

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

Now that elections are temporarily over and political minds are turned in a more constructive direction, the scribbler of this column is ready to break forth with a sensational announcement.

The editor has concluded arrangements for a ring side seat at the official festivities and will be in Washington to attend the gala celebration and in the meantime write accounts of the happenings for this publication.

Don't fail to pay up the ol' buck and renew your subscription for another year. A country boy's conception of a presidential inauguration is one of the features we have to offer for the coming year.

Next Wednesday the Cross Plains 'Buffaloes' meet their time old rivals the Rising Star 'Wildcats' in the traditional football clash between the two schools.

'Doc' Sellers, the Rising Star scribe who guesses at the outcome of football games (but incidentally missed more last week than we did) is picking the 'Cats'. He would! But we doubt 'Doc's' sincerity in choosing his home town crew.

Course its always popular to dope locals to win but we have the following proposition to offer the Rising Star scribbler, just to see how strong he believes these 'Buffaloes' will be tramped.

If Rising Star licks Cross Plains, which we don't think they will, we are willing to turn somersaults across the field at the close of the game. That is, if 'Doc' will perform the same feat in the event that the herd triumphs over the 'Wildcats'.

Such an agreement should be easy for the Rising Star pencil pusher, in lieu of the fact that he is nearer round than are we, and should travel much easier in the somersault position.

Ah, for the life of a fireman! The boys are excused from jury service, continually wrapped in community admiration, furnished pretty blue caps with a nice shiny badge and now they're having an oyster banquet.

CAR FURNITURE WRECKED ENROUTE TO STORE HERE

A carload of furniture slightly damaged in train wreck enroute here was received by Higginbotham Brothers and Company Wednesday.

The merchandise was only scratched and slightly injured. It has been upholstered and abused places varnished. It is reconditioned so perfectly that it is almost impossible to detect any of the heretofore blemishes," said G. R. Neel manager of the store.

The railroad is said to have settled the damage and Higginbothams received the furniture at a quotation that will out-do all competition in the section, according to Mr. Neel's agent.

AGAIN SELL POPPIES FOR DISABLED WAR BUDDIES: Annie Aiken American Legion will sell poppies on the streets at the football game here Wednesday of next week, for the benefit of disabled World War veterans. The flowers were sold in town Armistice Day, but due to the fact that the local post did not reach their quota—250—on another day has been scheduled for that purpose.

Turkeys Bring In $5,465.49 New Money Here

MARKET WILL OPEN FOR XMAS BUYING FIRST OF DECEMBER

Recent Income Will Be Felt By Every Person In This Trade Territory, Merchants Say

Thanksgiving turkey market brought into the Cross Plains trade territory $5,465.59, according to figures released by four produce buyers here Thursday. They anticipate even a larger income from this source when the market opens again in December for Christmas demand.

Although the price was somewhat lower this year than last, the money brought into this section from turkey selling will be felt by every person in it, opined several Cross Plains merchants to a Review reporter Wednesday afternoon.

Local markets will open again December first, if not before, for Christmas demand of turkeys, the Review was informed by buyers yesterday.

$40,000 NEW MONEY IS HEADED THIS WAY

$40,000 of new money will come into Callahan County within the next few days. The allotment for this commissioner's precinct is $10,000. Other surrounding counties, Brown, Coleman and Eastland will receive proportionate amounts.

The money which is termed 'federal relief work currency', will be distributed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. It came from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

LIONS WILL ENTERTAIN LADIES TUESDAY NIGHT

Cross Plains Lions Club members will be hosts to their wives and lady friends in the annual 'evening banquet' at the Methodist Church, Tuesday night. Nat Williams, chairman of entertainment committee, refused to announce his entertainment features Thursday but promised unusual and pleasant surprises for all that attend.

DRESSY METHODISTS TO HAVE NEW PASTOR

A new pastor was named for the Dressy Methodist Church at the annual conference of that denomination in Amarillo last week. Rev. O. C. Stapleton was transferred to Truscott and Poard City in exchange of pastorate with Rev. Dewitt Van Pelt, who will come to the Dressy church.

The Rev. Van Pelt is scheduled to move here at once.

PEP SQUAD STAGES PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Leads are taken by Misses, Clara Nell McDermitt, Rosalie Cutbirth, Juanita Vestal and Fanoria Neeb. Proceeds from the production will go toward staging the annual football pep squad banquet in the Presbyterian Church next Wednesday.

Tramp Or Merchant, Friend Or Stranger, Which Shall It Be?

(AN EDITORIAL) BY JACK SCOTT

Shall our tax paying Cross Plains merchants erect buildings to shelter and shade the trucks and rostrums of travelling dry goods and medicine men, who grapple at their throats with unfair competition? You say no, we have an ordinance against it!

To evade the law the gentlemen from nowhere have been coming here and parking their wares on vacant lots, without permission from anyone. They know that they will not be prosecuted unless the property owner himself files complaint.

Saturday afternoon a 'creature of the open road' parked his truck almost in the shadow of a local concern who has been one of the chief contributors toward the growth of this community, town and section.

You say it is unfair and unjust. It is. We must amend city ordinance number 58 to make it a fineable offense for such peddlers to locate on personal property without a written receipt of permission from the owner.

We, as citizens, should shun such a practice. For common sense tells us that the 'tramp' can not really sell as good merchandise cheaper than our local concerns. He has gasoline to pay, tires and even his truck to replace.

The tramp contributes nothing toward charity, benevolence, churches, schools, or community progress; while our local merchants bear the brunt and burden of a large portion of this load.

By prohibiting peddlers, we do not mean that farmers should be restricted from selling in Cross Plains; for they like local merchants are the salt of our citizenship, and are largely responsible for the comforts and progressiveness that this section now enjoys.

This editorial is simply written to call attention to those concerned, when similar occurrences happen. There are no less than five stores here that sell hosiery and socks. Each of them has prices that cope with, if not beat, those offered by the travelling man in town Saturday.

L. F. Cullins, about 46, was buried in the Dressy cemetery Wednesday afternoon. He succumbed of acute indigestion in the Sealy hospital Santa Anna Tuesday. He was taken ill Saturday night.

11 INCH PERSIMMONS GROWN BY W. M. SMITH

Everyone knows that green persimmons will draw one's mouth into whistling position but here's one that will make you peck up your ears and question the authenticity of this article.

W. M. Smith, who carries mail on route, has persimmons that measure more than 11 inches in circumference and weigh three quarters of a pound each.

Two of the unusual specimen are on display at the Review office. "They're by far the largest I ever saw", is the comment made by practically every person seeing them.

"They're large enough to draw an elephant's mouth", wisecracked one observer.

WOMAN INTERRED AT COTTONWOOD TUESDAY

Mrs. H. L. Breeding, 60, was laid to a final rest Tuesday afternoon in the Cottonwood cemetery. She succumbed early Tuesday morning after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Breeding was born November 15, 1892. She was converted and united with the Baptist Church in 1884. Six years later, November 26, 1890, she was married to H. L. Breeding. To that union were born five boys and three girls.

All of the children were present at the funeral as well as scores of friends and relatives.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Higginbotham Brothers and Company, Cross Plains.

Mrs. M. D. Paschal has as her guest this week her mother, Mrs. Shelton, of Cisco.

Mrs. S. Freeman's mother has returned to her home in Dallas after a visit of several weeks here.

DISTRICT COURT WILL HEAR 4 OTHER CASES FROM THIS PRECINCT

Nathan Tyler, Ode Davidson, H. Hogue, Claude Hogue, Get Five Years Suspended Sentence

Nathan Tyler, Ode Davidson, Claude Hogue and Hugh Hogue all of this place, were given five years suspended sentence for violation of liquor laws in forty-second judicial district court at Baird this week.

Four more cases involving Cross Plains men are set for Monday, according to records taken from the clerk's office Thursday morning.

Court was recessed Tuesday evening for the remainder of the week. District Judge M. S. Long announced, however that it would be resumed 'promptly at nine Monday morning'.

Tyler, Davidson, Hugh Hogue and his son, Claude, all plead guilty to charges of violation of the Volstead act and were assessed five years suspended sentence by District Judge Long. They were defended by Bennie Russell. District Attorney Bob Black conducted the prosecution.

Monday morning's docket calls for cases titled State vs. S. F. Bond and State vs. R. B. McGowan. Bond is alleged to have misrepresented facts in securing an $8,000.00 loan in a charge brought by Ralph and Pat McNeal, of this place. McGowan will be tried on a charge of embezzling $1,000.00 of city funds when treasurer of Cross Plains, several years ago.

Charges of burglary will be brought against Grady Davidson and Terrell (Pete) Robbins early next week. The cases are set for Monday but due to the 'heavy docket' officials about the courthouse opined yesterday that the Cross Plains youths would not actually be tried before late Tuesday of the week.

Grady Davidson is under suspended sentence. The boys will probably be represented by Jake Alford of Rising Star, according to information received by the Review here yesterday.

OLD TIME READER PAYS REVIEW VISIT SATURDAY

Sam Erwin, one of the Review's old time readers, who gets his mail at Nimrod, route two, was in Saturday afternoon and renewed his subscription for another year.

Mr. Erwin has in his possession copies of the Fort Worth Gazette, which were published in 1889, during Grover Cleveland's administration as President of the United States. Mr. Erwin has promised to give the paper to the Review editor to make feature news articles from. A comparison of conditions then and now should be interesting to readers, as Cleveland's administration was also considered as one of the most depressive periods in American history.

Helped By Cardui

Here's the true story of how Cardui helped Mrs. H. E. Dunaway of McComb, Miss., as written herself:

"I was sick and rather discouraged. I was so weak and thin I was not able to do my work as should be done. This made me fret a good deal, and did not help my condition.

"I had pains across my back and lower part of my body. My nights were spent in rolling from one side of the bed to the other, hoping I would soon go to sleep. Then when morning would come, I would be just as tired as when I went to bed. A neighbor, seeing how badly I felt, told me to try Cardui. After I had taken one bottle, I was much better. I kept on taking Cardui, and I was stronger and slept much better at night."

Ex-Sergeant Leonard Speaks To School

Ex-sergeant Leonard, under the auspices of the American Legion, gave a lecture on "Peace" to the public school students, faculty and visitors, 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Mr. Leonard enlisted in the Canadian Army in 1914, and fought on the front line in France during the World War. As a Top Sergeant, he told of the war as it was seen and fought by soldiers in front line trenches.

His lecture was about Captain McCorkle, Captain of the Canadian Army; Captain Christy Matthewson, ex-Mayor League baseball star; and mothers of the soldiers, the great soldiers. The big parade—the parade of proud uniformed—soldiers with the band, marching before cheering people was contrasted with the small parade—the dismal march of the men carrying the wounded from the field of action, or the return of broken soldiers.

The war did not accomplish what intended to do—it took the best youth of the world, put hatred into their hearts which made them kill their fellow men; and this left sin, crime, adultery, and misery in the world. No human being who has seen and felt the horrors of the World War can wish to see it again. It is the hope of these men and women that there will never be another Armistice signed—that the command to cease firing, given on November 11, 1918, shall last forever, he said.

Ruth Rumph: Daddy is so pleased to hear you are a poet.
Byron: Fine. He likes poetry, then Ruth: Not at all. But the last boy friend of mine he tried to throw out seas an amateur boxer.

Floyd: There are an awful lots of girls who don't want to get married.
Sitter: How do you know?
Floyd: I've asked them.

Seniors Give Wedding

Don't Suffer Another Day

Sufferers from rheumatism need more than the mere temporary relief that comes from the use of pain relievers. The system must be freed from the poisons of this agonizing disease.

Miss Blix Pittman played "I Love You Truly" and "Lokengrin", on the piano while Miss Opal Young, bride; Mr. Forrest Walker, bride's father; Miss Athalie Adams, maid of honor; Mr. Tommie Webb, groom; Mr. Darwin Shuford, best man; Mr. Bruce Spencer minister; Misses Wilma Jones and Phyllis Chandler, flower girls; Misses Leota Loving, Arvie Harris, Celesta Freeman, Elizabeth McDermott, Juanita Vestal and Alice Jordan, bride's maids; and Mr. Harlon Lacy, ring bearer, marched in and took their places. When the marriage was to be performed, Mr. Tommie Holden and Mr. Floyd Havens came onto the stage carrying two horse bridles which they held up—making the bride match.

The bride was dressed in a pink flowered chiffon dress with white accessories and carried a spray of yellow chrysanthemums and pink and yellow roses; the maid of honor wore a pink organdy dress; the flower girls were dressed in the Nile green and shell pink dress; the bride's maids were dressed in pastel shades and carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and pink and yellow roses.

The grooms suit was of light tan tweed; and the best man was dressed in brown and the ring bearer carried the ring on a white lace trim cushion.

CROSS PLAINS GIRL WINS FIRST IN ESSAY WRITING AT BROWNWOOD HIGH

Leads Class In Schoolastic Standing With An Average Between 95 and 100 For First Six Weeks Reports, Says Bulletin

Miss Sarah Collins, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Collins, of Cross Plains, has been announced by the Brownwood Bulletin as winner of an essay contest among Brownwood high school students, in which more than 100 participated. Subject of all entries was "Why We Should Celebrate The Texas Centennial in 1936."

An article published alongside of Miss Collins' essay in the Brownwood Bulletin was the honor roll of high school students there. In the Junior Class, the Cross Plains girl had the highest average and one of four students to make an average of 95 to 100. Miss Collins essay on the Texas Centennial follows.

WHY WE SHOULD CELEBRATE TEXAS CENTENNIAL IN 1936
BY SARA COLLINS

The coming year of 1936 marks the one hundredth anniversary of Texans. Are you a loyal Texan? Does the thought of the birthday of your state strike a responsive chord in your heart? If it does not, may the mirror of my loyalty reflect of gleam of devotion to you; if you love your state as I love it, perhaps our common love will make my humble observations interesting to you.

country by the Spaniards, the revolution was fought; and Texas won her independence. The bravery of those who have their lives for the state has been a great incentive to their posterity to carry her standards onward. Our Texas forefathers would be supremely happy if, by having this great celebration, Texas and her people would be benefited. It is estimated that 25,000,000 would be paid into the state treasury from taxes on gas and oil, and, since this tax goes into the highway and school funds, the state would be permanently benefited. The increase sale of goods; the wide publicity; and the later value of the buildings and exhibits for museums and other institutions of that type would be a great help to Texas in many ways.

Texas is the largest state in the union. She has an industrious people, a great wealth in natural resources, and growing industries. The future of Texas is assured, then, if her people do everything possible to develop her natural resources and encourage her industries. The Centennial would attract the attention of the world upon Texas. People would read her history, watch with interest her prospects, and, if possible, come to see specimens of her resources and industries. Such exhibits would undoubtedly arouse enthusiasm among others who would join us to make Texas greater.

OBITUARY

J. M. HARLOW

In memory of J. M. Harlow, who departed this life November 6, to make his home in the Heavenly land. At the time of his departure he was 77 years, 10 months and eight days. He was born December 29, 1854 at Mt. Vernon, Illinois.

In early manhood he moved to Texas with his parents and settled in Burnett County, at Backbone Valley. November 19, 1874, he was married to Miss Annis A. Joy. To this union were born six children, four girls and two boys. Surviving are his wife and all of these children.

I cannot say and I will not say. That he is dead—he is just gone away.

With a cherry smile and a wave of the hand, He wandered into an unknown land. The touches of his hand have strayed

As reverently a shis life was prayed. Think of him still as the same I say, He is not dead—he is just gone away.

Another hand is beckoning us. Another call comes, as if upon the wings of wind with early morning to remind of that reunion behind the skies, where neither sickness, sorrow nor departure embark. We visualize the Angels around the pearly, white Throne in Glory, and amid that happy band is a familiar smile, one that made sweeter the sultry hours of Summer days. One who loved with a tender devotion; flowers, nature's splendor and other evidences of God's handiwork.

He passed from this life as quietly as the evening sun behind a distant hillside. And like the radiant glow the sun leaves on the horizon, he left fatherly devotion and treasured memories to guide our footsteps.

The separation seems sad but we remember by our father's teaching that all things word to the good of them who love God.

May the hand that led him, lead us to that Heavenly home. A loving daughter. Mrs. Emma Worthy.

Dressy

BY MRS. C. D. BAIRD

Our school is progressing nicely. Room mothers for this month are Mrs. Baird, intermediates; Mrs. John Freeman, high school. The purpose of the Claude Warren, primary; Mrs. C. D. room mothers is to encourage each room to make a higher scholastic standing than either of the two rooms. Last report gave Mrs. McGowen room and Mrs. Martin's room a tie for first place with a general average of 89.

Mrs. Doyle Neeb visited her sister Mrs. Andy Foster in Abilene Saturday.

Kittie Sue Baird celebrated her tenth birthday at home with a few friends Sunday afternoon. After games had been played for a quite a while, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to 10 children, who wished her many happy returns of the day.

Miss Golda Klutts left our community to stay with her grand-mother in Cross Plains. She will attend school there also. We will miss Golda, but we are glad she can be of service to her dear grand-mother who is so in need of the love of a strong brave young life as we believe Golda is.

Mrs. C. D. Baird visited her sister Mrs. Fisher who is in the Sealy hospital Wednesday.

Our community was shocked Tuesday night as the sad news sped over the air that Mr. L. F. Cullins had departed this life at the Sealy hospital. Mr. Cullins was a fine man, always for the good against the wrong. Was a kind and loving husband, a kind friend and neighbor—was a member of the Baptist church at this place. We all extend our sympathy.
