

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

Complaints are so much more common in newspaper work than compliments, that when some one is generous enough to strew a few roses in our path it makes us feel like the Biblical lady who found her lost gold and called in neighbors to rejoice with her.

Homer Shanks, of Abilene, in writing the Review yesterday, was kind enough to say that this paper was one of the best weeklies in the state and that he read every line with unusual interest.

Thems kind words, Mr. Shanks. It makes us prouder of our proverbial dollar a day.

Eight days more and the political ballyhoo reaches its culmination. No doubt many of us ordinary citizens who have been receiving mail from the candidates addressed to us as Honorable so and so, will be just plain Mr. or Mrs. in future correspondence.

We can all pull in our chest and go back to honest to goodness work, for Messers Hoover and Roosevelt won't have much time to spend in this part of the county.

But before the 1932 political campaign is shoved into the dimming past, allow us to remind of the special political edition of the Review that will be issued next week. The paper will be larger and will come out a day earlier. By all means don't miss it, for all trump cards will be laid face up in that issue. As Lotief says in his circulars of sales, "Nothing Will Be Withheld."

Tomorrow is McDermitts picnic. We'll be there with both ears greasy about noontime.

This tad of girls changing the color of their hair with the seasons is undoubtedly becoming quite popular. We have two new red heads and one platinum blonde in our midst.

No! "Slim" don't get excited, they're not new here. The aspect was simply been rearranged.

Whereas the beginning of school used to be a doleful event it is now an anticipated occasion.

From football captains to the most studious students, they all seem to be anxiously awaiting September 12, when another nine months session begins.

And speaking of football captains, that calls to mind the prospects for the 'Buffaloes' in the approaching gridiron campaign. Captains Erle Smith and Tommie Webb are ready to go. Chief among their supporting henchmen this fall will probably be: W. J. 'Son' Sipes, who lacked a half credit finishing up last year and will again be eligible for football competition; Leonard Davidson, Socrates Walker, Joe Smith, Ralph Baum, Tommie Holden and probably Jack Nichols.

There will be no doubt be other valuable recruits to the 'Buffalo's thunder herd'.

Dan Capid is a pretty nice ol' rascal after all. Besides piercing the hearts of devoted lovers and entangling them in matrimony, he often gives news starved writers a fresh subject.

The old gentlemen made six perfect bull's eyes with his little arrow the past week and as a result we have three new families in the Cross Plains trade territory.

And now to add health and happiness.

BAPTISTS BEGIN REVIVAL HERE

PASTOR WILL ARRIVE SUNDAY EVENING IN TIME FOR SERVICES

Receives Tribute From Lynn County News Regarding Wilson Revival

Cross Plains Baptists begin their annual summer revival meeting Sunday night in the tabernacle just West of the church building on 10th Street. Rev. Graves Darby, pastor, will conduct the services.

Two services will be held each day, according to an announcement from one of the deacons yesterday. The morning devotional will begin at 10 o'clock and the evening at seven thirty. The meeting will last two weeks. Rev. H. T. Dennis will conduct the singing and special music as well as assist Rev. Darby, in the personal work.

For the past two weeks Darby has been in Wilson conducting a meeting. He has preached in revivals there for the past five years. He will return in time for the services Sunday night.

The Lynn County News in commenting upon the Wilson meeting the past week said: "On last Sunday, Rev. Graves Darby of Cross Plains, formerly pastor at Wilson, filled the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours, bringing two of the finest messages ever heard from this pulpit. Brother Darby's deep consecration and spirituality, his broad learning, and his fine intellect, together with his remarkable familiarity with the Scriptures, make him one of the most intensely interesting pulpit speakers in all West Texas."

OIL MEN SEE MORE LIFE, LARGER POOL FOR BURKETT AREA

Location for a new test in the Burkett oil field was made Wednesday by Frank Stone and Ben Garner, on the Wiley Newton tract, 600 feet North-west of their recently drilled-in producer. They plan to 'spud in' on the well about middle of next week, according to a statement from Frank Stone yesterday.

One new pipeline connection was made in the field the past week and yet another well is expected to be hooked-up about Monday. Each adds 21 barrels a day to the total allowable from the pool.

Oil men interviewed by a Review reporter Wednesday night were perhaps the most optimistic about the Burkett area they have been since the discovery well there almost two years ago.

"I believe we will find the pool to be much larger and quite like the one at Cross Cut", said Frank Stone. By the comparison he meant that the recent dry hole drilled by Roy Carmichael et al, which temporarily condemned tracts North to be insignificant. The Cross Cut sand is treacherous and dry holes were drilled in many cases offsetting good producers. Stone believes paying production can be obtained Northward up the Bayou.

TOWN IN READINESS LATE THURSDAY FOR POLITICAL MEETING

Among the speakers scheduled to be on hand were: Judge W. R. Wagstaff, of Abilene, for Sterling; Judge J. K. Baker, for Ferguson; Cecil A. Lotief and B. L. Russell, Jr. for state representative; all county and precinct candidates.

One block on Main Street was being roped off to take care of the large crowd that was expected.

Paul V. Harrell, local attorney, was to preside over the meeting introducing speakers and fulfilling the duties of chairman.

Middling Cotton Is Quoted 6 75 Thursday

"If boll weevils are not increased by them, our recent rains will be of unestimable value to cotton crops of this section", said V. A. Underwood, Vocational agent here, yesterday.

Middling cotton was quoted on the streets of Cross Plains Thursday as being worth about six and three quarter cents. It was worth a few points more earlier in the week but took a slight drop Wednesday.

Hugh McDermitt appointed committees Monday to assist in the work and complete arrangements to make this year's celebration the best in history.

"We want everyone to come and enjoy the day Saturday. Bring a well filled basket and spread it with your friends and neighbors. Everyone is invited but especially the old-timers are urged to attend," said Hugh McDermitt yesterday.

The complete list of committees and the part that those named herein are expected to do follows:

Tournament riding-under supervision of Ed. Morgan and George Erwin, will begin at nine thirty a. m. Anyone may enter.

Potato races under direction of Fred Stacy will follow the tournament riding.

Old fiddlers contest open to veterans of the "bow and string" will follow the potato races. This feature of the entertainment will be handled by Henry (Dad) Childs. He has urged that old time fiddlers from all over this section bring their instruments and participate in the contest.

Dinner on the ground, the big feature of the day, will follow the fiddling contest. Everyone will spread their baskets together in the shade of a large grove on the ranch. A special table will be arranged for the old settlers.

At three o'clock a sheep show is scheduled. Fred Long will be in charge of the displays and Price Odom, George Ray and Sam Edgington will be judges.

'Thugs' Loot Pioneer Postoffice Of Money And Pistols Thursday

Thursday morning, Postmaster I. C. Plumlee estimated the loss to a Review reporter at approximately $300. Entrance into the postoffice was gained by breaking glass out of a door and window at the front of the building. The safe was carried away and 'cracked open' on the Will Armstrong farm, three and one-half miles North of Pioneer.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. Peterson found the safe and tools that had been used to open it early Thursday morning.

Peterson, Sheriff Virge Foster and Deputy Steele Hill, of Eastland, working on the case said they believed the job to be that of amateurs. They based this conclusion upon the fact that the safe had been crudely opened and the carelessness of the 'thugs' in leaving clues behind.

A set of keys, all to a Ford automobile, was found in the postoffice lobby Thursday morning. A sledge hammer, crowbar and chisels were also left near the safe. Officers also have a general description of the car that was used in the raid and the type of tires on the wheels.

L. C. Cash, Pioneer grocery merchant, heard a noise at the postoffice at 3:20 a. m. and looked out in time to see the automobile drive off. He opined that he was awakened by the dropping of the safe in the car. "No lights were burning on the automobile but I didn't get up for I just imagined that it was a bunch of drunks or something", Mr. Cash said. He did turn on the light however and noted that the time was 3:20 a. m.

The robbery was not discovered until seven o'clock when the postmaster came down to open the office. Of the $300. loss only $110. was money. The remaining portion was in stamps that the robbers did not take but left in the rain to be damaged and destroyed. Three U. S. Army pistols, belonging to the government were in the safe. They are also missing yesterday morning.

Postmaster Plumlee said that he believed at least four men participated in the robbery. The safe he declared weighed 600 pounds.

An attempt to rob the Pioneer postoffice was made in October 1927 but it was unsuccessful. Robbers had only moved the safe from one side of the office to another, when a doctor's call frightened them away.

Pioneer has a fourth class office and Mr. Plumlee has been postmaster for more than five years.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Norris Chambers

Farewell; Good Luck

Series No. 22

"I am through," wailed Billie 'Possum, "I'm not going to act for you any more. In the last story you wrote about me you completely disgraced me. I hereby refuse to act in another story."

"But," I interrupted, I did not intend to disgrace you. What did I say that was disgraceful?"

You know! cried Billie, you told the children how I saved some little skunk children, and so forth, and then you brought it out as a dream; thus plainly showing that the braiery described was not in me, in reality.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," I exclaimed, I will make a big story about you when you are awake and tell how you saved a fuzzy kitten, helped a raingtail escape from a dog, and how you jumped over a seven hundred feet cliff and hit uninjured!"

"No," protested Billie, I am absolutely not going to be heard of in your foolish stories again. You exaggerated that last tale too much, too. When you tell stories about me I want them to be true ones.

"P-s-s-s-s," I hissed, quiet, you don't want Boby Squirrel to hear you talking like that. Here he comes now.

I don't care who hears me, stammered the 'possum. I talk when I want to.

"Hey! Hey!" hailed Boby, what's all this,

"This big bum is misrepresenting me in his stories, blurted Billie," and I have gotten all I can stand of it."

"I have not!" I retorted.

Boby sat there and watched us argue. He did not say which side he was for, but any one could tell that he was in sympathy with Billie 'Possum.

Boby sat there until Billie had said all he could say and I had said all I could think of, and then he started.

"You are a big bum!" he began turning to me. I saw you disgrace Mattie Skunk by having her flee from the fire and leave her babies to burn. She would never do that.

"Then you misrepresented nature in THE PARADISE BEYOND. You formed your climax of that story by having King Wolf stretch a piece of timber line across his path and trip his pursuers. You are a bum, and I also refuse to act in any more of your stories."

"Very well," I said, not wishing to argue, and I lowered my head and departed. I walked down the path to my Rocky Ledge home, which was a big dugout under a rock. I would go home and write a story about the ants; they at least would not complain.

I sat down at a front of my typewriter and started writing a story about the Razenian ants, and had just finished the first page when I heard a knocking at the door. I stopped my writing and walked to admit the visitor.

When I threw the door open I saw Billie 'Possum and Boby Squirrel standing there. What could they want?

"We are sorry for what he said," explained Billie, as he walked in, closely followed by Boby, and to prove that we don't care what you say about us in stories we want you to write a story about the way we have done. Name it Farewell and Good Luck, for you almost had to bid us farewell; and we know you would wish us good luck."

"Fine," I said, but why have you changed your mind?"

"Polly told us the right thing to do and explained it so plainly that we saw where we had been mistaken. We want you to start on the story immediately and have it published next."

I walked to the typewriter, jerked the ant story out and threw it into the paper basket, and inserted a sheet of white paper. At the top I put the title FAREWELL; GOOD LUCK and I wrote below just what you are now reading.

Now we hope you will not think too harshly of Billie and Boby, for I am sure they are very sorry for the way they have acted. I guess I have said enough about the way they acted, and I am ready to hand the proof sheets to the two for correction.

The Old Settlers Picnic.

In looking over the Review we read what you, no doubt, did too.

Just that a picnic gay. The "Old Settlers" annual affair that the McDermitts hold each year will be next Saturday. Where young and old can meet and chat and reminisce 'bout this or that, or discuss politics. Then sit in cars around the 'pen' and thrill and cheer and honk and grin at some real cowboy tricks! There'll be men there with graying hair who'll ride a horse, and playing fair.

Could beat their spriest son; They'll rope a sheep quick as a wink and tie the knot ere you can think. Or say "Jack Robinson".

There'll be riding of broncs and things A feature that much laughter brings And yet may mirth dispell For some kids who at danger scoff Will in a 'jiffy', be tossed off Quicker than takes to tell! So bring a basket, well filled, too To suppelment their barbecue.

And do your part you see You'll need few words then to relate That you really appreciate Their hospitality.

And for the one whose natal day Is celebrated in this way

With that full plans in store We're sure you'll join us in the wish That future years may really bless With health, and many more.

HOW MODERN WOMEN LOSE POUNDS OF FAT SWIFTLY---SAFELY

Gain Physical Vigor—Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest, and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Smith Drug Store or any drugstore in the world.

Not Prosperity But Better Times

Don't let anyone kid you, prosperity hasn't returned. But too don't let them convince you that better days havent arrived temporarily at least.

Cotton, wheat and most everything we produce has advanced decisively. Things won't go 'hog-wild' over night. In fact, they may never again in our lifetime, but days of normalcy, tranquility and happiness are certainly brightening the horizon.

It won't take forty cent cotton, one dollar wheat or three dollar oil to relieve our situation. Just a few more rises like the ones that were taken by commodities last week and dollars won't be so unfamiliar.

Another bright spot is; nine hundred million dollars worth of new currency is going to be issued by the Federal Reserve Bank. They plan to allow each bank to issue currency to equal its capital stock. That will mean more dollars in circulation; cheaper money; payment of time old obligations and markets for what the producer has to sell.

No, don't let anyone tell you that prosperity has returned. Neither is it hiding around a corner. Things are gradually, certainly and decisively on the road to recovery. Be wise, hold your equities. Happy days are ahead.

Benefits Are Widely Spread With Widespread Power

The power line which carries electricity over the countryside is bringing the benefits of industrial development to small communities as well as large cities.

When an equal power supply is commanded by both, the production efficiency of small, decentralized establishments matches that of the large metropolitan factory. Moreover, with its freedom from the high costs imposed by congestion, the small community factory can even surpass the large city factory in economical manufacture.

This is the opportunity which the widespread distribution of electric power has opened... an opportunity which the West Texas Utilities Company has made available to 125 progressive West Texas cities and towns served from its 2,500 mile transmission line system.

ODDITIES

The Liberty theater here frequently receives pictures and shows them before Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth. Elissa Landi playing in the picture "Room 13", was shown in Cross Plains more than a month ago, while it was billed at Houston's leading theater last week. It is regarded as a first rate picture and had not been shown there previously.

Some of Cross Plains fairest maidens have middle names that they aren't advertising. For example, Marie Jacqueline Neeb, Juakana Eva Westerman, Wilma Cornelius Pratt, Leta Beatrice Neeb, Marie Ethel Long, Dorothy Louise Chandler and Mary Ursula Massa.

Snake Swallows Beer Bottle

The following snake story appeared in a recent issue of the Fayette County Record, published at LaGrange, and so far as we know, Editor Sulak has gotten by with it:

Curious to know how many eggs a large 5 foot snake, found in a hen nest at his barn, had done away with, E. Muesse of near Warrenton made an examination that ended with surprising results. He not only found eggs, but the reptile had swallowed a pint-size beer bottle. Now, get that straight—a beer bottle. The empty vial had stood at the barn for about four years and near dripping water. It is thought it may have contained a small amount of water which the snake wanted and swallowed bottle and all to get the water.
