Telephone Company Seeks Rate Increase - Offers Dial Service

An application for an increase in local telephone rates was filed by representatives of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest at a special meeting of the Clarendon City Commission on June 7.

The request proposed a $4.00 increase on the monthly rate for individual business line customers and a $1.00 hike in all classes of residential service.

H. E. Craig, district manager for the company, revealed that the last increase in rates at Clarendon became effective July 16, 1954, and these rates were below those originally requested but were placed into effect in order to obtain immediate relief from extremely inadequate earnings.

"Experience with these rates, which presently are being charged, has not resulted in an improvement in earnings," Craig added. "This is due to the fact that the increased revenue from the 1954 rate increase has not met the increased cost of furnishing the service brought about by higher wages paid employees, higher taxes and higher prices paid for materials and equipment."

After considerable discussion at last week's special commission meeting, General's spokesman finally announced that if the City Commission would grant the following rates effective with the next billing date (June 16), the Company would furnish dial telephone service in Clarendon within 30 months of the passage of the ordinance:

BUSINESS:
One Party Service	$12.00
Two Party Service	10.00
Extension	1.50
RESIDENCE:
One Party Service	$6.00
Two Party Service	5.00
Four Party Service	4.25
Extension	1.00

Arlie Wood Receives Painful Burns

Arlie Wood, prominent farmer at Lelia Lake, received first to third degree burns early Tuesday morning on the Lister place near Lelia Lake while preparing for hay baling operations and his baler and pickup caught fire. He was burned on his chest, neck, face and right arm.

Arlie reported that he was filling the fuel tank on the baler when the gasoline ignited. He threw the can away from him and the flames enveloped the pick-up. His young son helped tear his clothing away which prevented more serious burns.

Application Made To City Commission For Increase In Local Telephone Rates

The Honorable H. T. Burton, Mayor City of Clarendon, Texas Dear Mayor Burton:

By means of this letter, the General Telephone Company of the Southwest is hereby making application to the City Commission of Clarendon, Texas, for an increase in local service telephone rates. Attached are operating statements as of March 31, 1957.

The last increase in rates at Clarendon became effective July 16, 1954. These rates, which are presently being charged, were not those requested originally by the Company but were placed into effect to enable the Company to secure immediate relief in earnings. Experience with the present rates has not resulted in an improvement in earnings. In fact the Company is still suffering a loss on operations at Clarendon.

Increased costs of operations in terms of higher wages paid to employees, higher taxes, and higher prices paid for materials and equipment used to furnish service have caused this condition. For example, since 1953 through December 31, 1956, employees have received wage increases amounting to over 14%. A further wage increase of over 5% became effective April 7, 1957, which if reflected in the operating statements supporting this application would result in an even greater loss than already incurred. As will be noted from Exhibit A attached, the revenues received for local service for the 12 months ending March 31, 1957, did not cover the cost of furnishing the service.

In view of the present deficit in earnings at Clarendon, we have no alternative but to place this application before the City Commission at this time.

Listed below are present and requested rates:

BUSINESS:
One Party Service	$12.00
Two Party Service	10.00
Extension	1.50
RESIDENCE:
One Party Service	$6.00
Two Party Service	5.00
Four Party Service	4.25
Extension	1.00

As will be noted from the exhibits attached, even these rates will not produce adequate earnings on present operations. They will, however, wipe out the present losses.

Yours very truly,
H. E. CRAIG
District Manager

Local Youth Wins High State F. F. A. Honor

Harold Lindley, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Lindley of the Chamberlain Community, represented the 4,000 F.F.A. members in Area I at the state checking meeting of the F.F.A. of Texas, in its week's meeting at Austin, June 3-8th. Harold was selected as the third ranking member among the top youths of the entire state organization for the 1956-1957 school year. This is the first time that a local youth has ever won the Star Area Lone Star Farmer award, and the ranking of third among the entire state is a high honor for both Harold and the local chapter and school.

In addition to being selected as third ranking star lone star farmer of the state for this year, Harold was selected as the F.F.A. representative from Area I to attend the State Range School sponsored by Texas A&M, August 12-17th. The area organization will pay Harold's expenses for the week's school on range conditions sponsored for outstanding rural youth throughout the entire state.

Lindley served on the state committee to rank other lone star farmers from over the state and to determine winners in the various state F.F.A. contests. Harold and his mother and father will be guests at a banquet at the State Fair of Texas in October honoring the outstanding F.F.A. and 4-H members for the year.

Profitable Uses For Johnsongrass

Johnsongrass is a forage crop or a weed depending on where it occurs. It can be undesirable anywhere under certain field conditions, but farmers in adapted areas may well sing its praises if they are willing to tolerate certain peculiarities.

Johnsongrass can be a good quality hay or grazing crop, according to recent data from the Denton Agricultural Experiment Station. When used as hay it should be harvested in the boot stage, says County Agent H. M. Breedlove. Properly harvested, Johnsongrass is as nutritious as Sudan and has comparable quality.

Although condemned by some, Breedlove says Johnsongrass is definitely valuable as a pasture if properly managed. It can be profitably grown with such winter legumes as sweet clover or burr clover. There is some danger, as in all surghums and sorghum grasses, of prussic acid poisoning if the crop is grazed while resuming normal growth after drought or frost retardation. Usually the plant contains only small quantities of the acid, however, and few livestock are poisoned by it.

Improved Johnsongrass, Sorghum-Johnsongrass and perennial sweet Sudangrass in 40-inch rows at Denton averaged 5,640 pounds of hay per acre—over 900 pounds above similar crops in 12-inch rows. Overcrowding the plants reduces production materially.

Johnsongrass does have a profitable place in certain agricultural situations. Given a proper chance this "weed" can pay handsome dividends.

Dusters Defeat Groom 8 to 3

The Clarendon Dusters defeated Groom at Groom last Sunday afternoon by a score of 8 to 3. Weldon Talley was the winning pitcher, allowing Groom only five hits.

The Dusters got ten hits including Manager Waylan Newman's 1st inning homer with one on.

The Dusters will meet the Amarillo Hawks here Sunday afternoon at Duster Park. Game time will be 3 o'clock and the local boys are anticipating a good turnout of local fans. They are out to get the trophy which is now held by Amarillo. The probable starting pitcher for the Dusters will be either Don Newman or Weldon Talley.

College Summer Classes Small

Summer classes for Clarendon Junior College got underway last week with a comparatively small enrollment. ## Little League Baseball To Begin Next Week

All plans are moving right along for Little League baseball in Clarendon with the first game being scheduled for Tuesday night of next week.

The four teams already organized are the White Sox coached by Mutt Graham; Yankees coached by Ray Moore; Red Legs coached by Bill Mooring and the Braves coached by Maurice Hart.

The schedule of games for next week is as follows: — June 18, first game—White Sox vs Yankees; second game immediately following, Red Legs vs Braves. June 20—White Sox vs Red Legs; Yankees vs Braves in second game.

Around forty players have signed up in all age brackets at present but there is a shortage of players in the 13 to 15 age group. All boys in this bracket are urged to be out Thursday night so at least two teams can be organized in this group. A regular workout will be held Thursday night also. Regular playing nights will be Tuesday and Thursday nights of each week beginning at 7 o'clock. At the present time four teams have been organized in the 9 to 12 age group.

Two of the light poles were moved this week to give better lighting farther out on the field since the teams will be playing regular baseball instead of soft ball.

The Chamber of Commerce has purchased $150.00 worth of Little League equipment including pads, bats, balls, etc., to help the Little League get started.

Change In Train Schedule June 16

The first run of the finer and faster all-stainless steel Texas Zephyr will be Sunday, June 16, cutting the present schedule about one hour in both directions between Dallas and Denver according to Roy H. Kimble, General Passenger Agent, Fort Worth & Denver Railway.

On Sunday, June 16, Northbound, the Texas Zephyr will leave Denver at 1 p. m., arriving at Dallas at 7:20 a. m. J. H. Howze, local agent, reports these two trains will arrive in Clarendon from 15 to 30 minutes later than their present schedule.

The two Texas Zephyrs are semi-articulated, with a low center of gravity for improved riding qualities. Each train features a coach lounge, mid-train dining car and full-length parlor-observation-lounge car. Sleeping accommodations include roomettes, bedrooms, compartments, drawing-rooms, room suites and standard berths.

This is published in book form six times yearly. The Library will receive the current book-issue. This memorial gift from Mrs. Morrow of Bonham, Texas is one the Library readers will justly appreciate as they familiarize themselves with each publication. The files will be quite helpful for reference work and pleasurable reading.

Another book chosen some time ago, and recently filed for your use is "The U.S.A. in Color" by the Editors of Holland Magazine. This too, was given by a friend in memory of Mr. Phelan. It is a book that will be used by both the juniors and adult readers for they will find it beautifully illustrated.

"World Faith, the Story of the Religions of the United Nations" by Ruth Cranston will be excellent reading for adults. This book was given in memory of Mr. J. C. Daly, who was the father of Mrs. Forrest Sawyer. It reveals some interesting facts concerning the several nations. Some have asked for it before I could put it on file for use.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Thousands of North Texans are entitled to reopen claims for a refund of income tax previously disallowed for sick pay exclusion under the 1939 Internal Revenue Code, according to Mr. James Z. Pearce, Administrative Officer of the Amarillo office. A recent Supreme Court decision has allowed a taxpayer's claim for sick pay exclusion under the 1939 Internal Revenue Code. This decision makes it necessary for the Internal Revenue Service to reconsider thousands of claims for sick pay exclusion for tax years of 1953 and earlier under the Epeimer decision for tax years of 1953 and earlier that were originally disallowed.

The Internal Revenue Service officials estimated that the claims would average between $40 and $50 each, amounting to some $400,000 to $500,000 total.

Mr. Pearce emphasized that taxpayers who have not filed a claim in the past are not eligible to file a claim now. He advised the taxpayers who have filed Epeimer claims in the past to write to the Sick Pay Exclusion Section, Internal Revenue Service, 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas, giving full details concerning their claim and request that their claim be reconsidered.

Flood waters of the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy washed the ground from under the foundations of the Boyd house and destroyed its contents. The Red Cross will rebuild the house and provide household furnishings. Progress Being Made For Fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree July 12 to 18th

Boy Scout officials report excellent progress in preparing the site at historic Valley Forge, Pennsylvania for the Fourth National Jamboree to be held next July 12 to 18.

A 1,500-acre tent city will house more than 50,000 Boy

Scouts, Explorers, and leaders from all parts of the nation and some from other lands. It will have its own water, electricity and telephone exchange, post offices, and other services for the largest gathering of boys in the western hemisphere.

About one hundred special trains and hundreds of buses will transport Scouts to the Jamboree. Railroads are giving jamboree participants special railroad rates and assisting in planning routes so that Scouts may visit leading cities and scenic spots before and after the jamboree. Contingents will arrive during the three days before the jamboree's opening date, July 12. Three days will be needed to speed the Scouts home after the jamboree closes the evening of July 18.

The jamboree campers will be at least twelve years old, holding Second Class rank or higher. The jamboree is a self-sustaining enterprise made possible by the fifty dollar jamboree fee paid by each participant.

Double Medical Check

National, state, and local health and protective agencies are cooperating to give the jamboree a health and safety record better than the average city of 50,000 population. Doctors from home areas will travel and live with the contingents. Each jamboree Scout and Explorer is checked by a physician at home and again upon his arrival at the jamboree.

Already completed is a stage 300 feet wide and 100 feet deep in front of a natural amphitheatre that will hold about 55,000 jamboree campers and guests. Spectacular programs are planned for the opening evening, July 12, and the farewell program on the evening of July 18. Outstanding Americans will participate in both programs.

There will be other Scout shows in sectional arenas. Campfires and daytime demonstrations will give each Scout a chance to show his stuff or be entertained and instructed by the other fellow's skills.

Each night, radio-controlled trucks will deliver fresh dairy products, meat, fruit and vegetables to commissary refrigerators. It will be high-quality food, bought by the carload, to fit well-balanced menus.

Troops will get their food and cooking supplies before each meal at sectional commissary tents. Jamboree campers will cook their own meals and share the daily camp chores. Each patrol or crew member will share such tasks as fire builder, cook, and "cleaner-upper". Thanks to the use of over one million paper plates there won't be a dishwashing problem.

The jamboree camp inhabitant will have plenty of time to pick up camping techniques through intercamp visits, displays, campfires and demonstrations. There will be excursions to historic shrines in and near Philadelphia.

Sunday, July 14 will bring one of the most impressive thrills to the jamboree. In several religious services, each conducted in designated areas simultaneously, the more than 50,000 boys and leaders will worship according to their own faiths, all united in the freedom of their right to worship God.

The sprawling tent city will be governed by the Scout Oath and Law and administered by teams of national, sectional, and troop Scouting leaders. Scoutmasters and their assistants are being carefully selected locally for the responsibility and honor of jamboree troop leadership.

For many of the 50,000 participants it will be a "once in a lifetime" experience seeing America and camping with others from all parts of the nation.

Quail, Fish, Whitewings Get New Aid

AUSTIN—New momentum for bobwhite quail, white-winged dove and fisheries projects was authorized by the Game and Fish Commission meeting in Austin.

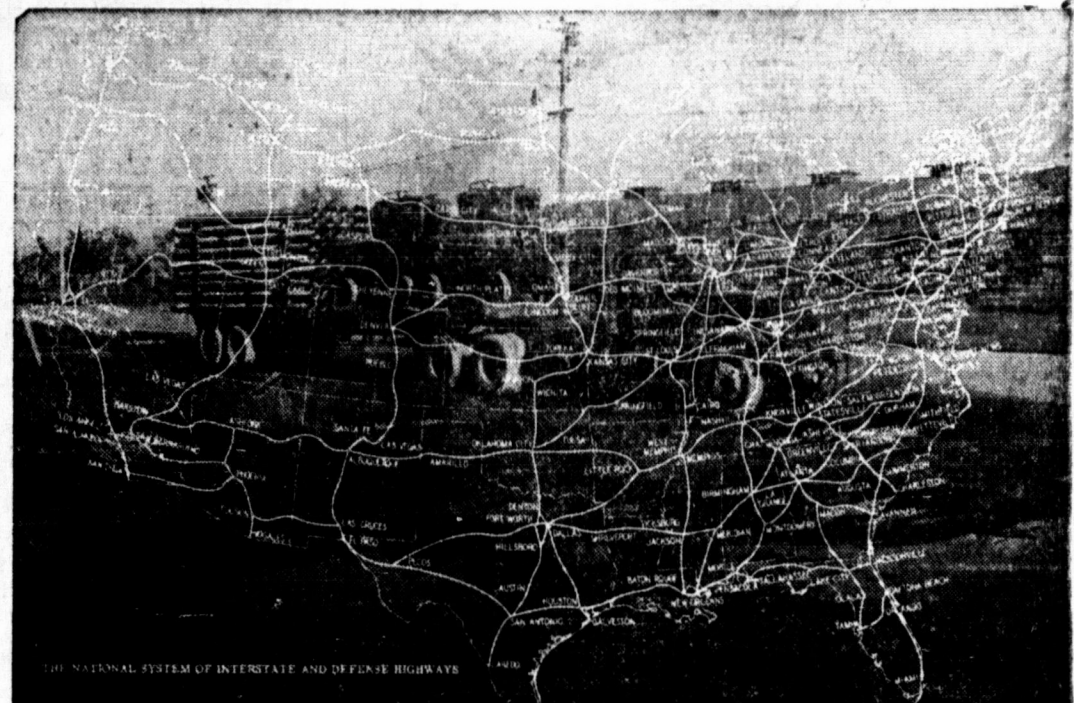

It instructed the Executive Secretary to make an immediate survey of state fresh water fish hatcheries to determine whether adequate propagation facilities are available to meet restocking opportunities incidental to an expanded state water impoundment program.

In this connection, the Commission formally accepted a gift of the old Federal fish hatchery at San Angelo and leased a tract of land adjacent to the hatchery as a buffer zone to protect the hatchery brood stock.

The Commission sanctioned new emphasis on the statewide quail habitat improvement program, centering around the experimental state quail farm at Tyler. It acted after the first year's operational report reflected enthusiastic acceptance of the state quail restocking program by land owners and sportsmen.

Commissioner Henry LeBlanc of Port Arthur, said the farm already has demonstrated, through the propagation educational program, that the experiment is justified. "Even if none of the hatchery quail survived", said LeBlanc, "we would have done a job in restoring habitat—after all, that's the real goal we are after." Distribution of farm-produced bobwhites is strictly contingent on applicants' meeting rigid habitat regulations.

W. J. Cutbirth, Assistant Executive Secretary, who is in direct charge of the quail farm, reported that for the first year's operation, curtailed by a late start, 210 qualified applicants in 93 counties received 17,096 quail for release on 508,471 acres of approved habitat. Cutbirth urged interested Texans to rush their applications for 1957 farm quail and to get their land in shape immediately.

The 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways (superimposed in white) will, within 12 years, provide a grid of freeways for such trucks to speed food, and other help to attacked cities. (FCDA Photo)

Commissioner Howard Carney of Atlanta, urged special informational efforts to notify Texans about quail restocking possibilities. He said in his East Texas region "thousands of acres are being retired from farming for the new soil bank program which will be available for ideal wildlife habitat."

The Commission moved to augment its new whitewing dove restoration program in deep South Texas where approximately 200 acres in Cameron County recently were acquired as permanent nesting areas for the once populous game bird. The Commission voted to least a fifteen acre tract of prime brushland nesting ground near La Paloma. This tract accommodates 1,000 nesting birds per acre. A survey of a 1,300 acre nesting tract near Weslaco in Hidalgo County, was authorized to determine feasibility of its purchase and development for whitewing habitat.

The Commission set the next regular meeting for Austin, July 26, but decided to hold the next special session at Lubbock which has had a long-standing invitation on file. Commissioner LeBlanc, from the coastal area, moved that the far west Texas date be decided since he said "I personally want to see the fabulous Lubbock country about which I have heard so much."

Mineral Production Increased In Value Again In Texas

AUSTIN—Texas mineral production increased in value again in 1956, reaching an estimated $4.3 billion, according to an advance report prepared by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

As in 1955 petroleum, natural gas and natural gas liquids accounted for about 93 per cent of the production and other minerals about 7 per cent.

Texas remained the nation's major producer of petroleum, natural gas, natural liquids, helium, bromine, sulphur and magnesium chloride used for metal. The state also produced significant tonnages of iron ore, clay, gypsum, cement, salt and stone.

Of the state's 254 counties, 230 reported mineral production, and for the second year the value of production exceeded $4 billion. Thirty mineral materials were produced.

Foremost among new industries in Texas in 1956 were oil refining, chemical, petrochemical, rubber and fabricated metals.

New plants or expansions of existing plants were established in the helium, petroleum, magnesium, steel, cement, clay, gypsum and sulphur industries, all of which deal with Texas raw materials. Certain industries handling out-of-state raw materials also expanded including the aluminum, barite, feldspar and fluorspar industries.

Among construction materials, cement, clays, gypsum, lime and stone reached record levels of output as a result of the rising trend in industrial, commercial and public works construction projects. Only sand and gravel showed a slight decrease.

Copies of the report may be obtained from the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology, Austin, or the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Bartlesville, Okla.

Stamp collecting puts a premium on poor printing since a blot, blur or misprint increases the value of a stamp to collectors.

TEACHING YOUR DOG TRICKS
by Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

After you have taught your dog obedience, you may like to go further and teach him a few tricks. There are several such tricks which are fairly easy for a dog to learn.

hands," lift up his paw and hold it for a moment. Do this several times a day, praising the dog each time, and he will soon perform on command.

Another easy trick for a dog to learn is "playing dead." Simply command him to "stay," then roll him over on his side or back, saying "stay dead." If he tries to get up, push him back and repeat the command until he realizes that he must remain in position.

To teach a dog to sit up, have him sit on a spot that isn't slippery, raise him to a sitting position by holding his paws in one hand, and with the other hold a tempting morsel just above his nose. Don't give him the morsel until he is in the correct position. As with any trick, this should be repeated frequently until your pet has learned what is expected of him.

Feeding Tips: Fish is desirable in a dog's diet because of its high nutrient quality. The feeding of a quality dog food such as Friskies, which contains fish meal in adequate amounts provides this good nutrition without the hazards of fresh fish. Fresh fish may transmit tapeworm, or protozoa, and the ever present danger of fish bones.

Dairying And Texas Agriculture

John C. White, Commissioner
Texas Department of Agriculture

Dairying, one of the youngest of all phases of Texas agriculture, has made such remarkable strides that it is now a leader in the state's farm economy.

A $250 million annual business, Texas dairying during the past three years has ranked second only to cotton in total farm income value.

This position, of course, is partly due to the drought which has taken as part of its terrific toll large drops in profits from livestock and other major farm products.

Still, the fact remains that Texas has come a long way from the days when most of our dairy products were imported and milk-producing was more a side-line than an industry in its own right. Dairy income today accounts for one out of every eight dollars earned in Texas agriculture.

This development from meager beginnings has been brought about by several economic factors and the foresight of state dairy leaders.

First, dairy development was recognized as a year-round income source as opposed to seasonal income from crops and livestock. Because of this, the dairy dollar is said to multiply itself approximately seven times in trade activity, far ahead of other farm products.

Then, too, the dairyman's productive capacity was challenged by tightening of the cost-price squeeze on all farm industries in recent years. To meet the challenge, Texas milk producers have become some of our most efficient farmers, modernizing and increasing production through use of new equipment, such as tank trucks for hauling, plant pipelines and other major improvements.

The drought, curiously enough, has also had an effect on these increases. Imported feeds, although expensive, have improved dairy cattle diet and increased the amount of milk produced. In 1956, for example, dairy production was up 14% from 1955.

To handle marketing problems resulting from such increases, Texas dairymen organized themselves into the business of selling their own product much the same as other farm industries have done. The Texas dairy promotion and marketing program through milk-producers co-ops and their branch of the American Dairy Association is one of which we can be proud.

The dairy industry has truly come into its own as a full-fledged and vital partner in Texas agriculture.

Farm Housing Loans May Be Obtained By Eligible Farmers

James D. Gouldy, County Supervisor of Farmers Home Administration serving Armstrong, Donley and Gray Counties announced today that eligible farmers may obtain farm housing loans from the Agency.

Farm housing loans may be made for the construction and repair of farm houses and other farm buildings, including farmstead water supplies. Interest on the loans will be 4 percent per year on the unpaid principal. Repayments may be scheduled over periods up to 33 years.

Building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the farm housing loan will be obtained by the applicant. Farmers Home Administration will review the plans and inspect construction as it progresses to assist the borrower in obtaining construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness.

The local county FHA committee determines the eligibility of applicants for farm housing loans. To be eligible, Gouldy explained, an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough farm income or income from the farm and other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts.

The farm housing loans are made under the authority of Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

Cotton's Vital By-Product

John C. White, Commissioner
Texas Department of Agriculture

Many old-timers in Texas can recall the days when cottonseed was dumped away as waste.

But cottonseed today plays a highly significant role in our every day life.

The ingenious skills of American scientists and research specialists have taken this once-discarded agricultural commodity and put it into consumer channels throughout the world.

Cotton producers have benefited greatly from development of seed uses. A market for the seed means some $100,000,000 annually to Texas farmers, or one-sixth of the lint's value. About 900 pounds of seed are in the average bale that goes to the ginner.

Cottonseed crushing began 90 years ago at High Hill in Fayette County. Since then, this vital industry has expanded into every major cotton producing area. Lubbock, Texas, today has the world's greatest concentration of cottonseed crushing.

Among the many consumer goods made possible by the former "waste" product are salad dressing, shortening, mayonnaise, margarine and a synthetic ice cream, known as melleorine.

Besides foodstuffs, cottonseed is made into feeds for animals and a variety of plastic products. Cottonseed meal is a popular fertilizer of high nitrogen content.

The story of the cottonseed industry fits well into the picture of American progress—a perpetual progress based on the technological skills of a free and independent Democracy.

Research's role in past progress offers optimism for the future.

New crop uses, new markets, new products from the farm, will be marveled at by the old-timers of tomorrow.

The waste of today might well be the necessity of tomorrow.

Eight Donley-

Willard Eiler and his mother, owners of the Willamere Farm, and were honored with a "weiner roast" and musical entertainment at the home of Howard J. Lenker on the night of the 30th.

Duane Dotson's Spotted Poland Farm at Atalissa was the first spot visited on May 31st. The Ruess and Son Poland China Farm at West Liberty, the C. J. Hughes Duroc Farm at Iowa City, the R. E. Williams Chester White Farm at Iowa City, the Knotek Brothers Duroc Farm at Riverside, and the Cliff Idle and Son Poland China Farm at Columbus Junction were other points of interest checked on the 31st. The morning of June 1st was spent gathering up pigs that had been purchased, and the group drove to Aledo, and Little York, Illinois that afternoon to inspect the chester white herds of Gary Mayhew, and Guy Smith and Sons.

June 2nd found the group inspecting the Poland China herd of Lee Clark and Son at LeClaire, Iowa, and the duroc herd at Fenmar Farm, Irion, Illinois, the chester white herd of Fred Hemphill at Cambridge, Illinois, and Kenny Lindergreen at Lynn Center, Illinois.

The group arrived in Clarendon on their return trip on the morning of June 4th. They picked up 85 head of gilts, boars, and barrows for replacements in breeding stock and for barrows for the fall shows.

Carl Talley, Milton and Wayne Mann, James Mahaffey, Sammy Wells, Bobby Longan, James McAnear, and Don Hudgins made the trip. The youths were especially impressed with the livestock farming operations and the amount of improvements on each farm and the good conditions in which they were kept. Each of the boys making the trip had an opportunity to study and compare the farming operations to those in this county. Cedar County, the scene of most of the visits, is generally considered to be the top farming county of the entire United States. More hogs and cattle are fed in it than any other county.

Mrs. Lillian Wiedman of California; Mrs. John Wardlow, Agnes Jones, and Mrs. Jack Warnick, all of Amarillo, Mrs. A. N. Hardman of Alanreed, and Mrs. J. S. Forkner of Memphis are here to be with their sister and daughter, Mrs. Frank Hommel.

Husband, Wife Get Degrees June 1st

It was a double commencement for Rev. and Mrs. Frank Baugh in Oklahoma Baptist University auditorium June 1st when, for the first time in OBU's history, a husband received an honorary doctor's degree at the same time his wife graduated.

Rev. Baugh, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Shawnee, Okla. since 1950, received the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree in recognition of his leadership in Oklahoma and his community. Mrs. Baugh, who majored in Bible and minored in English, received a bachelor of arts degree.

For Mrs. Baugh, the diploma marked completion of work started in 1954 when she decided to go back to school after 11 years. A graduate of Clarendon Junior College, she was attending Baylor University school of nursing in Dallas when she met a seminary student then pastoring a Dallas church. They were married in 1943. Mrs. Baugh is the former Christine Knox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Knox of this city. Watching the rest of the family receive honors were the Baugh's twins, Ronnie and Lonnie, Mary Jeanette and Becky. Mrs. Knox attended the commencement exercises at OBU. Mrs. Baugh and her youngest daughter, Rebecca Ann returned home with her last week for a visit. Other visitors here were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Denny, Milton Clayton, Knox and Gwyn of Santa Cruz, N. M.

Growing Importance Of Irrigation

John C. White, Commissioner Texas Department of Agriculture

Irrigation plays a much bigger part in Lone Star agriculture than most Texans realize.

Nearly a half billion acres of Texas land are now irrigated. About one-fifth of the crop land harvested in the state is irrigated land.

Although many centuries old, the practice of irrigation is relatively new in the state. There were no definite reports on the amount of irrigated Texas acreage until 1940, when less than 895,000 acres were irrigated.

But with the advent of larger, more mechanized farms in recent years, irrigation systems have spread to all corners of the state.

Irrigation has fit well into the ever-changing agricultural picture. It has been the answer to problems of drought, low yields and cost-price squeeze. And there probably isn't a farmer in Texas today who hasn't given some thought to irrigation.

This is no wishful thinking on the farmer's part—to want "rain" at the right time in the right amount. Many farmers in the heavier rainfall sections of Texas are setting up irrigation systems for small tracts and increasing yields up to 200 percent.

Although 95 per cent of the irrigated farms are located in just 78 counties, the scientific principles of irrigation are rapidly being applied in all areas of the state.

During the past year, numerous irrigation "clinics" and demonstrations have been held under auspices of county agents, Soil Conservation Districts and irrigation engineers and manufacturers.

Economical, low-cost sprinkler systems have been devised for use on small tracts. Many of these operated last summer in East and Central Texas.

All indications point to an even bigger role for irrigation in Texas agriculture's future.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

We wish to thank Mrs. Marie B. Hess of 705 Virginia St. in Amarillo for the nice letter and for the following little poem about Mothers called;

NO OCCUPATION

She rises at break of day and through her tasks she races, She cooks the meals as best she can and scrubs the children's faces.

While school books, lunches, ribbons too, all need consideration; And yet the Census Man insists she has No Occupation.

When breakfast dishes all are done, she bakes a pudding maybe.

She cleans the rooms up one by one with one eye watching baby.

The mending pill she then attacks, by way of valuation; And yet the Census Man insists she has No Occupation.

She irons for awhile, then presses pants for daddy, She welcomes with a cheery smile returning lass and laddie. A hearty dinner next she cooks—no time for relaxation. And yet the Census Man insists she has No Occupation.

For lessons that the children learn the evening chores are ample, To Mother Dear they always turn, for help with each example. History, Geography, and books for stimulation, And still the Census Man insists she has No Occupation.

We thought the above was pretty cute and just about as true as could be. None of us ever appreciate the jobs done by Mother and Wife much less could we expect the Census Man to do so.

Most of you remember the letters we mentioned from Mrs. O. L. Brant from over near Tulsa Okla. We had a new word from her and now they live in town a 3712 E. 4th St. Write to her because she is blue because she has to move into town. She likes the country but on account of Mr. Brant's health they have sold the ranch and moved to town.

From the sound of the report put out this week by the Cancer Society we may have to print another good supply of membership cards. We have almost sent out the last of 2000 cards. Many have probably broken over. I even saw my good friend Mr. Frank Boggess carrying a lighted cigarette the other day. He assured me that he was just holding it for a good friend. My, My, what can a fellow be expected to believe these days?

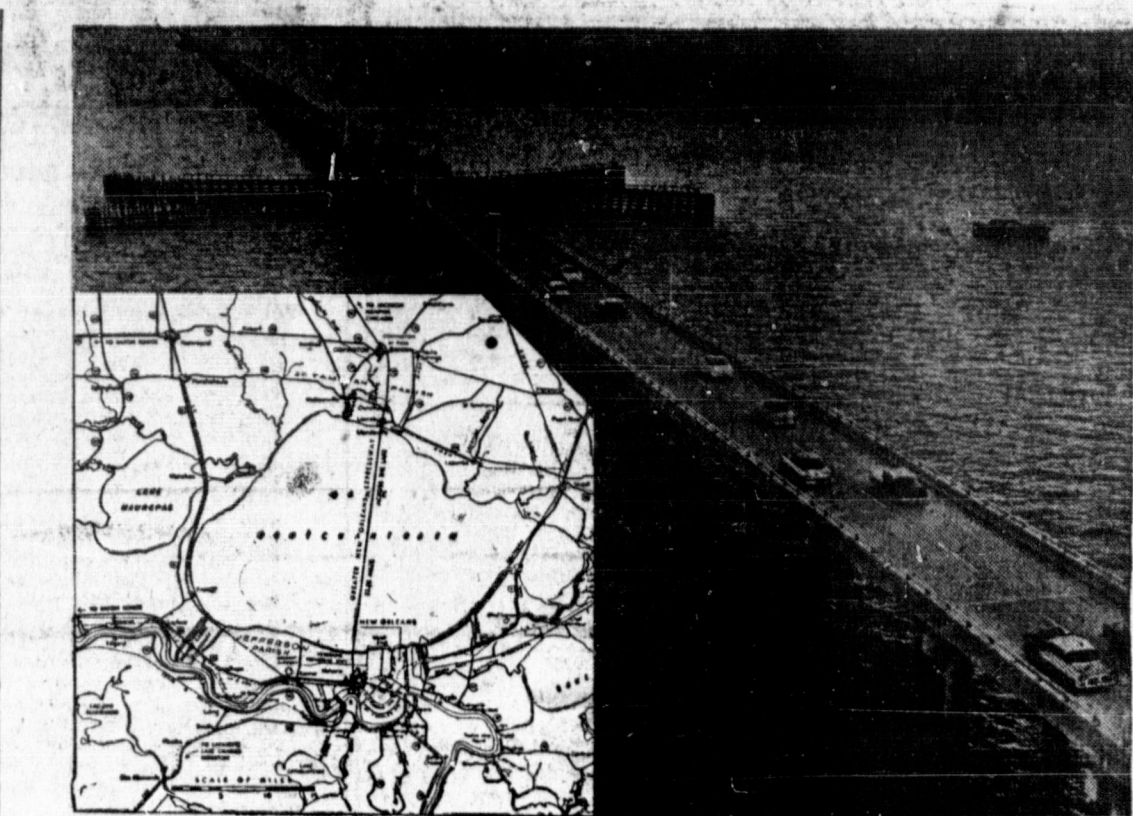

The other day my wife and I were discussing the encouraging and discouraging aspects of life. Anyway, she said that we should always try to encourage those in our own family and those which we love; that we should build them up all that we can because the outside world would do enough tearing down. It is the truth, I for one believe that we should always be lavish in our praise for the good points of our children; not always tearing them down. Of course we should talk to them about their short comings too. But good honest encouragement for our good points many times makes us do our very best in life. Sort of like saying "Sic-em" to our favorite puppy.

WORLD'S LONGEST BRIDGE, the 24-mile Map shows how civil defense forces, frustrated in Lake Pontchartrain Causeway north of New Orleans by water obstacles to traffic on Orleans, is a spectacular example of new high-almost every side, could send thousands of cars way construction which could be used to help straight across the huge lake barrier to the north, empty target cities ahead of attacking planes. The bridge was opened to traffic in August 1956.

ful nostalgia when I contemplate evil-smelling kerosene lamps that gave forth no more than a ghostly glow and required almost continuous re-filling or washing machines that were "pumped" by hand and more especially the hand of a teenage boy or wood-consuming cookstoves and heaters that seemed insatiable, and so on into endless et ceteras.

What does give me pause on occasion—and particularly when warm spring days are at hand—is the passing of one of boyhood's most idyllic pleasures: swimming in the (if you'll pardon the expression) nude. Anyone who has frolicked unencumbered and undressed in a pastoral pool knows that this is one of life's finest pleasures and that just a few decades ago it was a part of the heritage of even the poorest boy.

Of course, participation in this prime pastoral pastime called for secluded swimming holes, pools where the only prying eyes belonged to saucy squirrels, sparrows, mocking birds, and their ilk. On the Colorado River, near my home, I could enjoy the raptures of the river for weeks on end without interruption or invasion of my precious privacy.

Recently on a Sunday afternoon I visited one of my favorite boyhood haunts on the river. I counted 85 souls seeking the pleasures that streams still afford, swimming in the altogether obviously not among them.

This is typical of Texas streams today. There are not always 85 people present. Sometimes there are more, sometimes less. Seldom are there none at all—and even then the probability is ever-present that someone will appear to intrude on a garment-less frolic in the frothy foam.

The price of progress is sometimes mighty steep. I am thankful that my boyhood belongs to another era.

Time for Someone To Make a Move: Will Lawmakers Act, Asks Writer

By FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO Tex.—I'm not sure whose move it is in Duval County but I get the feeling it's time for somebody to play his hole card.

I have just returned to deep south Texas after several months in New York and Hollywood in New York negotiating with Random House about a book on Duval County and in Hollywood writing a motion picture with my collaborator Franz Rosenwald on the same fascinating subject.

Now that I'm back I'm wondering about three things. First, what the Texas Legislature will do with the opportunity it has to plug up the loopholes in the law that made this political jungle possible—this place where the strong have lived off the weak and shouted their defiance to the world. I'll come back to this later.

Second, I'm wondering about the man Parr himself and a couple of his old friends, one of whom says he is Parr's enemy while the other says he hardly knows the man at all.

Parr is different nowadays. "Plumb crazy," according to several people in this sun-baked county that slithers in oil. A few months ago Parr paid a big fine for waving a carbine and threatening to kill Thomas Molina in the dim halls of the Duval court house. He was put under a $7,500 peace bond.

But a few weeks ago he again pulled a pistol out of the glove compartment of his car and stuck it under the nose of Eloy Ramirez. Another conviction for gun-throwing could cost him that $7,500. The only reason anybody can figure out for his brashness is that Eloy refused to shake hands with him in Angelina's cafe.

The Duke has always been a gun-waver, but now they say he waves it with a more deadly vehemence. Parr doesn't look good, either. He has gone bankrupt, and he is intermittently on trial in Houston on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The trial has started three times. The first ended with one man hanging the jury and since then two juries have been spoiled by the discovery of an unqualified juror in the bunch.

Parr hates a lot of men, and his hatred seems to obsess him. It centers on District Attorney Sam Burris. Now that John Ben Shepperd has left the Attorney General's Office and gone into business in West Texas.

Burris is the symbol of all Parr's troubles. He is the bulldog of the law that won't let go, even though the Duke has lost his fortune, his political power, his prestige, everything Burris still gets help from the state but it was John Ben Shepperd who started tearing down the Duke's feudal empire and it was Burris who helped him Duval residents say the Duke can't talk about anything but Sam Burris.

The Peripatetic Pak. But about those friends of Parr's. This is what really prompted me to add this article to the series of 11 which Franz Rosenwald and I wrote recently. They were distributed by the Texas Press Association and published by some 250 dailies and weeklies in Texas with a readership covering more than half the state. Since so many people are listening I want to add a little to what I said.

Recently Dar Tobin, an able and personable young man who was once a Parr stalwart but who turned against the big boss, has been running the state palsy-walsy with a long-time Parr crony named Thomas Y. Pickett. The junkets to Dallas and other places were to raise money from the oil companies to get Duval County out of its current financial jam. Judge Tobin by the way, is under indictment because of his past association with the Parr machine.

Pickett is a political fixer of no little renown in Texas, a sporting man who like Parr, loves fast horses. Also like Parr, he once did time for forgetting to pay his income tax.

Pickett is head of Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. of Dallas. His firm holds the tax evaluation contracts for Duval County and for the county's school districts. For tax purposes Duval property is valued at just over $41 million, of which some $36 million represents the valuation of oil and industrial properties including utilities and railroads.

It's the tax evaluator's job, in this case Pickett, to set the value of county property and report to the commissioners (including Judge Tobin) who, in turn, set the tax rate. Pickett has held the Duval contract steadily since 1934.

This writer talked to Mr. Pickett in his office in Dallas and later at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin. I promised to print a statement from him exactly as he gave it to me. Here it is, precisely as typed by his secretary.

"During the period of 1926-27, and from 1934 to 1950 inclusive, Thomas Y. Pickett and Company were paid total fees from Duval County in the amount of $247,930.66 and not $900,000 as reported in Collier's magazine, which is now out of business. Since 1950 we have had a contract with Duval County and they have paid us $15,000.00 per year.

Note please that Mr. Pickett brings up the matter of Collier's magazine. I didn't bring it up. Note too that Mr. Pickett makes no mention of his contracts with the Duval school districts including the notorious Benavides School District from which Parr and his pals are accused of plucking much of their plunder.

Back in June of 1951 Collier's ran an article entitled "Something Is Rotten in the State of Texas" and the writer, Gordon Schendel, brought Pickett into the picture as being buddy buddy with the Duke.

Tim magazine in its issue of February 15, 1954, also suggested a close alliance between Parr and Pickett and the story caused quite a sensation in oil circles.

"Why, I hardly know the man," Pickett told me. "Oh, I guess I've seen him a couple of times when I've been down in Duval on business."

Mr. Pickett went on to make this interesting observation: "I was the most surprised man in Texas when I read in the papers what had been going on down there."

Okay, let's look at the record. It's a hulu. Pickett's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken $150,000 from W. L. Pearson and Co. of Houston to swing a road bond vote in Hutchinson County.

At Parr's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken a $25,000 kick-back from the same W. L. Pearson and Co. on a Duval County road contract. Parr was then County Judge.

The two men, Parr and Pickett, are as alike in some departments as two peas in a pod. In the multitudinous court actions in the sticky Duval situation much has been made of bank checks many of them made out to persons both existent and non-existent.

In the Pickett trial the evidence showed that he had no less than six hidden bank accounts. Testimony of federal experts admitted to by Pickett on the stand showed that he used the system now attributed famously to Parr. Checks were endorsed in Pickett's own handwriting with such names as J. S. Carnes, J. C. Carnes, J. G. Jones, Jack Jones and Jack Johnson.

I have a stack of checks beside me as I write. All of them are drawn on the Duval County general fund, all made out in Parr's own handwriting, and all made out either to Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. or to Thomas Y. Pickett personally.

Most of the checks are in the amount of $1,000 and the endorsements on these are correct, each check stamped on the back, Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. and each deposited in the company's account.

Two of the checks, however, stand real scrutiny. They're not piddling little $1,000 items. They are for big money. And they don't bear the Pickett company rubber stamp, indicating that they didn't go through the company account.

One of these checks, dated simply June, 1951, and not signed by the County Judge as required by Texas law, is for $5,500. This check is number 544.

The other check, number 17, is dated July, 1952. It is for a whopping $6,500. And this one wasn't signed by the County Judge as required by law.

The harder up the county gets financially, the more they dig around in the old records. And the more they dig around in the old records, the more odd-looking checks they turn up with funny endorsements.

As I said, Dan Tobin and Thomas Y. Pickett have been running around the state trying to tap the oil companies for a little financial assistance to the county. Tobin split with the Duke some time back, and Pickett says he hardly knows the man. Maybe they're both smart. A lot of the Duke's old friends have found themselves in trouble.

The Cause of Corruption in Texas. Which brings me to the third thing I've been wondering about. What is the Texas Legislature going to do about plugging the gaps in the law which John Ben Shepperd said make situations like Duval County possible?

I've read several articles in national magazines about the corruption in Texas on the state level. I've been in and out of Texas, studying Texas laws and lawbreakers and writing a book and a movie script, for about 10 months now. In my humble opinion the corruption in Texas starts right down at the grass roots, in the counties and the little towns. And it starts with the out-moded Texas Constitution and the lack of adequate statutes to enable people at the county level to keep things clean. Your primary trouble, Texas, is not in Austin.

Twice in as many legislative sessions the Texas Press Association has laid a stack of proposed bills in front of the lawmakers, incorporating a number inspired by Shepperd's findings in Duval County along with others that Shepperd and I have urged "for good government in Texas." These others deal mostly with keeping government meetings open to the public eye, keeping public records public, and preventing the publication of information the people have a right to know.

As John Ben Shepperd put it, "Take any four or five of these proposed new laws and enforce them, and you just can't have a Duval County." There are 15 of them altogether.

I came back to Texas to do some final checking on a few things, including these bills. I have to admit that even with my natural newsmen's cynicism, I was a little staggered to find that the Texas Legislature had been in session three months in 1957 and was active six months in 1955—and in all that time only a couple of the bills have struggled through to the Governor's desk for signing into law.

Some of the most important of them are staggering through the legislative halls, not expected to live. Others have had their death blow unless interested citizens raised a protest.

Among the staggering is SB 223 which would make it possible for men who steal public funds to be indicted and prosecuted outside the county of the offense. Such a law would prevent embezzlers from getting off scot free by controlling judges, prosecuting attorneys, or grand jurors. Shepperd says this is the most important bill, from the standpoint of criminal law, and he ought to know. To get the Duval County indictments he had to wait for a district judge, a district attorney and a grand jury to be thrown out. SB 223 is in a Senate subcommittee, and its survival looks doubtful.

Another bill buried in a Senate subcommittee where the death rate is high is SB 88. It would forbid holding government meetings in secret, except as provided by law.

SB 81, you might say, has been sent to Death Row. It was referred to the Attorney General for re-drafting, with the intention of killing it. Its purpose is to remove from office any public official who stands on the Fifth Amendment without answering questions about his official actions.

A bill requiring county attorneys to sue for the recovery of unlawfully expended money, with or without the consent of the commissioners court, is also in a Senate subcommittee but has a little better chance of survival. It is SB 224.

A number of others haven't had any torpedoes thrown into them, but the lawmakers' enthusiasm for them is not conspicuous. In fact, the boys are taking their good old easy time, if not actually stalling. Companion bills to those listed above are kicking around in House committees, faring little better than in the Senate, apparently.

I might say right here that the views expressed herein are mine, not necessarily those of the TPA. Among the 15 "Better Government" bills, I count only two that have passed both houses of the Legislature, and three others that have passed one House only.

Bills which have gone to the Governor for signature open political precinct conventions to representatives of the press, and require a special audit of county records in any county upon a petition of at least 30 per cent of the qualified voters. Both were designed to provide Texans with more adequate knowledge of what goes on in their counties and their state.

Three others have passed either the House or Senate, but not both of the Legislative bodies. Senators okayed SB 131 to require school districts and other political subdivisions to publish annual financial statements; likewise SB 55, a Mandatory Publications Act to assure that public officials will publish the information they are supposed to under present laws. I'm told this one can get through if a few citizens are kicking around in good government will speak up for it to urge its passage through the House.

House members passed HB 199 providing for stopping payments to school districts which, like the notorious Benavides district, fail or refuse to furnish an audit of accounts.

In fact, just about any of these bills, even the ones that are all but dead and buried in the subcommittees, might pass if a few interested citizens would speak up for them.

So as I head back for Hollywood, I'm going to stick my neck out and offer Texans a little word of advice. I've known Capone and Costello and some of the other big-time boys, and I've been in Europe where I looked on the faces of bigger, better dictators than Boss Parr. But I haven't seen one yet that couldn't be stopped by a few good laws, properly enforced.

Texans like their "local autonomy," that peculiar Constitutional system by which every Texas county is an island with a fence around it when it comes to enforcing the law and prosecuting by the TPA are especially designed to accomplish good law enforcement without disturbing that local autonomy. That's the appraisal of John Ben Shepperd, former Attorney General who busted Duval wide open from the inside, without violating anybody's local self-government.

DONLEY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Treating or developing land primarily for wildlife is called Wildlife Area Improvement. It includes both treated areas and areas requiring only protection.

The areas treated for wildlife may range from less than one acre to a complete farm or ranch. Such places on the farm or ranch may include odd areas, marshes, field borders and strips, fence-rows, gullies, and stream borders.

In developing a wildlife area, the farmer or rancher needs to keep in mind the four primary needs of the wildlife which he aims to increase. These are: protection, cover, food, and water.

Most odd areas need better cover and food to attract and hold wildlife. They can be made to produce more wildlife when managed to meet the requirements of the wildlife to be benefited. Much of the interest in treating odd areas is for quail habitat improvement. When properly treated for quail, the requirements of many other species are also met. Quail use several types of cover during their daily activities. Brush, tall grass, or high weeds along gullies, waterways, fence rows, borders, and edges of cultivated fields are used for protection as the covey moves about. Quail prefer to feed in light vegetation, which has thin cover over them with heavier or more protective cover close by to serve as escape cover. Any native woody cover will be used. The quality is improved when it is dense, close to the ground but still open underneath so the birds can move about and at the same time be protected from above. A wide variety of native shrubs are used by quail. They include wild plum, wild grape, sumac, cedar, locust, and many more. Other plants such as osage orange, Russian olive, multiflora rose and blackberries can be planted.

In the Donley District, wild plum is abundant on most of the sandy areas. With a small amount of fencing to exclude stock from these plum thickets, an excellent area for quail can be developed at little cost. This is just one example of how to improve a wildlife area. With a little study and thought, nearly every farm or ranch could increase the produc-

U. S. SENATOR FROM TEXAS

Dear Friend:
The Administration's Foreign Aid Bill will come to the floor of the Senate soon. The entire record of the foreign aid program should be studied carefully in order to find the best course for our country.

Two types of assistance have been included in our economic aid programs since the end of World War II: direct grants in which we simply give another country money or goods; loans for which we expect repayment.

Personally, I believe that nations are like people. At times a direct grant may be necessary to someone who is suffering and in distress. But, generally speaking, people who are in trouble prefer a loan that helps them get back on their feet.

The U. S. is collecting on time on practically every loan it has made since the end of World War II. The Treasury has been enriched by $127,000,000 in interest payments on 1948 loans to foreign countries. In other words, we have helped these countries and in the long run they will feel better about it and our taxpayers will not suffer.

On April 26, speaking in San Antonio, I said:
"We are NOT seeking to buy friendship or to create a system of satellite nations — We seek rather to help people become self-supporting. And gifts, however well intentioned, rarely accomplish that end.

"A shift from grants to a loan program will help other people help themselves. It is a concept I have long favored."

I was pleased to find the same thought in the President's message to the people explaining his program. He said:

"In this whole program, we do not seek to buy friends. We do not seek to make satellites. We do seek to help other peoples to become strong and stay free."

The President's shift to this concept is realistic and wise.

Random Notes

More homes will be built as a result of the Housing bill passed by the Senate last week. The Administration's budget has been cut $4 billion, or about 7.2 per cent, in the first 11 appropriations bills passed by the House. The Senate has passed four bills, making further reductions. Small business received only 16.7 per cent of the $12.7 billion in military contracts awarded during the first seven months of fiscal 1957.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN— Fifty-fifth Legislators will have a shorter-than-usual "vacation." Gov. Price Daniel says he will call them back, probably about October, for a special session.

Final score showed 47 out of 51, or better than 90 percent, of the governor's recommended bills passed in the regular session. But the missing 10 per cent are vital, says Daniel. He still wants:

1. His law enforcement commission, a sort of statewide grand jury to investigate official misconduct.
2. A lobbyist registration act, registration of persons who represent others before state agencies, and, possibly, other "better government" bills previously advocated.
3. A state plan for buying water storage space in federal reservoirs. A constitutional amendment to do this died in the past session. Since amendments cannot be considered in a special session, the governor said he is working on a statutory plan—possibly the creation of a statewide water district with authority to issue bonds and levy taxes.

4. Action on "other matters that may arise" after the Travis County grand jury reports. Jury is looking into any irregularities that might have caused the ICT Insurance Co. collapse and alleged payoffs to legislators by the Texas Naturopathic Association.

So, instead of the usual post-session lull, the Capitol faces a summer of suspense followed by a frenzied fall.

NEW JURY AT WORK

Texas has generated more troubles than one grand jury could see in two months. Hence, a brand new Travis County jury begins this week where the old one left off after digging away all during April and May.

Its study of ICT's past and naturopathic legislation will probably last all summer.

A Dallas grand jury already has indicted Ben Jack Cage, one-time ICT manager, on charges of theft and embezzlement. Authorities are trying to get him returned from South America so he can be tried.

WHO, WHAT, WHERE AND WHEN?

Texas off-again, on-again Insurance Commission is still a prime source of speculation.

Past legislature passed laws abolishing the old board and enabling the governor to appoint new members. It also directed the commission to move within three years from its leased office quarters into a building to be erected with insurance tax revenue. And it passed dozens of new restrictive insurance laws for the new commission to administer.

Old board members Mark Wentz and John Osorio promptly resigned. But Gov. Daniel refused to accept their resignations. He said they'd have to stay on until their successors were named.

Then Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled the insurance tax revenue couldn't be used for a new building. It goes into the general revenue fund and is already earmarked for other things, he pointed out.

And, until the new commission gets going, insurance men over the state are uncertain as to how to comply in detail with some of the new laws.

ETHICS QUANDARY

Just who should do what to comply with the new code of ethics is still being discussed in the Capitol.

Some 163 legislators and state officials have given the secretary of state statements about their connections with businesses under state regulation. Assets ranged from Cuban oil companies to small town dry goods stores.

Sec'y of State Zollie Steakley said failure to file such a statement could be grounds for removal from office, but that he didn't have authority to enforce it.

Gov. Daniel said he saw no need for his filing, since the constitution prohibits a governor's serving as officer or director of a corporation under state regulation. But, he suggested the secretary of state might ask for an attorney general's ruling to clear up other points about the law.

BONDS GO BEGGING

First sale of the second $100,000,000 issue of Texas veteran land program bonds attracted no takers.

In today's "tight money" market the constitutionally-prescribed 3 per cent interest doesn't lure buyers, said Land Commissioner Earl Rudder.

He said the bonds would not be offered again until conditions improve.

CROPS LAG

After years of longing for water, most Texas farmers now are trying to "recover" from the rains. State Agriculture Commr. John White estimates flood damage to crops at $50,000,000 or more. Cotton planting deadlines had to be extended by the state office because farmers were delayed in ploughing their wet fields. Even so, some crop loss was foreseen from inability to plant.

In some areas of North Texas small grains were reported hurt by too much rain. But dryland cotton farmers in South Texas said they could use a little more moisture.

Texas already has received more rain in the first five months of 1957 than in the entire year of 1956.
