CHEVROLET RAISES WAGES OF FACTORY FORCE 10 PER CENT

Effective Monday the Chevrolet Motor Company announced a 10 per cent increase to all factory employees. Prior to this increase, the average worker was paid 75c an hour or $5.60 per day. This wage was one of the highest in the industry and now that the average has become $6.30 per day. Chevrolet leads most manufacturers in the wage scale, says H. C. Howard, zone manager of the Dallas zone.

Chevrolet's adherence to and fullest co-operation with NRA policies is indicated by the fact that in its own plants, exclusive of the General Motors units, who supply them with production parts, they now have 66,000 workers as compared with the peak production periods of 1928 and 1929," said Mr. Howard. "During 1930, through 1933, the average employment was only 30,000 men—better than a 120 per cent increase in the number employed in 1934 over 1933."

"And now with the hours worked reduced from forty to thirty-six per week, there will be a further expansion in the number employed.

"In the month of March, just closed Chevrolet produced approximately 100,000 units and will produce in excess of 125,000 in April, the largest month's production since 1929.

A shortage of Chevrolets still exists, but it is due to the tremendous demand for it's product. Proof of this lies in the fact that in February, Chevrolet produced 72,273 units as compared with the next largest manufacturer's 59,357 and the third largest 34,709.

Mr. Howard said the Dallas area of the northern half of Texas, his territory, sold in excess of 35 0 per cent in March, 1934, over the same period in 1933. March sales of approximately 3,000 cars was the largest month since May, 1929.

FUNERAL NOTICES

Funeral notices are something of which none of us wish to think, and as a result they are often forgotten with the funeral arrangements. It is an item that should not be overlooked. The Review Publishing Company is thoroughly stocked along this line.

THE BOOK by BRUCE BARTON FORTY YEARS IN WILDERNESS

THE distance from Egypt to the Promised Land is no longer than the trip from New York to Buffalo. Moses might easily have led his people over the route in a few weeks, instead of which the wanderings occupied forty years. Guided by divine wisdom, he saw the necessity for a long period of isolated discipline. They were slaves when he started with them; they were an organized self-governing nation when, at length, he climbed to the pinnacle of Mount Pisgah and looked across into the Promised Land, which he was permitted to see but not to enter.

So Moses, the servant of the Lord, died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord.

And he (the Lord) buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, over against Beth-peor; but no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day.

How well he had done his work was immediately apparent. Joshua, whom he had chosen to succeed him, took hold without a hitch and completed the journey into Canaan. He, too, was a man of vision. As a young man, he had been sent by Moses with eleven others to spy out the Promised Land. Ten of the twelve came back with a faint hearted report.

It is a land that cateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people we saw in it are men, of a great stature. And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight.

Thus you can always get a majority vote to do nothing to take no chances. But there was a minority report. Joshua and Caleb, without minimizing the difficulties, protested stoutly that the land was fertile and work fighting for. They brought back samples of fruit to prove their contention, but it was so long time before the people had the courage to move on.

Joshua was a soldier and was much needed for the work which Moses had left to be done. He led his people across the Jordan, engineered the successful attack upon Jericho, the walled city of the unfortunate people who happened to be in possession of the Promised Land, and conducted a triumphal campaign, which was about as savage as any war could be. Finally, his work completed, he called his people together for a farewell address of great dignity and power "Beholdt, his day, I am going the way of all the earth," he told them; and with that he laid aside his arms and died.

Comes now a picturesque succession of leaders, called Judges, with whom we can tarry only a moment in this rapid survey. There was a woman, Deborah, among whose stirring battle-hymn is one of the first recorded poems. There was a keen fighter named Gideon, a shrewd strategist, who equipped his slender force of three hundred men with chariot lights and trumpets and attacked at night.

SUCCESS WITH POULTRY

Pasture Values

Pastures may be made to play an important part also in the production of poultry. Chickens obtain a large part of their feed when allowed free range with access to blue grass or other pasture or crop from which they will pick up a variety of insects and worms as well as green feed.

In raising young chicks the use of clean ground or new pasture helps to prevent losses from coccidiosis and other parasitic diseases.

Geese will obtain most of their living from good grass or clover pasture during the summer. In some cases they are fed no grain until large enough to fatten.

Turkeys also thrive on suitable clean pasture or range, making efficient use of grass, clover, or temporary pastures. Success in raising young turkeys depends largely on sanitation of the range in order to prevent the parasitic disease, blackhead. This malady may affect adult turkeys but occurs principally among poults between the ages of 6 weeks and 6 months. It is found to a greater or less extent throughout the United States and is by far the most destructive ailment of turkeys.

Chickens are often affected with blackhead without showing any symptoms and may carry and spread the infection to turkeys when allowed to range with them. Turkeys carry gapeworms and transmit them to chicks with deadly results. Chickens should therefore be kept away from turkeys at all times.

Horses and cattle are also subject to parasitic infestation from permanent pastures, especially of small size, that are used year after year by the same kind of animals.

Although no recommendations can be given that will apply to all sections of the country and for all classes of animals and fowls, the following precautions may be taken as applicable to average farm conditions:

Use new pastures whenever they are available as they usually produce better forage and are less apt to carry parasite eggs or infective larva.

Avoids overstocking a pasture as this practice is apt to concentrate pasture infection, resulting in more worm eggs and worms to an area, thus increasing the chances of stock becoming infected.

Change the stock from one pasture to another and change the kind of stock on the same pasture as far as possible. Follow sheep and cattle with horses or swine.

Local Schools Take Honors Again

Cross Plains schools again demonstrated their initiative and ability by placing high in the district meet of the interscholastic league, at Breckenridge, Saturday.

Last reports credited Cross Plains in a deadlock for third place, which is very satisfactory when the scope that is represented by entrants is considered. This is the best showing ever made by Cross Plains and possibly the best ever made by a school in this county.

Cross Plains certainly has one thing of which she may justly be proud—her schools.

Cross Plains Drops To 3rd In Polls

County Superintendent A. L. Johnson furnishes the Review with the following information concerning the poll taxes paid in the 21 voting precincts in Callahan county for the current year. They are as follow.

Box	Pre. No.	Vote
Baird	1	667
Belle Plaine	2	53
Cottonwood	3	131
Tecumseh	4	32
Clyde	5	342
Cross Plains	6	333
Admiral	7	65
Futnam	8	323
Brath	9	32
Eula	10	100
Caddo Peak	11	11
Dudley	12	39
Atwell	13	42
Lanham	15	33
Dressy	16	64
Oplin	17	203
Stowden	18	64
Denton	19	73
Hart	20	32
Gardner	21	24

The above is the Number of Paid Poll Tax in Callahan County—this does not include exemptions.

The report shows Cross Plains to be in third place in the number of votes. This poor showing is due to two things. Cross Plains people generally do not take their politics quite seriously enough and second, there are a number of small voting boxes near Cross Plains, whereas Baird and Clyde, the leaders in poll tax receipts, take in a radius of more than six miles on three sides.

RED MEATS AGAIN

LET me quote from a splendid little medical publication that comes to my desk, Hygeia. Replying to an enquiry from Minnesota, the advising doctor says:

"There is a good deal of unproved talk of meats in the diet. Little scientific evidence regarding their value or their dangers . . . the attitude toward red meats after middle age, must be the same as the general attitude toward all foods."

The speaker goes on to say that middle age is the time for moderation in ALL THINGS. Even diet, exercise, work and play must be indulged with temperance. I was so pleased with this message that I wish everybody could enjoy its wholesome truth with me.

This all, of course, refers to the individual in good health. Are red meats "poison," as so many believe? Listen further:

"There is practically no proof that the moderate use of red meat is any more harmful than the moderate use of food."

Of course in DISEASES, the dietary must be prescribed by the physician in charge. But I just wanted to say, the well person requires a variety of food, if he would remain in good health. To exclude a reasonably good supply of meats from the diet of the average healthy American—once a day—is to start him on the way to a certain feebleness of muscular strength, which must result disastrously.

During much of my life I have been associated with farmers and laboring men who ate meats in what even I would regard an immoderate way; a heavy ration of meat, three times a day! And I have yet to see any terrible disease originated therefrom.

COUNTY AGENT GIVES GOOD HINTS FOR FARMERS LIVE AT HOME PLAN

By Ross B. Jenkins

How Much Land to Live at Home

The cotton reduction contract allows the producer to use as much of the rented acres as needed to produce enough food and feed for family and workstock, if other land is available or not enough for this purpose many farmers are puzzled as to how much land this will be.

The Texas A&M College Extension Service living-at-home demonstration outlines for a family of 5, an average of 25 acres will fill the requirements. This will also take care of two workstock. If more or less are in the family and more or less workstock each farmer can vary his program to fit the case.

For each acre or mule allow 50 bushels of corn or similar grain, 2 tons of hay and 1 acre of improved pasture, such as sudan grass. For each dairy cow allow 25 bushels of corn or similar grain, (any grain sorghum substitutes for corn) 2 tons of hay and 1 acre of improved pasture. For each head of beef cattle 10 bushels of corn or similar grain, 1 ton of hay and 1 acre of improved pasture.

If a farmer is providing for four horses, two dairy cows, 50 hens, and is fattening a beef steer, two hogs and two sheep, he would need 342 bushels of corn or grain sorghum, about 13 tons of hay, and about 8 acres of improved pasture, if he is to have plenty of good feed. At the rate of 20 bushels of corn per acre and two tons of hay per acre this would require 17 acres of corn or grain, 7 acres of hay and 8 acres of improved pasture or a total of 32 acres. In addition, for home supply, an extra 3 acres would be required for garden, orchard, orchard and peas, melons, potatoes and cane for syrup.

If the farmer in this case has provided none of these requirements in the past he will be permitted to take out 35 acres for this use. He may take out any number over his usual amount to make that much for the 5 member family basis. If he has grown enough feed and food to run him here to fore with out the need of extra acres, then the contract does not permit him to plan any to feed or food. The contract states enough of the rented acres may be used to supply adequate feed and food but not to lay up any surplus.

If enough is raised yearly then the land may be planted to cover crops, soil building crops, erosion prevention crops, or for trees. No crop is allowed for the purpose of increasing which the government is trying to curb.

Farm Record Book

To all farmers who have signed a cotton reduction contract will be given a Farm Record Book for the year of 1934 by asking at the office of the County Agent. It is free and is a dandy. Get your copy by keeping a record it will be easy to find the strong and weak points in each farm business and will enable the alert farmer to change his poor practices. It will help in getting the records for Production Credit Association.

Wheat Contracts

Any one wishing to further reduce their wheat crop may do so by filling out wheat contracts in the County Agents' office soon.

Certified Seed Production

Any one interested in growing certified seed of any kind may get full particulars at the County Agents' office. Also there is a list of all men in the state who grow these seed.

LOCAL GIRL MAKES COLLEGE HONOR ROLL

Miss Emmarie Hemphill, daughter of C F. Hemphill of Cross Plains, who is attending Danie Baker College of Brownwood, is on the honor roll for mid-term examination ending March 28, making three "A's" and two "B's".

The Daniel Baker Footlight Players, of which Miss Hemphill is a member, presented two one-act plays, "Cabagags" and "Suppressed Desires", before a large audience in the Daniel Baker Auditorium a few nights ago. Miss Hemphill took a leading part in this performance. She also participated in a series of Easter programs given by the Girls' Glee Club.

The Family DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

SEX—AND THE DOCTOR

Earth's one miracle—the reproduction of species. In order that this may take place sexual congress is essential, hence, male and female were created. Right living was enjoined.

Perhaps earth's most important function, there is none more abused. Man betrays the highest trust reposed in him. I do not attribute the "fall" to woman alone. To me man is the chief offender.

A sexually-mated couple is a happy couple—if they obey the law of temperance and virtue—The reverse of this picture reeks in deviltry and suffering. Nine-tenths of the vast machinery of the divorce courts is operated and fed by extortion wrung from mis-mated men and women. Sexual crime is universal—and lies beneath the surface. The doctor knows—

To possess sexual organs is NOT a disgrace. But the matter of the relation of husband and wife be held sacred. There is no more holy relation. How often it is dragged in the mire!

Sex hunger is a perfectly normal appetite. Morbid, or unduly appetites must be held in check—The brute knows no better than to be a glutton—and—penalties are sure. The doctor knows.

Young men and women who contemplate matrimony should be fully advised of the step they are about to take—It is not indecent to seek such advice, if the motives are pure. I believe the happiest phase of human existence of God's laws. The punishment of violation comprises the keenest suffering—bear that in mind.

Yes, the doctor knows—he sees the hideous picture of violation. And, he rejoices with the pure and good in their happiness.
