Crops Over Area In Excellent Condition

RECENT RAINS AID POTATOES, COTTON AND PEANUTS HERE

Three precipitations during the first eight days of August, netting 3.80 inches, have greatly boosted Autumn crop prospects throughout the Cross Plains trade territory. Potatoes and cotton give promise of exceeding yields of the past two years. Sweet potatoes are also reported to be in excellent condition as a result of the recent moisture. First rain of the month came last Thursday, August third, when 2.07 inches was received. Then three days later showers netted .88. Tuesday morning 1.65 inches fell here, according to government weather records kept by the Review.

Woman's Forethought Aids Officers In Locating Stolen Chickens And Arrests

Fickling, pastor of the Old Time Gospel Mission here, had lost a bunch of chickens. He took the pastor to the produce house where the chickens were and the Rev. Mr. Fickling immediately identified the fowls as those missing from his place. Brown then took the auto number which had been obtained by Mrs. Ballard as well as the names that had been given the produce house by the trio and began a search. Late Tuesday he returned to town with all three parties. Two of the group were juveniles and were dismissed to the custody of County Judge L. B. Lewis, after parents had paid for the chickens. The other man, however, was placed under a $1,000 bond and bonded over to the next term of the grand jury. Each of the trio arrested lived in Brown county.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF CASE TO DETERMINE JUDGE'S AUTHORITY

A test case which was to have been tried before District Judge M. S. Long at Baird Wednesday to determine if the Callahan county judge has authority to refuse a permit to sell beer outside the corporate limits of towns was postponed. The postponement, Judge Long said, was asked by A. A. Bertrand, of Cross Plains, who had filed the suit. Judge Long said there was no indication when the suit would be tried.

In order that the business people in Cross Plains may have an opportunity to mix and mingle with old settlers at the fourth annual reunion of Callahan County Pioneers to be held here Friday, August 18, many of the stores will close during the noon hour.

Two Legs And Arm Broken When Auto Hits Pedestrian

George Gaylon, 47, was gravely injured Monday morning when struck by an automobile while walking along the road about four miles west of town. He was rushed to a local physician and given a sedative before taken to a Ranger hospital. Physicians said that both his legs and an arm were broken and that he had sustained internal injuries.

Soerates (Soe) Walker became the first home town boy to be named coach of athletics at Cross Plains schools Monday night, when he was elected by the board of trustees to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Norman (Beans) Morris. Morris relinquished his post here to enter government aviation service.

SHANNON RESIGNS AT CROSS CUT TO ACCEPT SAN ANGELO POSITION

C. L. Shannon, Cross Cut school superintendent for the past three years, resigned his position this week to accept a post in the San Angelo public school system. He left immediately to supervise the construction of an additional building for the San Angelo schools.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS AT REVIVAL MEETING

Large crowds have been in attendance each night at the annual revival meeting of the Cross Plains Church of Christ which got underway Friday night of last week. Services, which are being conducted by evangelist Claude A. Guild, are to continue through Sunday night.

BAND PARENTS CLUB TO OPERATE BOTTLING DRINKS STAND 18th

The Band parents Club of Cross Plains high school has been given the bottled drink concession for the 4th annual reunion of Callahan county pioneers to be held here August 18.

ANOTHER GOOD WELL FOR SCRANTON AREA

L. A. Warren et al No. 2, R. P. Cozart, Southeast offset to the Scranton area discovery well on the Eastland-Callahan county line, was reported showing an increase in oil and gas after drilling an additional foot of sand to a total depth of 1,663 feet. It was estimated good for 50 or 60 barrels daily.

SINGING AT CHURCH OF CHRIST HERE SUNDAY

The entire public is invited to a singing to be held at the Church of Christ tabernacle Sunday afternoon, the Review was told yesterday afternoon by Lewis C. Norman. Quartets and specials have been invited from Abilene, Cisco, Eastland, Coleman and Brownwood.

Cross Plains friends of Mrs. J. B. Cutbirth, of Baird, who has been ill for the past two weeks, will be gratified to learn that she is somewhat improved. Miss Alice Hancock, of this place, is staying with Mrs. Cutbirth.

TENNIS TOURNEY TO BE HELD HERE THIS WEEK

A tennis tournament for residents of the Cross Plains trade territory will be held here this week beginning Friday. Dale McCook will be in charge.

MOLTEN SIMS SUSTAINS PAINFUL BURNS ON ARM

BURNT BRANCH AND CROSS PLAINS MAY BE CONSOLIDATED

Citizens of Burnt Branch and Cross Plains school districts will go to the polls Saturday and vote on consolidation of the two districts. Consensus yesterday was that the proposal would carry by overwhelming majorities at both boxes.

BOTH MR. AND MRS. W. L. STEELE ARE IN HOSPITAL

Both Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Steele are in a Brownwood hospital. He underwent an operation Tuesday and is said to be dangerously ill. Mrs. Steele was to have been operated Wednesday but the surgery was delayed until the condition of her husband improves.

BUDDY FRUITT IS BITTEN BY BLACK WIDOW SPIDER

R. H. (Buddy) Pruitt, who sustained a black widow spider bite last Friday, is recovering normally from the infection. He has suffered intense pain, however, and it will be some time before complete use of the arm is regained.

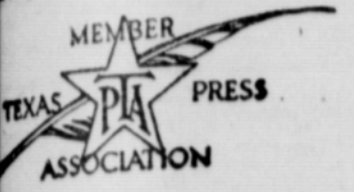

BURNT BRANCH AND CROSS PLAINS MAY BE CONSOLIDATED

Citizens of Burnt Branch and Cross Plains school districts will go to the polls Saturday and vote on consolidation of the two districts. Consensus yesterday was that the proposal would carry by overwhelming majorities at both boxes. In Cross Plains voting will take place at the Cross Plains Motor Company, Inc., building with J. E. Barrington serving as election judge. Claude Stephens will preside over the balloting at Burnt Branch, which is to take place in the school building. For the past three years Burnt Branch students have been transferring to Cross Plains, but officials have recommended consolidation to iron out transportation difficulties. School officials told the Review recently they anticipated no difficulty in the election carrying by the necessary majority as both citizens of Burnt Branch and Cross Plains had intimated by substantial majorities that they favored the merger. The vote if favoring the consolidation at each box will result in the immediate merging of the two school districts according to the state department of education's approved plans. It will be necessary however, for the issue to receive a majority at each box. With improvement now being made on highway 36 into the Burnt Branch district, it is pointed out that buses serving the area will have an all-weather, route within the very near future, and trips to and from school will be shortened quite a bit. L.S.U. PROFESSOR TO SPEAK AT METHODIST CHURCH HERE SUNDAY. John W. Chisholm, Jr., professor of Economics at Louisiana State University, will speak at the Cross Plains Methodist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "The Economic Effect of War". There will be no services at the church Sunday night as the pastor Rev. Floyd W. Thrash is in a revival meeting at Macedonia. SHALLOW OIL WELL IS DISCOVERED BY THREE LOCAL MEN; 5 BARRELS. E. E. Thate, Lewis C. Norman and Tom Cox are owners of a shallow well drilled in on the Linton Brown, heirs tract between here and Burkett recently. Conservative estimates are that the well will produce five barrels. The test is four miles North of Burkett where the old Comal school building was once located. Operators believe that the discovery may result in the opening of a good shallow pool. Thate, Norman and Cox have 40 acres in the tract on which the well is located. Thate has another 40 adjoining, and Linton Brown owns the remaining 20 of the lease of originally 100 acres. CALLAHAN ATTORNEYS DISSOLVE PARTNERSHIP. B. F. Russell and B. L. Russell, prominent Callahan county attorneys, announce the dissolution of partnership. B. F. Russell has opened an office in the Branchhill building, directly across the street from the postoffice at Baird and B. L. Russell will continue to office in the courthouse. MRS. M. E. WAKEFIELD IS REPORTED DANGEROUSLY ILL. Cross Plains friends will regret to learn that Mrs. M. E. Wakefield, of Brownwood, is in a hospital there and is dangerously ill. She has been in ill health for some time. Misses Rosa Van Lane, Clara Nell McDermott, Bobbie Lee Westerman and Helen Grace Gray were Cisco visitors Sunday.

GASOLINE USERS HAVE NEW EXEMPTION LAW

Farmers as well as all others who use gasoline, and are entitled to an exemption under the laws of the State of Texas, and are entitled to a refund, are urged by the State Comptroller at Austin to study the terms of the new law passed by the last legislature, as they may have trouble getting their refund.

Under the terms of the new law, if a person purchases gasoline from anyone except a license dealer, he will not be entitled to any refund and it will not be paid unless it can be shown the dealer selling such gasoline has complied with the law and has a permit issued by the dealer.

Unless the users and the dealers, make themselves familiar with the law, there will be untold confusion about the refund, to those who use gasoline and are exempt, as to no claims will be paid unless the seller and the purchaser, are both complying with the law. So everyone who expects to get a rebate back from the State should find out just what the law demands, before any refund papers are sent in. The law goes into effect September 1.

WITH OUR WILDLIFE

By JOHN R. WOOD
State Game Warden
Game Suffers From Drought
Those of this section of Texas who do their winter hunting in the southern portion of Texas and in the Hill country will be sorry to know that the drought has hit game birds and animals in these sections. It has become necessary for the State Game Department to feed wild turkeys in a dozen Hill country counties. Seven game wardens are engaged in feeding the birds which is necessary in order to save sufficient stock for breeding purposes next season. The turkey crops this season will be well below normal in the Hill country according to a report from Earl Saunders, Game Department regional game manager at Kerrville.

Beaver

The beaver some years ago became very scarce in Texas, due to the heavy trapping of this animal. Many ideal beaver sections of Texas had become totally extinct. The legislature then passed a law making it unlawful to trap this valuable animal and allow it to rebuild its populations. The Texas Game Department is aiding nature with this process by trapping the beaver where there are large numbers and transplanting them in ideal beaver habitat.

Jack Ashlock of Baird was a business visitor here Monday.

THE BOOK SHELF
—by—
Lexie Dean Robertson
"On this book shelf always look for anything except a book"

Quite the most delightful things happen to me in Santa Fe! This time a telegram which caught B. and me in Las Vegas from our bus, Santa Fe Plaza between ten and two on Friday morning! So we were walking round and round that famous old square which marks the end of the famous Santa Fe Trail, bright and early. It happened that we met a friend, Dr. Simonds of Columbia University and were so engaged in conversation that they had to hunk the horn twice before we realized they had actually arrived. Our family, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Payne of Rising Star, their two small sons, and our husbands had left Rising Star at twenty minutes till nine on Thursday night and stopping only for coffee en route had reached Santa Fe at ten thirty Friday morning.

JFR had brought along a lot of mail among which was copies of the Commerce Daily Journal. This paper has a clever cartoonist who illustrates something of importance under the heading "See I". This time it was announcement that the Book Shelf will be a weekly feature of the Journal. I just know the Book Shelf editors are the most perspicacious in the country. I never felt that the Book Shelf did any harm to alert George Atkins and the Bee-Pleayne in winning the Belo Cup award a few weeks ago!

But to catch up with our travels... B. and I proceeded from Taos to Las Vegas for my assembly program at the New Mexico University over the recent completed highway through the Kit Carson National Forest. One of the most beautiful drives I have yet discovered in New Mexico. The highway winds over mountain roads from which every bend gives enchanting new vistas of peaks swathed in blue haze, a rippling mountain stream runs by, and water cold as ice flows down the mountains for the thirsty traveler. The highest point on this road is 8500 feet which was pretty high up for the gals from Texas but we made it without a bobble. Nobody should fail to see this gorgeous scenery for fear of mountain driving. Now the highways are made so wide and the grades so gentle that even an amateur driver suffers no alarms.

Saturday we started on the long trek to California. The roads are lined with small shelters where the Indians wait to lure the traveler to buy his wares. If the car stops they swarm all over it holding out gay pots painted in black and white or the more elaborate black pottery from the Santa Clara and defonso pueblos. We had heard they are eager to trade, so we offered cigarettes and received in exchange some exquisite pieces. B's husband (who shall be called from now on simply "Son" since he is known that way all over Texas) was charmed with a huge vase and parted with a perfectly good shirt to get it. He explained rather sheepishly later that that shirt collar always did scratch his neck. All the small Indian girls begged wistfully for candy so at the next trading post B. bought a supply of green and pink suckers, yellow kisses, and chocolate bars. It was too bad we had eaten them up before we found another Indian child craving sweets!

We detoured about ten miles to see a turquoise mine. This beautiful semi-precious jewel is much prized by the Indians and their wealth is often estimated in terms of turquoise and silver... they wear it in bracelets, ear rings, and necklaces, sometimes as many as ten around their necks. In the mine we went down precarious steps for about a hundred feet and looked at the thin blue vein of the lovely stone running through the chalky limestone. This particular mine was worked by prehistoric man according to various relics that have been discovered. B. bought a lovely turquoise ring set in an intricate silver mounting made by an expert Navajo craftsman.

After you leave Gallup, New Mexico, on the Wil Rogers Highway toward the west coast, you see ever so many hogans where the Indians live. These are pits dug sh-allowing into the earth with walls octagon shaped and about five feet high made of logs, often plastered over with mud. The hogans near the highway are placed especially for the display of Navajo rugs. These rugs are among the most beautiful of the Indian arts. The rugs belong wholly to the elemental arts, since the wool is spun from native sheep, dyed, and woven in the native hogans. None of them are cheap for the Indian has learned to price his wares according to the white man's purse. The designs are most often found in blacks, whites, and reds. The dyes, except red which the government furnishes, come from native plants. The wool is scoured with the root of the yucca plant, which I am told the Indian women also use to shampoo their hair.

This highway through Arizona takes you through the Petrified Forest (I hope you were not like me! I always thought those trees were standing with their beautiful petrified branches stretched out like any tree! But it seems they petrified a million years ago and are embedded deep in the earth until erosion and digging has excavated them) and through the Painted Desert. If you are looking for a plain stretch of earth in the desert you will be surprised to see great gullies and tall cliffs. They are called "Painted" because so many colors are discovered, vermilion, purple, violet, yellow, white in stratified layers, mix and mingle to form one vast gorgeous palette. At the curio shops they sell these Painted Desert Sands in small vials, but don't be misled. It isn't sand until the rocks have been chipped off and ground into powder.

Today we are at Flagstaff, sleeping under the traditional four wool blankets and a heavy comfort. Flagstaff nestles at the foot of the beautiful San Francisco Mountains. From here we take off for another look at stupendous Grand Canyon and our first glimpse of Boulder Dam.

P.S. I have discovered three different graves where the celebrated Kit Carson is buried in New Mexico. And an enterprising curio store in Taos exhibits a cockroach labeled as "Red Bud from Kit Carson's Bed." In the window is a small skull bearing the label—"Skull of Kit Carson when a boy."

SUPPLEMENTAL PASTURE:
Having one grazing crop takes up where another leaves off, such as Korean lespedeza followed by Kentucky bluegrass in midsummer when the bluegrass becomes dormant, means more and better beef cattle gains as shown by experiments carried out by the United States Department of Agriculture. As the bluegrass started its mid-summer dormancy, 30 heads of steers were taken from the bluegrass pasture and allowed to graze on Korean lespedeza for 8 weeks. Another group continued to graze on bluegrass for the same period. The group of steers pastured on lespedeza gained one grade higher than those remaining on bluegrass. Department pasture specialists report. In addition, the steers on the supplemental pasture produced 38 per cent greater live-weight gain.

GENERAL OUTLOOK:
Net contributions of Federal spending have been running rather steadily at about twelve million dollars per business day, while those of State and municipal financing have averaged about four million dollars a day. It now seems reasonable to expect that there will be a well sustained inflow of funds from Federal spending and from State and municipal financing during the remaining months of the year, but there is little basis for judging how large the contribution from new corporate issues will be. Agricultural prospects are good. Retail trade is holding up well, and particularly in rural districts. Building construction is making a distinctly better record than last year or the year before, although there was a decline in residence building. War threats are still the greatest business deterrents.

F.S.A. HOUSES COST LESS THAN $1,500:
The Farm Security Administration announced that contracts were awarded during the past fiscal year for the construction of 2,784 of its specially designed low-cost farm homes for an average cost of only $1,474.20. The Farm Security Administrator, characterized this as the lowest cost at which substantial homes of comparable quality had ever been built in this country either by public or private agencies. This is the culmination of our four years effort to develop a really substantial, low-cost farm home. We have shown that liveable farm homes can be built in the South for less than $1,400 and in the North for less than $2,500, including profits for contractors and suppliers of materials and paying prevailing wages to labor. The 2,784 homes contracted for by the Farm Security Administration during the year included 1,645 Southern farm buildings of frame construction, without bathrooms, costing an average of about $1,350. It also included 800 fully modernized units, with bathrooms, costing slightly over $1,500 each. Prefabricated steel houses in the South, and northern farm buildings fully equipped for heating raised the average cost. The steel units, built on an experimental basis in the South, in cooperation with a leading southern steel company, to determine how much they would save in maintenance cost, averaged $1,850, and the Northern homes ran up to a maximum of $2,635 for a story and half house, fully pastured, with a central hot air heating plant. Cheapest house in the year's program was constructed on the Flint River. Farms projects in Georgia for $825. It was a three bed-room house, built of cheap local lumber, with interior partitions trimmed on only one side.
