School Board Adopts New Attendance Policy

The Texas State Board of Education adopted a new attendance policy for students in grades 7-12, affecting all Texas schools. Each school in the State of Texas must adhere strictly to this attendance policy; which requires each student to attend a minimum of 80 days each semester in every course taken in order to receive credit for the

The following outline describes the attendance policy set by the C.P.I.S.D. School Board at their November 14, 1989 meeting.

In response to the State Board of Education emergency adoption of a student absence rule in late October 1989, we are directed to adopt new policy retroactive to September 1,

Attendance Management For Cross Plains High School And Junior High (7-12)

I. Basic Premise All students must attend a minimum of 80 days each semester to receive credit for each course taken in grades

7-12.

II. Principal's Role A. Retains authority under Texas Education Code 21.035 (b) to classify absences as excused or unexcused at the time the student returns to school.

B. Refers a student to the attendance committee if the student has enough absences to make it impossible to attend 80 days in a semester.

C. Refers students to the attendance committee if there is doubt to the validity of excuses for absences or if suspicious patterns of absences are noticed.

III. Documentation

A. Parents are required to send notes stating the reason for all student

B. The attendance committee may require external documentation of illness or medical conditions, such as records of doctor appointments, statements from physicians acknowledging chronic conditions, reasons other documentation that would account for suspicious circumstances or patterns of student absences.

IV. Attendance Committee

A. The attendance committee will be composed of 3 members:

- 1. High School Principal
- 2. Elementary Principal 3. Counselor
- B. The committee will meet as needed to review excessive absences, to review requested documentation concerning student absences, or to hear oral presentation from parents as to the nature of their student's absence as requested.

C. The attendance committee will have the sole authority to determine alternatives for regaining credit when students are absent to the extent that 80 days per semester is not possible. V. Notices of Excessive Absence

A. Report cards will show the number of days in each semester and will show a record of student

B. Warning letters will be sent when students have accumulated approximately half of the allowable absences. VI. Make Up Work

A. All missed work, including tests, can be made up, regardless of the reason for an absence.

B. Students are responsible for obtaining missed assignments and completing them within the allotted time (set by administrative rules).

1. Make up work will be due on a day per class missed for a day after return to class basis. For example: missed Monday - returned Tuesday - make up work due on Wednesday.

C. If an absence is excused, no grade adjustment will be imposed if the make up work is turned in on time. If the work is turned in a day late, the maximum grade will be an 80. After two days late, the assignment will not be graded and no credit will be received for the make up work. All decisions on grade adjustments are to be directed to the building principal.

D. If an absence is unexcused, a grade adjustment will be imposed. A maximum grade of 80 will be in effect for make up work turned in on time. If the work is turned in a day late, the maximum grade will be a 70. After two days late, the assignment will not be graded and no credit will be received for the make up work. All decisions on grade adjustments are to be directed to the building principal.

E. Should a teacher not comply with student requests for make up work, the student is to notify the building principal. The principal will then decide if there were extenuating circumstances concerning the situation and will take appropriate action. VII. Regaining Credit

A. For students with excessive absences that do not permit their attendance for 80 school days in each course taken each semester the attendance committee will decide alternatives for regaining credit. Alternatives could range from mandatory tutorials, completion of additional assignments fulfilling student contracts, to mandatory attendance at Saturday School. These options or any other alternatives are to be made by the attendance committee alone.

B. When the committee is not satisfied with evidence presented; or no evidence is offered concerning absences, it may impose conditions on awarding of credit or deny credit altogether.

VIII. Tardies will be considered in cumulative totals necessitating the assignment of alternatives for regaining credit. For this purpose, 3 une cused tardies will equal 1 unexcused absence; 5 excused tardies will equal one excused absense in a class.

IX. Pre-Arranged Days The district realizes that there may be instances when a parent feels it necessary for their child to miss school for reasons not acceptable to state mandates. In this case, the absence must be considered unexcused, but prior arrangements can be made for the pending work to be missed. If the parent requests, the attendance committee may review the situation and decide on the assignment of alternative attendance for each absence up to 4 pre-arranged absences.

X. Absences Due to Extracurricular Activities

A. The ten day rule for extracurricular absences is still in effect for participation in activities approved by the State Board of Education.

B. The new State Board rules will not allow an extension of any attendance requirements regarding extracurricular activities. Students are not permitted to regain credit or to be given make-up priviledges for any absence in excess of the 10 day rule whether or not the absence is recorded as excused or unexcused.

XI. Appeals

A. Step 1 of the appeals process would involve a decision of the attendance committee to the superintendent.

B. Step 2 would involve an appeal of the superintendent's decision concerning attendance committee action to the local school board.

Volunteer Income Tax Program

Many taxpayers need help filling out their tax returns and yet they can't afford to pay for professional tax preparation services. What do they do? Turn to VITA — which stands for Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, a program of the Internal Revenue Ser-

VITA provides free tax help to lower income, elderly, handicapped and non-English speaking taxpayers. These volunteers help them fill out a simple tax return, such as Form 1040 EZ, Schedule A, or a basic Form 1040. VITA volunteers complete an IRS-sponsored training course. They also learn about such credits as the earned income credit, the child care credit, and the credit for the elderly as well as various deductions, such as those for medical and dental expenses.

The IRS is planning to provide VITA services in Cross Plains during the 1990 filing season and is seeking volunteers who would like to participate. People with all types of backgrounds can be VITA volunteers, and because the IRS provides training and training materials, the volunteers do not need to have prior experience with tax return preparation.

We think that VITA is the kind of program that can be very beneficial for taxpayers who need free tax help. The program is also beneficial to the volunteers in that they are able to expand their knowledge of tax law as well as to help others. If you are interested in volunteering or would like more information about VITA call Linda Creswell or Frank Ward at (915) 676-5709.

Annual Tour Of Homes Sun., Dec. 3

By DORA SMITH

Marlene and Andy Sanders' beautiful country home will be featured this year on the Beta Sigma Phi's Annual Tour of Homes. The event will take place on Sunday, December 3, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The Sanders' home is unique because it mixes the old with the new to create a spacious 3,700 square foot living area. It sets on 135 acres and is located about three fourths of a mile off north Highway 206, turning by the County Show Barn.

The original part of the home is at least 80 years old, and contains the master bedroom with a fireplace, master bathroom, office, sewing room and a large entrance. The interior of the unique entrance is constructed of rough-out wood paneling, and contains a canning closet and two freezers for food storage. There is an inner, larger area of the entrance that features a new huge doll cabinet where Marlene's doll collection is on display.

The master bedroom is also walled with the rough paneling, and is decorated in earth tones. The master bath has an inside "outhouse" toilet, complete with a moon on the door and

To the side of the older section, the Sanders and their son-in-law, Ricky Carouth, built a new modern two-story addition. The lower level houses the large kitchen-dining area, living room, wash room, and a bathroom; while the upper level has two bedrooms, another bathroom, and their entertainment or "VCR" room.

The kitchen area also features the rough-out paneling. Ceramic tile is the flooring in the kitchen, entrance, washroom, and one bathroom. The remainder of the house is carpeted. Color schemes throughout the house are dominated by earth tones. Decor of interest includes Andy's knife collection and several paintings by Marlene, as well as some handcrafts. The new part has central heat and air, while the older section keeps the tradition of a fireplace and window units.

Exterior of the home is an attractive combination of siding and brick. A large cement porch across the front invites guests. To the side is a 15' X 30' above-ground swimming pool. A memosa tree from Oklahoma has survived many rough times, and now adorns the front yard. Marlene is working on an extensive flower bed.

Other homes to be on tour this year are those of Norma and Herman Vandiver, Judy and Randy Foster, and Deana and Randy Strickland. The members of Beta Sigma Phi invite everyone to enjoy and participate in the tour on Sunday. Refreshments will be served at the Foster home. Tickets are available for $4 each from any member or can be purchased at the homes. Maps will also be provided. Homes may be toured in any order.

IRS Has Refunds For 5,500 Texans

DALLAS - Over 5,500 Texans have Internal Revenue Service refund checks due them totaling almost $2.6 million. About 2,500 of these taxpayers reside in the north Texas area, according to Gary Booth, Director of the Dallas District.

"In the Dallas District, we are looking for 2,494 taxpayers whose refund checks were returned to us as undeliverable this year," said Booth. "The average refund is about $450, but the checks range all the way from $1 to $15,965.80."

Booth said the reasons for the inability of post offices to deliver the checks include an incorrect address, a taxpayer moving and not leaving a forwarding address, or an executor filing for a deceased taxpayer and using the last known address.

"When you consider that between 75-80 percent of the 2.9 million taxpayers in the Dallas District receive refunds each year, 2,496 may not seem like a large number, but to us

We did good! Last year the United Fund Drive for the Cross Plains area reached 83 percent of the goal. This year we have reached 87.6 percent, a substantial increase.

Is it possible that someone who intended to give has forgotten to go by Citizens State Bank or to drop a check in the mail? Or that someone has had an increase in salary, received a bonus, or won a prize? Or discovered a probable increase in income tax? Or simply has said to him/herself. Tuesday evening of last week, we had a wonderful evening at First Baptist Church - a bountiful meal at 6 p.m., a beautiful message and Thanksgiving service in the sanctuary, music, scriptural readings, prayers and personal testimonies.

On Thursday, I drove to my sister's home in Cisco. My brother, Max, and Wanda came and took us to our sister. Opal's home on the ranch near Breckenridge. My son and his family of Longview, my daughter and her family of Cleburne were among the forty-four family members who were there.

One family came from the state of Virginia, one came from Arkansas, others came from Abilene, Brady and other nearby areas. We had a wonderful day!

My son and his family brought me home late Thursday, then they spent the night and next day with Karen's mother, Doris Ann, and her grandmother, Lucile Callaway, also Benny and Gaynelle. They returned to Longview on Saturday.

Ms. Jewel Foster's brother, L.C. Akins of Cisco, also his three sons and their wives and children visited her during the weekend.

Make Sure Your Package Reaches Its Desination Safely—Prepare Packages

The Christmas season is close upon us, and the Postal Service will begin to receive an increased number of parcels. With the increase, the number of customers who fail to prepare their packages properly will also increase. This causes delay as well as damage to packages and postal equipment. Here are some packaging tips that may help ensure that your package reaches its destination safely.

First, select the proper container. The selection of a container usually depends on the physical characteristics of the item or items you mail — is the object heavy or light, large or small, durable or fragile, solid or liquid, round, square, or odd shaped? The container should be large enough to hold the contents plus adequate cushioning to prevent damage, but not so large as to permit shifting or jiggling of the contents. Fiberboard containers are generally strong enough to ship material of average weight and size. Paperboard boxes, similar to suit boxes, are acceptable for easy and average loads up to 10 pounds. Metal stayed paperboard boxes are acceptable for easy and average loads up to 20 pounds. Liquids should be sent in leak-proof interior and exterior containers. Powders should be packaged in sift-proof containers.

Second, the parcels must have sufficient cushion. There are many different types of suitable cushioning materials available, including polystyrene, shredded or rolled newspaper, "bubble" plastic, and fiberboard inserts. When several items are packaged in a container, they should be separated from each other and protected from outside forces. Even single items packed alone should be cushioned for safety.

Third, it is preferred that wrapping paper be omitted if the box itself is an adequate shipping container. However, wrapping paper equivalent to the strength of the average large grocery bag may be used if required. Filament-reinforced tape should be used for the closure and reinforcement of parcels whenever possible. Although twine and cord are permitted, it is preferred that they not be used. They tend to catch and bind in mail processing equipment. And finally, your parcel should be clearly marked with the address, including ZIP or ZIP+4 code, of both sender and receiver. The writing should be indelible ink or typed on a label and be easily readable. It is a good idea to place a list of the contents plus the name and address of both the sender and the recipient inside the package. This will help in the delivery of the parcel in the event that the outside address becomes illegible. Also, place special marking outside the parcels to alert Postal Service employees to the nature of the contents. Items containing breakables should be marked "Fragile" in three places - above the address, below the postage, and on the reverse side. If it contains food that may decay, mark "Perishable" in the same locations. Items with photographs or similar items should be marked "Do Not Bend," but only if you have protected the items with a stiffening material such as fiberboard. It cannot be assumed that the marking in itself will ensure that no damage occurs. The Post Office window clerk has a set of rubber stamps indicating special markings and will apply them to your parcel on request.

Make sure your package reaches its destination safely. Prepare packages properly.

New City Hall For Cross Plains

By BECKY McKEEHAN

The City of Cross Plains will be constructing a new City Hall on the corner of 7th Street and Main Street.

They are building the new City Hall because the current City Hall has a lot of termite and water damage, even though it has been exterminated several times, which includes drilling into the foundation. For example, there is extensive water damage in the safe room. In a hard rain, water runs down the north wall of it, and in a matter of minutes the water covers the floor in the front office. There is also extensive termite damage around all of the base boards in the front office, in the supply room, in the old record storage cabinets in the meeting room, and around a picture window on the south side of the front office.

The new City Hall will be approximately 1,200 to 1,300 square feet and cost about $50,000, which will come from general funds. The building will be a one story building made of metal with a brick or rock front. It will house the front office, the City Marshal's office, and the City Council's meeting room. All of the furniture from the current City Hall will be moved to the new location, except for the desk in the front office, which will be built into the new City Hall. The new building will have a nice parking area and a drive-through window for the customers' convenience.

The city is having plans drawn up by an architect now. When the plans are complete, the city will accept bids for the building of the new City Hall. According to Debbie Gosnell, City Manager of Cross Plains, they expect this process will be completed by January 1990. She also expects building will begin within 30 to 60 days after a bid is accepted.

The current City Hall will be either rented or leased after the new City Hall is built, and the Masonic Lodge will continue to use the second floor for their meetings. The supplies in the current supply room will either be left there or moved to another storage location here in town.

Oil And Gas Lease Sale Ushers In New Era Of Federal-State Cooperation

AUSTIN - The first-ever auction of federal oil and gas leases in Texas, which netted $325,465 in bids as of November 22, ushers in a new era of federal-state cooperation to develop energy resources in the state, said Railroad Commissioner James E. (Jim) Nugent.

Annual District 74-H Food Show Results

Holiday aromas filled the air Saturday, November 18, as 154 area 4-H'ers matched their cooking talents in the annual District 7 4-H Food Show in San Angelo.

In order to compete on the District level, each 4-H member must have won their division in their home county's food show. Participants not only displayed their dish, they were also judged on their knowledge of general nutrition and the nutritional value of their entry.

The show is a culmination of the Foods and Nutrition Projects taught in each of the 17 counties during the year. Trained volunteer adult and teen leaders conduct foods and nutrition projects for hundreds of 4-H'ers annually.

Sponsoring this year's food show was Angelo State University, Nathan's Jewelers, General Mills, DeCoty Coffee Co., GTE Southwest Incorporated, Morrison Milling Co. Target, West Texas Utilities, and Adams Extract Co.

Winning Best Senior Project Record was Denise Brown of Nolan Co. The Best Senior Menu category was Deron Robinson of Runnels County. The intermediate and junior menu categories were won by Missy Schafer of Menard Co. and Corissa Smith of Callahan County respectfully.

Baird 4-H member, Shannon Odom, daughter of Danny and Daniece Odom, placed second in the Intermediate main dish division. Other Callahan County participants and the awards received are: Corrisa Smith, blue ribbon; Misty May, blue ribbon; Jennifer Reece, red ribbon; Calley Conner, red ribbon; Kimberly Webb, blue ribbon; Kaci Duke, blue ribbon; Jennifer Wheeler, red ribbon and Jody Gerngross, red ribbon.

"This sale proves that the sharing of technology and energy data can lead to the development of previously untapped oil and gas resources in Texas, to the benefit of both federal and state governments," Nugent said.

The State of Texas will receive half of the revenues generated by the 17,344 acres of federal land leased today by the Bureau of Land Management for oil and gas development, according to the Railroad Commis-

Nugent said a four-year grant agreement signed between the Commission and the BLM last year put the Commission's sophisticated mapping computer to work plotting survey and well information for counties identified by BLM as candidates for federal leasing

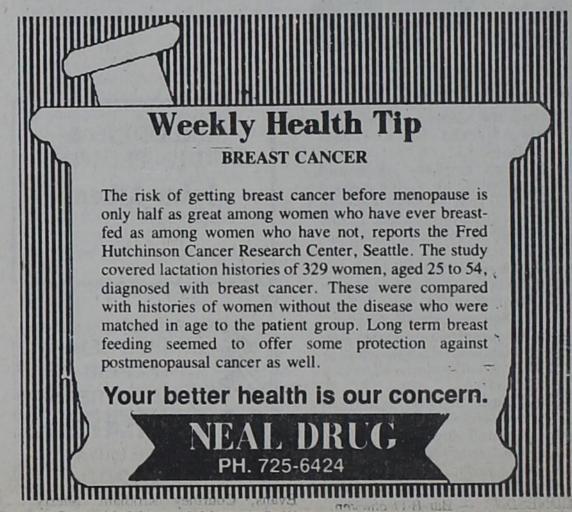

"In the months and years to come, we expect this cooperative venture to help identify additional federal land in Texas that has the potential for oil and gas development," Nugent said. "Our work will benefit not only federal and state government, but also the state's oil industry which will have access to the wealth of information these new computer maps provide."

Nugent said well data from the computer maps can spur new drilling in the state as operators use the maps to identify promising new areas.

"For example, the maps could be a boon for horizontal well drillers since many of these wells begin by reentering old well bores," Nugent said. "Our computer system can give drillers vital location and down-hole data."

The Railroad Commission began to develop its computer mapping system in 1985. For decades, location and other data on each of the state's hundreds of thousands of oil and gas wells waslaboriously hand-plotted on cloth maps. As time passed and more and more wells were added, many of the maps, particularly in areas of heavy drilling activity, became extremely cluttered and difficult to use.

The maps serve as an important reference tool for oil and gas operators searching for new places to drill. Some 60 people a day come to the Commission's map room for assistance in locating oil and gas resources. The Commission's computer mapping system provides crisp, clean maps showing precise well locations. Computerized data for each well bore is immediately available and copies of the maps in various scales can easily be made on special plotters. Computer-generated maps of 40 counties in the state are now available and base maps for many others are in various stages of development.

Texas Wheat Producers Set Symposium-Annual Meeting

A "Wheat Symposium" sponsored by the Texas Wheat Producers Board and the "Annual Meeting" of the Texas Wheat Producers Association have been set for November 30, at the Civic Center in cooperation with the Amarillo Farm and Ranch Show, according to Jack Norman, Howe, Chairman of the Board and Cagle Kendrick, Stratford, President of the Association.

Texas producers beleaguered by drought, disease, insects, hail, flood, freeze and changing government programs which have combined to reduce production by 50 percent, will face a multitude of decisions as they address resolutions directing their association's activities the coming year and into the '90's, the wheat leaders indicate.

Norman, who will chair the morning Symposium, said that registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the meeting room within the Farm and Ranch Show at the Amarillo Civic Center, Buchanan Street entrance.

The 9:30 a.m. program will begin with Dr. Ed Smith establishing the "Current Wheat Situation & Outlook" and "Producer Attitudes Toward a 1990 Farm Bill" as determined by a recent survey analysis. Dr. Smith is Extension Economist -Marketing and Policy at College Sta-

A 10:30 a.m. presentation relative to "Developing & Maintaining Wheat Markets in Today's World" will be made by Winston Wilson, President of U.S. Wheat Associates, Washington D.C. U.S. Wheat Associates is the foreign market development arm of wheat producers supported by checkoff programs through their boards and commissions. Wilson, a native of Quanah, is past president of the Texas and National Association of Wheat Growers and a former Deputy Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. Keith Bjerke, Administrator, ASCS-USDA, Washington will address the session at 11 o'clock. It is expected that Bjerke will discuss administrative policies dealing with current issues such as implementation of the 1989 Disaster Relief Program, the Conservation Compliance Program and PL 480 and EEP export plans.

Senator Phil Gramm will address the luncheon session hosted by the farm chemical industry - Mobay, DuPont and Ciba Geigy. Bill Nelson, Executive Vice President of the Association indicates that the organization's staff is often times in daily and hourly contact with the Senator's office as wheat related legislation is moving through the legislature. Nelson said that, "Senator Gramm's remarks will be especially important to producers as we prepare to start debate on the 1990 Farm Bill."

Kendrick will chair the afternoon farm policy and business session of the Association. In a 1 p.m. address, Ms. Margie Williams will discuss current

In addition to the new pledges, members who attended were Vernelle Bishop, Sarah Brashear, Debra Childers, Kim Childers, Mary Dunn, Bobbie Johnston, Melissa Kemp, Joyce McCoy, Margaret McNeel, Nora Odom, Janice Phillips, Carol Rogers, Beverly Ross, Dora Smith, Pat Stephens, Sandy Yates, and Wanda Merryman.

The next meeting will be at Melissa Kemp's on December 11, at 7 p.m.

legislative issues of interest to wheat producers. Ms. Williams is the Vice President of Public Affairs of the National Association of Wheat Growers in Washington. It is expected that she will discuss the 1990 Farm Bill agenda including environmental policies, food safety, food security, target prices, loan rates and trade policies.

During the Association's business session the members will hear reports dealing with the organizations services including the AIA Group Health Program, the NAWG/VISA Card, the membership expansion program and the Young Farmer Leadership Program. There will also be reports from the Resolutions Committee and adoption of policy positions, as well as reports from the Nomination Committee and election of 1990 officers.

It is expected that the one-day session will adjourn at 4 p.m.

Texas Agricultural Youth Announce Statewide Manhunt

AUSTIN - Nearly 50,000 youth interested in preserving a long-term future in agriculture will launch one of the state's largest manhunts on December 2. The effort is all a part of the big campaign now underway within Texas' 1,200 communities to recruit former FFA members and vocational agriculture students.

The recruitment exercise is being hailed as a glorious opportunity for local FFA chapter members to find as many former students as possible. The statewide extravaganza is being staged in a two-fold effort to: 1) seek donations to the newly-formed "Endowment for Excellence Fund" and 2) solidify a groundswell of support for the preservation of agri-sciences understanding and teaching within the states' public school system.

Fund Drive Chairman Charlie Scruggs, former editor of the highly acclaimed farm magazine Progressive Farmer, explained the urgency, "Now, more than ever, America's food and agriculture abundance is being taken for granted. Unless we, who've experienced the program and its training, take an aggressive position, agricultural education and this wonderful alternative for young people could be eliminated or severely cut."

The statewide manhunt is being orchestrated by the Texas FFA Foundation, a Texas chartered non-profit service organization dedicated to providing needed assistance to schools, administrators, teachers and students in the teaching of agri-sciences and technology in high schools across the

Jerry Clark, chairman of the Texas FFA Foundation and a former fourterm member of the Texas House of Representatives and former State FFA President, says, "We are extremely excited about this program and what it can mean to the lives of many young people for many decades to come.' He continued, "It will also be very rewarding for each of us individually to repay and reflect upon a program that had a large part in the successful careers of many business and civic leaders today."

Other prominent agribusiness leaders joining in the cause are former Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe, State Farm Bureau President S.M. True, Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo General Manager Dan Gattis, Texas A&M University Chancellor Dr. Perry Adkisson, Executive Assistant to the President, Fred McClure and many others.

Although December 2 is being touted as the big day, pledges and donations will be a strong motivation of the Texas FFA Foundation for the ensuing year.

Scruggs says, "Funds generated will be invested in a trust and only the interest will be used to support Texas high school agri-sciences activities and FFA leadership training." In conclusion Scruggs says, "Anyone interested in donating to the Endowment for Excellence Fund should contact me at (512) 472-0727, 614 East 12th Street, Austin, Texas 78701 or your local agri-sciences instructor.

MUST UNAUTHORIZED OVERTIME BE PAID?

Dear Commissioner Nabers. Does an employer have to pay unauthorized overtime to an employee? Is it legal to have a contract or company policy which denies payment of overtime unless the overtime has been authorized?

S.W. Austin, Tx.

Dear S.W., According to the U.S. Department of Labor, payment cannot be denied if the overtime was actually worked, regardless of whether it was authorized or not. It is simply up to the employer to control its workforce and ensure that the overtime hours are not worked.

There is nothing to prevent an employer from having a policy which forbids unauthorized overtime, but the penalty for violating the policy must be something other than the company's refusal to pay for the time worked. For example, a written warning or reprimand to the employee would be appropriate.

Dear Commissioner Nabers, Can a person who is on the payroll as a full time employee be paid as an independent contractor for providing a different type of service on occasion? How would this be handled?

P.R., Bastrop, Tx.

Dear P.R., It is certainly possible for a business to contract with one of its employees to provide a service different from the one he or she provides as an employee. Let us say, for example, that your employee works for you as an accountant but is a good carpenter and maybe even has a small carpentry business on the side. Should you contract with this employee to do some carpentry work for your company, leaving to him all methods and details of performing the work, it would probably be correct for you to consider him a self-employed independent contractor insofar as those service are concerned. This means that you would not report payment made to him for the carpentry work to the TEC. Also, rather than taking out federal taxes, you would issue him a 1099.

COMMISSIONER Mary Scott Nabers

It is important to be sure that you do not count as an independent contractor anyone over whose work you have the right of direction and control. If you are unsure about the status of a worker or whether taxes should be paid on certain services, contact your local TEC tax office and request a written appraisal of your situation.

Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers represents all Texas employers. If you have any questions you want answered, please write Commissioner Nabers at: TEXAS BUSINESS TODAY, 614 TEC Building, 15th and Congress, Austin, Tx. 78778.

Christmas Madrigal Dinner At C.IC

Cross Plains Review

For the sixteenth time Cisco Junior College will present its annual Christmas Madrigal Dinner, Friday and Saturday, December 1 and 2, at 7 p.m. at the Hilton Community Center.

Since the meal is a part of the program, Wyley Peebles, the director, urges guests to be on time for the first trumpet fanfare announcing the procession of the singers into the hall. Fanfares announce each course of the meal, and the Madrigal Singers sing appropriate songs for the wassail bowl, the main course of roast beef with Yorkshire pudding, and the dessert of plum pudding.

The singers have learned six pieces of 16th century music for the madrigal portion of the concert proper, which also includes one contemporary composition. The Christmas part of the program will feature a Rossetti text, "The Shepherds Ilad an Angel," given a contemporary setting by Bob Burroughs and sung by the ladies.

Kathleen Sloan, ten-year-old child prodigy, will be featured violinist at the CJC Madrigal Dinner, Reservations are required and may be made by calling (817) 442-2567. Tickets are $10.
