PICNIC COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Defense Bonds Go Like Hot-Cakes Saturday

POST OFFICE HERE SELLS $3,500 OF DEFENSE SECURITIES

Citizens Respond To Mayor's Decree Exhausting Local Supply Of Smaller Bonds

Responding to a special day set aside by their Mayor for the purchase of national defense bonds, Cross Plains people marched to the local post office Saturday and bought $3,500 worth of government securities...

Virtually all of the bonds were in small denominations, indicating that a large number of people responded to Mayor C. S. Martin's appeal for "Cross Plains to rally to the cause of our country by purchasing a share in America".

Largest defense bond sale at the local post office to date has been $1,000.00. Like all other post offices of its size the Cross Plains office had only a limited number of bonds Saturday, due to the fact that the staff had no advance warning of the special day being designated, and the supply of small denomination bonds was exhausted shortly after nine o'clock.

Postal officials continued, however, to accept the money and issue receipts for bonds, which were delivered Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Old timers point out that during the Liberty Loan and Victory Bond drives of the World War that Cross Plains always exceeded its quota, and the enthusiastic response given to the Mayor's decree Saturday evidenced again that there has been no lessening in the favor for Americanism by people of the Cross Plains trade territory.

HOUSTON FAMILY TO TAKE SETTLE PLACE

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tilley and sons, of Houston, were in Cross Plains Monday afternoon and rented the J. L. Settle residence in the Southeast part of town. They will move here within the near future.

Mr. Tilley is with a national syrup manufacturing concern and was recently transferred to the Brownwood district. In making his rounds he reports that he was especially pleased with Cross Plains and since this city is so near the center of his territory he decided to locate his family here.

Alta Chambers of Coleman visited friends here Saturday.

CITY TO SPEND $2,000 FOR STREET MAINTENANCE

City officials are planning to spend in the neighborhood of $2,000 for the purchase of a street maintainer, it was reported yesterday. PETE GARVIN GOES TO HOSPITAL AT TEMPLE

E. C. (Pete) Garvin, who lives 11 miles Northwest of town, left Monday morning for Temple to go through a clinic. Pete explained that he had recently been having a number of teeth pulled and hadn't felt his usual self and that he was just going down to get things straightened out.

Fast Thinking and Lesson Taught In School Saves Local Man's Life

Artificial respiration taught in Cross Plains schools is credited with having saved a man's life here last week, according to a local physician. Ben Keener, who lives in the Northeast part of town, was knocked unconscious by a bolt of lightning which struck a radio aerial. Paul Smith 15 year old high school junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith, who lives nearby, rushed over and administered artificial respiration while others went for a doctor. Mr. Keener was unconscious for nearly an hour. Physicians say that the timely application of artificial respiration likely saved his life. Mr. Keener has virtually recovered from the mishap, save for the fact that he is still extremely sore and weak.

PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT PROMISES MUCH FUN

"No Man's Paradise," a three act comedy-drama to be presented in the high school auditorium here Friday night, June 20, by members of the local home demonstration club, is expected to attract an unusually large crowd. Rehearsals have been going forward for the past several weeks and rumors have leaked out that the production will hit the peak in comedy, and figuratively roll the audience in the aisles with laughter.

The play is centered around an old maid who takes a group of young ladies to a resort hotel in the foothills of Wyoming to study the wonders of nature. Into that chosen realm no man is said to have set foot within at least 10 years.

Leading roles are taken by Mrs. L. W. Westerman, who plays the part of Mrs. Honora Hassard, the chaperone; Mrs. Ida Graves as Mrs. Pfeffer, the matronly innkeeper; Mrs. J. W. Dunlap as Caribona, the colored maid; and Mrs. J. C. Huntington, Mrs. Fonia Worthly, Mrs. Oran Barr, Mrs. C. E. Robertson, Mrs. Chas. Taylor, Mrs. Grady Whitehorn and Mrs. H. C. Williams, the young ladies who make the trip into Wyoming to study nature.

SUMMER PROJECTS WELL UNDERWAY AT PIONEER

Pioneer Future Homemakers have their summer projects well underway. The girls have chosen a variety of projects. Some are gardening and canning, while others are improving the yards and making the home more livable. Clothing construction seems to be quite popular also. Planning, preparing and serving meals is a project that some enjoy. Others are studying child care and personal improvement.

2 VACANCIES LEFT AS TEACHER QUILTS AND ANOTHER HIRED

Cross Plains High School Is Without Principal After Weldon Chambers Drafted

M. B. Hair, of Big Spring, was employed by the board of trustees for Cross Plains schools in session Monday night to teach English and math in the local high school next year. Mr. Hair will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Jimmy Settle, who recently relinquished her post here.

Two vacancies are yet to be filled before the faculty of 29 will be complete for the beginning of next school term. The place of Weldon Chambers, high school principal, who was drafted into military service is unfilled. Too, a teacher is needed to assist in the high school English department and possibly handle one or two English classes in grammar school, reports Superintendent-elect Leo Varner.

Mrs. Settle who resigned her place with the Cross Plains school after making a very enviable record is now attending North Texas State Teachers College with her husband at Denton. Both are taking Summer courses. Mr. Settle was recently elected to teach Science in Baird high school next year.

Mr. Hair, employed by the board Monday night, is unmarried.

Elliott Bryant Weds Brownwood Girl On Monday

Marriage of Miss Nelda McLure, of Brownwood, and R. Elliott Bryant, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bryant, of Cross Plains, was solemnized 4:30 Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. McLure in Brownwood. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Leslie Boone, Methodist pastor.

Attending the couple were Tom Bryant, Jr., of Cross Plains, brother of the groom and Miss Genevieve McLure, of Brownwood, sister of the bride. Members of the two families were the only guests.

The couple will make their home in Brownwood, where Mr. Bryant is engaged in the nursery business.

Couple Smile In Face Of Ill Luck

Bad luck comes in bunches but Cross Plains has one couple that refuses to let misfortune dim their usual good spirits. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rich, who live in the Southwest part of town, continue to smile in the face of hardship. About six weeks ago, Mr. Rich was struck by a hit and run driver and sustained a broken leg and other injuries. He is still confined to bed and will possibly be for quite some time yet. Then Saturday, Mrs. Rich, slipped and fell, breaking an arm. With such indomitable spirits, however, both are shouldering their ill-fortune courageously and recovering normally.

JUNK CARS WILL BE SHIPPED FROM HERE

J. C. Huntington announces that he has closed a deal for the chassis of virtually all old junked cars in Cross Plains and that he has contracted for a baler to come here in a week or 10 days to bale the old bodies.

Mr. Huntington has sold the frames for junk iron to one concern and all the other junk metal to another. The old bodies will be baled into an 18 inch square.

Three crews, of five men each, will run the baling equipment both day and night. Possibly six or eight local men will be employed to help the crew that comes here with the baler, which is now busy at Breckenridge.

It is pointed out that the removing of all the old junk cars will make the highway coming into Cross Plains from the West much more sightly.

HAMILTON MAN BUYS RENFRO FARM HERE

W. A. Durham, of Hamilton, has purchased the Oscar Renfro place, three miles West of town on highway 204. In the transaction Mr. Renfro secured ownership of a machine shop at Hamilton, formerly owned by Mr. Durham. There is 80 acres in the farm bought by Mr. Durham.

Famous Snake Bite Story Exploded By Army Officers

Army medical officers have exploded the current rumor in Cross Plains and Brownwood that a soldier was bitten by a rattlesnake on the (a) face, (b) ear, neck, during VIII Army Corps maneuvers, dying promptly and horribly.

The officers, both high ranking field medical officers as well as members of the Camp Bowie station hospital staff, wearily explained that there were absolutely no cases of snakebite, and that the snakebite scare is as much a part of field exercises as umpires, field kitchens and chiggers.

Officers traced down the man supposedly bitten by the snake and found him hale, hearty and perfectly free of snakebites. When the 45th Division was engaged in exercises with the Second, the old reliable story of the sleeping man bitten on the head by a rattlesnake enjoyed great popularity in the Abilene area. Same rumor at Fort Bliss exercises. Ditto at all others. One officer said the Freudian theory explains why some persons, as a joke, originate such snake stories. Another rumor being tossed around among soldiers and civilians is the gruesome story of the soldier, allergic to chiggers, who was bitten so severely he was sent to the station hospital, his legs swollen to twice their normal size. No such cases were received at the hospital, but one poison ivy victim was reported and medical officers said this man probably was the one mistaken for the chigger case.

BOB HURST SHOWS ENGAGED TO PLAY 60TH CELEBRATION

Volunteer Fire Department Is Again Serving As Sponsor; Dates Are July 10, 11, 12

With Cross Plains' sixtieth annual Picnic celebration only three weeks in the future all committees are functioning at a rapid pace to have arrangements in shape by opening day July 10, when the festivities are to be officially opened with an elaborate downtown street parade.

Carnival entertainment will be furnished this year by Bob Hurst Shows, possibly the largest concern of its type to be booked for the local celebration since the hey-day era of the early twenties.

Committees appointed to handle the various phases of the celebration are as follows: Concessions: Curren E. (Pat) Allen, LeRoy Butler, Lindsey T. Tyson.

Entertainment: L. F. Foster, Clyde Walker, T. Y. Woody and Roy Lee Little.

Advertising: T. Bailey Wilson, Ira Crow and C. C. Holdridge.

Members of the advertising committee announce that a good-will booster trip will be made over the territory several days before the celebration to advertise the event and officially invite citizens of other communities to be in attendance.

Sponsors of Cross Plains sixtieth annual Picnic, possibly the oldest celebration of its kind in Texas, are the Volunteer Fire Department, which has posted a $25 cash prize for the winner of an amateur contest to be held each of the three nights.

All Barr's Bakery Products Now Have Important Vitamin

All Barr's Bakery products are now enriched with the new vitamin B-1, it was announced yesterday by C. W. Barr, owner of the firm.

"Due to the fact that all loaves of bread, buns and rolls are now enriched with this health giving vitamin, which has been approved and recommended by the committee on foods of the American Medical Association, we have discontinued the practice of including the B-1 wrapper on the various loaves of bread. However, any loaf of bread which has our wrapper now contains this all important vitamin," he said.

The Cross Plains bakery was one of the first baking concerns to adopt the enriched B-1 formula, which was worked out by one of the nation's leading yeast manufacturers, however, the formula has since been adopted by virtually all of Texas better baking concerns.

Local users, by their increased purchases, have expressed a hearty approval to the enriched bread, point out retailers here.

'KING OF BEASTS' TITLE BELONGS TO BOTH LION, TIGER

Does the lion actually deserve his "king of beasts" title? Among explorers, big-game hunters and animal trainers there constantly is raging a fierce argument, with many an authority holding out in favor of the tiger.

The question was recently put to an authority previously unquoted, Osa Johnson, the world's foremost woman explorer who has spent half of her life in the jungle lairs of the two animals. The dramatic high-lights of that exciting life are shown in "I Married Adventure," Columbia thrill-film comes to Liberty Thursday of next week.

The pretty, young woman was asked on one of her frequent visits to civilization, "In a battle for supremacy, which would win—the lion or the tiger?"

Her answer was surprising. "Neither would win," she said, "or both because they are so evenly matched and the vanquished would be sure mortally to wound the victor."

"Most people who argue the point," Mrs. Johnson continued, "overlook a very simple fact. The lion is a native of Africa and the tiger of Asia. Consequently, they never come together in actual life—probably a good thing. It is from seeing the two together in captivity, where animals behave much differently, that people get the impression they have the same habitat and consequently are natural enemies."

"A single combat," she concluded, "would prove nothing, except that the tiger has sharper, stronger claws, developed by climbing trees, something that the lion cannot do. The tiger is the deadliest hit-and-run killer in the jungle, but the lion seems to have more sheer strength and power."

DEAR FRIENDS:

On Saturday morning after breakfast in bed . . . perhaps I should explain that each morning at 8:15 one of the chambermaids knocked on my door and entered softly drawing back the heavy curtains from the window and letting in the hazy sunlight! Later came another maid with my breakfast on a huge silver tray—since I drank only coffee, after about the third day the impressive silver service was exchanged for a smaller one of rose-sprigged china. I was allowed to dress without a personal maid's service since I had told my hostess I wouldn't know what to do with one . . . and in any case, the maid would have been shocked at the array of silk lingerie I dangled from my hand and hung each night in that richly marbled bathroom! The maid who brought breakfast always marveled that I slept under a strain for fear I wouldn't wake up early enough some morning to snatch those panties down before some maid entered the bathroom!

After breakfast this first Saturday morning, we embarked upon a sight-seeing trip — my hostess, four of her grandchildren, the English nurse, the chauffeur and I. The nurse sat out in front of the limousine with the chauffeur but we others were snugly tucked under two great fur rugs in the rear. The chauffeur doesn't even leave you to pull up your own robe. He kneels on the floor of the car and most solicitously tucks the rugs properly. One night when it was snowing when we came into the car I noticed a most unusual-looking object. It looked like a shallow fur-lined wastebasket, quilted felt on the outside and snugly fur inside . . . and that, my dears, is for your feet on cold nights! I was the one who rated the foot-warmer and James carefully lifted up my number six B's, set them gently into the fur basket, tucked the robe around all, and away I went. The glass slipper could never have been so enchanting!

Our first stop was at the office of Mrs. Hammond's eldest son-in-law who is president of the United Steamship Lines. His 12-year-old daughter had never visited his office before so this was an especial treat for her. We were a little late and the child just missed the opportunity to talk with her mother who was cruising in the West Indies. Her father had held the transatlantic telephone till the last minute, hoping we would get there before they quit talking. His office was in a tall building at the very tip end of Manhattan Island and commanded a sweeping view of the harbor where great ships lay at rest. I remember especially seeing the Normandie which is now interned. Mr. F. had intended to join his wife on the southern cruise but his huge passenger liner the Manhattan—do you remember—had just stuck on a sand bar off the coast of Florida and he meant to stay on the job till it was released. A huge map of the world covered one wall and it was stuck full of named push buttons representing boats of this company and showing constantly where each was at the particular moment. The small daughter hearing our conversation, asked, "Where is the Manhattan, Daddy?" He smiled grimly and replied, "In Hades right now, darling!" I can easily see what he meant since my husband told me that one of his own insurance companies paid three million dollars for damage done to the hull of that ship!

—and, of course, much of the loss in a case like that isn't even covered.

We crossed the street from the office building to go to the Aquarium which is on the very end of the island. This part of town is called the Battery. The Aquarium has been mentioned much in the papers recently because it is to be demolished in New York City's campaign for beautification. The sentimental regret this for it is perhaps the oldest building there. It was formerly a fort and then Castle Garden where Jenny Lind sang. Right now it is an ugly building that certainly looks its age and smells as if it had long since been emptied of sardines and left in the sink unwashed. But the fish are fascinating . . . every kind that I ever heard of and hundreds that nobody ever heard of! I even saw those fish that attach themselves to other fish by sucker-like feelers and live that way . . . lazy things! Two or three of them were fastened to one patient fish that kept swimming around his glass tank with eyes at the windows wondering, doubtless, what he had done to be so burdened. It reminded me of some people who allow their churches and other organizations to carry them along as a sort of extra burden without ever doing anything to help. The seals were having a slick time and one of them was such a show-off he always waited till a crowd gathered before he took his graceful slide off the rocks into his tank and then went swimming around the rail, clapping his own fins and barking for applause. The penguins were darling little black and white persons just pretending to be birds. But the most amusing thing of all to me was the giant turtle. After I watched it cross its tank several times I muttered, "Now I know exactly how I look when I am in swimming!" and certainly with its round huge body and its short fat legs the memory stimulates me to renewed dieting.

Leaving the aquarium we drove up Wall Street—such a quiet looking thoroughfare to have made so much history—then past Trinity Church with its simple grave stones in the heart of a busy city, and on to Roosevelt House which is one of the chief philanthropies of my hostess. This is the house where Theodore Roosevelt was born and it has been purchased by a memorial organization and restored to its former condition. Indeed, much of the original furniture has been found and replaced. Some of the rooms on an upper floor have been converted into a small auditorium; it is here that the Poetry Society of America holds its monthly meetings, and it was here that my hostess once pinned a gold medal on the late Marshal Foch, that had been awarded him for distinguished service when he visited America. I loved standing near the quaint cradle that had rocked the baby, "Teddy" and walking reverently through the old-fashioned rooms with their real lace curtains and faded rugs. It is a large house and the Roosevelt's as you know were quite wealthy, but it seemed small and cramped to me after the spacious house where I was a guest. This shrine is open to the public and if you are visiting New York you will enjoy seeing this birthplace of one of our famous presidents.

We stopped briefly at Grace Church which is said to be the most beautiful Protestant church in America then home to luncheon.

Luncheon was served in the large dining room and was as formal as the dinners. Today we began with fried smelts accompanied by a hot sauce served in lemon cups. This was followed by wild rice and a creamed mixture of turkey and mushrooms. The dessert was vanilla soufflé followed, as are all the meals by a service of candied fruits . . . at dinner fresh fruits precede the candy service. After I had been nibbling the fresh, hot-house grapes for several dinners, I was startled to observe my hostess dip her small cluster of grapes into the finger bowl before she ate them! I never did attempt one of the luscious pears—the little twisted silver fork and tiny hump-backed knife with which she ate them seemed too delicate for my unaccustomed management. It wasn't at all like reaching up to pluck one from a tree and biting into it, let the juice drip where it may!

Out Of Town Baker Stirs Up Hornets Nest In Rising Star

(From Rising Star Record)

A large out-of-town baker, who has been trying to get a foothold with his bread in Rising Star for some time, failed to help his cause here in the opinion of many, the past week when he came in with a big truck to give a loaf of bread free at the homes of the city. After the work had been done, cards bearing the names of practically all housewives of the city, authorizing the grocers to fill their orders with out-of-town bread, were tendered the grocers. Fur began to fly when the ladies learned that their names appeared on the cards, the great majority of them claiming they did not sign the cards and wanted no part in assisting the out-of-town bakery in their sale of bread here.

It was understood that one complaint has filed against the firm for forgery, but was withdrawn when an official of the firm came was having a children's concert in her ball room but since this might prove my only opportunity to see my old friends, the Wright L. Felts, whose little daughter, Joan Carroll, is starring in the stage play, "Panama Hattie," she graciously excused me and sent me down to see it. It was exciting to go back stage of a big New York production, to speak to Ethel Merman and Arthur Teacher and dozens of others whose pictures grace many newspaper columns. This was January and seats were sold out till in April, but Mrs. Felts had a chair placed for me on the seventh row . . . and after the cast was all in place and the curtain ready to rise everything was held while I walked across in front of that gorgeous spectacle to find my seat. They waited until I was quite settled before they raised the curtain and I felt pretty breathless to have a New York stage curtain held for me! But Joan Carroll is treated like a princess in New York, the whole cast and stage crew were much interested in seeing that her Texas guest had every consideration. "Panama Hattie" is delightfully naughty and the most colorful show I ever saw. I had to leave before the last act, for we were dining with a friend.

Mrs. E's apartment was spacious and charming. The dining table was in a round windowed alcove which was curtained with growing plants. It looked just like the rooms you see in the more expensive house magazines. She is a well-known artist, poet and maker of women's clothes . . . at least she is an executive of the factory that turns them out. If you saw the picture, "Arizona" you saw her painting for the motion picture company engaged her to do certain scenes. She lives alone with a real southern colored maid and her dinner was one delicious dish after another, beaten biscuit, cream of avocado soup, with strawberry meringues for dessert. Afterwards we were her guests at Radio City Music Hall where we saw the incomparable Rockettes, those precision dancers who came to Texas during the Centennial to dance at the Casino in Dallas. The theatre is the largest in the world and I am sure the most beautiful. The ballets were breath-taking in color and beauty and I loved every minute of it all . . . it was fun to be one of the crowd hurrying out to grab the first taxis. Mrs. Hammond always dismisses her chauffeur early in the evening and we take a taxi cab home. She is considerate of his years—he has been in her service for 40 —and I think this is true of her relations with all her servants.

At home I found a silver thermos carafe of ice water on the lighted table at my bed, the evening papers and a few books ready for my perusal. The heavy satin spread removed and a lighter one of silk covering the blue down comfort and snowy blankets—the bed invitingly opened with pillows stacked high. On a chair near the bed was my night gown folded just as it came from the shop, my robe carefully folded full-length across the chair back and beneath my gay red house shoes that seemed almost garish in all this subdued luxury. The heavy curtains at the window had been drawn together and all made ready for my evening comfort. This was true of every night . . . and so ended my first day.

Sincerely,
LEXIE DEAN ROBERTSON

Hay fever sufferers will understand the following lines:

I have blown my nose where the tall palm grows,
On the shimmering desert sands;
I have blown it well while beneath the spell
Of a tropical island's strands;
And amid the snows in my Eskimo clothes
Where the iceberg's song is sung,
In the Arctic chill with a right good will
My proboscis has been wrong.

I have blown my beak on the ships of lew,
That barter in old Cathay
And in Timbuctu, I am telling you
My snuzzle has had its day;
I have blown my snoot as we lumbered out
The mouth of the Ho-ang Ho;
And on the Capricorn my infernal horn
Has matched the trade winds' blow.

Where the natives chant, and the elephant
Drive through the jungle shade;
Where the leopard leaps and the serpent creeps
My handkerchief has played;
Though I gargle well 'tis a bit of hell.

When my nostrils both go wrong;
I have blown my nose before friends and foes
But never before in song!

The most brazen act in connection with the 1941 Legislature was the forging of the name of a member of the House at the instigation of the bold and powerful lion shark lobby. Judge S. J. Isaacks of El Paso, one of the ablest and most highly respected House members, is the author of a bill that makes provision for an adequate attorney's fee when a victim sues a usurious lender. Difficulty had been experienced in getting a quorum of the committee and a meeting was set for the close of the House session one day recently. Judge Isaacks who does not hear perfectly, nevertheless heard his name called and, upon inquiry, found that the reading clerk had read a notice which had been handed in, bearing Judge Isaacks' name, announcing that the committee meeting had been called off. Isaacks took the floor, denounced the forgery and the committee met, with the result that the bill received a favorable report by a big majority.

NEWS BRIEFS OF BYGONE DAYS
Little Squibs Gleaned From Files Of Review

May 21, 1920: Governor Hobby has designated this week as good roads week. The value of good roads is to be taught and preached every where. High priced labor and time means that the distance from the farm to market must be reduced, and there is no way except thru better highways and better instrumentalities for traveling and transportation, namely, better automobiles and trucks.

In a test with a White truck, one gallon of gasoline was used in 11.28 miles on a standard concrete road. On an average dirt road one gallon was used in 5.78 miles. In fifty years how much would be saved in gasoline alone?

explain, "It's decided with matches; each man gets five matches" and he starts counting them around. You count yours and exclaim, "What a minute, I have six" and they all yell, "You're Honest John; you get to pay the check!"

A little girl said:
"Oh, mama, I saw the nicest man today."
"Who was he, dear?"
"He was the garbage man, mama."
"And why was he so nice?"
"Well, mama, he was carrying a can of garbage over his head to the wagon. While he had it over his head, the bottom came out and the garbage fell all over him, and he just stood there and talked to God."

Texas who would like to see racing return to Texas point to the fact that some of the leading citizens of the land were in the throngs at the Kentucky Derby; former Postmaster General James A. Farley Jesse Jones, seven governors, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, Major General Bruce Magruder, former Ambassador Williams C. Bullitt and the motion picture stars, Joe E. Brown, Lana Turner, Don Ameche and Robert Young. Texas would have such notables and such crowds if racing were permitted.

Both bones in the right leg were crushed just above the ankle, inflating a dangerous wound. He was brought to town and carried to Dr. Tyson's office, where his wounds were dressed. That night he was carried to Brownwood where he was put under the care of Dr. Allison in the latter's sanitarium. He was the first of this week sent to the Katy hospital in Dallas. It was generally thought his leg would have to be amputated, but he has been doing well so far without such a serious operation.

June 18, 1920: According to S. F. Bond, manager of the Cross Plains Electric Light Company, juice will be turned on the wires of part of the light and power system the latter part of this week, and the service will be gradually extended as the wiring of the houses progresses.

The 50-kilowatt generator was bolted to its concrete foundation and harnessed to the little exciter last week and only the matter of connecting the wires through the pipe conduits with the switchboard remains to be done to have the plant ready for inspection and approval of an expert, who is expected to arrive any day from the factory.

It is planned to give only day and part of the night service for the present, but after September 1, the juice will be at the command of the patrons of the plant any hour of the day or night.

June 25, 1920: The program committee is making arrangements to get Pat Neff of Waco, candidate for governor, to be here during the picnic to make an address, and also Joe Bailey. Mr. Neff has written that he would be glad to be here or see that he has a strong representative. Either or both of these men would draw a bigger audience than any other man in Texas.

GREATEST MECHANICAL EVENT OF ALL HISTORY

A tall gangling fellow worked in a shop down town for years for $50.00 a month and at night time worked at his little shop in his back yard, trying to perfect a thing that since has been called "a Model T." One morning about 2 a. m. while it was pouring down rain and cold as blitzen, the thing was brought out in the open. A woman came out with a shawl over her head and hands wrapped in her apron. She came to see what The Thing would do. The tall, thin man turned something in front that made a fearful noise, then he stepped into The Thing, put his hands on an upside-down wheel, touched something else, and The Thing started down the alley —chick-a-lack, chick-a-lack. And so the T model Ford was born—no one to witness this historic event, except his companion who had encouraged him in his untiring efforts to produce the first horseless carriage. He improved his first invention, and at this time made between 40 and 50 thousand automobiles. And is classed among the richest men in the world.

DOWN THROUGH THE AGES

Offhand
Observations

Heavy rains and twisters over Texas and Oklahoma the past week caused much destruction of property and loss of about twenty lives
in Texas.
At Albany the rainfall was so great that the impounded water at the city supply lake caused the dam
to break, and the town was flooded with water which took a toll of several lives besides much destruction of homes and other property.
Abilene reported the heaviest rain in fifty years and Putnam came in for its share.
However, no damage of any kind here, just a big rain which lasted from about four o'clock in the morning until about ten on Tuesday of last week. This vicinity has had over fifteen inches of rainfall during the year according to weather man E. G. Scott.

According to a recent poll, Gerald Mann is leading, so far, in the senatorial race. About twenty-eight aspirants are coming right along and the campaign is in full swing.
Governor O'Daniel has had two sons and an only daughter out campaigning over the state for him, as the Legislature had refused to adjourn and go home and the Governor felt that he should stay in Austin as long as that August body remained in session. Incidentally, this Legislature will go down in Texas history as having spent more and taxed more than any previous session.
Dr. J. B. Brinkley, Republican candidate and noted gland surgeon of Del Rio, Texas has withdrawn from the race for a place in the United States senate.
Martin Dies, Gerald Mann, and Governor O'Daniel seem to be the three leading candidates in the race
at the present time.

On Tuesday afternoon of the past week Rev. C. L. Rusben stepped into our office and left us a nice mess of beans, already snapped, and a half dozen nice will-grown spring
onions to go with them.
We always appreciate our friends remembering us in this way. The vegetables were a treat and we extend our thanks to Rev. Rusben.

There seems to have been a splendid crop of dewberries in this section this year, judging by the number of peddlers on the streets
with them.
The peach crop is very promising also in spite of the fact that a late freeze got a part of them and orchard owners were uneasy for a time
lest the crop would be very light.
Reports from Moscow, Russia
state that one of our American writers stationed there has been expelled from Russia and ordered to be out of the country not later than June 11. His wife and two children were allowed to accompany him.
This writer, lived in Russia since 1932 and his expulsion was ordered because he contributed articles to various newspapers which the Soviet Union considered harmful to the Russian government. The articles were to the effect that Russia had capitulated to Germany.

In China the past week at Chungking seven hundred natives were killed as they fled from a Japanese air raid. In a stampede to the bomb shelters they rushed inside
in such large numbers and blocked the entrances to such an extent that this vast number was suffocated, according to news reports. It is said that when the first wave of bombers had passed over that thousands emerged from the underground shelters, but when the second raid became apparent they rushed back jamming the entrances where they fought and clawed each other in a terrible panic.

The Army Mother's Club of Tulsa,
Oklahoma recently sent a resolution demanding a stoppage of strikes in defense industries to President Roosevelt.
The club is also preparing a mass
postcard campaign to Oklahoma Senators and congressmen to urge the President to accept the resignation of Frances Perkins as Secretary of Labor.

Miss Tula Kellar of Cross-Cut, was a visitor here Tuesday afternoon.
Mrs. J.H. Westerman and Evonne
of Rising Star were visitors here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westerman

returned with them for a few days

LEGIONS FAMILIES
ENJOY BARBECUE

Callahan County Legionnaires,
their families and a few invited guests enjoyed the legion barbecue
at the Nobles Night Club grounds
in West Baird on Monday evening, June 16. This meeting was the regular monthly meeting of the Eugene Bell Post of the American Legion and special guests were several young men, who are on the list for selectees for military service, who are expected to be called soon. Other guests were members of the present and past draft boards.

Beef and goat meat were barbecued by Buck Smith and H. B. Star-ley and everyone present was of the opinion that these two are undoubtedly the world's best when it comes to cooking delicious barbecue.
The goats were furnished by Buck Smith and the beef was bought by the post. Cakes and pies and other food was furnished by the wives of the legion.

After everyone had eaten, the legion held a short executive session and then the club house was opened and everyone invited to partake in the legion dance. Music was furnished by a local orchestra and varied from old time square dances, polkas, etc. to modern pep music
enjoyed by the youngsters.

Some fifteen or more soldiers were present and were invited to take part in the festivities and perhaps no one enjoyed the occasion
more than these boys from Camp Barkley, who seldom have an opportunity to attend a community of this kind. These soldier boys received many compliments on their behavior and their conduct. The legion membership appreciate the attitude of these boys and is glad to have such well behaved guests.

Everyone was so well pleased with this barbecue picnic that the legion post is already planning to have another meeting of this kind before the summer is over.

The management of the Nobles Night Club has offered their building and grounds to the legion for any meetings. The Club managers furnished the building, grounds and lights and would not accept pay even for the lights used.

KEEPING FOODSTUFFS
FRESH REQUIRES JUST
LITTLE KITCHEN CARE

The keeping quality of foodstuffs,
such as flour, sugar, raisins, dried corn and rice and other cereals, depends chiefly on the fact that they are dry.

In the home, these foods should be kept dry and clean, and protected against insects and other vermin.
For tea, coffee and spices the containers should be as nearly airtight
as possible.

Dried meats, such as smoked hams, strip of bacon and jerked beef, and home dried fruits and vegetables are best kept in muslin bags hung in a clean, cool, dry storeroom. If dried meats are hung in the cellar or dried fruits or vegetables are stored in the steamy
kitchen, they are likely to mold.

Jellies, jams and home canned fruits and vegetables should be kept in a clean, dry, cool closet or storeroom, preferably on narrow shelves
so that the supply can be locked over easily and spoilage quickly detected.

Heat and excessive moisture tend to injure the texture and favor the growth of molds on jellies and preserves that are not sealed in airtight containers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caton returned Thursday from the Llano River, where they spent five days with twenty-one friends and kinsmen at Llano lodge. They report an abundance of fish, squirrel, and other game.
