Home Town Gossip

There are certain citizens in this town who wish an all-weather road from that place via Nimrod, Sabanno and Sabanno to Cross Plains. The route would miss Rising Star.

Wayne Sellers, college son of the local boss of the Rising Star and has been pinch-hitting for that and utilized the opportunity of tossing a few bricks and water on the proposition. Mr. Butler, editor of the Cross Plains Press, readily countered with a string of stinging adjectives.

The columnist has assumed a "chaff" attitude in the entire Press, and really it's been a lot of fun to watch an editorial fracas which we were not one of the combatants.

"Sellers in his Hash column week had the following to say to the editor:

My Butler, editor of the Cross Plains Press, after reading one of Wayne's powered editorials in the Record last week, charges it to us as all "Hopped up and funny" in the proposed new road. We're the joke, because we come to the proposed route a joke department to spend large amounts of money on such projects as major highways need connecting links so badly and some of the roads so much need widening and modernizing is out of question. We admit that it is nice to have paved roads and let's let the important job be taken care of first. And you, Benny, for suggesting the Record and the Review fighting the best of friends. True, Jack and Hash and I have the high-end for Jack and his new-ness of the best weeklies in the area.

It is the way Benny gets into his column—entitled "The Editor's Spectacles" that he rips into the "Record and Review."

Sellers, editor of the Rising Star, takes a flying leap and charges us with further selfish move in trying to establish between Cross Plains and Cross Plains. We disagree. As a matter of fact we are trying to do a better job for "Doc" and his Cross Plains newspaper, who have been able to get along all together. Having had the exchanges for long time and with growing appreciation for the two who have been at each other, the Press and the Review, we are convinced that the two who have been at each other, the Press and the Review, every effort is being made to make it an outstanding success." Mr. Echols said to the Review.

Mr. Echols who has been conducting a singing school in Cross Plains and Burkett the past two weeks will render a musical concert at the high school auditorium Friday night, beginning at 8.30.

Features of the program are to include the N.B.C. box, ranging in age from nine to 14 years. Those boys who render quartet harmony and comedy songs are said to have just returned from Hollywood, California, where they were given screen tests with Paul Whiteman's band. Other important numbers on Echols' program is to be the Hill sisters, of Sweetwater; Odie Echols, Jr., singer and tap dancer; Miss Marie Clark, accompanist, and a number of group selections.

The program here Friday night is to be Mr. Echols' last in Texas. He is leaving for Greensboro, North Carolina, where he will join Frank Stamps and his all-star victrol recording quartet.

"We are anxious to have a large attendance at this final program; every effort is being made to make it an outstanding success." Mr. Echols said to the Review.

STATEWIDE ELECTION MONDAY

Fred Tunnell New Head Local Bank

Succeeds C. C. Neeb As Citizens State Cashier

NEW BANKER

FRED TUNNELL

Fred Tunnell, Rising Star banker, was named head of the Citizens State Bank of Cross Plains at a meeting of directors Friday afternoon. He assumed duties here Saturday morning, succeeding C. C. Neeb, resigned.

Tunnell began his banking career with the old First National in Rising Star in 1917. He remained with that institution more than two years advancing to assistant-cashier. He resigned, however, in 1919 to accept the assistant cashiership of the Continental State Bank at Rising Star. He remained with that institution through the intervening 18 years being promoted to cashier, and when the bank changed to the First State he became active vice-president.

His election here last week (Friday, August 13) was 18 years to the day later than when he was elected to the assistant-cashier position of the Continental State Bank at Rising Star.

Aside from banking interests Mr. Tunnell was active in various phases of community life at Rising Star and is expected to be of valuable service to this community. At Rising Star he was a past president of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the school board, Boy Scout advisor and official in the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Tunnell, two sons and daughter, have found difficulty in locating a residence in Cross Plains. They are, however, negotiating for the place formerly occupied by the Chas. F. Hemphills and hope to move in this week.

FORMER LOCAL MAN WEDS ALBANY GIRL

William V. (Buck) Wheeler, former Cross Plains school teacher, and Miss Pauline Dodson, of Albany, were united in marriage at the home of the groom in Santa Anna Sunday. The couple will be at home in Colorado, Texas, after September first.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Dodson, of Albany. The groom is a member of a pioneer family in Coleman county and is well known in Cross Plains having taught school here three years.

LIBERTY TO PRESENT "BORN TO DANCE" HERE

"Born to Dance", which comes to the Liberty Theatre Sunday is hailed as the season's most lavish pot-pourri of music and dancing. Produced by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer the vehicle portrays the dynamic Eleanor Powell as its star and just about runs the entire gamut of rhythm.

In all there are more than 250 dancers and more than 200 instrumentalists and singers in this new production with a nautical background with music and lyric by Cole Porter, for several seasons Broadway's number one tuner and lyricist.

BABY BOY IS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. WEISS

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Weiss of this place are the parents of a eight pound baby boy born Friday, August 13.

Both mother and baby are reported doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor and baby and Mrs. Tom Harris have returned from a trip through East Texas and Louisiana. While gone they visited with the Henry Mitchell family, formerly of Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Martin, Eldon and Marline Martin, and Miss Leota Moore are vacationing in Oklahoma. Miss Marie Baker accompanied them to Brokenridge to visit a former college friend.

FIRST BALE OF '37 COTTON SOLD HERE TUESDAY MORNING

First bale of 1937 cotton was sold in Cross Plains Tuesday morning by C. C. Sheppard, who lives on the Bayou Southwest of town. The bale weighed 465 pounds. It was bought by E. I. Vestal for 12 cents per pound. Local merchants contributed $21.50 as a premium. The ginning was done by Planters Gin Company.

First bale this year is 11 days earlier than that of 1936, which was brought in August 28 by Jay Gould.

Much of this year's cotton is expected to be earlier than usual. The remainder of the crop, however, will be later than ordinary. This odd circumstance came about as a result of widespread re-planting, some as late as June fifth, the Review was told. Despite the fact the crop is already beginning to move it will probably be the middle of December before all cotton is ginned in this area, observers declare.

Cross Plains is expected to have one of the most active cotton markets in this section, comparable to that of the west season, when first dollar wheat in Texas was sold in Cross Plains.

BAIRD'S FIRST BALE ALSO COMES TUESDAY

The first bale of cotton for 1937 was brought to Baird Tuesday by Jeff Malby, young farmer of the Admiral community 12 miles south of Baird.

The bale was ginned by the Baird gin company. A cash premium was given by Baird merchants.

PUTNAM GETS FIRST BALE ON WEDNESDAY

Putnam's first bale of 1937 cotton was ginned and sold there Wednesday. The staple was grown by Tom Butler, who also had the town's first bale in 1936. It was ginned by the Farmers Gin Company, weighing 559 pounds.

CHRISTINE CUNNINGHAM TO GET COLLEGE DEGREE

Christine Cunningham, of Cross Plains, will receive the bachelor of Science degree at the forty-eighth annual summer commencement of North Texas State Teachers College on the evening of August 29, according to word received from the office of the dean. If the weather permits, the record graduating class of approximately 500 will receive their diplomas out of doors in the College's athletic stadium.

COLEMAN MAN REPLACES NICHOLS FOR VACATION

O. C. Lewis, of Coleman, is pinch-hitting for T. T. Nichols in the market at the Piggly Wiggly Store here this week. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and family left the first of the week for a few days vacation in West Texas. Mr. Nichols will be on the job again Monday morning.

John Kendrick, a resident of Cross Plains the past 13 consecutive years, left this week for Douglas, Arizona, to make his home.

Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Collins are vacationing this week at the annual Presbyterian encampment at Buffalo Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Booth and family of Big Spring visited with relatives and friends here first the week.

Phil Bingham and Browne Baum were business visitors in Coleman Monday.

Homer Moon of West Texas is visiting his family here this week.

J. T. Hammett Adds Brady Golf Title To String Of Summr Championships

Continuing the pace he set opening day, J. T. Hammett, 19-year-old ace of Pioneer was crowned champion of the second annual Brady invitation golf tournament Sunday.

He defeated Ira Q. Mayhew, Jr., of Brady, 6-4 in the finals. Hammett had the better of the argument from the start, and grew stronger as the match progressed, ending the affair with an eagle on the fourteenth hole.

The young golfer of the Philpeco Country club was five under par when he ended the match, his card showing an eagle, four birdies, eight pars and one bogey. Mayhew played sensational golf in reaching the finals, but his putter was sadly off form in the championship match. The winner reached the finals Sunday morning by shooting sub-par golf to eliminate Joe Dick Slaughter of Lubbock, 3-2.

Other Philpeco country club players sharing in the prizes at Brady included: W. W. Tunnell, who won the second flight consolation; J. W. Thornton, third flight consolation winner, and O. T. Jarvis third flight runner-up.

GRASS GREENS ARE ASSURED AT CLUB WORK PROGRESSING

With pipes already purchased and dums being thrown up, Philpeco country club's coveted grass greens are to become a reality.

Three dumps are already erected and two miles of two inch pipe brought. Funds have been available to pay these expenses as they arose and no debts have been created. The Review was told. This was made possible by the fact that the club has been able to obtain and keep the largest membership in history. There are now 196 families in good standing on the club roster.

The entire course will be revamped this winter and lengthened 396 yards. Par, however, is to remain 36. Number three hole will be shortened and made a three par instead of four, and number seven hole is to be lengthened and changed to a four par instead of three. Par on all other holes will remain the same despite the fact each is to be longer and grass greens are more difficult to put than sand.

The new carpets are expected to be ready for play by April first. In the meantime the old greens will be kept in condition, says Cleud Hammett, secretary and caretaker.

Other changes including a new entrance to the club, are being planned.

W. E. MARSHALL IS INTERRED SATURDAY

Funeral services for W. E. Marshall, 37, who died at the home of his brother at Liberty Friday after a long illness, were held from the Baptist tabernacle at Rising Star Saturday afternoon with Reverends S. P. Collins, Raymond Burton and Russell Dennis officiating. Interment was made in the cemetery there.

Mr. Marshall was a brother of Mrs. John Booth of Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Medford has as their guests here last week her mother, Mrs. W. A. Stephens and three sisters, Misses Cecl, Winnie Lois and Lucille Stephens, all of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Elley Johnson of Artesia, New Mexico and Mrs. Leonard Gott and Mrs. B. Marshall of Clyde, visited Mrs. W. J. Gray here last week.

Fourteen Cross Plains girls vacationing at the Palo Duro Canyon, near Happy, Texas, will return home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Haley had Mrs. Pat Haley and daughter and other relatives from Baird as their guests here Tuesday.

REVIEW EKES OUT WIN OVER RECORD IN GOLF TOURNEY

The Cross Plains Review eked out victory over the Rising Star Record Thursday afternoon in a Scotch foursome golf match, and as appropriate award members of the Review team will be guests of honor at an ice cream supper on the clubhouse lawn tonight.

Two previous efforts to determine a winner in the mixed Scotch foursomes had ended in ties. Rather than to have the entire event played over, the matches were numbered and one drawn from a hat to settle the proposition. Walter Ramsey and Mrs. J. W. Thornton were selected to represent the Cross Plains publication against Cleud Hammett and Mrs. Edwin Baum, Jr., playing for the Record. The Ramsey-Thornton team scored a one up victory, thereby sealing victory for the domestics.

Members of the Record team are to play hosts tonight (Friday) at an ice cream supper on the clubhouse lawn. It was announced yesterday that all members of the club, whether or not they participated in the golf event, are urged to attend the ice cream festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stone had as their guest this week his mother, Mrs. Joe Long of Brownwood. Mrs. Stone returned with her for a few days visit.

Miss Catherine Bruin, 14, and Wayne Ladieu, 18 months, are recovering normally from injuries sustained in an automobile wreck last week.

W. H. Eckelbarger, of New York, will arrive this week to spend a few days in the home of his sister, Mrs. W. A. Beavers.

Mrs. G. A. Chappell of Abilene is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. O. Adams, here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kelly have taken the R. B. Bond residence in the East part of town.

Truett LaRoque, Cisco newspaperman, was in Cross Plains Sunday.

Miss Burdette Williams is in Denton this week.

Paul V. Harrell was a business visitor in Brownwood Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Eli Powell were in Richland Springs Wednesday.

C. R. Cook was in Rising Star Thursday morning.

W. L. Cuthbert and son of near Baird visited here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott, of Sabanno, were in town yesterday.

PEOPLE WILL VOTE ON SIX PROPOSED CHARTER CHANGES

People of Texas will go to the polls Monday to ballot on six proposed changes to the state constitution.

Voting will take place in Cross Plains at the Anderson Chevrolet Company building. S. F. Bond will be presiding judge. Other judges are to be: Charlie Barr, Mrs. W. A. Williams and I. H. Kendrick. Four clerks are yet to be named.

Two of the propose amendments would authorize financial assistance to adult needy blind and to destitute children and thereby enable Texas to participate in another phase of the federal social security program.

The others would eliminate double liability for stockholders in state banks, give the Legislature power to prescribe a new system of remunerating district, county and precinct officials, permit a discount method of paying taxes and allow Harris County to levy a tax for a master road plan.

A peculiarity is that the election will be on Monday instead of Saturday, as usually is the case in Texas.

A light vote is anticipated, according to close observers of the political situation.

OLD TIME GOSPEL CHURCH ORGANIZED FOR WORSHIP HERE

An Old Time Gospel Mission, an un denominational church, has been established in Cross Plains with Rev. A. M. Fox as pastor. Until a suitable structure for services is obtained, services will be held at the H. W. Strackebain place, two miles south of town on the Cross Cut road.

The following resolution concerning organization were passed at a conference of the church August eighth:

To: Be it resolved; that we, the people of Cross Plains and vicinity, are herewith announcing the building of a religious work, locally, to have fellowship with the Brotherhood of Jesus Christ, and the people of the Pentecost church of Pioneer and its able pastor, Rev. W. E. Rogers, and all other churches.

It: And be it resolved; That we do not wish to, in anyway, interfere with the work or membership of afore-said church of Pioneer; (Continued on back page)

Q. Who is now the Chief of the Indian tribes in Livingston county?

A. Bronson Cooper Sylestine, whose Indian name is Ti-ca-4-che, a nephew of former Chief Sunsee, who died in October, 1935, and a grandson of Chief Co-la-he, the Alabama chieftain in 1836. He was installed as chief January 1, 1936. In a formal and impressive ceremony in which many Texans participated.

Q. When will the big telescope of McDonald Observatory on Mount Locke near Fort Davis, be in operation?

A. Dr. Otto Struve, director, recently stated it would be installed

"In less than a year." The building is almost completed and telescope machinery has been installed and is awaiting completion of polishing the huge mirror.

Q. What is the oldest Texas hotel in continuous operation?

A. Probably the Excelsior Hotel at Jefferson, built in the late 30's (exact date not known). It was first called the "Texine House," is still operated and is noted for its antique furnishings.

Q. Please sketch briefly the career of Robert Potter.

A. Robert Potter was born in North Carolina in 1800, served in U.S. Navy 1816-1817; member N. C. legislature and of Congress from 1825; settled at Nacogdoches in 1826; ad interim Secretary of Texas Navy; member of Fifth and Sixth Congresses of Republic; later located at "Potters Point" overlooking Caddo Lake, 25 miles northeast of Jefferson; was shot when diving into lake to escape feudists, March 3, 1843; buried at Potter's Point, and remains removed to Austin State Cemetery a few years ago.

Q. How much of Longhorn Cavern is open for visitors?

A. About three miles is open daily to visitors, the trip requiring about two and a half hours. Several more miles have been explored and await development. There is a good highway leading to it.

Q. Where is "Five Oaks Ranch" and when was it settled?

A. In Nueces Canyon between Uvalde and Rock Springs, named because five huge trees stood in the front yard; believed to have been settled about 1847, the date of the land patent, and judging from the cabin of hewn logs put together with wooden pegs and strongly resembling the Sam Houston home built about that time in Huntsville.

Q. For whom was Willacy county named?

A. For Hon. John G. Willacy, of San Antonio, who was born in Kentucky, Nov. 16, 1859, served in the Texas House and Senate from 1900 to 1916, and was honored by the Legislature in naming the county for him in 1910. He was afterward State Tax Commissioner.

Q. What was England's attitude toward annexation of Texas by the United States?

A. England opposed annexation and endeavored to induce France to join with it and Mexico "in destroying all interference on the part of the United States in the affairs of Texas, or the adoption of any measure leading to the destruction of the separate existence" of the Republic of Texas. This active interest created a feeling that England had designs for the acquisition of Texas and became an issue in the presidential campaign and contributed to the defeat of Henry Clay.

Q. How was Caddo Lake formed?

A. An Indian tradition is that it was formed overnight, in 1812, by some kind of volcanic eruption in which many Indians lost their lives. It is fed by the waters of Cypress creek, a tributary of Red River.

Q. When and how was the Pilgrim Church, near Elkhart, established?

A. When Rev Daniel Parker came to Texas on a prospecting tour and learned that Mexican authorities frowned upon the organization of Protestant churches in Texas, he returned to Palestine, Ill., organized the Pilgrim Primitive Baptist church there, composed of colonists moving to Texas with him in 1855, and lanted his colony and church at Pilgram. Other members of the church and Parker family settled a little later at Fort Parker, now in Limestone county.

There will be no "gyp" concessions at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, it has been announced. San Francisco's 1939 Exposition already has acquired a reputation for the use of color and it is predicted that it will be the most colorful exposition ever held in the United States.

San Francisco's 1939 World Fair is called a $50,000,000 fair. "Recreation" is the theme of one of the largest of the San Francisco 1939 World's Fair buildings.

The United States has appropriated $1,500,000 for a federal government exhibit at the 1939 Golden Gate International.

SYNOPSIS

Just before she leaves to spend a vacation in France, Annie Vinco tells her adopted daughter, Rachel, that Rachel's mother was beautiful Elinor Malloy, before her marriage to Rachel's father, who was killed in the World War.

Rachel goes to New York, where she is to stay while Annie is in France. After Annie leaves for France, Rachel, bent on seeing her mother, looks up her number. She learns the Cynnes are still in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoda Cynne's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby genteel young man of work who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustration. She agrees to introduce her to the head of an agency.

Thinking of Annie, Rachel is disappointed, believing her mother would not have left her alone. She is not entirely happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Elinor Cynne increases. Oliver Land she meets Miss Vinco, is hired as a photographer's model.

CHAPTER VI
It turned out not to be a bore at all. The man model who sat beside her in the car was quite different from the usual Vinco brand. Rachel thought she had never seen him before but he told her she was mistaken. "I was there the first day I came," he said. "I've been hoping to see you again, but I'm not here very often. My name's Curt Vinco. I know yours, you're Miss Vinco."

It reminded her a little of Bob Vinco he was so offhand, yet personal in his look at her. He didn't look like a model, he wasn't slick, he wasn't collegiate, he wasn't handsome and self-conscious. He was plain and rather gangling, with a square face and humorous intelligent eyes.

"This doesn't seem your game exactly," said Rachel, as he opened the door of the car for her. "It isn't. But Louis Vinco comes from my home town in Ohio and used to go to school with my brother, and when anything comes along where I might possibly be used, he sends for me. He's a good scout, Louis."

They sat for awhile after this, following directions Rachel tilted her profile and smiled her smiles. Curt Elton kept his hands on the wheel and gazed ahead intently yet confidently, like a good driver accustomed to spending.

When the long ordeal was over Curt Elton waited while Rachel took off the sport outfit sent for the picture and put on her street clothes. "Will you go somewhere and have a cup of tea with me?" or a cocktail, if you'd rather. I'm hungry and you ought to be. Or are you one of the ladies who never eat for fear of spoiling the perfect figure?"

"I don't know if I'm a lady, I haven't heard the word for so long. But I certainly do eat and I'd love some tea, for I'm dead."

Curt caught her arm as they passed an old-fashioned hotel. "Let's stop in here, then. This place has good muffins and nice deep-cushioned chairs and they have real India tea, which should always be drunk, Miss Vincent, without any fixings—no sugar, cream, lemon or whatnot."

"Oh, I must have a tiny pinch of whatnot!" said Rachel; and then "I don't know what makes me so silly. It must be because I'm tired."

It was early, there were few people in the tearoom. The tea and muffins were delicious and at first Curt and Rachel ate in the pleasant greedy silence of hunger. But at his second muffin Curt paused and spoke. "I'm awfully glad you came out with me. It was kind. I was afraid to ask you, really, for fear you'd turn me down."

"Well," said Rachel, reflectively. "It's the first time I've been out with one of Vinco's young men."

Curt stopped her with a shout. "Hey, lay off, I'm not one of Vinco's young men, God forbid. I'm just a country newspaper boy taking a sabbatical year to learn about the big city. And Louie Vinco, the good-hearted guy, throws a piece of easy money in my way as often as he can, because he worries

"Most girls we with joy." "Then you're a line?" "It's my test. You look like M. "Blue Angel" an reacts. Then I'm ranging from on cent to ten."

"And what does Mr. Elton think?" "It doesn't pro trouble is, I try t young man. patt works out, the gi right answers."

"Now that's all chel, "suppose we sense. How long here?" Of course no person is in position to Buy all of his needs from himself... The next best thing is to make all of your purchases in your home town... For every dollar... spent in your home town is a sense a dollar spent with you. Money spent here circulates among Local Stores... Local Citizens... Somewhere here in the Circle of Trade it will come again to the original Spender so money you spend in your home town is about the same as buying from yourself. You wouldn't boycott your own Business so be as kind to your home town. It means the same in the Long Run.

SYNOPSIS

Just before she leaves to spend a vacation in France, Anne Vinco tells her adopted daughter, Rachel, that Rachel's mother was beautiful Elinor Mathers, before her marriage to Rachel's father, who was killed in the World War.

Rachel goes to New York, where she is to stay while Anne is in France. After Anne leaves for France, Rachel, bent on seeing her real mother, looks up her number. Rachel learns the Caynes are still yet in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoads Stee's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby gentled young man who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustration. She agrees to introduce her to the head of an agency.

Thinking of Anne, Rachel is sad, fretfully believing her real mother would not have left her alone. She is not entirely happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Elinor Cayne increases through Oliver Land she meets Miss Vinco, is hired as a photographer's model.

CHAPTER VI

It turned out not to be a mere at the man model who sat beside her in the car was quite different from the usual Vinco brand. Rachel thought she had never seen him before but he told her she was mistaken. "I was there the first day I came," he said. "I've been hoping to see you again, but I'm not used very often. My name's Curt. I know yours, you're Miss Vinco."

It reminded her a little of Bob Elton he was so offhand, yet personal in his look at her. He didn't look like a model, he wasn't slick, he wasn't collegiate, he wasn't handsome and self-conscious. He was plain and rather gangling, with a square face and humorous intelligent eyes.

"This doesn't seem your game exactly," said Rachel, as he opened the door of the car for her.

"It isn't. But Louis Vinco comes from my home town in Ohio and used to go to school with my brother, and when anything comes along where I might possibly be used, he sends for me. He's a good scout, Louis."

They sat for awhile after this, following directions. Rachel tilted her profile and smiled her smiles. Curt Elton kept his hands on the wheel and gazed ahead intently yet confidently, like a good driver accustomed to spending.

When the long ordeal was over Curt Elton waited while Rachel took off the sport outfit sent for the picture and put on her street clothes. "Will you go somewhere and have a cup of tea, with me—or a cocktail, if you'd rather. I'm hungry and you ought to be. Or are you one of the ladies who never eat for fear of spoiling the perfect figure?"

"I don't know if I'm a lady, I haven't heard the word for so long. But I certainly do eat and I'd love some tea, for I'm dead."

Curt caught her arm as they passed an old-fashioned hotel. "Let's stop in here, then. This place has good muffins and nice deep-cushioned chairs and they have real India tea, which should always be drunk, Miss Vincent, without any fixings—no sugar, cream, lemon or whatnot."

"Oh, I must have a tiny pinch of whatnot?" said Rachel, and then she didn't know what makes me so silly. It must be because I'm tired."

It was early, there were few people in the tearoom. The tea and muffins were delicious and at first Curt and Rachel ate in the pleasant greasy silence of hunger. But at his second muffin Curt paused and spoke. "I'm awfully glad you came out with me. It was kind. I was afraid to ask you, really, for fear you'd turn me down."

"Well," said Rachel, reflectively, "it's the first time I've been out with one of Vinco's young men."

Curt stopped her with a shout. "Hey, lay off, I'm not one of Vinco's young men, God forbid. I'm just a country newspaper boy taking a sabbatical year to learn about the big city. And Louis Vinco, the good-hearted guy, throws a piece of easy money in my way as often as he can, because he worries

Sparkling, Dazzling Girls Top Casino's Bill

High good humor that flows from beauty of sound and color are the chief qualities of the Pan American Exposition's Casino Revue at Dallas that delights 2,000 visitors, rain or shine, every night. Here are intimate glimpses from the "perfect revue": 1 and 6, Pan American ballet girls in El Gaucho scene opening the revue; 2, John Elliott, tenor, captain of 24 singing Gauchos; 3, Charlotte Arren and Johnny Broderick, operatic travesty; 4, Pan American Precision girls sink teeth in Texas watermelons between shows; 5, The famous Pan American Precision line, 48 girls under 20 years of age chosen from all America by Chester Hale, dance director. The Casino is air conditioned.

hard up, but Louis thinks anything less than a plush suite and a private bath with valet attached is a scandal. Needless to say, Louis didn't get those ideas in our native village."

"If you don't like being a model and don't need the money, why do you do it?" asked Rachel.

"But I just told you I'm a newspaper man and a comparative stranger in town. I want to know people, all kinds of people, and I want to do all kinds of things. This is my year off. When it's over I'm going back home and edit the paper my father edited." His face clouded for an instant, but he went on: "I'll have a lot of experience and a lot of pictures in my mind to keep forever. Like you, sitting there looking like, yes, you do—like Marlene Dietrich in 'Blue Angel'."

"All legs and wispy ostrich feathers! Thanks! I can only hope you mean it kindly."

So she had to tell Pink about Curt Elton and Pink said he seemed a good scout. "And a lot better than that so-and-so Oliver Land, if you ask me," she added.

"There's nothing the matter with Oliver except that he can't get a job," said Rachel, annoyed by Pink's cocksureness. "Since when have you got a down on people because of that?"

"This Elton lad seems to have no difficulty in finding jobs," replied Pink, calmly.

"That's different, he's quite another type. Everyone's not so smart and up and coming as you are, Pink. We're not all made alike."

"And thank heaven for that. But I do like a man to earn his own living and not edge it."

Rachel had a grievance she had not aired. It would now make a reprisal.

"I don't criticize your friends, Pink. Not that I think so much of them—there's that girl across the hall, she's been in here half a dozen times and always to borrow something, curfare or a hat or an evening dress."

"Genie Moore is going to be a great singer some day and she's only got money enough to pay for her living and her lessons and I'm glad to help her along. She works like a horse and she's got to have decent clothes when she gets a chance to sing at a private house. I suppose you're still peeved because I loaned her some white evening dress. I wouldn't have done it if she could have worn mine. I had it cleaned for you, didn't I?"

"This doesn't need to be a brawl," said Rachel. "I certainly didn't like your lending my white evening dress without telling me, but—"

"It was a chance for her to sing as a substitute and I didn't have time to do anything else. I should think you'd want to help another girl along. Look here, I'll buy you another evening dress and you can give me the white one and I'll give it to Genie Moore."

"Certainly not," said Rachel, stiffly. She didn't want to quarrel with Pink. She had come home feeling better than in weeks, the flowers had added to her peace of mind, but now somehow she and Pink were fighting. Over what? Over Oliver Land. She went on

DEVILS PLAYGROUND IS CARDED FOR FRIDAY

Richard Dix and Chester Morris, two of Uncle Sam's bravest—at the bottom of the ocean or in a woman's arms! They're ready to fight with anyone—except each other! That's until deviously Dolores Del Rio starts a Navy scrap that ends fifty fathoms below the sea!

These romantic adventure escapades, climaxed by the year's most spectacular scenes of a submarine disaster, will be seen in Columbia's "Devil's Playground," showing Friday and Saturday at the Liberty Theatre. The story is by Liam O'Flaherty, Jerome Chodorov and Dalton Trumbo, and was directed by Eric C. Kenton.

"Devil's Playground" is a dynamic drama as mighty as the fleet battles the most shocking of disasters!

OLD TIME GOSPEL

but for convenience to all those who cannot, and do not attend services elsewhere we establish this place of worship.

III: And be it further resolved: That we Christen this work THE OLD TIME GOSPEL MISSION. With an old time "back to the Bible," belief and preaching of "Bible holiness."

IV: And be it resolved also: That we do not believe in "wild fire and fanaticism," but in the real power and demonstration of the Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 2:4; and that we believe that the Bible does not only contain but is the infallible word of God; and that holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost, II Pet. 1:21; II Sam. 23:2; Luke 1:70; Acts 1:16; 3:18.

V: And be it resolved: That we elect such officers as the body deems necessary, and at such time as it herewith described, on the first Saturday of August annually.

VI: And be it further resolved: That we elect or appoint a committee to establish the location and attend to other questions as shall arise; This committee shall be temporary trustees.

VII: And finally, be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be published in our home town paper, and our church paper Fellowship of the Brotherhood, so that all may know that our conscience is clear, and that all may know that, for the sake purpose of worshipping God in spirit and in truth, and for the advancing of the cause of Christ do herewith set forth these resolutions.

In conference Sunday, August 8, 1937.

A. M. FOX, Pastor, THELMA CARMY, Clerk

Anderson of Channing the past week.

Funeral service was held for Joe Morris son of Mrs. Kate Dawkins, was held at the tabernacle Tuesday evening. He was 29 years of age. Besides his wife and one child and mother, there are two brothers and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins.

We spent one day at Monterrey, capital of Nuevo Leon. It is quite modern and somewhat Americanized. We saw many Texas people there, most of them tourists, of course. We visited one of the most beautiful and modern hospitals I have seen anywhere, the gift of a fine old Mexican gentleman, a Mr. Miquizero. One of the finest glass factories in the world is located in Monterrey. It is almost unbelievable to see how they melt sand in furnaces, then drop it in red-hot press into various kinds of moulds where it is shaped as it cools into bottles, vases, picture plates and glasses of every character. As I watch this preparation, I see emerald flashings and clean and beautiful. It made me wonder if sometimes human beings aren't put through a torturing, searing fire—a great sear, for instance—that they may emerge, tested and tried, a finer, cleaner character.

American money is of course, more than Mexican money. You exchange one dollar American money for $3.00 Mexican. I got $30.00 in Mexican bills and silver for a ten dollar bill. It made me feel quite "flush" to have so much money in my pocket. I owed Jo Betsy ten dollars when we left Texas so I paid her the same amount in Mexican and still had $20.00 left. Your money seems to go farther here, everything is considerably cheaper.

Our next stop was Saltillo, once the capital of Texas when we belonged to Mexico. It is a beautiful little city of 60,000, nesting a mile high in the mountains, nice and cool in the daytime and almost chilly at night. I was surprised to find it quite an educational center. They have just started an experimental agricultural school here, trying to teach the sons of farmers to whom the Mexican Government has recently given lands the practical side of farming, stock raising and dairying. It is remarkable to see how these people, who were torn by revolution and war less than twenty years ago, have progressed; and how hard they are trying to better conditions for the underprivileged classes here. We have met many wonderful people here, some of them educated in Texas. On every hand were evidences of culture and refinement—a wonderful art gallery, fine school building and music everywhere. They are completely wedded to the "Good Neighbor" policy of President Roosevelt; they love him all round as much as we do and they adore their own President, Lazaro Cardenas. I felt like saying in Saltillo, "Thank God for a people with friendship in their hearts and music in their souls."

As you perhaps know, a fine new highway has been completed all the way from Texas to Mexico City. It is wide open, a marvelous drive and perfectly safe. Since things are so much cheaper, I want to suggest to all of you who can that you make plans to spend a vacation down here some time in the future. You will enjoy it. My wife's mother and my oldest son, Jim, Boy are with us, and they, too, are having the time of their lives. Like every other boy of his age, Jim Boy is full of curiosity. He has been all over the train to find out how things work, turning off lights, turning on water, etc. but he is a little timid about venturing around these Mexican places much.

The Mexican Government sent consul Dominguez from Laredo with us, and the American Government ordered Bill Blocker, our consul at Monterrey, to accompany us throughout our stay. They have insisted on us staying at the American Embassy in Mexico City, so we are looking forward to a grand time this week. I'll try to have something more interesting to tell you next week. "A Dios!"

"THE REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED Governor of Texas

SAN LUIS POTOSI, MEXICO. In Texas we boast of our southern hospitality; in Mexico, the people don't boast of it; they live it! From the moment when Mrs. Dominguez, wife of the Mexican vice-consul at Laredo, presented a beautiful bouquet to Mrs. Allred as we crossed the international boundaries until now, I have never witnessed such courtesy, such hospitality as has been extended to us on every hand.

As I told you last week, the Mexican Government invited us to be their guests, even furnishing transportation over the railroad. We have now passed through the capital cities of three Mexican states and at each one great crowds, including the Governor, the Mayor, representatives of the military and the business men have met us at the station with a band, presented beautiful bouquets to Jo Betsy (my wife), and given us the very best of entertainment as long as we were with them. Of course, we realize this is an honor they are extending not to Jimmie Allred, but to the Governor of Texas; and that's why I'm prouder than ever before of the high honor the people have bestowed upon us.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Foster and family attended a Primitive Baptist association at Alexander this week end.

Mrs. Meda Sessions, sister Mrs. John Tonsill from Oklahoma City, is visiting here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovelady and children attended the funeral of Mrs. Lovelady's little nephew, Friday near Rockwood.

Mrs. Don Lavender was called to the bed side of her sick father last week.

Mrs. Lavender and her two children left at once for Slaton where her parents live.
