Marilyn...

By C.A. (Carol Atchley)

Almost everyone who hears the name immediately thinks of the famous actress Marilyn Monroe. Although she died 27 years ago, in a sense she still lives on in the form of posters, books, movies, etc., and is still the subject of TV programs such as the recently aired segment on "Inside Edition."

Most people could probably also give a fact or two about Marilyn, but did you know that Cross Plains has its own resident authority on Marilyn?...and he wasn't even born until 12 years after her death. If you want to know something about the legendary actress, just give Calvin Champion a call.

Calvin, who will be a sophomore at C.P.H.S. next year, has been collecting material and reading about Marilyn since 1984. I visited Calvin one day at his home and talked with him and saw his ever-growing collection of Marilyn material. For example, did you know that Marilyn had been placed in 13 different foster homes as a child? Calvin's collection at this point includes things such as 12 of her 29 movies, several large posters, many books, a number of photographs, magazine articles, fan club newsletters, and several original pieces of art work created by Calvin such as paintings, prints, and shirts.

I asked him how he got started and he said it was when he saw her movie "Some Like It Hot" in which she sings one of her more famous songs, "I Wanna Be Loved By You." From that point on, he said "I was hooked." Then beginning with a poster of her from a 1957 photo shoot, he's been collecting since. Although that was the first Marilyn movie he saw, his favorite is "The Misfits" and his favorite songs are "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend," "Anyone Can See I Love You," and "Specialization."

Calvin is (as you might expect) a member of the Marilyn Monroe International Fan Club with a world-wide membership. The fan club provides newsletters, photos, and other information relating to Marilyn. For instance, they have currently been working on a project to have her picture on a postage stamp. From what Calvin says, they were successful and the stamp should be coming out next year.

Among his collection there are two very interesting books. One is titled "Marilyn" (written by Norman Mailer). Calvin acquired this book which is now no longer in print from the Cross Plains Public Library after it became damaged. The other book titled "The Unabridged Marilyn..." (written by Randall Riese and Neal Hitchess) is unusual in that it is written dictionary style with all the facts and information about Marilyn and her life. Calvin says that a great deal of his collection he has located in various stores in Abilene, and he estimates the current value of his collection to be around $500.

Of course, I had to ask the obvious question concerning Marilyn... "Do you think that her death was really a suicide?" Calvin answered emphatically, "No!" He went on to say that from everything he has read about her life, he is convinced that she was murdered and because of the people involved, it was covered up and treated as a suicide. He also recently learned that the case will be reopened for further investigation.

Out of curiosity, I asked Calvin if he was following any other celebrities. The late singer Patsy Cline he said is also very interesting and he is slowly starting a collection of material on her life. As a matter of fact, he was recently invited to the annual Patsy Cline Memorial Weekend in Virginia. This came about because he is the youngest member of the Patsy Cline Fan Club. Unfortunately, at this time, Calvin doesn't think he will be able to attend.

It's not particularly unusual for young people to have an interest in movie stars, singers, or other celebrities, but usually it is an interest in someone more current and of their generation, but Calvin says, "My priority is to preserve the past." He says his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Champion, really seem to understand and support him with his collecting, but he says it's not always that easy with his friends. Rather ironically,

Calvin just recently learned that he has an 18-year-old cousin in Roscoe who is also a fan of Marilyn's and has her own collection started.

If anyone is interested in learning more about joining a fan club or knowing something about Marilyn, Calvin says to give him a call.

LIFE-SIZE POSTER — This life-size poster of Marilyn is one of Calvin's favorite collector's items.

MARILYN MEMORABILIA — just a portion of his collection relating to Marilyn Monroe. Calvin Champion is pictured among the items.

CALVIN'S CREATION — He used a large piece of plywood to cut out the life-size picture of Marilyn and personally detailed the art work. The various faces and views of Marilyn represented on his t-shirt were also hand painted by Calvin.

COUNTRY HOME — The home of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Breeding is located in a scenic spot near Caddo Peak.

Yard Of The Week

By VANDA KING
Editor

This year has been unusual, due to all the rainfall in June and the soaring temperatures, flowers have not been progressing as usual. The eight days of severely low temperatures in the winter took its toll on many shrubs, grass, and bulb plants. So if you have wondered why the Yard of the Week had not started previously, this is the reason.

On the way to take other photos last week, I noticed the well-kept yard of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Breeding and decided to feature it. The drive out to their place alone is very pretty with the greenery and shaded roads twisting along the way.

Their beautiful brick home is in a cozy nook just as you round a corner. It was built in 1975 and until that time they lived in the house A.L.'s father built in 1898. He has lived on the place he was born all of his life.

Mr. Breeding's dad planted some of the pecan trees near the house and the mulberry trees around 1902. After reading the story about the largest trees in Callahan County, Ora decided to measure the distance around the largest mulberry tree. She was surprised to find it was 18 feet around. This should be some competition in the contest.

The two pecan trees out front were cleverly planted by squirrels some twenty years ago. Ora and her uncle watched the squirrels bury the pecans along what use to be a fence and the next spring they came up. Today they reach heights of 35 to 40 feet.

Purple jew in baskets brings color to the yard with its light pink tiny blooms. A hanging basket holder, built by the late E.L. Cowan, is made of iron pipe with antique hay racks for prongs and is covered with English ivy. The leafy growth started climbing up the base and has inched along most metal extensions.

Shrubs trim the front of the house and a large flower box is built around the giant oak tree. Lance Plummer, their grandson, helped Ora build the circular container out of bricks that match the house. Monkey grass lines the outside edge while red and white caladiums, pink impatiens, and pink and white periwinkles are growing inside.

Baskets of purslain, which have orange blossoms, bloom in the cool of the morning. Ora stated that she obtained a start of these plants from her daughter, Connie Plummer, who lives in Leander. A planter box made between cultivator wheels contain the purslain and adds even more charm to the yard's appearance.

Watch for more yards to be featured. Many have just started to look great!

LOCAL HAY PRODUCTION GREAT — The hay crop in this area has been outstanding due to the large amount of rainfall in June. Joe Ingram and Arvin Brashear are partners on a hay production operation and they were pleased with a 30 acre field located on Ingram's place. It produced 191 large round bales of hybrid sudan haygrazer. This averaged 6 1/2 round bales to the acre. There are 20 square bales in a large round bale so it produced the same as 3,820 on the 30 acre plot, resulting in 120 square bales per acre. The photo may not do the field justice because in person there is lots of hay. Photo courtesy of Leah King.

Bank Tax Receipts

Six Callahan County taxing entities received checks sent Monday, June 19, by State Comptroller Bob Bullock for the bank franchise tax allocations.

Comptroller Bullock sent checks totaling $34 million in the bank franchise tax allocations to 2,023 Texas taxing entities, including the six from Callahan County.

Clyde Consolidated Independent School District received the largest check among the county taxing entities. Bullock reported that Clyde C.I.S.D. received $12,692.95 for the payment period ending June 14.

Callahan County received the second highest check, $11,346.89, as its share of the bank franchise tax.

Other county taxing entities receiving bank franchise tax payments were: Baird Independent School District received a $11,184.67 payment.

Cross Plains I.S.D. received a check amounting to $8,752.05.

The City of Clyde received a check amount to $4,149.09.

The City of Baird received a bank franchise tax payment of $3,769.63.

Bank franchise tax refund liabilities were created as a result of state court cases centering on taxes collected in 1985, 1986 and 1987.

H.B. 3032, passed by the Legislature this session, states that beginning in 1990, banks can choose to take partial credit each year against their franchise tax, rather than pursuing immediate refunds of the contested amounts.

Bullock said the allocations represent franchise taxes paid by banks that do business in Texas. Banks must file a report with the Comptroller's office by March 15 each year.

The bank franchise tax rate is the same as the state's corporate franchise tax rate — $6.70 per $1,000 of taxable capital and surplus, with a minimum tax of $150, according to Bullock.

The Texas Legislature authorized the bank franchise tax in 1984, and the tax was collected for the first time in 1985.

Bullock said that a portion of the tax goes into the state's general revenue fund, but most of it is allocated to local tax jurisdictions, such as cities, counties, and other local taxing units such as school, water and hospital districts.

Some Answers About Coronary Heart Disease: Basic Questions Answered In Understandable Terms

ROCKVILLE, MD — Someone dies from heart disease every 32 seconds. It is the leading cause of death in the U.S., claiming 540,000 lives every year. But what causes heart attacks? How can they be prevented? Who is most at risk and why? These and many other basic questions are answered in layman's terms in "Some Answers About Coronary Heart Disease," the latest publication on heart disease from the American Health Assistance Foundation.

To understand coronary heart disease and its causes, it is important to know how the heart works, how it can be damaged, and what can be done to keep it healthy. But for many people, finding this information, presented in terms they can understand, is not always easy. For this reason, AHAF has produced a new booklet that answers these and many other questions in clear and concise language.

In addition to answering many of the most commonly asked questions concerning coronary heart disease, this new publication also provides a list of additional references covering such topics as proper diet, exercise, preventive care, and what to do after suffering a heart attack.

"Some Answers About Coronary Heart Disease" has been published as a community service by AHAF as part of the Foundation's Coronary Heart Disease Research program, which provides funding for heart disease research projects. It is available to the public at no cost. To obtain additional copies of this publication for groups or special events, write or call the American Health Assistance Foundation, 15825 Shady Grove Road, Suite 140, Rockville, MD 20850, 1-800-227-7998.

The American Health Assistance Foundation is a non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to fund scientific research of age-related and degenerative diseases, educate the public about these diseases; and provide financial assistance to Alzheimer's disease patients and their caregivers.

Student Guilty Of Loan Fraud For Failure To Register With Selective Service

The first man to be prosecuted for fraudulently stating on a federal student loan form that he had registered with Selective Service has pleaded guilty. Carl N. Veilleux stated on forms for a federal student college financial aid grant that he had registered with the Selective Service System when, in fact, he had not.

The Solomon Amendment to the Military Service Act, sponsored by Rep. Gerald Solomon (R-NY), states that men who are required to register with Selective Service and fail to do so are ineligible for student financial aid under Title IV of the Higher Education Act of 1965. The categories of aid covered by the Solomon Amendment include Pell Grants, Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student Loans, and State Student Incentive Grant Programs.

Applicants for Title IV student aid who are of registration age must sign a Statement of Compliance certifying that they are registered or that they are not required to be registered. A Memorandum of Understanding between Selective Service and the Department of Education (DOE) was signed in December 1985. Under the agreement, DOE provides Selective Service with lists of Pell Grant applicants and recipients. These names are checked against registration files. The registration status of young men receiving other types of loans is also verified. Veilleux is the first man to be prosecuted under this program.

Selective Service Director Samuel K. Lessey Jr. stated that, "We are pleased with the cooperation Selective Service has received over the past several years from the Department of Education. Their assistance has helped us to carry out the intent of the Solomon Amendment."

Veilleux entered a plea of guilty to one count of student loan fraud. As part of the agreement, Veilleux, not yet 26 years of age, agreed to register with the Selective Service System on or before June 29, 1989. Once a young man turns 26 Selective Service can no longer accept his registration. He further agreed to pay back to the United States government the amount of student loan money he fraudulently obtained in the sum of $5,083. In addition, United States Magistrate Jerome Niedermeier sentenced Veilleux to a suspended sentence, placed him on an eighteen month period of probation, and made an express condition of probation that he repay the $5,083 in student loan monies.

Representative Solomon commented, "If a young man is going to accept the benefits that his country has to offer, then he must be willing to accept the responsibilities that come with them."

Young men must register with Selective Service within 30 days of their eighteenth birthday at any U.S. post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to 5 years in prison, and possible loss of some federal benefits.

A Vestal Will Continue Baird Ag Teaching

A Vestal will continue to teach vocational agriculture at Baird High School, but it will be the new generation.

Danny Vestal, a graduate of Baird High School and Tarleton State University, has been hired by the school board to replace his father, Dick Vestal, who retired this spring after 28 years as Baird ag teacher.

Danny also attended Cisco Junior College and is currently working on his agricultural degree at Texas Tech University. He taught vocational agriculture at Grapevine High School one year, then at Brady High School for 11 years. He has been the agriculture teacher at Hawley High School since 1986.

Weekly Health Tip

HOW MUCH FIBER?

Don't go to extremes about fiber in the diet; 25 to 35 grams daily are considered adequate. Too much fiber inhibits the absorption of important nutrients and can cause gas, diarrhea, and bloating. Since fiber attracts water into your intestines, it is important to drink enough liquid to keep everything moving through the intestines and to prevent constipation. For health, consume 8 glasses of water daily.

Your better health is our concern.

Nutrition Heats Up The Barbecue This Summer

The nutrition issue has gone out the back door this summer as Americans are bringing their health-conscious eating habits to the barbecue. Cholesterol content is the number one concern of the barbecuing population, according to a recent survey of what's cooking for summer 1989.

Sodium, calories, and sugar follow in diminishing order of importance, according to a nationwide poll commissioned by Weber-Stephen Products Co., manufacturer of charcoal and gas grills.

America's obsession with good nutrition has grown significantly in the last decade as health-conscious consumers are finding that keeping in shape doesn't stop at the jogging track. Instead, maintaining a healthy diet is running neck and neck with exercise as evidenced by the proliferation of "lite" and natural foods from restaurants to the supermarket shelf. And now, according to the Weber study, it's becoming a hot topic in the backyard.

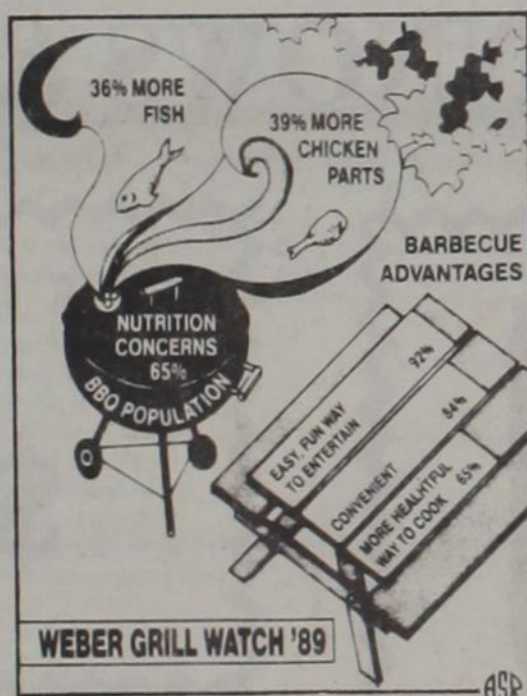

Supporting these findings is the fact that people are grilling more chicken and fish. More than one-third of the people who barbecue chicken (nine out of 10 barbecuers) are grilling it more often than two years ago. And while more than half the barbecue population grills fish, more than one-third of this group is also barbecuing it more frequently.

But it's not just the meal that's at issue, it's the cooking method, too. According to 65 percent of the survey respondents, outdoor grilling is seen as more healthful than indoor cooking. This may be attributed to the fact that fats drip away from foods being grilled, while flavor gets seared in.

"Barbecue trends reveal telling information about today's lifestyles," said Jennifer Davidoff, director of marketing at Weber. "Barbecuing is a great way to enjoy family and friends and a great way to entertain. So you can bet that when something like nutrition shows up as a concern to the barbecue population, it has affected the country's style of living."

The American Way

Underscoring Davidoff's remarks is the fact that during any given week, nearly 45 million barbecues are fired up to prepare a meal. According to the survey, 93 percent of the barbecue population—that's 53 percent of total U.S. households—barbecue at least once a week.

Survey results also indicated that most people don't need a special occasion to break out the barbecue. Eighty-one percent cited casual entertaining as the most frequent occasion for barbecuing, followed by most ordinary weekends at 74 percent.

The odds are also good that if it's a summer holiday, the fare is barbecued: the Fourth of July tops the list at 73 percent, followed by Labor Day (68%), and Memorial Day (61%).

It's His "Show," he says

Whatever the occasion, the debate is heated over who's actually doing the barbecuing—where the battle of the sexes continues to rage. In fact, it's the old "he says black, she says white" routine carted out to the backyard.

This was especially evident when both men and women were asked to agree or disagree with the statement: "the woman in our house is cooking more on the barbecue than she used to." The results: only one out of 10 males agreed completely, compared to nearly half of the females.

So who's on first? Men account for about two-thirds of the barbecue chefs, which means men will most likely be the ones grilling the fish and chicken this summer.

Rowden News

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

This has been a hot humid Saturday. Light showers fell early today. Some families in the community were home on the 4th of July holiday.

The funeral for Nellie Burks Arrington was held in Abilene Thursday. Eight sons and five daughters survive. Nellie and Joe Burks lived near the family homeplace in the early years of their marriage. The couple moved to Cross Plains several years before his death. Nellie has been in poor health

Proper Grazing On Stress Grass

Due to good rains within the last month, grasses have greened up and begun to grow. But even so, because of drought conditions the last two years, many of the native grasses in Callahan County are still in low vigor. Because of this grasses should be properly grazed in order to allow them to regain their vigor.

"By properly grazing grasses, a rancher will assure himself that the higher forage and palatable grasses, such as little bluestem and sideoats grama, will remain on his rangeland and increase," says Tony Baeza, Range Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

A general rule to follow in order to maintain healthy and vigorous grass is "graze half and leave half." A rancher should keep his eye on the key grass in each pasture. In Callahan County this will usually be little bluestem, sideoats grama, or buffalo grass. Once half of that grass species growth has been taken on the average, he should remove his livestock and let that pasture rest.

By leaving half of the growth, the plant will still be able to take in sunlight and convert it to food. Contrary to popular belief, a plant manufactures 95 percent of its food through its leaves, not through its roots. A grass will gather carbon dioxide in the presence of sunlight through its leaves. It will then combine it with water and minerals it picks up through its roots from the soil to make food for itself. Any excess food a plant produces, will be stored in its root system. It will use this reserve to put initial growth and survive during dry weather.

"Because of dry conditions the past two years, many pastures were grazed heavier than usual so the grass plants did not have any leaves to gather sunlight. This prevented the grasses from manufacturing any food for itself and had to call upon its reserves to sustain it during that time and also to put up initial growth this year. Thus many plants are starting from scratch this year in building up its reserve and at the same time manufacturing food to grow and sustain," says Baeza.

Baeza encouraged anyone interested in grass management to contact the Soil Conservation Service at (915) 854-1349 or go to their office on the third floor of the County Courthouse in Baird.

The services of the Soil Conservation Service are available to anyone regardless of race, creed, color, sex, religion or national origin.

WHICH EMPLOYEES ARE EXEMPT FROM OVERTIME PAY?

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I am an assistant manager for a grocery chain based in Texas. I am on salary and required to work unlimited hours. Can Texas employers work a salaried person more than 48 hours? My company says they can.

— S.D.
Fort Worth, Tx.

Dear S.D.: Your question falls under the jurisdiction of the Wage and Hour Division of the U.S. Department of Labor. Employees who are exempt from the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act do not receive time and a half overtime pay for hours worked in excess of 40 a week.

Very generally speaking, professionals, executives, and managers are exempt from overtime pay requirements. The status of assistant managers may depend upon the number of employees supervised and the percentage of time spent supervising as opposed to performing the same kind of work that the subordinates perform. You should contact the Department of Labor to see if you have legal grounds for complaint. If your position does qualify as exempt, then your recourse would be to discuss your dissatisfaction with

Mary Scott
Nabers

TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY

the employer and, if a satisfactory compromise cannot be reached, to decide whether you wish to continue working in this particular field or for this particular employer.

Dear Commissioner Nabers: I am a retired U.S. Air Force officer and am currently employed by a Texas corporation. It is my understanding that if I were laid off I would not be eligible for unemployment benefits because of my military retirement income. If in fact that is true, is the corporation I work for still required to pay unemployment insurance taxes on me?

— R.H.
Austin, Tx.

Dear R.H.: It is not true that military retirement income automatically disqualifies one from receiving unemployment insurance benefits. Social Security is the only form of pension benefit which is always deductible from unemployment benefits. Other forms of pension income are deductible only if the employer from whom one receives the retirement income is also a base period employer on the claim for unemployment insurance benefits.

The base period on any claim is the first four of the last five completed quarters prior to the date of the claim. If you have been working for the Texas corporation about a year and a half, then any last wages received from the military would no longer appear in the base period of a claim and your military retirement would not affect any benefits to which you might be entitled. If, on the other hand, you have only recently retired from the military and begun work for the corporation, any benefits you might be eligible to receive as a result of separating from the corporation would be offset by your military retirement.

The Texas corporation DOES have to report and pay unemployment taxes on your earnings.

Mary Scott Nabers represents all Texas employers. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 TEC Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Tx. 78778.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

Wow! Weren't the rains just wonderful!! There was a lake down on the highway! We have a nice cool breeze this Monday morning.

When I went to the highway to get my paper this morning, I discovered a lot of pears on one of my trees. I thought the late freeze had gotten them all. They are so small, they look more like plums than pears.

We had a good meeting of the AARP on Monday of last week — good attendance, good program and a lot of good food at lunch time. We had good attendance in Sunday School and church yesterday — a good music program and a very timely message from the pastor.

My next-door neighbor, Sherry, comes by often to check on me and to make sure that I am okay. I appreciate her concern. When she came by last Saturday, she had a young niece with her — a precious chubby youngster.

Betty Beggs' 'ole sore foot' is improving slowly. She says she is inclined to be very impatient and tries to use it too much. J.T. went with his sons, Rusty of Colorado and Rex of Cross Plains, and their daughters, Nikki and Charissa, to a motorcycle race near Waco recently.

Sally Roady had a good report this morning. Her 'ole sore leg' is doing just fairly well — she tried to use it too much at times. She reported on their 4th of July activities. There were about twenty-five at Art and Bertie Roady's in Abilene and at Fort Phantom Hill Lake with Bob and Sue McNeil's. They had a big fish fry. They visit Ms. Nettie at the nursing home nearly every day. Cindy and Charlie visit them often, also Joe and Beverly at Lake Brownwood.

I was elated one day last week when I was embraced by Nita and Buddy Thate at the grocery store. I had not seen them in a long time. They both look just great.

My telephone failed me this morning — two or three numbers rang just once, then disconnected. I don't understand, but hope for better luck next time. I didn't get Jewel Foster — she was in Sunday School and church yesterday. I didn't get through to the Norman Lee's this morning.

Slow down your electric meter!

You can help slow down your meter and lower your cooling bills by following these tips:

- Set your thermostat on 78° or higher and use ceiling or portable fans to help circulate the air.
- Have your air conditioner serviced annually and once a month, check the filter. A dirty filter can keep your air conditioner from working efficiently.
- Keep doors, windows, and drapes firmly closed to keep cool air in and heat out.
- Protect ceiling and walls with adequate insulation. Make sure cracks around windows, doors, pipes and wiring are tightly sealed with caulking and weatherstripping.
- Use heat producing appliances, like ranges, dishwashers, and dryers during the cooler part of the day.

...CROSS PLAINS LIBRARY, Cross Plains, Texas, open Monday through Friday 1-5 p.m., Librarian, Billie R. Loving, and one green thumb worker, Juanita Thornton. The library has 8,000 volumes. Books for all ages, is associated with the Big Country Library System, and can interlibrary loan from all states.

The library has large print books; an excellent Texas Collection; an unusual Robert E. Howard Collection; two special programs for children each year — pre-school children Nov. to May, and 1st through 6th grade, 6 weeks during summer.

If you missed the opportunity to purchase a copy of "I REMEMBER CALLAHAN," there are still a few left in the Cross Plains Library for sale at $55 (includes tax), add $3 if mailing is desired.

...Francis L. FOWLER, 1401 Constitution Ave., Fort Collins, CO 80521, phone: (303) 484-5850, is looking for any information about William Worth and Nell Beatrice (WHALEN) CARLIN and their two children, William Worth Jr. and Anita.

William Worth CARLIN was killed in an auto accident one mile south of Strawn, TX, 1 Nov. 1934 at which time residence was 1123 Desdemona, Ranger, TX. In 1936 Nell, the two children, and perhaps her widowed mother were living in Ranger at the same address.

Appreciate all correspondence and am willing to share my information about other CARLINS.

...Most of us who are researching our families love to get into the attics of our grandparents, etc., looking for old relics to help us know the person we're researching.

In this space I'd like to share something my grandmother left me, something which verified what I already knew about her.

"SOMETHING GOOD" Author Unknown

"Wouldn't this old world be better,
If the folks we meet would say —
I know something good about you —
and treat us just that way?"

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy,
If each handclasp warm and true,
Carried with it this assurance —
I know something good about you!

Wouldn't life be a lot more happy,
If the good that's in us all,
Were the only thing about us
That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy,
If we praised the good we see —
For there's such a lot of goodness,
In the worst of you and me!

Wouldn't it be nice to practice
That fine way of thinking too —
You know something good about me
I know something Good about you!"
