More Early Days In Callahan County Available

The 25 copies of the B.C. Chrisman book, announced for sale by the Callahan County Historical Commission two weeks ago, sold out in two days. Calls were received from Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Granbury, Midland, Denver City, Monahans, Brownwood, and others. Most were too late.

However, the publisher, Abilene Printing and Stationery Company, has indicated that it will bind up some more of the unbound copies on hand from 1972. Since the cost of binding has gone up greatly, the new sale price can be expected to go up considerably.

Update On New City Water Tower

By VANDA KING EDITOR

The City of Cross Plains now has a new water tower located east of Colonial Oaks Nursing Home in the northern section of the city. The new system was installed after the City of Cross Plains was determined in noncompliance with State Statutes by the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission on February 28, 1995 (and also for 1994) concerning minimum water pressure.

The water distribution system had to be designed and maintained so as to provide at all times a minimum pressure of 35 pounds per square inch at flow rates of at least 1.5 gallons per minute at each service outlet or connection. When the system is intended to provide fire fighting capability, it must also be designed to maintain a minimum pressure of 20 pounds per square inch under combined fire and drinking water flow conditions.

Prior to the new system pressure at the nursing home was measured at 22 pounds per square inch. Skinny's had a 40 pound per square inch pressure before the new structure and now reports 70 pounds per square inch. Local residents have experienced increased water pressure, too.

paint accented with purple and gold trim and lettering.

The City has only had one major water line leak and residents have not reported excessive leaks.

The water tower was constructed for approximately $200,000 which was paid from City of Cross Plains reserves in the form of certificates of deposits at the Citizens State Bank. City Secretary Debbie Gosnell stated that the structure has already been paid for with the exception of some closing expenses. She noted that the lettering of Cross Plains on the tower has not yet been accepted. The word Plains is scheduled to be repainted Monday, September 25, if weather conditions allow.

The water underwent two consecutive tests following connection and both were determined in compliance. City customers were asked to boil drinking water for a few days and now all systems are satisfactory.

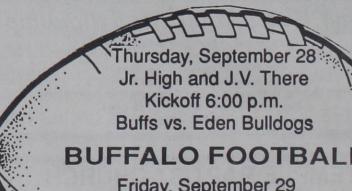

The old water tower located just west of Main Street beside the Cross Plains Volunteer Fire Station will be disassembled in the near future.

SEVERE ALLERGY SEASON

If your allergies are really bad this year, you're not alone.

The National Climatic Data Center says 1994-95 was the

BUFFS TO FACE EDEN ON HOME TURF FRIDAY, SEPT. 29

By GREG TURNER

The Cross Plains Buffaloes traveled to Bangs last Friday only to find that the hospitality of the Dragons wasn't too suitable. The Dragons, now 2A and likely to move to 3A in the next alignment, has an outstanding team this year. Their backfield, consisting of Chris Dancer, Tye Monroe, and Dishawn Storey, will be, in my opinion, the best the Buffs will face all year. My congratulations to ex-coaches Mike Permenter and Terry Taylor for putting together a fine team.

There were several times in which the offense had impressive drives and ball movement only to be spoiled by a fumble, a penalty, or having 4th and long. Cross Plains moved the ball on the ground with Jody Fortune, the leading rusher with 83 yards, and Brock Walker with 43 yards. It was as if we could get their defense to bend but not break. It was a tough night for the young Buffaloes to experience, but they will learn from this and be ready this Friday night.

As I looked back on the roster from the Bangs game, I discovered Bangs had 27 and Cross Plains had 17 on the program. Bangs had one sophomore, 13 juniors and 13 seniors, whereas Cross Plains had one freshman, 10 sophomores, two juniors, and four seniors. I'm reminded of a movie I once saw: "And that's all I got to say about that." Forrest Gump.

This week, one year ago, the Buffaloes were winless, and we all know what happened last year-District Championship-first one in 38 years. Last year the Buffaloes traveled to Eden and played a good game, winning 34-6. This year Eden comes to our house. The Buffs need to bounce back from last week, regroup, re-focus, play a good game, and get a win.

Some changes in the offense due to

TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS TO BE HONORED BY U.T.

AUSTIN-Nominations are now being accepted for the 1996 Texas Excellence Awards for Outstanding High School Teachers. The deadline for nominations is October 16, 1995. The University of Texas at Austin seeks to raise public awareness of the contributions that teachers make to our society and is committed to raise the esteem of the teaching profession in communities across the state.

Toward that end, The Ex-Students' Association and the College of Education of The University of Texas recognize yearly Texas high school teachers who are inspiringly supportive of their students, who bring credit to the teaching profession, and who are held in the highest regard by their current and former students, fellow teachers, administrators, students' parents, and community.

Established in 1987, the nationallyacclaimed awards program reaches into the grass roots of the state. Each year, some 300 teachers are nominated and recognized locally for their accomplishments. The program is open to all high school teachers, not just UT graduates.

Simple nomination forms were sent to every Texas high school principal in September; each may nominate one teacher. Principals are encouraged to seek input from students, teachers, and parents.

For nomination forms or additional information call 1-800-594-3939.

CARRIER ALERT PROGRAM A PROVEN LIFESA VER

It happens on almost any given day, somewhere in the United States. A Postal Service letter carrier saves the life of a customer. It goes far beyond the call of duty, but for rural and city letter carriers it's all part of a tradition of service that began more than 200 years

Perhaps more than any other provider of service to the public, letter carriers play a familiar role in the daily lives of their customers. For many, particularly the elderly, the letter carrier can be a source of comfort, someone who'll watch over them while delivering the daily mail. Over the years, in communities throughout the country rural, city and highway contract letter carriers have prevented countless tragedies by responding to situations that arise or their routes, such as fires or medical emergencies.

In recognition of the unique relationship between letter carriers and their customers, the Postal Service formalized the Carrier Alert program.

Candlelight Vigil Kicks Off Domestic Violence Awareness Month

At 8:00 p.m. on Monday, October 2, church bells will ring in Brownwood and across the state as a memorial to all who have lost their lives as a result of domestic violence. A candlelight vigil will be held immediately following on the south steps of the courthouse.

State Representative Bob Turner will be present to explain how legislation passed this session will benefit victims of domestic violence. The proclamation signed by County Judge Ray West will be read. Candles will be lit while names of those who have died at the hands of their abusers are remembered. Formerly battered women will talk briefly about their experiences and their journeys to

"In the last 15 years in this country, as many women have been killed at the nands of their abusers as the number of Americans killed in the Vietnam War,' said Joanne McCraw, Service Area Director for Noah Project-Central Texas. "But these women have no memorial, no day of mourning. We believe it's necessary to honor these women and honor their lives. We hope that domestic violence is everybody's business."

Purple ribbons will also be distributed and worn during the month to signify support for victims and honor both those who have died and those who have found a way to survive. If you would like to request ribbons for your office, class, organization, or group, pl Noah Project at 643-2699. Representatives would also be happy to provide

"By shining a spotlight on this horrible crime, we can encourage both victims and perpetrators to get the help they need," says Joanne McCraw. Domestic violence is a serious problem. In Brown County alone, law enforcement responded to 303 domestic violence incidents in 1994. And only about 7% of domestic violence assaults are ever reported to law enforcement. We can only begin to eliminate domestic violence when the entire community bands together to say that we will not tolerate violence in our homes.

Noah Project and the Formerly Battered Women's Task Force are sponsoring the Candlelight Vigil. All in the community are invited and encouraged to attend.

Joking Meet Mark Twain!, the popular live theatrical production starring Arkansas native Donald King Cowan in his nationally acclaimed portraval of America's greatest humorist, will be presented in the Harrell Fine Arts Auditorium at Cisco Junior College at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, October 3. There will be no charge for admission.

Twain thrilled audiences of an earlier and simpler era with his uncanny wit, barbed comments, down-home anecdotes and romantic tales of life on the Mississippi River. Today, Cowan brings Twain to life once again in this one and one-half hour production, commenting on such topics as "Concerning Congress" and "Smoking and Other Bad Habits," and serving up such rib-tickling tall tales as "Baker's Blue Jay Yarn."

Written and copyrighted by Cowan in 1975, this remarkable characterization of the timeless Twain has been hailed as an overwhelming success by audiences and critics alike throughout the United States and Canada. No detail is overlooked to transport the audience back in time. Cowan's meticulous makeup requires three hours to apply; his handmade suit is an exact copy of Twain's trademarked white linen.

This is the first event scheduled for this season's Cultural Affairs Series at Cisco Junior College. It is presented with partial funding from the Texas Commission on the Arts.

How to Choose the Right Safety Seat

When choosing a safety seat for your child, bear in mind three important points:

1. The seat must have a seal of federal approval.

2. The seat must fit properly in your

3. The seat must be appropriate for your child's weight and height. To determine whether it is, read the safetyseat manufacturer's instructions. Place the safety belt exactly where the instructions recommend it be placed.

Infants (Five to 20 pounds)

Use safety seats designed for children under 20 pounds. Infants must ride facing the rear of the vehicle and reclined at a 45-degree angle to receive the full protective benefit of the safety seat.

Thread the harness straps through the lowest pair of slots in the back of the seat. This will keep the baby restrained in the seat, providing additional protection in a crash.

Buckle the harness system between the infant's legs. Tighten the harness so that the child is snugly secured by the safety seat. Secure the safety belt to the

Toddlers (20 to 40 pounds)

Buckle the harness system between the child's legs. Tighten the harness so that the child is snugly secured by the safety-seat harness. Secure the safety belt to the safety seat.

* Safety advocates recommend using a five-point harness system instead of a full shield of T-shield.

Preschoolers (40 to 60 pounds)

Children weighing between 40 and 60 pounds should be restrained by a beltpositioning booster seat.

Belt-positioning booster seats, which use a lap-and-shoulder safety-belt system, provide good upper-body protection for children weighing more than 40 pounds. They keep the safety belt positioned over the strongest bones—the shoulders and hips.

Older Children (Over 60 pounds)

When children have outgrown safety seats (at 60 pounds), they graduate to safety belts. Position safety belts over the shoulder and hip—never across the face, neck or stomach. Safety belts should fit low and tight on the child's *Warning: Do not place infants in the right-front passenger-seat of cars with passenger side air bags.

*Never misuse safety seats. Follow the safety-seat manufacturer's directions and the vehicle instructions for buckling the seat into your car or truck.

*Begin using a safety seat immediately. Protect your newborn in a safety seat on the way home from the hospital and on every ride.

*Small children (not infants) can be included in the process of selecting a safety seat. Children are happier and more inclined to use a safety seat if they feel comfortable in the seat.

*Remind the child that the vehicle will not move until everyone is buckled up.

*Children are imitators. Set a positive example for your child by buckling up on every trip.

*Don't keep books, bottles or other sharp, hard objects in your car or truck. In a collision, such objects can become airborne, possibly striking and injuring you or your child.

*Don't let children eat while riding in a car or truck. A sudden stop could cause a child to choke.

*Lock your doors. Teach children not to play with door handles or locks. Provide a special soft toy for children to play with when riding in a motor ve-

Child Safety Seat Placement

Crash studies show that children will receive the greatest protection when riding in the following positions:

1. The middle position of the backseat.

2. Backseat, passenger side.

3. Backseat, driver side. 4. Front seat, passenger side.

*Please read your vehicle instruction manual and safety seat instructions to make sure that your safety belt will work with your safety seat.

In order for a safety belt to work it must remain tight when securing a safety seat. For more information, call Safe Riders toll-free 1-800-252-8255.
