Dairy Farmers Establish Milk Route Here

DARYMEN ESTABLISH LOCAL MILK ROUTE EFFECTIVE SOON

A milk route was organized, to become effective at an early date, by a large gathering of local farmers, who met at the Cross Plains school building on Tuesday night. The new route includes the towns of Cross Plains, Cottonwood, and Cross Cut, and is to connect with the Burkett and Coleman route.

V. L. Alford, representative of an Abilene cheese making concern, who took an active part in the organization of the route, explained the manner in which the milk route will be operated.

Mr. Alford explained that trucks call for the milk each day, convey it to Abilene where the desired elements are removed, and that the whey is returned the following day. Prices received for milk average between 10 and 17 cents per gallon, depending upon the butterfat percentage. The whey returned to the farmers can be used to an excellent advantage by feeding it to chickens and hogs.

Doyle Walker, who transports milk from Burkett to Abilene by way of Coleman, was present at the meeting and explained the return of the farmers in that vicinity toward the route.

Mr. Bush and Mr. Hughes, of Seranton Public Schools, attended the meeting for the purpose of gaining information relative to extending the milk route into the Seranton district.

V. A. Underwood, vocational agriculture instructor of Cross Plains Public Schools, has been active in the organization of the milk route and urges farmers, especially in Cross Cut, Sabanno, Cottonwood, Dressy, and Cross Plains areas, to join in the movement.

FLAYS RECKLESSNESS

JUDGE M. S. LONG LONG URGES CURB RECKLESS DRIVING IN JURY CHARGE

Judge M. S. Long, opening a new term of 42nd district court Monday charged members of a Taylor county jury to do their part to curb reckless driving.

Long, speaking public sentiment with drivers and persons who drive while intoxicated, and told them his policy was to take away the license of any man found driving while intoxicated.

"There is not a great deal grand juries or courts can do about the loss of lives in Taylor county through reckless driving," said Judge Long, "but there ought to be an aroused public sentiment against it. We have penalties for all these cases, but the condition can be improved only by publicity teaching the people. My policy and the policy of District Attorney J. R. Black is to take the driving license away from the man who is convicted of driving while intoxicated."

The judge termed the gambling question in the state of Texas a "disgrace." Marble machines, said Judge Long are "devices that teach children to gamble."

"With all the resource that we have in Texas it is a disgrace and a shame to put a tax on gambling devices to pay the old age pension. If we haven't resources to pay those people we ought to turn the country back to the Indians."

"As a district judge, it is my duty to see that gambling laws are enforced. As far as I am concerned, in the three counties over which I preside, I am going to charge every grand jury and ask all peace officers to help enforce the law against gambling, because I do not believe it is right," Long declared.

Wintry Blast Sweeps Area; Extends Over Entire State

The full blast of what promised to be the winter's first blue norther swept into Cross Plains early Thursday morning when the temperature dropped from 62 at 8 o'clock Wednesday night to 22 at seven Thursday morning.

Reports indicated that the norther was state-wide. The mercury stood at 10 degrees at Amarillo Wednesday night. The cold wave had progressed as far east as Wichita Falls where the temperature was slumping from 30 at 9:30 Wednesday night. The government forecast at Amarillo had promised that the frigid air would sweep in a southeasterly direction and take in most of Texas.

Thursday night. For West Texas, Probable snow and rain in the north portion was expected, along with the cold wave.

The late norther marks the first real taste of winter experienced in Cross Plains since the season began. Most cattlemen had taken recognition of forecasts and were prepared for the cold weather. Loss is expected to be small.

A light drizzle was falling in Cross Plains early Thursday.

The cold came at an excellent time, regarding the growth of grain and preventing fruit from budding. Fruit growers had been concerned over unseasonal warmth and wetness. (Continued on Back Page)

PRICE CUT ALLOWED ON "GREAT ZIEGFELD"

After a vigorous protest by W. A. Beavers, manager of the Liberty Theatre, the producers have granted a twenty five cent admission price for "The Great Ziegfeld," the lowest rate in the history of the film.

"The Great Ziegfeld," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's giant picture at the Liberty Monday and Tuesday can be described in three words... World's Greatest Entertainment!

Challenging all competitors, "The Great Ziegfeld" has more first class entertainment value crowded within its sixteen reels than any other picture labeled "musical" or otherwise.

Aside from being a musical extravaganza this story of America's greatest showman and the glorification of the American Girl also possesses a fine dramatic quality.

It has a triple-star threat—William Powell, Myrna Loy and Luise Rainer—to tell a story suggested by the career of Florenz Ziegfeld, with Powell as Ziegfeld, Miss Loy, as Billie Burke and Miss Rainer as Anna Held.

Supporting the star triumvirate are such players as Virginia Bruce, Frank Morgan, Nat Pendleton, Reginald Owen, Jean Chabrun, Ernest Cossard, Herman Bing.

The entertainment value becomes a Parade of Ziegfeld, for the cast also features such world-famous entertainers as Fanny Brice, the ruling American comedienne; Harriet Hoster, whom Ziegfeld acclaimed the Pavlova of America; and Ray "Rubber Legs" Bolger, Broadway dancing star.

There will be only one showing of the film at each performance, and no tickets, will be sold after the feature starts.

BARBARA STANWICK APPEARS LIBERTY THEATRE FEATURE

With an unique romantic situation as the storm center around which whirls a marital cyclone, "The Bride Walks Out," shown at the Liberty at a Saturday night preview and Monday matinee, rates a prominent place on the weather map of screen entertainment.

Barbara Stanwick is starred with Gene Raymond and Robert Young as her rival leading men, and Ned Sparks and Helen Broderick also have featured roles in character comedy parts.

The plot of "The Bride Walks Out," concocted for laughing purposes only, deals with the matrimonial theory of a young civil engineer who is convinced that two can live as cheaply as one on $35 a week, and who will fight anybody who disagrees with him—including his rebellious fiancée, a mannequin in a fashionable dress shop.

Undismayed by the example of connubial warfare furnished by a hen-pecked co-worker and his acid-tongued spouse, the engineer talks the heroine into a hurried city hall marriage during his lunch hour. But they begin fighting before they get out of the license bureau, and a wealthy young idler who befriends the pair becomes a domestic problem.

From this point on the complications grow wilder and funnier, with the young playboy's interest in the bride adding unnecessary fuel to the matrimonial flames. The newlyweds eventually get their difficulties ironed out, but not until they have left screen audiences weak with laughter.

"The Bride Walks Out," a leading contender for the plum as the season's most delightful comedy romance, according to critics of other cities, take place against a variety of thirty contrasting locales ranging from the town jail to the magnificently appointed Long Island shore estate of a millionaire.

Bobbie Nell Neel has returned to Weatherford Junior College to resume her studies after having spent the Christmas holidays with her parents.

HIGGINBOTHAM BROS. & Co.

TO THE CITIZENS OF CALLAHAN COUNTY

I feel that it would be ungrateful as we enter a new year and at the beginning of another two year term, if I failed to express my appreciation to the people of Callahan County for their loyalty to me since I first became Sheriff of your County.

I feel deeply indebted to the citizens of Callahan County for the trust that I have never given you when you first elected me your Sheriff. I appreciate that confidence as much to day as ever before and trust that I have never given you cause to regret that you have trusted me with this important office.

Now as we begin this new year, let's strive together to build up our citizenship by obedience to the laws of our country which are just and right whether we believe in them all or not. Ninety per cent of all violations of the law are foolishness and uncalled for and most time are paid for by some one else's money.

We have a good County but let's don't ever be satisfied with that but strive together as friends and neighbors to build up our citizenship that we might give another generation at least the chance that we had.

My sincere desire is that 1937, may bring peace, happiness, and prosperity to every man, woman and child in Callahan County.

Sincerely yours, R. L. EDWARDS

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to those, our dear friends and neighbors, for every expression of love and kindness shown during the illness and death of our darling son and mother, and may the Lord bless you and yours, is our prayer.

NERO WOLFE MAKES FILM BOW AT LIBERTY

Under the frank and informal title, "Meet Nero Wolfe", Columbia Pictures introduces Rex Stout's famous fat detective in the first screen adaptation of the sleuth's widely read fictional adventures. The new film is scheduled to head the screen program at the Liberty Theatre Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Those who have read "Fer de Lance", the Rex Stout story on which "Meet Nero Wolfe" is based will recognize the lazy, beer-imbibing amateur Hawkshaw in the corpulent person of Edward Arnold. As Archie, Nero Wolfe's super-stooge, Lionel Stander acts as his master's eyes, ears, arms and legs—bat never his brains. Stander gathers the facts and suspects, and between rounds of beer, Wolfe assembles the crime puzzle and isolates the guilty person. So effective is this method of crime deduction that Wolfe has found it unnecessary to leave his house in seven years.

In rapid succession, Wolfe learns of two murders. Both, at first are believed to be death by natural causes, and unrelated. Convinced of foul play, Wolfe launches his own investigations and soon rounds up six suspects. His deductions are confirmed when a third man dies in the midst of his investigations.

A golf club, transformed into a gun which shot a poisoned needle, was the lethal weapon used in the first murder. A similar needle, shot through a blow-gun, served to accomplish the second. The bite of the deadly fer de lance, a snake common to the South American tropics, in whose poison the two needles were dipped, committed the third crime. How these mystifying elements are correlated and analyzed, leading to the apprehension of the murderer, comprises the crux of the famous story.

Supporting the two male leads is a large cast including Victor Jory, John Qualen, Joan Perry, Dennis Moore, Nana Bryant and Russell Hardie. The film was adapted to the screen by Bruce Manning.

CALLAHAN, GIBSON PROVIDE ROMANCE IN "THE LAST OUTLAW"

Torn apart on the eve of romance by a mob of cold-blooded killers. That's the tense situation in which Hoot Gibson and Margaret Callahan find themselves in the romantic leads of RKO Radio's "The Last Outlaw," coming to the Liberty Friday and Saturday.

The lovely, dark-haired Miss Callahan, whose gift for giving romantic depth to action drama was revealed with Richard Dix, in "Special Investigator," starts the story's rapid-fire action when she is seized and taken into the Oklahoma hills as a hostage by gangsters.

Harry Carey is co-starred with Gibson and Henry B. Walthall and Tom Tyler featured. Carey plays an old desperado who has left his guns untouched for twenty-five years, and Walthall as his pal, an old-time two-gun sheriff.

They send the story roaring through gun, wit—and fist battles as they hit the trail of the kidnapers, and prove that the last guard of the old west is more than a match for today's bad men.

Directed by Christy Cabanne and produced by Robert Sisk the film includes in its supporting cast Ray Mayer, Russell Hopton, Frank Jenks, Frank M. Thomas, Fred Scott and Maxine Jennings.
