Local Firemen Attend Fire Control School

Last week local firemen from Muleshoe joined 391 firefighters from 47 area towns to participate in the first Canyon Area Fire Control School which was held at Canyon.

Classes were conducted under the auspices of the Firemen's Training School, Texas A&M University Engineering Extension Service and were sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association. Facilities were provided by the Canyon Fire Department.

Following a brief orientation, the firemen were transported to the drill field where they fought controlled fires in three separate projects, which included L.P.G. fires, truck spill

Anti-Pollution Booklet Now Available

A new, free eight-page illustrated booklet entitled, "The Story of Willie Bacteria, or How to Take Care of Your Septic Tank or Cesspool" is now available to owners of septic tanks and cesspools from Gibson Products Co., 1723 W. American Blvd., Muleshoe, Texas.

In a light vein, illustrated by cartoons, the booklet explains the workings of the septic tank and cesspool in simplified fashion. It describes the bacterial action of the disposal system and what is necessary for its proper functioning.

Estate Planning Meeting Planned For Muleshoe

Planning for the distribution of your assets and the care of your loved ones after your death is equally necessary and distasteful. No one wishes to contemplate his own death, but death and taxes are among the few things that are certain about life. This will be the tone of an estate planning meeting to be held in Muleshoe on Tuesday, October 9, 1974 at 10:00 a.m. at the Muleshoe State Bank Community Room. Marvin Sartin, Area Economist in Management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be on hand to present the program. The subject of estate planning is complex because consideration must be given to both federal and state laws governing the transfer of property at death. Even though estate planning is a complicated legal matter and the need for competent legal counsel is paramount, your understanding of the basic planning principles and requirements is helpful to your attorney.

Too often the vast majority of adults do not recognize the immediate need for and urgency of estate planning. It is easily put off until next week or is viewed as being applicable only to old people. Very few young adults concern themselves with the subject when they may have the greatest need for action.

Some of the topics to be covered by Sartin at the meeting will be the following:

1. Federal and State laws governing property transfers.
2. Need for a will.
3. Estate planning reduces property tax and inheritance tax.
4. Gifts and trusts will be discussed.

Estate planning should be of concern to everyone. Each of us that one day we will die and that our assets and responsibilities will be distributed to others. Taking the necessary steps to assure distribution to your assets to whom you desire, minimizing the taxation of this transfer and providing for those you leave behind are the objectives of estate planning. The meeting is free and open to the public and everyone is urged to attend.

Littlefield Defeats Mules Friday 8-0

The toe of Bill Turner put the Littlefield Wildcats in business Friday night for an 8-0 win over the Muleshoe Mules. Turner booted a 25-yard field goal for the 'Cats in the first quarter.

The game rocked along as a defensive battle until the fourth stanza when Turner toed another field goal, this one from the 35-yard line.

The winners added a safety for good measure in the fourth when Jerry Soria tackled a Muleshoe back behind his own goal line. A booming punt had backed the Mules into a tight place.

Littlefield led in first downs, 9-6. The Wildcats are 3-0-1 for the year. Muleshoe is winless in four outings.

program at UCLA's school of Fine Arts, and landed several minor roles, including a bit part in "Midnight Cowboy." The chance call from Barbara Sigel gave him his first real break in films.

What would he like to do next as an actor? "I enjoy working in films; to me it's a more precise medium than stage. I've got a lot of background in stage, but I can see myself more as a film actor than a stage actor." When he's not busy pursuing his career, he enjoys photography and sports car racing.

It's a long way from second runner-up in the Miss Teenage America Pageant in 1968 to a co-starring role in the latest World Wide Pictures feature length film "Time To Run." But actress Barbara Sigel has made just such a leap. In "Time To Run," Barbara plays Michelle, the girlfriend of Jeff Cole, a young man searching for answers to life and the solution to the generation gap between him and his work-oriented father. After Jeff runs away from home, Michelle tries to help him discover his own identity and find meaning for his life.

What does Barbara think the film is trying to say to its audience? "Well, I think the film will probably say different things to different people. It talks about the generation gap, in communications and caring - and I think the film shows that with a little more love and patience, the gap can be lessened."

When Barbara landed the part of Michelle, she learned that the male lead had not been chosen. She thought of a young actor friend, Randall Carver. She called him and suggested he try out for the part of Jeff. Director Jim Collier chose Carver for the part, giving him his first real break in films. Barbara said, "I was happier for Randy than I was for me!"

Barbara began her study of acting at Temple University and continued at the Herbert Berghof Studio and the American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. Following her study, she went to California and began working in television. She has appeared on such shows as "Marcus Welby," "The Senator," "Ironside," and "Emergency," and played Lloyd Bridges' daughter on the "San Francisco International Airport" series.

"Time To Run" is her first starring role in films, and offers new opportunities for her personal development. "Jimmy Collier, the director, sat down with me and really made me think some things out about myself. He made me see some good and bad aspects of my personality and really made me evaluate why I'm in show business. So the film, and working on it started a whole new metamorphosis for me that's still going on."

While "Time to Run" will surely open new possibilities in Film for Barbara, her first loves are musicals and period pieces. "I guess I'm really a romantic at heart," she confessed. "I love anything that comes from and era when people had time for each other instead of watching television all night. So I'd like to do things from that era. I also love plays, especially Shakespeare. Television is too fast for me; in a film you can do things over again until they're excellent. So I'd like to concentrate on either films of plays on stage."

"Time To Run" also gives Barbara an opportunity to display her ability as a singer when she performs one of the original songs used in the film. She also enjoys art, especially drawing.

At the completion of the course, certificates were awarded to: Maxwell, Robert Berry, Wayne Watson, Earl Ladd, Sr. and Earl Ladd, Jr.

Hayes, pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Muleshoe. Burial was in the Bailey County Memorial Park under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Danny Blaylock, Jeff Chapman, Bruce Chapman, Mike Slayden, Tommy Clements and Preston Wilson.

Tanner, a freshman at the University of Texas at Arlington, collapsed at Muleshoe City Park and was dead on arrival at West Plains Memorial Hospital at 7:50 p.m. Wednesday. He died of an apparent heart attack.

Born in Littlefield, Tanner had been a resident of Bailey County for the past 13 years. The family moved from Littlefield to Springlake and from Springlake to Lazbuddie before settling in Muleshoe.

Tanner graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1973. He was a staff member of the high school paper and was active in the band program. He was a member of the Future Farmers of America and the Future Teachers of America. He competed in solo and ensemble competition in the University Scholastic League.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V.T. Tanner of Muleshoe; two sisters, Mrs. Brenda Weimer of Massillon, Ohio, and Mrs. Suzie Coker of Plattsburgh, N.Y.; and a brother, Brent Tanner, a student at Texas Tech.

The family requests that memorials be made in the form of donations to the National Heart Fund.

Cotton Pest Management Pays

COLLEGE STATION - - - There's an old saying about the "proof in the pudding." And when it comes to proof about the benefits of cotton pest management, it's a clear-cut case of a paying proposition.

When all the air had cleared and a close look was taken at the cotton pest management program in Texas during 1973, net profits had jumped an amazing $1,203,529. That was an average net return of $35 for every dollar invested by farmers in the pilot program which covered 36,000 acres of cotton in four of the state's major producing areas.

Profits were up mainly due to increased yields and decreased insecticide expenditures. Total yields were up 4,300 bales.

Counties involved in the program are Cameron, Willacy and Hidalgo in South Texas, Frio in Southwest Texas, Pecos and Reeves in Far West Texas, and Hill and Ellis in North Central Texas. Producers in all but Frio County reaped higher net profits per acre, with the high being $55.31 on irrigated cotton in the three-county area in South Texas. Profits were down in Frio County due to increased costs of a full-scale diapause boll weevil control program.

The three-year program under the direction of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service began in 1972 when 33,000 acres were included. However, the program did not get underway early enough in the season to get a sound economic assessment the first year.

Coordinator of the pest management program in Texas is

Dr. Raumont Frisbie, Extension entomologist headquartered at Texas A&M University. The program depends heavily on five county Extension entomologists plus some 28 field scouts who keep a close check on field conditions and insect populations during the cotton season.

"The main objective of the pest management program is to reduce production costs while maintaining optimum yields," points out the entomologist. "Pest management is integrated into the total production program and includes such things as planting early, taking full advantage of beneficial insect populations, careful timing of insecticide applications when pest numbers and economic damage indicate the need, and destroying crop residue."

According to Frisbie, the pest management program revolves around the county Extension entomologists and the field scouts. "These are the people on the scene and in the fields. They assess pest numbers and damage along with the number of beneficial insects and the growth stages of the cotton crop. Then they evaluate the situation and discuss it with the growers as to whether or not control measures should be taken."

Frisbie points out that an important part of the program involves a close working relationship between growers and the county entomologists and field scouts. "Each must have confidence in and be dependent on the other. And that's the type of situation that exists in the pilot areas. Everyone is working together to produce the best cotton crop possible."

"It's got to be the way to go if producers are going to keep pace with inflation and spiraling production costs," contends Frisbie. The cotton pest management program is supported by funds from the producers themselves as well as from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Extension Service.

Miss Lynn Hanson Weds O'Donald

Miss Joyce Lynne Hanson, of Muleshoe, and Cecil Curtis O'Donald, of Amarillo, exchanged vows September 14, at 8 P.M. in Calvary Baptist Church of Canyon. Rev. Jimmy Rogers officiated in the double ring ceremony, which centered around "The Love Story" in the Bible, I Corinthians, Chapter 13.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hanson, of Muleshoe, and Mrs. and Mrs. Cecil W. O'Donald of Canyon.

A beautiful heart-shaped candelabra tree, bearing 21 white tapers and enhanced with greenery and pink flowers, decorated the central altar area. Large baskets of pink gladiola flanked each side of the heart. Two seven-branched candelabras, holding white tapers and decorated with greenery and pink satin bows and streamers, completed the background for the candlelight service.

Patricea Herr, of Hereford, presented traditional wedding selections, and accompanied Thesia Seaton, of Lazbuddie, as she sang "More." Miss Herr also presented Wagner's "Bridal March" as the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length wedding gown of white jersey, designed by Priscella of Boston. It featured an empire waistline and a wedding ring collar. The long sleeves were banded with wide cuffs of bridal satin embroidered with pearls. The softly gathered skirt swept to the back to form a chapel length train. The cathedral length wedding veil, of bridal illusion accented with appliques of lace and pearls, was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and satin, trimmed with pearls. The veil was designed by the bride and fashioned by her aunt, Joyce Rook. The bride carried a cascade of pink Sweetheart roses and pink pixie carnations, accented with pearls and pink and white streamers tied in love knots. She wore the traditional blue garter, her bridal ensemble was new, and as something old and borrowed, she wore heir-loom ear rings belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Bill Rook.

Miss Elaine Hanson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Sally Minkley was bridesmaid. They wore identical formal length dresses of blue polyester embossed with pink roses, and featuring removable long sleeved jackets trimmed with lace. Their headpieces were pink silk roses with streamers of pink rosebuds. They carried Colonial bouquets of roses with pink streamers of pink pixie carnations, with pink and blue streamers tied in love knots. Jeanie O'Donald, sister of the groom, and James Janson, brother of the bride, were candlelighters.

Danny O'Donald served his brother as best man, and Rodney Huff was the groomsman. Ushers were David Hanson, brother of the bride, James O'Donald, brother of the groom, and Craig Parker.

Mrs. James O'Donald registered guests at a table covered satin. The decorations featured the bride's Bible, opened to I Corinthians, Chapter 13, and marked with a long-stemmed pink rose. A near-by table held pink satin rice bags, made in the shape of roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hanson wore a dress of rose-pink polyester knit, with yoke and long sleeves made of small tucks. Her corsage was a white orchid and pink Sweetheart roses. Mrs. O'Donald wore a blue and white knit dress and her corsage was a white orchid and pink roses.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was laid with lace-edged net cloth over white satin. The table was centered with a silver candelabra holding four pink tapers and a crystal bowl topped with the bride's bouquet. The beautiful three tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses, and topped with white wedding bells. Mrs. Jerry Waggoner and Mrs. Charles McMurray served fruit punch from a silver punch bowl. Mrs. Bill Rook and Judy Atkins served cake, nuts, and mints from silver and crystal appointments. Other members of the house party were Mrs. D.E. Wickson, Mrs. Jim Seaton, and Trisha Herr.

Seated as a special guest was Mrs. Irene Wickson, grandmother of the bride, of Amarillo. Out of town guests, other than those from Amarillo and other near-by towns, included Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Waggoner, Cory and Christen, Galveston; David Jackman, Houston; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hanson, Elaine, David and James of Muleshoe.

For travel, the bride changed to a pink and white suit, with a pink blouse and white accessories. Her corsage was pink Sweetheart roses. After a wedding trip to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the couple will be at home in Amarillo.

The bride is a graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and earned her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Elementary Education from West Texas State University. The groom is a graduate of Canyon High School, and is presently employed by Sav-A-Stop Services, Inc., of Amarillo.

The Village Restaurant was the scene for the rehearsal dinner for the members of the wedding party, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil O'Donald at 6 p. m. on Friday evening, September 13.

MRS. CURTIS O'DONALD

NOVEMBER WEDDING PLANNED . . . Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Dunbar announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah Lynn to Gary Lee Newsome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Newsome of Hastings, Nebraska. Miss Dunbar is a 1974 graduate from Lubbock Christian High and Gary is a 1973 graduate from Adam's Central High. Miss Dunbar is presently employed at Western Drug and Gary is presently employed at Newsome Construction in Hastings, Nebraska. The couple will exchange vows Saturday, November 30 in the First United Methodist Church of Muleshoe.

Rodeo Club Participated In Wheeler Rodeo

The Muleshoe Rodeo Club participated in the Wheeler Rodeo recently.

The winners are Bull Dogging, Sherman Presley, placed first and received a buckle; Calf Roping, Joe Pate, placed second and received a buckle; Sherman Presley, placed third and received a buckle; Eddy Mardis, placed fourth; Ribbon Roping, Eddy Mardis placed fourth; Team Roping and Sherman Presley, placed fourth. Sherman's total points were 13 points, Joe's total points were five points, and Eddy's total points were three points.

Also, participating in the Rodeo was Dan Ellis, Sherman Presley was the runner-up to all around cowboy and Muleshoe was runner-up in high point team.

THE ELECTRIC HEAT PUMP

It's Reversible...

Just one unit for heating and cooling your home? Sure! The electric heat pump does both and it's more than 100% efficient at the point of use. The heat pump uses the warmth that is always present in the outside temperatures and electricity to provide an atmosphere inside your home that's comfortable and clean.

the heat pump squeezes ever-present warmth from the outside air and converts it to cozy heat in your home . . .

in the summer...

the heat pump removes heat from your home . . . turns it into cool, clean air and recirculates it, dehumidifying all at the same time. For full details on the heat pump . . . and a free personalized heating survey for your own home, call us this week!

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
My husband is an army man and he runs his family like an officer with privates. I have the feeling when he enters the room that all of us should stand and salute and remain that way until he shouts, "at ease."
Now this worries me because while I think a family should respect a father, I think respect should be a mutual thing for each member of a family. Do you agree with this? He reads your column.
Mrs. Sgt.-Va.
Answer:
I think the most important thing that parents can do for their children is to teach set by their own behavior. The tone of one's voice can be as much of a whiplash as a physical blow so we should be very careful of how we speak. A child who is stormed at and then talked gently to becomes confused. He never knows what to expect next. It tends to result in nervousness.

Children should be allowed, as they get older, to think for themselves and to have as much freedom as possible in what they like to do.
Too much permissiveness is bad but repressiveness can be equally as destructive.
Tell your husband that happiness within the family

Mrs. McDaniel's sister and husband left for home today, so she came back to her room.
I read this article again recently and want to share its truth with you. It follows, "The Kingdom of God will never belong to anyone who is impure or greedy. When you follow your own wrong inclinations, your lives will produce these evil results: Impure thoughts, eagerness for lustful pleasure, Hatred and anger, envy, murder, drunkenness, but in the lives he controls are joy, love, peace, patience, kindness, gentleness, and self-control." So let us daily pray for God's guidance and trust to him for daily ways and seek his love and help each day as they come for all his love, so we need him in our lives each day we live. We are so happy that our God who controls the universe can send us rain and sunshine when we need them and his is able to know what we need and when we need it, so let us put our trust in him each day as it comes.

Brotherhood Association Sets Family Night

The Brotherhood Association Family Night has been set for Tuesday night, October 1, at the First Baptist Church in Bovina with the meal to be served at 6:30 p.m. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. All area Baptist church families are invited to attend this meeting. Adult plates will be $1.25 and children under 12 will be charged 50¢. The Crusaders, a Muleshoe quartet, will be bringing the musical program for the evening. The speaker will be Brigadier General Robinson Risner of Cannon AFB, Clovis, N.M.
Risner enlisted in the Army Air Corps in April 1943 and was awarded his wings and a commission as a 2nd Lt. in 1941. He was separated from the service in 1946 but was recalled in 1951 and flew more than 100 combat missions in the F-86 against the Mig-15 over North Korea. He became the 20th jet ace during the Korean War. Gen. Risner was reassigned to the 50th Fighter Bomber Wing at Clovis in 1953 and helped to activate Hahn Air Base in Germany. In 1965 while flying a F-105 Thunderchief he was shot down over North Vietnam and rescued. He was shot down again in September of 1965 and captured. While held a prisoner in Hanoi, he served as Vice Commander of the 4th Allied POW Wing. He was repatriated in February, 1973 and was sent to Florida. In February of 1974 he was reassigned to Cannon AFB, Clovis, N.M. as 832nd Air Division Commander. He has received a number of decorations and oak leaf clusters for acts of duty. Risner is also the author of the book "The Passing of the Night" published by Random House.

Symposium On Managing Energy Wisely In Cotton Gins

A symposium on energy management in cotton gins has been set for October 3 at South Park Inn in Lubbock according to Billy C. Gunter, district agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Purpose of the symposium is to bring to light some current developments related to the energy crisis which affect current and future operations of cotton gins, says Gunter. This symposium also is designed to bring to the attention of ginners on the High Plains the newly developed "mono-flow conveying system" and module building and feeding systems. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Southwestern Public Service Company is conducting the one day symposium. Topics to be covered in the event include air pollution, review of the electric power situation, care and maintenance of motors and motor controls, and voltage drop, energy use and motor operation. The meeting gets underway at 8:30 a.m., October 3, and a lunch will be provided, courtesy of Southwestern Public Service, Gunter explains.

Coaches' Comment

Friday night, September 22, the Mighty Mules met the Friona Chieftains for Muleshoe's first home game of the season. The Mules fell to the Chieftains 13-0. Though a fine misty rain that fell most of the game, Muleshoe's defensive game was outstanding. Both teams played hard and they showed a great deal of competitive spirit. Outstanding defense was played by Rickey Grogan, Max Burhman, Paul Harbin and Rene Torres. The offensive game had trouble getting started but there were a few bright spots. Randy Norman, Tommy St. Clair and Hector Posados showed fine running ability.

Rules Listed For Annual College Days

Each member of the class of '75' will be allowed two school days for college visitation. This policy was established in order that students could make a better decision on college choice.

In order to take a college day students are to follow this procedure: 1. Students must bring a note from parents authorizing the school to excuse them from classes.

2. Students must turn in a make-up sheet signed by each of their teachers. This sheet, properly signed, certifies that the students work is in good shape and his absence from classes will not endanger his chances for graduation.

3. When he turns in make-up sheets, the student will be given a form to be signed by some official of the college. This form must be returned to the school office to be filed with absentee records, 4. No more than 10 students may take college days at the same time, 5. No college days may be taken during quarter tests, 6. No college days may be taken after Friday, April 12.

Senior Class Chili Supper

Members of the Senior class of 1975 are now selling tickets for the annual Senior Class Chili Supper. The chili supper is set for October 4, 1974, and it is being held in the High School Cafeteria from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. October 4 is also Homecoming at Muleshoe High School. Anyone who is interested in helping the Senior class in this major money making project, or those who just want a good dinner come to the chili supper.

After the chili supper, go on over and support the "Mighty Mules" as they meet the Portales Rams. The Mighty "M" Band will entertain you with a fantastic halftime show. For tickets to the chili supper - you may buy them at the door or you can buy them from any Senior of Muleshoe High School.

DE Officers Attend Lab

Early Saturday morning Mr. Mark Gist, Pam Vinson, Sheryl Bass, and Steve Reed left Muleshoe High School to attend the Leadership Lab held in Leveland at South Plains College. Eighty-six students registered and were given name tags along with a folder containing information about the College. Mr. Mark Gist and Mrs. Dona Cornutt of Pampa were the lab advisors. Everyone got acquainted and split up into ten groups.

There were several projects to be completed. Everyone worked hard on their projects, and a lot of enthusiasm was shown.

Lunch was served in the cafeteria - and then back to work. An Auction was held and 10 cans of Tinker Toys were sold for some of the projects. Approximately $30.00 was collected and went to the DECA fund.

Dinner was at 5:30 p.m., and every one reported back to South Plains at 6:30 for the evening session. At 7:00 p.m. the benediction was given by Derrell Lusk, State Junkor Collegiate Chaplain, and the Area VI Leadership Lab was adjourned.

Choir Selects Candidates

The Choir met Friday after school to discuss a booth at the Halloween Carnival. It was decided to have a Red Garter Saloon. There will be music and drinks. The girls elected to be Halloween Queen candidates are Debbie Dillard, Sherrell Rasco, Martha Sanchez and Jana Jones. The Choir will have a party afterwards. The Choir is working hard on these projects and hope to make them successful.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN -- Some people looking for another alternative to buying a home or renting an apartment are finding one in condominium ownership. What is it? Basically, it's something like purchasing a unit in an apartment complex and becoming part-owner of the central facilities of the complex -- the pools, tennis courts, lawns and trees, land, and buildings. Condominium owners become members of an owners association that manages the development and usually is responsible for general maintenance. For this, owners pay a prorated amount per month in addition to their payment on the unit itself.

and equity advantages of home ownership and sometimes the recreational facilities and social opportunities of apartment complexes. But consumers considering the purchase of a condominium should investigate closely. Buying a condominium means buying certain responsibilities. And it could mean buying a headache, if you haven't checked on certain things in advance. The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has received reports from other states about problems faced by some condominium purchasers. Sometimes developers may build more units than the central facilities can accom-out in advance how many units will be built, and that there will be enough recreational and maintenance facilities to prevent overcrowding.

Complaints that appliances, carpeting, draperies, building materials, and workmanship don't resemble the promotional brochures have been reported. The way to avoid such problems is to go see the condominium before buying. Look not only at your unit, but at the communal facilities, since you will be part-owner of them too. A good rule of thumb is never to buy property you haven't seen.

Remember to read all literature carefully -- but realize that what's in the promotional brochure isn't necessarily what you will get. The Department of Housing and Urban Development advises purchasers to delay signing any kind of agreement until all documents pertaining to the condominium have been received and studied. According to HUD, the developer should supply prospective buyers with a "declaration," or book, describing in detail the entire condominium project. HUD officials specializing in condominiums also say it's vit-by-laws, the project's operating budget, and the management agreement.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys say it's important to find out how the condominium complex will be managed, too. The usual procedure is for the developer to set up a management arrangement that the owners association takes over gradually as the units are sold. Be wary of developers who don't specify a time limit for turning over management.

Some developers retain ownership of the central facilities such as pools, tennis courts, and parking lots and lease them to the owners association. An owner then must pay a portion of the monthly lease fee, in addition to his monthly payment and owners association charges, even if he doesn't use the facilities. Some states report that when such payment isn't made, a lien can be placed against the unit and foreclosure begun.

It's also a good idea to check the estimates given for budget and maintenance. Your monthly owners association fees must cover such things, so be sure the estimates are realistic. Some developers underestimate these costs to make monthly fees appear lower.

Some condominium complexes allow you to rent before buying. If this is possible, it is an excellent chance to find out if condominium life is for you. It can also give you an opportunity to watch the owners association in action. Many condominium purchasers fail to realize that the association can be the determining factor in how well the complex is run, how satisfying condominium life can be, and how much resale value your unit can have.

Finally, our Consumer Protection attorneys advise you to check your contract very carefully before purchasing a condominium. Be sure that all details are spelled out and that you understand all of your rights and responsibilities. It's also a good idea to have an attorney who is familiar with condominiums go over the contract.

Soybean Producers Election

W.B. Tilson, executive secretary of the Texas Soybean Producers Board, announced this week that ballots have been mailed to all soybean producers in the state affected by the second biennial election of board members. Tilson pointed out that two directors will be elected from District K which includes the High Plains area and one director will be elected from District LL which is the Northeast Texas area.

The Texas Soybean Producers Board was officially organized October 6, 1970 in Lubbock with a 23 county assessment area. The state is divided into three Districts with board members being elected on a rotating basis every two years for terms of six years. At the present time officers include R.G. Danlap, Floydada, chairman; Royal Burnside, Baytown, vice-chairman; Wesley Schumacher, Plainview, secretary-treasurer. Other board members are Jack Stoess-

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Farm-facts

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

Cotton Outlook Better . . . The Controversial Goat . . . Pecan Crop Looks Good . . . Roundup

THE AVERAGE YIELD of cotton in the United States this year is expected to be 485 pounds per acre, compared to 519 pounds last year; and, in Texas, 318 pounds per acre compared to 431 pounds last year. There may be several reasons for that decline, but it is reasonable to believe that the weather and fertilizer -- or the lack of it -- exerted the most influence on the 1974 cotton crop. Considering the high price of fertilizer, it is pretty certain that farmers put out less fertilizer on this cotton crop than on the 1973 crop. Cotton production in the Nation now is expected to be 13,125,300 bales of upland cotton from 12,995,300 acres, compared to 12,879,900 bales from 11,912,100 acres in 1973. The September estimate for Texas cotton production is 3,180,000 bales, an increase of 130,000 bales over the August estimate and a decrease from the 4,673,000 bales produced in 1973. It is estimated that 800,000 acres planted in Texas have already been abandoned, four times more than the number of acres abandoned in 1973 and the highest level of abandonment in 20 years, says the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Rains on the Low and High Plains have given a more optimistic outlook for the 1974 cotton crop in those areas, however.

A NEWSPAPER story the other day asked the question: "Earth's Worst Friend a Goat?" The writer blamed some unnamed ecologists for claiming the goat is the most dangerous animal in the world, because it chews up trees and gnaws all plants down even to the roots, "thereby causing soil erosion in already arid areas." The controversial goat has a history that extends back as far as mankind's; but he has his defenders, and rightfully so. In times of famine, the goat probably will be the last animal to starve; and he is the source of cabrito, you know, as well as of mohair--if he has the right family background. The Texas Department of Agriculture uses "Judah goats" at its export facilities along the border with Mexico, and they are very helpful in the export program. Fifty years ago, the Department also was using goats in the pink bollworm eradication program. As an eradication measure, infested cotton fields were cleaned of all vegetation and the debris burned. Entomologist R. E. McDonald wrote, in 1925, that goats were used to clean infested cotton fields in Brewster and Presidio Counties and that they cleaned fields "like no human hands could." Like most animals, goats have their faults, but they can't be all bad.

TEXAS' PECAN crop is expected to be 35 million pounds, and if that prediction proves correct that would be a 75 per cent increase over the 1973 pecan crop. The best set apparently is in the San Saba and Cross-Timbers areas, ranging from moderate to heavy. The East Texas pecan crop is expected to be light, and the South Central Texas crop is expected to be from poor to good. Last year's onslaught of walnut caterpillars, which denuded many pecan trees, had a very adverse effect on this year's pecan production . . . Sugar cane production in Texas is expected to be 980,000 tons compared to 734,000 tons in 1973. That production will be from an estimated 28,000 acres, compared to 18,600 harvested last year . . . During the week of August 18-24, there were an estimated 263,000 persons working on Texas farms and ranches, a drop of seven per cent from the previous month. Of that total, 83,000 were hired laborers and the remainder family laborers . . . Peanut production in Texas is estimated to be 454,500,000 pounds, compared to 471,225,000 pounds last year.

President Ford Signs Pension Reform Bill

WASHINGTON--The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974--the Pension Reform Bill--was signed on Labor Day by President Ford. The historic bill establishes standards for private pension and welfare plans, including reporting, disclosure, participation, vesting, funding, and fiduciary responsibility.

It also creates within the U.S. Department of Labor a Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation to pay vested retirement benefits to those whose private pension funds have foundered or which cannot pay all their obligations. President Ford said the bill, covering about 35 million workers, "marks a brighter future for almost all the men and women of our labor force."

With the growth in number and coverage of private pension plans, problems have arisen, the President said. Many workers have not received benefits, even after long service. In some cases, this has been because they changed jobs. In others, their companies went out of business without adequate money in pension funds to pay obligations.

"In addition," President Ford said, "some pension funds have been invested primarily for the benefit of the companies or plan administrators, not for the workers. In his statement, the President outlined seven major parts of the new legislation: --Major standards are established for employee participation in plans, encouraging earlier participation by workers and longer periods over which benefits can be earned. --"Vesting" standards are created to assure, as much as possible, that a worker who participates in plan actually receive some benefits from it and does not lose them because of unfair forfeiture standards or for changing jobs before retirement.

--Fiduciaries who control pension funds are required to discharge their duties solely in the interests of the beneficiaries of their funds. --Full disclosure is required of all information concerning the operation of an employer's retirement plan.

Tax laws are revised to provide more equal treatment of different kinds of plans and to encourage persons not covered by pension plans to provide for their own retirement. --The Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation will pay vested benefits to workers whose plans are unable to. --Some portability of pension credits is established, and workers will be able to transfer some of their pension credits to other plans or to individual retirement accounts. "Together," President Ford said, "these seven points add up to a better deal for the American workers than they have ever known before in private pension plans."

"I believe this act is a model of what can be done by the government to improve the lives of Americans within the private sector without harming the dynamics of our free enterprise system. "I also believe that its passage is a model of cooperation and hard work between the executive and the legislative branches."

The new law does not require any employer to have a pension plan. But does set standards for those that do. It is estimated assets of private pension plans increased from $52 billion to $138 billion between 1960 and 1970. Experts predict that before long these assets will become the Nation's largest source of capital in the economy, one which previously was largely unrecruited.

Private pension plans covered some 30 million workers, or approximately 48 percent of the work force, in 1970. One provision of the new law is that a person must be eligible to participate in a pension plan after that person is 25 years old and has worked for an employer for one year.

However, certain plans may exclude persons who start a job within five years of normal retirement age. Once an employee has achieved "vesting"--or has established a non-forfeitable right to a pension when he or she reaches retirement age, wherever he or she may be working at that time.

The new law requires that pension plans provide vesting to meet one of the three minimum standards: --A 5 to 15 graded standard, under which partial vesting would immediately after 5 years, rising to full vesting after 15 years. --A 10-year, 100 percent standard which would provide full and immediate vesting after 10 years. --A "rule of 45", which would provide vesting based on a combination of age and service.

The new Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation within the Department of Labor will provide a basic insurance program to protect the vested rights of employees. Mandatory premiums will be levied on pension plans, and employers will be liable for the amount of insured benefits not covered by plan assets up to 30 percent of their net worth. Any individual not covered by a public or private retirement plan will be able, under the new law, to establish an individual retirement account and contribute up to $1500 to it annually. The individual retirement account may also be established by the employer or by the employee's union. Contributions are tax deductible and earnings tax-free.

The individual retirement account may be in special trustee or custodial accounts in banks, savings and loan institutions, or credit unions. They may include investment in an annuity contract or qualified retirement bonds.

The Department of Labor will be the principal enforcement agency of requirements involving reporting, disclosure, and fiduciary standards.

Bula News

By Mrs. John Blackman

The community has received approximately three inches of rain since the past Friday night.

The Church of Christ was hostess to a group of young people with their sponsor Sunday evening. Thirty-two young people made up the group of visitors from Conroe, Texas, who were in Lubbock for the World Wide Symposium, held at the Sunset Church of Christ. They came as guests of the local minister and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hitt. A feast of singing was enjoyed before and after the regular preaching services. The local church served supper after church services in the church parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shepard of Loving, Texas were guests in the Nolan Harlan home first part of the week. Mrs. Lula Harlan, resident of the Amherst Manor also came out to spend a few days. Mrs. Shepard and Mrs. Harlan are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Adams were in Lubbock to visit with the V.C. Weavers, at the Quaker Manor home Friday. They got stranded there in the three inch rain that fell and were forced to spend the night with their sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Aduddell of Layton, Utah, came last week for a few days to visit with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Blackman at the West Plains Nursing home and visit in the Buddie Blackman, John Blackman and John Aduddell homes in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones drove to Lake Stamford, Thursday to spend a few days at their trailer home there and do some fishing, but due to the cold norther that blew in Saturday they had to come home.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Withrow and children enjoyed dinner Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Withrow of Sudan, this being J.C.'s birthday his mother honored him with a dinner. Others to enjoy the day were James Withrow and daughter, Marie of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Price and son, Timmy of Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Aduddell and Mr. and Mrs. John Blackman visited Friday night and Saturday at Lovington with Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Blackman and Mrs. Pat Carter.

Thursday morning Oct. 3, at 6:30 a.m. is the next meeting date for the Bula-Enoch's Lions Club breakfast. Guests will be Judge Glenn Williams of Muleshoe and J.W. McMorris, Tax Appraiser and Consultant from Hereford. McMorris' talk will be an explanation of how the appraising of property will be done and careful consideration of appraising. He with his associates are in progress of re-appraising all the property in Bailey County. Visitors for this meeting were welcome.

An investment in Your Future

ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

ESSENTIAL TOO!

The boys on the field are carrying the bulk of the game, but all the boys on the bench are eagerly awaiting their opportunity to get in the game. Some will get to play, others won't, yet each is essential to the team. During practice each week their efforts help build a better team.

To function properly, a church must work as a team. The Pastor and his associates carry most of the load. Many others are needed to help train and teach, or do many other tasks. However whether or not you can serve the Lord in some capacity, your presence in the worship services does help you and others too.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

United States Senate

FIGHTING INFLATION
As most of you probably know, I was named by my Senate colleagues to represent them at a series of conferences on the national economy leading up to the President's summit conference here in Washington September 27th and 28th.

This past week, I spent one entire day at the White House meeting with economists representing business, labor and our academic institutions across the nation at the opening conference of these pre-summit meetings. While there were a variety of opinions offered, there were a number of points on which we found general agreement.

The most important point which I would like to emphasize is that the economists in general agreed that we do not at this point face a real full-scale depression. While there are a myriad of problems causing our current economic situation, the United States economy is hardly collapsing into chaos, as some would suggest. I think it essential that when we talk about our economy it should be healthier to stress that there are 86.3 million Americans, of 94.6 per cent of the available work force, now gainfully employed, and on the average making a higher salary than ever before. In addition, such basic industries as steel, chemicals and paper are working at full capacity and producing huge backlogs.

Admittedly, there are weak spots in our economy. None of us have to be told that an economic slump has been underway since last year. Our economic growth will be slow in future, and we must face up to the fact that inflation of around 10 per cent will be with us for the remainder of this year, at least.

The current pre-summit conferences involving every segment of our national economy are designed to assist us in developing some practical measures we can incorporate to help cool inflation -- an inflation which is worldwide in scope.

During the White House conference last week, there was general agreement that every practical effort should be made to exercise fiscal responsibility in the federal budget. Government cost increases compound the financial burden of the consumer, and do not increase production. I strongly support the theory of letting the individual citizen decide the degree to which non-productive price increases should be imposed. He will cast his vote in the market place by the expenditure of his dollar for goods and services.

The answer is not to be found in the re-imposition of wage and price controls. I have just written a letter to President Ford emphasizing that the Congressional intent in creating the new Council on Wage and Price Stability was to establish a forum to monitor sensitive areas of the economy.

Already some economists are suggesting that the new Council can issue wage and price guidelines for various sectors of the economy. This is not what the Council was created to do. Should it take such a direction, the next step would be to use the legislation as a vehicle to encourage manatory controls. It is my firm belief that the controls of last year helped create shortages and dislocations of products which only fed the fires of inflation.

I now believe that the price bubble brought on by the controls of a year ago is nearly behind us. Our economy is experiencing a period of adjustment to the free market mechanism, and if left free to operate, it will equate supply and demand and return a sense of equilibrium to the market place. Our White House session of this past week developed several short-term suggestions which I feel will be most helpful. It was stressed that there is a need for an all-out campaign by both business and labor to increase productivity. After all, we cannot spend more than we produce and hope to hold prices down. There were suggestions for more incentives for investments to increase our productive capacity to meet the world demand for goods. And, while I am on the subject of the economic session, I wish to commend Professor Jackson Grayson, dean of the Southern Methodist University School of Business, for his contribution to that session.

One other very essential point is the fact that we must put our own inflationary problems in a global context. I have recently returned from Europe where I discussed the international economic problems with finance ministers from several Western inflation the world has been experiencing, the enormous increase in the price of energy over a short period of time has added a critical "cost-push" factor. Except for West Germany, the rate of inflation is much higher in Western Europe than in the United States. Like us, they are experiencing the problem of agricultural surpluses that have lowered payments to farmers while inflation has increased prices on the market.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Fur flew at both Democratic and Republican conventions last week.

When the smoke cleared, the record showed Democrats in Austin:

- Re-elected State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Calvin Guest of Bryan 3,125 to 2,183 votes over liberal challenger Leonel Castillo, Houston city controller. Guest is the choice of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.
- Selected a new SDEC, about equally divided between liberals and conservatives.

Both sides claimed control.

- Wrote a platform encompassing most of what Briscoe wanted but added some things he didn't ask for and eliminated some he did.
- Named 76 delegates to the December mini-convention in Kansas City to write a national party charter. Again, both sides are well represented. Liberals wanted more minorities on the slate.
- Texas Republicans, at Houston:

- Criticized President Ford for his earned-amnesty proposal and nomination of Nelson Rockefeller for vice-president.
- Turned down a resolution calling for support of the president on the pardon of former President Richard Nixon.
- Adopted a conservative platform confined to state issues, including support of the right-to-work law and opposition to agency shop legislation and a recommendation for a one per cent reduction in the state sales tax.
- Re-elected Jack Warren of Tyler chairman and named the 1975-76 GOP state executive committee.

OIL "WIDE OPEN" — Texas Railroad Commission, for the 31st straight month, set the oil production allowable for October at 100 per cent.

Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon said he thinks "we can get through this winter without undue hardship." He warned, however, that there is a threat of coal strike, possible new Arab oil embargo and a cold winter.

U. S. stocks of crude oil are 55.6 million barrels above a year ago. Langdon credited conservation and voluntary use cutbacks by consumers with much of the increase.

Buyers increased nominations to purchase by 18,511 barrels a day—to 4,092,783 for October.

STILL RUNNING—An endorsement by the AFL-CIO executive board revived Rep. Carl Parker's lagging campaign for House speaker.

Meanwhile, Parker pledged to swing whatever remaining support he has to another pro-labor candidate if he sees he has no chance of winning.

Rep. Neil Caldwell of Alvin and Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale indicated they are making soundings to see if any of Parker's votes can be switched to them.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake claimed to have more than 100 votes—of the 150 House members committed to him.

HEARING PUT OFF — Public hearing on auto insurance rates has been postponed from October 1 to October 17.

State Board of Insurance Chairman Joe Christie said the delay was necessary because the industry has not made available needed statistical data on which rate making is based.

COURTS SPEAK—Misconduct of a prosecutor brought reversal of a life imprisonment sentence given a Dallas man for strangling his 10-month-old son with a towel.

The Court of Criminal Appeals also affirmed the life sentence assessed a Glasscock County man in a murder case.

The same court declined to revoke the probated sentence of an Ector County burglar, though he admitted defying terms of the probation by leaving the county and failing to meet with his probation officer for a five-and-a-half-month period.

A Houston district judge ordered Gulf Oil Chemicals Company to pay a $20,000 penalty for violation of a state air control regulation.

AG OPINIONS—Atty. Gen. John Hill held a county commissioners court cannot authorize back pay to an employee temporarily suspended following felony charges.

In other recent opinions, the attorney general concluded:

- A church-provided residence for a minister of music may qualify for tax exempt status provided other requirements of law are met.
- A fireman may receive retirement credit for service rendered prior to the effective date of the pension act except where the law specifically conditions benefits on a certain period of participation in the pension fund.
- The Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators may license directors of group homes as nursing home administrators, but it may not establish a separate type of license for them.

The Agriculture Department can build an export station on leased land.

DEADLINE SET—Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reminded South Texas cotton farmers of a September 25 deadline for plow-up and stalk destruction.

Cotton harvest for the state has reached 18 per cent completion compared with only six per cent at this time last year, and prospects for South Texas crops are excellent.

However, White said the state's cotton production is projected at 3.1 million bales, a decrease from the 4.6 million bales of 1973.

The 13-county area affected by the deadline is bordered by Webb, Duval, Jim Wells and San Patricio counties on the north and on the south by Starr, Hidalgo and Willacy counties.

ERRORS NOTED — About 150,000 taxpayers in South Texas have received questionnaires asking them to provide correct information on social security numbers.

Internal Revenue Service District Director Richard J. Stakem Jr. said thousands of discrepancies were discovered when names and social security numbers of wives filing income tax returns were matched with Social Security Administration data.

IRS and SSA said correction of discrepancies now will save lots of trouble later on when applications for social security benefits are filed.

SHORT SHORTS

Rep. Ben Bynum of Amarillo complained of delay in releasing a Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs report on no-fault auto insurance.

A House committee on business and industry sub-panel plans hearings in major cities on real estate business complaints.
