Hospital Election Today Over $127 Contributed For Victims Of Friday's Storm

Having buried their dead and counted the staggering property damage, the little city of Clyde, in the Northwest corner of this county, has begun the long task of rebuilding. 14 newly made graves and 20 homes and the new school building irreparably destroyed, tell the grim story of the devastating tornado which swept down on the tranquil little community Friday night at 8:27.

News of the catastrophe reached Cross Plains about an hour later. People from here as well as all other surrounding cities rushed to the scene and cooperated with the Red Cross, Salvation Army, National Guardsmen, Boy Scouts, Highway Patrolmen and other agencies in freeing victims from the debris and administering aid.

Irreparable Twister The tornado was described by eye-witnesses as a slow moving irrestable twister. It swept down Northwest of Clyde and pursued that course through the West edge of the town, leveling everything in its path. The nine year old $45,000 school building crumbled like cardboard in a deluge of rain when hit by the tornado. Box cars, automobiles and homes were tossed about as a child would pitch a ball.

Upon reaching the cemetery the tornado rose again, leaving the silent city of the dead unmolested. Despite the fact that it is less than 300 feet from the destroyed school structure, only evidence of the storm at the cemetery are the newly made graves.

Dead Reckies 14 Funeral rites for the fourteen victims were held Tuesday afternoon. Three persons were buried at Clyde Monday, a fourth at Ranger and a fifth at Llano. Six were interred in the little Clyde cemetery Sunday, while another was laid to final rest at Merkel.

The dead: Mrs. J. B. Easterling, about 60, who lived a mile Northwest of Clyde. Emmett Graham, 55, who lived in the West edge of town. Mrs. Miriam Graham, 56, wife of Emmett Graham. Mrs. Lula Bonner, about 75, who lived with the Grahams. M. E. Sullivan, 65, who lived near the Grahams. Jess Rutledge, 30, a young farmer whose home was three and a half miles West of Clyde. Alice Marie Rutledge, 28, wife of Jess Rutledge. James Harris Johnson, 18, brother of Mrs. Rutledge. Melvin Kniffen, 20-year-old farm youth. Mrs. Margaret Ross, 35, whose body was not immediately identified.

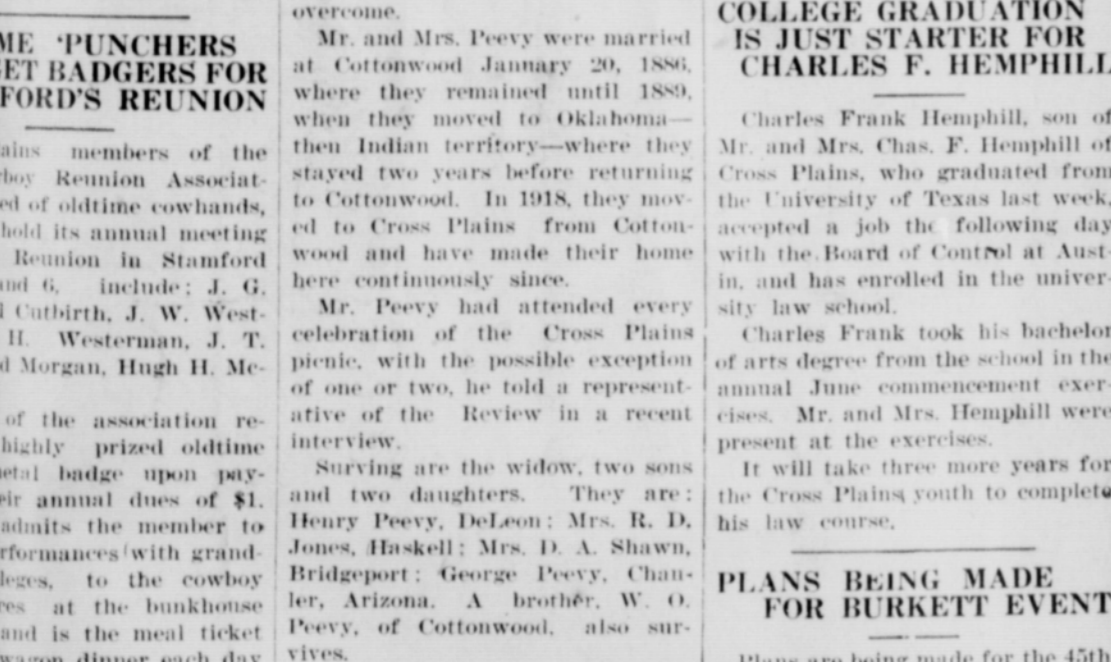

Allen Reynolds, 38, a transient who was killed when the box car in which he was riding was hurled several hundred feet from the tracks into a nearby field. William Dune DeSpain, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward DeSpain. A two inch board was driven through the child's skull. Yet in an Abilene hospital are two widows of the storm, Mrs. T. W. Briscoe and Mrs. M. E. Sullivan. Both are reported recovering normally. In a Baird hospital are two orphans of the tornado, Joe Ross, 17, and Jimmy Ross, 8. They were unable to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Monday afternoon. Their father already was dead. Also in the Baird hospital are Mr. and Mrs. Ward DeSpain, however, both are reported "doing nicely".

Little Insurance List of the homes irreparably destroyed by the wind was: J. E. Bagwell, D. P. Rawling, R. B. Menga, E. B. Rogers, J. B. Easterling, T. H. Dix, Mrs. J. T. Bledsoe, Dale Fitzhugh, T. J. Dockery, E. G. Conlee, M. E. Sullivan, T. W. Briscoe, J. E. Graham, Mrs. Margaret Ross, Ward DeSpain, O. G. South, Earl Slater, and Mrs. Etta Payne.

Only three of the places destroyed had tornado insurance and coverage on these was described yesterday as "inadequate." In Washington Representatives Clyde L. Garrett and Charles L.

Where Tornado Claimed 14 Lives, 20 Homes, School

Pictured above is the nine year old Clyde high school building after being razed by the tornado which swept Friday night. Efforts are underway to secure federal aid in rebuilding the structure.

All that was left of an automobile in which four people met their death, while driving to a cellar, is the engine as pictured above. The car belonged to Melvin Kniffen, 20. It was from this machine that the Rutledge children were blown to a roadside barrow pit, half filled with water.

ORPHANS OF STORM; CLYDE'S NO. 1 HERO Like most all other disasters, Clyde's was not without its hero. In this case, however, the tribute is being heaped upon the youthful shoulders of Donald Rutledge. He and his three month old brother, Daryl, were blown from the car in which they were riding with their parents into a barrow ditch half filled with water. Donald seized his baby brother and held the infant's head above the water, to prevent drowning, for nearly an hour, until rescued by telegraph linemen. Efforts are now under way to secure for Donald the Carnegie medal, which is accompanied by $1,500, in cash. Both parents of Donald and Daryl were killed instantly by the tornado.

BELOVED ELDERLY CITIZEN EXPIRES MONDAY MORNING

Last rites for B. F. Peavy, 69, one of Cross Plains' most beloved elderly citizens, were held from the family home in the Northeast part of town Wednesday morning, with Minister G. A. Dunn, Jr., pastor of the Rising Star Church of Christ, officiating. Interment was made in the Cottonwood cemetery.

Mr. Peavy expired shortly after one o'clock Monday morning after an illness of about four weeks. He had been in declining health, however, for the past year.

Having lost his eyesight in 1898, Mr. Peavy was blind the last 40 years of his life. For him, however, life remained pleasant, and with his wife, who was constantly at his side, the handicap was largely overcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Peavy were married at Cottonwood January 29, 1889, where they remained until 1889, when they moved to Oklahoma—then Indian territory—where they stayed two years before returning to Cottonwood. In 1918, they moved to Cross Plains from Cottonwood and have made their home here continuously since.

Mr. Peavy had attended every celebration of the Cross Plains picnic, with the possible exception of one or two, he told a representative of the Review in a recent interview.

Surviving are the widow, two sons and two daughters. They are: Henry Peavy, DeLeon; Mrs. R. D. Jones, Haskell; Mrs. D. A. Shawn, Bridgeport; George Peavy, Chandler, Arizona. A brother, W. O. Peavy, of Cottonwood, also survives.

Pall bearers at the funeral and interment services were: Hugh Edington, J. L. Settle, C. W. Kempfer, J. C. Huntington, J. M. McMillan, O. T. Laws, Craig Merryman and J. W. Cox.

LOCALS BEAT EASTLAND COCA COLA TEAM 20 TO 1

SPUD SHALLOW TEST ON T. C. CROSS PLACE

Hilltop Petroleum Company et al has spudded a shallow oil test on the Tom Cross tract, just West of the city limits. Plans call for the drilling 400 feet or to the grass roots sand. The test will be the second drilled in that vicinity by the company.

INVITATIONS TO PICNIC MAILED TO CANDIDATES

Invitations to all state, district and county candidates to speak at Cross Plains fifty-seventh annual picnic and old settlers reunion July 11 and 12, went in the mails this week. Members of the committee expect to receive replies within the next few days and prepare program at least several days in advance of the celebration.

DRUNK DRIVER GETS 30 DAYS PLUS FINE

L. E. Snodgrass was sentenced to 30 days in jail, assessed a $50 fine and deprived of the right to drive for six months by Judge M. S. Long, of 42nd district court Wednesday.

The penalty was imposed when Snodgrass pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Two civil suits set for trial at Baird Wednesday were settled out of court.

CROSS PLAINS BEATS CISCO 7-5 SUNDAY

Cross Plains baseball team defeated Cisco seven to five Sunday afternoon, to maintain a perfect percentage with three victories and no defeats in the newly organized tri-county league.

GOOD OIL SHOWING ENCOUNTERED IN J. V. HOWELL TEST HERE

Having encountered an extremely good showing of oil in the Caddo lime, the J. V. Howell deep test on the E. I. Vestal tract, two miles Northeast of town, was planning yesterday to make a thorough check of the formation.

The Caddo was topped at 2,663 feet and drilled 29 feet to a depth of 2,692. Samples of the formation were taken and sent to a chemical firm for analysis. Chemists declared the lime contained high oil saturation.

Upon receipt of the report, Howell ran the six and five eights pipe and contacted an oil cementing concern to come here and prepare the hole for acidization. The cementing was completed Wednesday morning at three o'clock.

After having 72 hours to harden, plans call for the going back into the hole, drilling the plug and thoroughly washing with clean water to further check the lime. Acid may then be applied.

Local oil men were highly optimistic yesterday concerning the prospects of the test. It was pointed out that a well in the Caddo would be especially desirable because of the history of the formation, which reveals it to possess more permeability from an oil producing standpoint than any other lime found in this section.

Nothing more will be done on the well until Saturday morning, when the necessary 72 hours required for cement hardening will have elapsed.

Some of the features of this year's program include a rodeo, carnival, speaking and entertainment by various towns.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye—feet, tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. The Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

At refreshment time a plate of sandwiches, olives, potato chips, apple pie topped with whipped cream, and ice tea was passed to the following guests: Mrs. V. A. Underwood, Mrs. Curran E. Allen, Mrs. R. Elliott Bryant, Mrs. Jack Scott, Mrs. J. H. McGowan.

MOTING MANNERS

If the exceptional driver, that negligent, careless, half criminal person who constitutes only a small percentage of the total responsible for all our traffic ills, the problem would be an easy one solved.

The joker is that all too often we overlook the fact that there being so many more of them that are honest, conscientious citizens, a reasonably intelligent and law abiding individuals who falls in a class with you and me who caused most of the two thousand deaths and fifty thousands injuries in Texas last year. Not until we realize that we are all contributing to the carnage, and do something about it, will conditions materially improve.

The logical question that follows is, what is wrong with us as drivers if we are such decent people in other respects. Some one has sized up the situation rather well with the statement that, "Man's ability to build machines has outgrown his ability to use them."

We don't know enough about the dangers of speed, an automobile is potentially as dangerous as a passenger train and your pillman ride would be an uneasy one indeed if you knew the engineer was no better trained or qualified to do his job than is one of the hull motor car operators.

Speed properly applied can be one of the greatest blessings of our civilization but we have not learned to use it without off-setting too much of the good that it does. Speed should be used sensibly when at all and never as a plaything. The more we learn of the mechanism of our cars and of the physical laws involved in speed the better drivers we will become.

Few fatal accidents occur at speeds below forty miles per hour, you could run your car into a brick wall at twenty five miles per hour with no greater danger of killing its occupants when you increase the speed to fifty it's energy or hitting power becomes four times as great as it was at twenty five, at seventy five miles per hour your car is nine times as hard to turn and nine times as deadly. If you drive seventy five your chance of being involved in a fatal accident are nine times as great as if you drive twenty-five. The reason we do not have more good first hand advice on the subject is that there are few veterans of crashes that occurred at high speeds. They died young.

Another phase of work being done this month by Mrs. McBride is the testing of pressure cooker gauges. The pressure cooker gauge of each borrower is being checked with a maximum thermometer. This is very necessary safety and for using time tables in order to secure the right processing of the vegetables.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Baum and family returned home Monday after a visit of several days with friends and relatives at San Angelo, Big Springs and Forsan.

Stress is also given to the relation of fruits and vegetables to health and the necessity of following a well planned food storage budget in canning the year's supply of food.

These demonstrations include the pressure cooker and water bath methods and both acid and non-acid fruits and vegetables. Mrs. McBride is stressing factors for securing better finished canned products, among which are quick handling of the new products—"One Hour From the Garden to the Can"—selection of materials, proper stages of maturity at which vegetables and fruits should be canned, grading of products according to size and degree of ripeness, sterilization of containers, and proper pre-cooking and processing of each product.

An Appeal To My Friends of The Southeast Part of Callahan County

I am this week beginning my active campaign for nomination to the high office of representative of the 107th district and am addressing this advertisement to the good people of the southwest part of Eastland county and the southeast part of Callahan county to ask your help in getting my candidacy before the people.

Most of you have known me practically all my life. You have watched me come up through the Rising Star school system—you have watched with interest my career in Texas Technological College where I received my degree the past week after four years of hard work where I earned every cent of my way through college by working eight to 14 hours a day and never failed in a single subject. I am also proud to say that I have not only earned my way through college but by denying myself have been able to save enough money to finance my campaign and will not have to borrow a dime from anyone and therefore will be under no obligations financially or otherwise when I go to Austin to represent you in the legislature.

On account of the limited time at my disposal I know there are many of you who I will be unable to see before the primary. I feel that I must spend the greater part of my time in the larger towns of the district, where I am not so well known, and am calling upon my friends in this part of the district to lend their assistance by asking your neighbors to give me their support and also speak a good word for me to anyone from other towns and communities with whom you come in contact—No man is stronger than his friends, and I fully realize that if I am to realize my cherished ambition of representing my district in the legislature it will be largely through the loyalty and support of my friends.

I had sincerely hoped that there would be no opposition to my candidacy in my own commissioner's precinct but within the past few days my good friend, Ed Curry, one of the leading citizens of the Pioneer community, has filed his application for a place on the ticket for the same office.

Not only myself but my dad have always been admirers of Mr. Curry and during his unsuccessful campaigns for this office in 1934 and 1936, supported him wholeheartedly. While not of voting age at the time I never overlooked an opportunity to speak a good word for him and my dad, in his last campaign, "stuck his neck out" by signing with others an endorsement of Mr. Curry which was printed and circulated all over the district, subjecting himself to the public criticism of Mr. Curry's opponent on every stump in the district. I had greatly hoped to have the support of Mr. Curry in my race this year.

But be that as it may, I admit that Mr. Curry has a perfect right to come out for representative, but I do feel that the people of his home community and this section of the district have discharged any obligation that they might feel toward him as a "favorite son" or home community citizen by going to the polls and supporting him in '34 and '36 and I feel no hesitancy in asking you for your support this year. I have no idea of making a fight on Mr. Curry, but on account of the fact that he has already had two fair chances at this office there seems little likelihood that he could win in a third campaign. As to my other two opponents I take it that you would rather give me your support than them on account of the fact that I live among you and am surely more conversant with your problems and needs.

I do not pose as any Young Moses who has come to "lead the people out of the wilderness" but I do believe that with my thorough preparation, honesty of purpose and willingness to serve that I can be of service to you at Austin and you may be sure that I will be working in your interest every day I am there.

My slogan is "Less Politics and More Efficiency" and I caution my friends of this district to beware of the politician who promises them "the earth with a string tied to it." I believe in a strictly business administration and sincerely believe that millions of dollars can be saved the taxpayers of Texas by the elimination of useless bureaus and boards and more rigid economy in every department. In other words, cut out the politics and political jobs and get down to business.

I believe that most of you will agree with me that my eight years active newspaper work is a liberal education within its self. For to be a newspaper man one must know something about more things than most any other man in his community. To write intelligently he must make a study of conditions in his territory and of the needs of the people he writes about. This added to the fact that I have had four years in study of government under the best professors at Texas Tech and the further fact that I have twice visited the legislature to familiarize myself with legislative procedure places me in a position to serve you intelligently and to get into the work with no undue delay.

I have some well defined ideas as to a legislative program, but am not self centered enough to believe that I know it all, therefore I invite you to come to me with your ideas during my campaign and after I am nominated and feel free to confer with me on them. Among other things I realize that the "mess" our old age assistance has gotten into needs attention badly and I hope to be able to assist in straightening this problem out to the satisfaction of our needy aged and to see that they get what they so justly deserve. I also realize that our educational problems need attention badly and hope to be able to hasten the day when every teacher receives a living salary and gets his or her pay when it is due, and that proper transportation be provided our school children every day of the school year.

In conclusion I want to say that if I do not get to see you personally I want you to take this message as a personal solicitation of your vote and support and that you will help me by speaking to your friends in favor of my candidacy.

Yours sincerely,

WAYNE SELLERS

RELIEF FUND FOR CLYDE IS BEING RAISED BY CROSS PLAINS FRIENDS

South sought federal aid for the reconstruction of the school building. The $45,000 structure was destroyed by only $20,000, and that was above the amount carried until a few weeks ago.

Like most all other disasters, Clyde was not without its heroes. Not the least of which was Donald Rutledge, three, who with his brother Daryl, three months old, was blown from the car in which they were riding.

The children were found by an Abilene line-repair man and rushed to Clyde. Efforts to identify the children were futile until they were taken to a physician's office for medical attention.

The following is a list of the contributions received Wednesday, however, it is not complete and there will necessarily be several donors not acknowledged. It was impossible to check the list with all committeemen before going to press yesterday to add the names and amounts not secured on the first canvass.

All foul smells are kept floating around the town. The bread business is ruined. The utility firms are responsible.

But now J. L. Moore, former operator of the bakery in Baird, has filed a suit against the gas company for $2,900 damages.

He alleges the gas from the pipes, ovens, and so forth, has ruined his bakery. He says the gas company is responsible for the damage.

Residing over the city office his daily routine includes accepting complaints, giving information and collecting for two utility companies and taxes, Lindsey Tyson spent most of his business day yesterday afternoon the local city attorney admitted he was "stumped."

The office shortly before closing time came an embarrassed couple. Lindsey Tyson immediately cornered them and asked to purchase a marriage license. Lindsey never had a similar request and being inexperienced in matrimonial procedure, Lindsey turned to the city attorney for advice. ASK MORE MONEY

Two candidates for governor, one for lieutenant governor and a number of others for state posts, as well as virtually all county and district office seekers, have already scheduled hours for speeches at Cross Plains fifty seventh annual Picnic July 11 and 12.

McCraw Will Speak

Attorney General William McCraw notified Paul V. Harrell, chairman of the speaking committee, yesterday that he would be here at 5:30 the first afternoon of the celebration and would like to have one hour to present his candidacy to the voters of this section.

Pierce Brooks, who two years ago made the race for governor and is now an aspirant for the lieutenant governorship, notified early this week of his intention to be here and asked to be advised of the hour of his speech. The committee will meet this week end and arrange schedules and advise all candidates accordingly.

All phases of the Picnic are reported progressing nicely. Ruben Knight and Homer Johnson, who are to put on the rodeo, have been busy recently securing animals for the successful show they are expected to stage twice each day. The carnival coming to Cross Plains for the celebration also announces that several added attractions will join the troupe here, making it one of the largest and most elaborate ever to play this place.
