CITY TO GET NEW STREET LIGHTS

TO REMOVE POSTS IN CENTER; WILL LIGHT LIKE ALBANY

Devices To Be Installed Are Said To Be Modern And The Most Practical

Old style lamp posts in the middle of Main Street are to be torn out and in their stead new, modern lighting devices are to be constructed on the sides. The arrangement will be identical to that now being installed at Albany and said to be the most modern and practical type of street lighting yet devised.

Construction of the new standards will get underway within the next 10 days, and it is anticipated that 10 or 12 days will be needed to complete the installation.

Members of the city council in session Tuesday night with officials of the West Texas Utilities Company agreed upon terms of removal of the old lights, which have caused numerous wrecks here in recent years.

Most recent accident in which the center light posts were involved was early Sunday morning, when a car occupied by three Brownwood C.C.C. boys collided with one of the standards on South Main Street. The post was uprooted, the automobile almost demolished and the youths injured, however not seriously.

Mayor C. S. Martin, who has been studying the street lighting problem for months, told the Review yesterday that he believed the new lights would not only afford better vision at night but would open the center of Main Street, thereby eliminating the opportunity for collisions.

Burkett Lady And Cross Plains Man Wed Friday Night

Wedding of Raymond DeBusk of Cross Plains and Mrs. Veda Cowan, of Burkett, was solemnized Friday evening at Coleman with J. P. Salyer, minister of the Church of Christ of that place administering the vows.

The bride has been a teacher in the Burkett schools for the past six years.

The groom is well known in Cross Plains, having lived in this vicinity all of his life. He is in the cattle business.

The couple are at home here across the street from the Barr's Station and Grocery, after a bridal tour through Mexico, from which they returned Sunday night.

Huntington and Tunnell were playing their match Wednesday afternoon, however, results were not obtainable in time for publication.

In the second flight H. P. White goes into the finals with the winner of the George VanHorn-Lester Strawn match.

Third flight honors are expected to be contested by E. R. Anderson and W. R. Gibson.

15 Teachers Chosen For Next School Year

4 VACANCIES LEFT ON LOCAL FACULTY AFTER BOARD MEETS

Elected Until Scholastics For Next Year Are Known

Four vacancies in the faculty for Cross Plains public schools are yet to be filled for the 1940-41 term, following the annual election of teachers Monday night. 15 of the 19 places have been filled, and the teachers re-elected have already filed their contracts of acceptance.

Places to be filled are: that of home-making instructor in high school, a vocational subject for girls; high school mathematics; second grade teacher, and an instructor of physical education and health in ward school.

Some of the teachers, whose places were left vacant at the election Monday night, did not ask re-election.

It was pointed out Tuesday that it might be at least two months before the remaining four vacancies are filled, due to the fact that new requirements by the state board are to be studied before completing the faculty; too, the exact number of scholastics for next year is not yet known and it may become necessary to either increase or decrease the present number of teachers.

Elected at the same time of the teachers was T. M. Shuford, superintendent of buildings on the Cross Plains school campus.

Teachers elected and the positions to which they will be assigned again next year are as follows: Lewis C. Norman, superintendent; J. E. Barrington, high school principal; Socrates Walker, history and athletics; V. A. Underwood, vocational-agriculture; Mrs. M. G. Underwood, high school English; Dale McCook, band and biology; Miss Sara Collins, speech arts; Grammar school; Hubert Kelley, principal; W. E. Lusk, social subjects; Mrs. R. B. McGowan, English; Miss Anna Mae McConathy, primary department; Mrs. Garrette Fomby, primary department; Miss Ethel Manning, primary department; Miss Anna Lee Notgrass, departmental subjects; Mrs. J. E. Barrington, third grade.

DUBLIN BOOSTERS IN TOWN WEDNESDAY FOR RODEO BALLHOODING

The spirit of the Old West came to life when fifty-one cowhands from Dublin invaded Cross Plains on Wednesday of this week advertising the World's Championship Rodeo to be held at Dublin on April 26, 27, and 28th. All of the 51 members of the good-will delegation were dressed in cowboy and cow-girl regalia: hats, loud shirts, boots, spurs, chaps and guns.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Ford Elliott, former Cross Plains citizens.

T. H. Harrell, general chairman of the trip, stated "Dublin is able to present such an outstanding rodeo only because the home ranch and headquarters of the World's Championship Rodeo Corporation is located fourteen miles southwest of Dublin. This ranch supplies the livestock, equipment and management for the Madison Square Garden rodeo, held each year in New York. It is only 65 miles to Dublin, and we guarantee that you will see more action, spills and thrills than any other rodeo in the Southwest."

Special attractions at each of the four performances will be: Billie Keene, making a Roman Standing Jump on two horses at full speed over an auto, the world famous Hardin Simmons Cowboy Band, Jazzbo Fulkerson, Madison Square Garden Clown, Garlene and Gloria Ann Thidall, eight and ten year old trick riders and ropers and Loyd and Blanche McBe, smooth working trick riding team. $1,400.00 besides entrance fees is offered in prize money.

The first performance will be Friday night, April 26th, followed by shows presented on Saturday afternoon and night and Sunday afternoon.

Nearly Six Inches Of Rain Here During First 18 Days Of April

More than a half inch of rain Tuesday night brought the total precipitation for the first 18 days of April to 5.74 inches. The moisture was accompanied by an electrical display, however, no damaging hail has been reported in the Cross Plains trade territory.

Rainfall in Cross Plains, according to government weather records kept by this newspaper, reveal that 8.64 inches has been recorded here since January first. The precipitations as follows: January

5.29; February 2, 1.12; February 16, 1.08; February 17, .02; March 10, .37; March 29, .05; April 5, 3.60; April 6, .45; April 10, .12; April 16, .54.

Fruit crops throughout the Cross Plains trade territory are believed to have been no more than half damaged by the last week's freeze and frost, according to County Agent Ross H. Brisson. H. A. Young, who owns one of the largest orchards in this section of Texas, opines, however, that the loss is greater than that immediately visible.

Hulan Barr, Clara Nell McDermott Are Married Wednesday

Coming as a surprise to their many friends was the marriage of Miss Clara Nell McDermott and Hulan Barr, both of Cross Plains, at the Presbyterian church here Wednesday evening at 7:30. Rev. S. P. Collins, pastor, performed the single ring ceremony.

Attending the couple were Miss Bobbie Lee Westerman and T. S. Holden.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McDermott, who live eight miles west of town, and a member of one of the oldest ranch families in Callahan county. She is a graduate of Cross Plains high school, where she was an honor student and extremely popular with class mates. Since finishing high school she attended college and later taught school at Dressy one year. For the past several months she has been employed at a local dry goods firm in the ladies ready-to-wear department.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Barr, and also a member of one of the first families in this section. He, too, is a graduate of Cross Plains high school and an ex-student of Daniel Baker College in Brownwood. Mr. Barr was identified with the field of banking until recently having worked in Abilene and Fort Worth as well as in Cross Plains. He is at present, however, associated with his father in the insurance business here. He is one of Cross Plains' most promising young business men.

News of the nuptial came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the couple in Cross Plains as well as in neighboring towns.

Coming as it did only a few hours before press time, further details concerning the marriage were not immediately available, however, will be published in detail next week.

Singers Organize And W. T. Connelly Is Named President

Regular monthly singing will be held in Cross Plains each third Sunday afternoon throughout the remainder of the year. Next meeting is to be held in the Methodist church here the afternoon of May 19, beginning at two o'clock.

The first meeting of singers was held at the local Baptist church Sunday afternoon with more than 150 in attendance. A permanent organization was perfected at that time with the following elected officers: Willis T. Connelly, president; Doyle Burdfield, vice-president; LeRoy Butler, secretary and treasurer. The organization has been named "Everybody's Community Singing."

First meeting was held in the Baptist church, next is to be in the Methodist church, and thereafter all Cross Plains churches will be visited in rotation, announces LeRoy Butler.

It was first planned to have the singing the second Sunday afternoon in each month, but after further consideration the group elected to meet the third Sunday afternoon. Time of beginning for each singing will be at two o'clock, and it will continue until four or until such time as the body is ready to adjourn. Much interest is being manifested in the plan and between 200 and 400 are expected at the next regular singing in May.

LOOKING AND SEEING
 This curious world about us is a never ending source of interest. Just the other day, a group of students launched out on a field trip to study nature in the raw. For a mile they trekked along, pointing out this and that sign of spring—a budding tree, a singing bird, a sprig of "sok," "ironweed" or a sprouting wood fern. Everything came alive to them for their were searching eyes, and from their collections questions, explanations, etc. they undoubtedly—Saw!

The striking incident of the day centered around a simple bunch of flowers. Blooming white wood violets! Beautiful things—but the thing that caught their eyes and held their attention for a discussion period was the spot where these dainty flowers chose to grow. In a dump heap—one delicate flower—struggling for a footing among discarded shoes, boxes, broken glass, and cans, bottles (the kind that made Milwaukee famous), bloomed—unconsciously of surroundings.

Funny thing—they reasoned—when anyone of them would have cherished such a plant in their own flower beds. Nevertheless it served to strengthen their belief that beauty can be found anywhere—everywhere if one only looks to see it! They know—they found—wood violets—blooming—in a dump heap!

DOWN THE HALL
 Strutting along, football togs strung over their backs, the three "grammar graduates" look mighty important. A trace of a lifted chin, a bit of swagger—could it be Spring time? Or is that the way "Buffalo Calves" feel when in the process of being initiated into the thundering herd?

Found tucked away on a corner blackboard this juvenile motto in rhyme.
 Quote: "Today I'll hold my chin

Weren't some of the happiest days of your childhood spent in visits on your grandmother's farm? Maybe it was a log cabin (as my grandmother's home was, in rocky hills) but that only made it all the more picturesque—with a big fireplace and real logs crackling and blazing; the rockers with backs and bottoms made of hides; crayon enlargements of relatives of long years before on the walls; rag carpets on the floors; crazy quilts on the bed; the table with the what-nots—a sea-shell, the album, the Japanese fan that was a souvenir of the St. Louis world's fair, the stereopticon with the views of Niagara Falls and the Leaning Tower of Pisa—yes, you can just close your eyes and it all comes back to you.

My grandmother—I called her grandma and that is what her oldest grandchild whose locks are thinning, still calls her for she is yet active though past 80—my grandma (just like yours, I'm sure) was the best cook in the world, next to mother. Mounds of fried chicken, creamy mashed potatoes, beets in vinegar, new sour pickles, hot biscuits, fanny fresh sweet milk, chow chow, corn on the cob, sorghum molasses, home-made butter wild honey, apple pie, peach cobbler—those were the days!

Most of the food came from the garden which my grandmother cultivated herself—and she insisted on going out there in her calico dress and sun-bonnet and gathering the snap-beans and the bright red tomatoes. The grandchildren drew such assignments, however, as churning and bringing up the water in buckets from the spring at the foot of the hill—and with all the advancement in engineering, I'd be willing to wager that no car has yet been built that can climb that hill in high.

Grandma and grandpa would be at the station to meet us and then came a ride in the wagon for three miles and, after that, care-free weeks of romping (probably not so easy for a grandmother with four or five full-of-life and mischief boys and girls to keep an eye on) and then the sad day when the visit was over and we climbed on the train, waved good-bye from the car-window and, before the train had gone four miles, we had pitched in on the shoe-box full of friend chicken which grandma had fixed up for the journey.

Why doesn't someone start a "Grandmother's Day"?

The race for governor has gotten away to a flying start, with W. Lee O'Daniel announcing for re-election one night and dynamic Jerry Sadler meeting the challenge the following night in a speech in which he came out against any form of sales tax (including O'Daniel's transaction tax) because such a levy would tax milk, bread, overalls, gingham dresses and work shoes. Instead, Sadler proposes to finance adequate old age pensions with a tax on natural resources which he points out, are consumed out of the state to the extent of 80 per cent and, therefore, the tax would almost entirely be paid by people living outside of Texas.

That the campaign will have plenty of action was indicated by Sadler's charge that his opponent wants to set up a dictatorship in Texas as autocratic as Communist Russia, the Railroad Commissioner asserting that O'Daniel wishes virtually to do away with the Legislature by having it composed of "yes-men." Sadler defended Texas newspapers and radio stations, and hitting at his opponent for using a Mexican radio station in appealing for Texas votes, predicted that O'Daniel will change his appeal from "Please pass the biscuits" to "Please pass the tamales."

A newspaper in a town of only 284 population. Glen Doss, managing editor of the Whitewright Sun, comes forward with this interesting information about the Savoy Star: "Yes I know of a paper printed in a smaller town than Carbon, which you say in your column has a population of 463.

"The Savoy (Fannin County) Star is published and printed in a town having a 1930 census of 284. Incidentally, I got my first order of printer's ink on the Savoy Star, where I worked after school and on Saturdays in 1908.

"The Savoy Star has one of the first George Washington newspaper presses built, the old hand-inked and hand-impressioned kind of press, and the Star is printed on it every week. Some 20 or 25 years

Cross, Grady Glenn Harris, Dorothy Lee Haruet, Wilbur Henson Lloyd Newton, Helen McKinney, J. C. Burkett, and Marvin Burton. Wanda Jean Burns is salutatorian and Fred Klutts is valedictorian.

Supt. Chambers states also that the ward school commencement will be held Thursday night, May 9.

* WITH OUR *
* WILDLIFE *

Death Along Our Highways
Every day that we drive along the beautiful highways of this state one may see dead birds, animals, fur-bearers and other valuable wildlife species along with many valuable domestic livestock. Many of these are caused by careless actions on the part of the driver of the cars, while other causes of death to domestic livestock is caused by the careless action of the farmers and ranchmen who allow their animals to graze along the highways.

In a recent report of the State Highway Department on the causes of accidents in Texas during the past year on our highways, wrecks with livestock ranked high. This surely is one source of danger that should be removed, and can be, but it will take the cooperation of all the livestock owners along the state highways.

With the cooperation of Henry Trotter, section foreman of the State Highway Department. The following figures were obtained on the number of wildlife species and domestic animals that were killed on the highways of Brown county during a three-month period.

During one month 2,000 miles were covered in Brown county, and in this distance there were found on the right-of-way 182 rabbits of all species, 15 "wild" house cats, 10 armadillos, 5 lambs, 6 grown ewes, 4 cows, 2 horses, hundreds of chickens, actual count not taken, 8 dogs, 5 skunks and two hogs.

About one animal per 4.9 miles over the county during this period, and we have about 105 miles of state highways in the county. Of course, this does not include all the roads of the county. If it did, then one would see that the numbers would run very high. It is true that probably all the animals listed above were not killed by traffic on the highways, but some were thrown out of trucks enroute to market. Surely this is a bad practice because the dead animals might cause someone to overturn and be killed.

Drive safely at night and watch for livestock for your protection, and help save some of our wildlife species.

ago they installed a cylinder press, but later sold it and went back to the G. Washington."

How did we overlook this ancient just for so long? Two men were on top of a tall building and one of them said, "Be careful or you'll fall" and the other answered, "It's not the fall I would mind; it's the sudden stop."

Farmer: "So would I. It's a pear tree."

JIM SETTLE TO COME BACK AND OPEN STORE

J. L. Settle, former Cross Plains merchant, informs the Review that he will return here within the near future and open a man's store.

At present he is selecting fixtures, which are to be the very latest design of the manufacturer's art. Sketches are being prepared in Dallas, however, actual manufacture will be done in Cross Plains by the Williams Planning Mill, of the finest equipped plants of its kind in this section of the state.

Mr. Settle operated a tailor shop in Cross Plains for nearly 20 years, however, due to illness he disposed of the tailoring establishment in January and has since been recuperating at Dallas. Friends will be happy to learn that his health has been completely regained.

WHAT Would Happen to You Without Newspapers?

MARCH, 1940 . . .

A small freighter docking at a Pacific port is refused permission to land cargo of manganese . . . certain people have decided that port authorities should not allow manganese into this country . . . they have no right to do it, but who will know about it? . . . you wonder in a few months why it's almost impossible to buy anything made of steel . . . but you'll never know without the newspaper.

MAY, 1940 . . .

The power-drunk mayor of a large city throws a man in jail for condemning political corruption in a street-corner conversation . . . a direct and brutal violation of constitutional civil liberties . . . but nothing will be done . . . you'll never know without the newspaper.

AUGUST, 1940 . . .

Illinois passing a law refusing admittance of corn from other states to feed her hungry millions . . . hoisting food prices to unbelievable heights . . . setting a precedent for interstate legislative warfare, taxes and restrictions . . . all violating the Constitution . . . you and the rest of the public would have been able to stop this destruction of commerce . . . but, except for high prices, you'll never know without the newspaper.

NOVEMBER, 1940 . . .

You lose your job—the company you work for decides that it is too hard to sell things made by mass production . . . to hard to reach mass markets that make it profitable to sell at low prices . . . what can be done? . . . you'll never know without the newspaper. Where can you get another job? . . . you don't know where to begin . . . there's no place to look . . . but you walk anyhow . . . doing nothing but wear out your temper and precious shoe leather . . . where can you go? . . . you'll never know without the newspaper.

JANUARY, 1941 . . .

War is declared . . . you don't know about it . . . anyway, prices are so high that you can't notice any change . . . you don't know about it until you receive notice from the war department to wind up your affairs and report for military duties . . . why? . . . you'll never know without the newspaper.

AND THEN . . .

A dictatorship has been declared in the United States . . . what's the difference? . . . you haven't voted since it's been so hard to learn something about the candidates . . . the freighter's name . . . his iron-fisted orders . . . that's all you ever know without the newspaper.

Can you picture this country's state of mind by tomorrow evening if every newspaper in America were to shut down today? If you're ever thought about it, you know your way of life would be changed completely. The imaginary situations in the columns above would not be improbable.

The news published in newspapers every day is as vital to you as your food, your clothing, your auto, and your family. Newspaper advertising guarantees that our "American Way" will not degenerate for lack of adequate marketing and mass production facilities. The newspaper is the very foundation of the "American Way." It guarantees that the right of free press, free assembly will be maintained and guarded.

This newspaper pledges to continue its policy of promoting the "American Way" . . . freedom, progress, justice, helpfulness and tolerance shall continue as watchwords during the life of this paper.

Gullible Merchants Continue To Be Caught In Rackets

Miss Edyth Krauskopf secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, this week was despairing the gullibility of local merchants, who, despite repeated warnings by the senior chamber, continue to be inveigled in advertising schemes, whose worth in terms of value returned is practically nil.

"Under the guise of advertising," said Miss Krauskopf, "there are countless schemes ready to take the merchants' money. The schemes promote sales through churches, the schools, civic clubs, etc. Solicitors are constantly trying to sell advertising space on pages of all types of books, on school curtains, on fans, and programs."

"The Vigilance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is ever ready to save the merchants from this useless sort of advertising but can only do this through the co-operation of the merchants."

"Two such schemes appeared in the city last week, solicitations for ads on fans to be given to the churches and ads in song books for a rural school. The former sale was stopped by the 'C' of C before any merchant was solicited but the solicitors for ads in the song book to furnish song books to every rural school in the county. The school and teacher whose names were used called attention to the 'C' of C that neither he nor the school had granted this permission, yet the merchants bought the ads without demanding a card of approval from the vigilance committee."

"Save this useless waste in advertising—demand an approval card from the vigilance committee," the secretary concluded, "before listening to any and all propositions by out of town solicitors."

AN ANSWER TO A MOTHER PRAYER

A woman sat in the sunshine Whose hair was silvery gray She was getting feeble and old As she bowed her head to pray.

A door opened softly, a lad came out To kneel beside her chair Then again she bent her old gray head

Keep him faithful Lord, she said Let him be loyal and true Let him live a life like his dad My boy with eyes of blue.

That evening as the sun went down Just at the close of day The gray headed mother with Tender blue eyes, gently passed away.

Then he lifted her feeble gray head And said with a tear in his eye Mother dear I'll meet you In the sweet by and by.

I'll do what you asked mother dear he cried I'll follow the tracks of my dad
