A Sixth Grade Education

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a touching story written by Harold Strahan of Cottonwood upon the birth of his granddaughter, Ashley Nicole Scott. Ashley recently turned seven on November 11. Strahan composed this short story to help his granddaughter understand the expression of feelings toward fellow men and to accept the challenges of life.

Once when times were very good to me, I had a large house built by a somewhat uneducated carpenter — at least, that is what he told me. Perhaps this carpenter had kissed the Blarney Stone because he had the greatest gift of gab of anyone that I have ever known. Though he was only fifty-five-years-old, he had worked everywhere as a carpenter for the military, and his expertise covered the complete spectrum of carpentry.

This effluent carpenter was very diligent in his work for some three full years. He was ever so quick with a square or rule that he used to calculate any angle or length with the greatest of ease. He made forms for the foundation and did the finish work — he assured me that this foundation would last for centuries. He always talked about the emphasis that another carpenter had put on having a foundation on solid ground.

How this man did all of this work by himself was just unbelievable. But to him, this was the greatest work in his life for he had never built a house completely by himself during his thirty-odd years as a carpenter.

While he was working on this house, my home to be, he continually referred to it as his "little creation." At first, this "little creation" statement was rather annoying to me because my pockets had paid for the plans, lumber, nails, brick, sheetrock, paneling, and accessories — not to mention his wages. And then, I realized that he was true blue in his belief that this was his creation for he indeed had taken the base materials and had made something exquisite with his special touch.

About one week after my family and I moved into this beautiful home, this carpenter called me on a Sunday morning asking that he might bring some friends over after church to see his "little creation." I naturally agreed because I, too, loved to show off my new home. Shortly after church, a troop of twelve strangers were at my door with the carpenter. He introduced each and every person, telling in a few short words what each person was doing with his life.

And lastly, he introduced me to his somewhat comely six-year-old grandson, who had eyes that twinkled like huge diamonds. He stood out like a fly in a bowl of green pea soup, for around his waist he had a nail apron and in one hand he had a plastic hammer while in the other he had a plastic skill saw. He sat the little skill saw down at the front door, and held his grandfather's hand during the whole tour.

The carpenter showed off each nook and cranny that had a certain beveled angle here or a picture-framed bay window there, and he told how he had

Bufs Tough As Great Season Ends

By COACH ELAINE SHEDD

Football season is over now for the Cross Plains Buffaloes after Baird slipped by them Friday night 14-12 in Buckaroo Stadium at Breckenridge.

Baird advances after winning an Area title. The Buffaloes came home after a fine performance on the field.

Cross Plains scored before most of the fans had a chance to settle in. Starting on the Baird 35, Smith gained 14 yards on the Buffaloes' first play from scrimmage. Chris Brown scored on a 7-yard sweep with 7:32 to play in the first quarter.

The Buffaloes scored on the next possession on an 11-play, 57-yard drive. Cross Plains used the sweep, with Robbie Wheeler picking up 15 yards on a key third and one play on the Baird 48. Brown scored his second touchdown on a sweep to the left from the three.

Curtis Wyatt had his kick blocked after the first touchdown, so the Buffs went for two after the second. Smith's pass to Brown was stopped short of the goal.

For that first quarter, it appeared as if the season would end for the Bears. But then there are 3 more quarters.

In the second quarter, Corn set up Baird's first touchdown with 2 plays. With about 8 minutes to play in the half, Corn received a punt and returned it to the 13. A clipping call set the ball back for play on the 26. The Bears were pushed back to the 31 after another penalty.

Corn picked up 27 of the yardage, but the tackle at the end of the play was the one that broke the collarbone. Joy came in as quarterback and scored on the next play.

On Baird's next possession, Robinson picked up 16 yards down to the 13 and Joy gained 9 down to the 4 on the next play. Joy scored from the 1 two plays later.

There were a lot of big plays in the third and fourth quarters, but neither team scored.

Baird advances with a 12-0 record while the Buffs finish with an 8-4.

As we put away the helmets and shoulder pads and football for another season, let us do so with our heads held high. Sure the Buffs were ranked No. 5 at the beginning of the year, but also remember they hadn't won a district title since 1956. They had not had a winning season until last year since 1974.

The Buffs were not expected to get past Menard (the Abilene Reporter said). Let us also remember they are the Bi-District Champs and we are proud!!!

This was truly the year of the Buffalo!!!

County Jail Food Bill Is Under Fire

The cost and policy concerning food at the Callahan County Jail at Baird has come under fire at the Last two County Commissioners Court meetings.

Mrs. Mary Van Der Linden of near Cross Plains met with commissioners at their regular meeting Monday, November 14, for the second time in two months concerning her and her husband, Cliff's, contention that too much is being spent for food at the jail and that outsiders are being allowed to eat free meals there.

According to figures Mrs. Van Der Linden obtained from the county treasurer's office, a little over $6 is being spent on each meal cooked at the jail.

She also contends that deputies and other lawmen and officials are being allowed to eat free at the jail. It was reported that deputies from Cross Plains not only eat at the jail free but charge the county mileage to and from the meals.

According to her figures, $1,092.49 was spent on jail food in the month of July. By comparison, she said that for the month of February 1975, $40.72 was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Der Linden have proposed to commissioners that a limit of $3.33 per meal per prisoner be placed on jail food costs.

They are also proposing that records be kept of anyone else eating meals at the jail and that if they do so, it be regarded as compensation under the Internal Revenue act and be taxed as such.

They also propose that records on man days in the jail be broken down to show meals actually served to prisoners.

Sheriff Bill Skinner was not a Monday's commissioners meeting.

Commissioners have tabled action on the matter until after the annual report is received on the inspection of the jail by the Jail Standards Commission. The report is expected shortly.

Mrs. Van Der Linden said she will be at the next commissioners meeting November 28, requesting some action be taken on her proposals.

Colonial Oaks Nursing Home Celebrates 25th

Colonial Oaks Nursing Home will celebrate its 25th Anniversary on Friday, November 25. The public is invited to come by and visit friends and family and have a cup of coffee from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The nursing home has been under continuous ownership since Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lee built it in 1963. Since the death of Mr. Lee, it has continued to be operated by Mrs. Lee with the same high standards that he practiced.

Good food, kind and gentle care, and a full calendar of activities are all practiced with a loving attitude.

Not only does the nursing home lovingly care for your family and friends, it puts a sizeable payroll back into the community. With a staff of 30 employees, it is a factor in the employment rate of the community.

Fances Wolf has been the Licensed Administrator since 1972, and welcomes you to come by and say "hello."

Bhakta was killed instantly. Justice of the Peace Rolan Jones pronounced the man dead at 12:30 p.m. He was the owner and operator of the Hereford Motel in Albany.

Prital J. Bhakta, his seven-year-old daughter, died from injuries sustained from the accident at Humana Hospital. Four other family members were injured.

built bridge trusses in the attic to make the ceiling in a huge living room almost perfectly level. He took about an hour to show off his workmanship; and when he finished his chatter, his grandson blurted out, "Well, how do you like Papa's 'little creation?'" Without waiting for an answer, he said, "Papa only has a sixth grade education, but he is the best carpenter in the whole world." Everyone laughed so much that it just made me glad to be alive and witness the love between this carpenter and his grandson.
To my delight, this parade went on every Sunday for about four months, and each time the grandson came wearing the nail apron and carrying the saw and hammer. Each tour ended like the first, with the grandson bragging on his Papa's "little creation," and sixth grade education. I swear, I have never seen a man with so many friends and "relatives" that he did not name directly.
Several days after his last visit, the carpenter's wife called me on the telephone, and her request seemed to hit me right between the eyes. She wanted me to be a pallbearer at her husband's funeral. He had died from a heart attack.
The funeral services were held at a very small church that could not seat more than sixty people. As I sat in the packed church that did not have air conditioning and had little heating on that cold January day, I wondered where this man had found so many friends who had visited my home and his "little creation."
As the church doors opened so we could take the casket to the cemetery about two hundred feet away, I could not believe my eyes. It seemed impossible, but there were about three to four hundred people standing outside the church in the shivering cold winter air. Each and every person went to the cemetery and gathered for a final view of this man's body that had brought so much joy into everyone's life when the carpenter, himself, still had the spirit of life.
Finally, the pallbearers all placed their roses on the casket, and it was lowered to the depths of the grave. Not one soul had left this cemetery, and it was so quiet until the carpenter's grandson suddenly rushed up to the edge of the grave and literally screamed: "Oh, Papa! Oh, Papa! You only had a sixth grade education, but you are the best Papa in the whole world!" Then, the child unbuttoned his coat, and I could not believe my eyes. He had on his grandfather's nail apron which he removed and dropped into the grave, and from his coat pockets he removed the little plastic saw and hammer and got down on his knees and let these fall onto the casket.
Then, with both hands held in the form of a megaphone, he yelled into the grave, "I love you — I love you, Papa!" For some reason this caused an eerie echo, and it was just as though God Himself had said: "I love you!" If tears and sobbing are my kind of measure of love, I have never witnessed so much love. This man — this carpenter with a sixth grade education — surely knew another carpenter personally.
Lord, God, Almighty, what some men can do with a sixth grade education.

Ms. Koenig is a founding partner of the law firm of Auld, Koenig, Stephenson and Mansfield of Bedford, which has become the largest law firm in that portion of the county.

jured in the accident. Kamlaben Bhakta, Bhakta's mother, suffered from severe head injuries and a broken leg. At last notice she was still being checked for internal injuries.
Pritesh Bhakta, 5-year-old son of Bhakta, sustained severe facial and head lacerations.
Sarjben, 28-year-old wife, and Daxa, 22-year-old sister of Bhakta, received severe lacerations in the accident.
Local volunteers with the Emergency Medical Service and Fire Department were called to the aid of the family. Jim Cook, representing the Department of Public Safety, handled the accident. Deputy Sheriff Wayne Knowles of Cross Plains, Deputy Sheriff Richard Dodson of Clyde, and Sheriff Bill Skinner of Baird assisted.
The Jaws of Life were needed to free Bhakta's body and to remove his mother from the wreckage. She was trapped in the vehicle for 1 1/2 hours. It was reported that this was one of the most serious accidents to occur in Callahan County recently.
Two ambulances were dispatched from Cross Plains and one from Clyde. All attendants moved quickly into action to aid and comfort the injured. Jones stated that people passing by were of great assistance during the ordeal, too. They helped with the rescue and responded to instructions given by the EMT personnel.
The fact that the Justice of the Peace and the wrecker driver, Mike McClure, are also trained in emergency medical assistance was convenient in an accident with several victims.
The local volunteers became very involved with the Albany family and their welfare. It was probably comforting to have such personal attention in the difficult situation.
All local volunteers should be acclaimed on their display of human kindness and for the many hours of service they give to others.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

Some 1987 leaves are still on portions of my lawn — now the 1988 crop is beginning to fall — having seven huge trees on and around my yard truly poses a leaf problem. I'm sure my late husband thought he would be here to rake leaves — he just loved to rake leaves!

I've been very much concerned, all this week, over the condition of a dear brother-in-law. He had surgery on the 7th. They removed his gall bladder and made detours around the pancreas, and there was a malignancy. He has come through it all and has been moved to a nice nursing home. Only God knows how long he might survive — the doctor predicted six months to one year. I believe he is now about 85. We just pray that he doesn't suffer severely.

This Monday morning is bright and sunny, but it is COLD out there. My birdbath is frozen this morning.

Betty Beggs' brother, Floyd Russell, and a friend, Homer Rosser of Fort Worth, visited them this weekend. Marianne and Mack Taff visited them during the weekend also. They all had a nice time together. J.T. stated that they were "working" peanuts — they have a good crop, for which they are thankful.

Ms. Jewel Foster was going into town to eat at the new Senior Citizens Center. The Quilting Club will have one more meeting in November, and that will be the last one until the New Year.

Nell Fleming's granddaughter, Julie Robinson, and her grandson, Chris of Midland, visited them on Sunday. JoVeda and Bill Watson of Byrd's Store, also Betty Meiron and her granddaughter of Stephenville visited one evening last week.

Helen and Cole Tillotson had guests during the weekend. They were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Spink of Marion, Iowa. A joyous reunion of friends.

My good neighbors, David and Sherry Goble, had another exciting weekend — went hunting in the Cottonwood area (with Stanley and Norma).

Several neighbors did not answer this morning. Better luck next time. I'm looking forward to a lovely evening at First Baptist Church on Tuesday evening — a Christmas program and dinner. That should open our hearts for the true meaning of Christmas!

Visiting with Mrs. M.F. Dill this past week were Wanda Walker, Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Breeding, Blanche Moore, Peggy Winfrey, Alton McCowen, Mr. and Mrs. S.E. Paige, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ingram and two grandchildren, and Chester Cunningham all of the community.

Dr. Terry Watkins of New Orleans, Louisiana visited in the home of his mother, Clauda Mae Watkins, over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Watkins of Eastland were also guests.

STEP ABOARD — Chris Brown followed by Cody Odom are about to climb aboard the chartered bus headed to Area Playoffs.

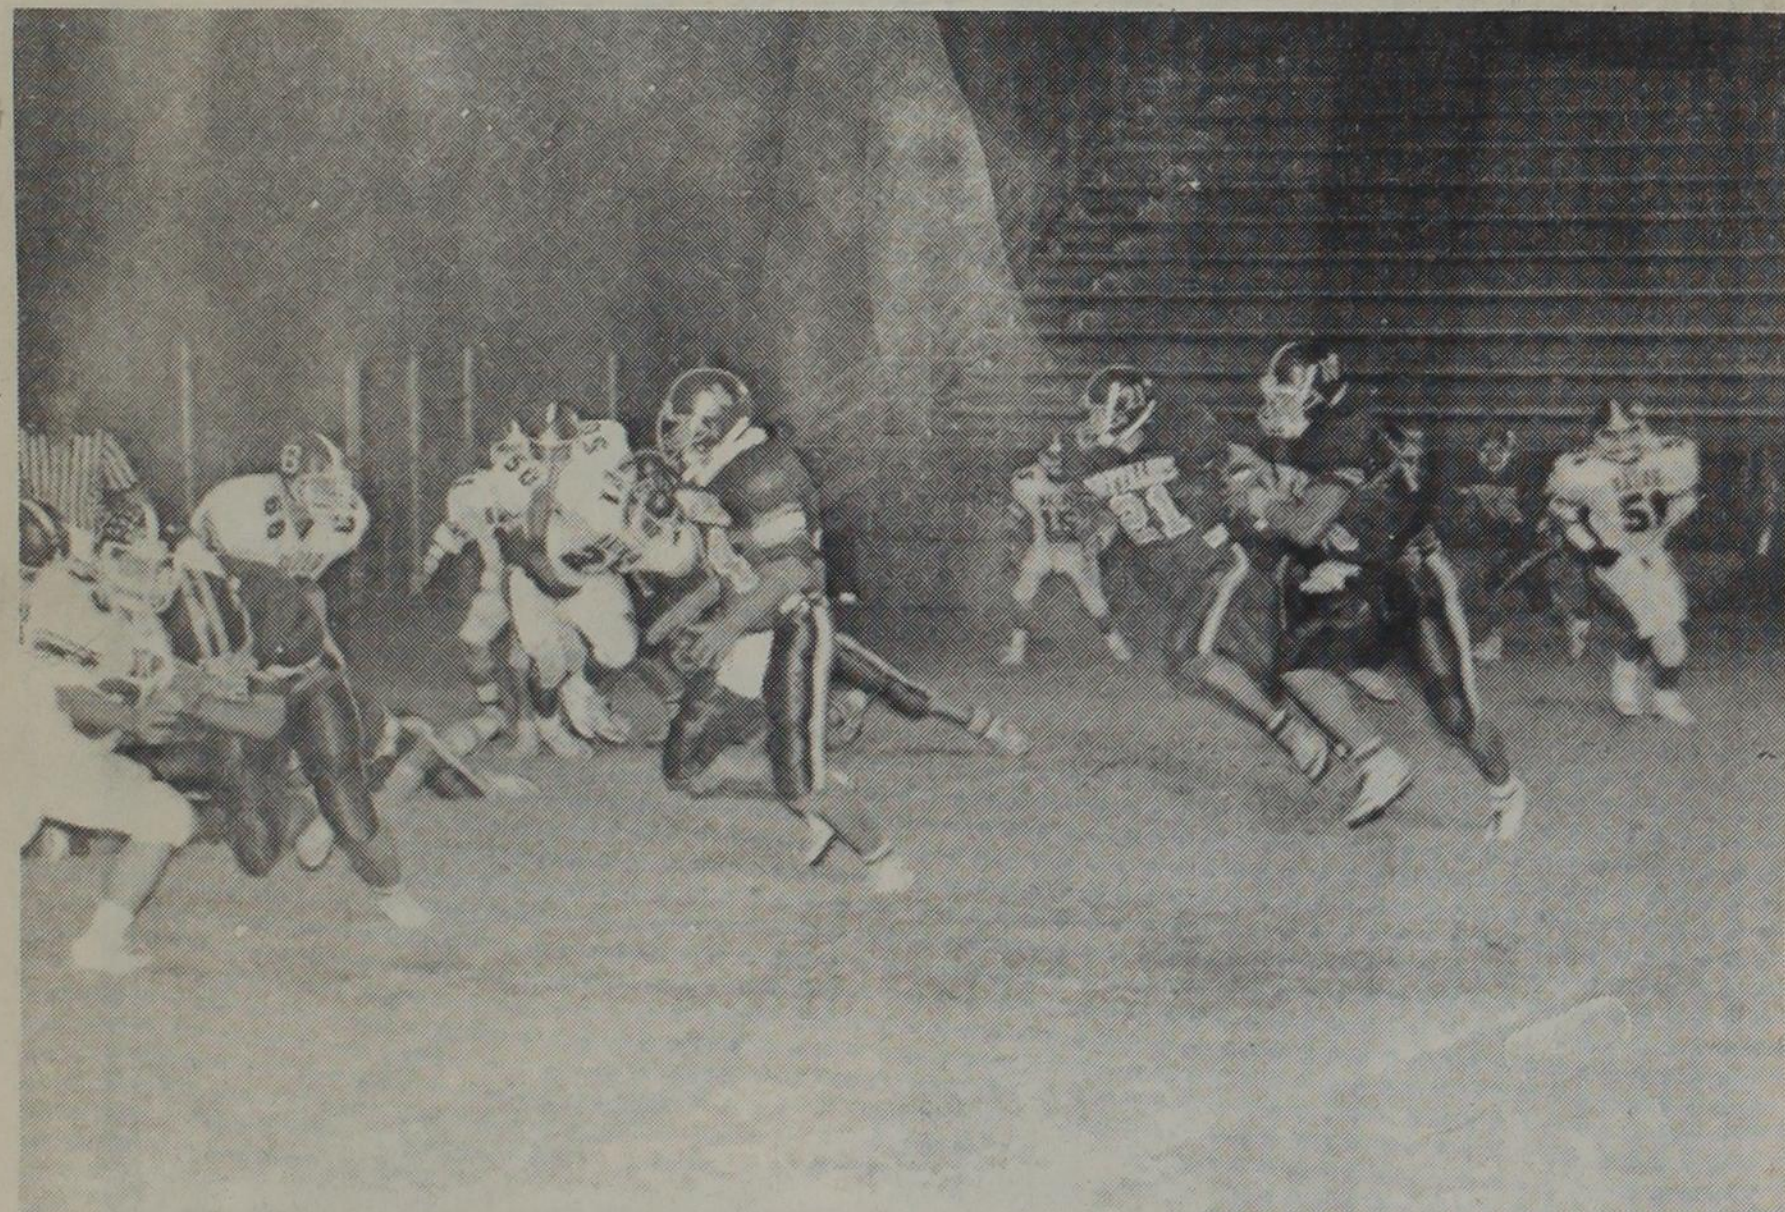

TOWN GETS INVOLVED — Citizens State Bank employees made this gigantic sign to signify their support. The Buffs have made our community proud indeed.

PARADE THROUGH DOWNTOWN — Don Gosnell, patrolman with the Department of Public Safety, escorted the Buffaloes in their chartered bus down Main Street while business personnel held up signs of encouragement and cheered them on.

C.P. Junior High Boys Win May Tournament

The Cross Plains Junior High Boys won the May-Blanket Basketball tournament last weekend. They cruised through the tournament without any real close games. They defeated Moran 42-18, Rising Star 37-23, and Early 47-35.

The leading scorers for Cross Plains throughout the tournament were Billy Brown with 44, Brandon Smith with 34, and Jason Rutledge with 25. Other team players contributing to the Championship were James Jones, Michael Cowan, Jason Fleming, Kelly Barclay, Gary Hargrove, Johnny Pointer, and Brad Morgan.

The next tournament for these boys will be at Jim Ned on December 3.

Junior High Basketball Girls Win

Coach Bacon and the Junior High "Lady Buffs" traveled to May this past weekend for the May Junior High Invitational.

Thursday night the girls played Moran. They were defeated 17 to 19. Heather Montgomery led the scoring with 12 points, followed by Shana Bagley and Mandi Sowell with 2 each.

Saturday morning the girls met up with May and defeated them 33 to 24. The scoring was spaced among 6 Lady Buffs. Montgomery led with 16, Evans 6, and Wheeler with 5.

Saturday afternoon the girls played Sidney and defeated them 29-14.

Evans led with 9 points, followed by Montgomery and Webb with 6 each. The girls won consolation in the tourney. Coach Bacon was well pleased with the overall performances, stating, "They made mistakes, but will improve with more playing time."

Over 125 4-H and FFA members, 4-H leaders and parents participated in the livestock leader training clinic and prospect show held at the County Livestock Showbarn on Saturday, November 12.

Mr. Calvin Helm, former Vo-Ag instructor and sheep breeder from Winters, presented the lamb clinic program. Helm discussed types of lambs to feed, nutrition and health and showmanship of lamb prospects. Helm also judged the prospect show held later in the day.

Mr. Jeff Howard, Nolan County Extension Agent, presented the beef cattle judging, fitting and showmanship clinic and also judged the prospect steer show.

ROWDEN NEWS

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

Saturday has been cloudy with some mist. The wind is blowing and its cool enough to have heat in the house. Wednesday was the day the wind blew. Someone said their leaves moved north one day and back south the next day. The colorful leaves are losing their pretty fall colors now, so colder weather is due to come.

The Baird Basketball Team played Ranger in Ranger Monday night. Wyatt Watson was on the team. Robert and Dorothy Watson attended the game.

The Friday night playoff football game between Baird and Cross Plains was in Breckenridge. Many were in attendance from both towns. Baird won by 2 points. Robert and Dorothy Watson and sons attended. Tonya and Bill Steele played in the Cross Plains Band.

Jim and Crecia Reynolds and son, Chris of Midland, attended church services in Clyde with his parents, James and Dorothy Reynolds. Also, John and Ellen Carpenter of Azle spent the weekend in the Reynolds home.

Sterling Odom was honored Sunday by his family. The occasion was his birthday on Monday. Those present for the sharing of cake, punch, sandwiches, and other goodies were Ralph and Ginny Trevey, Scott and Jennifer of Snyder, also their son, David Trevey of Howard Payne University in Brownwood, Charles and Nancy Palmer and son, Michael of Clyde, and also Iyon and his friend, Nora Odom of Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ingram of Cross Plains were out at the Sterling Odom place to hunt rattlesnakes, but all must be in their dens. They went home empty handed.

This writer was in Abilene Thursday and visited Lila Webb in Hendrick Medical Center. Also, I visited in Clyde with Anna Bell Tabor and Jewel Swanzy.

This was the week to have some relatives come that hadn't been seen for years. Dupree Bryant of Marble Falls and his son, Ray Bryant of Dallas, had come to Baird and were visiting an aunt, Faye White, and his brother, Roy Bryant of Baird. Early Monday morning, the cousins and aunt came out so the men could hunt. It was a nice visit for the four of us, but no game was found on the hunt. Dupree's parents were Walter and Lena Bryant of the Iona community southwest of Baird.

Edna Dye attended the Early Bird Monthly Garden Club meeting in the home of Tim McClosky in Abilene Thursday. He brought the program on home decorating for Christmas, which was enjoyed by all.

Visitors in the home of Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin during the week were Roland and Faye Mauldin of Denton Valley, Bro. Robert Sutton and Bill Cason of Baird, and Jessie Odom of the community.

Robbie Watson has returned from Ohio where he was in special schooling at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

The writer accompanied Robert and Dorothy Watson to see the new house he has just completed three miles south of Clyde on Highway 603. A new white brick house for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Falk of that city. This house is of Southwest Spanish styling with three bedrooms, a large living den area, with joining kitchen and formal dining room. The inside walls are painted white. It has two beautiful bathrooms and spacious closets in every room. All floors, except bedrooms, have tile flooring. The master bedroom has hard wood floors. The house is in a grove of pecan trees. Other trees border the back and sides of the place.

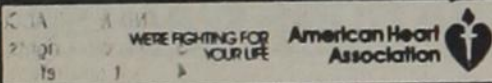

Visitors of Emma Johnson and Lizzie Burks last week were Emma's daughter, Pansy Johnson from San Antonio; a brother-in-law, Archie Neff, and his sister, Lena Scott of Mesa, Arizona; Wilma Mulzhill of Portales, New Mexico; and B.J. Anderson of Rising Star.

Betty And John Adams In Parade Of Homes

By JANICE PHILLIPS

This unique red brick home, belonging to Betty and John Adams, will be one of four featured on the Beta Sigma Phi Parade of Homes Tour held on December 4. This house sits on 80 acres and is located 3 1/2 miles west of Cross Plains on Farm-to-Market Road 2287, south side of the road. The 3,000 square foot house was built in 1928. Mr. Placke built the house for the Wallace Jones family. They had one daughter. She now lives in Eastland.

The Adams wanted to live near the center of Texas, so they bought this house nearly 30 years ago with the anticipation of retiring there some day. John is retired from Shell Pipeline. Betty and John have lived in this lovely home four years now.

They took the original kitchen and made a utility room, pantry, and a stairway for the upstairs room. The cabinetry that was in the original kitchen remains in the (now) utility room. The stairway was put in for an attic that had never been floored. This attic was made into a multi-purpose room that sleeps four.

The downstairs area of the house is kept pretty much the same as when the Adams first purchased the home. It has two bedrooms, and they added a second bath and some closets. There is brick paneling in the living room and dining room.

Betty and John added 14 feet on the back of the south side of the house. This addition is glassed-in and features a lap pool, new kitchen, and a sitting room. They do most of their "living" in this unique room.

There are ceramic tile countertops in the kitchen. The floors in the kitchen, new bath, pool area, and the glassed-in front porch are laid with terracotta tile. The older bath has been remodeled to include a bay window seat. The original sink was removed and replaced with an antique oak washstand and stainless steel basin that has been plumbed.

Of special interest is some old, damaged World War II English leaded glass that John has collected, restored, and put into some of the windows of the house. This is one of the hobbies he enjoys.

The Adams have done most of the changes and remodeling of the house themselves.

Betty has a selection of toy sewing machines and some antiques.

The members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority invite the public to view the Parade of Homes on Sunday afternoon, December 4. Other homes on display belong to Marie and Roy Stambaugh, LaVern and Elvis Scott, and Rosalea Bonner.

Tickets may be purchased for $4 from any sorority member or at the homes. Maps will be available at all the homes. Refreshments will be served at Rosalea Bonner's home.

Pour vanilla on a bit of cotton and put it in the refrigerator to eliminate unpleasant odors there.

COTTONWOOD NEWS

By BEVERLY BROWN

Happy Thanksgiving Day! Everyone is calorie, sugar-free, and low cholesterol conscious in these times. Thanks to the many published health books on menus and recipes — it makes meal planning easier. Although a lot of the traditional family favorites and desserts, sugary sweet potatoes with lots of butter, pecan pies, etc. have to be eliminated. Think of the extra pounds you won't add — healthy eating.

In the past week several homes in the community have been burglarized. Residents are warned to keep a watch in your neighborhood for unusual happenings. Total value of stolen property and damage done to the homes are under investigation.

The Cottonwood Quilting Ladies want to express their appreciation to all who patronized the annual turkey supper last Friday. Thank you to persons who donated food items, helped in the kitchen and the musicians who participated.

Mrs. A.G. Waggoner of Baird, mother of Charles and Knox Waggoner of the community, was released from Humana Hospital in Abilene on Thursday. Mrs. Waggoner underwent major heart surgery several weeks ago.

Mrs. Ethel Anderson and Mrs. Stuart Sowell went to see Mrs. A.G. Waggoner in the hospital at Abilene on Wednesday.

Mrs. Flora Thornton of Victoria is spending several weeks with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Turner Simpson. Flora and Ellen visited with Mrs. Bertha Wheeler last week one day. On Friday Flora, Ellen, and Turner attended the Cottonwood Musical and visited with many friends.

Mrs. Stuart Sowell, Matthew, Mandi, and Malysa had dinner with Mrs. Ethel Anderson on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly and Keith, Mrs. Bill Nickerson Sr. and granddaughters, Rickie Jo Potter and Amie Franke, left Saturday to spend the weekend with Billie and Dena's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Max Byrd in Hurst. On Sunday, members of the Weaver clan had their Thanksgiving gathering.

Mrs. Herman Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Rogers, Craig Jr., Charlie, and Carrie left Sunday morning to attend the family gathering in Hurst.

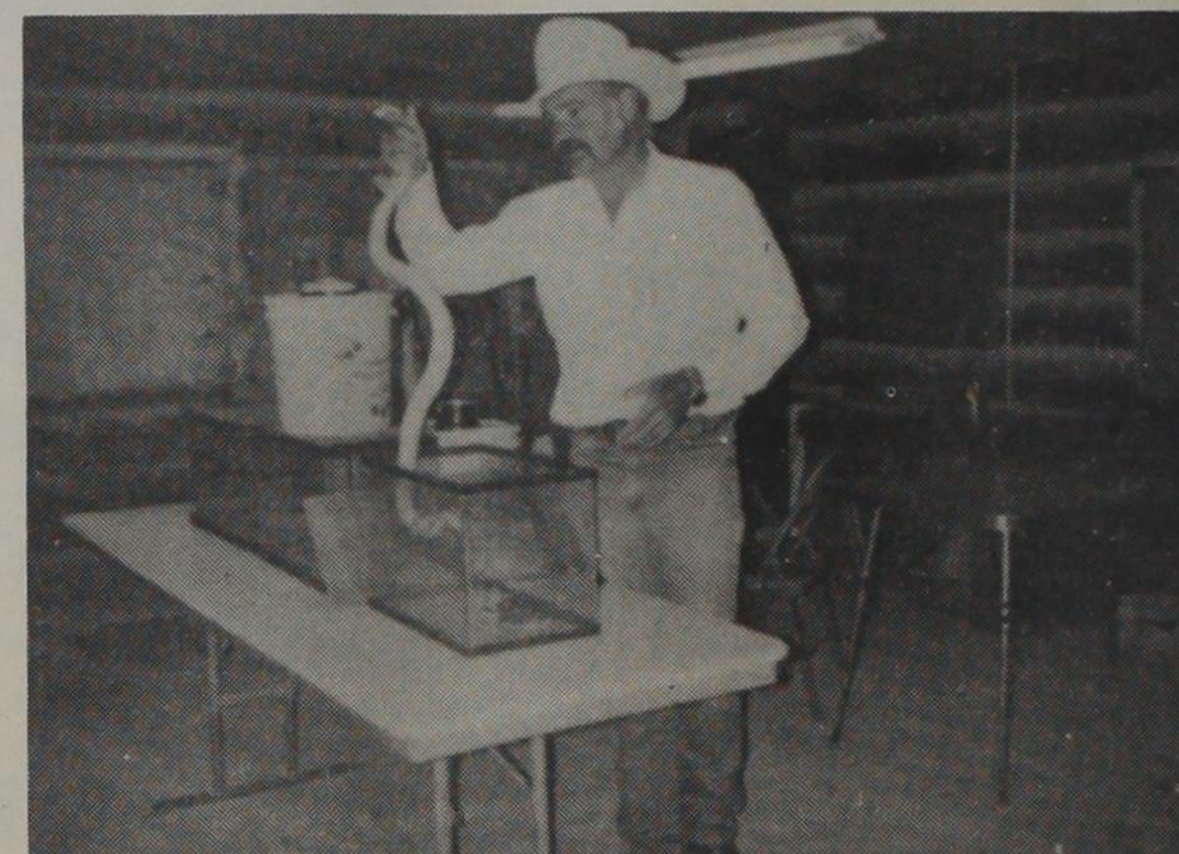

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Haston of North Richland Hills were at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Albrecht, and children and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Creamer and son over the weekend. The family celebrated Barbara's birthday and had their Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday. Other family members attending were Mr. Bill Smith, Mrs. Amy Albrecht, and Mrs. Gregg Williams, Casey and Sherry.

The Cottonwood Quilting Ladies will hold their next quilting session on December 1 at 9:30 a.m. in the local community center.

LARGE BULL SNAKE — Johnny Wooten is shown displaying a 4 1/2 foot bull snake at the Tiger Cub meeting last Tuesday night.

Tiger Cubs Enjoy Interesting Program

By VANDA KING
Editor

The Tiger Cubs invited Johnny Wooten to their regular meeting for an informative presentation concerning snakes. One of the objectives was to enlighten the boys on what snake is poisonous and how to recognize them. Wooten's expertise kept their attention as he emphasized the fact that they should never pick up any snake. "Their appearance is sometimes deceiving and could prove harmful," Wooten stated.

Most of the species displayed could be found locally, but Wooten had a few unusual ones, too.

He explained why the reptiles hide under rock and tin because of their need to stay warm. He also discussed the poisonous snake whose poison affects either the blood or the nervous system.

After the program everyone enjoyed looking at the snakes in the aquariums. Wooten took out the large bull snake and many of the boys touched its rough skin. They appear slick and slimy, but they really feel like alligator type shoes.

The crowd was very receptive and most of the Tiger Cubs got in their own snake tales. Tiger Cubs present were Coby Richards, Cody Knowles, Jaden Winfrey, Benji Worley, and Terry Brown.

What A Shot

Art Fisher, retired banker who is recuperating from heart by-pass surgery, scored a hole-in-one Wednesday afternoon at Lakewood Recreation Center course, midway between Cross Plains and Rising Star.

The ace on a 152-yard hole was hit with a six iron and witnessed by seven other club members, who were playing a Florida scramble at the time. Fisher's teammates were Vern Coleman, James Alexander, and Jack Scott. They were playing L.E. Allen, John W. Lee, Raymond Parrish and H.L. (Tex) Evans.

Fisher underwent heart surgery August 9 and Wednesday's round was the third time he had played since.

"Several people have called to congratulate me on the shot," Fisher says, "but more have simply wanted to know the name of my surgeon."

Weekly Health Tip

THAWING FROZEN MEAT

It is not safe to thaw frozen meat or poultry on the countertop. Room temperature encourages the growth of bacteria. To safely thaw meat, take it out of the freezer and refrigerate it overnight. For quick thawing, use a microwave oven, or put the meat in a watertight plastic bag and immerse it in cold water, changing the water often. The cold water will control bacteria growth on the outside while the inside thaws.

Your better health is our concern.
