NUMBER ONE

"AS I

"As I See It," will be a local column of humor, news and editorial comment by the editor and will be a regular feature of the Review.

With this edition the Review embarks on its 43rd year of publication in Cross Plains, and we want to take this space to assure our reader(s) that we will strive to give you complete news coverage on all local happenings and use the columns of the paper to promote a better community in which to live and do business. We are beginning our 12th month as editor and publisher of the Cross Plains Review and on the occasion of this anniversary we would like to thank everyone for the fine patronage and cooperation given us since moving to Cross Plains. It is our sincere opinion that Cross Plains is one of the finest places in the world to live, and having lived in a number of small towns in the past 18 years, we feel that we are qualified to make the above statement.

S. F. (Fos) Bond, local weather prognosticator, was in the Review office early Thursday morning of the past week to crow a little about the fine rains falling at that time and to remind us that he predicted that the rain would come between March 20-27. However, he was a little worried about who was going to get credit-him or the "rainmakers" scattered around this section of the state. To be perfectly frank, we have very little faith in his ability to predict the weather, but we have less faith in the ability of these socalled "rainmakers." This may sound a little old-fashioned, but it is our firm opinion that it will rain only when the forces of Nature are ready, so we are going to trust God to give us moisture when He feels that we should have it. After perusing the daily papers today and seeing what a mess man has the world in at the present time this department wouldn't be in favor of turning the rainfall over to man if it was possible to do so. With the power to turn the rain on and off at will, it would probably cause untold troubles in the already troubled world of ours.

Voters of the Cross Plains Independent School District will have an opportunity to exercise their American privilege here next Saturday, by casting their ballot for school trustees. With six candidates running for three places on ballot, it behooves every qualified voter to go to the polls and cast his ballot for the men of his choice. This writer is not campaigning for nor endorsing any of the candidates . . . we are simply urging all voters of the district to exercise your right to vote. Tool many voters have the attitude that their vote doesn't count much, and therefore they do not make an effort to go to the polls. For the benefit of those who might feel that their one vote doesn't mean much, we reprint the following article, entitled, "What Good Will One Vote Do?":

Well, one vote has had a lot to do with a lot of things in this

Erects New Stop Sign On Highway 36

Department completed the installation of another stop sign at the intersection of Highway 36 on Main Street here Tuesday morning and traffic at the intersection is now required to stop from three

The new sign is located on the corner at Higginbotham Bros. & Co. and will stop traffic traveling west on Highway 36. With the addition of this new sign traffic at the intersection is required to stop when traveling east, west and south. Highway traffic going north on Main Street is not required to

A traffic light at the intersection would simplify the regulations but state highway department regulations prohibit the use of a light on State Highways unless the traffic count registers an average of 500 cars daily at the intersection, it was said.

AREA OIL NEWS

Hickok & Reynolds, Inc., Cisco has filed application with the Railroad Commission for permission to waterflood the 200-acre J. V. Eddington A lease in Brown County three miles south of Cross Cut. The lease produces from the Cross Cut sand. The application sets out that two wells are now producing in the reservoir, making two and one-half barrels a day.

The operator's No. 8 well has been converted for a water injection well. Three-inch casing has been set on top of the Cross Cut sand.

Production to the present time has been by gas expansion drive and there is no active water drive in the reservoir, operator sets out

Operator says that insullation of waterflood project probably would result in several inside locations being made profitable. Most of the wells in the field have been plugged.

Wanted: Home For Female Cocker Spaniel of Wylie, 129 ft. 1 in.

Mrs. Norman Farr, of this city, is looking for a home for beautiful female Cocker Spaniel dog. In a conversation with a Review reporter, Mrs. Farr stated that she knew nothing about the background of the dog, as it came to her home in the northeast part of town several weeks ago. She stated that they did not want the dog but hated to have it killed because it had all the markings and qualities of a thoroughbred and would make some dog lover a real pet.

The dog is jet black and appears to be young. Anyone wanting it is asked to drive by the Farr home and pick it up.

Washington, D. C. - Increased yield and improved quality of peanut crops were forecast today by F. W. Hatch, agricultural products The 90th birthday of P. P. These results can be friends and relatives at the home achieved, he said, by the control of a son, Marvin Smith, in Cross of rootworm on peanuts with al-Plains on March 23. The birthday drin, a potent new insecticide. The was March 26 as Mr. Smith was U. S. Department of Agriculture has just accepted aldrin for registration for use against these pests,

Potentialities to peanut growers are indicated by spectacular rehis farming interests in Jones sults reported by agricultural experiment stations, where the yield from an aldrin-treated area was from 30 to 40 per cent better than were in this area. He reached Cisco from an untreated plot. At the on January 2, 1886, his first trip same time the quality was definitely improved. The new product also has the advantage of being effective when applied after peanuts are up. Aldrin is the only insecticide permitted when cotton is to be followed by a planting of pea-

In announcing the USDA's acceptance of the aldrin label, Mr Hatch pointed out that the new insecticide kills with a far smaller dosage than previously known treatments, and with resultant economies to the farmer. Aldrin formulations, available through all principal insecticide manufacturers, give from 95 to 100 per cent control of most peanut rootworm infestations with two pounds of material per acre broadcast in fertilizer and worked into the soil before planting.

Control of soil insects is one of the most promising fields of agricultural progress, Hatch explained. Damage to crops by above-ground insects is easily seen and, until recently, has been the primary concern of the farmer. Damage to plant roots by soil insects, while not so readily recognized, is often more wide spread and serious, but has gone relatively unchecked because of lack of economical control methods.

An Open Letter...

Election time for school trustees is getting closer and I haven't voiced an opinion in anybody's direction as to who to vote for, but what I would like to know is why should we change horses in the middle of the stream if the ones we have are pulling together and getting the job done. Isn't that what the seven men who are on the school board have done? Haven't they proven themselves capable of operating the thing like the majority of the people would have it done—we haven't heard any complaint. Have you ever noticed that a good football coach never substitutes if his team is clicking and winning, so why substitute for this team?

They have our children's welfare at heart and have certainly made things run smoothly. Of course, everything that they have done isn't perfect; they've made mistakes I'm sure, but don't we all? I have my first perfect person yet to meet.

I am a taxpaying citizen and they spend my money the same as they do yours. I'm not begrudging a penny of it. If I did I would be interested in getting someone else on the board. You give this the same thought and consideration before you vote to change horses in the middle of the stream. The seven that we have are pulling together for the betterment of our community and children. Who else needs pulling for? Don't you consider yourself as a member of this community—aren't our children a part and a big part of our community?

I asked the Superintendent of Schools the other day what our indebtedness would be at the end of this year (incidentally I had heard that we would be $10,000. in the red at the close of this year). He told me that he did not know where I got my information, but it was certainly false. The figures show now that we should possibly be $1,700. in debt, but if normal tax collections came in, the school district should be free of debt except for bonded indebtedness. Don't you think your money has been spent wisely?

I have visited the school on several occasions and asked questions to find out the true story and I honestly believe that we have had the best school the past two years that we've had for some time. This same opinion has been expressed by almost every school employee and a big majority of the school patrons. I've found that the present school board has something to show for the money that has been spent. I understand that the faculty is efficient and working together like they should. Our school board is working together harmonously.

LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY!

THE PINK BOLLWORM - II

There was near-panic among cotton people and government agencies following the discovery of the first Pink Bollworm in Texas in 1917. "No-cotton zones" were proclaimed excitedly everywhere the insect was found.

The worm has been a serious pest in many parts of the world, including China, Egypt, Brazil, Argentina and Mexico. But still almost nothing was known about its habits and life history. And there was as much confusion among those trying to combat it in the early days in Texas as there was hardship among the growers, who suffered from the "no-cotton zone"

Now we know that no cotton zones are futile in Texas as long as there is a plentiful supply of Pink Bollworm across the border in Mexico. We've also learned that since the worm bores its way deep into the cotton boll we can't get at it sucessfully with insecticides.

We are coping with it effectively, however, by following cultural practices based on the knowledge we've acquired of it's life history. The cotton grower can change his procedure—the Pink Bollworm can't change its fixed habits.

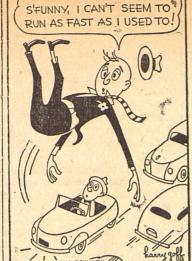

We know it propagates in the growing season. So in the warmer areas, with a long growing season we shorten the breeding time with planting and plow-up deadlines.

We know that in the fall it goes into hibernation. So we destroy its place for passing the winter by stalk destruction and field clean-

At gins and oil mills we have fumigation, sterilization and burning of "gin trash" to prevent spread by way of seed, lint, burrs, cotton products, etc.

Commercial damage from the Pink Bollworm in the past has been as high as 50%—now its is negligible. Our success is due to the almost 100% cooperation of growers, giners and oil millers in the program for control and eradication under the Texas Pink Bollworm Law.

PROPER SEED TREATMENT MAY MAKE THIS DIFFERENCE

The photo above shows ten good cotton seedlings, well on the way to the kind of growth which can produce a good crop of cotton. This is the result you may expect when properly treated cottonseed is planted . . . seed that has been treated with a recommended seed disinfectant.

Below, the effects of seed decay, sore-shin, and both pre-emergence and post-emergence damping-off are illustrated. This seed was not treated and this is one reason why it is often necessary to replant.

Treated seed can be planted 3 to 5 days earlier—can get off to a good start even in cool weather. Once a good stand is established and growing well your chance for a better cotton crop increases.

MORE COTTON PER ACRE MEANS MORE PROFIT

You want more cotton to make money, not by increased acreage, but by producing more cotton per acre. Many farmers in the black and sandy land sections know that this can be done. Many have learned how to increase yield at a profit—while others continue to make a smaller yield per acre at no profit. This year labor will be scarce, insecticides and fertilizer will be short in supply and perhaps higher. So it seems to be good business to grow more cotton per acre so you can make a profit. See your County Agent. Let's talk it over.

Creepfed calves continue to have the best chances to bring more money on the Fort Worth market. Both slaughter and feeder calves selling in the upper brackets have not suffered such severe declines when they have had good creepfeed.

A plain quality but really fat calf sells very close to the better quality kinds. When they are in stocker flesh, the plainer quality kinds sell many dollars under the better quality.

On the basis of current prices of feed and calves, it is estimated that by Supt. Newell H. Odell. He the amount spent for feed pays for stated that there was fish aplenty the cost, plus 25 to 50 per cent for everyone present. The fish profit because of the better weight and better price.

VOTERS ... Know The Facts!

This advertisement is paid for by a loyal school patron, not campaigning for any candidate in the School Trustee election, but to point out that the various sections of the Cross Plains Independent School District are receiving fair representation on the Board of School Trustees.

As positive proof that Cross Plains is not trying to dominate the School Board, your attention is called to the fact that not a single member of the present board, nor any of the candidates filed for places on the ballot this year, reside within the corporate limits of the City of Cross Plains.

The school district has, in past years, consolidated 11 districts and it is impossible for each of these districts to have representation on the board. Voters, think this over and vote for the men you feel are best qualified for the office, regardless of which community they may live in.

NOTICE VOTE: VOTE!

To the voters of Cross Plains Independent School District:

In the past few years several larger outlying school districts have favored Cross Plains with consolidation, which the people of Cross Plains should be proud. These people believe in Cross Plains as shown in their consolidation vote. They do business in Cross Plains which local merchants value to the utmost. They are part of us. Cross Plains has a much larger voting strength and can control trustee elections. Let's go to the polls Saturday, April 5, and show these people of Rowden and Atwell communities that we believe in them and appreciate their interest in our schools by voting to elect them representation on our board of trustees. Let's make them feel welcome to be a part of us. Let them know we want them.

Go to the polls Saturday, April 5th., and vote for D. L. Sessions (ATWELL) and Sterling Odom (ROW-DEN).
