EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by Ruby McCowen and it expresses her sincere love of the Lord and confession of her faith through a personal experience. Vanda King

"Do You Like Horses?"

If you do, then you just might enjoy this story about a little pony called Humpy, whom the Lord used to help me "work out my own salvation," much like He helped a prophet in the old Bible when He caused the donkey to talk.

Now this little pony was not a Shetland by any means, but he was just not as big as our other saddle horses. Humpy was brown all over, even his long flowing tail and mane. With the saddle on, he was a perfect picture, but without it, you could see a very slight hump in his back. So for that reason, we named him Humpy.

He liked to run and keep on running. That was the main reason I liked to ride him. As soon as you mounted, you were off with the wind.

This favorite steed of mine was hard to catch, but gentle enough, once caught. However, he had a habit that was worse than this, and that was when you tied him to a post or fence when visiting someone, he would get loose somehow and run home as fast as he could go. I often wondered how he could run without stepping on the end of the bridle reins and perhaps, hurting himself.

This story has its origin in New Mexico, in the month of June, 1924, but we will have to back up til April, 1922 when I took the train at Coleman for Mountainair, New Mexico, where my one and only sweetheart met me at the depot and changed my name from Miss Ruby Curry to Mrs. Charlie McCowen.

To make a long and happy story short, in June 1924, we lived on East Mesa which is 18 miles southeast of Mountainair, and pinto beans were the main crop. When the beans were up and growing good, a drought set in.

In the meantime, we bought us a Bible and began reading it daily. Well, it took a firm grip on my soul and I found myself doing what it said do, calling on Jesus to come into my heart and He did just that. I felt a change in me at once. He reminded me of what I had read, "If you do not confess Me before men, I will not confess you before My Father and His Holy Angels."

As scary as this was to bashful me, I knew this was exactly what I would have to do. Consequently, for three consecutive Sundays, I went to a different place of worship to get this job done and failed every time. By this time (Saturday, June the 28th), I was pretty worried but had no intention of giving up.

My husband and his brother were working in the field and I was at the house when the Lord began showing me that He wanted me to get Humpy and ride across our section of land to a crippled woman's house and take her some things, as they were very poor. She had a husband and seven children, but people looked down on them, even their kin. However, of all my beautiful friends who loved us very much, she was the only one who shared with me the advise that I needed to be able to confess Jesus before men.

Well, I went to the pasture and got Humpy, but please don't ask me how I caught him, for to this day I do not know. I think it must have been one of those little miracles that the Good Lord had been planting in my pathway all through this experience.

I placed the saddle on him, got the things the Lord told me to take the crippled woman, mounted Humpy's back and away we went. When we got to her house, I tied him the best way I knew to a fence post, then went on in. The woman helped me to believe that I could confess Him the next morning (29th of June) in our little schoolhouse where the Christians had Sunday School and sometimes church.

I came out of her house on cloud nine, and when I got to Humpy I found another cloud nine. He was there, scot-free, bridle reins dangling on the ground, waiting patiently for me. God did not make him talk, but He made him WAIT.

Well, Sunday morning dawned clear and bright and I went to the little schoolhouse church and I confessed. Within two hours it began to rain just like He said it would. I have never forgotten the 29th day of June, 1924, or the rain, or my little brown pony. Not as long as my mind is right.

Letters To THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,
Former First Lady Nancy Reagan initiated the slogan: Say "No To Drugs" and "Yes To Life."

In the 1990's, let's say "YES TO LIFE." You have a choice between two things: to one you say "NO"; to the other "YES".

When you say no to drugs, you are saying no to a lifestyle which includes drugs, alcohol, school dropouts, runaways, jobless, prison, poverty, suicidal, hate, violence, crime, loss of family, prostitution, teenage pregnancy, AIDS and other birth defects, crack and cocaine-addicted babies, unwanted babies dumped in trash cans, child abuse and parental neglect. We are saying "NO" to the conditions we don't want.

If you are into the above lifestyle, take control of your life by making a new decision, rehabilitate. Rehabilitation prepares us to be noble men and women. No effort is too great. Your life is a gift. Life is for living and giving. Make the right choice. A positive lifestyle allows us the freedom to be loving, healthy, successful, happy people that we are created to be. LIFE IS PEACEFUL!!

We all have the ability to lift our vision to see new values, to establish new goals. Say "YES TO LIFE" and to what we really want. As parents, we choose to build the new civilization, a healthy, happy and drug-free, peaceful community and country. We say "YES" to health, happiness, abundance, freedom, love, trust, respect, faith, courage, honesty, goodwill, laughter and humor.

Say "YES" to developing your talents, "YES" to education and job training, "YES" to sharing, "YES" to good relationships with all people. Do something good for somebody. Volunteer your time and talents; work is fun; friends are fun; parents and grandparents are fun.

When you say "YES TO LIFE," you are a "POINT OF LIGHT" and you are playing a vital part in creating a new civilization. You are helping to eliminate the cause of human suffering.

LIFE IS PEACE!! LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL!! LET IT BEGIN WITH ME!!

Dear Editor,
Mr. Jim Letien, owner of A+ Business Equipment in Brownwood, reports having several calls from businesses in Brownwood and Coleman regarding telephone calls from someone implying they are a local service company and trying to send toner for their copier.

These "boiler room" operations are sometimes called "paper pirates" because they started several years ago using this method to sell inferior paper products. Over the years they have added ribbons and toner to their product line.

The lines vary but one of the most common one is that they have had a truck break down in our area and, because the shipment was late, the intended customer has refused the shipment and they are selling the merchandise at a discount so they won't have to pay the shipping cost to return it to the warehouse.

Another one they use quite frequently is the one they are using at this time. They say they are now servicing our area and the price of toner is going to be increased and, to save us from the price increase, they are going to send the toner now before the increase takes affect. All they need to send it is the person's last name that they are talking to.

Mr. Letien suggests that all owners and managers of businesses inform their employees to be careful when receiving any calls regarding the shipment of supplies. Mr. Letien stresses that not all calls asking you to order supplies are of this nature because there are local businesses that do sell their products by phone and are legitimate. He suggests that the best way to find out which kind of call you are receiving is to ask for a phone number so you can call them back after consulting your purchasing agent. If they are OK they will not mind giving it to you. Most of the time they will not give you a phone number or company name. Many will just hang up.

If somehow you do receive an order that you did request, it will most likely be C.O.D., although some aren't. In either case, get the name of the company off of the package before you refuse it so that we can stop these illegal activities.

In any case, Mr. Letien suggests you do as his customers have done and report the incident to your local dealer.

Jim Letien, Owner
A+ Business Equipment

Well they got the fairways aerated and fertilized just in time. This great rain will really help and save us water.

They have also finished the new water hole on #4. Everyone says it is quite a challenge. The next project is to build up the cart path on #9 and build a bridge over it. The path really gets messy when it rains.

Billy and Richard want to thank Ken, Louis, Lester, Curtis, Kenny, Skippy, Noel, and Johnny for all the help the last few weeks. They have all put in a lot of hard work.

West Texas Utilities is having their annual Good Friday Golf Tournament at Lakewood on April 13. We always need lots of golf carts to rent out. If you can donate the use of yours for the one day tournament it will sure be appreciated.

Rowden News

By MRS. N.V. GIBBS

Rain Thursday night kinda filled up the gauges — the Gibbs place had an inch and one half of much needed moisture. Now the pastures and grain fields will really grow. We are thankful that storms did not accompany the rain.

Emma Johnson and Lizzie Burks report their news was mostly phone calls. One from Emma's daughter, Pansy Johnson of San Antonio, and one from a nephew, Wayne Burks of Granbury. Visitors in the home were Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Anderson of Rising Star. Mrs. Anderson is a retired beautician and used her cutting skills on the two women who appreciated having their hair styled.

Emma also reports that their iris and tulips were starting to bloom.

Some wildflowers, buffalo clover, Indian paint brush and some daisies are showing up on the highway bar ditches, but due to a lot of winter dry weather the plants are small.

As a rule, when trips are made to Abilene, one never meets up with any one they know. Not so — this past Thursday, this writer was nearly tracked down by a neighbor, Vernie Belle Mauldin — she was rushing to greet this neighbor and a nice visit ensued. In checking out, Joyce Odum comes by to say, "hello" and we two sisters continued on our way home. She was first and completely lost me about five miles out of town.

Anna Dendy of Mason is spending a few days with Bob and Kathy Dye. The two of them attended the funeral of Kathy's cousin, Vadis Stanky, in Mason Friday.

Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin attended the funeral of Carlos Swafford in Cross Plains Saturday. Carlos was the oldest son of the late John and Lillie Swafford who lived here in Rowden on the now N.V. Gibbs place. Carlos, Pete, Leonard and Hoot and sisters, Jaunita, Flora and Katie all grew up in the community. Pete and his wife, Margie, live here now. Our sympathy is extended to all of the Swafford family.

Cody and Wyatt Watson attended the U.I.L. meet in Eastland Saturday where they represented their school in Baird. Their parents, Robert and Dorothy Watson, picked them up and they visited his sister and family, the Bill Becks. Dorothy has spent time this week with a friend, Mrs. O.B. Smith whose husband has been very ill and is a patient at Hendrick Medical Center. Gene Mauldin visited Dorse Harris in Baird during the week.

Tonya and Connie Steele were in Rising Star Friday and Saturday for the track events. The girls have been doing well this year and also placed in events this time.

Colonial Oaks Services

Cottonwood Baptist Church will conduct worship services at Colonial Oaks Nursing Home on Sunday, April 8, beginning at 3:30 p.m.

The hour is early, this first Monday in April. I will be planning for the A.A.R.P. meeting at 11 a.m. Our programs are always unique.

Services were most inspiring at First Baptist yesterday — the beginning of a five-day revival — I hope everyone feels as 'revived' as I do. Our attendance was tremendous!

I visited briefly with the young neighbors, the Gobles, during the weekend. They were busy, as usual, on one project or another. David is going to bring me a new 'burn barrel' soon.

My chat with Sally Roady was enjoyable, as usual. She had a birthday on Wednesday of last week — Bobby took her out for dinner. She received a raft of cards. Their son, Joe, was home from Navy training. Mr. McDaniel of Brownwood called. Bobby and Sally were in Abilene and Baird on business on Friday.

Ms. Jewel Foster didn't have any special news — she is well, and grateful. She was in Sunday School and Church on Sunday morning.

Delores Stover sounded great this morning. Her sister-in-law, Eulala Stover of Rising Star, spent Sunday night with her — they had a nice visit.

The Beggs did not answer this morning and Nell Fleming's number was busy the several times I called.

Two other Freshmen, Laura Rankin and Tiffany Cosper, were involved in a Brownwood tennis competition and were unable to compete in the literary events.

While at the all-day competition, Mr. Coppinger also directed the debate contest. Two other C.P. students, Deron Duffey and Don Sibley went with Mr. Coppinger and were timekeepers for the debate.

Other area schools that participated were Rising Star, Santa Anna, Panther Creek, and May.

For the second week in a row, Senior member Donald Sibley was selected as Best Actor for his role as Luddie Watts. Seniors Julie Smith and Stephanie Walker were selected as "All Star Cast Members," and Sophomores Jamie Jones and Kevin Clark were selected as "Honorable Mention All Star Cast" members.

According to Cross Plains play director, Joe Coppinger, the judge was very positive toward every school with her remarks during each of the schools' critiques. She did point out some minor points of Cross Plains' performance that she suggested Mr. C. think about.

The next level of competition (Area) is set for Saturday, April 7, at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

The plays are set to begin at 9 a.m., with Cross Plains scheduled to perform 5th. Other plays competing are Panther Creek, Tolar, Eula, Roscoe, and Trent. Mr. C. did not know the order of their performances. C.P. also has a scheduled practice time Friday, April 6, at 3 p.m.

If you have never watched these young actors and actresses, you are missing a very unique aspect of extra-curricular U.I.L. competition. Each play has a time limit of 40 minutes in which the audience sees a tremendous variety of performances from the talented young people.

Physics 'Phun'

By BECKY MCKEEHAN

Riding several rides and seeing a few shows, three students and a teacher had a great time at Six Flags Over Texas in Arlington on Saturday, March 31. The students were seniors Billy Lee, Becky McKeehan, and Julie Smith, and the teacher was Kim Childers, all from Cross Plains.

The group visited Six Flags on "Physics Day." The purpose of "Physics Day" was for Physics students, from several schools, to learn more about certain rides by making calculations on some of the effects of the rides. Some examples are acceleration and centripetal force exerted on a person's body. This group worked equations concerning the Shock Wave and the Conquistador.

TSTI To Host Spring Break Preview

TSTI/WACO — Texas State Technical Institute (TSTI) in Waco will host an open house for high school students and their families on Friday, April 6 and Saturday, April 7.

"Sneak Preview," an open house held twice annually, is conducted to allow prospective and interested students to have a look at the many quality programs offered at TSTI. The weekend event will run from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. on Friday, April 6, and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, April 7.

Visitors will be able to tour the campus and its housing facilities, and instructional programs will set up booths in the Student Center to give the visitors a quick look into their program. Instructors will be available to answer questions and provide tours of their individual programs.

The counseling staff will hold sessions about academic advisement and placement to help visitors decide the best program for them. Information about admission will also be available.

Sessions regarding financial aid will help students fill out the necessary (financial aid) application forms. Visitors are asked to bring their 1989 income tax returns to ease the process. "Anything and everything a prospective student needs to know to make an intelligent decision about TSTI/Waco will be available at Sneak Preview," Charles Reed, Director of Admissions said.

"It is a prime opportunity to get a firsthand look and feel for this place," he said.

Upon arrival to the campus, visitors are asked to check-in at the Student Center to register their attendance.

Sneak Preview, including a hamburger lunch, is free and open to any prospective student and their family.

"We want students to experience firsthand the world-class environment of TSTI," President Don Goodwin said.

For additional information concerning Sneak Preview, call the Admissions Office toll-free at 1-800-792-TSTI, or direct at (817) 867-4812.

Cross Plains Freshmen Experience U.I.L. Science Fair

By CHRISTINE HAUN

Cross Plains, along with many other schools in the district, all competed against each other at the U.I.L. Science Fair at Panther Creek High School on Wednesday, March 28.

Students competing from Cross Plains were Randy Stephenson (9th); Tiffany Cosper (9th); Rhonda Swift (9th), and Carlile Albrecht (9th).

Competition consisted of 60 questions, including 20 from biology; 20 from chemistry; and 20 from physics. The three people with the highest overall scores and the three 1st place winners in each individual subject area will advance to Regional.

Local students that attended the U.I.L. Science Fair had never competed in the contest. They attended to gain experience useful for future competitions.

The group was very excited when Rhonda Swift tied for 3rd place on the biology subject area test.

Youth Diabetic Camp

Every summer, over 300 young people between the ages of six and eighteen attend a very exclusive camp near Gainesville. The entrance requirements are strict: the child must have diabetes.

Too often, regular summer camps turn away a child with diabetes because of their special diet and medical needs. But Camp Sweeney, organized over 40 years ago, is a place for the child to learn while having fun. All of the activities of a regular summer camp are offered: horseback riding, swimming, boating, fishing, arts and crafts, riflery, archery, movies, dances, and carnivals.

At Camp Sweeney a 24 hour medical staff skilled in the knowledge of juvenile diabetes, gives campers supervision and attention. At daily medical lectures the campers learn the vital importance of balancing their insulin intake, and their diet in order to live longer, healthier, and happier lives.

Diets are formulated according to each individual's needs, giving the diabetic valuable examples of how to exchange foods to include an occasional "treat" so he won't feel left out around his friends at home.

Camp Sweeney is located ten miles northeast of Gainesville, Texas, near the Oklahoma border. Camp facilities include six air-conditioned cabins, lodge, hospital, and various staff cabins and a pavilion where arts and crafts and rainy day activities such as country and western dancing are enjoyed. Camp Sweeney also has two tennis courts, basketball/volleyball courts, soccer and baseball fields, a swimming pool, horseback riding, archery, riflery, and a 34 acre lake where the children enjoy paddle-boarding, canoeing, rowing, and fishing.

Camp Sweeney has never denied admission to any child with diabetes. The only requirement is to have diabetes and be between the ages of 6 and 18. Each year approximately 75 percent of all campers receive scholarship aid which is funded by donations from friends, Foundations, and United Way Agencies.

The first three-week Session will begin on June 10 and end on June 29; Session two will be held from July 1 to July 20; and the final Session is set for July 22 to August 10.

For more information please write the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, Texas 76240, or call (817) 665-9502.

Bring 2 Number 2 Pencils Again

By CA

Yet another standardized test was given at school. This time it was the "CAT-E...California Achievement Test. For three days, March 27, 28, and 29, students in the 7th, 8th, and 10th grades spent their first 3 to 4 class periods sitting in the auditorium taking this test (no wonder the state is considering extending the school year...to allow for the multitude of test days the students are out of their regular classroom). Approximately 300 students took the test.

Subject area covered in this particular test is reading, language arts, math, science, and social studies.

The tests are sent to California to be scored by the McGraw-Hill Publishers. According to Cross Plains School Counselor, the results should be back in 6 to 8 weeks and hopefully in time to be sent home with the students' last six weeks report cards.

Grandkids Don't Need Spankings

By DON TABOR
Publisher

EDITOR'S NOTE — Clyde Journal columnist Barbara Winters is this week's guest writer. Publisher Don Tabor was attending an American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) directors meeting.

Does Spanking Teach Violence?

Recently, we've been hearing a lot about how physical discipline teaches violence. (We're talking about a well-placed spanking to the behind, not brutality.)

But I'm of the old school: "spare the rod and spoil the child" — the same school my parents attended.

At a very young age, I was introduced to Daddy's razor strap. It had two belts; one was black and the other white. I don't know the reason for that. I assume one was for sharpening and the other for polishing. Most often, however, they were carefully folded and used as the instrument of justice, applied to my behind.

Of course, if we happened to be away from home, Daddy's belt or the palm of his hand did the job nicely. (I remember such instances when I was no more than four. I know because we still lived in East Texas, and I had my fifth birthday in Abilene.)

One spanking was brought on by my having said a cuss word; and, being stubborn, I refused to apologize. Daddy removed his belt and proceeded to spank me until I said I was sorry. For a while it was a toss-up as to which of us would give in — or give out — first. Daddy won.

It's funny: I don't remember the pain of that spanking, but I have never since felt the need to color my speech with unnecessarily descriptive words.

The other incident took place when my parents took me shopping — I think in Paris. I broke away from Mother, and while she shouted for someone to stop me, Daddy chased through the store and out into the street. He caught me just as I was about to dart between two parked cars and into the path of traffic. He sat himself down on the curb, right then and there, placed me over his lap, and proceeded to spank me with his hand.

A man who had seen the whole thing, asked, "Mister, why are you doing that? Ain't you glad your girl didn't get hit?"

Without missing a lick, Daddy replied, "I'm just taking out insurance it won't happen again."

And it never did. One of my most vivid memories of when I was small was of holding Daddy's finger as we walked down the street. Whenever we came to an intersection, his other fingers would curl over mine in protection. I had learned better than to object.

Mother, on the other hand, preferred the switch. And as much as I hated being spanked with that razor strap, I hated the switch to the backs of my legs even more. But what I hated most was the fact that Mother always made me select the instrument of my torture.

Now, if any of you have ever used a switch, or been on the receiving end of a switch, you know that it has to be just right — too stiff, it won't swish properly; too limber, it won't sting. Well, naturally, I didn't want it to be perfect, but if I brought Mother one that couldn't be used, I knew it would mean an extra lash as soon as she had selected the proper one to do the job. Therefore, I always took as much time as I dared choosing the right one — somewhere just on either side of perfect. I realize now that there was method behind Mother's madness; the longer it took, the more time I had to think about what I'd done.

...and now we're told that spanking teaches violence. Well, I'm here to testify to the fact that I'm about the least violent person I know.

If those same experts would just look at recent history, I think they'd see that it's been since spankings have been out of vogue that children have become most rebellious and disrespectful. Perhaps the problem isn't that spankings are wrong; perhaps the problem is the fact that too often they are administered in anger rather than love.

Of course, grandchildren never need spankings.

1990 CONSERVATION RANCHER — Frank Chrane presented a plaque by C.T. Straley (Zone 2) of the Callahan Divide Soil and Water Conservation District.

Frank Chrane Named '90 Conservation Rancher

Frank Chrane of the Dudley area was selected as the 1990 Conservation Rancher by the Callahan Divide Soil and Water Conservation District #552. The Frank Chrane Ranch is made up of various tracts in the southwest corner of Callahan County, with the headquarters being one mile south of Dudley.

Frank operates approximately 2,500 acres of which 2,000 acres is rangeland and 500 acres is cropland. Through sound conservation efforts Frank has cleared several 100 acres of brush-infested rangeland and re-seeded these acres to a mixture of improved grasses. Wildlife is always considered when brush management is done and selected areas are left for food and cover.

Despite drought conditions in 1988 and 1989, Frank was still able to carry out proper grazing use. Livestock are related and different pastures are rested during the growing season each year.

The Callahan Divide SWCD stated that they were proud of both Dan Childress and Frank Chrane as their award winners for 1990.

Pasture Management On Improved Grasses

With improved grasses, such as coastal Bermuda grass, Klein grass, and love grass, increasing and playing a larger role in the grazing of livestock, pasture management should be a top priority with landowners with improved grass pastures as the growing season approaches.

"Although improved grasses have the genetics to out-produce native grasses, a lot of times they do not because the soil does not have the natural fertility," says Tony Baeza, Range Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Baird. "Because of this, fertilizing improved grasses is a must for the grasses to produce to their genetic potential and many times just to survive."

The general recommended rate for fertilizing improved grasses in Callahan County is 40-40-0/ac. Baeza said that although no potash is recommended, many soils, especially sands which have been heavily grazed or baled are low in potash and may require that potash be added. Also many soils may be low in one of the micro-nutrients or secondary elements, such as calcium, sulfur or magnesium which play a large role in the normal metabolic activity of a grass. These micro-nutrients are generally required in fairly substantial quantities for normal growth, but are not added to fertilizers in large quantities. Because of these factors a soil test should be taken at least once every three years. A soil test will allow a person to know exactly what nutrients are needed and at what rates for the desired production.

Fertilizing is just one phase of pasture management. Another one is weed control. Weeds will compete with the grass for moisture, space and nutrition. The type of grass, age of the sand, and the type vegetation which is the primary pest, will determine what method of weed control should be used.

On newly seeded pastures of Klein grass, love grass, or Alamo Switch grass, herbicides should not be applied until grasses have reached the 4-5 leaf stages to insure the young seedlings are not damaged. Lots of time, even when the sand has established a pasture cannot be sprayed. Johnson grass is often a nuisance in Klein grass fields. Any chemical which will control the Johnson grass will also damage the Klein grass. In such an instance the only solution is shredding.

To control unwanted vegetation on newly sprigged pastures of coastal, spraying or shredding can be done without hurting the coastal sprigs.

The Soil Conservation Service or the county agent can provide technical assistance on weed control or fertilizing improved grasses. The services of the Soil Conservation Service is available to anyone regardless of race, creed, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Funds Allocated For GPCP

"The Stephenville Area Office recently notified the Baird Field Office, that funds have allocated for the Great Plains Conservation Program," said Clint Rollins District Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Baird.

Under the Great Plains Conservation Program or GPCP, a landowner enters into a contract with the Soil Conservation Service in which various conservation practices are cost-shared. Among those practices cost-shared are cross fences, diversions, grass plantings, terraces, waterways, ponds, critical area shaping, livestock pipelines and water wells. Also cost-shared is brush management, both mechanical and aerial spraying. These practices are cost-shared at a rate ranging from 50 to 75 percent of an average cost, with a maximum of $35,000 cost-share per contract.

The Soil Conservation Service provides technical assistance to landowners in developing a GPCP contract. A schedule to install the desired conservation practices is then developed with the landowner, ranging from 3 to 10 years. Two years of proper management are required following the installation of the last practice to insure adequate establishment of the practice.

Rollins urged anyone interested in a GPCP contract to contact the Soil Conservation Service as soon as possible because all proposed contracts need to be sent into the Stephenville Area Office by May 1.

These and other programs and assistance are available through the Soil Conservation Service office to anyone regardless of race, creed, color, sex, religion or national origin.

For additional information or assistance contact the local SCS office at (915) 854-1349 or at the third floor of the county courthouse in Baird.

Child Labor Violations Cost All Texans

In light of recent child labor law infractions discovered by the U.S. Department of Labor, Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission today admonished Texas employers to refresh their knowledge of the rules concerning hiring minors.

"Texas employers received more citations than employers in other states during the D.O.L.'s recent sweep," lamented Nabers. "Considering the fact that Texas is facing such monumental problems with illiteracy and student drop-out rates, employers and parents in our state need to reaffirm a commitment to abide by these laws which were, after all, enacted to ensure that all children have an unobstructed opportunity for a good education."

Employers should be aware of these basic guidelines:

NONAGRICULTURAL JOBS:

(1) Youths 18 years or older may perform any job, whether hazardous or not, for unlimited hours;

(2) Youths 16 and 17 years old may perform any NONHAZARDOUS job, for unlimited hours;

(3) Youths 14 and 15 years old may work OUTSIDE SCHOOL HOURS in various NONMANUFACTURING, NONMINING, NONHAZARDOUS jobs under the following conditions:

(a) no more than 3 hours a school day,

(b) no more than 18 hours in a school week,

(c) no more than 8 hours on a nonschool day,

(d) no more than 40 hours in a nonschool week,

(e) work may not begin before 7 a.m., nor end after 7 p.m., except from June 1 through Labor Day when evening hours are extended to 9 p.m.

(f) 14 and 15 year olds who are enrolled in an approved Work Experience and Career Exploration Program (WECEP) may be employed for up to 23 hours in school weeks and 3 hours on school days (including during school hours).

(4) Fourteen is the minimum age for most nonfarm work. At ANY AGE, however, youths may DELIVER NEWSPAPERS, WORK FOR PARENTS in their solely-owned nonfarm business (except in manufacturing or on hazardous jobs) or GATHER EVERGREENS and make evergreen wreaths. Children of any age may perform in RADIO, TELEVISION, MOVIE, or THEATRICAL PRODUCTIONS. There are, however, state regulations concerning child actors which must be followed. Employers in this industry may obtain a copy of the rules and regulations by contacting the State Office of the TEC,

1990 Family Land Heritage Program

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said today that July 30 is the deadline for long-time Texas farm and ranch families who want to apply in 1990 for recognition by the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program.

Those farm and ranch families who are certified by TDA as maintaining their property in continuous agricultural production for 100 years or more will be recognized at a ceremony in Austin on October 11.

"The Family Land Heritage Program recognizes much more than mere ownership of a piece of land," Hightower said. "It also helps to chronicle the uniquely personal histories of this state's agricultural pioneers — a proud record which might otherwise be lost forever."

Since it was launched by TDA in 1974, over 2,400 properties throughout the state have been enrolled in the program. Fayette County has 87 farms and ranches certified by TDA as meeting the qualifications of the program; Houston County has 72 certified properties; Austin County has 55 certified farms and ranches.

In addition to the ceremony in Austin, the recognized families will receive a certificate from TDA and a history of their property will be listed in the 1990 Family Land Heritage Registry.

Texas residents may apply for Family Land Heritage recognition if they can trace the line of ownership of their property since 1890 or longer and can show that the land has been in continuous agricultural production for 100 years or more.

Application forms and additional information about the program are available from county judges, the chairs of County Historical Commissions, all TDA district offices, or by writing the Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Office of Special Counsel.

FARM JOBS:

(1) Youths 16 years and older may perform any job, whether hazardous or not, for unlimited hours;

(2) Youths 14 and 15 years old may perform any nonhazardous farm job outside of school hours;

(3) Youths 12 and 13 years old may work outside of school hours in nonhazardous jobs, either with parents' written consent or on the same farm as the parents;

(4) Youths under 12 may perform jobs on farms owned or operated by parents or, with parents' written consent, outside of school hours in nonhazardous jobs on farms not covered by minimum wage requirements.

(5) Minors of any age may be employed by their parents at any time in any occupation on a farm owned or operated by their parents.

For information concerning what constitutes "hazardous" and "nonhazardous" jobs, employers should contact their local Wage-Hour office of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Blood Cholesterol In Children

Armed with nutritional guidelines to reduce the risk of cancer, the American Cancer Society will launch the Great American Food Fight Against Cancer this spring.

It is important for Texans to know that eating certain foods and avoiding certain other foods help lower their chances for developing certain forms of cancer. The campaign is designed to educate people of all ages so that everyone understands which foods are recommended as high-fiber foods and which foods should be eaten sparingly because they are high in fat. Scientific studies support these nutritional guidelines.

ACS recommends that you stock up on the following:

* Strawberries, peaches, carrots, spinach and other Vitamin A-rich foods

* Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit, peppers and other foods high in Vitamin C

* Cruciferous vegetables such as broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage

* Chicken, fish and lean meats

* High-fiber fruits, vegetables and grains

* Low-fat dairy products such as skim milk and low-fat cheese and yogurt.

For more information call toll-free 1-800-ACS-2345.

ACS Launches Great American Food Against Cancer

Parents want their children to have the best and to ensure they are healthy and happy. One of the best ways parents can help their children develop good lifestyle habits is by example. Through preventive health education messages children can better understand the long term benefits of making healthy lifestyle choices. One of these messages should be the awareness of cholesterol and its relationship to coronary heart disease. In 1978 the American Heart Association advised physicians that children from high-risk families should be placed on a low-fat diet if they have excessive cholesterol or fat in their blood.

The AHA stresses the importance of detection and treatment of children with inherited disorders of lipid and lipoprotein metabolism. The AHA does not, however, recommend mass screening for measuring levels of blood cholesterol for all children and adolescents. Screening and case finding should focus on children at high risk — age two and over whose parents or grandparents have developed coronary heart disease or cerebrovascular disease before the age of 55 if male and 60 if female, or those who have a family history of high cholesterol. Blood cholesterol levels should be measured in these children. If they are greater than the 75th percentiles for age, dietary modifications according to AHA guidelines should be initiated.

In reducing cholesterol and maintaining a healthful lifestyle in children over the age of two, the AHA recommends:

* Maintaining a diet consisting of a variety of foods;

* Maintaining a desirable body weight;

* Limiting total fat intake to approximately 30 percent of calories;

* Limiting daily cholesterol intake to approximately 100 mgs. per 1,000 calories, not to exceed 300 mgs.;

* Maintaining protein intake at about 15 percent of calories, derived from varied sources;

* Limiting total carbohydrate intake to 55 percent of calories;

* Limiting sodium intake by cutting down on processed foods and condiments and taking the salt shaker off the table;

* Not smoking cigarettes; and maintaining a regular exercise program.

The AHA recommends that all adults know their cholesterol levels. If an adult's total cholesterol level is below 200 mg/dl, re-testing need not occur for another five years. This recommendation is based on the theory that high blood cholesterol levels or fatty deposits that build-up in the coronary arteries can cause heart disease. It takes many years, however, for this build-up to provoke a heart attack, making it necessary to control your children's cholesterol levels now.

In fact, children who have high cholesterol levels early in life tend to maintain high levels relative to their peers in adulthood.

Developing good lifestyle habits now can help your child lead a healthier life. For more information, contact your local office of the American Heart Association or at the AHA, Texas Affiliate (512) 836-7220.

3 Problems Which Cattlemen Need To Be Aware Of

A lot of cattle are now grazing small grains, and cattlemen need to be aware of three potential problems that might develop.

Nitrate poisoning, grass tetany and bloat are three major problems that afflict cattle grazing on small grain pastures, points out Greg Gerngross, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Nitrate poisoning occurs mainly during cloudy, overcast conditions. Under such conditions, nitrates accumulate in plants instead of being converted to protein. Plant stems contain more nitrate than leaves, so nitrate poisoning is more of a problem on heavily grazed pastures.

Hay or grain supplements enable cattle to tolerate higher levels of nitrate than those on pasture only. Splitting nitrogen fertilizer applications may also help prevent nitrate poisoning on small grain pastures. But the safest way to protect animals is to remove them from problem pastures until plants resume normal growth.

Grass tetany is more of a problem in older cows during early stages of lactation. The condition is associated with low blood magnesium. High levels of protein and potassium that are common in small grain pastures may either depress an animal's digestion of magnesium or increase its excretion of magnesium, resulting in inadequate blood magnesium levels.

Grass tetany occurs more frequently on heavy, high potassium soils, so producers should avoid applying excessive amounts of nitrogen and potassium fertilizer. Fertilizing with magnesium to increase the magnesium content in plants is not practical. The most practical step to prevent grass tetany is to supply a palatable mineral containing 6 to 14 percent magnesium.

Bloat occurs when an animal cannot rid itself of gas produced in the rumen during normal digestive processes. Normally, bloat is not as much of a problem on grass pastures as it is on legumes, such as alfalfa. However, young, fast growing grasses high in protein and low in fiber also can cause bloat.

The chemical agent pinoxalen provides effective bloat control if animals eat it in adequate amounts — 1.5 to 2 grams per 100 pounds of body weight. However, the supplement used should contain no nonprotein nitrogen such as urea and little natural protein since this will only aggravate the bloat problem.

One effective way to deal with bloat is to remove cattle from bloat producing pastures and to feed hay or a combination of hay and grain until pastures can grow and become more mature.

Another management problem beef producers should take care of is controlling lice. Studies indicate that controlling heavy lice infestation improves daily gain by 0.2 to 0.4 pounds. A number of different insecticides are available for lice control including pour-on and sprays.

Producers are urged to read and follow label directions on any product used for parasite control. For more information on any of the above subjects, contact the County Extension office at (915) 854-1518.

Annual Earnings Reports Due April 16

Annual reports of 1989 earnings must be filed by April 16 by people receiving Social Security benefits who earned more than the annual exempt amount in 1989, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, said recently.

The 1989 annual exempt amounts were $6,480 for people under 65 all of 1989, and $8,880 for people 65 through 69.

People who received some benefits in 1989 and earned more than the exempt amount are required to file a report of those earnings by April 16. Those who received no benefits in 1989 are not required to file a report, but, Glyn Hammons said, those people should file a report to make sure that any benefits that might be due for the year are paid.

A person who earned less than anticipated, for example, may be due some benefits. The only way these benefits can be paid is if the person files an annual report.

The general rule is that $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. A person can have substantial yearly earnings before all benefits are withheld. For example, a 65-year-old person whose monthly benefit rate is $500 could earn $23,760 before all benefits for 1989 were withheld.

Those who are required to file an annual report should have received a copy in the mail. If they have not, they should contact the Abilene Social Security office to get a copy. Those not required to file, but who wish to do so, can also get a copy at the office.

The 1990 annual exempt amounts are $6,840 for people under 65 all of 1990, and $9,360 for people 65 through 69. The earnings test does not apply once a person reaches 70.

More information about annual reports and the annual earnings test can be obtained from Social Security. The telephone number is 1-800-234-5772.

Weekly Health Tip

IMMUNITY — HOW?

Ancient Greek physicians observed that people who recovered from the "plague" did not catch the disease again. Once your immune system develops antibodies to certain diseases by conquering the invading antigen, certain white blood cells develop a "memory" of it — you are now immune for years, perhaps for the rest of your life. Modern medicine now triggers a mild case of measles, polio, whooping cough, etc., using a dead or weak virus, thereby causing further immunity to the disease. Do not fail to have your family inoculated against such diseases.

Your better health is our concern.

FmHA To Elect New County Committee Members

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will begin accepting nominations April 5 for election of county committee members under new rules that make it easier for farmers to qualify as candidates and to vote, Jack Phillips, County Supervisor said today.

FmHA county committees perform a variety of duties for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's credit agency, including deciding whether an applicant is eligible for a farm loan.

"One important change broadens the definition of a farmer to anyone who has an interest in a farm in the county as owner, tenant or sharecropper," Phillips said. "The new definition also includes the spouse of an eligible farmer. An old requirement that more than half of the candidate's income must come from the farm operation has been dropped."

"The nominating period has been extended to 45 days from the previous 25 days, thus allowing more opportunity for people to run for the committee," Phillips said. "At least three eligible farmer voters, including the nominee, must sign the petition."

Two of the three committee members are elected by farmers in the county, and one is appointed by FmHA. One of the elected seats is to be filled for a three-year term at this year's election, which is scheduled for June 29.

"Another important change this year is that one member of the committee can be an active FmHA farm borrower, or be eligible for an FmHA farm loan," Phillips said. "Previously, this was not allowed."

"Anyone interested in running for the committee can obtain a petition and other information from the FmHA county office at 1309 East Main Street in Eastland," Phillips said.
