The last and saddest of the harvest eve
Worn out with labor and wearisome

There were briars and bambles and folded leaves
But he toiled 'till was dark and late
For the full ripe ears; Master: accept his sheaves.

Gussing At The Governor Race

Who, Texas' next Governor will be is causing no little speculation in political sanctuaries, even at this early hour. Although it is practically impossible to measure the strength of any candidate yet, sentiment expressed from several sections of the state indicates that it will be another triangular affair, with three men furnishing the majority of the campaign fever. With the Fergusons definitely declared that they will not be in the running, the field is open, and James V. Allred, present Attorney General; Edgar Witt, present Lieutenant Governor; and Tom F. Hunter, third man in last gubernatorial election, are courting their share of a decisive vote.

C. C. McDonald, of Wichita Falls, was considered a good bet to reach the run-off—in lieu of his endorsement by—im Ferguson—until Maury Hughes, of Dallas, tossed his sombrero into the gubernatorial ring. But now, in the circumstances which they have created both are given odds that they will not be among the top three in the first primary balloting.

Cliff Small, third candidate in the governor's race of 1930, is another serious contender of the high office, but in minds of a great many Texans, "his course is run", and the post in the State Senate, which he now holds is the peak of his political career.

Allred is perhaps conceded by the largest number of people a better chance to lead the ticket in the first primary balloting than any other candidate. However, his support in the second primary—whether it will be sufficient for election—is seriously questioned.

Allred, Witt and Hunter, each favor submission of the repeal question, as do all major contenders for the Governorship. Allred will vote against repeal, however; Witt will vote for it, and just how Hunter will ballot is not definitely known.

Allred's greatest disadvantage is his lack of success in recent suits against 18 major oil companies operating in Texas, however, his progress in the matter was halted by no act of his own, but by federal intervention. His genial manner of winning friends and efficient campaigning may tend to offset the above mentioned hindrance as well as his stand on the liquor question, in the event that it is unpopular.

Witt is faced with the traditional certainty that no Lieutenant Governor has ever been advanced to the next highest office of the state. He is being

GOOD TREATMENT

Very few the people who escape nasal infections in winter, Such distressful conditions too. To feel "shivery" for a day—you just can't get warm. You ache in the muscles a little and sneeze at intervals—slight burning in the nasal passages—Oh, you know what I mean—you are "taking cold." You hate to hunt up the doctor when you are not exactly sick,—ant yet.

Well, the time is ripe for action on your part. If you're going to try to fight it out yourself.

If your bowels are not regular, take mild laxatives to start things. Milk of magnesia, mineral oil, cascara—anything that is not severe in effect; harsh medicines are not necessary.

Stay in the house for a day or more; keep the surface of you body warm and comfortable; eat soft, well cooked food, with plenty of fruit; drink twice as much water as you formerly did.

Get this one bottle of medicine: Have the druggist put two drams of turpentine in a two-ounce bottle, and fill the bottle with oil of Eucalyptus. Label it "for external use."

Take this bottle to your bedroom; wet a cloth with it and pin around your neck, so that the vapor from it will enter your nostrils all night long. Breathe all of it you can. There is nothing better for nasal germs than oil of eucalyptus—an old, respectable drug, made from the eucalyptus or "fever-tree" of the south.

This should break up any ordinary cold. But if your trouble started in with a pronounced chill, see your doctor at once, and obey him faithfully. Don't depend on home remedies. Cold has long been known as "checked secretions." Start those secretions." Start those secretions—perspiration, bowels and kidneys—and correct your cold.

assured, however, a large block of Central Texas votes, which with a scattering from other sectors may place him in the run-off. And many contend that the man that enters the run-off against Allred will be the next Governor of Texas.

Hunter's greatest obstacle to overcome is perhaps this as stated by states the Corpus Christi Caller: "Mr. Hunter's are fine planks, proven planks. Practically every Governor candidate that Texas has had for the past 16 years has trod them as he hurled abuse and charges of corruption at opponents". Yes, the planks may prove a bit too thin to support Mr. Hunter through another hard campaign. But if the large vote given Mr. Hunter in 1932 was a pro-Hunter vote and not an anti-Sterling and Ferguson vote, and he is fortunate enough to attract it again he will probably enter the run-off.

It is only reasonable to state, however, that the whole political outlay may be toppled over as the campaign wages and any of the six candidates mentioned may ride slide into the Governor's mansion.

Our guess at the situation at this early date is that the first primary will place the six most likely candidates in this order: Allred, Witt, Hunter, McDonald, Small and Hughes.

Another reason we are so interested in Mr. Vallee's troubles is because eggs fried in concrete are so nourishing.

NEW YORK
Fifth Avenue seems to be the proving ground for all sorts of traffic lights. One section now has a new type of light that actually gives the pedestrian a break by periodically holding up all motor traffic for five seconds in all directions in order to clear the street of pedestrians from walk to walk.

The traffic problem on the tight little island of Manhattan is gradually being eased by express highways. One elevated highway has been in operation along the Hudson for over two years. It is but a part of the "Marginal Highway" that is planned to all but encircle the island.

Theaters and after theater hotcha spots are more and more adopting the microphone and loud speaker system for entertainers until it seems that if to sing without them he'd be thought anyone outside of the Metropolitan Opera or concert hall should attempt something of a freak.

COLEMAN LOAN BODY ASKS APPLICATIONS FROM FARMERS HERE

Application for production loans to farmers and stockmen in Callahan counties are now being received by W. E. Melton, secretary-treasurer of the Coleman Production Credit Association. According to Mr. Melton, all loans will be made on a business basis and according to the security furnished by the applicant.

"The loans that will be made in this county and the other 4 counties served by the Coleman association must be good loans and loans that are collectible if the association is to continue as a permanent service to farmers in this and other communities, as intended," Mr. Melton said.

Fortunately, not all farmers in this county need credit," he continued, "but for those who do the association stands as a business organization—not as a charity institution. Loans may be obtained for periods of 3 to 12 months by any eligible deserving farmer or stockman who needs credit and has security; but if a farmer or stockman is eligible for credit it must be extended on a business basis.

Each applicant has to state in his application what property he is offering to secure the loans, Mr. Melton said. Security for these loans will consist of first liens on crops, livestock or other personal property on which a lien, or chattel mortgage, may be taken to secure the loan adequately. The lien may be taken on property already in the possession of the borrower, or to be purchased with the money borrowed. It is not intended that production loans shall be secured principally by mortgages on real estate. Where this type of security is taken it will be regarded only as additional collateral.

Mr. Melton said that the charges on production loans would be as low as possible in keeping with business credit. A small fee is charged to inspect the property offered as security by the applicant, but usually no charge will be made for inspection if the loan is not granted.

The minimum amount that can be loaned to any one eligible borrower is $50.00. The interest rate is 3 per cent above the discount rate of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, and charged only for the actual number of months the loan is outstanding. The present discount rate of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank is 3 per cent, which would make the interest rate to the farmer-borrower 6 per cent per annum.

Loans may be obtained for general agricultural purposes including the costs of growing, cultivating, or marketing crops; and for the production of livestock, and dairy and poultry products.

Most of the loans will run from 3 to 12 months, and are to be due and payable at the time when the crops and livestock financed are sold.

Each farmer or stockman borrowing for the first time automatically becomes a member of the association, since each is required to own voting stock in the association equal to $5.00 for every $100.00 or fraction thereof he borrows. The stock may be purchased with a part of the loan proceeds. It is the only voting stock in the association, and may be purchased only by borrowers, each having only one vote regardless of the amount borrowed.

A farmer or stockman who becomes a member of an association does not have to "stand good for" the loans of the association, or the debts of other borrowers. The stock carries no double liability.

The Coleman Production Credit Association, which is authorized to make loans in this county, is one of 50 which have been established in this state out of the capital of the association is provided by Production Credit Corporation of Houston, which is supervising the work of associations in Texas.

THE TRIUMPH OF THE WAR-GOD

THE CAUSE OF WAR

When a billion dollars is spent every four days for over four years, then some one is profiteering. Where does this money go? To the steel mills, to the ammunition factories; yes, but not like it goes to the high-hats. Men with money, the monarchs of this democratic nation—those privileged, rich men who didn't have to fight; those who could lend their money to the government and expect a tremendous amount of interest each month, compounded and compounded. These are the men who profit by a war—these are the men who cause the suffering and strife.

Of course we are told that Germany started the last war, that Germany was intending to conquer Europe, then to chop on the United States—but was Germany alone responsible for this? Austria set off the first spark when she declared war on one of her small neighbors—Russia, seeing that the war was likely to spread over the rest of Europe, began to mobilize her troops and prepare for war. At the same time, Germany, seeing Russia preparing for a combat, began to do likewise—she must not be caught napping. Then France, England, and the rest of the countries began to do likewise. It was only natural that war would ensue, since everyone was ready.

It is really doubtful whether or not Germany intended to take the United States. It would indeed be a hard task for some alien nation to land an army here and defeat us on our own soil. Where we missed it was by sending our men across the sea. What if Germany did defeat France and the rest of Europe; it was nothing to us? But our inquisitive and bullying senses led us straight to the battle fields, or, I might say, the inquisitiveness of our high hats led us into war.

Those men with money wanted war, they wanted a chance to loan their money and be sure of compound interest. Since they were the ones who bossed the fighting from a ring-side seat, they could not worry about the danger. The men who faced the shells and bullets were not the men who had something worth fighting for—they were men who didn't have property, men whose relatives did not go down with the Lusitania, and men who personally didn't care which way the earth rotated. It was these poor servants of the Morgans who did the fighting and made it possible for the masters to profit.

If by some law of Congress, amendment of the Constitution, and radical changing of the laws as a whole, some system could be evolved by which the men with money would lead the way into battle, you would see war stop. These men have influence—and if they knew they would lead the front lines, do you think they would voluntarily bring on combat? No, they would do all within their power to eliminate this curse; and they alone have the power—the poor men didn't start the last war, it was the excellent caste—the wondermen of today who must be looked up to as "Sir," and "My dear Sir."

How long will the common men of America stand for the unfairness of this system—when will they revolt and send the war-makers to the front line where they should go?

THE TRIUMPH OF MARS

There is only one thing which could retard the growth and advancement of this growing civilization—that one thing is war. All through the ages men have fought in battle—men have died—and men have risen with a longing for that glory, for heroism on the field of battle—War is not glorious; war is preposterous and absurd—it is a shameful reflection on this so-called twentieth century progress, this high civilization which can boast of the greatest war-fare machinery ever devised. War is not heroic—there is no more chance for a man of the present and future to become a hero than there is for a large elephant to enter the mouth of a common-sized ink bottle. War is barbaric and brutal, and it is the folly of the world.

Do you know how much the World War cost the participants? Do you know that it cost an amount which would be equal to twenty thousand dollars per hour for every hour since the birth of Jesus Christ? Do you know that if two thousand and one hundred and fifty men were set to work and given an annual wage of two thousand five hundred dollars each, that their combined earnings would pay the cost of the World War for one day?

Can you guess how many men were killed in that great struggle? If all of the dead of that war were lined ten abreast and started marching, they would march by a given point for forty-six days? Do you know how many Lusitania's would have to go down to carry this many men to a death at sea? One Lusitania a day for fifty years or one each week starting a century before the discovery of America and lasting until the present. Is this worth the trouble? Would it not have been better to have left that mere handful of unfortunates unavenged—think of the millions who died to right a wrong against so few? What was gained by this tremendous expenditure of life and money? Nothing! Can you show me one nation that derived a single benefit from the war? Yes, you say, the good old U. S. A. made the world safe for Democracy; is that not helping the world? Probably it is, but we paid the price—ruined the finest manhood of our nation, and we are still paying war-debts. It would have been a thousand times better to have left the world to emperors and kings than to have killed so many thousand of our young men, most of them who did not give a whoop whether they were fighting for democracy or for fun—they just fought and died because some white-collared, yellow politician in Washington, D. C., thought we needed a war.

Ninety-seven percent of the United States do not want war. It is practically impossible to find a man who says he wants to fight—yet there is war. There is something wrong when the majority of the people in a nation which is supposed to be democratic do not want war, and yet we have it. There can be but one reason—those rotten, cheating high-hats who claim to run this government for the better interests of the people believe we need war; they need a little excitement to help their digestive system. But this is a mighty inhuman way in which to secure this excitement. Of course they don't have to fight, they don't have to cross the sea and face machine gun and cannon shot; they don't have to suffer, it is just an interesting game for them.

"To make the world safe for democracy," what a sorry excuse. What a short, ungrammatical phrase for which to spend one billion dollars every four days—to kill and disable so many healthy, young men. Let those high-hats who are angry do the fighting; if they take offense at the sinking of the Lusitania, let them do something about it—why should that concern these boys who are sent over the top? It's nothing to them, they could sink a hundred Lusitanias, and still it would mean nothing to those who were forced to avenge the deed.

It is mighty poor management when you spend thousands of dollars and receive in return thirty cents? And in the same manner it was poor management when this government spent the thousands in men and money to receive in return revenge for thirty cents worth of society high-hats whose death would probably have left the world in better condition.

And is there any way to abolish this absurd butchery? There is only one way, and that way is for the people of this nation to organize. If fifty thousand young men signed a pledge saying that they would die before they would take up arms, then the government would do something to prevent war. It is not until then that this nonsense will cease. As long as kind old gentlemen with white beards sign treaties, just that long will there be more war. The burden of this war is on the youth of the nation, not on the officials at Washington, and it will be removed only when these young men of the United States tell Congress that they will die rather than go to war—it's death either way in the wars of the future.

You can call me a traitor, a coward, or anything else that you want to; but I know that war is not intended to mix with civilization, and that before this civilization can do much progressing, there must be a damper placed on wholesale slaughter. I know that civilization has progressed to its present standard through war—but it has reached such a standard that it will crucify itself. By that I mean that we have invented such machines of death that we will tear our civilization apart unless something is done, and done soon at that. Why hasn't this happened in the past? Because they had nothing much with which to fight—perhaps an old squirrel rifle and a few sorry field pieces. But now it is different—airplanes, gas, the best rifles, and better machine guns.

But if this twentieth century civilization wants to tear its own body to bits, then it is personally nothing to me. I will merely have to cross the sea and fight for an ideal which is non-existent—and every other American youth will have to do the same, unless we organize!

We're Ready Now Command Us

Herman Rudloff, a graduate of Ford Service School, is now employed in our mechanical department. We feel that in view of his many years of experience in automobile repairing and after having attended the Ford Service School, he is able to give the very best of repairing service on all automobiles, as well as Fords.

We have added additional shop equipment and now have a repair department that we feel equal to any job. Our parts department was completely worked over this week by a service man from the Ford plant which places us in position to render complete service on all authorized Ford parts.

We appreciate your patronage and hope to serve you often.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

USE BUCHU AND GIN
Make This 25c Test

It is as valuable to the bladder as castor oil to the bowels. Flushes out impurities and excess acids which cause the irritation resulting in getting up nights, burning, frequent desire, leg pains and backache. On account of the alcohol in gin use juniper oil from which gin is made. Ask for Bukets, the bladder laxative also containing buchu leaves, etc. After four days, if not pleased your druggist will return your 25c. You are bound to sleep better after this flushing. Guaranteed by Smith Drug Store.
