WIRE BELIEVES CROSS PLAINS CITIZENS SHOULD FORM BOOSTERS' CLUB

George H. Wheelock, auto specialist at the garage on north Main street, states that the greatest need of Cross Plains is a live booster club. He says that if we had the right kind of booster club, there is no reason why our town should not be one of the near-by towns. Our town has every natural advantage to make a good town, in fact respects superior advantages to other places much larger. He believes, and is correct in his belief, that the trade territory of this place is larger than that of Rising Star, Baird, Cisco or Coleman. Cross Plains has plenty of modern brick buildings to accommodate the merchants, has a water system adequate to the demands, and an inexhaustible supply of water to draw from in the future, and of good quality; she will soon have an up-to-date electric light system and a gas line for gas has been laid to the town.

The town has been incorporated and lacks but one thing to put her on the map—the proper spirit among her citizenship, the salt that does not lose its savor, the leaven that leavens the whole lump. Let's raise a fund for employing a publicity and boosting man for Cross Plains.

CALAHAN ROAD BONDS PURCHASED

Work of Beginning Construction of Roads Only Awaits Survey by Engineer

Commissioner J. W. McDaniel reports the sale of the road bonds voted last year in this precinct, twenty thousand of the one hundred thousand dollar issue being bought by Callahan County, and eighty thousand by the Burt company of Houston. All we need is to get the engineer's estimates, plans, and specifications, and let the contract, and the work can proceed.

Mr. McDaniel states that the road has been designated from Coleman to Cisco by Cross Plains, and the route decided on by the Coleman County engineer as far as the south line of Alec Allen's farm. He is working on two routes, one directly north from Mr. Allen's north-west corner thru Uncle Bill Neeb's and J. M. McDaniel's farms, to the Dressy and Cross Plains road at a point west of Ed Henderson's home, and thence to Cross Plains. This route would have but three abrupt corners from Burkett to Cross Plains, one at Mr. Henderson's, one at Broad Bond's farm, and the other just west of town at Chas. Neeb's. Mr. McDaniel has done away with one corner on Bob Cunningham's place, cutting across the farm and saving some distance as well as the corner. The other route is to go west from Mr. Allen's farm to Comal school and thence north toward Dressy to the Callahan line, the remaining part, of course, will have to follow the Dressy road to Cross Plains. The Calahan portion will have to be passed on by our engineer, who is yet to be employed. It has been suggested that we employ the Coleman engineer, who is pretty well acquainted with the route from his work in Coleman. We would pay him by the day.

Some one is to be sent to Austin to appear before the highway commission on the third Monday in this month to ask for State and Federal aid for this precinct, the engineer saying that we should get fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars to go with our one hundred thousand. The route from this place to the Eastland line will have to be passed on by the engineer also.

Buys Plains Farm

L. O. Payne of Burnt Branch last week bought an 80-acre farm near Hale Center, on the Plains. Mr. Payne has lived for seven years in one place, that belonging to M. Jones. Mr. Payne is a successful farmer, industrious and frugal, and is made some good money. We do not know when he will leave this country, but suppose it will not be until about the first of the year.

Callahan Crops in Growing Condition

Rains of the past week have put crops of this county in fine growing condition and the harvesting heat and oats in some sections under way with prospect of an average yield. With the exception of a new worm doing some damage to cotton, Callahan was in better shape at this time. This worm is a new pest in this section and seems to pass under way with prospect of early cotton, only destroying late plantings. It is felt that the warm weather of the few days has been instrumental in checking the destruction.

INGRAM NO. ONE RESPONDS TO SHOT

The Well is Expected to Pay when Thoroughly Cleaned and Placed on Pump

The Humble, Ingram No. 1, three-fourths of a mile northeast of Hilburn No. 1, has been shot the third time. The charge of a 140 quart of nitro-glycerine was placed at about 2680, where the first showing of oil was found, after which the hole caved in on the shot. The nitro discharged of itself at 1 o'clock Tuesday, with the result that the derrick was sprayed with oil. Oil is said to have risen in the well fifty feet, and constant bailing has failed to lower it. The well is now being cleaned out. The oil is said to be of a heavier grade than that of the Hilburn. The well is now expected to make a commercial pumper.

The Shook No. 1, offset to the Hilburn, has recovered about two-fifths of the casing which was lost last week, a bad piece of luck for the well. This well is close to the Hilburn sand.

The Hilburn No. 2 is reported to be just above the Hilburn sand.

The "Flo" Hilburn No. 1, just west of the Hilburn No. 1, spudded in on Saturday.

The Litzinger Gooch No. 1, four miles east of Cross Plains, in W. T. Fenson survey, has spudded in and is drilling at 300 feet.

The Consolidated Barr, two miles north of town is drilling at below 1000 feet.

The Templeman, J. H. Lee, two miles northeast of town, is under reaming at 1014 feet.

The Greenlee, T. J. Harris, two and one-half miles northeast of town, waiting for drillers between 1600 and 1700 feet.

First June Marriage of Season Reported

Bryan Bennett and Miss Lee Coats were married on Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Coats, who reside near Cottonwood, the Rev. Andy Foster performing the ceremony. The young couple were reared at Cottonwood, where they have many friends, the bridegroom being the son of Mrs. Charley Worthey. The Review joins the many friends of the young couple in wishing a long and happy life.

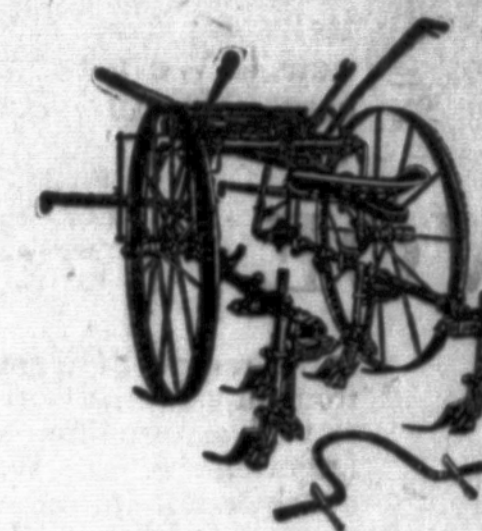

Moving to Cross Plains.

Dr. E. L. Thomasson and wife of Putnam, are moving their household goods this week to one of Joe Shackelford's houses west of Mr. Shackelford's lumber yard. Dr. Thomasson, who is practicing dentistry here, is preparing to make Cross Plains his home. He says he is well satisfied with his business since coming here, and also that he believes the town has every chance to grow into an oil city. He states that lots of oil men have advised him to stay with the town.

Cemetery Receives Needed Attention

Once again the Cross Plains cemetery is in good condition, due, of course, to the efforts of Marian Moore, who has been the guardian and keeper of the local home of the dead for seven years. Mr. Moore, who has been in Cisco for some months, on returning home found the cemetery covered with weeds. He is employed to take care of the cemetery until the first of January.

He has had four years of university work, and should be well prepared for the practice of his chosen profession when he completes his course.

Likes the Review

Wm. King, who lives east of town on Monday renewed his Review for another year, at the same time sending the paper to his daughter, Mrs. B. H. Johnson of Caldwell, for three months. Mr. King says he is always glad to get the Review, as it gives a good deal of news he otherwise would not learn.

Buy Good Property.

G. W. Cunningham and C. C. Neeb have bought two brick buildings on south Main street from J. E. Spencer of Carbon. Mr. Cunningham gets the south building, the one his stock of goods is in, and Mr. Neeb the north one, in which is located the Gwin stock of groceries. They have bought some of the best property in town.

Another Lot for Sale

The lot I have been advertising on north Main has been sold thru advertising in the Review and otherwise. It was and is good property. We now have one or two other lots well located for business, close in; will sell to good man with or without cash. Don't care how much buyer makes; want to make a little ourselves. Bought same before the boom and can now sell at reasonable price and make the mail order one small per cent of profit. Get in now.—L. P. H.

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Everole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, . . . and the pains were very severe. A friend told me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? . . . I did, and soon saw it was helping me. . . . After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."

TAKE

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do you feel weak, dizzy, worn-out? Is your lack of good health caused from any of the complaints so common to women? Then why not give Cardui a trial? It should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women who suffered—it should help you back to health.

Ask some lady friend who has taken Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Try Cardui.

BUSINESS VERSUS SENTIMENT.

"Deacon," said a fellow to me the other day, "I should think these beautiful moonlight nights would cause your soul to fairly bubble over. Aren't they grand?"

"I used to be full of that stuff, but I got over it. I had a fine job one time. One fatal evening I began to look at nature by the light of the same wonderful moon. The longer I looked at it the grander it became. The whole world was aglow with glory. I became so enraptured with that moon that I stayed up until the wee small hours watching it. This caused me to oversleep in the morning and I was late getting down to my work. About the third morning the boss met me at the door and told me I wasn't needed any longer. Some other son-of-a-gun who didn't know a moon from a jack-knife had my place."—Bert Walker, in the Osborne County (Kan.) Farmer.

POET'S KEEN SENSE OF HUMOR

Retort That Longfellow Quoted in Happy Memory in Mind of Woman Living Today.

As a child with two indulgent older brothers to spoil me, a Companion contributor writes, I was very much inclined to be selfish, and once, when a certain toy had been given to my brother, Mac, he characteristically allowed me to play with it before he had had it at all himself. Finally, after I had monopolized it for an hour or two, he ventured a gentle remonstrance.

"I think I might have it now, Floss," he said.
With a pout and a toss of the head, I flung it toward him.
"Take it, stingy!" was my thanks. I am happy to remember that my mother, overhearing me, administered the rebuke for which I was "spoiling."

Not long after, at the Longfellow home, she related the incident to the poet, and he was very much amused. Later, during her call, she espied upon his desk an autographed copy of one of his poems that he had made for a friend.

"I wish I might have that," she remarked.
With a twinkle and an assumption of petulance that sat very funny upon the gracious courtesy that was so much a part of himself, Mr. Longfellow extended the verses.

"Take it, stingy!" he said.
My mother delightedly "took it," and today it is one of my choicest treasures.—Youth's Companion.

CONTRARY METHODS

"Here's a news item says folks in a Pennsylvania town are lowering meat."
"How are they doing it?"
"By raising rabbits."

THE SHORTEST REIGN.

It is not generally known that the king of Spain succeeded not his father, but his sister, the Infanta Mercedes, who was, though only six years old, queen of Spain from the death of her father, Alfonso XII, to the birth of the present king. Altogether she reigned 169 days, probably the shortest reign on record. The Salic law, which bars females from the accession to a throne, does not operate in Spain, and until the sex of Alfonso XIII's posthumous child was determined, the eldest of his two daughters automatically succeeded him.

JAPAN TO HONOR FIRST RULER.

Japan is preparing to build a pyramid to the memory of its first emperor, Jimmu Tenno. The construction will be located somewhere in the suburbs of Tokyo, and for this purpose it has been decided that every subject of the empire shall make a contribution in the shape of a stone. A number of prominent persons have volunteered for the service.

CIDER WAS WELL HIDDEN.

A raiding squad at Leominster, Mass., found a barrel containing 20 gallons of hard cider submerged in a brook concealed under a framework of logs and planks, with a hose attached to the bung hole, making it possible to draw the cider without taking the barrel up.

THE CHEERFUL OPTIMIST.

"I'll say this for him, he's a cheerful optimist."
"So?"
"Insists on reminding us that winter can't last much longer anyhow."

OLD ASSOCIATIONS.

"Where did the soldier belong in the army who is continually hanging around your cook?"
"I guess he was a member of the kitchen police."

HAD HIGH MILITARY VIRTUES

Sir David Baird, Great British Soldier, Reveals His Character in His Student Days.

An anecdote is told of Sir David Baird, hero of Seringapatam, which place was taken by the British on May 4, 1799, and which forms the key to the character of this great soldier.

It appears that he was a student at a military academy at Chelsea, where the routine of garrison duty was kept up. One night he was acting as sentinel and a companion who wished to pass out endeavored to persuade Baird to let him through the lines. "No," said he, "that I cannot do; but if you please, you may knock me down and walk over my body."

Seringapatam was taken and the empire of Hyder Ali extinguished by the death of his son, the Sultan Tippu Sahib. The storming of the great fortress took place in broad day and General Baird was the first to reach the top of the breach after the "forlorn hope." It is remarkable that 15 years before Baird had undergone long and cruel confinement in this very fort.

SWISS TRAINS RUN ON TIME

And to Be Exact, They Are About the Only Ones in Southeastern Europe That Do.

The only trains that run on schedule in southeastern Europe these days are those loaded with Swiss goods and belonging to the Swiss confederation. We passed at least half a dozen of them on our journey across Hungary, they being readily distinguishable by the Swiss flag painted on each car.

Each train, which consisted of 40 cars, was accompanied by a Swiss officer and 20 infantrymen—finely set-up fellows in feldgrau with steel helmets modeled after the German pattern. If the trains had not been thus guarded, I was told, the goods would never have reached their destinations, and the cars, which are the property of the state railways, would never have been returned.

It is by such drastic methods as this that Switzerland, though hard hit by the war, has kept the wheels of industry turning and her currency from serious depreciation.—E. Alexander Powell, in Scribner's Magazine.

TO DREAM OF PRESENTS.

To dream of receiving a present from a very distinguished person is a sign of a change for the better in your fortunes. A present from a man means you will receive some good advice you should act on; one from a woman denotes some love complication in your affairs. To dream of a present given you by a boy means some trouble ahead, but if given by a little girl it means a period of peace before you. Present-dreaming should be all on the side of the recipient, for as soon as you dream of giving away something yourself you'll be accused of ingratitude or of avarice.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

WINDOW SERVED PURPOSE.

In the house Mark Twain built at Hartford, directly over the fireplace, where one would naturally look for a chimney, there was a great plate-glass window looking out of doors. Mark said he had the window put there because it snowed sometimes in Hartford and he liked to sit with his feet to the fire and look at the storm, so that he could enjoy the thought of not being out in it.

FRENCH PRESIDENTS.

Of the nine presidents who have reigned at the Elysee palace, M. Poincare is only the fifth to stay out the full term. Thiers, the first, held office for only three years, as did MacMahon, whilst Faure died at the end of his fourth year and Casimir Perier, Loubet and Fallieres served the full term.

JUST FAR ENOUGH.

"I hear that company is going to run a new popular water excursion this summer."
"Where to?"
"Just beyond the three-mile limit."

DAYS THAT ARE GONE.

Jud Tunkins says he's longin' for the dear old days when the neighbors used to borrow oook books from one another instead of ouija boards.

What? To insure the growing crop against hail. We could have saved the farmers in Comal neighborhood several thousand dollars last season had they taken out insurance against hail with us. We write absolutely the same insurance, policy for policy, word for word, that give the farmers on the plains their protection against hail. In fact, we have written some insurance for plains farmers. We represent the Home Insurance Company of New York, the largest American fire insurance company, with a record of many years of fair and square dealing. Also other old line companies. We write for no other kind.

...Effect of the War...
...Now, those, briefly speaking, were...
...what lead up to this war.

...Now, what was the effect of that...
...war?

...My friends, I have stood upon the...
...battlefields of the Champagne and...
...the Flanders and have walked above...
...the graves of American soldiers, and...
...have watched the march of regiments...
...by the men that fell.

...I have seen scenes that I cannot...
...refer to without the deepest emotion...
...but I say to you, with all that you...
...have heard and all that you have...
...read, there is not a man or a woman...
...in this audience tonight—except it...
...be the father or mother of one of...
...those who lie upon the plains of...
...France today, who has an appreciation...
...of what this country did for the...
...world and for humanity.

...Winning of the War...
...Now that war has passed; it was...
...a war won with the most remarkable...
...small loss of blood on our part...
...that was ever won in the history of...
...the world.

...We simply got there, as old Nathan...
...Bedford Forrest is said to have said...
...though I don't believe he did say it...
...that we got there "firstest with the...
...mostest men," and then it was all...
...over.

...But when you come to review what...
...happened in the war, what stood behind...
...it, the organization, the power, the...
...force which accomplished that...
...enormous result within that modicum...
...of time is conceivable that no tribute...
...can be paid to this man—the Southern...
...man—the son of a Confederate chaplain...
...in the Confederate army, who stood...
...at the head of our hosts, who night...
...and day toiled to perfect these forces...
...and to accomplish those results—is it...
...conceivable to say that the winner...
...of this greatest of all wars, with this...
...least of all loss, is entitled to nothing...
...of respect and reverence from the...
...hands of the American people?

...Voices: No, no!...
...The Critics of the War...
...The man who thinks that has no...
...appreciation of courage, of fidelity;...
...has no appreciation of real ability.

...Why, to hear some men talk you...
...would imagine that we had done nothing...
...but lose that war?
...That nobody but a lot of idiots...
...had conducted it?
...That nobody but a lot of cowards...
...had fought in it?

...That the results had been utterly...
...disastrous, and that we had been...
...whipped from start to finish, and that...
...nothing whatever except mistakes had...
...occurred from beginning to end.

...Mistakes in Times of Wars...
...Now, let me say to you, my friends...
...that wars are at times mistakes—the...
...greatest of all mistakes is war itself...
...and in these times the thing to be...
...accomplished is to end the war at the...
...earliest possible moment with the...
...least possible loss of human life.

...And history will record the fact...
...that no leader in all time won such a...
...the same period of time as was won...
...by our country, as was won by our...
...President of the United States. (Applause...
...and cheers.)

...Saving the World...
...Now we passed that period, and I...
...came on a troop ship with thousands...
...of them.

...I saw them parade the streets of...
...New York and the National capital, and...
...the war was over, and this man went...
...to reap as best he could the proper...
...fruits of that war.

...We were asking for nothing except...
...that the world should be saved for...
...all times from such another calamity.

...We were asking for nothing except...
...that this should be so done—the...
...settlement of this peace should be so...
...conducted that there would be no...
...likelihood in all the years to come...
...that the youth of this country would...
...be called upon to cross three thousand...
...miles of salt water and give their...
...lives upon the plains of Europe.

...Wilson's Works...
...And he set his face to that mighty...
...task.

...I saw him in Paris under conditions...
...where it astonished me how he could...
...live.

Washington—President Wilson will ask the democratic national convention at San Francisco to adopt a program calling for "prompt ratification of the treaty without reservations."

The fact was made clear when the president wrote to Senator Charles McNary, who had introduced the "irrevocable" treaty, which would require the president to ask for ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Mr. McNary's bill was introduced in the Senate on June 10. It provides for the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

The president's message to the Senate on June 10, 1919, stated that he had signed the treaty with Germany, and that he was now asking the Senate to ratify it without reservations.

The Senate has been divided on the issue of ratification without reservations. The Senate has passed a resolution that it will not ratify the treaty without reservations.

The president has now asked the democratic national convention to adopt a program calling for "prompt ratification of the treaty without reservations."

The democratic national convention will meet in San Francisco on June 16. It is expected that the convention will adopt a program calling for "prompt ratification of the treaty without reservations."

ON BOLLWORM LAW
ULTIMATUMS GIVEN
WARLATT DELAYS IN ADOPTING LEGISLATION

Washington—The federal department of agriculture has given ultimatum to the bollworm law. The ultimatum is that the bollworm law must be adopted by the Senate by June 15, 1919. If the law is not adopted by that date, the federal department of agriculture will take certain steps to deal with the bollworm problem.

The ultimatum is a result of the fact that the bollworm law has not been passed by the Senate. The bollworm law is a law that provides for the control of the bollworm, a pest that causes damage to cotton crops.

The federal department of agriculture has been working to get the bollworm law passed by the Senate. However, the law has not been passed because of opposition from certain members of the Senate.

The ultimatum is a warning that the federal department of agriculture will take certain steps to deal with the bollworm problem if the law is not passed by the deadline.

LADY TO BE GIVEN LARGE CAKE FOR SUITABLE NAME FOR NEW BAKER'S SHOP
The latest addition to the list of business institutions of the town is the establishment of a bakery in the building now occupied by Orr Bros.
cafe, by A. J. Gensley, who proposes to supply the good housewives during the hot summer months with fresh bread of four or five varieties, uns, rolls, doughnuts, cakes and pies, and, in fact, everything that is found in any first-class bakery. The partition in the cafe will be removed and the two institutions will be operated in conjunction, the 9x12 baking oven being built on the outside to the rear. The fixtures will be finished in imitation of old ivory and nothing will be left undone to make the place sanitary.
Mr. Gensley wants a suitable name for the shop and proposes to bake a large cake, place it on display in the window, to be given to the lady suggesting the most suitable name. The contest will be open to all the ladies in Cross Plains and vicinity and the rules governing the same will be made public soon.
Mr. Gensley states that he has had twelve years' experience as a master baker and intends to do his best to merit the patronage of the people of the town and vicinity.
