Home Town Gossip

It's about an even bet that any stranger you see in town the next few days will be a new Methodist pastor for one of the churches in the trade area. Cottonwood, Scranton, Burket, Cross Cut, Pioneer, Victoria, Dressy, Burnt Branch, and Cross Plains each received a new Methodist pastor.

(Note to subscription collectors: There are several good prospects.)

This column was primed to come out with a startling prediction on the Cross Plains-Rising Star football game this week. In fact, we had already concluded that our guess would be: Buffaloes 20, Winters 0.

With Childs, Flahie and Strahan and James Hall favoring a lame duck situation may be reversed with Cross Plains on the zero end and Rising Star claiming the 20. Our prediction, however, is that the ball game will end in a scoreless tie, the first in conference history of the two schools. This guess, we admit is made in the face of overwhelming odds which favor the Wildcats, but we rather expect a surprise from several of the purple and gold recruits. Too, we're counting on Bill White's ability to inspire his lads to play beyond their normal ability.

From Hamlin comes word that Mrs. Stanley Carmichael is still living with her husband despite the enlightening letter concerning the saint benedict's character and reputation, mailed her by several dependable citizens of this upland little city.

A nice little quill we had written to appear in this column concerning Stan's marriage was lost last week when printers crowded this apartment out of the paper. Can't we believe one of the boys was so shyly sympathetic.

Eden Gray and Wilda McClain are embarrassed more than a little losing a model in a local show-er-dress morning when their window attracted a sizeable audience. With beautiful girlish blushing they finished the task hurriedly, however, it is rumored confidentially that several articles were snatched from the "dummys" attire.

Joe and Joe McAdams returned Tuesday night from Dallas, where they attended a premier showing of '38 model Fords. The new cars are expected to go on display in Cross Plains about December fourth, this column learned yesterday.

From a well informed source comes word that the showing of oil encountered by the Phillips Petroleum Company in the Seranton well, first at 1,625 feet, was merely a mere "showing."

When we are told, set the yield in a barrel an hour. A well that will make 24 barrels daily or 729 barrels in a month is not to be sneezed at. Regardless of the findings at the deeper horizon, we'll probably be plenty of drilling in the Seranton before the equities green up again.

Who is buried on his 16th birthday? What was to have been six-month birthday Herbert E. Shepherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shepard who live 14 miles South of Cross Plains, was laid to rest in the Dressy cemetery Wednesday afternoon. The child died at the home of his parents Tuesday of a long illness.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. R. P. James, pastor of the Burket Methodist church. Arrangements were in charge of Higginbothams, Cross Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Overlook were Cisco visitors Sunday.

WAR TIME BUDDIES MEET HERE FIRST TIME IN 19 YEARS

War time buddies met for the first time in 19 years on the streets of Cross Plains last week when County Commissioner E. H. Freedland and W. L. Glass, of the Texas Extension Service, met in a local cafe for a "private reunion" after Armistice anniversary.

The two were in the U. S. Navy, sailing the high seas that eventful day in November, 1918, when the glad tidings of peace flashed around the world.

HURTS COST HERD WIN OVER WINTERS IN HOLIDAY CLASH

After scoring first and showing superior strength Cross Plains high school Buffaloes suffered two casualties and were defeated 18 to six in an Armistice day clash with Winters on the Blizzards field.

Backed up to his own five yard stripe, Ramsel, Winters back, attempted a running play to the right side of his line. Enshod terribly by James Hall, Buffalo right end, Ramsel was about to be thrown behind his own goal line when he elected to pass hoping to ground the ball and prevent a safety. His leave, however, fell into the waiting arms of J. P. Henderson, Cross Plains tackle, who lumbered dog-like toward pay dirt, being halted on Winters' four yard line. On the first play Childs sprinted over the goal line unopposed to give Cross Plains a six to nothing lead. His attempt to convert from placement was blocked.

On the kick-off following the touchdown Childs sustained a dislocated elbow, necessitating his removal from the game and rendering him unable for further grid services this, his last, season. So it was, one of the greatest backs in the history of football at Cross Plains high school, left the field amid a tumult of shouting from the several hundred fans who followed the Buffaloes to Winters for the game. Childs had made his last touchdown sprint for the purple and gold; never again would his high spiraling kicks bring Cross Plains audiences to their feet with appreciation and admiration. He had played out his span.

Without Childs, the boy who had scored more than a 100 points for the team this year, the herd appeared to even yet have a slight advantage over Winters. His absence inspired the remaining regulars to unusual heights.

Less than five minutes after Childs' injury, the purple and gold suffered the felling blow. Big, powerful Loyd Flahie, a profitable ground gainer in his own right and possibly the district's ace line-backer, received a collar-bone injury and was forced out of the game and lost for the remainder of the season. Flahie, also a senior, and one of the immortals in Cross Plains football history then and there wound up his high school football career. But as he was carried from the field fans boomed an ovation of applause that should ring in his ears as long as his high school days are remembered.

With Flahie out, the big Winters team began to rip the Buffalo forward wall to shreds. James Hall and Cornellius Elliott, playing the best games of their careers at the two ends, were unable to cope with the outstanding odds, and the Blizzards marched triumphantly to their first touchdown, tying the score, shortly before the first half ended. Going over for the toucher was Hodge, 195 pound fullback. Ramsel's attempt to convert from placement was blocked by Elliott.

Winters scored again in the third and fourth quarters, with Hodge doing the damage on each occasion. Each kick for extra point after touchdown was blocked by the Buffaloes.

JACK FROST'S ICY BREATH ANNOUNCES ARRIVAL OF WINTER

With the icy breath of Winter sending mercury to below freezing, the Cross Plains trade territory received a killing frost Tuesday night. Even colder weather had been forecast for Thursday night and Friday. Stock warnings went out yesterday to cattlemen over West Texas.

Lighter frosts had been received before Tuesday night but they were not of such consequence to kill most vegetation.

With cold weather now the rule instead of the exception, residents of this section began installing anti-freeze in automobile radiators and otherwise making plans to cope with lower temperatures.

According to older residents of Cross Plains, many of whom have been close observers of the weather, this year's killing frost was about 10 days later than normally. The usual time for killing frosts in Cross Plains is about November sixth, the Review was told.

With additional sources from which to draw gas supplies with which to supply the city of Cross Plains, officials of the Municipal Gas System said yesterday they anticipated no difficulty in meeting the demand.

LAST RITES HELD FOR LOCAL WOMAN ON ARMISTICE DAY

Funeral services for Mrs. W. T. Wilson, 70, who died at her home here late Wednesday afternoon of last week, were conducted Armistice day morning from the Cross Plains Methodist church, of which she was a long time member, with Rev. S. P. Collins, Presbyterian pastor and close friend of the family, conducting the rites. Interment was made in the family plot at the Dressy cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson had been ill but a short time and news of her passing came as a shock to the many friends of the family throughout this section. Attending physicians said that death resulted from diabetes, as well as a host of friends and other relatives.

Born at New Boston, Tennessee, November 30, 1866, Mrs. Wilson came to Texas early in life. She was married and settled with her husband near Dressy. Later the family moved to Cross Plains and continued to make their home here through the years, with the exception of a short time in Abilene. Mr. Wilson formerly was a local furniture merchant and insurance and real estate agent.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Higginbothams, Cross Plains.

WINDOW CONTEST TO ATTRACT INTEREST

A check-up yesterday revealed that quite a few local stores are planning to enter show-windows in the chamber of commerce's "Window of the Month" contest, the first instalment of which is to be judged about December fifth.

INJURED BUFFALOES EXPECT FIRST LOSS TO STAR IN 5 YEARS

Minus the services of Co-Captains, J. H. Childs and Loyd Flahie, both of whom received serious injuries in an Armistice day game at Winters, Cross Plains high school Buffaloes will move on Rising Star Friday for their traditional grudge battle with coach Bodie Hunter's Wildcats. The fracas will be a night affair with kick-off set for 7:45.

Both Rising Star and Cross Plains will be scrapping for a first division berth. The teams are now in a deadlock for fourth place, both having lost to Brady, Winters, and Ballinger, and defeated Santa Anna, Coleman, Bangs and Mozelle.

Loss of Childs and Flahie sends the Buffaloes into the game decidedly the underdogs. Childs, who leads the district—25 B—in scoring with 102 points in conference games and 141 throughout the season, sustained a dislocated elbow at Winters Armistice day rendering him unable for further grid services this year and possibly basketball season as well. Flahie, 190 pound fullback for the Buffaloes, received a collar bone injury at Winters which according to physicians will leave him incapacitated for several months. The herd was already without the services of Bruce Strahan, regular wingman, who is on crutches as a result of a three weeks old ankle injury. Further adding to Coach Bill White's perplexities is a back injury which threatens to slow James Hall, only regular ball carrier remaining in the Buffalo back field.

Rising Star is reported to have survived without injury in the Wildcat's game with Brady last week. Gene Hopper and Roger Smith, big guns of the Rising Star offense are hoped to lead their mates to the first victory over Cross Plains in five years.

SERIES STANDS 6-2: Since conference play between the two schools was inaugurated in 1929, Cross Plains has won six times and Rising Star two. Scores by years follow:

Year	Cross Plains	Rising Star
1930	20	6
1931	7	34
1932	6	7
1933	7	0
1935	18	6
1936	20	7
Total points	97	60

Probable starting line-ups have been announced by Hunter, of Rising Star, and White, of Cross Plains as follows:

Rising Star: ends, Dabul White, 170, and LeRoy White, 150; tackles, Shults, 170, and Swift, 155; guards, Bishop, 140, and Bishop, 145; center, Roach, 125; half-backs, Hodge, 135, and Montgomery, 135; fullback, Smith 175, and quarterback, Hopper, 140.

Cross Plains: ends, Walker, 140, and Elliott, 145; tackles, Henderson, 190, and Lusk, 150; guards, D. Strahan, 160; Usery, 165; center, Lackey, 150; halfbacks, Hall, 155, and McMillan, 132; fullback, Bennett, 135, and quarterback, Pierce, 130.

Officials for the contest are to be Blair, Daniel Baker; McCarver, Howard Payne, and Broad, Daniel Baker.

Just before she leaves to spend a vacation in France, Anne Vincent tells her adopted daughter, Rachel, that Rachel's mother was beautiful Eleanor Mallory, before her marriage to Rachel's father, who was killed in the World War. Rachel goes to New York, where she is to stay while Anne is in France. After Anne leaves for France, Rachel, bent on seeing her real mother, looks up her number. Rachel learns the Caynes are not yet in town. Pink takes Rachel to dinner at Tom and Rhoda Steel's where she meets Oliver Land, a shabby genteel young man out of work who suggests that she apply for a job as a photographer's model for advertising illustration. He agrees to introduce her to the head of an agency.

CHAPTER VII

Terriss and Rachel sat in the office of Peter Cayne, facing him as he stood. He was like an oak tree, Rachel thought, that had been underruned at the root and she could scarcely endure to look at him. He held himself straight with an effort and repeated again and again: "It's impossible, tell you, I don't believe it."

Thinking of Anne, Rachel is piqued, fretfully believing her own mother would not have left her alone. She is not entirely happy with Pink Matthews. Her desire to see Eleanor Cayne increases through Oliver Land she meets Louis Vingo, is hired as a photographer's model.

On an assignment Rachel meets Curt E. I. to a young friend of Vingo's. At lunch she learns that he is a country newspaper man spending a year in New York. For experience he takes a number of different jobs, planning to return home later to edit the paper his father left. That evening she receives flowers from her mother. She phones Mrs. Cayne's home but is rebuffed because she would not give her name.

Later Curt reveals that Vingo had received an inquiry from a private detective for a girl to go into a rich family and act as lady's maid to check up on some jewelry thefts. Rachel is amazed when she learns the name is Cayne. Without revealing her relationship, she gets Curt to persuade Vingo to let her meet Terriss, the detective.

"Before I begin on those book-shelves I'll go through his suits," thought Rachel and forthwith entered the deep closet. Holbrook's wardrobe was mostly as comprehensive as his mother's. Rachel took the suits and coats in order, feeling in every pocket. Handkerchiefs, cards, loose change, pencils, pockets of gum, pocket combs, a gold knife and gold pencil, a sample bottle of brillianine, but nothing that looked like a pawn ticket or anything else clandestine, until in the inner pocket of the fur-lined overcoat which he usually wore, she discovered a small folded piece of paper, just a scrap, on which was lightly pencilled an address on the lower East Side, followed by a list of dates. Rachel glanced at this and was putting it back when she realized that the last date was the day the sapphire bracelet was stolen. She was about to take the scrap of paper to a better light and copy it when she heard someone at the door. Down on her knees she went and when the door was finally opened she was very busy wiping the board of the closet.

It was only Towers. "Come on and eat your lunch," he said; and then: "You certainly are giving it a turning out. I appreciate that, Rachel. I'll do something for you sometime if I can."

"That's all right," said Rachel. "I'll be along to lunch as soon as I set the furniture straight. He might come in unexpectedly."

"He's in now," said Towers. He's got that friend of his named Buckham in the library and he wants me to mix 'em up a cocktail. I told him his pa had the key to the liquor closet. The nerve."

"I'd better hurry," said Rachel. "They might come in here. But aren't they going to have lunch?"

"Oh no, they just wanted cocktails! And he's going to put on his fur-lined coat, he ain't warm enough in the camel's hair! I wish he was mine, I'd warm him with the business end of a hickory rod."

wanted an extra piece of change. Lots of kids do it. You'd be surprised. They just haven't learned the difference between right and wrong."

"But he had a big allowance, I paid his bills, I gave him extra when he asked for it and I thought he ought to have it. And his mother gave him money sometimes, I shut my eyes to that. But to steal her trinkets and things from his own home and sell them! And how did he get in touch with this man Edelweis, how did he find him? That's what I'd like to know."

"Those crooks are, always feeling around for suckers," said Terriss. "Well, Mr. Cayne, this case is closed as far as I'm concerned. You know where your stuff has gone. You can get the bracelet back if you'll pay Edelweis $250. It's not been touched. I saw it."

"That bracelet's worth five thousand!" exclaimed Terriss, with what he meant for sympathy. "Okay, Mr. Cayne, I'll go right down there. He's holding it till he hears from me."

"When you bring the bracelet bring me your account and I'll pay it." He sagged down into his chair and swung half round with his back toward them.

Terriss rose and went to the door, then turned and looked back. "And Miss Vincent, here, she's washed up too. Will it be all right for her to get her things and leave, or do you want to make some excuse to Mrs. Cayne and the servants about bringing her? You don't want them to know why she was there, I guess."

With an effort Peter Cayne came back to them. "I promised you a bonus didn't I, Miss Vincent, if you found the thief?"

"I won't take it," said Rachel. "I wouldn't think of taking it. I can't tell you how sorry I am, Mr. Cayne."

"You thought he was a good boy, didn't you? You didn't see any signs? I kept trying to find excuses for him, maybe he wanted to help out some of his friends and didn't like 'em, they seemed a cheap crowd to me—did he ever say any thing that made you suspect?"

Terriss interrupted before Rachel could answer. "It was his trying to borrow money off Miss Vincent that gave her the hot tip. And he's borrowed off your servants, till they won't lend him any more."

"Mr. Terriss, you shouldn't—"

"Oh God!" groaned Peter Cayne. "He tried to borrow from you, Miss Vincent? Did you lend him any thing?"

County Agent

R. L. Boydston Recommends Watson Mebane

Mr. R. L. Boydston of Baird, well known ginmer, cotton buyer, and hardware merchant, told the county agent that he would like to be listed as one of those men who is extremely interested in growing a longer length, better maturing cotton in Callahan. He said his experience warrants him to say that Watson Mebane will do the job for this county better than any other variety. So interested is he in the "one variety cotton community" that he said he would lend every resource that he had to any community or communities that would be interested in planting this Mebane the coming year. He stated he would help get the most acceptable prices for the seed and help farmers to find ways of financing same if that need arose. Mr. Boydston said that not only did he believe that Watson's Mebane was the best cotton for this section but in talking to men in the oil mill business recently at Fort Worth that they, too, said this seed made a better yield, longer staple and the quality of the seed was better.

The county agent is interested in seeing farmers get good seed for the coming year but as a member of the Extension Service would never recommend any one variety over another because too many men have found to their own experience that certain varieties suit their sections better than others but the county agent does believe that each community should plant one variety of good proven, high quality long staple cotton and thereby help bring back to the fields of Texas that type of cotton that is wanted by the foreign trade.

Range Allowance Granted

The county committee this week has received the allotments on 128 ranch applications for A. A. A. practices. It has been allowed that 14 acres will be the amount per animal unit. Earlier they were also told that it would take 4 1/2 forage acres for each animal unit. With this information in hand it will now be possible for the county committee to adjust each range application an acre for the rancher how much money he will receive. There are 141 applications on file with the county agent and all but two have now had their maps drawn and have been transmitted to the state board. It is expected the other two will be sent in this week, thus completing the preliminary work for the county.

Leslie Bryant of the Iona Community is going to make the final inspection and started on the work Monday morning. All those ranchers who have finished their compliance and are ready for inspection will be visited now and as soon as the report of final inspection is made concluding forms will be executed and sent to the state board for payment of claims. The State Board has indicated that those finishing early will probably receive the payment in December. Of course, those finishing at the last, which is December 31st, will receive their payment proportionately later. This is also true of the farm program.

1938 Program Announcement

Preliminary announcements for the 1938 A. A. A. Range Program state that practically the same practices as carried out in 1937 will be followed. In 1937 the payments were based on the number of animal units and paid $1.50 for each, but for 1938 a payment of 3 cents per acre will be allowed for all range land plus 75 cents per animal unit. Looking through some of the applications on file it seems that this will be about 80 per cent of the amount allowed for the 1937 program. In Callahan it was estimated that the land would average around 10 cents per acre. In the same calculation for 1937 would indicate about 9 cents allowance per acre.

4-H Plans For 1938

4-H Clubs for the time of 132 for the county in 1937. Some of these were not fortunate enough in being able to complete their demonstration due to the drought, insects, and other hindrances, but most of them are preparing their reports and planning to do still better and more work in 1938. The Extension Service is asking the county council in helping the county agent to plan the year's work to allow him certain days in which 4-H Clubs were met be carried on each week throughout the year. In the first years since 1933 A. A. A. work occupied practically all the time of the county agent. After the programs had become more organized, farmers had learned better about their working, and more help was allowed in the office to go outside and do real extension work such as terracing, trinch soil building, poultry, livestock, and orchard improvement, and 4-H Club work. When it is remembered that their

"THE REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED, Governor of Texas

A few of the big daily papers and Senator Shivers of Fort Arthur have criticized me because I said over the radio that unless the Legislature provided revenues, pension payments would be stopped after November 1st...

If they wanted to be fair they would tell the people that before I made my radio speech the State Board of Control, which handles pensions, made a written statement to the Legislature that payments would be stopped unless the Legislature provided money...

But, in any event, it doesn't make much difference who made the statement first. The rest of the record is this:

For over a year now the Board of Control has owed $1,025,000 to Dallas banks on warrants issued before the tax bills went into effect. I told the Legislature last January this would have to be paid. No provision was made for it. I told the Legislature again during the special session that this should be paid...

Naturally I am pleased to know that according to the Board of Control's statement old age assistance can go on through the next two months. One member of the Board of Control, Mr. John Wallace, testified that payments would not be stopped at all and there would be no reduction of the rolls I had been hearing that they were going to cut off several thousand, and was not surprised yesterday when Mr. Little testified before a legislative committee that this was inevitable since the Legislature had failed to provide more money...

Whether the board pays the debt of $1,025,000 to the banks in installments or all at once, any school boy could figure out that the board has got to cut the rolls or cut the average of $14 per month. For that reason, I regret the ray of false hope which has been held out to the old people when the day of reckoning is inevitable. I am opposed to dropping any more needy aged from the rolls. I think that many of the so-called budget line cases should be put on the rolls rather than lopping them off, particularly during the coming weeks when winter will be setting in...

Another angle of suffering is the relief problem which is linked with that of old age assistance. The aged needy who are dropped from the rolls must be cared for by someone. If they turn to the relief rolls for help, they will find the lines swollen by an estimated 325,000 people. This figure according to the relief administrator compares unfavorably with the lesser number of 194,779 last January when public works projects removed many from indigent rolls...

Neither the state nor federal governments are able to supply money for direct aid but only relief in the form of surplus foodstuffs and some clothing. With the suffering of the aged people added to that of those unfortunate without employment, it is obvious the cry of the destitute will be heard over Texas in the midst of the rainy, cold winter months. With these will be the needy blind and destitute children left holding an empty bag by the Legislature. When this situation comes to pass, the question "Why?" will be on the lips of every citizen. That question will be directed at the corporation senators—Holbrook

BUFFS LOSE

Snow Here 1

ONE OF EARLIEST TO FALL HERE IN GREAT MANY YEARS

What is believed to be one of the earliest snows on record fell over the Cross Plains trade territory early Monday morning. The fall continued until noon-day and slightly more than three inches was recorded.

The snow extended as far West as Sweetwater, East to Fort Worth, South to Winters and into the entire Northern areas. San Angelo received a dense mist. Sleet began falling here about three o'clock Monday morning however, temperatures modified at sunrise and snow supplanted the sleet. Despite the fact that much of the snow melted soon after falling, slightly more than three inches was measured in unprotected spots.

Farmers received the precipitation with a smile contending that it would be a boon to the thousands of acres planted to grain in the Cross Plains trade territory.

MAKE QUICK TIME IN GETTING LOANS FROM FEDERAL FSN

Loan applications from this county are approved by the regional office in Austin in a record time of 10 days on the average, according to J. S. McKnight, Callahan county rural supervisor, Farm Security Administration. The supervisor reports that this is having a very marked psychological effect on the interest borrowers are taking in making plans this year. With such service from the regional loan office, borrowers realize they will receive the money in time to follow out plans they make. This is in marked contrast to the situation last year, when, as the result of changing procedure and loans not due to the fact that farm and home plans are being made well in advance of planting time. When the last farm and home plan has been made and the loan approved, this county will have approximately 100 families on the program. Of these families 35 will be new in the program this year.
