Moisture not enough to halt fire danger

With what was thought to be a lot of strange weather - snow, rain, hail, and thunderstorms over the last several days, wasn't enough to decrease the fire danger for the remainder of the month or beyond.

The wet weather effects will be limited to a short duration of maybe one to two weeks unless heavier concentrations of moisture are seen on the High Plans. As each day passes and the weather returns to warmer temperatures and warm winds continue to dry out the fields of grass, brush, and trees, the fire danger will begin to increase back to the intensity that we had previously encountered.

On March 12, 1999, the Texas Forest Service Fire Management Team met to assess the impact of the current rain event across the State, which included the High Plains area. Considering the previous weather occurrence and future forecast for intermittent rain showers and temperatures below 70 degrees, the Team recommanagers stationed in Childress and Texas Forest Service firefighters in ing fair slated here March 25. was structured in such a way as to give the Secretary of Agriculture the flexibility he needed to get the money out as quickly as possible. The thinking was that the USDA works with farmers and ranchers on a daily basis and that they knew best how to get the help out in the fastest and most effective

Well, it's been five months now, and a good bit of this money is still sitting on some bureaucrat's desk in Washington. Just last week, Secretary Glickman announced that two billion dollars in farm disaster relief payments which producers have been waiting for will not be available until June. With planting season just around the corner, this is simply inexcusable.

But just as bad is the way the president has been playing Ping-Pong with the Farm Service Agency. Last spring, he wanted to cut the agency's budget. Then in the fall, he wanted to put more money back in. And now he wants to cut it again. This not only bad policy, but also it doesn't make any sense.

Making government work begins with making government responsive to the people and accountable for the job it was given to do.

Right now, the Department of Agriculture is flunking on both of these counts.

For more information on this or any other issue before Congress, please write Rep. Mac Thornberry at 131 Cani Building, Washington, DC 20515, or contact him through his website at www.house.gov/thornberry/

Fifth Avenue Walkers join the ranks

By Sue Church, County FCS Agent

Mary Lynn Bell reports the Fifth Avenue Walkers are organized and ready to take on the other teams in the Walk Across Texas campaign. As the most recent team to register, the Fifth Avenue team will join the Donley County State Bank Loaners, Herring National Shufflers, Community Bank Y2K Hustlers, Let's Go! and St. Mary's Streakers in trying to reach Houston by May 19. Each team has a captain and seven members who will set the goal of walking 535 miles (the distance from Clarendon to Houston) over an eight-week period of time.

It's never too late to take action for better health by organizing a team of fellow walkers, bikers or joggers. With March 25 being the Walk Across Texas kickoff in Donley County, we hope all teams will register as soon as possible. Maps will go on display in banks and at the courthouse next week to show how each team will be progressing over the eight weeks. Be sure that your team's name is on the map

For more information and registration information contact the Donley County Extension Office at 874-2141. Also, Cennet Rhode and Virginia Patten will be happy to assist teams in registering for the event.

Garden School to be offered March 26

By Leon J. Church, County Agent The first ever Donley County Garden School will be conducted on Friday afternoon March 26. Sessions will begin at 1:00 p.m. in Room 102 of the Clarendon College Administra-

CISD students participate in WT history day program

Clarendon CISD students participated in the regional level of competition in the National History Day program on February 20 at WTAMU.

National History competition is open to all students in grades 6-12 who are enrolled in social studies classes. Its purpose is to encourage independent research and promote the study of local history.

In the research paper category, the high school was represented by Nickless Devin - first place, Michael McFarland - second place, and and McFarland will advance to state competition. Martin also received the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum award for excellence in research.

Lindsay Green and Larmie Cruz received first place honors for their duet "Rural Electrification Comes to Donley County." Green and Cruz also received the Oral History Award and will represent the region at the state level of competition.

In the media/technology category, the group of Nathan Sears, Mark Howard, and Derek Shields placed first and advanced to the state contest with their computer presentation "Irrigation in the Texas Panhandle."

Placing in the individual media category were Lindy Helms' "The Reign of King Cotton" - first and Bryan Turvaville's "Global Positioning System" - second place. They both advanced to the state level.

In the project category, Kajal Patel and D.J. Edwards represented the school with their group project "Panhandle Women on the Job." Patel and Edwards received first place and the Jane MacCallum Women in Texas History award. They will compete in both categories at the state level.

Noel Devin presented her individual project "Opiates: Their Effects on the Civil War and the Drug War." Devin placed first in her category. Placing second individual project was Angela Papa's "Meat Inspection: This Little Piggy Went to Market." Both Devin and Papa will compete at state.

Valerie Taylor represented Clarendon Junior High. Taylor's individual performance "Marie Curie and the Discovery of Radium" placed first and will compete in state compe-

Texas History Day level of competition will be held May 7-8 in Austin. The students ask that anyone interested in assisting them with research of a particular topic contact them at 874-2181. They would especially like to hear from women who have worked at Pantex.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM

the Texas Agriculture Code, Chapter 74, Subchapter D, and 4 Tex. Admin. Code, Chapter 3, Subchapter A, the Texas Department of Agriculture (the Department) will conduct a referendum on the proposition of whether or not cotton growers shall establish a boll weevil eradication program in the Northern Rolling Plains Boll Weevil Eradication Zone and pay a maximum annual assessment in the amount of $10 per planted row acre for dryland cotton, and $15 per planted row acre for irrigated cotton for up to 12 years, plus a maintenance fee thereafter. The initiation of a program at this assessment level is contingent upon obtaining financing and stave and/or federal cost-share funding to allow eradication program to operate within a maximum budget level of $93.15/acre, the projected cost for an eradinecessary financing is obtained, the Plains Zone and meets the seven pected to begin on a date determined by the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation based on biological and geographical considerations and the availability of resources. The approved assessment will to be collected until a program is initiated in the zone. If the necessary financing is not arranged prior to program commencement, the program will not be initiated and no assessment will be collected.

The Northern Rolling Plains Eradication Zone consists of all of Gray, Wheeler, Donley, Collingsworth, Hall Childress, Cottle, King, Hardeman, Wilbarger, Wichita, Clay, and Foard counties, and all of Archer County lying north of a line following FM 422 commencing at the Baylor County line running east to the intersection of FM 210, continuing east to the intersection of State Highway 25, and continuing east to the Clay County line. If a program and assessment are approved by this referendum, growers in the zone shall vote again on whether or not to continue eradication efforts after four years of active program activities.

Also, as part of the referendum, a representative of the above-referenced zone will be elected to serve on the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation Board of Directors. The board is charged with administering the boll weevil eradication program in Texas. The referendum and board election will be held by mail balloting. Ballots will be mailed by April 1, 1999. All ballots cast by mail must be postmarked not later than April 22, 1999, in order to be valid. Any cotton grower having cotton production in 1998 within the zone defined above is eligible to vote, and, if he or she resides in the Northern Rolling Plains Zone and has at least seven years experience as a cotton grower, may have his or her name placed on the ballot as a candidate in the board member election. A cotton grower is defined as a person who grows cotton and receives income from the sale of cotton. The term includes an individual who, as owner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, is entitled to share in the cotton grown and available for marketing for the farm, or share in the proceeds from the sale of the cotton from the farm.

March cotton marketing workshops focus on profitable pricing can learn how pricing strategies affect 7539; Gary Bomar, Abilene, (915) profitability and develop pricing strategies tailored to their own operation at five cotton marketing workshops in March, said an agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension

Producers can't control prices. but they can control how all or part of their crop is priced and when to take a price," said Dr. Jackie Smith, Extension ag economist-marketing specialist based in Lubbock. "Producers who know how to evaluate pricing alternatives can formulate pricing strategies that help maximize profit.

The workshops are slated for March 23 in Levelland, March 24 in Plainview, March 25 in Lamesa, March 26 in Abilene, and March 29 in Littlefield.

Each workshop will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Registration costs $30 per person, payable at the door. This includes a noon meal and an extensive set of materials," Smith said. "If possible, spouses should attend, too. The $30 fee can apply to a couple, if they share a set of course materials."

Workshop speakers include Smith and Dr. Carl Anderson, Texas A&M Extension economist and cotton marketing specialist. Their presentations will cover:

- Overview of Price Risk Management · Introduction to the Futures Market
- · Localizing the Futures Market with Basis
- Introduction to Options
- · Estimating Production Costs and Break-Even Prices
- Marketing Alternatives
- Developing a Marketing Plan
 Current Pricing Strategies

We will also discuss the benefits of participating in marketing clubs, and Dr. Anderson will provide an update on the current cotton market situation and outlook," Smith said.

Producers can get more information on these workshops, or register for the one in their area by calling: Jackie Smith, (806) 746-6101; Gregg Jones, Levelland, (806) 894-3159; Bob Benson, Plainview, (806) 291-
