who touches a live electric wire. Ignorance does not make a man immune from the death which is in the touch of the heavily charged electric wire; neither does it in the case of the violation of God's laws. Since the ark was God's dwelling place among men, they needed to know that He was holy.

IV. The Ark of God in the House of Obed-Edom (vv. 10-12).

The homes where God is welcomed are always blessed. Obed-Edom was not better personally than Uzzah and David, but he openly received the Lord and properly related himself to Him. What had been death and dread to others was life and blessing to him. This was all because of his attitude toward it.

V. The Ark Brought to Jerusalem
With Great Joy (vv. 13-19).

1. Sacrifices were offered after going six paces (v. 13).

David made the start and when convinced of God's approval, he made offerings. These were both burnt and peace offerings, typifying the self-dedication of the offerers and their thanksgiving (I Chron. 16:1).

2. David's great joy (vv. 14, 15).

The people joined him with great shouting and with the sound of the trumpet.

3. Michal's criticism (v. 16).

Even though David went to excess in his expression of joy, it was wrong in her to criticize, for God seems to have sanctioned David's rebuke of her (v. 23).

The grand celebration (vv. 17-19)
was a token of his gratitude to God
and generously treated the people.
The King of Glory, the Lord
Jesus Christ, coming (Ps. 24:7-10).

This was not the psalm composed by David for the occasion of bringing up the ark; that was Psalm 105. (See I Chron. 16). It is strange that such a celebration should have been made.
The 24th psalm pictures Christ as becoming and triumphant King. At that time the gates shall open to Him and the King of Glory shall come in.

God Gives Us Power

God gives us power to bear all the sorrows of His making; but He does not give the power to bear the sorrows of our own making, which the attribution of sorrow most assuredly
is. — Ian MacLaren.

Asking

"Asking" of me is the one appeal of the most high. It is not enough that we should be able to vindicate a pre-tension assigned by the divine hand; we must plead it. — F. B. Meyer.

FIVE FAST RUNNING HORSE RACES EVERY DAY EXCEPT SUNDAY

"When you
come to the State Fair in October,"
says Otto Herold,
director in charge
of the Horse Department of that great show window of Texas, "if it is horse racing
you like you will have your fill this year."

"There will be five fast-running races every day except Sundays.
There will be whippet races every day and evening, and whippet or greyhound races are new to Texas. There will be one of the best horse shows ever produced here, with famous exhibitors from all over America. There will be polo games between fast teams from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas cities.

Free "Ringside Seats"

"And if you don't feel like taking a seat in the grandstand, you can drive your car up to the rail around the new three-quarter mile track and watch the races while seated in your own auto. If you are in the grandstand, however, you will get a closer view of the whippet races and will see the Hippodrome show, on which we will spend many thousands of dollars for your entertainment.

"There will be 10 big-time acts, all of them new to Texas. And there will be day and night fireworks, a famous band with several fine singers, plenty of clowns and everything the directors could think of to send you back home
more than satisfied and with a feeling that the amusements at the State Fair were better than you had ever seen anywhere."

STYLES IN CATTLE CHANGE
LIKE WOMENS' CLOTHES

Dallas, Tex.—Special)—"Styles in cattle change, just as surely as do the styles in women's clothes — the not perhaps, so suddenly," says Henry C.
Barlow, superintendent of the Shorthorn Division of the cattle show at the State Fair of Texas.

"Can you remember the old-fashioned kind, that paraded the tanbar at the State Fair, 40 years ago? They were called 'Durhams' then—a long-legged, long-necked, uneven-bodied animal. But he was a vast advance upon the old Longhorn, and he filled
the bill for his time and age.

"What a difference today! Your modern Shorthorn is a short-legged deep-bodied, even-fleshed beast, which matures in half the time of the old-kind and this with no sacrifice of milking qualities—the ideal 'farmers-cow'."

Shorthorns, Jerseys and all other preferred breeds of beef and dairy cattle will be shown at the State Fair October 8 to 23. It is claimed that the Jersey show alone will be the largest ever held in the United States.
Famous breeders from all over the country will show the most famous animals, champions all of them.

The swine show will out-top anything ever held at the State Fair, as the interest in hog raising is growing by leaps and bounds, it is said. Sheep and goats also will be better represented than ever. The sheep industry of Texas is expected soon to outrank
that of any other state.

Northwest to Celebrate Fruit Industry Jubilee

Yakima, Wash.—The Pacific Northwest fruit industry this autumn will celebrate its diamond anniversary. It was in 1852 the first apple, plum and pear trees were planted in the Pacific states and they came from a nursery in Iowa.

In that year a traveling nursery
brought from Henry county, Iowa, grafted trees which were set out near Milwaukee, Ore. From these the present orchards were gradually developed.

The fruit trees and shrub train
consisted of two wagonloads of Iowa dirt
in charge of Henderson Lulleng.
Many of the original orchard trees set out in Oregon 75 years ago are growing and bearing fruit.

Lures Humming Bird
With Bottled Sugar

McGregor, Iowa.—With an artificial flower and a bottle of sugar, Miss Althea R. Sherman, ornithologist, has transformed
the elusive ruby-throated humming bird into a constant and friendly visitor to her garden.
She has discovered, by attracting humming birds with artificial nasturtiums and tiger lilies,
that the birds often absorbed in a day more than twice their weight in sugar dissolved in water and that they preferred the artificial nectar to that of flowers. More than a dozen humming birds came in quest of the sweets where formerly they called singly or in pairs.

TEMPTING HOME MADE SWEETMEATS

Oriental Prune Paste

1 Pound Prunes
2 Cupfuls Granulated Sugar
1/2 Teaspoonful
Cream of Tartar

2 1/2 Tablespoonfuls Gelatine
1/2 Cupful Chopped Nuts
1/2 Cupful Chopped
Candied Cherries

1/2 Cupful Prune
Juice
1 Tablespoonful
Lemon Juice
1/2 Cupful Water

By CAROLINE B. KING Culinary expert and lecturer on household science.

SOAK prunes and cook until tender. Allow one-half cup of the juice to get cold and soak gelatine in it. Stone the prunes and rub through a sieve, adding lemon juice and chopped cherries. Cook the sugar, water and cream of tartar as for fondant. Add gelatine that has been softened and when cool pour into prune mixture, beat thoroughly and add the chopped nuts. Set in cold place until it begins to thicken, then put in pans lined with confectioners sugar.
Allow to stand until firm, cut in squares and roll each piece in con-fectioners sugar.

Stuffed Prunes

Select large, meaty prunes. Steam for a few minutes and remove pits.
Then fill the opening with orange flavored fondant, using enough to peep through the edges. Roll the prunes in granulated sugar and set away in a cool place.

Tutti-Frutti Prunes

Put one cupful of prunes, one-half cupful each of figs, dates and nuts through the food chopper. Mix thoroughly and shape in form of prunes and roll in powdered sugar.
Grated coconut may be substituted
in place of the powdered sugar.

Prune-Mallows

Steam large, meaty prunes and remove pits. Fill the centers with chopped marshmallows and candied cherries. Roll in powdered sugar.

White Mountain Candy

Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add one-half cup of vinegar and two cups of white sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved and only occasionally afterward during the cooking. Boil until it is brittle when tried in cold water. Pour on a buttered plate to cool and as soon as it can be handled pull it until it is white.

Creamed Peppermint

Cook without stirring two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water and one teaspoonful of vinegar until it forms a soft ball when tested in water. Then pour in two buttered tins and when cool enough to handle, add a teaspoonful of peppermint extract and pull until it is white and holds its shape. Pull the candy until it resembles a rope and when hard break in pieces an inch or two in length and place in air tight dish or jar until it becomes creamy.

Hickory Nut Brittle

Dissolve two pounds of granulated sugar over a very low fire.
Stir frequently until it is melted and a light brown color, being careful not to let it burn. When dissolved add one cupful of hickory nut meats, which have been put through the food chopper. Pour on warm buttered pans to make a very thin brittle. Peanuts or other nut meats may be substituted for the hickory nuts.

Uncooked Fudge

Beat one egg very light, and add to it two tablespoonfuls of cream and one pound of Four-X con-fectioners' sugar. Melt half a cake of unsweetened chocolate over the steam of a kettle with a large tablespoonful of butter; add these to the egg and sugar mixture and flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla. Stir well, as long as you can, for the chocolate soon hardens, and pack about half an inch deep in a buttered pan. Set away in a very cold place for an hour, then cut in squares.

ALL AMENDMENTS DEFEATED

All Amendments badly defeated in the county. The vote at Baird was For, 14; Against 256, about 18 to 1. At this writing we are not able to get the entire vote of the county, but indications are that all amendments were defeated in the county by not less than 20 to 1. The vote of Callahan County and every other county in Texas, except three, went on the war path and scalped Gov. Moody's pet measures with the greatest pleasure last Monday. Every one of the amendments meant more cost to the state and county government hence the savage attacks on them.

Gov. Moody and Agriculture Commission took the stump in a vain attempt to stem the rising tide against the proposed changes. Gov. Moody said the judicial and tax measure was a step in the right direction, to secure more speed in court decisions, and to relieve the people of some of the tax burdens. The people did not see it that way. The judicial amendment would have perpetuated the 12 useless civil courts of appeals, a heavy tax on the people, and extra cost to litigants. The tax measure would place the tax on corporations, but the people understood that the corporations would add the tax and a little more and shift it to the consumer. They always do. The tax amendment did not fool any one but those who favored it. A majority of those who voted understood. The result of the election seemed to have stunned the tax eaters around Austin, but last Monday was a field day for the tax payers of Texas and they played a magnificent game. The result was as the result of the first battle of Manassas at Washington in 1861.

A five inch rain in the Panhandle reported in daily papers yesterday.

President Coolidge handed each of the press reporters present at a conference with him Tuesday at Rapid City, S. D. the following type written notice. "I do not choose to run for president in 1928." The politicians are trying to locate the joker in this message. We see none. President Coolidge is not a candidate to succeed himself. That is what he says.

Old Mount Vesuvius in Italy is spouting fire and brimstone again. In this issue is an interesting article about Pliny the younger who wrote such an interesting account of the destruction of the city of Pompeii by an awful eruption of this old volcano 1848 years ago. Pliny, the Elder Uncle of the 18 year old historian who wrote such a graphic account of the ruin of the city of Pompeii was buried by ashes and volcanic mud from Mt. Vesuvius in A. D. 79. Read Pliny's account of this great disaster.

The four constitutional amendments were knocked higher than Gilderoy's kite by the voters of Texas last Monday. We do not remember such a landslide against proposed amendments since the present constitution was adopted 51 years ago. Gov. Moody charges defeat of the pet measure to the corporations. Wrong Governor, you credit the corporations with more power than they ever had. The defeat of all amendments is due almost entirely to the reckless extravagance of the present Legislature in making large appropriations. The inexorable increase of the salary of district judges and judges of the Supreme and Court of Criminal Appeals. This increase was an outrage against the tax payers of Texas and the overwhelming defeat of all the amendments shows how strong the sentiment of the voters is in regard to the ever increasing cost of the state government.

We have no doubt that this increase is directly responsible for the defeat of the amendment increasing the salary of the governor and members of the Legislature. Most voters agree that the salary of the governor and members of the Legislature should be increased, but not many believe that the governor should have an increase of 150 per cent annually, or that members of the Legislature have an increase of 600 per cent; one serious objection to this amendment was, that it removed all limitations on salaries of other state officers, said many voters. "Look what the Legislature has done in increasing salaries, not limited by the constitution, and if we pull the bridge off, what will they do in the future?" No state officer of any kind should receive more than six thousand dollars a year is the way many voters express themselves. Gov. Moody need not try to shift the responsibility for the defeat of all his pet measures. Gov. Moody himself, and the Legislature are responsible for the Waterloo they met by championing laws and proposed laws that would cost the state government.

add untold millions of dollars to the state. They have so many boards and commissions at Austin that they frequently run into or run over each other. There is not room at the state House for all of them, and the tax payers have to pay them.

IN MEMORY OF W. H. SMITH.

The death Angel claimed another of our good citizens Mr. W. H. Smith. Mr. Smith was for many years a member of the Presbyterian Church in this city, while his health hindered him in attending as he wished, yet he never failed to help his part on any move the church made. We will miss him. He was a business like christian, worked for many years for the T. & P. Rail Road. While we miss him and count it a great loss, Heaven will gain by our loss. We ask God's blessings upon his family and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Evans left Monday on a camping trip to the Llano river. Other parties from Baird plan to join them the latter part of this week.

Mrs. Elmer Walker and children, Elmer, Ellen and Jerry, of Fort Worth, visited her mother, Mrs. Frank Johnson, and sister, Mrs. Ford Driskill, the first of the week.

Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. Larmer Henry an d little daughter, Loraine, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blakley.

Mrs. J. B. Ellis and daughter, Miss Clara of Cisco, were the guests of Miss Sue and Horton Hornsby on Tuesday. They also visited the Hornsby country home.

Mrs. Ford Driskill and little son, Sam, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Elmer Walker and children of Ft. Worth, left Wednesday morning for Austin, San Antonio and Galveston for a ten day's auto trip.

Richard Price, Miss Eliska Gilliland, Mesdames Don Carter, and Robert Estes, spent Sunday with their uncle, H. Windham, and family at Tecumseh. Mr. Windham who has been in ill health for some months, is some what improved, his many friends will be glad to learn.

Guy Smith, who has been seriously ill for the past week from ptomine poison, was carried to the Baptist Hospital at Abilene a few days ago. His father, Clyde Smith, accompanied him at last report he was still in a serious condition.

Mrs. Jas. H. Walker of Balmorhea accompanied by her daughters, and two little grand-daughters, Miss Catherine Walker, Mrs. J. B. Van Deren, Mildred Van Deren and Ama Lee Kingston, arrived Wednesday evening for a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gilliland

Ed Hearn of San Angelo and his brother, Luke Hearn of Burnett County, were in Baird on business Monday.

Wm. Hornsby left a freak cantalope of the Honey Ball variety at The Star office Wednesday—two complete melons grown together.

Mrs. John Estes has been ill for three or four months and her friends will regret to learn that she is in a very critical condition, with little hope for her recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hamlett returned Wednesday from a three months visit to the old home in Kentucky. They made the round trip in an auto.

Judge and Mrs. B. L. Russell returned the first of the week from a two months stay in Colorado. They were accompanied on the trip by C. D. Russell and family of Plainview.

Harold Wristen returned a few days ago from Chicago where he is a student in the American Conservatory to spend a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wristen. He will return to Chicago about September 15th to resume his studies.

Commissioners Court was in session two days this week, considering the tax on oil royalties. This class of property has not been rendered for taxes heretofore in this county it seems. The courts have held, we believe, that oil royalties are part of the realty, if so they should be tax same as the land. It not, why not?

Mrs. W. H. Smith and mother Mrs. M. J. Dyer, returned Sunday from Rolla, Missouri, where they carried the body of Mr. Smith for burial some few weeks ago. Mrs. Smith informs us that she will sell her residence and other property here and will return to Rolla, Missouri to make her home.

"A HEART OF GOLD"

In Memory of Dave Hill
Dave Hill is dead on Sunday evening, November 27th, the Master called him and he passed from life unto death; Thus ended the chapter of a romance and eventful career. He was known and well liked from the Rio Grande to Kansas City, as well as east and west.

In his home town he was known and loved by hundreds, young and old. The children all knew him and called him "Uncle Dave" How many of you have so often heard that congenial salutation "Hello Sonny, how is your mama?" Potraying with that open friendly smile the very goodness of his soul.

He never refused to hear the call of distress or help those who were asking for help. I know men both living and dead, that he was given a part of his all, except his life's blood and the times were when he stood ready to give even that.

Ingersoll once said that life was but a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities and we strive in vain to look beyond the heights, but some where out yonder in the realms of God's unknown world, I can see the spirit of Dave Hill, resting in peace.

Written by a friend.
Chickasha Oklahoma.

Dave Hill was well known to many of the early settlers of Callahan county, where grew to young manhood. He was a brother to Mrs. M. Franklin and Mrs. Price McFarlane, of Baird, and Mrs. Jennie Gilliland, of Abilene.

The New Ford Car

Mr. H. H. Shaw proprietor of Shaw Motor Company informs The Star that "It won't be long now" until the people who have so anxiously awaited news of Mr. Ford's new motor creation, will be fully enlightened.

The new car, Mr. Shaw continues, will have distinctive style, speed, flexibility an despecially engineering features for easy handling in traffic or close places, and of course the maximum of Ford Quality.

The New Ford is reputed to be a fine specimen of the world's leading engineer's at a comparatively low price.

Caters to Motorists; Pastor Fills Church

London.—"Sunday motorists who wish to call in at my church can park their cars in the drive and use my garden," announced Rev. W. H. Ridgway, vicar of Tarvin, recently:

As a result of the invitation, which includes the right for motorists who accept to have their lunch in the vicar's garden after attending services at the church, every Sunday there is a long row of motor cars in the rectory drive; and the vicar preaches to a crowded church.

Vicar Ridgway's idea also encourages motorists from the city to visit the ancient churches in the neighborhood through which they pass and with this object in view, the vicar is planning to form a sort of motorists club of which regular members will be a nucleus of visiting churchgoers.

OUTLAW STORIES ARE PLAIN BUNK

Former Marshal Tells of Past of Hunnewell, Old Cow Town.

South Haven, Kan.—Persons in southern Kansas have the notion Hunnewell, a little town four miles south of here, just a half-mile from the Oklahoma line, was a bad place in the early days. But "Miny" Edwards says that's mostly bunk.

"Miny," whose initials are T. M. and whose nickname is pronounced with a long "i" was there when Hunnewell arrived on a Santa Fe freight train one sunny June day back in 1880, and he has been there ever since. Moreover, he was marshal of the town in the days when it was reputed to be a trifle rough. So when "Miny" Edwards says the lurid stories folks tell about Hunnewell are mostly bunk, one must lend a believing ear.

Romance Blasted High.

The debunking of Hunnewell's history occurred the other afternoon on the shady side of the street here. "Miny" sat on a bench on the curb, gazing out at the prairies that he has seen change from the open cattle range of 50 years ago to yellow wheat fields. A newspaper man, "Miny's" audience, sat on the fender of a truck and listened sadly while the romance of the cow country was blasted kite high.

"You can hear some of these younger fellows tell about the way the cowpunchers used to kill each other off down at Hunnewell," the early day marshal expostulated. "But there's nothing to it."

"Oh, sure, the boys used to shoot up the town every little while, but they didn't mean anything by it." You know, I sort of kept track of the folks shot to death in Hunnewell, and as near as I can count, there were only 13. Others got injured, but only 13 were actually killed."

After this declaration about the peace and quiet in Hunnewell back in the unromantic '80's, the old marshal and cattle man lapsed into silence. His audience ventured to tell a story he had heard about a shooting scrape in the big old hotel that still stands by the Santa Fe tracks in Hunnewell, a weatherbeaten old ghost of the boom days. But "Miny" said briefly the yarn couldn't be true, and again lapsed into speechlessness. Obviously if there were only 13 persons slain in early-day Hunnewell, you couldn't have a dozen or so getting killed in one evening's jollification.

Presently the early-day marshal became more loquacious. He told about a great open cattle range that stretched mile after dreary mile down through the Indian country, the land that is now Oklahoma, on through the ranges of Texas to Old Mexico and the gulf. Edwards used to ride those ranges and he knows the rigors of the old cattle trail from Texas to the rail points in Kansas.

Saloons Were Pentiful.

In the spring of 1880 the Santa Fe railroad pushed its line down as far as Hunnewell. Freight trains puffed in, bringing the town. Overnight a city of tents sprang up and every other tent was a saloon or a gambling joint. Within a few days the freight cars began to unload timber, and frame buildings arose. Within two weeks a town of 500 population with several rather substantial frame buildings had risen where before there was nothing but the bare sweep of the buffalo grass.

Up the long, dusty trail from the Indian country and Texas came the bellowing herds of longhorns to be loaded onto the cars at Hunnewell. And with them came the singing, shootin', happy-go-lucky punchers.

Edwards ran the stock yards at Hunnewell a time, back in the days when there were 13 loading chutes, when the old hotel was full of punchers day and night.

Then in 1883 he became the marshal. But he didn't have a particularly bad time, he says. "Miny" would have the world know that the law was enforced then just as well as—perhaps better than now.

"What did you do when a bunch of punchers started shooting up the town?"

"Arrested them, of course." "Miny" Edwards is a small man, but he has a way about him even now, nearly a half century after those stirring days. "The thing that made Hunnewell boom," said Edwards, "was the shipping of cattle. And when the wheat came and the cattle went, Hunnewell's best days were over." "Miny" insisted upon discussing prosaic things.

"Were there many outlaws at that time down in the country that is now Oklahoma?" The newspaper man was thinking of the many hair-raising yarns that he had understood centered about Hunnewell.

"Probably no more than there are now."

LATEST VESSEL TO SKIM OCEAN

Half Ship, Half Plane, It Will Use Gas Derived From Sea.

Paris.—A French naval engineer named Jean-Paul Michel has invented an ocean liner that is half ship and half airplane.

The new ocean vehicle, which is called The Greyhound of the Sea, is guaranteed to have a speed of 50 miles an hour and to cross the Atlantic in 60 hours.

It is unlike any other boat or airplane that has ever been built, although an Italian company at Genoa is now constructing a "mystery boat" along somewhat the same lines.

Driven by Two Air Propellers.

The Greyhound of the Sea will be driven by two big air propellers at the bow, just like an airplane or seaplane, and instead of riding through the water like a ship it will glide over the top of the waves. There will be an air rudder and also a water rudder, but there are no underwater propellers. The ship has large skids underneath to help it slide across the waves.

The most important room on board his new ship will be a big laboratory near the stern, where a chemist will be constantly on duty to supervise this chemical process.

He claims there is such an abundance of this fuel in the ocean that he could travel on it as long as his ship held together, but just as a precaution he is going to install a little Diesel motor and take on a little fuel oil, this precaution being omitted after the new system has been fully tried out.

In appearance The Greyhound of the Sea will look something like a submarine, with horizontal fins at the sides, riding the surface of the water.

Top Will Be Entirely Enclosed.

The top will be entirely enclosed except for a promenade deck near the stern. The ship will be smokeless, of course. It will not be able to fly, although at high speed it should simply skim across the whitecaps.

It is being built of very thin steel, in order to be as light as possible, and it is difficult to foresee how it will behave in a heavy sea.

The high speed will be attained by reducing friction with the sea rather than powerful motors.

will be an air rudder and also a water rudder, but there are no underwater propellers. The ship has large skids underneath to help it slide across the waves.

"I know exactly how it will perform when it is finished," Michel, who is a graduate of the leading French technical school, explained the other day.

"I have been testing out different models for almost fifteen years, and I finally found one that fulfilled all my expectations.

The first big experimental ship, which is about 150 feet long and has accommodations for thirty persons, is now being built in my shipyard near Toulon. It is more than half finished, and the first thing I am going to do when it is all ready is to take a trip to New York. I am going to make it in two days and three nights.

"I think my invention will upset all existing ideas about navigation, and particularly the propulsion of warships."

But the strangest thing about The Greyhound of the Sea is that it will carry practically no fuel aside from a little oil for an emergency motor.

Michel also has invented a process of extracting sodium from the sea, transforming it on board ship into a gas and using this gas to run a spe-

Doctor Dresses Own Injuries, Saves Baby

New York.—Diphtheria of the larynx threatened to choke the life out of Jane, the baby daughter of Policeman Hugo G. Geissele, Maplewood, N. J.

An immediate operation, known as "intubation," was all that could save her; Dr. D. J. Pola, ten miles away, started to Jane's bedside in an ambulance, with Miss Marion Raitzel, a nurse, and Gustave Schmidt, driver. Another vehicle cut across Schmidt's course. The ambulance swerved and crashed into a steel trolley pole, a complete wreck. Its occupants were severely cut and battered.

The young physician, nevertheless, applied emergency dressing to his companions' injuries and his own, then commandeered an automobile, which rushed him and the nurse to the Geissele home. He and Doctor Demarest successfully operated on the baby.

POMPEII'S FALL TOLD BY PLINY

Excavation Work by Italy Recalls Narrative by Eyewitness.

New York.—As the work of excavating Herculaneum officially began under the auspices of Italy's king the other day, old Vesuvius stirred and started into life, hurling blazing rocks and smoke clouds high into the air as if in protest at the unearthing of a city it had buried 1,848 years ago. But, according to scientists, there is little danger of Mount Vesuvius repeating the terrific outbursts of 79 A. D. and so the celebrating throngs wade merry, even into the night, when brilliant fireworks lighted up the Bay of Naples, vying with the bursts of flame high up in the volcano's crater.

It is a different picture that Pliny the Younger draws—a picture of terror-ridden days and nights, presaged by violent earth tremors that leveled many houses before the awful spectacle of fire was dimly seen through a rain of blazing stone and ash by a doomed humanity. Yet concerning the disaster he writes with a philosophical detachment that makes one wonder at his powers of observation and presence of mind in such a panicky time.

Eighteen at Time of Disaster.

Pliny the Younger was only eighteen at the time of Mount Vesuvius' eruption, yet remarkably precocious and devoted to study. Born to riches in an honorable family, the early death of his father led to his adoption as a son by the elder Pliny, his uncle. Caius Plinius Caecilius Secundus was the youth's name, his mother being Plinia, the elder Pliny's sister, and his father, Caius Caecilius, of a plebeian family that nevertheless numbered consuls and other men of note in its ranks. The father's health, however, probably was responsible for the fame his son achieved, for the elder Pliny, renowned naturalist and man of letters, saw to it that his adopted son was given the best of education and schooled in the literary and philosophical learning that meant so much to him.

Vespasian, first emperor of the Flavian dynasty, came to the end of his worthy rule over Rome in the year tragely stalked in the Bay of Naples. The dissolute times of Nero had been followed with the bloodshed of civil wars under the Emperors Galba, Otho, and Vitellius before Vespasian was placed at the empire's head to restore good times. He passed on to his son, Titus, the rule of Rome, and the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum, in the first summer of Titus' short reign, was one of three tragedies that marred his otherwise excellent disposition of Roman government. A fire in Rome nearly as bad as that of Nero's day and a time of plague which followed it were the other two.

No Indication of Eruption.

To the Romans clustered along the beautiful shores of the Bay of Naples in villas and close-built cities in 79 A. D. there was no indication that Mount Vesuvius might erupt. Earthquakes were not uncommon in the region; in fact, one in 63 A. D. had been of a devastating nature. The Roman towns grouped along the crescent-shaped bay shore, starting at the northern promontory, were: Misenum, Balaia, Puteoli, Neapolis, Herculaneum, Pompeii and Stabiae.

At Misenum existed a naval station, Balaia was a popular bathing resort, Neapolis was one of the largest Roman metropolises, Pompeii was a more or less commercial center, and Herculaneum the summer resort of the wealthy. For this reason the task of digging it from beneath 100 feet of lava and volcanic mud is expected to reveal finer literary and art treasures than those uncovered at Pompeii in the past.

Pliny the Younger, in 79 A. D., was spending the summer with his uncle and mother near Misenum, the elder Pliny being in command of the Roman fleet stationed there. To the south and east rose the vine and tree-clad mountain slopes, completely covering Vesuvius in such manner that there was no suspicion of volcanic forces slumbering there.

Saw Death of Uncle.

Here Pliny, who began practice as an advocate a year later, witnessed the eruption and saw his uncle go to his death in an effort to rescue people caught on the bay shore closer to the volcano's mouth. Pliny's description of the disaster the world owes to the historian Tacitus, who some years later wrote asking for the details surrounding the elder Pliny's death and for an account of the dangers which the youth himself escaped.

"On the 24th of August," Pliny first wrote, "about one in the afternoon, my mother desired him (the elder Pliny) to observe a cloud which appeared of a very unusual size and shape. He had just taken a turn in the sun, and, after bathing himself in cold water, and making a light luncheon, gone back to his books; he immediately arose and went out upon a rising ground from whence he might get a better sight of this very uncommon appearance.

"A cloud, from which mountains was uncertain at this distance, was ascending, the appearance of which I cannot give you a more exact description of than by likening it to a pine tree, for it shot up to a great height in the form of a very tall trunk, which spread itself out at the top into a sort of branches, occasioned, I imagine, either by a sudden gust of air that impelled it, the force of which decreased as it advanced upward, or the cloud itself, being pressed back again by its own weight, expanded in the manner I have mentioned; it appeared sometimes bright and sometimes dark and spotted, according as it was either more or less impregnated with earth and cinders.

Youth Stays to Study.

"This phenomenon seemed to a man of such learning and research as my uncle extraordinary and worth further looking into. He ordered a light vessel to be got ready, and gave me leave, if I liked, to accompany him. I said I had rather go on with my work; and it so happened he had himself given me something to write out. As he was coming out of the house, he received a note from Rectina, the wife of Bassus, who was in the utmost alarm at the imminent danger which threatened her; for, her villa lying at the foot of Mount Vesuvius, there was no way of escape but by sea. She earnestly entreated him therefore to come to her assistance. He accordingly changed his first intention, and what he had begun from a philosophical he now carried out in a noble and generous spirit.

"He ordered the galleys to put to sea, and went himself on board with an intention of assisting not only Rectina, but the several other towns which lay thickly strewn along that beautiful coast. Hastening then to the place from whence others fled with the utmost calmness and presence of mind as to be able to make and dictate his observations upon the motion and all the phenomena of that dreadful scene.

Burning Rocks Fall on Ships.

"He was now so close to the mountain that the cinders, which grew thicker and hotter the nearer he approached, fell into the ships, together with pumice stones and black pieces of burning rock; they were in danger, too, not only of being aground by the sudden retreat of the sea, but also from the vast fragments which rolled down from the mountain and obstructed all the shore. Here he stopped to consider whether he should turn back again; to which the pilot advising him, 'Fortune,' said he 'favors the brave; steer to where Pomponianus is.'

The brave elder Pliny, his nephew told Tacitus, won his way to the shore where he greeted his friend Pomponianus, maintaining a cool front in the face of nature's cataclysm for the benefit of the latter by ordering a bath and lying down to sleep as night came on and the turbulent waves prevented them from sailing away. Pliny continues:

Nearly Hemmed In.

"The court which led to his (the sleeping Pliny's) apartment being now almost filled with stones and ashes, if he had continued there any time longer, it would have been impossible for him to have made his way out. So he was awakened and got up, and went to Pomponianus and the rest of his company, who were feeling too anxious to think of going to bed. They consulted together whether it would be most prudent to trust to the houses, which now rocked from side to side with frequent and violent commotions as though shaken from their very foundations; or to fly to the open fields, where calined stones and cinders, though light indeed, yet fell in heavy showers and threatened destruction.

"The trapped Romans finally decided for the fields and went out 'having pillows tied upon their heads' for protection, and after going to the shore of the bay the elder Pliny suddenly fell and died. The opinion of his nephew was that death came from suffocation from the fumes in the air, but it is probable that a sudden attack of illness was responsible, since Stabiae, whither he had gone, was about ten miles from the volcano's mouth. Pliny's account of his uncle's death was followed by another letter to Tacitus in which he described his and his mother's escape.

Earthquake Fell First.

"There had been noticed for many days before," he wrote, "a trembling of the earth, which did not alarm us much, as this is quite an ordinary occurrence in Campania; but it was so particularly violent that night that it not only shook but actually overturned, as it would seem, everything about us."

Pliny and his mother were both awakened from uneasy sleep after the elder Pliny had gone and fled the house to sit in an open courtyard. There the youth began nonchalantly to read "Livy," as he says, either in "condemne or folly," and he continued, although a friend of his uncle's reproved him. The tottering buildings finally persuaded them to leave the town.

Escapes With Mother.

After this a black cloud of ashes came upon them, and Pliny led his mother by the hand to a place away from the main road, so that they would not be trampled by the panic-stricken mobs in flight. He vividly describes the cries made by parents and children separated and lost in the blindness of artificial night and the oft-expressed fear that the end of the world had come.

When light at last returned Pliny and his mother went back to Misenum to await the sad news of his uncle, and he closes his letter to Tacitus with the modest declaration that his narrative is "not in the least worthy" for inclusion in history; a fact which literature today vehemently disputes, inasmuch as Pliny's story remains the world's most thorough and enlightening description of a disaster nearly nineteen centuries ago, and the only written account by an eyewitness.

Kiss in the Dark Gets Freedom for Prisoner

Paris.—A kiss in the dark got a Frenchman out of prison the other day.

The prisoner, Fritz Gabriel, had been behind the bars for two years and had several more to serve. His wife came to see him. At the leavetaking in the dark corridor Gabriel and his wife embraced with especial warmth, the parting kiss being so movie-like in length that the guards noticed it and were moved.

Gabriel had a slip of paper in his check. It passed his wife's lips during the embrace. On the paper was written:

"Tomorrow, during the recreation hour, I will jump over the wall. Have a vehicle waiting for me on the other side of the moat."

Mrs. Gabriel had the vehicle. Her husband got away and hasn't been heard of since.

Odd Styles Feature Weddings in Africa

Boma, Belgian Congo.—Natives of the remote Kasai region of Africa have taken a liking to the fashions of civilization.

"The first converted native couples I married," said Father Achille de Munster, a missionary in the district for the last 20 years, "wore nothing but a loin cloth. But you should see them now. Recently I married 15 couples. They all sported white suits and the brides wore shoes and hats and their black faces were literally powdered white.

"Some had on one white shoe and one black. They seemed to think that was the height of chic."

One bridegroom, Father Munster said, fainted from the heat and his costume of two pairs of trousers, two shirts, two vests, two coats and a

GET POWER FROM CURRENTS OF STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

Spanish Economist Sees Vast Possibilities in Harnessing Powerful Stream.

Madrid.—The currents passing from the Atlantic ocean into the Mediterranean sea, and vice versa, produce an enormous power that could be used and transformed into electricity, according to Don Emilio Zurano Munzo, prominent Spanish economist, who has completed a preliminary study of the question, and submitted it to King Alfonso XIII.

Zurano calculated that one current going through the Strait of Gibraltar, coming from the Atlantic ocean and carrying a yearly volume of 25,000 cubic kilometers of water, at an average speed of ten kilometers per hour, and the other current crossing underneath from the Mediterranean into the ocean, with a yearly volume of 2,000 cubic kilometers saturated with salt, can be turned into a formidable continual electric power of over 30 milliards of horse power.

In the document addressed to the king, Zurano said the maximum power lies in the bay west of Algiers, but that power is also available in other points on both sides of the strait.

Explaining the course of energy there, Zurano pointed out that to get an appropriate idea of the water flowing every year into the Mediterranean sea, one must imagine a huge cube of water three times and one-third higher than Mount Everest running at 800,000 cubic meters of water per second. Adding the subcurrent which furnishes 95,000 cubic meters of water per second, the constant electrical power obtainable reaches 35,000,000,000 horse power.

STATE FAIR MAY SHOW BRONZE STATUES OF THE PIONEER WOMAN

The men and women of Texas, descendants of pioneer mothers, may have a chance to see and vote upon the twelve models of "The Pioneer Woman," the gigantic bronze statue, which is to be erected upon the plains of Oklahoma by E. W. Marland, public-spirited oil man, of Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Mr. Marland, noting that statues and memorials had been erected to such pioneer heroes as Sam Houston, Davy Crockett, Dan'l Boone, Kit Carson and others, but that no one had thought of a fitting memorial to the brave women who labored, fought, prayed and conquered at the side of their husbands during the winning of the West, decided to erect such a tribute to the heroic mothers of pioneer America.

He set aside $400,000.00 to be used in the erection of a bronze statue, about 60 feet high, to be placed near a national highway running through the plains of the Cherokee Strip, the last public lands opened to settlement. He commissioned 12 of America's most eminent sculptors to make each a model of his idea of a statue typifying his conception. These 12 models are now finished and, through the kindness of Mr. Marland, are being shown in several of the large Eastern cities. Those who view them are asked to vote upon which one he or she believes to be the best design.

President Harry Olmsted, of the State Fair of Texas, which opens at Dallas October 8, has requested Mr. Marland to send the statues to the State Fair, where a million of the descendants of the same type of pioneer mothers may have a chance to see them and vote upon them.

Mr. Marland, who wishes the choice to be a popular rather than a purely artistic one, at once saw the point of Mr. Olmsted's request and promised to try and rearrange the route of the models so that Texas may have them for at least two weeks. It is hoped that definite announcement may be made soon.

THE FARMER AND HIS WIFE GET THE MOST GOOD OUT OF THE STATE FAIR

"The farmer and the man and woman from the small town are the only persons who really see the State Fair of Texas," is the rather startling statement made by one of the fair officials in a recent interview.

A little thought will show that this official is right. The man or woman from Dallas jumps in his auto and goes out to one of the big football games or to the New York show in the Auditorium. After the game or after the show he hurries home—and thinks he has seen the State Fair!

"It is no wonder that some of such people say that they can find little that is new at the fair," continued the official. "On the other hand, the man or woman from the farm or the ranch or from the cities and towns surrounding Dallas, comes to the fair to make a day of it. Many of them make two or three trips, for they find, at the first trip, that there is far too much to be seen to take in and properly study in a single day."

"The farmer and his wife get the most good out of the fair. They come in to study the exhibits. They spend all the time they can in the agricultural building, always finding something new and always learning, learning, learning. They go on to the live stock buildings and they see everything, absorbing valuable knowledge at every stop."

"Or the woman visits the domestic science exhibits and there learns how to improve upon her skill at canning, and the many other household arts. Between times, they visit this or that show or amusement and at the end of the day they have found that their trip has been not only pleasant but highly profitable as well."

Jazz Pays

New York.—The king of jazz commands money befitting royalty. Paul Whiteman and his orchestra have signed a contract to play in a chain of theaters for forty weeks at $12,000 a week. Paul will get half.

Path of Disaster Left by Runaway Glacier

Bellingham, Wash.—A grinding iceberg, 300 feet wide and 2,000 feet long, ended a seven-mile trip in which it destroyed everything in its path, when it was broken up in the Nooksack river, 35 miles from here.

The great mass of ice was broken from Denning glacier on Mount Baker a few days ago.

Trees, railroads and bridges were either swept aside or ground to bits. The ground over which the glacier passed is bare of even remnants of anything which stood there before, according to A. S. Athern, state forest ranger.

The beds of Glacier creek and the middle fork of Nooksack river were torn wide for a depth of more than 30 feet and a width of 100 feet.

Damage to tracks and bridges of the Tacoma and St. Paul Logging company was estimated at $50,000.

Pieces of the great iceberg as large as houses still were melting along the pathway where they were broken off.

Honeymoons by Air Popular in England

London.—Many more women use the airplane service between England and the continent than men. There has been a large increase in the number of young honeymooners who travel by air rather than put up with the discomforts of cross-channel steamer travel. Close observers say that the women seem much more at home several thousand feet in the air than the male passenger. Increased facilities for flying now make it possible for the wealthy woman to leave Crocydon in the morning, fly to Paris for shopping, and be back in England in time for dinner. Several well-known society women have made several such trips this season.

Won't Be Long Now

Would you like to be one of the first persons in town to see one of the new FORD CARS when it comes out?

Would you like to be protected on early delivery in case you decide to want one of the new FORDS when you see them?

You know of course, that a New FORD CAR such as the Ford Motor Co. has recently announced—Nothing quite like it in quality and price, having speed, style, flexibility and control in traffic—is bound to have immense demand the moment it is available.....It will probably be next to impossible for the average person to get delivery on this car for weeks and possibly months after placing an order.

Realizing this, we have worked out a simple little plan whereby you can be one of the first to see the new car and will be protected on early delivery if you decide you want one.

You obligate yourself in no way except just to look at the car—and you will want to do that—of course.

All you need to do is sign and return the enclosed card—we will give you immediate news when the NEW CAR is here for inspection.

--- MAIL THIS CARD TODAY ---

I would like to be one of the first in town to see the NEW FORD. Please notify me when the New FORD is available for inspection and send me details of your plan to insure me an early delivery if I decide I want one of the NEW FORDS—when I see them.

THIS OBLIGATES ME IN NO WAY
