Cherry Pie -- A Family Favorite

Cheers will be loud and long when Ma bakes the family's favorite dessert, Cherry Pie, and if she uses quick-cooking tapioca as the pie thickener, she will feel mighty pleased at the ease with which she made it. Quick-cooking tapioca, you know, requires no special blending. Furthermore, it permits only the true fruit flavor and color to come through. Try this recipe for Cherry Pie and please your folks tonight

Cherry Pie

21/2 to 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca 1 cup sugar

% teaspoon salt 4 cups (2 No. 2 cans) drained pitted red sour cherries (water-packed)*

1/2 cup cherry juice Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie 1 tablespoon butter

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, cherries and juice. Roll half the pastry ½ inch thick. Line 9-inch pie pan and trim pastry at edge of rim. Roll remaining pastry ½ inch thick and cut several 2-inch slits or a fancy design near center. Fill pie shell with cherry mixture. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of bottom crust.

To adjust top crust, fold pastry in half or roll loosely on rolling pin; center on filling. Open slits with a knife. (Well-opened slits are important to permit escape of steam during baking.) Trim top crust, allowing it to extend ½ inch over rim. To seal, press top and bottom crust together on rim. Then fold edge of top crust under bottom crust and flute. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 55 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

Don't Sit Out A Cold! Try This!

What causes a cold? That's a baffler. Men of science have been trying to solve the mystery for centuries. At one time or another it's been unjustly attributed to decaying leaves, face powder, the influence of comets, night air and damp churches. And just as much of a mystery as its cause is a cure. There have been some pretty strange cures advanced during the past hundred years ... wearing an asafetida bag around your neck, eating sugar moistened with coal oil, drinking aconite tea or garlic juice and rubbing the chest with goose There's only one remedy that has survived all competition past and present and that's drinking lemon juice and baking soda . . . the juice of one fresh lemon, a half teaspoon of soda and a half glass of water two or three times a day. In this day and age when it's generally agreed that you can treat a cold but you can't cure it, this remedy makes sense. It's inexpensive, costing little more than the price of a lemon, and since you can't expect to cure a cold overnight you might as well treat it as economically as possible. • Another advantage to this remedy is that you can turn it into a very pleasant drink by adding a teaspoon of sugar, honey or maraschino cherry juice. Even children who balk at anything resembling medicine will down it cheerfully.

RESTRAINING THE FIGHTER by Bob Bartos

A dog's natural love of the chase sometimes can produce results that are unfortunate both for the dog and his master. It can lead to a fracas that may leave the dog or the pursued animal badly mangled, so every effort should be made to discourage the habit.

One easy solution is to confine the dog to the yard, but if this is not practicable, other approaches may be used.

Cat-chasing is probably the most common expression of this problem. Usually it can be cured by having a cat as a pet. At first, there may be growling and hissing, but after repeated scoldings the two animals most often become the best of friends.

All problems of this type are most easily controlled if the dog is first taught obedience. He can be taught to stop and desist on the command of "No." A basic method is the use of a long check cord attached to his collar. Thus sone can upset him abruptly when he bolts. The command "No" must be given loudly the instant the dog reaches the end of the check cord, thus correlating the command with an unpleasant reaction.

The same method may be used to cure a dog of chasing and killing chickens. Another way is to put the dog in a henhouse for a week or so, confining him on a short chain and feeding him light rations. This will probably make him so sick of chickens that he will never again be tempted to chase them.

Feeding Tip: Poor appetite may result from a deficiency of Vitamin B-1. Giving your dog liver or an all-purpose dog food such as Friskies will assure an adequate supply of this im-

My feeling is that this situation simply calls for a selling job, a conditioning of the public pulse, and some subtle re-education to eliminate-or at least reducethe terror that man feels at the mere mention of the income tax.

To make it 100 per cent democratic, we would elect a "Miss Short Form of 1957" for those making less than $5,000.00 and a "Miss Long Form" for those in the higher brackets.

We have several memorial editions to announce. They are "The Cow Killers" by Fred Gipson and beauty contest. This is an old illustrated by Bill Leftwich. The gimmick, I'll admit, but always text is the work of the Aftoso Commission when the Americans under a treaty with the Mexican government attempted to eradicate the foot and mouth disease. This is from the Porter Memorial fund and "The Wonderful Sibleys" by William Maier is a book club edition dedicated to the memory of Mr. Porter. "The Fountain Overflows" by Rebecca West is her first novel in twenty years. She has been writing nonfiction. The book si a memorial for Ben Prewitt. Another novel is "The Night of the Tiger" by Al Dewlen who formerly lived at Memphis, Texas, but is now in Amarillo. It was also given in memory of Ben. The San Diego plot wasn't ta:en too seriously at the time, but in 1917 when the famous Zimmermann note, a document that helped put the United States into World War I, was intercepted astonished officials in Washington suddenly realized that the plan was real and not the product of raving crackpots. The fabulous new Buick CENTURY Caballers Tou've seen many improvements in wagons I these past 5 years. But, to use a vivid expression, "You ain't seen nothing yet!"

For now comes a new kind of wagon called the Caballero.

It's the lowest and the sleekest wagon you ever saw-and the most practical wagon ever built by Buick.

You get up to 8½ feet of level deck for "long" freight-wider-opening rear gates top and bottom for easier loading - a panoramic rear window for safer parking. Even your rear-seat passengers get a view

But beyond all that, this one's a '57 Buick CENTURY through and through.

unmarred by center posts.

So you ride with buoyant new roadability-from a new chassis that "nests" the body to a record low center of gravity.

You guide with a new and surer handling, stop on the level even when you have to brake hard, travel with the satisfying security of Buick brawn, solidity, rock-firm steadiness.

Above all, you command with a new ginger here-with a quicker and surer power response that stems from an all-new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine with 10 to 1 compression.

And sparking this great power is a new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that gives you such instant full-torque obedience in "Drive"-it practically eliminates your need for "Low."

The stunning new Caballero-the '57 Buick CENTURY Estate Wagon illustrated here-can be yours at a price surprisingly easy to take.

Or you can have a similar body style in Buick's even lower-priced Special Series. Drop in and see us-today.

Ford's longer, lower Sculptured Look makes other cars look downright old-fashioned. The wider frame lets you sit sweet and low . . . lets the car hug the roads. And Ford's new front suspension, rear springs and new easy handling make you think every road is cloud-smooth.

The magic touch of the new Ford power plants makes mountains disappear. You get this surging power in a wide choice of new Silver Anniversary V-8 engines. Or you can choose Ford's new, more economical Mileage Maker Six, the most powerful Six ever offered in the low-price field.

There's magic in Ford's price tag, too! You won't believe this big new Ford is still priced Ford-low. But it is. Come in and test the magic of the new kind of Ford.
