HOME TOWN GOSSIP

Conspicuous because of their absence about the ol' home town are "Slim" McNeel and "Slim" Crutchmier, who Tuesday afternoon left for the lofty mountains of New Mexico, to spend the Summer.

Friday night the pastor of these phrases journeyed over to Cottonwood. Our arrival in that fine little community was greeted with a sudden shower from the heavens, which overflowed creeks and necessitated our visiting about Coffee's store until the wee hours of night.

Many others had taken refuge, however, under the hospitable shelter and we had the opportunity to gather some very interesting information for this column, which appears hereunder.

Marion Rutledge, one of this city's most chivalric young step-pers, has a case of "loveites" in the last stage with Miss Catherine Champion, Cottonwood's all-West Texas girl basket ball player.

It is generally known that the couple are pretty well sold on each other and the "fatal leap" is expected in the near too distant future. The principals have pledged, however, to give this columnist an advance tip on the nuptial, so you may therefore expect to keep informed on future developments.

Another local boy, whom we learned has a more than passing interest in Cottonwood, is Lloyd Bryan. He's frequent caller at the McElroy home there.

Mrs. Ola Coffey, the young lady's elder sister and a good friend of this department, informs us, however, that the affair has not reached the serious stage. But it is quite often that older sisters are not taken into complete confidence. Of course, we would not intimate as much in this instance.

In our shelter seeking mission we also learned that Burl Lusk, John Lackey and a number of other members of the younger set are traveling the Cottonwood trail many of these moonlight nights.

Last week this department issued a challenge to unmarried men about town for a baseball game to be played sometime in the near future with the espoused males. Many of the unattached chaps have signified their desire to meet in such a contest but as yet the challenge is not officially accepted. We will therefore declare the single

PHILPECO WINS 13 OUT OF 16 STARTS AGAINST BALLINGER

In their first meeting with the Ballinger Country Club golf team this season played on the course of the Santa Anna Club Sunday afternoon, the Philpeco team won 13 out of 16 matches, completely routing the Ballinger niblick swingers. Most of the defeats were by wide margins, two of them being of the 10 and 8 variety, the largest score it is possible to win by. Two of the Philpeco players were defeated by only two holes, and the other loser by only one hole and an extra hole at that.

Ballinger was deprived of the services of Agnew, ace No. 2 player of the team, who was at the West Texas tournament in Abilene, while Philpeco was minus J. T. Hammett, No. 1 for Philpeco, who was also at Abilene. Johnny Gregg played No. 1 for Philpeco and held Thorp, young Ballinger sharpshooters to a victory of 3 and 2. Several Philpeco players, who made the trip, failed to get matches, as Ballinger only brought 16 men.

Following is the results of individual matches.

First named are Philpeco players:

Gregg was defeated by Thorp three and two.

Bill Tunnell defeated Geo. Hill, Jr., three and two.

Nicholson defeated Griffiss even and six.

Embry was defeated by Dr. Bailey two up.

Barton was defeated by Dr. Douglas, one up (19).

Wright defeated Gieseke two up.

Sellers defeated Fryar six and five.

TRUSTEES SELECT BAIRD MENTOR AT MEETING MONDAY

Claude Daniel, Baird high school football coach, was elected by the board of trustees in regular session Monday night to fill the vacancy as athletic director in Cross Plains school system, made recently by the resignation of Buck Osburn, who relinquished his post here to become assistant to P. E. Shotwell at Longview.

Daniel, a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, was an outstanding athlete in college being a four letter man in football and an all-Texas conference guard one year.

His administrative duties here will include the teaching of history and civics. Daniel is unmarried and 27 years of age.

He attended Abilene high school and was graduated with the class of 1927. Daniel was a student in Abilene high school when Nat Williams, Cross Plains Superintendent, was a teacher there.

Daniel was employed at the rate of $125 per month.

Cross Plains' material for the approaching grid season is regarded as the best in recent years. Nine letter-men from last year's squad are eligible to return. Recruits from other schools as well as a host of last year's squadmen—who failed to letter—are expected to strengthen the 1935 aggregation.

Daniel was elected over a large group of applicants, which included two other coaches from this district, as well as several highly touted college gridgers.

694 CHECKS OUT OF 807 CONTRACTS ARE RECEIVED IN COUNTY

694 cotton rental checks, totaling $13,800, on the first payment for 1935, were received by Callahan county farmers the past week. The payment is in accordance with the 1934-35 contract.

The following announcement from County Agent Ross B. Jenkins concerning the payment was received by the Review yesterday.

Callahan received a batch of 694 rental checks that total $13,800 on the first payment for 1935. This payment is made on the old 1934-35 contracts. There is an 807 total in this group but owing to change of tenants and due to various causes some of that number did not get off to the State Board at the same time and will, therefore, come in small batches from now on. It has been but about three weeks since this shipment went to Washington.

There are also a group of 1935 contracts that represent only agreements for the one year which have not previously been signed. They are also in Washington and will likely be paid before June has advanced too far.

The second payment will be paid as soon after the farms have been measured as possible. We are assured that the machinery is oiled and able to get the checks out much quicker than last year. Secretary Wallace said that every department had been adjusted and all steps cut as short as humanly possible to get the benefits back to the farmer who is in need of this kind of help.

Since the county has been blessed with rain and fields are too wet to work, all persons are asked to come after this check and at the same time sign for their Bankhead certificates. It is hoped to kill two birds with one stone, and at the same time get in certificates back before ginning time.

Any unused certificates held from last year must be turned in to Mr. A. L. Cook who will make out application for new ones in their place that can be used on this year's crop. Do that at once also.

Mrs. Walter Westerman returned home Monday after a weeks visit in Houston. Mrs. Marie Sidoroff returned with her to spend a few days.

Farmer Tells Story Of His Trip To Washington To Attend AAA Meet

By Steve N. Foster

At the very first I want to thank all those who have helped in any way to send me to Washington, whether with money or your good will and also to express to every one my gratitude for the confidence in selecting me and only wish all could have been there to see and hear the many things I experienced. I hope to be able to see every farmer at some near date and tell you just my impressions of things in our capitol. Nothing could have stirred a man so much as the things learned on that trip.

I left Baird on the "Sunshine Special" May 12 and caught the main train at Fort Worth. There were 357 on our train. Another train was made up at Longview of about the same number of farmers—a little over 700 from Texas. We went through St. Louis, Cincinnati, Charleston, and I might add Manassas, the place of the first battle of the Civil War.

The first important meeting that our section made in Washington was to hear Cully A. Cobb, Chief of the cotton section. He is a plain farmer just like you and I, in fact Secretary Wallace and all the boys who are working for us down there are just the kind you like to meet and look and talk like us farmers. C. A. Cobb stayed with our delegation all the time. Our Senators and representatives treated us royally and gave us a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel the first night and the noon meal Wednesday was given us at the capitol building by our congressman, Thomas L. Blanton. The highlight of the whole trip, I think, was the talk by our President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He talked to us for at least half an hour and told us that the big shots who had said we are wasting food and feed and shedding crocodile tears about A.A.A. were liars and there was no need to pussyfoot around about it. He told us that the farm program was to be continued and there would be no turning back. He said the manufacturers had always had the protective tariff but now the tables were turned and the farmer was getting

by Aubrey Boyd
AUTOCASER SERV.

Fifteenth Instalment

SYNOPSIS: Young Ed Maitland and the hardened gambler Speed Malone became partners on the trip north to the Yukon gold fields in '97, when word of the rich ores there first came down the Pacific coast. Maitland, son of a New England seafaring family, was determined to win back his lost family fortunes. Frenchy, the fisherman who took him and Speed north; Lucky Rose, beautiful young woman who had given Maitland a ring for a keep-sake; Fallon, trail boss of the miners, who resented Rose's attentions to Maitland; Steiner the money lender; young Pete and his drunken partner Bill Owens; Brent old-time prospector; and Garnet, a well-to-do modern one who hired Maitland and Speed to haul his stuff from the beach over the mountains to the Yukon—these were among the crowd that made up the gold seekers. At Liarville, a camp in the hills. Speed was made trail boss in Fallon's place, because Speed insisted on closing the trail till it could be repaired—it was almost impassable. But the fickle crowd veered back to Fallon. Speed and Maitland took a stand above the pass to keep the miners from breaking through. Pete came to offer his help, but Speed refused it and the boy, after saying his partner had been drowned after a drunken brawl, rode off. But he took a position where he could fire on the miners when they tried to rush the pass, and so helped Speed. Later Brent, with an old deer gun, added his help. Just when Speed seemed to be gaining the upper hand, Fallon called his men with an exultant shout. A cavalcade was coming down the trail.—Now go on with the story.

"And so, gentlemen of the Jury, the Crown will prove that the defendants had a motive for the murder of this Siwash, and did in fact kill him."

The Crown Prosecutor, Wade, cast a heavy-lidded, mordant stare at the jury and sat down. By contrast, Garnet, at an adjoining table nearer the prisoner's dock looked like an urbane courtier.

The arrival of one of the first upriver steamers, some weeks before, had provided the accused men with their distinguished counsel. Garnet's mission in the North had proved to be a political one. Learning, when he landed, of the charge against the two partners, had offered to undertake their defense.

Maitland looked older for the 2 months of prison life that had elapsed since his arrest. The shadowed look in his eyes, however, was not wholly due to the ordeal ahead of him; it came from one that was past.

A weather-beaten man he had never seen was being sworn in. Garnet had resumed his seat. Fallon's bulky figure slouched at ease toward the center of the row of witnesses. Nearer, Maitland's eyes rested on Pete with the emotion which the sight of a loved and loyal friend brings to a man in trouble. A wave of tenderness brimmed his heart. Pete wore a summery frock of light blue; her golden hair, was longer than he remembered it, and arranged in a more feminine fashion. It was his first glimpse of her in girl's attire, and she was altogether lovely.

Police records of the finding of native's body that Spring in the king ice of Lake Lebarge, had flashed the fact of murder. The Siwash had been killed by a 44 bullet which struck him in the back. His corpse had been disposed of through an air hole in the ice, and had lain in this concealment through the winter. Its having floated finally to the surface was due to the rising warm currents from the lake bed.

Wade's first witness was a trader from the old post at Ogilvie on the Yukon. The trader told a very queer story, which went back into earlier Yukon days, and rehearsed the tale which the accused men had already heard from Drew.

While some of this testimony was open to objections, Garnet passed the witness without cross-examining, and Wade called a grizzled-looking officer of the police.

"He produced the mukluks Dalton had worn. He compared them with those taken from the body of the murdered Indian to prove, by an identical working of the bead ornaments, that they had been fashioned by the same native hand.

Garnet had passed this evidence without question. Wade called Corporal Cathcart to the stand.

Cathcart explained that the tracks tangled in an odd way through the timber that sheltered the camp, and were difficult to read. He told of finding a pool of blackening snow crystals near the head of the lake, covered but showing through in a dark shadow. He had then sought out the defendants and questioned them.

"They said they had met no Siwash, and showed an unwillingness to say anything more. When I asked them about the blood dust, they explained it as the blood of a caribou they had shot, and produced a fresh hide to prove it. Their carbine, a 44 caliber gun, had not been cleaned, and still showed a powder mark."

The witness told of his visit to the cabin in the wane of the blizzard, while Speed was being sent to Skagway. Before he reached the door, a Siwash dog had slunk out of his way around the cabin wall, and he caught only a storm-whitened glimpse of it. The discovery that the defendants had a malmute dog was, of course, startling, and a fact of great importance. Maitland, when asked where it came from, claimed to have found it astray, not long after his partner shot the caribou on Lake Lebarge. "In the meantime, the Siwash's body was found in the breaking ice of Lake Lebarge, establishing the fact of murder."

"To establish our case against the accused men, it remained to be proved that they actually used the dog to trace its camp or origin, and that camp was the hide-out of an unknown white prospector with a gold secret. As was proved."

Garnet, after a brief address to the jury as to the circumstantial nature of the evidence, called the first, and so far as was known, the only witness for the defense.

Pete was unmistakably a very attractive girl; to this crowd of hard-living men she was something more rare and gracious than the words convey, or than may be imagined by any but men who have lived in frontier mining camps.

"Had you ever seen the defendants before they arrived in Skagway?" Garnet asked.

"No, sir."

"What was Owens' relation to you?"

"I suppose you would call him my foster father. I was raised at his ranch."

"Did he ever speak to you of your real father?"

"Only once. He spoke then as if Dalton was my father. Or anyway some near kin of men."

"What did you do after Owens died?"

"I went over the pass to find Dalton and warn him. I sold a gold-mounted gun and some things I had for grub, and rode down the lakes looking for him. I didn't find anyone waiting, and didn't have much to go on, not even knowing what Dalton looked like. When the cold came, I met a rafting outfit who camped to cut timber a little way up the Teslin, and they gave me a job cooking for them through the winter."

"Why did you leave them?" Garnet prompted.

"It was only a week or two before the break-up. I hadn't heard anything of Dalton and was wondering what to do."

"That night I woke up hearing a voice close to my bunk, on the other side of the tent wall. The voice was shouting to me above the noise of the storm, but it sounded dim. The words were something like, 'If you're Pete, get out of the North, and get quick! You're in danger. I'm in a tough fix—can't take you down river. For God's sake, keep clear of—' The wind shrieked and the voice died away. I wasn't sure of what it said at the last."

"Soon after that one, of Fallon's men happened by the camp and saw me. I knowed Fallon was lookin' for me, and felt that this was what the warning meant. I saddled the mare and started for the coast."

I were both dead tired by then, and there's more than a day I'm not clear about. All the time I had a feeling of being followed or shadowed by someone or something."

"Then—I kind of lost count. I think I was in a river canyon when the storm broke. There were wild voices in it like wolves. I must have pulled the mare out of it and into the open when the storm struck. Then next thing I know I was in Mr. Maitland's cabin. The dog led him to where I'd fallen in the snow."

"Did you tell Maitland why you were making for Skagway in that weather?"

"No, sir."

"Why didn't you, Pete?"

"He and Speed had a quarrel with Fallon before, and I didn't want to make it worse because of me. Or to mix them up in any trouble either."

"During your stay at the cabin, did Maitland ask you any questions about Owens or Dalton, or his gold secret?"

"No, sir. Anything I told him was of my own accord."

"Did you feel safe there?"

"I felt as safe as if I was in—God's courtroom."

The courtroom smiled a little at this homely but expressive miners' phrase.

Pete then told what had happened up to the arrest of the accused men in Dalton's camp.

"I will ask you one more question," said Wade, in the deep silence that followed. "Do you love the defendant, Maitland?"

Pete's gray eyes were shadowed. She bit her lip as she had done that day when she recovered from the throes of cold. Two big tears rolled down her cheeks. "I have told the truth," she murmured.

"I think, Your Honor," said Wade, "that the question has been sufficiently answered."

Next morning, when the court reopened, Garnet produced an unexpected witness. He looked toward the rear of the courtroom and said, "Rose Valery."

At the name, Fallon came up-right in his chair, started out of the detachment. He turned his head in frowning unbelief.

But he was unnoticed by the courtroom as Rose approached the stand. Though the river had carried many rumors of her beauty this was her first appearance in Dawson.

Indifferent to the crowd's stare, she looked at the accused men and then at Pete, with some inward, unreadable thought. Her dark eyes showed a glitter of fire when they crossed with Fallon's, who slouched back now, carelessly, while she was being sworn.

"Miss Valery," said Garnet, "where were you born?"

"I don't know," Rose answered. Her low voice had the quality of plucked harp strings.

"Where were you cared for as a child?"

"In the convent school at Notre Dame at the Mission Dolores in San Francisco. I was taught music and singing at the convent," Rose ventured, "until I was 15, but I was restless, and discipline only made me unhappy. I decided to run away, and did, and so became a professional singer."

"I had a plan of reaching the gold country. A little after dark I climbed over the convent wall at a place where a sloping barn roof touched it. I got on a street car at Guerrero Street. As I hadn't any carfare the conductor put me off at the second stop, two blocks below."

"A boy was singing in a high soprano voice in front of an open-air bootblack stand next the saloon, where the sports were getting shined up for the evening."

"It surprised me to see the men at the shoe-stand throw him money—even one half-dollar piece—for what wasn't really a good song, or very good singing, except for being strong and clear. While he refrain of the song. The boy was angry, but the men encouraged me, and we tried to sing each other down. As it was easier to chord with him, I sang alto, and our duet stopped the shoe shining. When we finished, the men gave me a handful of silver; one of them handed me a dollar piece."

"I divided what I got with the boy, and then he wanted us to throw in together and play the corner, but I said I was going to Nevada to sing in the gold camps."

Mighty Casey Today

WASHINGTON—Daniel M. Casey (above), now 71, rode to fame 48 years ago on the baseball poem, "Casey at the Bat," all of which was wrong, says Mr. Casey. "I was a pitcher and was not supposed to be a good hitter."—Still the poem lives.

"The boy got excited and wanted to go. While we were talking it over, a shadow fell between us from the street lamp, and I found that the man who'd given me the dollar was standing there listening."

"So you're headin' for Nevada?" he asked.

"When I agreed we were, he said he knew all about the country; had been there not so long before and brought out a heap of gold, and he was going again, so he could give us a steer, and see that we were treated right."

On the car going downtown, he said something to the boy I couldn't hear, and gave him a gold coin. The boy got off, telling me he was going to buy some things and meet us later.

"I wasn't so sure about the man's looks. He was big, rather handsome, and disingenuous. He said we couldn't start till morning, and he got me a room at a hotel near the Baldwin. He told me he wasn't going to Nevada. He didn't need to, and didn't want to."

Subject to the foregoing, the Legislature shall have the power to regulate the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors, including the power to establish a State Monopoly on the sale of distilled liquors.

(b) The Legislature shall enact a law or laws whereby the qualified voters of any county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, may, by a majority vote of those voting, determine from time to time whether the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be prohibited or legalized within the prescribed limits; and such laws shall contain provisions for voting on the sale of intoxicating liquors of various types and various alcoholic content.

(c) In all counties, justice's precincts or incorporated towns or cities wherein the sale of intoxicating liquors had been prohibited by local option elections held under the laws of the State of Texas and in force at the time of the taking effect of Section 20, Article XVI of the Constitution of Texas, it shall continue to be unlawful to manufacture, sell, barter or exchange in any such county, justice's precinct or incorporated town or city, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or medicated bitters capable of producing intoxication or any other intoxicants whatsoever, for beverage purposes, unless and until a majority of the qualified voters in such county or political subdivision thereof voting in an election held for such purpose shall determine such to be lawful; provided that this subsection shall not prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages containing not more than 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight in cities, counties or political subdivisions thereof in which the qualified voters have voted to legalize such sale under the provisions of Chapter 116, Acts of the Regular Session of the 43rd Legislature."

Sec. 2. Such proposed Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a special election to be held throughout the State of Texas, on the fourth Saturday in August, 1935, at which election all voters favoring said proposed Amendment, shall write, or have printed on their ballots the words:

"FOR the amendment to the State Constitution repealing State-wide prohibition, prohibiting the open saloon and providing for local option."

And those voters opposed to said proposed Amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words:

"AGAINST the amendment to the State Constitution repealing State-wide prohibition, prohibiting the open saloon and providing for local option."

If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said Amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for such election, and shall have the same published and such election held as provided by the Constitution and laws of this State.

DANIELS TO RELIEVE COACH BUCK OSBURN

Mr. Daniels, who has been coach at Baird for a number of years was elected last Monday night for the coaching job in our school. Our present coach, Mr. Osburn, is going to Longview to become assistant coach. We regret that Mr. Osburn is leaving us very much but we are confident that Mr. Daniels will produce a winning team in the 1935 season.

Cross Plains has lost three coaches in the last 18 months and each one of them have secured better jobs coaching.

Good luck to you Mr. Osburn, in your new job in Longview. Welcome to Cross Plains, Mr. Daniels.

We are indeed grateful to these teachers and we fully realize that a better faculty than we have in our school could be found in no other school no matter where we would search.

Those teachers who have taught us during our High School courses are: Mr. Williams, Miss Gwathmey, Mr. Norman, Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Keyes, Mr. Vilha, Miss Gwathmey, Miss Nelson, Miss Price, Mr. McQueen, Miss Cunningham Mr. Ward and Mr. Osburn.

A few of these teachers have left our school and have gone elsewhere to help others get through school.

In due consideration of all of the many things you have done for us, we, the senior class, give our best wishes to the faculty for as

The Childrens Theatre under the supervision of Helen Gray will not continue during the summer but will resume again next fall when school starts. This work carried on by Helen Gray has been an asset to our school and also a credit to the Public Speaking class of which Helen is a member. This Childrens Theater will present a short program in chapel to be presented Friday morning in the High School Auditorium.

All children interested in taking expression this summer see Helen Gray. Four, one and a half hours will be given for one dollar. Don't miss this opportunity to take expression from a competent teacher.

Hints To The Booklover

By Marie McVelia

Since, this is the last edition of the school news we feel that we should end the school year with a bang by telling the student body especially, the on-coming Freshmen of the interesting books in the CPHS library. As we scan the list we find Wintersmoon, Good Earth, Soul of Ann Rutledge, Cimmeron, Arrow-Smith, Cradle of the Deep, Daddy Long-Legs, The Virginian for a good westerner and numerous other books that we have not mentioned. We hope the list of outstanding books will serve as a guide to the student body of 1935-36. We also want to take time on behalf of the students and the library to thank those who have contributed books to our library. Here's to a successful school year for the on-coming Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen.

successful a school year next year as this one has been.

SPORT NEWS

By Jay Mayes

This is the last sport news that will be written this term and the last that this reporter will ever write. I wish to take this opportunity to tell you all that I have enjoyed writing for this column for the term of '34 and '35, and it is my sincere hope that the Buffaloes of '35 carry on through a victorious season and a regional championship. Power to you Buddies !!!

Monday night the board of trustees elected Coach Daniels of Baird to coach the Buffaloes this fall. He was picked over 25 other prominent coaches. There were coaches from Snyder, Winters, Rising Star, Putnam, Moran and other coaches. There were men from McMurry, Howard Payne, Simmons, A. C. C. Daniel Baker, and several other schools. We are sure that Mr. Daniels is a good coach and will lead the Buffaloes to a championship.

But the best thing about these Buffaloes is that they have got what it takes to win a ball team, and they have promised to win the regional championship or die. CPHS has more material and experienced men than it has ever had before and there is no reason that we should not have a good team.

Bevo Webb the three year all-conferenced man will serve the Buffs in the backfield with a cool head and his usual calm offensive plays and hard-hitting defensive playing. More than likely he will be occupying the quarter back position and he is well suited for that position as he has had three years experience on the gridiron.

J. T. Cross, the speed merchant and famous side stepper will be his last year and he promises to give all he has.

He was a very valuable man last year and promises to "shoot the works" this year.

Billie Gray has an educated toe and promises to send that pigskin down the field with perfect aim. He is also a beautiful passer and will send many a ball across that white line.

Ross Hemphill and J. H. Childs are also a couple of promising backs. They are out to do their part this fall.

Weedy Joy, the boy from Cottonwood, is one of the Buffs most promising backs in several years. He travels with those knees under his chin, and shakes those hips and legs like a rabbit.

Duncan the man of the big line promises to crack 'em plenty hard. He is one guy that really likes the game and wants to win, and he is just the guy that can put out and do it. Power to you buddies!!!

Two of the hard-hitting tackles that CPHS has ever produced will be bucking that line again this fall. You all know that these tackles are Pierce and Barr. It takes a mighty good man to play opposite these guys as they are as tough as they make 'em.

We have three guards that are so good it is hard to pick the two best two. They are Buster Atwood, Blitch, and Usery. Atwood and Usery played last season and proved to be two of the toughest little guards ever to be seen on Murphy Field. Blitch weighs about 170 pounds and played in the Buffs., backfield last season. These three guards can go over under and through any line.

The Buffalo center has not been picked the same as the rest of the team—the position that these men have been placed in this column may not be correct as I base my guess on the position they placed last year and looked in spring practice "Tiny" Cross is a promising center. At least no one can go over him. B. W. Huntington is also coming out for center.

It will not be possible to tell about each man because they have got so much that space will not permit.

John Paul Jackson and Verner are contenders for an end position. McMellan, Flahue, Joy, Henderson and all the rest are promising men and will make any man hustle if they beat them.

Edward Boone, the little red-headed merchant, has promised faithfully that he is going to play back on a regional championship team next fall. He is a real back and will do his part toward winning that honor. Power to you "SF".

And now boys it is all past. The season of '34 is gone just a pleasant memory. Those senior boys that will just be "exes" in '35 Those boys are Jimmie Lusk, Jimmie Settle, John Lackey, Jay Mayes and Berl Lusk. We will be watching you Buffs and want you every one to be a "RAUNCH" and be satisfied with nothing less than a regional championship.

Carry On Buffaloes and Power To You!!!!

POKES & JOKES

By Jay and Jimmie

Well we promised to really spill all the dirt we know this week, so we are going to tell everything we know.

The first item of any importance is the triangular affair between a freshman, a sophomore and a senior. It looks like the sophomore is doing more good than the senior is. Thats all right Senior, "Love will find a way."

Edward Boone seems to have an awful crush on Imogene Conger and Elvin Williams seems to have one on Francis Preston. We don't know very much about these two affairs but they will probably blossom into full bloom this summer. Elvin Williams has also shown a very fond affection for Lenora Lacy. May the best girl win.

'Twas on Monday nite that John Lackey went to Cottonwood to visit Miss Juanelle Sparks. We thought John had such a case down at Burkett that he wouldn't go elsewhere but I guess Burkett must have dropped him. Nice going Miss Betty Wooten!!

Speaking of cases, we have just discovered a new one in High School and we shall call it the High School and we shall call it the Freshman-Senior case No. 5 or the Long-Loving affair. Yes, it's true W. N. Long has finally caught him in Freshman and Billie Ruth Loving has caught her a Senior. We hear that it's a pretty serious case but we see that W. N. still has his Senior ring.

Helen Gray has her a new boy friend. Ask Buster Atwood who she was with last Sunday nite. And also ask QQueenie McAdams who her boy friend was the same nite.

By the way, while we are speaking of Queenie, it may also be said that she has been seen several times with Jimmie Lee Payne. Edna Mae Hamilton has also been seen with Hadden Payne. Here we have a couple of cases that are blooming right along. Well, we would have never thought it but as it's a reality we can just see why crazy things do happen.

Miss Nelson, our man-killing teacher, has been seen quite often with the A&P manager. Buck Wheeler still comes back to Cross Plains to see her. Eddie Priest still makes trips down here, and Hulan Barr has been seen with her a few times. Oh, me! Why can't all of us be popular and good-looking.

We know a couple of people who were disappointed last week because their names did not appear in this column. Well Wailena and Malcolm, we'll try to make up for it this week. Since Settle-boy quit going out the Barclay way, Malcolm visits are getting more frequent as the days go by. You had better hang on to him, Wailena. He doesn't like two-timers either.

Marie McVelia has been having a little trouble with her boy-friend attending A.C.C. Thats all right, Marie, everything will turn out all right.

That Atwood-Little affair is no more. It broke up a little over a week ago. Well, that was a swell romance while it lasted. It was good publicity. It sure helped the writers of this column a lot.

We are pretty sure that the faculty will be glad to get rid of this dumb bunch of Seniors and as one teacher called them "a tough bunch of Seniors".

I guess that we will have to give a summary of the affairs of the year and how long they lasted.

The Lusk-Barclay affair, lasted 2 weeks; Mayes-Westerman affair, still in progress; Lusk-Mullins affair—still in progress; Settle-Barclay affair—3 months; Lusk-Lowe affair, still in progress; Ray-Neel affair—still in progress; Atwood-Little affair—8 months; Cross-Lutgens affair—still in progress; Long—Loving affair—still in progress; Steele—Young affair—1 month; Hamilton-Payne—still in progress; Payne-McAdams affair—still in progress, Steele-Barclay affair, still in progress.

Mrs. Fred Cutbirth, Rosalea Cutbirth and Bobbie Lee Westerman were Coleman visitors Tuesday afternoon.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE WAS READ AND HERE CONVENED THE CONVENTION WHICH MADE RHODE ISLAND ONE OF THE UNITED STATES. BUILT IN 1760 AND OCCUPIED IN 1763, WAS USED AS A COURT AND STATE HOUSE UNTIL 1900. Violation Of Sewer Ordinance Almost Impaired Whole System. Mayor Says

Warning of the penalty for violation of local sewer laws is set forth this week by Mayor S. P. Collins, who asserts that carelessness came near impairing the complete system last week.

The mayor's statement for publication appears hereunder.

"Thursday of last week an obstruction which had accumulated in one of the main lines of the sewer system came near causing a complete temporary shut-down of the entire system. This obstruction was caused of usage on the system, and had it not been discovered in time, near a manhole and easy of access, a temporary closing of the entire system and untold inconvenience would have resulted therefrom.

"Therefore, I warn and call your attention, to certain provisions of the City Ordinance governing the sewer system, in part thereof as follows:

"Section 27. No person shall place any bulky substance in any sewer opening, or in the house connections or private drains connecting with any public main or lateral sewer, or any substance having a tendency to obstruct the free flowage of said sewer, or to damage them in any way.

"Section 39. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to injure, break or remove any portion of any manhole, flue, tank or any part of the sewer system, or to throw or deposit, or cause to be thrown or deposited in any sewer opening or receptacle connected with the sewer system any garbage, offal, vegetable parings, ashes, cinders, matches, rags or other materials or things whatsoever; except such as is of a soluble nature, and only such quality of toilet paper as is also of a soluble tissue and suitable for passage through sanitary sewers.

"Section 40. Every person, firm or corporation who shall omit or refuse to comply with, or who willfully violates any section of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be fined in any sum not less than $5.00 nor more than $200.00 for each offense."

"I would warn further, that aside from endangering the main line it is liable to lodge and obstruct passage at some point on said private connection. And in that case you will have a job for a plumber, at a probable cost to you of not less than $10.00, and exposure of proof that you have violated the ordinance.

"Please observe this warning by letting us have your cooperation and help in keeping the sewer system in good condition.

IMITATION OF LIFE AT LIBERTY SUNDAY

Claudette Colbert, born in Paris, decided on an American name for stage and screen but Hollywood defeated her purpose.

The actress' real name is Claudette Chauchoin, but she chose "Colbert," the name of her grandmother, and pronounced it to rhyme with "shirt." This, she decided, did not sound French, and was vastly more pronounceable than the other.

However, Hollywood placed the French pronunciation of "Colbert" on it, and the film capital is more or less version. But Claudette still pronounces it to rhyme with shirt, thus—"Colbert."

Miss Colbert comes to the Liberty theatre Sunday as the star of "Imitation of Life," John M. Stahl's powerful Universal drama adapted from the novel by Fannie Hurst. Warren Williams heads the supporting cast, which also includes Ned Sparks, Louise Beavers, Wyndham Standing, Rochelle Hudson, Baby Jane, Alan Hale and many other popular screen players.

WILD BOYS OF ROAD TO BE VOYLES TEXT SUN.

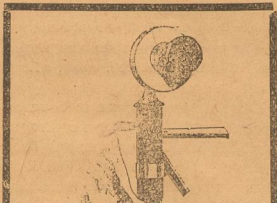

"Wild Boys of the Road" will be the Sunday subject of Dr. C. A. Voyles at the Baptist church. The text is the same as the title of a picture shown at a local theater this week and is reputed to have created quite a bit of interest among young people.

Dr. Voyles visited a hobo camp in Shreveport, Louisiana, some time ago and will describe the situation as he saw it there. He will also discuss their influence on morals and ideals today.

All young people are especially invited to attend the service, the Review was told.

At the morning hour Sunday Dr. Voyles will preach on the "Baptism of Jesus". In the eleven o'clock message the pastor will discuss the 18 years of silence and it's influence upon the life of Christ. He will answer the questions, "Why was Jesus baptised?", "How was He Baptised?" and "Should people follow the example of Jesus?"

Go To Church Sunday

Go To Church—Because—

1. The Lord God says: "Remember the Sabbath to keep it holy."
2. There is no "standstill" in spiritual life. We either become better or worse. There is no better place for you to be found than in Church. It stands with the best people for the best things.
3. Your days are hastening by. If you neglect the Church while you are alive, what do you expect of it when you die?
4. Church attendance is a "patriotic duty." You owe it to your country. "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach unto every people."
5. The church invites you. It offers satisfaction for man's most ancient need. The inspired record reads: "The supreme duty of the church is to preach this word of God."

FORD HIKES LOWEST WAGE FROM $5 TO $6 FOR 125,000 WORKERS

Henry Ford stepped up the minimum daily wage of his 125,000 employes this week from $5 to $6, adding $2,000,000 a month to the Ford Motor Company pay roll, the Review is informed by Jesse McAdams, local Ford dealer, who received news of the action direct from Detroit.

Both Ford and Lincoln plants in Detroit and other cities share in the upward revision of the wage scale, and the announcement said that many of the wage brackets above the new minimum will be given hourly rate advances from 5 cents upward.

Ford was a leader among the principal manufacturers of the United States in stepping up wage scales for factory workers as far back as 1914. He boosted wages from $2.37 to $5 a day in that year and drew from economists the prediction that the increase would be harmful to the company.

Instead of retracting the plan, the Ford Company established wage increases as a policy and in 1915, Ford announced he had added a 15 per cent bonus to the annual wages of his workers, payable in December of each year. Because some of the men quit their jobs during the year and lost their bonus, he ordered it paid pro rata every day.

In 1919 came the increase of minimum wages to $6 a day, and a year later an employes investment certificate plan was established. By the end of 1934, according to the Ford Company, the investment certificate plan had paid Ford workers a profit of $25,000,000.

In 1929 the minimum Ford daily wage was jumped to $7 and held at that figure until near the end of 1931, when the scale dropped back to $6 a day. A year later it was cut to $4 a day, and then in March 1934, it was boosted to $5 a day.

64 BRUCE BARTON

JOHN THE BAPTIST

IF one were to seek out the most unselfish hero of his time it would be difficult to name another worthy to stand even as close to John the Baptist. He inaugurated a great movement which he might very easily have utilized for his own use; just how great it was we can imagine from the fact that St. Paul, coming to Ephesus a full quarter of a century after the crucifixion of Jesus, found a little group of men who were still disciples of John and knew hardly anything about Jesus. We find the same situation existing in far-away Alexandria, and we know the potency of John's name from the fact that Jesus used it in the last week of His earthly life for His own protection. The priests His hecklers and baiters, were silent when He spoke it fearing the people "for all held John as a prophet."

Go back to the very beginnings of the Gospel: how did it start? By the preaching of John.

John made his camp by the banks of Jordan, clothing himself in skins and eating locusts and wild honey—and there he began to announce the coming of the kingdom of heaven and to call upon men to depart from sin. How did he know that the kingdom of heaven was at hand? Who told him to proclaim the dawn of a new day?

John's success was almost instantaneous. Crowds went out from the city to attend his meetings; he became a sort of fashionable fad, attracting not only the leaders of the smart set but a sufficient number of thoughtful and important people so that even the Pharisees began to give respectful attention.

One day an impressive committee went down the long winding road from Jerusalem to the Jordan, and after putting up at the most reputable tavern in the vicinity and removing the traces of their travel they waited on John in solemn array and asked him to declare whether he was the Christ, and if not, what honorable title they might confer upon him.

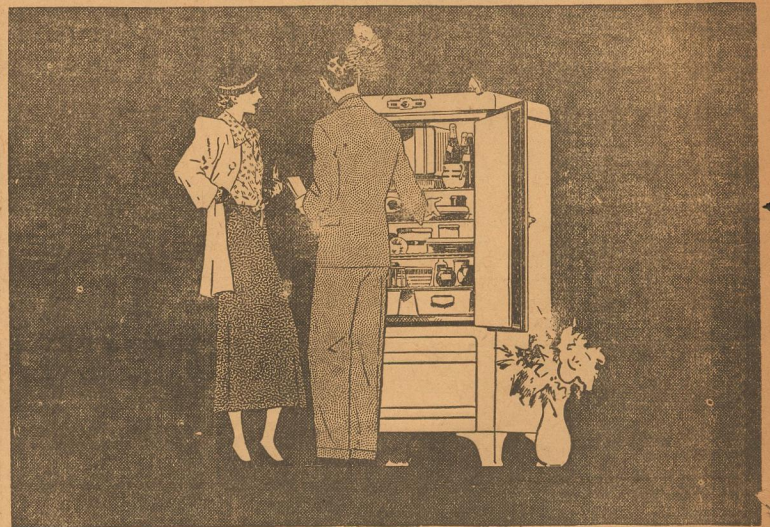

And he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ.

And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he saith, I am not. Art thou that prophet? And he answered, No.

He had his chance to claim the great place for himself and he refused it. He was only a "voice crying in the wilderness," he said, the forerunner of a Greater One to follow.

CROSS CUT

And now comes the time for graduation. The nine seniors of Cross Cut high school on May 31 will complete their schooling—eleven long years; in fact, a lifetime to them. Perhaps it will seem queer for those who do not go to college to stay at home and watch the other children pass on their way to school. Perhaps there will be the tiniest atom of regret buried deeply within their consciousnesses. Or perhaps it will be joy—happiness at the thought of a task well done and a job completed. But the job is not completed at this stage of the work—it is only started. "This is not the finish, it is only the beginning; therefore, let us take courage and rise to greater realms of achievement, and give a life of genuine service to all mankind." The seniors cordially invite every person in Texas to the commencement exercises next Friday evening, May 31, in the high school auditorium. Seniors for the last time assembled in chapel Monday morning. There was no flare of colors and blab of bugles—it was a rather solemn affair. To think that this weekly routine through which we have passed 393 times is to be no more, and that we are out of school forever. But "it is very probable that you are not in a position to appreciate the conflict of feelings and emotions which we, as a graduating class, experience at this particular time. The yearly honor roll was read Monday. It was rather slim, and perhaps we can print it for you next week. There were only two in high school who managed to make it every month. "Be Square!" That's the senior's motto for this year. And it is short and to the point. Be square, this simply means to be honest, sincere, and truthful at all times. And really, these two little words make up the same as all other mottos, no matter how long way they may be. After all, the substance of all class mottos is only this, be honest, frank, fair, and conscientious.

Thoughtful parents, who have observed and experienced the wisdom of thrift in recent years, now realize that it is very important to direct children's thoughts in constructive channels. Most important of all is the appreciation of the rewards of thrift. To teach the child the value of material thrift, there is no better method than establishing a saving account for him, his to direct, control and build.

OFFICIAL POEM OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The Wheel of Fate
By Norris Chambers

There's a spinning whele, we are told by some,
That spins in the real of time;
Like a roulette wheel in a gambling den
Or a king on a devilish shrine;
Like a monarch stern in the days of yore.
When the cave-man held his sway,
Like an old warlord in his glory and pomp
Returned from the fierce affray:
Like a rightful dream in an opium den,
Or a soul that is doomed to die,
Forever pointing to each poor man
And writing his fate in the sky,
Yes, writing his fate in the sky above,
And shouting it out to the world;
And sending each man on a well-worn track
With his courage ruffled and furled.
And this spinning wheel of nights and days
That points, and shows, and spins,
Is seldom fair in its twists of luck
And rare is the man who wins.
And such is life on this earth of ours,
A wheel of fate, no more;
For each little movement and twist or mind
Has been mapped by the wheel before.
We're out in the world, our school work o'er;
We're out in the dark on our own,
We've placed our lives in the trust of fate
And we're facing this life all alone,
And forever that wheel turns o'er and o'er,
Each destiny shapes out in time,
As it turns in an ether and revel of sighs
On what eternal shrine?
So, in this wide world of ups and downs
We'll bravely meet our fate,
And take just what the wheel hands out
And never slump nor wait.
Our schooling is over, we're out in the cold,
We'll meet it and put up a fight;
And they say we may trust to a gleaming
That cannot but lead us aright!

SENSATIONAL TIRE HUNT FINISHED BY NOTED DETECTIVE

One of the most unusual and spectacular surveys ever conducted by an American manufacturer has just come to an end in New York City with the arrival there, following a two-months' "tire hunt," of Joseph A. Faurot, one time Deputy Police Commissioner of that city and the man who first used fingerprints as evidence in an American courtroom. News of Faurot's sensational search for tire evidence from one coast to the other has just reached here, according to Harlie Neel, local Goodyear tire dealer. The famed detective's inquiry has revealed overwhelming national approval of the new "G-3" All-Weather Tread tire, it is stated. Setting out from New York with James Cannon, ace Manhattan newspaper man, who had just completed work on the Hauptmann case for his afternoon daily, Faurot visited parking lots, gas stations, garages and back yards from New York to San Francisco and from Winston-Salem, North Carolina, to Detroit. Wherever he paused, he "third-degreed" car owners for tire clues. They interviewed thousands of tire users and the results of this inquiry according to Mr. Neel, produced evidence of the outstanding performance of the "G-3" in all parts of the nation. "I have been gathering evidence for a long time," Faurot stated on his return to New York. "I guess I have worked on every kind of case that comes into a big police department's jurisdiction. But never have I seen a clearer case than that in favor of the 'G-3' My notes contain cold facts I gathered in Whitesville, W. Va., Kansas City, Mo., Royal Oak, Mich., Albuquerque, N. M.—and hundreds of other places. I say they are cold facts. That's the truth. Every leaf out of my notebook shows satisfaction in the ownership of G-3's."

ATWELL

Rev. Drury preached Sunday and Sunday night at the Baptist church due to bad roads and unsettled weather. He did not preach Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Howland and baby from Eastland spent Sunday with relatives here. This community has had plenty of rain in the past week. The farmers are not complaining, yet they are wishing for a few days sunshine. The lightning killed Glynn Purvis milch cow Friday night, it was a big loss for took the only cow he had. Several from here started to the workers conference at Putnam last Tuesday but the rain changed their minds and they had to hurry to get home. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Murry from Bluff Branch visited Mrs. Murry's sister, Mrs. B. M. Rouse this week end. The ones from here attending the prohibition organization at Baird Sunday afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones, Miss Gussie Jones, Mr. and Mrs. McClintock and Rev. Duev. S. N. Foster returned Sunday night from Washington, where he has been for the past week, representing the farmers interest in the AAA of Callahan County. Miss Auta Lee Notgrass from Nimrod attended church here Sunday night. Miss Fay Purvis of Cottonwood attended church here Sunday night. Items of Interest From COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

By Ross B. Jenkins

Build a Terrace, Tank, or Trench Silo With Government Aid

The conservation program of the Rural Division of Texas Relief Commission is offering to co-operate with the County Agent in getting help to farmers in the way of soil conservation and in storing water and saving feed. If as much as 4,000 acres of land will be signed up to terrace, the Commission will give the county a man to help the County Agent do this work. Not only terracing can be done, but tanks built and trench silos. This office plans to encourage the building of trench silos in all parts of the county this year. There will be an abundance of feed made if conditions remain in any way like they are now so thousands of tons of fresh succulent feeds should be preserved for the winter feeding. Farmers who do not have the money to pay the appraised value of the services rendered and who have exhausted their means of securing credit, may execute notes with interest at 5 1/2 per cent. The notes are made for one year with renewal privileges. In most cases the benefits derived the first year will pay the cost, especially if the services consist of contouring, terracing or trench silo making. Tanks are not so much thought about just now is the time to plan and build them. All persons interested should talk over the needs at once so the Conservation Assistant may be secured. After the grain is cut is the finest of all times to do that terracing. Sign for Bankhead Certificates Now

All persons who have dropped in to the County Agent's office during the past two weeks have signed their Bankhead applications for ginning certificates. It is hoped to finish by Wednesday May 29th, however, June 10th is the deadline over the nation. All new contract signers and non-signers should sign Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Minnie Burnside has as her guest this week her sister of Houston.

CATHERINE THE GREAT COMES TO LIBERTY ON WEDNESDAY NEXT WE'K

Nowadays when a young man presents a three carat diamond to the girl of his dreams, it usually means an engagement. But in the eighteenth century when a prince laid a diamond weighing 194 carats at the feet of an empress it signified only that they had an engagement for the evening!

Intrigue in the court of Elizabeth notorious empress of all the Russias, is vividly dramatized in "Catherine the Great," showing, Wednesday and Thursday at the Liberty Theatre.

This is London Films' successor to "Henry the VIII," Alexander Korda's epic of another period, and stars Elizabeth Bergner and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the roles of Catherine and Peter.

Catherine's biographers agree that the handsome Prince Orlov was her favorite. And when he presented her with a diamond weighing 195 carats, the gift carried no unusual significance. It was merely a token of love and esteem.

The great diamond, which is world-renowned was set at the top of Catherine's golden sceptre, a graceful rod with the stem curving slightly, and surrounded here and there by circlets of diamonds. It is by no means the largest stone of its kind—but it is reputed to be one of the very finest.

Orlov was one of five brothers, and when Catherine instigated her revolt against Peter, all five of them came to her aid. The son born to Orlov and Catherine, named Bobrinsky, is the founder of one of the first families of Russia.

some of this tariff in the farm of rental benefits. At the outset the railroads were given help and really got the government to put enough money into them that they are practically owned by the government yet since the farm program has advanced they are howling because they do not have the tonnage they once had.

Our senators and representatives are squarely behind the program and they said that the old rule of supply and demand was the basis of the whole program, that it don't make the supply any more than we have a demand. They pointed out that when a manufacturer begins to get more goods made up than he can sell that he shuts off until he can find a market and that is what we are doing as farmers. As our supply has climbed to amounts beyond what we can sell it has been necessary to shut off the supply until we can find a sale for our products. They pointed out that when we get to where we need more that we will increase our yields.

We made some very interesting trips about the capitol city. We visited Washington's monument and went up into it. We also visited Mount Vernon, the old home of George Washington. We also saw the tomb of the unknown soldier and to Lincoln's tomb.

We made a tour of the Agricultural buildings and saw them at work making the checks and getting them out. They said they were mailing out 55,000 a day.

At a later time I hope to give some more of the items that interested me while there.

Archie Brown of Dublin was a visitor here Sunday.

EARLY RESIDENT OF COUNTY IS BURIED

Funeral rites for J. E. Tisdale, 76, former pioneer Callahan county resident who died Sunday night at his home in McAllen, were held at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday morning. Rev. Joe R. Mayes, pastor of the Baird Baptist church, officiated for the service at the graveside in Ross cemetery and burial was made under Masonic auspices.

Mr. Tisdale settled in the Spring Gap community near here in 1879, and was married March 13 of that year to Miss Sarah Mae Mitchell who with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mitchell had established a Callahan county home in 1876. The year after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale for a short time to Tisdale county, where they had formerly lived. Mr. Tisdale was born there March 31, 1859. In the early eighties, they returned to the Spring Gap community and for many years engaged in farming and stockraising there. Later they moved to Baird, where they lived for 25 years before going to the Rio Grande Valley in 1925. Since that time they had lived at Mission and McAllen. During his residence in Baird, Mr. Tisdale served for a time as Deputy Sheriff.

Garrett, secretary of the Club, all Philpeco players who make the trip will be matched at home and the complete membership roster will be available.

While Philpeco golfers were trimming Ballinger at Santa Anna 13 to three, Coleman players were taking advantage of their home links to trim Santa Anna by the same score—13 to three.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn, The Lord's Supper.

Lesson for May 26th Matt. 26:17-30.

Golden Text: 1 Corin. 11:24.

The first fact to bear in mind about the Lord's Supper is that it is a feast of commemoration. Inspired by the precious words of the Saviour, "This do in remembrance of me," the Holy Communion is a celebration of remembrance. As such it performs a most useful service, for it is very easy, in the midst of the hustle and bustle of our crowded days, to lose sight of Jesus.

Dr. James Moffatt once said that American ministers preach as though nothing happened before last Saturday. Because of the tyranny of the present, because of our absorption in the amazing developments of today, we fail to recall that there was a long yesterday in which Jesus and His influence played a very conspicuous part. The Lord's Supper compels us to make amends for this lapse of memory. For it reminds us forcibly of Christ, prompting us to think of Him as a real Person, at once our Example and our Hope.

Secondly, the Supper is a feast of thanksgiving. Early in the Christian era the common name for the sacrament was the "Eucharist," meaning "act of giving" thanks. You will remember that Jesus and His disciples gathered in the Upper Room to observe the passover, that ancient rite celebrating the deliverance from the angel of death in Egypt. Obviously the passover was a joyous feast, and the Holy Communion, its successor is also a festival of gratitude.

Finally, the Lord's Supper is a communion, or fellowship, a testimony to the unity of God's people for almost all Christians observe Week's Biggest Shock: Charlie Taylor, the village electrician, has taken unto himself a wife. The nuptial was solemnized Sunday. The bride was formerly Mrs. Jessie Garrett, of Colorado.

If the bespeckled Charlie can fool a fine, good looking woman, there is even yet a chance for our friends Cleve Callaway, Paul Harrell and Taylor Bond. (Incidentally, we note Cleve is keeping company with a certain local lady. This item should offer encouragement.)

We have always given Charlie credit for a complete knowledge of electricity but as a romantic counter we had never figured he could reach first base.

Well here's luck and a full measure of happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. They are making their home in the residence directly in front of the Bennett hotel.

There is a possibility that the Philpeco invitation golf tournament July seventh through the ninth, will be opened with a colorful exhibition match between highly touted mashie toaters from various sections of West Texas.

Plans are not yet complete, however, this department is informed by W. F. Burris that a match of this nature is under advisement.

We have it pretty straight that Ray Boen, Mayor of Rowden, and one of the best known young men in Callahan county, is quite "gaga" over Miss Esther Varner, the attractive little Cottonwood school teacher.

Ray has a very pleasing smile and better than average dimples but he's out to cop a very muchly sought after prize.
