CROSS PLAINS AIDS WAR REFUGEES

Home Town Gossip

Good morning neighbor. Of your thoughts, like ours and every one else's are centered in Europe, which hourly greater perils to the United States. With the frank admission of the conflict is bad, worse than can even conceivably imagine, abandon the topic and rest our brains with a few lighter ones.

Colonel Ed Stritch, the dean of our troopers, will again bring company here for the carnival event. In a letter this week scribbled of these paragraphs announced that he would bring most elaborate carnival aggregation to Cross Plains that it had been his pleasure to offer on banks of Turkey Creek, and he's coming here for a great many speaking of the picnic, it is time for local concerns to be planning their entries in the parade. Last year's winners, Me's Variety Store and Cox Company are due to have of competition in the best decorated float event. Clarence Ston, Oren Barr and L. L. Somery, who exhibited the winning teams last year, are expected to make strong bids to it, however, it is a known fact others are planning to present very best animals. And on the line to the most novel, unique entries, etc., common is expected to be keen, in an interesting, elaborate one. Kids too, will vie for honor of the most gayly embellished bicycle.

Friday is Father's Day throughout the nation. For some son of dad doesn't receive his attention on this day and very seldom is his heart ever warmed by even a single admission of love, or an expression of appreciation for years of endless toil in behalf of those to whom his entire life is devoted.

Even though you do not purchase him some gift, take the trouble to hold his hand or kiss his cheek and say: "Dad, I love you're swell." Do this the day will come when heart will rejoice for having told your father that you love and admire him to the bottom of your heart. After all Dad is a pretty good boy.

June 14, is flag day. Why as all remember to display in front of our various business homes on this day.

The morning preaching service will begin at nine o'clock Sunday. The pastor's sermon will be built around two phrases "So Long Time"—"And Yet" found in John 14:9. Sunday school will be held immediately following the sermon, 9:45.

The newly constructed Cross Plains Auction ring, located at the junction of highway 206 and 35 one mile West of town, will hold its first sale Friday, beginning at two o'clock.

Car Overturns As Woman Rushes For Doctor For Dying Man

A. W. BENNETT LAID TO LAST REST HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Neighbor Lady Hurt In Auto Mishap Rushed To Coleman Hospital; Is Badly Injured

A. H. Bennett, 34, died at his home four miles southwest of town on the G. E. (Ed) Morgan place, Friday afternoon at 6:30 after an illness of but a few hours.

Mrs. W. L. Lawrence, a neighbor to the Bennett family, was seriously injured in an automobile collision while enroute to Cross Plains to summons a physician to attend Mr. Bennett. The pick-up she was driving overturned at the Jack Baum place, a mile West of town. She was rushed in a Higginbotham ambulance to a Coleman hospital, where her condition was reported critical.

Funeral services for Mr. Bennett were held Saturday afternoon at four o'clock from the family home, with Elder Harper, Church of Christ minister, officiating. Interment was made in the Cross Plains cemetery.

Survivors include: the widow and two children, both parents and several brothers and sisters.

Pall bearers at the funeral and interment services were: J. C. Bowden, Claude McAnally, M. E. Lackey, Ralph White, Albert Franke and Edil Mayes.

HIGGINBOTHAM'S TO LAUNCH HUGE SALE SATURDAY MORNING

A pre-inventory sale gets underway Saturday, June 15, at the big Higginbotham store in Cross Plains according to an announcement yesterday from George R. Neel, manager.

Drastic reductions, particularly in Summer dry goods and piece goods are being offered. A 100 inch advertisement listing a number of price reductions throughout the several departments of the store appears on page two of today's issue of the Review. It is pointed out, however, that not all of the price reductions are included in the advertisement.

All clerks have been busy the past few days getting everything in readiness for the big sale, which comes during the peak of the harvest season.

FRIENDS BEST ASSET IN LIFE; NEIGHBORS HELP BILL LAWRENCE

The old adage: "Of all the assets men attain, friends are the greatest gain," was proved again this week as neighbors assembled at the Bill Lawrence place, West of town, to harvest his grain.

Mr. Lawrence has been at the bedside of his wife in a Coleman hospital the past several days, where she has been at the point of death as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile mishap Friday afternoon. Mrs. Lawrence was at the time of the accident endeavoring to render a neighborly service—rushing to secure a physician for one of her neighbors, who died before the doctor was obtained.

Men of the community assembled three combines in the Lawrence fields Tuesday afternoon and began harvesting the grain in rapid fashion. Among the workers were: Fred Long, Porter Lee, Olan Wilson, Ed Henderson, Doyle Neeb, Harlon Lacy, W. T. Wilson, Mr. Bucklao and one of Mr. Lawrence's brothers.

With three combines and a crew of friendly, willing workers the crop was threshed and sacked in short order in systematic, orderly fashion.

Pickle Factory Is Goal Of Local C.C.; Prospects Are Good

Possibilities of a pickle plant for Cross Plains in 1941 were brightened this week as directors of the local chamber of commerce began communicating with a large packing concern in regard to the enterprise.

W. D. Smith, C of C director, advanced the proposal and made the initial contacts. It is understood that the packing company has been interested in Cross Plains as a result of the information furnished by the local groceryman and that they plan to send a representative here soon investigate the proposition.

It is pointed out that at least 150 acres would have to be planted to cucumbers before the company would agree to build a plant here, however, directors believe that this amount of acreage could be easily obtained.

Clyde Sims appealed again this week to farmers who have truck crops to sell to advise him as to what they have to move and when it will be marketable. "I am having calls most every day for fruit or most any kind of berries, and it has been extremely hard to load a number of trucks. I believe if farmers will only notify us of what they have to sell we can find ready markets for most all types of truck crops," Sims said.

Directors of the local C of C in session Friday night also discussed the securing of a bean market for Cross Plains next year.

"Although progress at times seems slow, we are doing everything in our power to serve the truck farmers of the Cross Plains trade territory and we urgently need the continued cooperation of producers and merchants, who provide funds for the continuance of our efforts. If anyone has suggestions as to how we may better serve, such suggestions will be welcomed and studied seriously," Sims declared.

Directors of the Cross Plains Chamber of Commerce are: Clyde Sims, W. D. Smith, George R. Neel, Fred Tammell, R. L. Little, C. C. Holdridge and Porter J. Davis.

NEARLY INCH AND A FOURTH OF RAIN IS RECEIVED IN 4 DAYS

Down-Pour Falls Sunday Afternoon In Board Flat Area Doing Some Damage

Nearly an inch and a fourth of moisture fell in Cross Plains Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Coming as it did, spread over four full days, most of the moisture soaked into the earth. Grain harvesting was temporarily delayed throughout the Cross Plains trade territory however, damage to the crop was reported to have been slight.

A "fluke" down-pour fell Sunday afternoon about five o'clock across a narrow strip of the Board Flat vicinity, two miles East of town. Rain fell in torrents for several minutes, flooding all branches in the locality and doing some damage to crops. The rain gauge at the H. C. Williams' place showed nearly an inch of rain for Sunday alone, whereas Sunday's precipitation in Cross Plains was gauged at .14 by the weather instruments kept by this newspaper. Too, it is pointed out that the gauge on the Williams place was on the West edge of the heaviest fall in the Board Flat area Sunday and that it was possibly quite a bit heavier about the middle.

Combines were running again Tuesday, however, it will be the last of the week before threshing is resumed generally.

The rain measurements as recorded by the Review's government weather gauge were as follows: Thursday, June 6, .63; Friday, June 7, .23; Saturday, June 8, .22; Sunday, June 9, .14. Exact totals for the four days was 1.22. This figure added to the total rainfall for January, February, March, April, and May brings the year's rainfall in Cross Plains to a total of 12.24 inches, slightly above normal.

Car And Truck Hit Head-On; 1 Killed And 2 Are Injured

Three men were injured, one fatally, Monday afternoon when a passenger car collided with a big truck at the foot of the sharp incline just south of the George Clifton place, three miles North of town.

Occupants of the passenger car, John and R. E. Hardburgher, brothers whose homes are in Lubbock, were coming toward Cross Plains when their vehicle collided head-on with a Taystee bread truck, driven by an Abilene man.

The Hardburgher brothers were injured, R. D. seriously, and rushed in a Higginbotham ambulance to the Graham Sanatorium in Cisco. The driver of the bread truck received only minor bruises and lacerations, according to information received by the Review.

R. E. Hardburgher, 61, died of his injuries Tuesday afternoon at 2:15. Survivors are his wife, a sister, Mrs. C. B. Neal, Fort Worth, two daughters, Mrs. Lowell Littleton and Mrs. Pies Childress, Ozona; four sons, R. E. George and Billy Hardburgher, Lubbock, and Homer Hardburgher, O'Donnell. Mr. Hardburgher was a veteran gln operator.

SKATING PARTY YIELDS $11 FOR WAR REFUGEES

Eleven dollars was turned into the Cross Plains unit of the American Red Cross Wednesday morning by L. C. Norman and J. E. Barrington, as proceeds from a skating party at the high school gymnasium Tuesday night. The $11, will be added to other local contributions and be used to alleviate suffering among the war refugees of Europe.

The Good Work Started!

Little did the American Red Cross realize that in a few short weeks it would be necessary to double its war relief quota. However, the invading army under the leadership of the Mad Man of Europe has increased the war refugees of Holland, Belgium and France by the millions. To help alleviate the suffering and misery of these war refugees the American Red Cross has called upon the citizens of Callahan County for $880.00.

Let us not forget it was the Red Cross nurse who administered to our soldier boys in France in 1918; it was the Red Cross who came to our aid here in Callahan County during the drought some seven or eight years ago; and it was the American Red Cross who came to the rescue after the Clyde tornado in 1938—burying the dead, giving aid to the injured, rebuilding homes and are now contributing to the up-keep of four orphans resulting from this catastrophe.

Surely we will not "let the Red Cross down, in this sad hour of need. Those of you who have already contributed to the first call are urged to do so again and those who have not yet contributed, please do so immediately as your contribution may be instrumental in saving the life of some poor refugee.

Names of those who responded to the initial call made by the Red Cross in Cross Plains Wednesday afternoon appear hereunder. There are others who contributed after these lines went to press, and acknowledgement of their gifts will be made in future issues.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE BY W. D. SMITH AT PIGGLY WIGGLY HERE

In keeping with his policy of ever-modernizing to stay abreast of latest merchandising methods, W. D. Smith is this week completing a remodeling process at his Piggly Wiggly Store in Cross Plains.

New turnstiles, the gateway to Piggly Wiggly values, have been installed, the front of the store repainted and redecorated, the entire produce department has been revamped and new racks and baskets substituted for the old ones. Interior of the store is now embellished with a black and green color scheme throughout.

The Cross Plains Piggly Wiggly Store, the only one of its kind in Callahan county, is regarded as one of the most modern Piggly Wiggles in this section of Texas and enjoys a metropolitan business.

Each year Mr. Smith discards equipment approaching obsolescence and replaces it with that of the very latest design. He plans even further improvements during 1940.

RED CROSS RAISING MONEY IN CITY FOR EUROPEAN VICTIMS

County's Quota $880. One Half Reached According To Clifford Jones, Chairman

Sympathetic to war oppressed peoples of Europe, Cross Plains citizens began yesterday raising funds to alleviate suffering among refugees.

First contribution to the fund was made by W. P. (Nick) Brightwell, who was also the first Callahan county man several months ago to send financial help to little, war-ridden Finland. His contribution was for $500.

In a meeting at the Citizens State Bank here Wednesday plans were mapped out to adequately canvass the entire trade territory, giving everyone an opportunity to help in the movement. All funds raised here will be counted in the quota of $880, set by the Red Cross for Callahan county.

At first the quota for this county was $440, however, as the war spread to new countries and new fronts need for increased sums became necessary and all communities throughout the United States were asked to double their original quota, Clifford V. Jones, county chairman, announced to the Review late Tuesday that the initial quota of $440, had been reached and that all workers were now urged to combine their energies to see that the $880, is raised immediately, in order that it may be used in minimizing suffering in Europe.

Cross Plains was a bit late in starting the drive for funds, however, indications yesterday were that this community would meet its portion of the county's quota.

Following the declaration of war on Great Britain and France by Italy Monday and President Roosevelt's address to the nation that evening, sentiment in Cross Plains is almost unanimous for sending all available help to the Allies, short of actual entrance into war.

Miss Alice Baucum Wed To Goldthwaite Man Last Thursday

Miss Alice Baucum, formerly of Cross Plains and Cross Cut, became the bride of Neal Dickerson, prominent Goldthwaite lumberman, Thursday evening at eight o'clock in Brownwood, with Rev. B. M. Bradford, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church, solemnizing the impressive single ring ceremony at his home.

Attending the couple were Miss Marjorie Triplett and Ed Carnell, close friends of the bridal couple. Shortly after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson journeyed to Goldthwaite for a brief stay before going on to San Antonio and other South Texas points on a bridal tour to many interesting places. They returned late Sunday to Goldthwaite where the groom owns and operates a thriving lumber business; they will make their home in that city.

Mrs. Dickerson is widely and favorably known throughout this section and enjoys an unusually large circle of friends, all of whom extend sincerest good wishes. She formerly lived at Cross Cut, however, as a nurse she spent much time in Cross Plains as well as all other nearby cities.

COMMUNITY SINGING IS SET HERE SUNDAY

Regular third Sunday community singing will be held at the Cross Plains Baptist church Sunday afternoon, beginning at two o'clock. Singers from a number of neighboring towns have been invited and are expected to be present.

The entire public is invited to come and enjoy an afternoon of wholesome, delightful entertainment.

Mrs. Joe Shrock is spending a few days in Albany this week. Her beauty shop is being run by Mrs. S. V. Webb.

Joan Crawford Teams With Clark Gable In Strange Cargo At Liberty Theatre

Having been beaten and buffeted all over the landscape for her role as Julie, the cafe entertainer in "Strange Cargo," which comes to the Liberty Theatre Sunday, Joan Crawford declares that she wouldn't have traded the experience for half a dozen conventional "glamour" roles.

Her plea for parts into which she could "slink teeth" resulted in almost more than she bargained for when she discovered that as Julie she would undergo the most arduous physical strain which she had ever experienced in any screen characterization. But she is still happy that she stood by her guns.

Admittedly part of a definite campaign on Miss Crawford's part for strong character roles, her casting in the picture, now screening at the Liberty Theatre, logically succeeded her triumph as Crystal Allen in "The Women," a radical departure for the former "dancing daughter."

"But Julie was ten times as tough," she said. "It's a good thing I didn't know about all of the pushing around I would have to put up with before the picture started, or I might have been tempted to back out."

The fun starts when the cynical Julie, watching a group of convicts unload a freighter, is grabbed around the ankle by convict Clark Gable, who offers to toss her off the wharf unless she keeps quiet and listens to him. He gives her ankle a couple of twists to punctuate his remarks. The next time she sees him he has broken into her dressing room at the cafe where he grabs her by the wrist to prevent her escaping. Through a trick she turns him over to prison guards, who later toss her out of the door when she tries to fight with Gable.

Trying to escape from the colony and from the contemptible and repulsive Monsieur Pig (Peter Lorre) who pursues her everywhere, she accepts another proposition from a miner, Marfen (Bernard Nodell), who offers to take her to his cabin in the jungle and then have natives escort her to the coast and put her aboard a boat. When Marfen looks her in the cabin, she tries to escape by stabbing him with a pair of shears but is interrupted. Rescued from Marfen by Verne, the convict (Gable), who has escaped from prison, she is literally dragged through the jungle. And there the deplorable Crawford really begins.

The jungle sequences were shot in a river-bottom swamp at Pico, where the scum lies thick on the stagnant water and vines and brambles tear at one's clothes. Because the water was so cold, Miss Crawford rubbed her feet and legs with camphorated oil. She, lost her hat almost before the location work started, so went bareheaded through the rest of the script. Alligators streak through the water towards her, pythons drop from the branches. She loses the heel of one shoe, uses the cover of a tomato can as an improvised mirror in a pitiful attempt to beautify herself.

When Julie and Verne finally stagger out of the jungle down to the beach, nearly dead from hunger and thirst, he can no longer support her and drops her on her face in the sand. As the story progresses men die or are killed on all sides of her. The seven who remain continue their escape on a skiff, Julie and Verne among them. The ship is becalmed in the doldrums and three more die. When the four who are left reach haven and beach the boat, Julie has barely strength to stagger up the beach. Even the hem of her skirt has been torn off and ripped into strips so that the men might draw lots to see who would survive.

Her clothes in rags, her face streaked with dirt, her eyes sunken, her hair awry, Miss Crawford is scarcely the picture of glamour and by no means matches up to the accepted standards of screen beauty once her role in the film picks up momentum.

"But it's what I've wanted," she confessed. "It represents a definite move on my part to avoid too-dressy roles, to enact characters that mean something. I wouldn't want to do a whole series of Jules any more than I'd want to do a whole series of clothes horses. Everyone likes variety. But I do think that the traditional heroines of other years are going by the boards as producers and stars alike realize that audiences want stories and themes that are off the beaten path. And if I have to be beaten up to get off the beaten path, why, that's all right, too."

ension Checks Will Be Increased In September

The September checks are out an increase of $3 to $4 given to those participating in age assistance payments, it was announced by Adam Johnson, director of the old age assistance board. Last October an increase of $6 was made in the checks because it became necessary to begin paying off a loan of $2,000,000 to a Dallas bank which will be cleared in August, Johnson said. There are now approximately 121,000 on the rolls. A cash of $8 can not be fully paid in September, it was explained due to liberalization of the law by the last regular session of the Legislature and to the increased overhead expenses. The average monthly payment on the rolls is $10.66, so this should go up to $14. Not many states are paying above this average, and only one or two states have more on their pension rolls than Texas.

According to the Texas Constitution all old age assistance must be based upon need of the applicant or recipient, and this same provision is required by the federal government. So when candidates for the Legislature or for state office suggest payment of $30 a month to all over 65 they are snuck up against both the Constitution and the federal government.

Recheck Rolls

A force of inspectors constantly recheck those on the rolls to determine whether their financial condition has improved or has become worse, and if improved the monthly payments are reduced. This rechecking system is required by the Washington government.

Johnson reports that increase of revenues, chiefly from liquor and beer, has permitted slight increase in the payments already, while the amusement tax also has been of unexpected benefit to the fund. For instance, alone yielded to the old age assistance fund $45,000. "I wish they would show some more good pictures like that," Johnson said.

Food Lockers

Will be discussed at the meetings scheduled below. In addition to the discussions a motion picture film showing a few of the many modern plants that have been built in Texas in the past 2 or 3 years, will be shown.

The first meeting will be at Eula Saturday night June 8. This meeting as well as all the others will start at 8 o'clock p.m. Other meetings are Monday night June 10, at Clyde; Tuesday night June 11 at Putnam high school auditorium; Wednesday night at the Bayou gymnasium; Thursday night at the Denton school gymnasium; Friday night June 14 at Baird in the district court room; Saturday night June 15 at the Oplin school gymnasium; Monday night June 15 at the Oplin school gymnasium; Monday night June 17 at Cross Plains; and Tuesday night June 18 at Dressy.

The public is cordially invited to attend one of these meetings where county Extension agents will discuss the advantages of locker plants and how we might get a plant located in Callahan county.

Grasshoppers

Are still numerous. Some farmers of the county have succeeded in fighting them off the tender cotton plants while others have just begun the fight. 20,000 pounds of poison bran mash has been distributed to farmers from the mixing station at Baird.

A Quail Restoration

Demonstration has been started in the county on two sections of land owned by Homer Kennard, rancher North of Clyde. Cooperating with Mr. Kennard are the Extension Service and the State Game Fish and Oyster Commission. A committee composed of Ace Hickman, Homer Kennard, Fred Cut-and then the old folks would benefit that much more."

"Due to the war in Europe our office has experienced a big drop in interest in the old age assistance problem. This has become a political issue, as all know, but the great war has eliminated politics as far as public interest is concerned, and our correspondence and complaints have dropped off."

Shortly after old age assistance became a state law it was discovered there were 125,000 receiving monthly payments, to which federal government officials strenuously objected, they pointing out it was higher than that of any other state. It was then that the Legislature enacted the deliberalization bill, reducing and restricting the rolls, but this was followed by a liberalizing bill in the 1939 Legislature.

Administration Changed

Administration of the law also has undergone changes. At first old age assistance was a function of the board of control, later there was a three-man commission and the last Legislature created what is often known as a public welfare board, having three members, but the chief duty, turned over to Johnson, is old age assistance. The Federal Government also has insisted that the state board must be conducted according to Washington regulations, merit system for employees, and Texas has complied with this to a large extent.

Old age assistance has been made a political football in and out of the Legislature, and the end is not in sight, but the average citizen is not aware to what extent the Federal Government controls both payments and administration.

Texas officials did not have an easy time a few months ago convincing the Federal Social Security Board that it was carrying out all the required provisions, and there were fears at the time that there would be no matching of dollars, but an adjustment finally was reached.

NO STAFF VACANCIES AT SCRANTON SCHOOL

Superintendent W. T. Hughes is doing graduate work at the University of Texas, Charles Harris, coach and English instructor is attending school at Texas Tech in Lubbock this Summer, as is Roy Armstrong, Scranton's agriculture teacher.

Texas oil workers and Texas farmers and landowners receive over $403,000,000 a year from the Texas oil industry. This is nearly three-fourths of its total operating expenditures of $550,000,000.

In 1929 the cost of Texas government was less than $92,000,000.

birth, and N. M. George from the Land Use Planning Committee selected this area for the demonstration. In time it is expected that many ideas for keeping Callahan county stocked with quail will be gotten from this demonstration.

Individuals Texas oil operators drilled 70 per cent of all the oil wells drilled in Texas last year. Large companies drilled 30 per cent.

ONE MILLION Texans

One million Texans would have to find other means of livelihood if the Texas petroleum industry were to shut down tomorrow.

Steady employment, good working conditions, reasonable working hours and fair wages are the industry's responsibilities to its workers and their families—a million Texans in all.

It must maintain production, find and develop new fields, meet competitive markets for its products and pay its total expense bill of 750 million dollars a year, which includes its payrolls.

The Texas petroleum industry now has to pay 97 million dollars a year in taxes to Federal, State and local governments before it can consider wages and employment.

When expenses must be cut to satisfy increasing tax demands, employment suffers, and with it, the buying power that employment creates in our State.

Off-Hand Observations

...so far as we have been able to learn, that when the Indians of America over to the white man the indebtedness of the country was nil. Now we are trying to be kind to the Redskins by giving them to fish in our waters here in the country without license.

...writer has chuckled, many times at the good-natured expression from the pen of State Representative Ross Hardin in the columns of the Dallas Morning News.

...speaking of the capacity of Ford's plant to turn out for the government he said that of 1000 planes per day require pilots, and considering the scarcity of pilots, each one has to drive ten planes in trailer fashion.

...Lexie Iwan Robertson of our own Texas poet, accompanied by her secretary Mrs. H. C. Gracey, is now on a tour which will take several teachers colleges in Texas including Langston University for negroes in Oklahoma.

...said the first President's name to be given the franking was Martha Washington, following the death of the first President it was enacted "that all letters and packages to and from Martha Washington, relict of the late General George Washington, shall be received and conveyed by post free of postage for and during life."

...State Representative Ross Hardin was the thirteenth candidate to file for Texas Railroad Commissioner. He was accompanied by his four brothers. It is reported he is not superstitious about the number thirteen.

...There is one thing we like about the Hardin family and that is their co-operation. When one aspires to reach a goal we have noticed he is backed by his entire family, no jealousy, no hindrance from any one member, but all get together and help him put it over. "In unity there is strength," you know, and this seems to be the attitude of the Hardin family.

...In looking through our news exchanges this week we find that our government has taken steps to protect the American eagle, our symbol of freedom.

...Congress recently sent to the President for signature legislation providing a fine of $5,000 and six months imprisonment for capturing or killing an American eagle.

...In 1938—the latest year of available statistics from the State Health Department—deaths from pellagra in Texas reached the high member of 544. This report showed that nearly one-fourth of Texas farms have no milk cows, 15 per cent have no poultry, 40 per cent no gardens, and 80 per cent have no orchards.

...There is absolutely no excuse for such a condition on our Texas farms. "Where there is a will there is a way," and what many of our people need, in towns as well as on farms, is a large application of that substance known as elbow grease. This writer is just one of the common variety but we have always found that if we want anything bad enough there is always a way of procuring it and it usually comes by hard work and careful management.

...The following story, which we take from the Jokesmith of the Eagle Lake Headlight, is typical of the average American.

...At the battle of Chickamauga a Federal officer was captured by the Federal soldiers. Whenever the Federal officers chanced to be near him he took delight in chiding them with the words, "Oh, didn't we eat 'em up at Chickamauga?" It went on over and over until the officers became very tired hearing it. So they demanded that he stop making the statement, but the enthusiastic soldier never lost a chance.

...Finally he was taken before General Grant and given his choice of swearing allegiance to the U.S., flag or go to a northern camp. He decided to take the oath, and after it was administered to him, he looked around, cleared his throat, and said—"Now, General, didn't they eat us up at Chickamauga?"

...The point in the story is loyalty. When the average American man once espouses a cause, as a rule, nothing can change him.

BANDSMEN ASKED TO COMPETE AT McMURRY COLLEGE IN ABILENE

Invitation to graduating high school band musicians of the West Texas area to participate in tryouts for the McMurry college Indian band June 14, was extended Saturday by Dean R. G. Boger.

At the same time, Boger announced plans for a materially enlarged program of band work to be inaugurated at the Methodist school with opening of the 1940 long session in September.

Thirty scholarships, each with a value of $65, have been apportioned to the band for 1940-41, most of which will be awarded at the June 14 tryouts. They will be held in Radford Memorial auditorium, on the McMurry campus in Abilene.

"The college will be host to these contestants for the day," Boger explained. "Lunch and dinner will be served complimentary in the college dining hall. The hour for each student's appearance will be assigned, and the student will be notified as his application is received."

Each person will play one selection of his own choice, and will be given one selection to play by sight. Accompanists may be brought along, or will be provided if requested.

Boger urged that all interested high school graduates immediately make application to Prof. Clarence James, band director, for a place in the tryouts. Applicants should state what instrument they play, describe their experience, give two references as to character and musical ability, and give names and addresses.

Youths can participate in the tryouts without having made application, though the college prefers to have advance notice, the dean said.

AMERICA HONORING DAIRYING INDUSTRY

Despite unsettled conditions throughout the nation caused by threat of war and efforts toward preparedness, America will pay tribute to one of its greatest industries, equally vital in time of war or in peace, by denoting June as National Dairy Month.

LIVE YOU TEXAS

BOYCE HOUSE

Abraham Lincoln said that when he was a boy, nobody liked ginger bread better than he did, or got less of it.

Nobody bestows more publicity than newspapermen, or get less of it themselves. So—when a yuh say?—being's as how the State Press convention over at Mineral Wells is on my mind, let's devote this 20-round to the members of the Fourth Estate. Here goes:

Stanley Bab, courteous reporter for the historic Galveston News, is press-agent for a pirate. Well, maybe not exactly, but he has written poems about old Jean LaFitte, and good ones, too.

Speaking of writing, W. B. Ruggles, before he became the profound head editorial writer for the Dallas News, used to be sports editor and, in those days, he wrote Grantland Rice-esque poems.

And Asa Patrick, city editor of the Weatherford Herald, used to write notable fiction—in fact, one of his short stories appeared in the same issue of a magazine with a story by O. Henry.

A few years ago this observer was handling publicity work in a state race and visited Lufkin where C. S. Boyles, Jr., editor of the News, reversed the usual procedure—he bought my lunch. And that is an even bigger piece of news than a man biting a dog.

Of course the oldest newspaper joke is the one about the cub reporter who was assigned to write up a big society wedding at a city church. He came back to the office and the city editor said, "Well, write the story." Dejectedly, the young news-gatherer said, "There ain't no story—the bridegroom didn't show up."

Dodging the brickbats and ancient eggs for telling that one, let us continue on our stroll down Newspaper Row:

Word is gradually getting around that newspapermen will make capable public officials—J. W. Clements is Stephenville's mayor and Wendell Mayes is mayor of Brownwood; other towns, "please copy." Of course, several presidents of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were newspapermen: H. S. Hilburn, Plainview; Houston Harte, San Angelo; R. H. Nichols, Vernon, and the late Wilbur Hawk, Amarillo. And—probably a little late to be news—N. H. Pierce, Menard publisher, was strongly urged to run for Congress.

"Lo, the Poor Editor" from the pen of some unknown writer:

Home Making Hints

Feathers recently displayed by the local home demonstration club were declared by all who viewed them as "extremely beautiful."

Our mattress center will be in operation beginning June 27. We hope to superintend the making of about 60 mattresses. The federal government will furnish 50 pounds of cotton for each mattress.

Game night will be held Friday night, June 14, on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Westerman.

During our meeting June fifth Miss Clara Brown, county home demonstration agent, exhibited new styles in curtains. Each of the designs was beautiful, each one seeming more so than the one shown before. She also discussed ways and means of controlling house flies and root rot among domesticated plants.

Mrs. J. L. Jackson entertained the club with the following members present: Misses, Roy Hayes, R. M. Illingworth, L. Jackson, H. C. Williams, L. W. Westerman, Ida Graves, Lester Barr, Don McCall, C. C. McCall, Jim Barr, L. Everett, Oren Barr, H. G. Whitehorn, J. W. Dunlap, Jeff Clark, Miss J. Wittman and Mrs. C. E. Robertson, a new member whom we are glad to welcome.

Fred Long was in Coleman Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barclay of Brownwood, and daughter, Mrs. Malcolm Steele, of Spur, visited friends in Cross Plains Monday.

A Modern Linerider

on the Range

"Hangin' a pot's like bulldoggin' a steer"

THE modern linerider has a language all his own, much the same as the West Texas cowboy uses a "range" tongue "foreign" to most of us.

These linemen are hanging a pot on a 50-foot Black Diamond. They are using a gut on the bot wires for protection against high voltage juice.

A "pot" is a transformer, fixed high up on a crossarm pole. It reduces voltage to 110 or 220 volts so that electric current can be safely used in your home. A "gut" is the rubber line hose placed around the wires to prevent shock.

Until a worker is experienced enough to perch atop the pole without fear and without holding on with one hand, he is known as a "clumb-some." The man working on the ground, sending up tools and handling paraphernalia is called a "Grunt." "Coon that pole" is the signal to climb a pole when not equipped with climbing hooks or spurs. "Suck on it" means to take up the slack in a new wire being strung. A "johnnie ball" is an insulator. A "nigger-head" is a porcelain fuse cutout around which wires are tied on cross-arms for insulation purposes. "The Bear" is the sobriquet sometimes given "the boss."

Although the lineman's life is fraught with danger, he is a normal citizen... maybe your neighbor. He is one of hundreds of men and women working behind the scenes to help make Electric Service efficient, dependable, and economical here... On him we bestow a title of honor—A Modern Linerider.

This is the fourth of a series of "THUMBNAILED SKETCHES" featuring the work performed by our Linemen in bringing electric service to your home

Character Building Essential To Defense

Roger Babson, the statistician and business writer, endorses the American defense program, and at the same time says that character building is an essential part of any defense measure which might be adopted. He says: "Here in the United States, we need at least fifty thousand airplanes to protect North and South America. If we can produce four million pleasure cars a year, we certainly ought to be able to produce fifty thousand military planes. I am behind those who demand adequate defense for this hemisphere. We must be in a position to give effective aid to Canada and the West Indies whenever they ask for it, without demanding a penny for our services. We, however, must remember that battleships, airplanes, and tanks will not save America any more than these things have thus far saved the Allies. See-way for 36 years is visiting his sister, Mrs. N. G. Borden.

The mattress making center will open next Friday at the gym. Miss Brown will be there to demonstrate in mattress making.

Mrs. Leonard Brossing and children of Lamesa are visiting relatives this week.

It also should be remembered that the airplanes which we are building can be used against us by an INSIDE enemy just as easily as we can use them against an outside foe. This means a character-building campaign should be a definite part of our defense program. Now, more than ever before in the history of warfare, it is vital that the people of the strongest character should furnish the men who are to be trained for this new and all-important branch of our national defense. Let religious and civic leaders who are serious in their prayers re-read this last sentence."

urity cannot be purchased; it comes only through courage, self-sacrifice and discipline.

Highlights On War

The fact that England is considering a mass movement of her women and children to some of her dominions, possibly Canada, gives the world some idea of the stark cruelty of this modern total war. In our day, war has become the most terrifying monster that has ever threatened the extinction of the human race. Nothing, not even the Black Plague of the Middle Ages can compare with it.

If England, under the threat of Germany's assertion that she intends to wipe the British Isles off the map, does move her women and children to some Empire outpost, it will be the biggest exodus of peoples since Moses led some two million men, women and children out of Egypt to escape Egyptian bondage.

Man ought to hang his head in shame in recognition of the fact that after centuries of culture and Christian influence he still has not learned to appreciate the value not human life and individual human values. Evidently the leaders in Germany consider men as so many in order to be moved about at will in the great game of war, not having the right to live as individuals or to express an opinion as to their right to live.

We in America must not take too seriously the argument being advanced that because of our isolation and position geographically this total war could not come to our shores. There are many vulnerable spots in the very fact that we have long followed a policy of isolation. Our best informed military experts have already agreed that we will have to defend the whole Western Hemisphere or else allow ourselves to be open to attack through the weaker Central and South American Republics.

The world seems to have entered a sad stage in its history when millions of mothers and helpless children have to be shunted about to escape certain death at the hands of a ruthless foe bent on total destruction of a whole race of people.

What a sad plight . . . fathers and sons fighting to defend their homes and country while wives, mothers and younger brothers and sisters are sent away to another land for safety from total war!

Neutral nations have been invaded and their priceless public buildings, art treasures, churches and cathedrals . . . destroyed over night by total war.

Here in America, far from the center of this mad maelstrom of death and destruction, our own people, already staggering under tax burden too grievous to be borne, must shoulder an additional four or five billion dollars of taxes to pay against this ruthless total war for preparedness and protection policy.

While France and England and the remnant of what was once Poland, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Norway and Belgium fight on against overwhelming odds, we in America have adopted a policy of hesitation and halting indecisiveness. While France and England cry out for men, but for planes, bombers, tanks, and motorized equipment to supply their plentiful manpower with we stand aloof and talk about preparing ourselves against such a day as France and England now face.

Should we not rather turn our whole industrial system to the task of supplying the French and British with these needed planes, bombers, tanks, motorized equipment and other munitions and supplies of war in order that government of the people, by the people and for the people might not perish from the earth?

If France and England were asked for men, that would be another question. But they are not asking for men. Would it not be wiser to supply them with the planes, bombers, tanks and the like needs and enable them to deal Germany a knockout blow rather than burden our own people with a long range tax burden that may eventually call for men, too? Help now to the Allies might save us from total war later on. Who knows?

Worth Remembering

"I guess you're getting a good thing out of the rich Smith boy, ain't ye, doctor?" "Well, yes; I got a pretty good fee. Why?" "Well, I hope you won't forget that my Willie threw the brick that hit 'im."
