'Kid Talk'

By VANDA KING Editor

If you have a child playing Pee Wee or Little League Baseball, you have probably been spending a lot of time at your home away from home, the baseball field. It makes for great entertainment between watching the games and watching the little children playing along the fence.

My daughter, Leah, took her baby kitten, Shortcake, to the game the other night and he was quite a hit with all the "little people." This was of course, second only to the overwhelming fascination of the water fountain. We have to have the thirstiest kids in

Back to the cat, all these three to five-year-olds really fell for Shortcake and the conversations that transpired were darling. Erin Stephens, 5-yearold daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Stephens, announced that they had a bunch of kit-tens (with very distinct pronounciation) at home, but she had forgotten the number. "They just meow, meow, and meow all the time," she exclaimed.

This I could relate to, since Shortcake seems to have an amplifier attached to his meower. You could imagine the noise several could produce.

Then Kevin Cheshier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cheshier, came by and gave the kitty a few soft pats and stated, "He loves me!" The fresh innocence of childhood is so sweet. Seth Fortune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fortune, was walking with Kevin and petted the kitten, too. He told us about his cat who had run away. He said, "We use to shoot the BB gun at him sometime." Guess that determined why that cat left.

He looked at Kevin and said, "Do you have a sister?" Kevin replied, "Nope." Seth looked at him real disappointed and said, "You mean you don't have any sisters at your house?" It seemed like that was a real important commodity at his house, especially since Lisa is the only girl out of the Fortune children.

After everyone had taken turns strolling the kitten around on the leash, Kristin Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hunter, came by for feeding time. They all watched as he took his milk from the eye dropper. Kristin then wrapped Shortcake in her shirt-tail and he went off to sleep.

I'll admit I missed a few plays, in case the one time Kye got to throw a ball in, but I sure did enjoy the com-

Oh yes, Kevin told us a story about his turtle who ran away from home, and on the way out of the ball park a fairly large turtle was crossing the highway. As soon as Leah and I saw it we looked at each other and Leah said, "Do you reckon that's Kevin's turtle,

We laughed and talked about their little faces with bright eyes glowing as they talked like they were adults. Art Linkletter's hit show, "Kids Say the Darndest Things," couldn't have been more amusing than these little cuties.

What Is ALS?

By EVELYN COKER

Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) sometimes referred to as "Lou" Gehrig's disease that attacks nerve cells and pathways in the brain and spinal cord.

Affected patients in the later stages are totally paralyzed, yet the mind remains unaffected. ALS is one of the most devastating of disorders which affect the function of nerves and muscles.

There is no cure or cause, as with any serious illness it tears at every fiber of the patient and their family both physically, emotionally, and financially.

At long last much is being done to educate the public and medical professionals, as hardly anyone knows what ALS is.

It is my hope that none who read this article will ever have to deal and try to cope with this awful disease, as my family has since my husband was diagnosed with ALS.

People Disabled By AIDS/HIV Infection May Qualify For Benefits

Persons unable to work due to AIDS - Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome — or other illnesses caused by HIV infection, may qualify for monthly disability payments under Social Security or supplemental security income (SSI), Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene said today. Social Security pays disability benefits to workers who suffer a physical or mental impairment which is expected to keep them from working a year or more or to result in death. Applicants who have documented AIDS, are not working, and meet the non-disability requirements for Social Security coverage generally qualify under this definition, Hammons said.

He also noted that other people infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) that causes AIDS and whose condition prevents them from working may also qualify for disability payments. Commonly called "Aids Related Complex" or "ARC." the condition is diagnosed from symptoms generally associated with the AIDS virus, but is not fully developed AIDS.

"ARC cases are evaluated on a case-by-case basis," Hammons said. "If the person's condition is so severe that he or she is unable to work, benefits are generally payable."

Generally, there is a waiting period of 5 months from the onset of the disability before Social Security disability benefits can start. However, there is no waiting period under SSI, a program which Social Security also administers, and which makes monthly disability payments to disabled or blind persons with limited income and resources. In addition, a "presumptive" disability decision may be made if it is highly probable that the person's condition is disabling. Presumptive SSI disability payments may be made for up to 3 months.

SSI payments are made from Federal general revenues, not the Social Security trust funds. No prior work is required for SSI payments.

Social Security disability beneficiaries with low benefits may also qualify for SSI if they meet the income and resource limitations.

'Because disability applications generally take longer to process than other kinds of Social Security claims. people who have been diagnosed with AIDS or ARC and are not working should apply for disability benefits immediately." Hammons said. They may start by calling the nearest Social Security office. The telephone number in Abilene is 698-1360. For those living outside Abilene, there is a toll free number 1-800-234-5772.

Let history by your tour guide

For generations, the unique heritage that is Texas' has been a source. of fascination for Texans and non-Texans alike. From frontier life to oil booms, Paleo-Indians to politics, bridges to courthouses, Texas history is the stuff of which movies and legends are made. Fascination with Texas history and historic sites is a prime motivator in bringing tourists to the state. It was a similar fascination with Texas history and a commitment to preserve it that led a group of historically minded men and women to plunge ahead in 1962 with a project that today is known as the State Marker Program of the Texas Historical Commission.

More than 10,000 Official Texas Historical Markers dot the highways and byways of the state, including the granite markers placed in 1936 as part of the observance of the 100th anniversary of Texas' independence from Mexico. In addition, a special series of markers was placed in commemoration of the Civil War centennial, as well as a sprinkling of private markers that have been approved for listing in agency publications. The majority, however, are cast-aluminum plaques and medallions whose topics range form large cattle ranches to small family cemeteries.

one of the most ambitious and successful in the nation. Much of its success can be attributed to the initial and continuing emphasis on the importance of local history in shaping the broader patterns of Texas' heritage. From the beginning, the marker program has relied heavily on the participation of local citizens and to this day county historical commissions around the state play an integral role in the marker process.

The Texas program is viewed as

So how do these markers come about? All historical markers in Texas are initiated and funded at the local level, where the research and a documented historical narrative are completed by an interested person or persons. Criteria and procedures involved in obtaining a state marker are contained in the Official Texas Historical Marker Guidelines and Application Form available from the THC. Evaluation of the topics, coordination of the paperwork, and preparation of the texts that appear on the markers are handled by three staff members of the agency. The State Marker Committee, composed of members of the governor-appointed Texas Historical Commission, makes the final determinations on the eligibility of historical marker topics. State highway department officials cooperate in the placement of those markers that appear along the highway rights-of-way. All materials submitted in application for Official Texas Historical Markers remain on file with the THC.

Most markers are purely educational in nature and convey no legal restrictions to the property on which they stand. Approximately onefourth of Texas markers, however, carry the Recorded Texas Historic Landmark (RTHL) designation for the structures that they mark. One positive method of identification for this designation is the round building medallion; another is the appearance of the line, "Recorded Texas Historic Landmark," at the bottom of the marker text. These properties, which are cited as worthy of preservation for their architectural and historical associations, are given a measure of legal protection in that owners should notify the THC before structural and certain cosmetic changes are made to the designated structures. THC staff architects then have an opportunity to assist the owners with their projects in such a way that the historic appearance of the building will be preserved.

Now all this is not to say that every Official Texas Historical Marker is completely accurate and should be taken at face value. History is not a static medium, and new facts sized light on old interpretations all the time. Markers are, however, a unique source of history for tourists and residents alike. As signposts of our heritage, they provide a convenient excuse for roadweary parents to pull off the side of the road, quiet the children in the back seat, and read about some segment of Texas history.

So, as you travel across the state, let history be your tour guide. If you read a marker and would like more information about it, jot down the title and the location, and call or write the State Marker Program of the Texas Historical Commission at P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, 512/463-6100.

Although over $32 BILLION were paid out in veterans benefits last year. billions more went unclaimed in the past few years.

Every year eligibility for benefits and the array of available benefits are changed and very few veterans or their survivors keep up with the latest rules. Because of this, and changes in their circumstances many veterans, their families and survivors are now entitled to money and other benefits from their state and the Federal government even though they were not eligible in the

These were the findings of a study group of the Consumer Education Research Center, a 20-year-old national nonprofit consumer group. They found that over one-fourth of the money paid in veterans benefits goes to persons who never served in the armed forces of the United States. Most of these were related by blood or marriage to veterans but many were not. Others were members of the armed forces of countries who fought with us against our enemies.

The Center has compiled a book describing the latest rules on available benefits and how to qualify for those benefits. The 192-page COMPLETE GUIDE TO FEDERAL AND STATE BENEFITS FOR VETERANS. THEIR FAMILIES, AND SUR-VIVORS with a foreword by Sen. Robert Dole and a separate book containing information and forms to obtain marriage, death, divorce and other vital documents needed to substantiate claims is now available. My, oh my! This wind is driving me mad! I know I shouldn't complain. The weather will be "calm and hot" soon enough - times when we will wish for even a breeze.

I called my "big Sis" (Bernice Carter) in Cisco on Saturday afternoon. I learned that she recently had a terrible fall in her carport. She had tripped on a floor mat and fell flat on her face and struck some steps out there. She called until a next-door neighbor heard her and came to her rescue - and took her to a doctor. She is recovering nicely, thank the Good

On Sunday, our Sunday School attendance was at least forty persons short. Church attendance was away off also. Mr. Randall Purvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Purvis, led the song service. He sang some beautiful 'specials' also.

'Sally Roady has been to the doctors' offices at various times this past week. She and Cindy were in Baird on business on Thursday. Their son, George, came in from Dallas on Friday; he went back to Dallas on Monday. They visited Ms. Nettie Roady several times — at the nursing home. They visited Billie Sue McNeil at Humana Hospital on Sunday. Sally said "she looks good." They visited Art, Bertie, and Calvin Roady at Fort Phantom on Sunday.

My nice neighbor, Helen Tillotson, always lifts my spirits with her cheerful voice and delightful 'outlook' on life. I appreciate her. She had no news this morning.

Betty and J.T. Beggs didn't answer this morning. The 'phone at the Rex Beggs' home in town gave a busy signal all morning.

Ms. Jewel Foster's 'phone didn't answer this morning, and there was no

I talked to Marianne Taff, first time in a while. Their granddaughter, Darcie Graves, spent Friday night with them. She is going to Washington, D.C. soon, to a job there (that reminds me of the sixteen months I spent there - with the Navy Department - many years ago). They recently visited Venita Roberson in Comanche - aton business recently. A young man from town, named Phillips, mowed my grass out here he did a terrific job, which I appreciate.

One day last week, I discovered a strange 'rodent' on my front sidewalk. I killed it with a leaf rake. Later, I learned that it was a "ground squirrel". The next morning, there were three or four tiny babies on the driveway back of my car. They escaped into a deep hole nearby. Some of them are still around, but I doubt if they will live long without a mother to

Mr. Robert L. Berko, executive director of the consumer group, says that many survivors of veterans are unaware that they might be eligible to receive money, medical care, educational assistance, help in buying a home or other benefits. In fact, eligibility and benefits change constantly and some people ineligible in previous years are now able to start receiving money. The study found that many people are unaware that they are considered dependents or survivors of veterans. These include those involved in illegal marriages, those who remarried after the death or disability of a veteran, children born out of wedlock to a veteran, parents of a veteran and even dependent grandchildren. Any of these may be eligible for benefits.

Mr. Berko says that the study questioned veterans about benefits and found that the majority were unfamiliar with most of the benefits now being granted under Federal and state laws. Even veterans now collecting were unaware of other benefits for which they were eligible and could be collecting.

For instance, disabled veterans can receive apparel allowances if they use wheel chairs, artifical limbs or any prosthetic device that can wear or damage clothing and, if they have a spouse in need of care, they can receive an allowance to pay someone to provide that care.

"Even though the Congress and the various state legislatures have provided for money and services to be given to veterans and their dependents," Mr. Berko states, "unless the people know they are eligible and apply they will not collect anything."

As Sen. Bob Dole, a decorated veteran and one familiar with the bureaucracy, says in his foreword, "Mr. Berko's book goes a long way in helping America's veterans cut through the red tape so they can receive the benefits they earned and deserve."

The Children's Miracle Network Telethon to be held June 3rd and 4th on national television, is a benefit for children who are ill or handicapped. Sponsored by the Osmond Foundation, the CMNT charges no administrative expenses, is staffed by volunteers, and features stars such as Marie Osmond, Merlin Olsen, Marilyn McCoo and John Schneider.

All Dairy Queen labor devoted to CMNT is also on a volunteer basis, with participating Dairy Queen employees devoting their own time.

In 1987 and 1988, Dairy Queen in Cross Plains (yes, in a town of some 1,000 people!) raised more CMNT money than any other Dairy Queen in Texas; the CMNT money raised by the Cross Plains Dairy Queen was $4,400 in 1987, and $5,400 in 1988. This didn't happen naturally, it took lots and lots of hard work and planning on the part of Ophelia and her crew.

This year, Ophelia is planning a beauty pageant, a quilt drawing, a multi-attraction event at the Dairy Queen, and more. That's because Ophelia and her crew want to beat their own record in 1989. Won't you help Ophelia help the kids?

Some of the hottest days of this year has been this week with over 100 degree temperatures.

Grain harvesting began this week. Tommie Harris and sons, Don, Nicky, and Jimmy have combines in different fields. Tony Steele was combining for Chris West. The extreme heat has helped dry the grain faster this year.

Dorothy Reynolds spent two days this week with her daughter, Ellen Carpenter and her family in Azle. She reports the baby, Dalton Scott, was doing fine. Dorothy attended the graduation exercises in Cross Plains Friday night. Tan and Janet Flippin and son, Drew of Midlothian, were there to see his brother, Tye Flippin, graduate.

Congratulations to Misty Davis, daughter of Don and Pam Harris. She is the community's only graduate.

Tonya, Bill, and Connie Steele also attended graduation exercises Friday night and were members of the school band that performed during the pro-

Sunday, Robert and Dorothy Watson and sons, Cody and Wyatt, attended the Memorial Day service at the Elmdale Baptist Church. Wyatt played Taps during the service.

Gretna Payne visited Joyce Odom Wednesday afternoon.

Joyce Odom and this writer were at the Bevo and Dorothy Webb ranch for a fish fry lunch with other members of the Cross Plains Garden Club.

Julie Patterson and baby son, Justin of Copperas Cove, spent the weekend with her parents, Bob and Kathy Dye. Julie and son also accompanied her grandmother, Edna Dye, to Abilene Friday.
