County Considering Purchase Of Scanner Vote Counting Machine

Callahan County Commissioners have agreed to look into purchasing an automatic vote counting system in an effort to speed the election counting process up.

The county commissioners, in a Monday, April 11 commissioners' court meeting, will meet with Hart Graphics company officials from Austin to inspect an optical scanner capable of counting up to 5,000 ballots an hour.

During the last presidential election, 4,800 registered county voters cast ballots.

The action is being considered by the county after the latest Democratic Party Primary election last March demonstrated a need for a vote counting system. Votes from all seven voting locations in the county were not counted until 2:00 a.m. during the Tuesday, March 8 primary election.

County Judge Bill Johnson said commissioners are looking into purchasing the $21,000 vote counting system from Hart Graphics. The county judge stated commissioners would probably purchase the machine with general funds from the county, instead of going through a lease/purchase agreement through the company.

The judge said Hart officials will demonstrate the machine to county commissioners during the regular commissioners' court meeting Monday, April 25 at the courthouse in Baird.

Judge Johnson said if commissioners decided to purchase the vote counting equipment, county voters would not make many changes in the way they currently vote. He said the only change would be in the size of the ballot would be somewhat narrow, that all ballots must be marked with a #2 pencil and the ballot must not be folded before being placed into the locked voting box.

Johnson said that Jones, Eastland and Brown counties currently use the same optical scanning system that will be demonstrated here.

The county judge said the cost to put an election on would not decrease much. He stated a normal countywide election costs $4,000 to print the ballots, rent voting locations and hire voting clerks and judges.

He said if the vote counting system is used, the number of voting clerks would probably decrease after the system goes on line.

Judge Johnson said one problem the county is now having in holding elections, is finding help to count the ballots. He said if the vote scanner is purchase, the votes would not be counted until the polls close.

Johnson said he's also concerned with the accuracy of counting the votes by hand. He said the system is very accurate, according to company officials.

The judge went on to say that city and school officials could also use the optical vote counting system when hold bond or council elections for a minimal fee.

Judge Johnson said county commissioners will probably purchase the equipment, but "they don't want to buy it until they see it work."

He said if the commissioners agree to purchase the equipment, company representatives will come to Callahan County twice during elections to train those who would use the vote counting machine. After that, someone would be available by telephone in case questions needed to be answered.

Other items brought before county commissioners Monday included:

—Commissioners heard the monthly report from the Callahan County Sheriff's Department.

—Commissioners voted to establish a Loss Control Committee made up of one county commissioner, one representative from the sheriff's department, two from the road and bridge department and one county office holder. Commissioners will name the members of the committee during the April 25 commissioners' court meeting. The committee is a safety committee of county employees which will meet with insurance companies and other groups to help with safety programs.

—County commissioners were to meet with a Mr. Bade, however, he did not attend the meeting.

—Commissioners voted to change which office will handle the county employees payroll and workman's compensation. The county treasurers office will now handle the payroll for employees instead of the county clerk's office.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By Esthloy S. Dickson

When I went to start this script on Sunday afternoon, I could not find any decent paper. Not a page on the place. My preparing this on Sunday afternoon is because of an appointment with my dental surgeon in Cisco on Monday morning. This should be my final appointment with him, and I'll be so glad when it is over.

There were almost two hundred in Sunday School at First Baptist this morning. Church attendance was excellent, also. A business meeting followed the services, and I think they called Dr. Jim O'Dell as the new pastor. Read about this in the Review this week.

J.T. Beggs answered the telephone at their house this afternoon. His brother, Sam, and Betty had gone to Morton Valley on an errand there. David Beggs visited the family on Tuesday of last week.

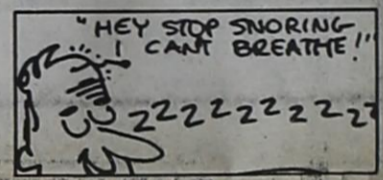

My neighbor, Ms. Jewel Foster was in Sunday school this morning. She just looks great and is in excellent health. Her kids live in this area, and they keep in close touch with her.

Sally Roady was her usual sweet self this afternoon. Their news was about as usual. Bob visits his mother in the nursing home often. Charlie and Allison visited them during the weekend. I believe Cindy visited also.

I always enjoy my chats with Lucille Callaway. She is like family to me. Her kids have collected some little ducks—about fifteen, and they have had a lot of fun with them. I'll have to stop by and see that collection.

I had a splendid letter from my friend in California, Mr. Mac's daughter. I appreciate her concern for me.

My daughter called this morning to make sure I remembered my appointment in Cisco.

Kiwanis Club's Flea Market And Giant Garage Sale Schedule For May 7

The Kiwanis Club was blessed at the April 12 meeting with a superb presentation by Karla Cooke of Abilene Regional Council on Alcohol And Drug Abuse (ARCADA). The club members were probably expecting some less inspiring "facts and statistics," but they were reminded that days, like neckties, are not all the same — different in many ways — but can all be of value to us if we will let them. All the things Ms. Cooke shared were very motivational and inspiring.

The Kiwanis Club's Flea Market and Giant Garage Sale date is Saturday, May 7, beginning at 9 a.m. Booth spaces will be available for $5, of $6 with electricity, for individuals, groups of individuals, and non-profit organizations. The Kiwanis Club is accepting donated items for "auction" at 3:30 p.m. The Club reserves the rights to all food and drink sales, except for desserts which will be sold by Project Pride. For any further information, please call 725-6141 or 725-7268 during the day, and 725-6370, 725-6227, or 725-6658 during evening hours.

The Kiwanis Club also encourages all who will participate in National Day of Prayer on Thursday, May 5, by gathering on the lawn in front of City Hall from 12:20 to 12:40 p.m. By doing so, you will be joining millions of other Americans in praying for better morals — closer adherence to God's standard of morality — in America. Nearly 50 met last year, and it is hoped that the number will grow this year as we meet again.

BREAKTHRU
By Bob Pipes, preacher
Cross Plains Church of Christ
433 N. Main At 12th
(817) 725-6117

Have you ever had a hunting dog to get on the wrong scent and trail? It's pretty disturbing, for instance, when you follow what's supposed to be a good coon dog for several miles only to find that he's treed an alley cat! Well Henry Drummond says, "Half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting, and in being served by others. It consists, rather, in giving and in serving others."

That is a good reminder for any time of the year. If we really want to experience a BREAKTHRU — if we want real happiness — let's get on the right trail by following the right scent. The right scent is that of sharing, helping and serving. What we really want to do is get on the trail with Jesus — following in His steps as He marked the way. Jesus taught (and practiced what He preached!) that "whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant. And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave — just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many." Matthew 20: 26-28.

There you have it! — the formula and secret for success and happiness. Jesus was a giver — after the fashion of His Father. James writes (by inspiration), James 1:17, "Every good and perfect gift is from above, and comes down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning."

Come strive with us to be on the right path with Jesus by following the wonderful aroma of His life. We really do care about you, too.

Time To Pre-Register Kindergarteners

Parents are asked to pre-register their children who will enter Kindergarten next fall. All children who will be five years of age on or before September 1, 1994, may attend Kindergarten. Kindergarten is a basic part of the Cross Plains School system and the service is available to all students.

Kindergarten screening will be conducted Wednesday, May 4, at Cross Plains Elementary School. Please call the Elementary Principal's office at 725-6123 to make an appointment for your child. The screening will take about sixty minutes. Each student's hearing, vision, speech, motor skills, language ability, and developmental growth will be evaluated at this time. Parents will be given a report on their children's progress at the time of the screening.

Parents are reminded that to enter school in Texas the student must have a state approved birth certificate and a current immunization record. Immunization requirements include: three in a series of DTP and/or a booster after age 4, oral polio series, measles, mumps, and rubella. Please bring the birth certificate, immunization record, and social security number at the time of registering.

Early childhood screening will be conducted at the same time as regular Kindergarten screening. The early childhood program is to help those children age 3-6 who show to be developmentally delayed or handicapped in any way. If you have, or know of a child who might benefit from this service, please contact the elementary school office during Kindergarten registration.

THANK FRIENDS

From the depth of a grateful heart I wish to thank the people of Commissioners Precinct 4 for the support and confidence given to me at the polls last week. I feel that I am the luckiest man alive to have been so favored with such and outpouring of friendship and goodwill.

I wish to acknowledge my genuine gratitude and admiration to and for Kenneth and Marjorie Sowell for the high level of their campaign and the honor and distinguished citizenship they demonstrated.

My wife Doris and our two sons, Charlie Pat and David, join me in thanking each and every one of you, not only those who voted for me but also those whom I will be privileged to serve, for the blessings that have come our way. I shall be forever indebted and will diligently try to merit the confidence expressed in me by rendering faithful and honorable service.

I thank each of you again and again, most sincerely.

PIONEER THIS WEEK

By BARBARA POWELL

The quilting club is still working hard. We worked last week on the Lone Star and Log Cabin. We should get those out on Tuesday. Lottie Sooter put in a Drunkards Path last Saturday. We are still having a good turnout on our two day a week quilting.

Irma and John Miller visited their cousins Lillian and Mac McWhorton on their Hanging Tree Ranch. Shortly after the purchase of the ranch their daughter found a tree in a secluded area with a rope hanging from it. Thus, the name. Later, they learned there had been two men hanged on the ranch for stealing horses.

Novella Barton's sister and husband Ben and Myrl Marshall from Baytown visited last week for three days. Cecil came over the weekend. She said the potatoes are knee-high but need rain.

Nell Fleming with Jo Veda and Bill Watson visited her grand son-in-law, D.O. Robinson in Midland who has been in the hospital.

Randy Robel visited with May and D.P. Jones on Sunday.

We were pleased to have Jan and Bud Baird visit on Sunday evening. Bud has had reports of 3 1/2 to 4 lb. bass being caught in the lake. That sounds like the lake is getting back to normal. The golf course is looking good considering their has been no rain. The club has plans to renovate the 7th green. Inactive member and non-members should stop by the Lakewood Recreation Center and see all the changes being made. I think you will be pleased. You will enjoy meeting Jan and Bud.

Emma Lee Black

The most beautiful baby girl in the world "Emma Lee" weight 8 1/2 lbs. and 19 3/4 inches long was born April 12, 6:06 p.m. to Billy and Lorraine Black of Fort Worth.

"Proud" paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Buster Black of Atwell Community.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Engert of Fairport, New York.

New Fishery Nominee

Gov. Wally Hickel of Alaska has sent to Washington, D.C., a revised list of six Alaska nominees for two seats on the North Pacific Fishery Management Council. The list now includes Joseph Kyle Jr., of Juneau, to replace Chris Blackburn, of Kodiak, who withdrew from consideration this week. Kyle is a partner in Pacific Associates, a business development and consulting firm specializing in government relations in the commercial fishing and marine transportation industries. Kyle served 20 years in the Coast Guard, including time enforcing fisheries laws in Alaska. The nominations were sent to Commerce Secretary Ron Brown, who must make his choices by June 27. He is the son of Janice Buckner.

Nimrod Baptist Church Having Work Day April 23

Nimrod Baptist Church will have a work day Saturday, April 23 beginning at 9 a.m. until everybody gets tired! Ladies please bring lunch. We will be finishing the floor and ceiling in the new part and maybe get some painting done on the outside. There's a lot of exposed wood that needs some protection from the elements. With Gods help and willing hands to do the labor all this work will go quickly.

We have been enjoying some great Sunday school classes with several youngsters around the area as well as some adults. We had 12 youngsters and about 10 young at hearts out hunting a lot of Easter eggs on Easter Sunday.

The rest of us just sat back and watched all the fun. We had 33 people come and enjoy fellowship with us, some have returned again. We had some from as far away as El Paso and Angleton, Texas.

Remember: Work day Saturday, April 23. Bring paint scrapers, brushes or sprayers, hammers, etc. Ladies bring lunch! See you there!!

County Lottery Sales Now Over $2 Million

Callahan County residents have spent over $2 million on lottery tickets since the games began on May 29, 1992, according to a Texas Lottery official.

Steve Levine, with the Texas Lottery Division of the Comptroller of Public Accounts, said through the week of March 26, 1994, Callahan County lottery sales have reached $2,263,733.

He said that figure includes lotto, instant scratch and pick three games of the Texas Lottery. The state lottery began May 29, 1993 with the instant scratch games.

Levine said as of March 26, there are 11 lottery retail outlets in the county—eight of which have on-line tie-in with the state's computer in Austin, capable of selling lotto tickets, and three instant scratch-off game retail outlets.

Clyde's Thrifty's Food Mart is the largest lottery selling outlet in the county, selling one in every four tickets sold in the county. Levine said that Thrifty's has sold $519,639 worth of lottery tickets since sales began almost two years ago. Thrifty's, which is located on the north access of I-20 and Cherry Lane, was the first retail outlet in Clyde to offer on-line lottery sales.

Other on-line lottery outlets in Clyde include: Allsup's Convenience Store, Skinny's Convenience Store and Lawrence Brothers IGA. All four lottery outlets in Clyde are located on Interstate 20.

The county's second largest seller of lottery chances is the Lakeway Grocery Store in Cross Plains. Levine said that Lakeway has sold $378,860 worth of lottery tickets in almost two years.

The Allsup's Convenience Store in Baird is the third largest lottery outlet, with $363,867 in lottery sales in two years.

Levine said that as of December 1993, there have been 24 winners from Callahan County who have cashed-in a winning lottery ticket at one of the state's claim centers. He said that winning lottery tickets for more than $599 must be claimed at a claim center. Retail outlets can pay for winning lottery tickets up to $599, Levine said.

Of the 24 winners from Callahan County, Levine said the winners amounts have totaled $30,952.

The lottery official said John Chesser of Clyde, is the largest lottery winner from Callahan County. Chesser has received $2,333 for matching 5 of 6 lotto numbers.

Levine said that although there is a large discrepancy between the number of winning tickets compared to the number of tickets sold, he said winning tickets up to $599 are not included in the amount of winning tickets. Levine went on to say that about 50 percent of all lottery sales is returned back into prizes.

The lottery official said the lottery's latest scratch-off game Texas Tornado, came on line for retailers last Thursday. Levine said another instant scratch-off game, "Moolah Mania" will be available from retailers April 21.

MARK WILLIAMS AND EMILY HORAN

Horan-Williams Engagement Announced

Ken and Leslie Horan of Cross Plains, Kay Horan of Grand Prairie and Joe and Monica Molder of Granbury announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Emily Sue Horan and Mark Lee Williams.

The wedding will be May 28, 1994 at 6:00 in the First Baptist Church, Desdemona.

Emily is a 1989 graduate of Cross Plains High School and graduate from Ogle School of Hair Design, Fort Worth in November 1990. She is currently manager of DJ's Family Hair Salon in Fort Worth.

Mark graduated from Burleson High School in 1988. He is currently employed as an electrician in Fort Worth.

Emily and Mark are planning a short honeymoon to San Antonio. The couple will reside in Fort Worth.

All family and friends are invited to attend the wedding.

With moisture so critically short, it is necessary to be selective in the use of the available water. Decisions must be made about the most important vegetation to receive irrigation around the home. Will it be the lawn, shrubs, flowers or vegetable garden? The advantages of mulching and the advisability of using vegetation native to this area is becoming evident.

It may not be too late in the season to try something new, but very old. We are always interested in the new selections, but just because it is a recent introduction does not always guarantee it will perform better than its older counterpart.

One of our oldest and finest time-proven shrubs for consideration is an antique rose. For centuries roses have been our most popular flower. While we still watch for the latest All America Rose Selections winners we are also focused on other varieties that may be 100 to 200 years old or older. They bring greater vigor and stamina, and many are even more fragrant. They are best used as free-standing shrubs. Consider old-fashioned nandiva. There are several new types that stay shorter and fuller, the old species, Nandiva domestica, or heavenly bamboo, is a long time performer here. It grows to four or five feet tall and wide, but it can be kept shorter by remaining the tallest one-third of its canes just an inch above the ground, late every winter.

Glossy abelia is another old shrub that deserves attention. It grows to five or six feet tall and wide but it stays full and dense. Its leaves are almost evergreen and its small white bell shaped flowers are produced all summer long. Use abelias as screening shrubs in a sunny location away from your house where they can grow without formal shearing.

The real original upright type of Burford holly is an outstanding landscaping shrub. It can be used as a tall screen or allowed to grow individually into its symmetrical oval form. It may attain heights of eight to ten feet and widths of six feet.

Pray for rain!!!

VETERANS NEWS

Radiogenic Exposure—If you have questions regarding possible radiation exposure you have a friend near by. Retired Lt. Col. Boley Caldwell in Mesquite, Texas heads up the National Association of Atomic Veterans. Col. Caldwell has a kind ear for he suffers from ailments resulting from exposure to radiation after the Bikini Island tests following WWII. Col. Caldwell can be contacted by calling 800-955-1186.

Education for Veterans—The Texas Educational Agency is well known for its role in directing various state educational programs from kindergarten through the twelfth grade. Less well known is the active role TEA plays in postsecondary education.

In Texas, almost all public and numerous non-public post secondary schools have programs approved for Veterans training. Public schools include universities, colleges, junior colleges, hospitals, police and fire academies and vocational skill centers.

Non-public schools include beauty/barber, bible, flight, airframe and powerplant, heavy equipment, electronic and other proprietary schools. Almost any type of degree or vocational training a Veteran may desire is offered somewhere in Texas.

If formal schooling is not of interest, there are apprenticeship programs in various industrial trades and/or on-the-job training (OJT) programs available.

TEA identifies the schools/training establishments that desire to offer training for Veterans. Through an approval process, TEA assures schools are in compliance with federal Veteran guidelines and qualified to provide the type training involved. After approval, TEA monitors the schools and/or training establishments to prevent abuses and assure Veterans a quality education.

As 1994 marks the 50th anniversary of the GI Bill, the Texas Education Agency continues to provide quality service for Texas Veterans. For additional information contact either the Texas Education Agency at 512-463-9475 or the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) at 800-827-1000.

Know your Veterans—Two other Veterans were honored at the recent Baird Chamber of Commerce Awards Night. Greg Gerngross received the Agriculture Award in acknowledgement of his many years of service to county farmers and ranchers through his work as Callahan County Extension Agent. Greg's work with county young people in the 4-H program and livestock shows also brought acclaim.

Presenting the award to Greg was yet another Callahan Veteran, Dick Vestal, a long time and very notable Vocational Agriculture instructor.

Veteran Gene Swinson received the Artistic Talent Award in recognition of his great talent as an artist and wood carver. Gene was also recognized for his efforts over the years in teaching so many young artists. Many of his pupils have gone on to notable careers in the world of Art.

Callahan County can be, and is, very proud of these three Veterans.

Weight Loss

Puzzles

Researcher!

WASHINGTON -- A research scientist's plan to end world hunger became side tracked when people eating his

"hi-tech" chewable food tablet lost weight. The reason for the weight loss is still somewhat of a puzzle, but some results have been significant.

Dr. William Morris, director of research and development at National Dietary Research, says that although the low calorie food replacement never achieved its original goal of feeding the world's undernourished people, it may be a windfall for some overweight people.

NDR has given permission to a pharmaceutical company to incorporate its formula into a new weight control product. The new formula, called

FOOD SOURCE II, is not just a low calorie food replacement, but a powerful appetite blocker that can actually decrease calorie consumption while supplying essential nutrients. The revolutionary new formula also contains an ingredient so unique it was given a U.S. government patent.

FOODSOURCE II is currently available on a limited basis through pharmacies and other health care professionals.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,
The air you breathe is now under attack!

A new company, Alternative Fuel Systems (AFS), is seeking a permit to reopen the Featherlite Aggregate plant in Ranger. AFS wants to burn blended, hazardous waste fuels under substandard conditions, thanks to a loop-hole in the law. Hundreds of square miles of Eastland and surrounding counties could be affected.²

Scientists once viewed incineration as a safe way to dispose of hazardous wastes. The high temperatures, they thought, would destroy harmful, complex chemicals which would otherwise threaten the environment. But that only occurs under ideal conditions.

Has incineration worked? No. Evidence increasingly shows that when widely varying substances (such as blended liquid hazardous waste fuels) are burned together, all of the harmful chemicals are not totally destroyed. Conditions required for proper combustion of different substances varies. Thus ideal conditions for each substance rarely exist in the kilns.³ The result? Emissions loaded with a wide variety of harmful chemicals.

For example, elemental lead is not highly volatile. In the presence of chlorine, however, it becomes extremely volatile when burned and is emitted into the air from the smoke stack.⁴

At least 19 different metals have been found in smoke stack emissions, including cadmium, lead and mercury.⁵ Some contaminants of great concern, such as dioxins, are actually created by incineration.⁶

The EPA estimates thousands of Products of Incomplete Combustion (PICs) are emitted by hazardous waste burners. But the EPA has identified and evaluated only a few of these PICs for harmful or lethal toxicity.⁷

What's the result for "downwinders" (those living downwind of hazardous waste burners)? "... a 50 to 100 percent greater prevalence in coughing, phlegm, wheezing, sore throat, and eye irritation the upwinders." Downwinders were also "... 20 to 90 percent more likely than upwinders to have been diagnosed with emphysema, pneumonia, sinus trouble, asthma, or allergies."⁸

Jobs? Workers in one hazardous waste incinerator complained of "headaches, hot flashes, irritability, memory problems, tremors, and erratic blood pressure"; others, of "chronic nausea, headache, dizziness, and feelings of intoxication ... sleep disorders, severe depression, and recurring suicidal thoughts." One researcher observed "difficulty controlling impulses — rage reactions — either verbally or physically" and more than half of the group "described homicidal thoughts."⁹

We must ignore the flowery statements of AFS and realize the hard, cruel facts: AFS will burn blended, hazardous wastes at substandard regulations. Unless we show our concern by contacting local and state officials, we may soon share the painful experiences of other "downwinders." Remember that we will all be "downwinders" on different days.

Air pollution is not the only problem involved in hazardous waste incineration. If you'd like more information, call either of the following:

The Danger Of Lightning

A typical summer day begins with clear and sunny skies. By late afternoon a rapidly developing thunderstorm approaches. Electrical storms may be fascinating to watch, but they also can be extremely dangerous.

West Texas Utilities Company and the National Safety Council recommend the following important safety measures to follow when encountering lightning during severe thunderstorms.

The most dangerous place to be during a storm is in an open area -- a field, a golf course, on a boat or in the water.

Whether you are swimming or in a boat, you are surrounded by water, which is a very good conductor. Get out of and away from all water when a storm is approaching.

During storms (or even when the skies look threatening, since lightning often strikes during the calm before a storm) stay off hilltops and out of open fields.

Golf courses and baseball fields are extremely dangerous places to be in a storm.

When seeking refuge, choose it carefully -- bad shelters can be worse than no shelter at all. Seeking shelter under a tree might seem like a good idea, but it's not. Trees are tall and attract lightning.

Since dry wood is not a good conductor, an electrical current may jump from a tree to a nearby person before reaching the ground.

When caught in a storm, get rid of all metal objects such as golf clubs, fishing rods and tennis rackets. Get off golf carts and bicycles. Stay away from conductors of electricity such as wire fences, power lines, clothes lines, metal pipes and railroad tracks.

A large, grounded or steel-framed building is the best place to be in an electrical storm. A metal top car or truck with closed windows is also safe because the vehicles frames will deflect lightning charge to the ground.

A common misconception people have is that you are safe from lightning once inside the home. The home is full of objects that act as conductors. Keep away from windows, fireplaces, stoves, sinks, bathtubs and plugged-in electrical appliances.

If you are caught out in a field or golf course far from adequate shelter and your hair begins to stand on end, you may be about to be struck by lightning. Immediately drop to your knees, bend forward and place your hands on your knees. Do not lie flat. This position, although providing a higher profile than lying flat, has the advantage of minimum contact with the earth.

Lightning is one of nature's spectacular showcases, but it is unpredictable and can pose a serious threat to our safety. Respect the dangers of lightning and always take precautionary measures during a thunderstorm.
