live and die in crowded never to know the genuine life of small town life. And when we often accept our blessings common-places, we folks of rural areas enjoy enormous pleasures.

For instance the good for which this rural people Monday morning. Our Calvin Baker, who lives on the Burkett way, drop with a half dozen slices of hot country ham. Elated and to await the usual lunch he hurried home with the package. Stepping up on porch a neighbor's chicken to scurry from shrub-side the steps. A slight agitation revealed a cache of dozen eggs which the hen "girl friends" had so just left for the Scott table. Such, such good fortune really our city cousins and really proud we live out a mile's bray is not mis-

Cottonwood Schools Now Serving Hot Lunches

Members Cottonwood Home Demonstration Club Have Taken Lead In Proposition

By Mrs. Norman Coffey

One hundred and one hot school lunches were served to pupils and teachers on the opening day of the Hot School Lunch program at Cottonwood school. Serving of the hot lunches began Monday, March 17, and will continue the rest of this school term.

Students derive many advantages from these lunches. Among the advantages are a well-balanced meal, a well prepared meal cooked in sanitary kitchens and served piping hot to the pupils each day. Hot lunches in the Cottonwood school are being served for five cents.

The members of the Cottonwood Home Demonstration club, sponsor of the hot lunch project, wish to express their thanks and appreciation to all who helped prepare the kitchen, to those who sent dishes, towels and utensils and especially to the board of trustees. To the school teachers and to every school patron, help and co-operation in this and surrounding communities, the club extends thanks.

Visitors to the lunch room are always welcome. Mr. R. J. Wiloughby, superintendent is business manager of the project and Mary Beth Palmore is collector.

New License Tags Must Be On Cars Midnight April 1

Pneumonia Fatal To "Grandmother" Warren Thursday

1941 license tags must be on automobiles after midnight April first, announces Mrs. T. W. Briscoe, tax assessor and collector.

For the convenience of late registrants the offices in both Cross Plains and Baird will remain open at noon all next week. The Baird office will stay open until midnight April first. The Cross Plains office plans to close at 10 o'clock the night of April 1, however, if the demand arises it will be kept open later.

In Cross Plains tags are available at the office of Cook Insurance Agency. In Baird they are handled through the tax assessor and collector's office.

In this part of the county registrations have been slower than usual and an abnormally large rush is anticipated the last two or three days of the licensing period.

A number of motorists are already displaying new tags, and all cars appearing on the highway after April 1 must have the plates or be subject to fines, the Review was told yesterday.

FIRST SNOW COMES ON EVE OF SPRING HERE MONDAY MORN

Friday is Official Beginning Of Spring, However, More Cold Weather Is Forecast

Winter waited until three days before the official arrival of Spring to decorate the Cross Plains territory with its emblem—snow—but the blanket of whiteness was soon lifted by rising temperature.

Steepest, changing into light sprinkles of rain and then into heavy flakes of snow put the month of March in the moisture column Monday with .94 inch of precipitation. A heavier flurry of snow fell Tuesday night.

Officially Spring arrives today, Friday, March 21, however, weather observers opine that additional bad weather is forthcoming. The old adage: "If it thunders in February it will frost in April" has a number of local people watching their calendars. Thunder was heard here on the nineteenth and twenty first of February and believers in the old adage fear freezing weather on those dates next month.

A check up yesterday morning revealed that orchardmen believe the fruit crop is virtually undamaged. Although the weather stood below 32 for several hours early in the week, they point out that the freeze was extremely wet and is expected to have done very little damage.

12 FAMILIES MOVING HERE NEED HOUSING

12 families will be here within the next few days searching for desirable living quarters, the Review was authentically told yesterday.

The people are employees, and their families, of the contractor awarded the road project West of town on which work is to begin within the immediate future.

Spanish-American War Veteran Laid To Rest Saturday

John H. Chapman, 73, who lived four miles West of Cross Plains on the Coleman highway, died early Friday morning in a veterans hospital at Legion, Texas, where he had been taken five days before. Funeral services were conducted from the local Church of Christ and interment was made in the Cross Plains cemetery.

Mr. Chapman, a long time resident of this section, had been in declining health for some time and his condition had been known to be extremely critical for several weeks.

Mr. Chapman, who was a veteran of the Spanish-American war, is survived by his widow, one son and one daughter.

Pall bearers at the funeral Saturday afternoon were: Fred W. Stacy, Olan Wilson, Ed Henderson, Harlan Lacy, Doyle Neeb and Ed C. Maves.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Higginbothams, Cross Plains.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Broocke Eubank.

CROSS CUT MAN DIES IN BROWNWOOD EARLY WEDNESDAY MORNING

Elbert Henson, 75, who lived three miles South of Cross Cut, died in a Brownwood hospital Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, following a major surgery.

Burial was to be made in the Cross Plains cemetery Thursday afternoon, besides the grave of the deceased man's wife, who preceded him in death by several years.

Survivors include several children, relatives and a host of friends.

The deceased was a brother-in-law of Bert Brown, local peace officer.

J. C. Shockey, newly elected Callahan county agent, will assume duties of the office on April first, replacing Ross Brison, resigned.

Mr. Shockey is a graduate of Texas A&M College and a former south-paw passer on the Aggie football machine. More recently he has been assistant county agent of Brown county, and by virtue of this is already rather widely known in Cross Plains area.

Mrs. Mary Thompson, of California and formerly of Cross Plains visited Mrs. W. J. Gray here last week.

Walter Westerman and Neel Dilard were business visitors in Baird Thursday morning of last week.

Donald Flahie left Wednesday for Missouri where he has employment.

YOUTH PASSES NAVY TEST AFTER FAILING 11 TIMES

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Robert Gleason tried 11 times to join the navy without success because of his small chest.

The 17 year old youngster continued breathing exercises.

"The most persistent applicant I ever met," commented Chief Pharmacist Mate Emory H. Pitchford as he passed Gleason on the 12th trip to the recruiting station.

Mrs. W. J. Gray has returned home from Clyde where she was at the bedside of her grand daughter for three days. The little girl is now greatly improved and completely out of danger.

The hog industry brought Texas farmers nearly $50,000,000 in 1940. The sale of pork products amounted to more than $3,000,000 and the sale of hogs for breeding purposes amounted to more than $18,000,000.

NOMINATIONS MUST BE MADE SATURDAY FOR TWO ALDERMEN

No Hats Yet In Ring For Two Places As School Trustee Of Cross Plains District

Although Saturday is the last day in which candidates for city office may be nominated in time to have their names printed on the official ballot, neither of the two aldermen whose tenures expire nor any suggested successors had been filed with city secretary L. W. Tyson, yesterday at noon.

The city election, at which time two aldermen are to be named, will be held Tuesday, April 1. Tenures of T. E. Bann and L. W. Placke expire at that time.

Saturday Is Deadline

Mr. Tyson pointed out that to nominate a man or woman for the office a petition bearing at least 10 signatures of qualified voters must be filed at his office by five o'clock Saturday afternoon. The two city "dads" are to be elected for two year terms.

Voting in the city election is to be at the water and gas office Tuesday, April 1, with J. C. Watson acting as presiding judge.

New Plan For School

Practically the same situation exists on the school board where terms of Jack Lacy, president, and Ben Atwood are about to expire. Petitions of nomination for school trustee must be filed with County Judge B. H. Freeland by Thursday, March 27, in order to have candidates names printed on the official ballot. Filing the petition of nomination with the County Judge is somewhat different from the procedure ordinarily here. In the past petitions have been filed with the secretary of the school board but due to the fact that schoolastics fell below the 500 mark—497 to be exact—last year the filing of candidates' names with the County Judge is mandatory to comply with statutes governing the election. (This is explained on page 77 of the volume entitled Public School Laws of the State of Texas issued 1939 through the authorization of L. A. Woods, superintendent of public instruction.)

The school voting is to be held at the Cross Plains Motor Co., Inc., building with Sam Barr presiding on April fifth.

TOM CROSS OPENS DOWN TOWN TRACTOR DISPLAY

For the convenience of farmers Tom Cross, Case Tractor dealer, has opened a down town show-room in the back end of the Review building, and now has on display three new tractors with equipment attached.

Mr. Cross invites farmers who are now using tractors, regardless of what make, or farmers who are interested in tractor farming, to drop by and see these new Case models.

PLAY AT CROSS CUT POSTPONED ONE WEEK

The three act play originally scheduled to be held in the Cross Cut school auditorium Friday night of this week has been postponed due to inclement weather until some time next week, a date to be announced within the next few days.

Members of the cast have been rehearsing regularly and an interesting production is promised. The presentation is under sponsorship of the P. T. A.

Mrs. Leonard B. Lewis, of Baird, visited in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Settle here last week.

Offhand Observations

"What's in a name?"

A rose by any other name would smell as sweet. Sometimes, we ask ourselves the same question. Men live, do their bits, pass away and are soon forgotten. We are told, however, that the good that men do, lives after them. This reminds of a man about whom you and I studied in school, whose good deeds are on record, but whose name we never knew. His little poem entitled, "The Village Blacksmith," by our own beloved American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

It is the story of a real man who lived and experienced all the vicissitudes incident to the life of a laboring man. He was truly a great man, although his name is not known to the public. In the poem Mr. Longfellow gives us much food for thought. He depicts many noble attributes of soul which lead to strong, virile manhood, and set an excellent example for the blacksmith's children and others who read about him to follow.

In the first stanza the poet describes his appearance, thus: "The smith, a mighty man is he, With large and sinewy hands; And the muscles of his brawny arm Are strong as iron bands."

Now, that is the description of a strong man, but not necessarily, a great one. He is mighty in a physical sense, which indicates that he has cared for his splendid body, the dwelling place of his soul, while he lives on earth.

Reading a bit further, we find information concerning his character and habits. "His hair is crisp and black and long;

His face is like the tan; His brow is wet with honest sweat; He earns whate'er he can; And he looks the whole world in the face.

For he owes not any man; My, what an array of virtues! A willing worker, earning whate'er he can, honest in his dealing with his follow-men, paying his current bills as they become due and being able to hold his head high and look the entire world of people in the face, on an equality with the best of them. Taking the above mentioned attributes as a standard of excellence, how many of us are able to qualify as well as the village blacksmith? * * *

But that is not all: "He goes on Sunday to the church And sits among his boys; He hears the parson pray and preach;

He hears his daughter's voice Singing in the village choir; And it makes his heart rejoice." Here, we find the true source of his greatness. He acknowledges God as the Supreme Giver of all good things. Realizing his own need of divine guidance and assistance in rearing his fine family of boys and girl, he seeks to follow in the footsteps of the Lowly Nazarene, who, according to the Bible, "went into the synagogue, as his custom was, on the Sabbath day."

We note that he did not merely send his children to church. He did not say "Go, children," as so many of us do, but led the way, admonishing, "Come, children," instead.

And his children behaved in church, during the services. How do we know that? Simply, because the blacksmith heard the sermon. He was there, had it been necessary for him to keep those boys straight during services. He sat by them and that was sufficient. * * *

Moreover, our modest hero was loving and tender of heart. His wife had passed on to her reward, and the poet tells us that his daughter's voice reminded him of her mother's, which is now heard singing in Paradise; and that he needs wipe a tear out of his eyes as he is thus reminded of her. So he carries on, striving to rear their children according to the plans which they, two, had made together. * * *

Mr. Longfellow sums up these characteristics, by adding that he is also happy, and rejoices, at times. "Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing, Onward through life he goes; Each morning sees some task begun; Each evening sees it close; Something attempted, something done,

Has earned a night's repose." What does it matter whether the name of this good citizen and faith-or was Brown, Smith or Jones? He has a name which is recorded in Heaven and we have the record of his exemplary life on earth. What a Man! * * *

"What you see speaks so loudly, I cannot hear what you say," says one inspired writer. The silent example of a true Christian citizen who attends faithfully to his own business and is seen regularly at the house of worship on the Sabbath, is worth more than a multitude of loud speakers of the "son-of-a-gun" and "fucking cynical" variety." And the story of our village blacksmith, whose name we do not know, will continue to be told until the principles of right living and right thinking take primacy in the hearts and lives of mankind.

BRIGHT KITCHENS MAKE HOUSE WORK MORE ENJOYABLE

H. D. Ladies Tell Ways They Have Used To Add Life And Color To Kitchens

Mrs. W. A. (Will) Young of the Enterprise Home Demonstration Club says that careful planning is the one thing that helped her make her kitchen the convenient, attractive place that it is. Mrs. Young improved her kitchen last year by completely remodeling it as a club project. A scrap book of kitchen articles and pictures helps one to crystallize her desires and needs. Mrs. Young thinks that careful planning keeps the old adage, "Haste Makes Waste" from working.

Mrs. W. E. McCollum, whole farm demonstrator of the Enterprise community says that a sink will save a home maker many steps. It has been estimated that in a year home-maker who carries water in her spends at least 30 to 35 union days carrying water. Mrs. McCollum added running water and a sink to her kitchen and believes that it is worth any effort to add this convenience to any kitchen.

Mrs. Lester Farmer of the Eula home demonstration club, remodeled her kitchen last year from a dark dreary room into a bright, cheerful place. If the saying is true "Man is what he lives in" and the average housewife spends 70 percent of her time in the kitchen, it pays to strive to make the kitchen a bright and cheerful place. Attractive surroundings have a very definite influence on our dispositions and outlook on life, so Mrs. Farmer believes that it pays to plan so as to have a kitchen that has a cheerful atmosphere. To do this, she would suggest the use of light colors for walls, ceiling and woodwork.

Mrs. Clyde Johnston of the Eula Home Demonstration Club improved her kitchen last year and believes that cheerfulness of the kitchen may be helped by adding light, airy, gray kitchen curtains. Hers were made of unbleached domestic with an edge of tomato red print.

Mrs. Doyle Rhodes of Dressy Home Demonstration Club improved her kitchen last year by refinishing it. She believes that that because the food for the family is prepared in the kitchen, it is most important that this room be kept immaculate.

Mrs. Jim Yarbrough of the Union Home Demonstration Club says that time and thought need to go into the selection, arrangement, and working heights of the kitchen furnishings, will do much toward making any kitchen easy to keep clean.

Mrs. Don McCall of the Cross Plains Home Demonstration Club says that something growing in the kitchen makes it a better place to work in, ivy, jew, or a geranium will bring the kitchen to life.

Jack Russell was in Brownwood the first of the week.

Joe Pierce was a business visitor in Baird last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kemper and son, Alvin, were in Fort Worth Sunday, where they attended the stock show.

Mrs. Fred Cutbirth has returned from a short visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Bonner, in Anson.

THE ADVENTURES OF REDDY KILOWATT

Dear Friends:
I didn't know what to do, the day those toughies laid their plans to steal Mr. Brown's car. But the idea came to me..

I went to the tool box and got wires and insulators and a hammer and some screws. It doesn't take much to run a line to the garage..

Then I got one of the outdoor flood lamps and hooked it up. I smiled as I finished the job because..

That night those thugs were foiled!
I thought: "Why doesn't everyone depend on good light to protect their home and property?" It's the cheapest insurance you can buy.
Yours for better light—safer living,

Boom Callahan Lady For Vice President Of 7th H. D. District

Mrs. Jim Barker, Callahan county Home Demonstration council chairman, has been presented to District 7 as a candidate for vice-president. The Enterprise Home Demonstration Club endorsed Mrs. Barker. Later, the Home Demonstration Council, where 15 clubs were represented, endorsed her candidacy. The Home Demonstration club members of the county feel that as a result of Mrs. Barker's numerous activities, in home demonstration work, that she is capable of serving District 7 well in the capacity as vice-president. Her experience in various phases of home demonstration work has been to serve as president, home food supply demonstrator, recreation leader, and council delegate of her local club. She is serving her second year as council chairman; served as county finance committee and the exhibit committee. She has attended district meetings and State Meetings of the Texas Home Demonstration Association which makes her thoroughly familiar with the type of work in the association. She has attended A. and M. Farmer's Short Course. She has served willingly and helpfully in the cotton mattress program, being county finance chairman, community chairman, and she took charge of the program when the agent was out of the county in September, October, and November. She has helped with the Callahan County Farm and Home radio programs over KRBC, Abilene. Mrs. Barker is one who understands people and has the ability to get the best of cooperation out of the ones she works with. In October of last year, when the agent was not in the county, she got the exhibit committee together and made plans to take individual club exhibits and a county exhibit to the West Texas Fair. The county exhibit took first place, and two clubs took exhibits—When plans were being made to go to the District meeting last year in April, Mrs. Barker set the goal for Callahan County Home Demonstration club member attendance at 100. One hundred and six attended, the largest delegation from any county to attend. These things are reviewed only to show that Mrs. Barker does get cooperation and that she is a doer.

The Enterprise Home Demonstration Club is happy to present Mrs. Jim Barker as an efficient executive a useful club member and neighbor, a charming wholesome character, and a stimulating individual who has initiative and is not afraid of work.

The Irishman speaks in amusing contradictions as shown by his remark about the flea, "When ye put yer finger on him, he ain't there" or his description of a frog, "When he walks, he jumps and when he stands up, he sits down."

Thomas Jefferson once remarked that no system will work of itself—that its efficiency depends upon the individuals who administer it. With this observation of the founder of the Democratic Party in mind, an independent oil man comments on the proposal for a separate oil and gas commission: "How could you expect to get three appointive commissioners better qualified by experience than the three members of the State Railroad Commission? Leaders of the move do not deny that Col. Ernest O. Thompson is one of the best informed men on oil in the world nor can they deny that Jerry Sadler learned the industry 'the hard way,' as a worker on the derrick floor, in laying pipelines and as a refinery worker before becoming a successful independent operator. And Judge Olin Culberson, admittedly an authority on gas, is also fully conversant with oil. So here you have three men, who know the oil industry up one side and down the other, and they are working in harmony for the good of Texas. It's an old baseball maxim, 'Don't break up a winning team.'"

An Irish philosopher said, "Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all possible misfortunes is generally followed by a greater." A salesman said, of some window sashes: "These sashes will last you forever; and, after that, if you have no further use for them, you can sell them as old iron." A lover said, "It's a great comfort to be alone, especially when your sweetheart is wid' ye," a debater, upholding ancient architecture as compared with the modern, demanded, "Show me a single modern building that has lasted as long as the ancient ones?"

Then there was the Irishman who enlisted in the 33rd regiment because he wanted to be near his brother, who was in the 34th. And there was the inlander who visited a port and stood for hours looking at a ship's anchor because "I want to see the fellow who swings that pick." And there was an Irishman who saw a hunter shoot a duck high overhead and the bird spun over and plunged to the ground, whereupon Pat said, "Ye wasted yer powder; the fall would have killed it." And an Irish jury brought in this verdict, "We find that the man who stole the mare is not guilty." Hearing that a man bought a marble coffin, Mike exclaimed, "Shure and a marble coffin would last a man a life time."

Some son of the Emerald Isle summed it up with, "Not more than half the lies they tell about the Irish are true."

PLENTY OF NOISE

Early Texas wasn't very quiet, according to records at the University of Texas. Travelers described "hideous howls" of alligators on river banks, hoots and howls of owls and wolves, "silvery notes" of whippoorwills, and the mosquito's "tuneful song."

SAY IT IN AMERICAN

Here are ten foreign words and phrases that you see almost daily. Have you a clear knowledge of their literal meanings? Write down your definitions. Then look up the answers and the approximate pronunciations. Six out of ten correct answers is a fair score; eight, good; more—excellent! On your mark, get set, GO.

- Gloivezza: In Italy, they draft them when they leave the cradle.
- Mozo: Some etymologists say that is what started our American word "bozo."
- Putsch: How the Nazi party got its start.
- Nolo contendere: Who pleads this means, "Let's not argue."
- Passo Romano: Stepping high in the land of Il Duce.
- Reich: There have been three so far, and many hope for a fourth.
- Sahib: The Hindus call white people this to make them feel good.
- Petis fours: It would take a lot of them to fill you up.
- Kremlin: The most famous one is Stalin's office.
- Banzai!: After an official speech, all good Japanese yell this or else!

The question in the physiology examination read: "How may one obtain a good posture." "Keep the cows off it and let it grow up a while."

Today American granaries are full; big crops, low prices, and a profitless farm situation discourages the farmer, and this in itself is a warning.

LIFE AND BASEBALL

Life is, in some respects like a game of baseball. If you take big chances and win the crowd cheers you. If you take a chance and fail, you are out and the crowd cheers the next player up. In baseball one can't steal second base and keep one foot on first base. One can't follow the same tactics and succeed in business or make much progress either.

Life may be like a game of baseball but State Press, who has tried both, doesn't see much kinship in them. As a baseball player S. P. was pretty good. He could catch a high fly from third base, with the sun in his eyes, four times out of five. When he missed one the cheer leaders grieved more than he did. Now, when he misses a big chance he grieves more than the spectators do. When you hit a two-bagger in baseball and roost safely on the second sack you feel that you have accomplished something and when you complete the circuit on somebody else's two-bagger you feel like a hero. In life you hardly ever make a two-base hit. You swing wildly and miss. Sometimes you get to first base by running at a dangerous speed and then the side goes out before you get another chance to run. In other words, life is full of slow starts and short runs. You are always hoping to make a hit, then foul out. But there's this about life, a part better than a baseball game. Nobody bets on you in life, therefore you don't have to extend yourself in another's interest. You can strike out any number of times in life and nobody will razz you—just ignore you. There is comfort in that—just in being yourself and nobody else's prospect. In life you can be mediocre or worse and not offend anybody in particular. In a baseball game you have to please everybody but the opposition.

Fort Worth Cats Have Pot Of Gold In Cross Plains Boy Says Baseball Scribe

The following story written by Lorin McMullen, Fort Worth sports writer, appeared in the Star Telegram Tuesday morning.

It is reproduced hereunder:

It may be he'll never climb above the Class D leagues, or he could be worth $100,000 on the open market within three years.

That's Bill Gray, giant 21-year-old righthanded pitcher whom the Cats picked up for precisely nothing last Fall in Manager Bob Linton's school and who is learning the tricks here in Spring training so fast Linton and Business Manager Cecil Coombs are suspecting that their luck has changed.

Of course, they're too experienced to hope that the boy will burn up the Texas League, or any league, this season. They realize only too well that a million things can happen to the kid to keep him from being a good pitcher.

But you can not look at a lean, rugged, loose-jointed, 6-foot-5 3-4 inch kid with all the necessary requirements of speed, agility and proper mental attitude without dreaming that here may be another Walter Johnson or Dizzy Dean. And Messrs. Linton and Coombs know only too well that many of the stars have looked 10 times worse than Bill Gray when they were 21 years old and hardly knew how to stand on the rubber.

He's Tall and Fast

Gray is as tall as a house and when he strides off that pitcher's mound he's halfway to the plate. He has a natural overhand delivery which has been developed surprisingly since the first day of Spring practice here.

At first, the kid seemed a bit timid about stretching out to get the full benefit of his long stride and tremendous reach. At suggestion of Umpire Rollie Naylor and Ed Greer, Gray began to bring the ball from way back yonder and followed it through from as high as he could reach.

"Tall as you are," Taylor said, "it ought to be easy to pitch that ball down hill."

Gray stretched a bit went through Naylor's suggested motion and found it loose, easy and natural. The batters became more cautious. Without even trying to throw hard, Gray's pitches were going in there pretty fast.

The boy can move around, too. He's quick to catch on to tricks about coming off the mound in order to be ready to field a bunt. When it's necessary, those long steps carry him over to cover first base in a hurry. And he's not bad at all at cutting the tosses from the first baseman.

The old-timers around the camp say that now they're just waiting for the boy to get in shape, so they can see how hard he can throw. They have an idea that ball's going to look pretty small.

In his first test in a game Sunday, Gray lived up to all expectations.

Gray, of course, has no idea he's much of a prospect. He probably wishes he wasn't so big and clumsy so he wouldn't seem to be so much in the way of everybody.

Ex-McMurry Athlete

But he wants to be a baseball player, which is one of the good big marks in his favor. Bill left McMurry College last year to go try out with the Pampa West Texas-New Mexico League club. He'd had a broken finger which had prevented him from working out, but he did not wish to spoil his chances by saying anything about it so, on his first day in practice, he pitched to the hitters and pulled a shoulder muscle which never mended. He was terribly wild and did no good at all. He started only one game and finally was dropped from the squad.

Bill went home to Cross Plains and played no more baseball until he saw in the paper that Linton had invited every young fellow in West Texas to come to Fort Worth for the Cats' school.

Bob was struck with Gray's size and his easy motion from the start and decided that he and the catcher, Wildon Hill, were the prize prospects. Both were signed to contracts and brought to the Spring training camp. Bob has a hunch it was one of the smartest things he ever did.

Sam Scilling, manager of the Lamesa club of the West Texas-New Mexico League, can use some of the ball players who were planning on the season's work in the disbanded East Texas League. Lamesa lost four players through the draft and, in addition, had several other openings.

TELEPHONE OPERATOR SENSES TRAGEDY, SAVES LIVES OF TWO PEOPLE

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — A telephone operator who realized "something was wrong" when only the sound of a falling body came over an open telephone line is credited with saving the lives of two Bakersfield residents.

Betty Kruger, operator, received a call, but after placing it realized the person placing the call did not respond. Miss Kruger notified her superintendent, Mrs. Trixie Walton, who recognized the number called as the office of a doctor.

Mrs. Walton listened to the phone of the party calling. "I heard faint room noises," she said, "and then the sound of a gasp, followed by the thud of a falling body."

A resident across the street from the house was notified and the neighbor smashed a window in the house. A man and a woman had been overcome by gas escaping from leaky water heater.

CIRCLE 2 OF BAPTIST W. M. U. TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON

Circle number two of the Baptist W.M.U. will meet Monday afternoon, March 24, at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Earl Horton in the Southwest part of town. Each member is requested to bring a brief report on some current event.

It is hard to reconcile a present surplus with a future shortage. A man's pocket bulging with money makes it hard for him to realize that the money may be gone in a few months, and that he may face a period when begging a dime is a vital necessity.

BRIGHTER COLORS MAY END SLEEPY AIR IN CLASSROOMS

NEW WILMINGTON, Del.—Classrooms at Westminster College will be done over in colors like salmon, apricots and "cool green" in an experiment to relieve the monotony of drab walls for students and thus keep sleepy ones awake.

Moving figure in the plan is Prof. Harold J. Brennan, head of the art department, who believes college and university classrooms are the "last citadel of drabness" and should be "individualized."

"There would be fewer dozing and sleepy students if classrooms were made attractive, instead of being merely 50 chairs surrounded by 80 feet of blackboards and bare walls," Brennan said.
