HERD LAUNCHES CONFERENCE GRIND

HOME TOWN GOSSIP

The pursuits of a country newspaperman thrust him in almost as many roles as a politician but unlike the "vote-courters", we backwoods boys of the fourth estate receive no little enjoyment in following duty's wand.

Friday it was our honor to journey over to Cottonwood and say a few words on the dedication program of two fine school structures on the Cottonwood campus.

The little Cottonwood school—which incidentally we believe is the county's oldest institution of public learning—has certainly done itself proud. The two buildings are as modern as tomorrow's newspaper and as comfortable as grandpa's easy chair. Congratulations, Cottonwood.

The old home town has certainly been on the move this week. The George R. Neels started the parade Tuesday by moving into the Foster residence, which they recently purchased the George Lamars are moving into the Neel house. The W. T. Wilsons into the Lamar place. The Shorty Webbs into the Wilson place and so on, it's almost an endless chain. But thank goodness its all just about over and we can all learn again where everyone lives.

Hear no-little talk around the barbershops and other places where sportsmen gather, about the present football campaign and just what position Cross Plains will occupy when the percentages are tallied in the record books.

To offer a guess as to in what manner the teams will finish, might be hazardous at this time. But we've taken long chances before so why not now? We pick the teams to finish in this order (our loyalty to the home team prompts us to give them a slight advantage over Albany when apparently the Buffaloes and the Lions are about on par at this juncture). Anyway here's our prediction—take it or leave it: Cross Plains, Albany, Pioneer, Putnam, Baird, Clyde, Rising Star, Caddo and Moran.

After predicting the Santa Anna—Cross Plains game exactly in this department we are besieged with queries as to how other games will result. Really we had intended to abandon our time old custom of "picking the winners" this season, but after a start like last week we "gotta" keep going. So here are choices for the week-end.

ORPHANS WILL RENDER PROGRAM HERE SAT.

About 25 children from the Methodist Orphanage at Waco will be in Cross Plains Saturday evening and render a program at the Methodist church at seven thirty. There will be no admission charge and the entire public is invited.

BABY GIRL BORN TO MR. MRS. HERBERT MADDUX

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Maddux are parents of a seven pound baby girl born Wednesday morning—September 26—at the Sealy Hospital, Santa Anna. The child's name had not been learned at press time yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe White are visiting in Ranger this week.

LOCAL METHODISTS PLAN HOMECOMING

DATE IS SET FOR SUNDAY, OCTOBER 14, LAUNCH PLANS

Cross Plains Methodist church will observe "Homecoming Day" Sunday, October 14, the Review was informed yesterday by Rev. J. A. Scoggins, pastor. Arrangements are being made to accommodate several hundred former members.

A statement by Rev. J. A. Scoggins, pastor, concerning the event follows:

"Cross Plains Methodist Church was organized more than 40 years ago. During these years it has been in the Northwest Texas Conference. With the coming annual conference it will be placed in Central Texas Conference and will receive appointment of preachers from that conference.

"We take this means of extending invitation to all former pastors, members and friends to be with us October 14th, in our homecoming.

Rev. Cal C. Wright pastor of Methodist Church in Colorado, will preach at 11 o'clock. Bro. Wright was reared in Cross Plains. The afternoon program will include the history of church and other interesting features.

"Bring your basket well filled and let us enjoy the noon hour together. If you have friends who have lived here in earlier days, send them an invitation or notify the invitation committee. They are J. G. Perry, S. R. Jackson and Martin Neeb.

M. Polishuk, of Dallas, was a business visitor here Tuesday and Wednesday.

Callahan County Sells 7,500 Head Of Drouth Stricken Cattle To U.S.

After all the criticism and fine things have been said and done about the cattle drouth relief buying program, the fact looms up that by the end of October 13th and before this county shall have sold to the Federal Government seven thousand five hundred head of poor and distressed cattle. This county agent has not asked any special credit for having moved that many, but never the less has been on the job from 5 o'clock in the morning to 12 o'clock at night and has tried to give each and every man a fair service. It has taken many phone calls to Washington, to Fort Worth and to College Station to get the job done because those men do not know had badly a section is in need unless the facts are presented to them through the persons that they know to have the first hand facts. This county through these plead- (Continued on Back Page)

Thrifty Subscribers Take Advantage Of Bargain Days Saving One Third On Review

With scores of old subscribers renewing and a number of new readers entering the fold, the Review's twenty fifth annual bargain offer and circulation drive entered its fourth week Monday. During the "Bargain Days" the price of the paper is reduced from $1.50 in the Cross Plains trade territory to $1.00 and from $2.00 outside of the Cross Plains trade territory to $1.50. WILL ROGERS COMES TO LOCAL SCREEN IN DAVID HARUM SUNDAY

Bookings at the Liberty theater for the coming week were announced yesterday by W. A. Beavers, manager. Now showing is "Ever Since Eve", with George O'Brien, Mary Brian and Herbert Mundin. Chapter five of the "Wolf Dog" serial is also carded at the local show house tonight and Saturday.

Will Rogers in "David Harum" comes to the local screen Sunday afternoon for a three day stay. The picture, said by movie critics to be Rogers' best is reputed to have been filmed after the prominent star had received thousands of letters from all over the world suggesting that he play "David Harum". Louise Dresser will also be seen in the picture playing opposite Will.

Wednesday and Thursday, "Three on a Honeymoon," with Sally Eilers, Zasu Pitts, Henrietta Cromman, Charles Starrett and Irene Hervey, is carded at the Liberty. The screen play is an adaptation of the novel "Promenade Deck."

The story centers around a reckless, willful and very pretty girl who decides to take a solo excursion to Europe. She becomes attracted to a handsome second officer who has been instructed by the captain to take care of all her wants. Although the young officer assumes an impersonal attitude, he finds to his annoyance that he is falling in love with the girl. On board, the girl meets a former fiancée who is on his honeymoon with an old schoolmate of hers. The bride who is threatened with blackmail in exchange for some letters, seeks the aid of the girl in recovering them from a man who has boarding the ship at one of its stopovers. The girl makes a play for the man, goes to his cabin and steals the letters.

2,702 BALES OF '34 COTTON HAVE BEEN GINNED TO DATE

Census reports show that there were 2,702 bales of cotton ginned in Callahan County from the crop of 1934 prior to September 16, as compared with 1,572 bales ginned to September 16 from the crop of 1933, according to a report from J. H. Shrader, special agent for the government in this county.

Local Farmers Draft Petition Of Protest To Blanton Against Present Cotton Program

Expressing disapproval with the present cotton program a representation of local cotton planters drafted a petition of protest and mailed the instrument this week to Congressman Thomas L. Blanton and several other officials at Washington.

The petition which is self explanatory appears hereunder. It was signed by approximately 45 farmers of this immediate locality.

Cross Plains, Texas, Sept., 29th, 1934.

Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, M. C., Abilene, Texas.

We, the undersigned Cotton Planters of Cross Plains Territory, beg leave to call to your attention a few salient facts about the Bank Head Bill and its administration in this country. We are asking through you, our duly Constituted Representative to our National Government at Washington, for relief. If we cannot get relief under the present set up, we are asking for a repeal of the law, believing it to be a detriment to us, and knowing it to be a detriment to the people generally.

The following are some of the things causing the dissatisfaction:

First—In the beginning under the Law, we gave our average cotton yield per acre to the Government Agent, had it reduced and revised according to the Agent's ideas of what it should be, were given our allowable quota and signed a contract with the Government of the United States. It was a contract we knew we could not breach, and of course never dreamed our great Government would do so. All the time we were being educated to sign this contract we were being admonished to be honest and not to exaggerate our yield in making our estimates and were being shown in every way that our Government did not trust us in the least. At the same time we were being told by the President and the Secretary of Agriculture that everything was strictly voluntary, nothing forced upon us.

Early this year we were asked by our Government, upon pain of being forced of losing everything agreed to under the contract, to accept a 20% cut in our allowable per acre, thereby reducing the allowable on the better land in this country far below the average. This is plainly shown because it is below the yield per acre this drought stricken year. This was a breach of faith on the part of the Government, and would in a normal year have netted the Government millions at our expense.

Another thing, when it came time to get our tickets, so that we would have authority to sell the product of our own land, we made many trips to the County Seat in the County in which the land was located, and after signing many papers as safe guards against our stealing from or defrauding the Government, we at last make the trip in which we are to get the permit. When we get the permit we find to our very great surprise that our allowable has been reduced again with our knowledge or consent. Upon looking around we find that it is out at random; some of the individuals one per cent and some of them twenty per cent, and all of the information we can get from the Agent is that the cut was made in College Station. We consider this a gross breach of contract and of good faith. Still the President, Mr. Roosevelt, is thundering to us through the press and over the radio that everything done to business is done with that business consent, voluntarily.

Further, we have all had to go the County Seat from three to six times, as stated above, to sign different papers before we could get the permit to sell. In this section that is an average distance of twenty five miles or better. There are many farmers with an allowable of one bale or less. Some of these allowables caused by the farmers, although having been a big cotton raiser, just having moved this year on a farm that had not been planted in cotton in the last five years, and others of not having a past record as a cotton grower. These people will have to spend more going after the receipts and signing papers than they will clear out of their little batch of cotton. These people were forced against their consent in many instances into this. By the time these people pay the tax on the balance of their cotton and pay the high processing tax on everything else they buy, we will be forced in the bread line or from the disgust at the foolishness of it all, go on relief another year.

If it is according to the Constitution of the United States of America, or justice, for a Government Agent, whether he be the President Mr. Roosevelt, or the most lowly Agent, to confiscate our property for taxes without due process of law, or even notification of how and when it is done, the interpretations of one hundred and fifty six years are all wrong, and the people of this nation have been grossly deceived. If this be true we will live in fear and dread of what our Government may do to us next, hence lose our initiative to try to accomplish anything by honest effort.

JOURNEY TO MORAN TODAY FOR FIRST CONFLICT TODAY

Cross Plains high school Buffaloes after blasting the lid from the 1934 football schedule will begin their conference campaign at Moran this afternoon. The game will be the first of three conference conflicts to be played on successive Fridays on foreign soil. The next two opponents will be Baird and Pioneer in the order named. After that the herd comes home to play the remainder of the conference schedule before friendly audiences.

Moran has played two games this year. They defeated Desdemonia in a non-conference tussel and the lost to Putnam 13 to six last Friday. Jack Gingrich, former coach of the Rising Star Wildcats is now the Moran mentor.

Coach Buck Osborn will carry a travelling squad of 18 men to Moran, leaving here shortly before noon. The kick-off is set for three o'clock. Officials are to be; Smith, Texas University; Foster, A. C. G. and Wilkins, Cisco.

In the game with Santa Anna Friday afternoon Osborn's charge demonstrated a good running attack and better than average defense, notwithstanding the fact that at intervals the Mountaineers uncorked some deceptive forward heaves.

The records show Anna attempted 16 passes, five of which were complete for 65 yards. Four were intercepted and several were incomplete.

Cross Plains attempted but two areal heaves. One was wild and Lonesome Duncan, playing his first game at end, dropped the other.

Cross Plains gained 161 yards from scrimmage as compared with Santa Anna's 160. Both squads punted six times for an average of approximately the same distance. First downs were 11 to 10 in favor of the visitors.

Cross Plains first touchdown was made in the opening quarter after a bad punt, a penalty and two first downs gave the herd possession of the ball on Santa Anna's eight yard stripe with four downs to make the required distance. Halbert made a thrust at the center of the line and picked up three yards. On the next play Jay Mayes dashed off tackle and sprinted across the goal line standing up. After the convert was blocked.

The domestics made their touchdown in the third quarter after an intercepted pass and three first downs placed them in an advantageous position. Captain Floyd Halbert carried the ball across, scoring standing up. His attempt to convert from placement was wild.

Diminutive "Bevo" Webb in the backfield gave a good account of himself at his new position. On the defense he was up to old form of stopping plays before they had time to really get underway, while in the offense he turned in some nice blocking.

Santa Anna's touchdown was scored after three completed passes placed the Mountaineers on the 10 yard line. Chaney, fleetly back, picked up seven yards on two dashes and Price carried the leather over. Price's attempt to place the goal was bad.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Autry of Abilene and Miss Calfee of Abilene spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schaffner, Jr.

Stanley, Coppinger, and Leo Varner of Brownwood visited here Saturday.

W. A. Williams of Brownwood visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Williams Thursday and Friday.

TRAILS' END

by AGNES LOUISE PROVOST

'I'll Finish The Job', Nancy

Final Instalment

The mutter dwindled to a whisper. Nancy lay quiet again. Barry at a miserable glance at Martha.

"Don't worry. I've nursed sick folks before. You go see what you can do for that man. He's hurt."

"I've sent for a doctor, but you say have to wait several hours."

"I'll stick it. Might have been— all on the rock—if it hadn't been for Nancy—I could do with a cigarette."

"Thanks. That'll help." "Anything else?"

"No. The old girl fixed me up pretty well." He grinned again in that tight fashion, made an involuntary movement and winced.

Barry nodded. Gage came over and sat down.

"I'll begin at your place." The dark eyes were fixed on Barry.

"I tried to stop her, but she sailed right on past, and I grabbed her. When I caught up she didn't know me at first. I tried to make her turn back, but she was bent on running away from something. And then my horse stumbled and threw her, and she came back and sat down alongside of me for a while.

"I guess we've all given a rotten deal. It's about time we had a break."

Martha hurried out, and paused on her way to the kitchen.

"Barry, you might bring in some wood. I want good fires and plenty of hot water. She's all choked up."

Barry made for the door. Gage was left alone with the man who had meant to blackmail his wife. Kennedy broke a stiff silence.

"Listen!" he said abruptly. "I be laid up for a long time. I don't like you and you hate me, but I like to pay my debts, and this one won't wait. Pull up closer—I've got to talk fast."

The young doctor from the county seat said it was pneumonia. He spoke briskly of health and youth and vitality, but on the second day he asked some odd questions, and added a guarded remark about reduced resistance and evidences of a long emotional strain.

Petry almost lived in the gray car. News trickled in to Marston, carefully edited.

Late in that first day the rick visitor had come in with Petry, visibly tired and brief of speech, and telegrams had smoked along the wires in some kind of code.

"Really! Perhaps you'll tell me that Kennedy was a detective too! It's too bad that he was shot the same night that your wife's sister staged a front page exit over that cliff!"

"Maybe he was. But be a little more careful of your speech, please. "Young woman, you've been playing a risky game, and you've lost it. It was worse than risky it was a dirty game, and if the story came out you would be a long time living it down. And if your father should get wind of it, and the way you've let yourself in for blackmail, he'd pack you off somewhere. Ambrose is pretty easy with you, but he has his limits."

"I shouldn't think you could afford to talk about blackmail!" Cleo blazed at him. "I suppose you mean that you are going to hold your precious documents over my head to keep me from telling."

"Call it anything you please. But get this idea firmly in your head—this thing is going to stop right here. You are going to keep quiet about the whole business. I haven't told Duane yet about your attempts to railroad his wife, but at the first indiscretion he is going to get the whole nasty story. If I should die before you, the sealed papers will go to Nancy. Have I made myself clear?"

Gage had found the one weak spot in her hard little armor. Of all the people in the world, she could least endure to have Barry know what she had done to get him.

At the door he paused. "There's an express that goes through the Junction at seven. I've hired for a compartment for you, and Petry will take you over, Martha is packing your trunk now. I told her to Good-bye."

The door closed behind him.

When Nancy awoke it was mid-afternoon and someone was sitting on an absurdly low stool beside her bed. He was bent over, with his head resting on his hands, and the stool was so low that the bowed head was only a little way from her finger tips, where they rested limply on the bed. It was a brown head, with thick hair roughened in the way she had loved. It couldn't be real. She moved her hand to touch it.

"Oh—hello!" He tried so hard to be matter of fact—not to frighten her. "It's pretty nice to see you awake again."

"Nice." She repeated in with dreamy content. Her hand went up slowly, and touched his cheek, and he caught hold of it and held it closer, turning his head to bury his lips in a soft palm.

"Sweet little Nancy! If you will just get well—and come back, there's nothing else in the world that's going to matter."

"Nice!" she said again, and released a happy sigh.

Under her groping fingers his cheek was suddenly wet.

"Trail's End," she murmured contentedly. "I was hoping it would be."

There was still much to be done before life could go its normal way again. There was, as Gage bluntly put it, publicity to be thought of. A girl named Nancy Curtis, who had been drowned last May, must come to life again. The young doctor would be professionally discreet. Cleo had gone, but Gage had assured them that she would be unable to tell anything more than the version which they would give out. Barry received it without comment.

He went in to see Kennedy. "Getting in on the ground floor," he said. "I'm not so much of a doctor as you are."

Gage gave her a brief smile. "You're well posted on his record, aren't you? And you didn't discharge him, he left. I have evidence of that, too. I also have detailed affidavits covering some of your conversations with Kennedy. One of them is particularly instructive. That was the time you tried to buy back this check from him. Maybe you recollect that you'd had a new footman recently, who didn't stay very long. He was an operative from a detective agency."

balance-rigged truck out here to start me off. —How is Nancy?" "Better. She—asked after you" "Good little trouper." The hard black eyes softened for an instant. "They don't come any better than Nancy. You might—no, I'll say it in a letter. You needn't mind—it'll be perfectly proper."

"I think so." Barry was curt about it. He could not discuss the Gage's affairs with Jim Kennedy. Barry wondered what Gage really thought of Paula. Gage was no doting fool, but he loved his wife. Barry thanked God for Nancy, and swung off for a walk.

They were back at the Perch again. Anne smuggled contentedly in a big chair in front of a whispering fire.

Publicity had swept over them like a wave and had gone, leaving them breathless but safe. There might have been privacy for some, but not for Nancy Curtis, who had glittered for a brief time and whose brother-in-law was a multi-millionaire.

Anne gave the whispering fire a little secret smile. Barry had been sweet about it.

Now the tumult had died, and life was their own again. Letters and telegrams had been pouring in and lay in drifts on the table and in her lap.

And finally there was a letter from Mrs. Duane. It was addressed to Barry and it was restrained and frugal of emotion, but Anne knew how difficult those few careful sentences had been. "I'll do my share," Anne thought, and felt a twinge of pity. "She is Barry's mother. I'll do all that she will let me."

Aloud she said: "It was nice of your mother to release you from your promise about living in Granleigh. I know it is hard for her. But she'll be terribly proud of you. If you can get away, perhaps we could go back for a little while, maybe at Thanksgiving or Christmas—if she would like it."

"Why—that sounds goods to me. His eyes warmed. "With the salary that I'm to draw as president of the new company, we can make it a real party."

His eyes went back to some telegrams which lay open on the table. He knew them by heart. One was from this Mammoth Pictures Corporation offering whose hard-won contract Nancy had once had to let go. It offered a star contract, now, with nearly twice the salary. The other was from Amalgamated, adding a bonus on every picture.

He fingered the yellow sheets and looked soberly across at her.

"You know," he said hurriedly, "it's all right, Nancy—if you want to. I mean—I would stand in your way."

She knew how much that had cost him, how he hated the very thought of her living a life like that—and of losing her.

"Thanks for that, Barry. I've been thinking about it, of course. It seems as though I'd never really finished anything that I began. I had a job in a little town, and then Paula went away and I gave it up to follow her and got another in a big town. And I let that go for my first little part in a new play and after two years I left the stage to go to Hollywood—and I ran away from that and bought a ranch. And then I tried being married for a while. If you don't mind, I think I'd like to stay around and make a good job of that."

Something swooped. Barry picked her up out of the big chair, and the letters and telegrams went swishing down like rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Paschall of Stephenvill spent the week end here.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cunningham are visiting in Gordon this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lowe were visitors in Fort Worth Wednesday and Thursday.

Hectic Days Sleepless Nights

If YOU are nervous today, you probably will not sleep well tonight. If you don't sleep well tonight, you will probably be nervous tomorrow.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Currier, New Market, N. H.

Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one or two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found. Miss Grace Redmann, St. James, Minn.

Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful. J. H. Redding, 1027 18th Ave., Rock Island, Ill.

To help you AVOID COLDS VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

Quick!—At that first nasal irritation, snuffle or sneeze—just a few drops of Va-tro-nol. It stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds and to throw off colds in their early stages.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose (a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh) Va-tro-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

Va-tro-nol is powerful, yet absolutely safe—for both children and adults. It has been clinically tested by physicians—and proved in everyday home use by millions.

Note—for your protection: The remarkable success of Vicks drops—for nose and throat—has brought scores of imitations. The trade-mark Va-tro-nol is your protection in getting this exclusive Vicks formula. Always ask for Vicks Va-tro-nol.

FREE—a combination trial package of Va-tro-nol—its companion product, Vicks VapoRub (modern external treatment for colds)—and other medication used in Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—with directions for following the Plan. MAKES YOU LOSE UNHEALTHY FAT

A young woman of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too." To take off fat—take one half tea-spoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle lasts 4 weeks costs but little, get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and HARMLESS way to lose fat—your money gladly returned. Don't accept anything but Kruschen if you want to reduce safely.

ings, has received a lions share of quatas the past two weeks by receiving 2,000 last week and 1,000 extra for this week. In addition to that the Bureau of Animal Industries and the Drouth Director at A&M College granted this county two inspectors and two appraisers for last week and they got the job done as was outlined from the Laird office. There were some men who chose to criticize the director last week but it was felt by him that they did not know what they were talking about & couldn't have done much better, probably, had they been running the job themselves. The government of the United States never has attempted to handle such a gigantic program and those who feel that they should be the first to be served should ask themselves how much have they done to aid the agent. Just anybody can ache but it takes a real man to smile and offer to help when the going gets rough. This agent will never forget the fine men who have aided in this program and have stood up and explained the difficulties that have been met.

CROSS CUT PATRONS FORM P. T. A. CHAPTER TUESDAY AFTERNOON

At a meeting of the patrons of Cross Cut school in the high school auditorium there Tuesday afternoon a Parent Teachers Association was organized and plans launched for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Jack Ripper was elected president, Mrs. C. J. Newton vice-president and Mrs. Roe Martin, secretary and treasurer. Several committees were named to report back at the next meeting, which is to be held at the same place the third Tuesday in October—October 16th. The chapter will meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month, the Review was informed.

The Cross Cut P.T.A. will have for one of its chief projects this year the improvement of the school library.

Enrollment of Cross Cut school is near 180 at present, the Review was told Tuesday afternoon by W. T. Hughes, Superintendent.

Mrs. Lewis Helms and daughter Marjorie of Hamlin spent the week end here visiting relatives.

Mrs. Elmer Henderson of Burkett visited her sister, Mrs. L. W. Westerman last Saturday.

DRESSY

Our Demonstration club met at Mrs. N. L. Long's last Thursday. 12 members answered roll call. One visitor present. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Long, Oct. 11. We will be instructed by Miss Vida Moore at that meeting as to how to cut a foundation pattern. Our club women will give a "tacky" party on the following night at the church, everybody invited to come.

We need the money and you need the fun.

Mrs. B. K. Eubank of Coleman visited in the C. D. Baird home last Thursday and was a visitor at the club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McGowen, of Cross Plains, spent the night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferrell Saturday.

Miss Fay Stevens is still very ill at the Griggs hospital at Baird.

"Grandpa" Stroops was honored with a birthday party at the Bayou Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Renfro and Miss Johnnie Renfro, of this place, attended and report a fine time. "Grandpa" Stroops was seventy nine years old we hope for him more happy birthdays.

Our Fifth Sunday meeting was well attended.

A good number from Victoria, Burnt Branch, and Cottonwood was so well represented that they most out numbered all the rest of us. Three cheers for Cottonwood they do things in the right way.

We also were glad to have several out from Cross Plains, come again!

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Long, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Long went to Baird Saturday.

Jim Miller and family are moving to Trickham this week we are sorry to lose them from our community. We wish them success in their new home.

THANK YOU!

A great many people have responded to our invitation to bring in Winter Clothes now and have them cleaned, pressed and prepared for cold weather wearing.

To those of you who have delayed to do this, however, we urge that you bring in your Winter clothes today. Get your wardrobe in readiness for the depredations of Winter.

JIM SETTLE'S DRY CLEANING

"ENEMY TO DIRT"

President Roosevelt Says ---

"It's No Time To Quit, Stay Right In There And Pitch Folks."

Why, when the writer was a boy he sold cotton for 3c per pound and chickens and eggs sold for one half of what they are bringing now.

Distressing times come to all of us just alike under conditions like these and many times it is best for us in the long run. We must get down in the valley once in a while so we will know how to appreciate the gentle breeze when we get back on the mountain top.

Bring your chickens, eggs, hides to us for highest prices. Too, don't forget us for high quality flour and feed at a price to fit every pocketbook. We buy in carload lots and can save you money.

NEEB PRODUCE CO.

To make this the greatest sale of our history, we have tapped every resource of A&P's nationwide buying and distributing system. Here is the opening gun of A&P's Seventy Fifth Anniversary Sale—read these prices—compare values—and buy. With food costs going up at a rapid rate this is the time to stock up.
