EDITOR'S NOTE: Harold Strahan's description may prove very familiar, as loneliness is very prevalent while we live in a world full of people. I wish we could find a quick and efficient remedy for this heartache.
Vanda King, Editor

Lonely People

By HAROLD STRAHAN

Although he was seventy, Guy O'Neil was a huge, robust man who had a certain manly way with his comfortable smile that gave him an endearing, boy-like appearance. He was a talker, a listener, a snoop, and a busybody (?). Being a widower, he was a lonesome person who enjoyed verbalizing with everyone. Tiring of his own cooking, about once a month, he ate at a local cafeteria — to eavesdrop and counsel, if the need arose.

As usual, Guy waited until the absolute peak of the rush hour so that he had plenty of time to listen to the conversations of the people standing nearby. A long line was what he loved the most; and on this particular day, the queue (line) was almost endless.

In front of the eavesdropper was a small, bitter-looking woman, with dark circles under her eyes. Her clothes were the best money could buy...impeccable. But her hair had not been combed...negligent. And from her overall appearance, she seemed to be at her "wit's end."

Suddenly, she wheeled and faced Guy, not looking into his eyes but gazing between his arm and large body. With her eyes slightly bulging, she began, "We've got to do something about Mother!" Knowingly, the eavesdropper nodded in agreement.

And she continued rapidly, "Did I tell you about Mother putting the Vaseline and talcum powder in her hair to kill those imaginary bugs she is always complaining about?" The eavesdropper nodded in disbelief.

With an hysterical voice, she explained, "It took, not one shampoo, not two, not three...it took twenty-five to get most of that concoction out of her hair!" The eavesdropper nodded in amazement.

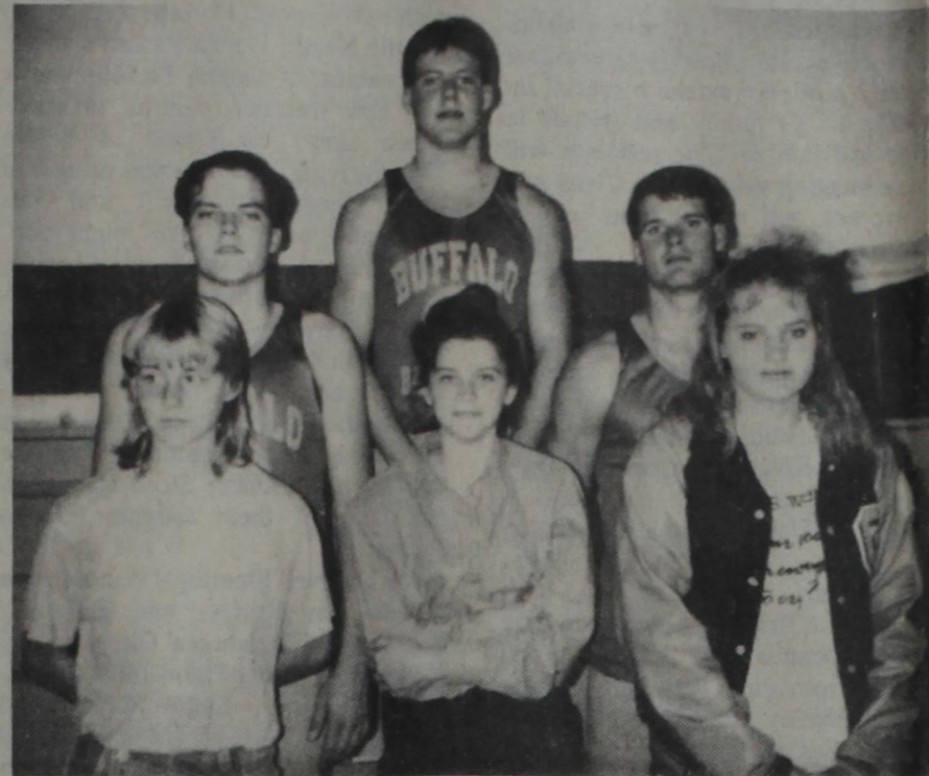

The lady's lips were almost clamped shut as she spewed out: "Do you know what she did yesterday?" Now, the eavesdropper was shaking his head with relentless vigor.

"According to our new pastor," and the words flew from her mouth like poison arrows from a bow, "here's what he told me: 'Your mother called me on the phone about mid-morning and asked me to come over to her house for dinner, which I did. Ringing the doorbell, it was a considerable time before she finally came to the door. I introduced myself, taking for granted that she would invite me into her home. Instead, she started telling me that the large oak in her front yard was about to fall onto her house; and she frantically expected it to fall at any moment!'"

"Half-heartedly, I strolled over to the tree and stood before it, observing. Readily, I reasoned that the trunk of the tree was perpendicular and as rigid as the Rock of Gibraltar, a bulldozer couldn't move it an inch. By taking a quick survey of your mother, I saw the confidence in her face that I could solve this problem of the falling tree. Not knowing what to do or say, I merely leaned against the tree, praying for her."

"Almost immediately she started accusing me of pushing the tree too far in the opposite direction. I, therefore, went to the other side of the tree and leaned against that side, until she

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Presents 1991 Valentines Most Photogenic Contest

Valentine Parade will be held Saturday, February 9, 1991 at 7 p.m. at the Cross Plains School Auditorium.

Eligibility for this competition will be open to boys and girls from birth to 12th grade and residing within the Cross Plains School District.

Any size photo up to 8 x 10 unframed, color or black and white may be submitted. No cheese cake or swim wear photos will be accepted. An entry fee of $5 per photo will be required. You may enter as many photos as you wish, each accompanied with the corresponding fee. Photos are judged on creativity, composition, and photographic qualities.

Most photogenic will be broken down into twelve age divisions. There will be one winner per age division. All winners will then be judged and an overall winner will be chosen.

Out of town New Professional Photographers will select the winners to be announced Saturday, February 9, 1991.

Winners need not be present to win but the winners will be announced and presented an award at the Valentine Parade. Photos may be picked up in the lobby following the Valentine Parade.

Photos and fees must be in no later than Monday, February 4, 1991. Photos, fees, and registration forms may be returned to Pat Stephens at Cross Plains School, Jamie Apple at Johnston Truck, or Patricia Cook. Please print name, address, age, and grade on back of each photo submitted.

If you have any questions, contact: Patricia Cook 725-7741, Jamie Apple 725-7769, or Pat Stephens 725-6732.

lively with all the activities surrounding Christmas with the Kiwanis Community Program and the Christmas Village provided by Project Pride.

The cute little elves shivering on the edge of the street enticing folks to enjoy the Christmas Village kept the excitement level high. Complete with costumes they waved friendly at each passing vehicle.

Once inside the warmth of the building, a new atmosphere was created. On the right a beautiful "Winter Wonderland" complete with real trees flocked and sparkling with lights snuggled in the snow, appeared as a larger forest against the mirrored wall. A row of reindeer marked the border of this frosty scene.

The other side of the building was the warm, comfy, and country home feeling with a grandmother rocking in the Boston rocker beside the fireplace decked with holly and stockings. A

4 Named To Who's Who Among Students In American Junior Colleges

The 1991 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges will include the names of 43 students from Cisco Junior College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Local students named this year from Cisco Junior College are Jeannie Barclay, Michael Franke, Terri Hunter, and Shae Pancake.

Driver's Education Class Offered Locally

A Driver's Education Course is being offered at Cross Plains Nutritional Center on Main Street, sponsored by the local chapter of A.A.R.P., Thursday and Friday afternoons, December 13 and 14, from 1:30 to 5:30. Anyone 50 years of age is eligible to take the course for a fee of $7 ($8 after January 1).

When those enrolled complete the course and qualify for the certificates, they will be eligible for a 10 percent discount on their liability insurance premiums.

Mr. Bob Beavers of Cisco will be teaching the course, and the fee includes the cost of the textbook.

MINUTE MUSINGS

By ESTHLOY S. DICKSON

This Monday morning is beautiful — with sunshine and almost no wind. The freeze last week got to almost every green plant outside my house, but I'm not complaining — December is supposed to be cold. Now, I just want the leaves off my lawn.

I am sure others are already receiving Christmas cards. My first two cards came from Snyder — no connection between the two families. One card came from Rhode Island addressed to "Plains, Texas". They had the correct area code, fortunately.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beggs of Morton Valley had lunch on Saturday with J.T. and Betty. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Beggs of Cross Plains spent Saturday with them, and helped with the peanut harvesting. Betty attended the week of prayer for foreign missions at First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jewel Foster visited me briefly on Saturday. She is interested in having a copy of an oil field picture which was given to C.V. Sr. many years ago. We should find someone to make copies of that picture.

Helen Tillotson didn't have any special news — she is enjoying this beautiful spring-like weather.

Sally Roady is recovering nicely from recent surgery. She can drive her car now, but not much more. Bob and Charlie have done the cooking and house cleaning for her (she's lucky!). Her brother, Gene Hicks of Rising Star, visited Sunday and Monday. A cousin, Reba Fortney of Brownwood, visited them one day. Their son, George, called one day. Cindy called them from California one day.

My daughter, Joanie, had a birthday last week — I called her. Her family is in the advertising business — fortunately, they are very busy — everybody is getting ready for the holidays. We all put too much 'stock' in material things to enjoy the 'miracle' of Christmas Day.

BSP Host Spouse Christmas Social

By PATRICIA COOK

December 10, the Alpha Rho Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a Christmas Spouse Social at the Garden Club. Beta sisters and their spouses enjoyed sandwiches and deserts. Members and their guests drew numbers for gifts ranging from bread to furry reindeer knob covers. Games of 42 and Scruples were enjoyed by all.

Those members in attendance were: Jamie Apple, Vernelle Bishop, Sarah Brashear, Janice Buckner, Debra Childers, Kim Childers, Patricia Cook, Linda Edington, Bobbie Johnston, Melissa Kemp, Joyce McCoy, Margaret McNeel, Nora Odom, Janice Phillips, Carol Rogers, Dora Smith, Pat Stephens, Joy Gerking, Judy Luters, and Judy Phillips. Spouses included: Arvin Brashear, Gary Childers, Henry Edington, Ross Gerking, Wimpy McCoy, Dan

Johnston, Howard Phillips, Craig Rogers, Wade Stephens, and Allen Phillips.

Social Security Representatives Schedule

Social Security representatives will be in Eastland at the Park Hill Senior Citizen Center on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. on January 8 and 22, February 5 and 19, and March 5 and 19.

There will be no representative at Baird, Cisco or Ranger during these three months. Eastland is the closest location for this area.

The budget crisis has affected the Social Security Administration in several ways, and one of these is that there is less money to pay travel expenses. The travel schedule has been reduced until funds are made available.

You may call on the toll-free number 1-800-234-5772 each business day from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Dessert Of The Month

By PATRICIA COOK

On December 3, two of Beta Sigma Phi's newest members delivered December's dessert of the month, a peachy delight to Brandon Smith, notorious winner.

Greeted at the door, bowl and spoon in hand, Brandon posed briefly for a photograph. For those of us who could use a few calories or would lie about it, here is the recipe.

1 1/2 cups of flour

2 tbs sugar
1/2 stick butter
1 cup chopped pecans
Mix spread in 13" x 9" pan. Bake at 350° for 20 minutes until brown, then break it up. (It will be kind of like powder.) Then mix together...
1 8 oz. cream cheese
2 cups powdered sugar
1 tsp of vanilla
2 8 oz. cool whip spread over the browned crust, and top with 2 21 oz. cans of peach filling.

LIVE ANIMALS TOO — Snow bunnies, alive no less, were a part of the wintery look featuring penguins.

FOR THE BIRDS — Clara Nell Spencer is pictured with some of her collection of birds and fowl.

DOLLS — You can't have Christmas without dolls. Eunice Pointer shows her collection including some she has made.

MOTOR COLLECTION — John Adams displays his heat fueled engines for a unique exhibition.

MICKEY MOUSE COLLECTION — Shane Sharpe's collection of the Walt Disney Mouse was interesting to little viewers.

Christmas Village

gorgeous Lone Star quilt in red, white and blue provided decoration for one side and the traditional Christmas tree was surrounded with gifts from various local businesses. This was also where Santa Claus visited with all the little ones.

The next room featured more lovely quilts including one with buffaloes in purple and gold and an antique quilt. All kinds of baked goods were on sale along with other gift items. Guests were served spiced tea and cookies at the back.

A clever disguise of the weight equipment in the center of the room added more Christmas charm.

Everyone who worked on the Christmas Village has my greatest compliments on your accomplishments.

The Live Nativity was very touching and was enjoyed by many. Standing in the cold was not comfortable, but those who participated did a wonderful job.

The Cross Plains Public Library was the site for collection exhibits. Susan McNeel and Debbie McNeel's collection of Barbie dolls was on display, along with outfits and carrying case.

Clara Nell Spencer had some of her bird and fowl collection in a glass case while others were displayed on a table.

The doll collection included some antique dolls and some Eunice Pointer had made herself. They were all pretty and some of their dresses were old-timey.

A model car display owned by Tom and Randy Stephenson was also exhibited.

John Adams told an interesting story about his heat powered motors.

Bill (Tiny) Hedrick had his train collection on display along with oil related items which he created.

A coin and spoon collection owned by Kathryn Tunnell was also of interest. Each place she has visited she purchased a spoon or coin in remembrance.

A lovely bell collection, owned by Shirley Weingarten, featured many types of hand bells.

Shane Sharpe's Mickey Mouse collection included a variety of items with Mickey's face or even Minnie's. Even a set of ice trays shaped like Mickey's head could be seen.

So many different items may be collected and become valuable to each individual. Sharing their special displays added more to the Project Pride Christmas.

The hayride was another highlight of the evening. The Chamber of Commerce served hot chocolate and cookies to prospective passengers waiting to board the hay trailer. Joe and Era Lee Hanke coordinated this particular event. Clad in coveralls with Santa caps, Joe drove the tractor and Era Lee saw that everyone was loaded up. Seeing the beautifully decorated businesses and residences from the open air ride was great fun. Made you feel young again. The kids seemed to like it, too!

The community of Cross Plains should congratulate itself on promoting a wonderfully decorated holiday season with the special attractions provided by Project Pride.

Please view the photos inside the newspaper.

Cottonwood News

By BEVERLY BROWN

The Cottonwood Baptist Church choir, the youth department and the Alleluia Puppets will present the Christmas program and "The Christmas Song" cantata at the Sunday, December 16, morning worship services at 11 a.m., followed by a Christmas fellowship dinner in the annex building. Each lady is asked to please bring a covered dish for the meal. The evening services starting at 7 p.m. will be the Christmas tree, a caroling hayride, and refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcomed to attend the pre-holiday festivities.

On the road to recovery and recuperating are: Virginia Callaway, who underwent surgery this past week; Turner Simpson, who had knee surgery on Wednesday; and Janet Purvis who was taken to the emergency room on Saturday, all were in the Humana Hospital at Abilene. Happy to report all are home and we wish them a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Alton Hastin and Cole of Jacksboro and Mrs. Lee Creamer and Forrest visited with Mrs. Wayne Brown and Mrs. Mildred Ford Saturday morning.

Mrs. Ethel Anderson, Vanda King, Leah and Kye visited in Abilene on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Anderson and Blandye Harris. On Saturday Mrs. Christine King was by to see Ethel. On Monday morning Barbara and Geraldine stopped to see her before going to Brownwood.

R.D. and son, Todd Childers of Cisco, came by to see the folks, Lillie and Blanton Childers, on Sunday. Harry Childers returned home from Saudi Arabia and called his mom and dad yesterday. Aubrey Childers of Potosi was by to see his parents this week.

Reminder to all folks there will be no musical at the Cottonwood Center this month. Our next musical will be held on Friday, January 18, 1991. Merry Christmas to you all. We will be looking forward to seeing you next year.

The Cottonwood Quilting Club will hold their last quilting session for the year on Thursday, December 20. The ladies will have their Christmas party and exchange gifts. The next quilting gathering will be held on Thursday, January 3, 1991. Everyone is invited to attend.

NEWSPAPER HONORED — Danny Tabor, center, editor of the Clyde Journal newspaper, accepts a service award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas for the newspapers promotion

Clyde Newspaper Presented Distinguished Service Award

The Clyde Journal newspaper was presented the Distinguished Service Award by the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas in recognition of the newspapers efforts in promoting vocational agriculture and the future farmers program in the state.

The award was presented to Danny Tabor, editor of the weekly newspaper, during the Big Country FFA District banquet Monday, December 3, in Ballinger.

The Clyde newspaper was nominated to receive the plaque by the Clyde FFA chapter at Clyde High School. The newspaper was named to receive the service award among the Area FFA District, which includes over 80 FFA chapters. The area district includes FFA chapters from Wichita Falls, Stephenville, Vernon to Breckenridge.

Clyde FFA advisor Tim Stone said that the service award was given to the Clyde Journal for what the newspaper has done for promoting of FFA and benefit the vocational agriculture department at Clyde High School.

The service award plaque presented to the newspaper reads: "The Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas Distinguished Service Award to the Clyde Journal this award is presented in grateful recognition of your leadership in presenting the vocational agriculture and future farmers program to the people of Texas through carefully planned newspaper publicity. Date 1990." The award is signed by the vo-ag teacher association president and executive director.

Newspaper editor Tabor said, "It's always nice to be recognized for just doing your job. This award should also be shared with Clyde FFA advisors Tim Stone and Jimmy Parker for their assistance in preparing stories and pictures of the local FFA chapter. This newspaper recognizes the importance of the FFA in providing leadership skills in turning boys and girls into young adults."

Winter has finally settled in in this area this week. Several mornings temperatures were down in the lower twenties. All of this without rain or snow. The winds continue blowing leaves back and forth over the yards.

Some were out Christmas shopping today. Kathy Dye and daughter, Julie Patterson, and little son, Justin, were in Abilene. At noon they met with Ann Dye and Lori Ann of Abilene and all had lunch together.

Last week, a report was made in the Rowden News of Vernie Belle Mauldin leaving her purse in a Wal-Mart shopping lot. She did not know the person who picked the purse up and turned it in at the store. The person that turned the purse in read the report in the Cross Plains Review and called Mrs. Mauldin. He was to receive a thank you note. He is James Williams of Ovalo and son-in-law of Lorene Bryson of Cross Plains.

Bob Dye made a business trip to New Mexico last week.

Robert and Dorothy Watson and sons, Wyatt and Cody, were in Zephyr Friday for basketball games between the two teams. Robert's father, R.G. Watson, attended games with the family.

Gene and Vernie Belle Mauldin visited Dorse and Lee Harris in Baird during the week.

Weekly Health Tip

SING FOR LIFE

To prolong your life — sing in the shower, sing in the car, and especially sing in a choir or chorus. Research shows that professional singers often out-live non-singers by 20 years or more. Tests show that opera singers have stronger chest wall muscles and their hearts pump blood better than non-singing adults. Normally, heart and lung function decline with age, especially among smokers and non-exercisers. Exuberant singing slows down this decline by invigorating the chest muscles and stimulating the heart — so sing away!

Your better health is our concern.
