Maurice Lane was master of ceremonies and Cotton John Smith was the main speaker. He also made the old-timer awards.

John Beverly, 96 year old retired cowpuncher and cattleman, of Pampa, walked away with double honors. He was recognized as the earliest resident of the Panhandle and the oldest man attending the annual affair. He came to the Panhandle in 1881. Mrs. A. D. Blanton, 87, was the oldest woman settler attending; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mathis was the couple married the longest, and Mrs. Edd Barns was the settler with the largest family. Record Amounts Of Water Being Used Here

Orville Housden, Clarendon Water Superintendent, reports that Clarendon is using record amounts of water during the hot days of summer. In fact he would not be reporting the amounts if he did not have a complete record of water used to back him up, for June was a month in which unbelievable amounts were used.

The total amount consumed for the month of June was 27,244,000 gallons. Eight times in June the daily consumption was over one million with a high of 1,085,000 gallons used in the 24 hours of June 16th. The low for the month was 651,000 gallons and only five days was the consumption below 800,000 gallons.

With this great amount of water being consumed we should feel proud that the City Water Works has an automatic chlorinizer that automatically treats the water, taking the guess work out of water treatment. This system was installed only a few months ago and is a State Health Department approved method of treating water. It is also about one-fourth as expensive as the Batch HTH method. Mr. Housden also said that a sample of the water is taken three times a day at the source and about once a week at various places over town, with cafes and schools water being sampled once a week. He not only takes these samples but must send a water sample to the State Health Department once a month for them to sample. The water must test at least .02% Chlorine at the end of the water line to pass State Health Department requirements.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT SAN ANGELO

Funeral services were held Monday in San Angelo for S. A. McCarroll, former Donley County resident and brother-in-law of F. A. White of Clarendon. Mr. McCarroll died Saturday afternoon after suffering a heart attack.

At the time of his death, Mr. McCarroll was manager of the West Texas Lumber Co. in San Angelo. Several years ago he was manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co. at Hedley.

F. A. White, Mrs. Dorothy White Campbell and Mrs. Glenn White attended the funeral services in San Angelo Monday.

Donley County Leader, $2.50 a Year.

Clarendon was filled to the brim again last Saturday, July 4th, when visitors from all parts of the Panhandle and distant points gathered here for the annual celebration.

The celebration started off with rodeo performances Thursday and Friday nights with a fair crowd for both events. The attendance at the afternoon and night performances the Fourth were much heavier, and ticket and parking committeemen really had their hands full.

Activities on the Fourth started with the registration of the Old-Timers at the American Legion Hall. There were over 100 who signed up that had lived in the Panhandle 50 years or longer and many others gathered there that were long time residents.

Everyone could tell the crowd was really here when the time came for the serving of the free barbecue. Ten serving lines were kept busy for almost an hour and it was estimated that between five and six thousand people were served during that time.

Flip Breedlove and his barbecue crew did an excellent job of the barbecuing and it was described as even better than last year and it was plenty good then. The main trimmings, beans and fruit, were prepared by W. W. Sandifer and his committee. Those boys had a big job too, washing and cooking four hundred pounds of beans. The entire cooking crew are to be commended for their efforts as the heat from the fire mixed with our natural hot weather was certainly trying on a man's stamina.

The parade went off in good order at one o'clock and was acclaimed the best in years with several beautiful floats and plenty of mounted riders.

Miss Janice Christal won the honors in the Queen Contest with the runner-up being Miss Eva Lee Farr. A total of 54,688 votes were cast in the contest.

W. W. Noblet, secretary of the Association, stated that a financial report at this time was not available as a number of bills had not been turned in. "If you have a bill against the Outdoor Entertainment Association, please get it to us immediately so we can balance our books and pay everyone off," he added. A financial statement will be published just as soon as possible.

Joe McMurtry, president of the Association, commended his chairman and all workers highly for their untiring efforts and the many hours of hard work. "It was the community spirit of cooperation that made this celebration possible and a big success," he added.

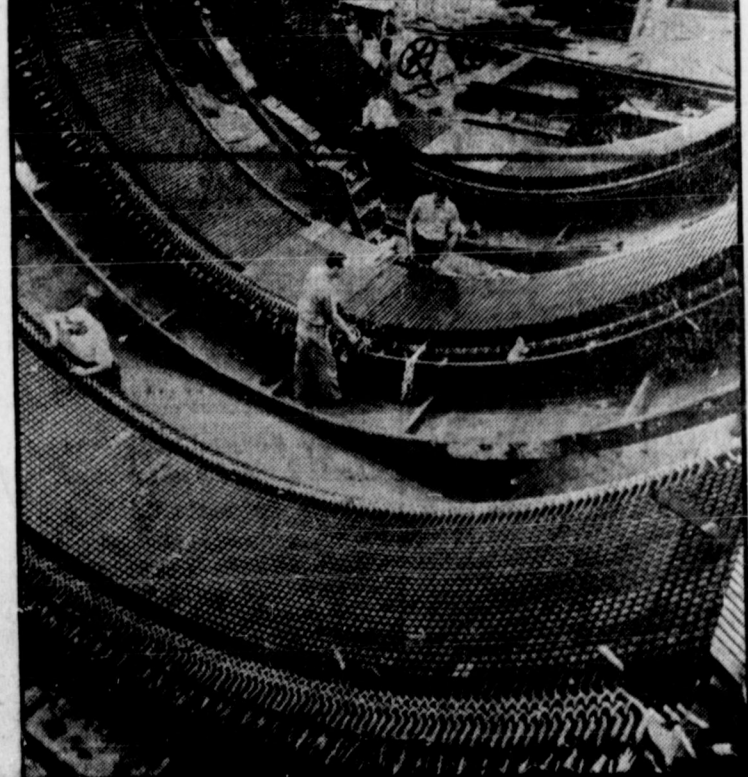

According to our peace officers, the celebration visitors were more orderly than usual, with very few law violations being reported. Sheriff Behrens stated that he wished to thank parents and youngsters alike for their cooperation in not firing fireworks during the celebration period.

All the way around, the celebration was a great success and everyone can start looking forward to another enjoyable affair next year.

A Year of Decision For Agriculture

Although the New Year is only a couple of weeks old, it has already given some indication of its prospects for agriculture. There may be some big changes.

At the close of the 1952 crop year, we counted up some of the greatest crop profit losses since 1940. Two factors were involved—prices dropped to a lower point than at any time in the past four years, and we suffered a drought which equaled, if not surpassed, the disastrous year of 1917.

Many agricultural areas of Texas are still in the drought's death grip. No one can say that the dry spell has been broken for farmers in the Fort Stockton, Pecos and Big Spring regions. But as bad as 1952 was, this crop year of 1953 can be the most decisive that farmers and ranchers have ever faced.

Business, industrial and professional people have the brightest prospects in 1953. But during the last few months, the farmer has watched commodity prices slide downward with no immediate relief in sight. He sees small surpluses of several commodities and notes that production goals have been lowered on two or three of the major Texas crops, noticeably cotton. Livestock prices dropped one-third in a year's time and the outlook is still fairly dim.

Naturally, we do not anticipate a collapse for agriculture in Texas or anywhere else. It merely calls for harder efforts toward a better profit margin. Everything the farmer and rancher buys this year may cost a little more than previously—including the labor he must hire. The only answer is for higher production on a given unit—either a larger yield on an acre of land or a little extra meat on each head of livestock.

This year of "change" is nothing new for agriculture is never a static proposition. It is constantly undergoing transition—and when big changes occur, opportunities spark up. Last year's vegetable crop, for example, brought $65,281,000, or twice what it did the previous season. There was a big opportunity for a farmer who was located in an area favorable for vegetable growing.

We cannot afford to resist agricultural changes. Rather, the best idea is to keep an eye out for new or different crops which will return bigger profits or higher yields. Advancement in agricultural methods and practices help assure us of a strong and health economy for the farm and ranch people of Texas.—Released by Texas Dept. of Agriculture.

THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation and thanks for the hard work and fine cooperation on the part of everyone who helped me prepare and serve the barbecue this year. With your help we were able to prepare and serve a good barbecue dinner to 6,000 people, many of whom were visitors and I feel sure went home telling about the big feed they had at Clarendon on the 4th. I feel proud of the citizens of Clarendon and Donley County for the cooperative spirit shown. Thanks again for your help.

Quail Wing Aid Timely

AUSTIN—The Director of Wildlife Restoration said quail wings sent in by hunters during the recent quail season may be of unusual aid to wildlife biologists.

He explained the wings will show the percentage of young birds as compared with old birds. Furthermore, the proportion of hens and cocks was recorded by those who collected the wings.

The data, according to the Director, will be particularly timely since the fall shoot was generally poor in Texas. This apparently was because the quail were at the bottom of the cycle.

The Director estimated that 5,000 quail wings have been received. Last year the receipts were 11,553 wings. Then the quail shoot was good in several regions, particularly in the Panhandle where the quail reached the peak of the cycle. From the harvest, 4,336 wings were sent in by sportsmen in the Panhandle region.

"We will not analyze the field reports for some time," said the Director, "but we expect to find a high percentage of old bird wings from last season."

"Ordinarily, in a normal season, we would find a higher percentage of wings from birds hatched the same season in which they were harvested."

"With this data, and showing the area where the quail were shot, we hope to be able to piece together the story of what happened. Then in areas governed by regulatory authority under the Commission, efforts can be made to adjust 1953 season dates and bag limits."

Quail wings are collected through cooperation of quail hunters, game wardens, sporting goods stores, game technicians and other persons and agencies.

HEALTH NOTES

Texas State Dept. of Health

AUSTIN—Drug addiction is not in itself a crime but a disease, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is viciously and deadly in that once the victim can no longer overcome his desire for drugs, he will resort to any illegality to obtain money to purchase the satisfaction of his craving. Increase in drug addiction is paralleled by crime increases.

Because of the increase of addiction among "teen-agers," parents would do well to understand the habits of their offspring. No matter what the age, an addict takes on a sly, underhanded attempt to concealment. And it is only when the "teen-age" victim becomes embroiled in some police involvement that the shame is brought to the parent.

Boys and girls must be taught that it is not smart or sophisticated to use drugs in any of their narcotic forms, and they should understand the dangers involved. Once the habit is formed, it is difficult to overcome. While it is estimated that at least five percent of narcotic addicts become so by means of repeated dosages of drugs to alleviate pain, the preponderance of addicts fall among those persons, normal in every respect, who seek adventure, and emotionally unstable persons who cannot face the realities of every day life.

Indications of drug addiction vary according to the method and the type of drug used. Among them are a strained expression, glassy stare of the eyes, trembling hands, swelling or redness in the partition of the nostrills; apparent puncture marks on the skin from hypodermic needles. Symptoms include running of the nose or tearing of the eyes; excessive yawning and sneezing, constant itching of the skin of the arms and legs and dilation of the pupils of the eyes.

While it has been said that a "little knowledge is a dangerous thing," there can be no doubt that a public-mind consciousness of the drug-addiction problem will do more to curb the situation. The prevention of addiction is a community problem. Once the habit is formed, it becomes a medical one. Do your part to prevent an addiction. Your child may be the next victim.

Advantages Of Soil Testing

Another crop year has been completed and Texas farmers are now planning steps for starting the circle all over again.

One important step that can be taken now is to send soil samples to laboratories for analysis. This early sampling helps assure farmers of getting the best results from their soil during 1953. And early testing gives plenty of time to place orders for the proper types of fertilizer which the soil may need.

A number of state and federally operated laboratories, as well as private concerns, offer this service to the farmer. Those farmers who want to get a diagnosis of their soil needs can consult their county agent for the location of the nearest laboratory. The test can pay off in richer yields on less land this year.

Instruction sheets may be obtained from local branches of the Soil Conservation Service, Production and Marketing Administration offices, or direct from the testing laboratories. In many cases, the procedure for handling samples has been changed to eliminate the necessity of taking samples from the subsoil.

The universal practice now is towards making a composite sample from cores or slices of soil taken from 15 or 20 different spots of a field. Small areas that differ in color, texture or drainage should be avoided or sampled separately.

New report sheets from the laboratories have been revised to give more information on soil types, drainage, slope and the crop rotations to be followed. This information is used by soil specialists as a partial substitute for subsoil samples in interpreting the results of laboratory analysis.

Soil testing should be considered on a crop rotation basis where it is possible. Sampling soils every three to five years, or once during a rotation cycle, is sufficient to maintain an adequate mineral level and make necessary adjustments in fertilization practices.

The value of maintaining a "healthy" soil cannot be over-estimated. Just like humans, soil can get "sick" due to deficiencies in its "diet". When planning crops

New Deer Tag Is Considered

AUSTIN—The Texas Game and Fish Commission tentatively decided to replace the present paper deer tag used by hunters.

Meeting in quarterly session in Austin, the Commission agreed that a proposed new metal tag would be preferable.

The Commissioners reported the present paper tag is too difficult to affix permanently to a carcass, as provided by law, and also held that the paper tag sometimes is re-used.

The theory behind the tag, according to the Executive Secretary is to identify the owner of harvested deer and to prevent any individual from taking more than two deer per season under the General Law.

The Commission postponed discussion of a proposed law permitting a block of Hill Country counties to experiment with a proposed law permitting a block of Hill Country counties to experiment with a limited doe harvest as a means of balancing the deer herds. Two Marble Falls men—Vern Dillon and Jack Crowner—appeared before the Commission to suggest that the present system for taking buck deer is preferable.

The Commission approved purchase of the J. C. Gambill Wildlife Refuge near Paris, subject to final sanction of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service which would provide three fourths of the funds under the Pittman-Robertson Act. It acted after the Executive Secretary reported that a minimum of 411 acres should be added to the present 702-acre refuge to make the area manageable. The Commission also agreed to study possibility of using part of the refuge for propagating quail.

The Commission postponed action on increasing the Gene Howe Restoration Area near Canadian and also delayed consideration of proposed pass construction on the Gulf Coast, pending further study.

Harvey B. Richards of Houston, representing the Texas Field Archery Association, advocated a special bow and arrow big game season and was advised to prepare a bill with such provisions for legislative action.

On all these points of comparison... Chevrolet's farther ahead than ever!

... IN NEW AND ADVANCED STYLING—The new long, low, sleek lines of the 1953 Chevrolet set new standards of beauty in the low-price field. Here you will see careful detailing and a richness of appointments always before found only in much costlier cars.

... IN HIGH-POWERED PERFORMANCE—The most powerful engine in the low-price field! The entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in combination with new Powerglide* brings you new high-compression power and a wonderful gain in economy, too. In gearshift models you will find the advanced high-compression 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine.

... IN SMOOTH, SIMPLE AUTOMATIC DRIVING—Expect faster getaway with Powerglide's new automatic starting and passing range... and new economy, too. Chevrolet's new Power Steering* takes over 80 per cent of the work of steering, makes parking unbelievably easy.

... IN ECONOMY AND VALUE—Now, you'll get many more miles out of every gallon of gasoline. You'll save on over-all operation and upkeep, too. Yet Chevrolet remains the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

... IN AMERICA'S FAVOR—Again this year—as in every single postwar year—more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. In fact, latest official registration figures show that Chevrolet is over 25% ahead of the second-place car. Nearly 2 million more people now drive Chevrolets than any other make.

*Optional at extra cost. Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine available on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models only. Power Steering available on all models.

 PRINTING DEPARTMENT

NOTE: The following story on a subject which directly affects the whole picture of Texas agriculture economy is by Glenn Shelton, farm editor of the Wichita Falls Record News. His observations are especially appropriate at this time when Texas farmers are preparing for another crop year—John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture.

FUTURE OF TEXAS COTTON
 The new dread scourge of Texas' cotton lands is the pink bollworm. But there seems to be a dangerous tendency on the part of farmers to treat it casually. Farmers have been confronted with so many crises — droughts, other insects, floods, low market that they fail to see the forest for the trees. They quite understandably don't get excited every time some new "threat" is announced.

But, in my opinion this pink bollworm threat is something to get excited about. It is a real danger to the South's basic industry, and poses perhaps a bigger threat right here in Texas than anywhere else. It could quite conceivably put an end to our rich cotton industry. It is that bad. Entomologists readily agree the worms have multiplied many times over in the past two or three years.

What is the history of this dangerous cotton insect? Well, in 1916, a Mexican cotton grower found an odd kind of worm in his fields. He thought at first it might be the small "grub" of the boll weevil. But he wasn't sure. This particular worm had a pinkish tinge; the well-known weevil grub was distinctly white in color. So the Mexican grower gathered a handful of infested bolls and sent them to insect experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. There the worm made startling news.

Farm from being a weevil grub, it was, without doubt, the dreaded pink bollworm — the same worm that had long been ravaging cotton in other parts of the world. This was its first recorded appearance on the North American continent. How did the pink bollworm get into Mexico? No one is sure. But the best guess is that it came from Egypt where the pest had abounded for years. Egyptian planting seed had been imported into Mexico in 1911, and there's little doubt the pink bollworm moved with it.

The pest kept moving—right up through Mexico and across the Rio Grande River. In 1917, one year after it was spotted in the Laguna district of Mexico, it was found in fields near Hearne, Texas. Here, again, the worm apparently was brought into a non-infested area in seed shipments. That was about 35 years ago.

Since then — despite intensive quarantine and control measures — the pest has fanned out westward into New Mexico, and Arizona, northward into Oklahoma, and eastward into Louisiana. In all, it now occupies at least 262 counties in which farmers plant a total of about 12 million acres of cotton.

J. W. Callaway, of Corpus Christi, in 1950 had a field of late-planted cotton. Before the crop could reach maturity, the pink bollworm infestation reached 90 per cent. He had to destroy the entire crop. This story clearly points up the potential destructiveness of the insect. In 1952 the pink bollworm cost us $34.6 million. In 1942 only about 75 counties were infested. By 1952, the number had jumped to 261. Is that a threat to the cotton industry or isn't it?

Last year, entomologists found the pink bollworm had doubled and tripled in the Vernon, Wichita Falls, Knox and Haskell County areas. The same occurred in many other areas of the state. If I were a cotton farmer, a ginnee or a cotton oil mill man, I would be concerned.

The cotton business has lost enough of its value the past 10 to 15 years. If the bollworm joins the boll weevil as a force of cotton destructiveness, then we might as well forget the rich crop that made the South the great empire that it is.

—Glenn Shelton.

from the County PMA Committee

DROUGHT EMERGENCY FEED PROGRAM STARTED:

There was a very brief article in last week's DONLEY COUNTY LEADER about the Drought Emergency Feed Program because the program had just begun to start. Now the program is about to get into full swing. A USDA Drought Emergency Committee has been set up consisting of Ross Springer, Chairman, PMA County Committee, H. M. Breedlove, County Agent, James Gouldy, County FHA Supervisor, James D. Swift, President of the Farmers State Bank, and Forrest E. Sawyer, a prominent farmer and rancher in Donley County. The USDA Drought Emergency Committee will be in charge of the emergency feed, and will do their best to handle the program in a fair and honest way in order to help the men of this county.

On Monday, July 6th, the Drought Emergency Feed Program really began. One car of cotton seed pellets was received containing 39,900 pounds of pellets. Those to receive feed out of the first car were Jack Lewis, Castleberry Bros., V. Littlefield, Doyle Littlefield, L. D. Littlefield, D. F. Cook, Vernon Davis, Harley Longan, A. W. Gerner, J. T. Stone, Bud Hermesmeier, Hermesmeier Bros., W. C. Kalka, George Folley, Walter Lowe, Neal Bogard, F. A. Floyd, Maurice Risley, Lloyd Risley, Lacy Noble, W. L. Suckles, Nolie Simmons, Troy Guy, Claude Moore, Herlie Moreman, the Van Eaton Estate, W. B. Ayers, Loyd Hain, Mark Allen, E. L. Floyd, Lee Shaller and Wilson H. Gray. In order to help out all the above listed men, the Drought Committee was unable to fulfill all the orders, but at least the men were given a few days supply. To date, July 7th, the following orders have been made: For Clarendon—11 cars of Pellets, 6 cars of Meal, 3 cars of Corn, 4 cars of Oats. For Hedley—2 cars of Pellets, 1 car of Meal, 1 car of Corn, 1 car of Oats. For McLean—2 cars of Pellets, 1 car of Oats, 1 car of Corn. There is no intention to provide feed to those who have feed, for whom farming and ranching is only a sideline or for commercial feeders other than for short periods which may be necessary for marketing cattle now in feed lots. Emergency feed program is designed to maintain foundation herds, and farmers and ranchers should be encouraged to cull over-

Blowin' Out the Corners

Every once in awhile something comes along to sort of take our minds off of the dry weather for awhile. Such was the case with the Fourth of July celebration and picnic at Clarendon. On a day like this it does us good to get together for little visits with old friends, and in the fellowship together we joke and cheer each other up and it is just as well. The actual truth is, no worse if we laugh than it is if we cry. Anyway, one fellow remarked that it was so dry down his way that the water was only 28% moisture.

Speaking of this picnic and the free barbecue we would like to express our compliments to those who had charge of the feeding; that is, especially to them. I don't think that I ever saw a crowd fed any better and I know never in such a short time. Actually in thirty minutes most of the serving was over and it was rumored that more than 5000 were fed. This good feed plus the parade, plus all the good visits with old friends made a great day for me. Anyhow, now I can slow down on my eating for a few weeks and be ready for the big day in Claude coming up on the 30th, 31st of July and on the first of August. On the 31st a similar Old Settlers picnic and free barbecue will take place capped off in the evening by parades; queen contests and a wild and wooly rodeo. Looks like on my figure that I could just sort of coast along until this big day. Even if Mama insists on feeding me sandwiches between now and then I should make it alright. Hope that everyone that was sort of cut-short by the enormous amount that I ate will come to see us and just kinda get even. Not that there wasn't just plenty for every body, but I know that there must have been a lot less to carry away because we were there.

of bed twice, wiped the sweat from my eyes, read your column over and over but it was still too hot to sleep. Best wishes, anyhow.

AUSTIN—Federal officials are taking action on emergency drouth relief for Texas as requested by Governor Allan Shivers.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson conferred with the governor and toured drouth areas from Lubbock to San Antonio.

More than half of Texas has been labeled a disaster area by the Southwest's soil conservation chief at Fort Worth.

President Eisenhower had previously notified Shivers that the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Department of Agriculture had been put to work on the drouth disaster problem.

"The western half of the state is now in the fourth year of drouth. Conditions continue to grow worse," the governor reported. He asked for "credit extension and other relief" for farmers and ranchers.

The governor said that reports indicate at least 128 counties seriously affected. A survey among livestock producers showed a growing sentiment that government aid, either by purchase of cattle or the sale of feed at disaster prices, may be necessary to prevent wholesale bankruptcy.

Talking about old times and the good old days we had the following handed to us. It is a set of working rules of a men's furnishing store in California back 100 years ago. Each new clerk upon beginning his work was handed a set of the following rules.

1. Store must be kept open from 6 A. M. to 9 P. M. the year around.
2. Store must be swept, counters, bases, show cases, shelves dusted, lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; doors opened, pail of water, also bucket of coal brought in before breakfast.
3. Store must not be opened on Sabbath unless necessary and then only for a few minutes.
4. The employee who is in the habit of being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement will give his employer reason to doubt his honesty and integrity.
5. Each employee must not pay less than five dollars per year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly.
6. Men employees are given one evening a week for courting, two if they go to prayer meeting.
7. After 14 hours in the store, the leisure time should be spent mostly in reading.

We wonder how those rules would apply to this day and time in which we are living. Sure would hate to think about doing all those chores before breakfast.

Anyway, last week some of the columnists tried to make us feel good by telling us how cool the nights were and how free the ozone was of dust. Thanks Mr. Lizzard, it was a first didn't help.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM. CHARLIE SEEDS BUICK COMPANY Clarendon, Texas

Republican Committeeman Jack Porter of Houston and other state leaders urged maximum federal assistance.

Farmer and rancher groups from various counties discussed the emergency with Secretary Benson, who was in Lubbock to speak before the American Cotton Congress. Among other things, Benson discussed ways of preventing dumping of beef cattle on markets from the Southwest.

Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White says that the three-way squeeze of continued disastrous drouth, falling prices and rising costs has made the farm outlook this year "grim." He urged farmers to tighten their economic belts in order to get through this year.

The outlook for the cotton crop is about 3,808,000 bales, White said, or half of the potential of an average year. A wheat crop of 20 million bushels is expected in place of a normal yield of 60 million bushels.

A fund is already available to drouth-hit farmers and ranchers, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Federal loan aid which they've been receiving for the last year is still available for seed, feed, fuel, groceries and other operating expenses.

A few solutions to water shortages have been offered by State Health Officer George W. Cox. He says that if the state had built reservoirs on Texas streams we wouldn't have a water problem.

"More than 85 percent of our storm waters reach the sea," he said. "That means that only 15 percent is soaked up by our parched earth."

There is no reason, Cox said, why these waters cannot be captured and transported to areas of scarcity.

The heat wave spread to Texas politics. Two Democratic Party organizations were getting steamed up over a complete break between national and state party machinery. And the beefed-up Republican Party was trying to consolidate its gains, capitalize on the Demo split, and grab congressional and state offices next year.

The five-day visit in Texas this week of Stephen A. Mitchell, national Democratic chairman, apparently gives the national party blessings to the supporters of Adlai Stevenson in the last presidential race. Mitchell conferred with this group, recently formed as the Democratic Organizing Committee.

On the other side of the fence are Governor Shivers and the Democratic State Executive Committee, who supported Eisenhower for president.

Minimum Foundation School Program

(Second in a series of three articles explaining the minimum foundation, or Gilmer-Aikin, school program. Mr. Stilwell, a member of the original Gilmer-Aikin committee, is superintendent of Texarkana Schools, past president of the Texas State Teachers Association and chairman of its legislative committee.)

By H. W. STILWELL

The minimum foundation school program, under which Texas has made gigantic educational strides during the past four years, was designed to serve simply as a bare minimum foundation on which a local community could build the kind of education program it needs.

words, and plenty of leeway is left to local districts in the matter of putting meat on the bones.

A fundamental concept of the Gilmer-Aikin laws is that the number of teachers should be determined by the number of children actually attending school. State funds, before adoption of the minimum foundation program, were distributed on the basis of population; now, distribution of funds and the number of teachers are based on average daily attendance.

Attendance also determines the number of special service teachers (librarians, nurses, physicians, visiting teachers, itinerant teachers), teachers of exceptional children, supervisors, counsellors and principals provided for each school.

The minimum salaries for professional personnel also are a part of the minimum foundation law.

A beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree receives a minimum salary of $2,403. The salary schedule calls for an increase of $54 per year for each year of experience until the top minimum for a bachelor's degree teacher, $3,051, is reached after twelve years' experience.

The minimum salary for a teacher with a master's degree is $2,628, with annual increases of $54 for each year of experience until the top minimum of $4,032 is reached after twenty-six years' experience.

Part of the basic philosophy of the minimum foundation program is to provide supervisors and counsellors who are under local direction. These people are the trained specialists who are called in to help teachers with special educational problems, just as heart specialists frequently are called in to help general practitioners with medical problems.

One qualified supervisor is allowed for the first 40 classroom teachers and one additional supervisor for each additional 50 classroom teachers after that. Two or more small schools can pool their eligibility for supervisory units.

Hiring supervisors and directing their work is all done on the local level; in fact, the hiring of all personnel is done entirely by local administrators.

The Texas Education Agency, which administers the minimum foundation program, has nothing to do with the actual instructional and administrative programs of local schools, other than in providing free consultant services when requested. Control of the schools, in other words, was left by the Gilmer-Aikin laws in the hands of local school boards.

In fact, the law goes so far as to state specifically that all educational functions not specifically delegated to the Texas Education Agency by the Legislature shall be performed by local school boards. The law actually guarantees local control of schools instead of leaving school control to be determined by financing.

Hope everyone enjoyed themselves whether in Clarendon or not over the 4th. The people of Clarendon sure went all out to put on a good Celebration and I think the results were evident but I would like to take my hat off to a couple of organizations that really did some hard work, the Boy and Girl Scouts.

Now I know why Flip Breedlove is called the barbecue king. The Parade Marshalls, R. E.

Drennan, G. W. Estlack and J. G. McAnear will be remembered when the 4th rolls around again. Mrs. Bromley and the B&P W. Club who assisted her are to be commended for their work in arranging the Old Settlers Reunion and Fiddlers Contest. The many others who worked hard to arrange and carry on the Celebration are to be thanked because without them the Celebration would not have been possible. Then a special thanks to Mr. Joe McMurtry and the Outdoor Entertainment Association who quietly but very successfully engineered the entire program of activities for the 4th of July Celebration. If you liked the Celebration this year let some of them know all about it.

I would like to express special appreciation to all the Ladies who were active in making the Celebration possible. Ladies, if the men try to take too much of the credit, remember this, a man is "just a brag, a groan and a bag of wind" and as women, you probably realize this and will overlook it.

GABIE BETTS BURTON LIBRARY NOTES

By May L. Prewitt

We daintily ordered a few new books and they came this week. There are three of the Frances K. Judd books for girls. "The Secret At the Wind Mill", "The Strange Eco" and "The Crimson Briar Bush." For the boys we have "Kit Carson Trail Blazer and Scout" by Shannon Garst, "Custer Fighter of the Plains" by Shannon Garst. The little people have a replacement of the "Bobbsey Twins At the Seashore" by Laura Lee Hope, and the edition "The Bobbsey Twins and the Horse-shoe Riddle" that is a 1953 issue.

The adults will enjoy "The Eagle and the Rock" by Frances Winwar, who wrote Browning's "Immortal Lovers". This is a novel of Napoleon. It is told in the words of Victor de Laure stan who knew Napoleon when the two were children in Corsica, and was with him during his entire life. "Napoleon's life, with its historic sweep, its qualities of public and private drama, is a natural challenge to her talents.

We have a few new magazines that may be of interest.

Draft Law & Its Rules And Regulations

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations. Appeals from local board decisions are heard by four state appeal boards. Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of a local board at any time.

A man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification except a determination of physical or mental condition.

The registered man and others named in the above paragraph, in most cases, are allowed only 10 days from date a notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period, from 30 to 60 days, when the man is in certain U. S. territories, foreign countries, or on the high seas.

The local board may allow appeals beyond these time limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to lack of understanding or to some cause beyond control of the person.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the board. The notice need not be in any particular form but must state the registrant's name, and identity of person appealing. If a registrant is registered with a Texas board and is working or living in California, for example, he may appeal to a California appeal board if he wishes.

If the registrant is placed in a class available for military service (I-A) by the appeal board, and there is a dissenting vote, he may appeal to the President of the United States.

During July social security tax returns will be filed by employers who had one or more employees during April, May, or June. These reports will list the name, social security number, and amount of wages paid each employee.

According to J. R. Sanderson, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office, experience has shown that the reports of large employers, listing hundreds or even thousands of employees, will be almost 100% accurate. Most cases of returns being filed with missing or incorrect social security numbers will be among the smaller employers, those with only a few employees.

The reason large employers submit accurate reports, Sanderson said, is because they have learned that the only way to do so is to examine the social security card of each employee when he starts to work for them, copying his name and number directly from his card. By so doing the employer prevents needless correspondence and contacts, saves money for his Government and himself, and insures his employees getting credit for wages earned. Such a practice, of course, is available to all employers and affords all the same advantages.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Waiter Rogers

WHEAT FOR PAKISTAN WHAT FOR THE PANHANDLE?

On June 28th the first boat load of wheat destined for Pakistan sailed from Baltimore, Maryland. This is the first shipment of one million long tons of wheat being given by this country to Pakistan. The major argument in favor of the bill to make this grant to Pakistan was that Pakistan was in the throes of a drought and that there was great possibility of a famine in that country. It was further argued that since India and Pakistan are having difficulties and the United States two years ago gave India a substantial amount of wheat, it was our responsibility to give some wheat to Pakistan. Actually, the wheat to India two years ago was not supposed to be an outright grant. It was sold to India but no one expects payment of the debt, so actually it amounts to a gift for all purposes.

The facts in the present legislation show that there was not a present famine in Pakistan but that wheat was being rationed. The one million long tons in this grant does not go directly to hungry people. It was given to the government of Pakistan and it is anticipated that approximately 30 per cent will find its way to hungry people without cost, while the remaining 70% will be sold by the government of Pakistan to people in Pakistan, the proceeds of such sales to remain the property of the government of Pakistan.

The entire transaction involves approximately 84 million dollars worth of wheat that is presently owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation as surplus wheat. This wheat, however, is an asset of the Commodity Credit Corporation and was obtained by that corporation with tax dollars. When this wheat is removed from the possession of the Commodity Credit Corporation, its value must be replaced in the assets of that corporation. Therefore, under Section 2 of the bill, provision is made for appropriation of such sums as are equal to the corporation's investment in such commodity, including handling costs, plus the cost incurred in making deliveries under the act. This simply means that upwards of 100 million dollars of tax money will be transferred from the Treasury Department to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The reason for the difference between the value of the wheat and the amount of money required to be appropriated to replace it in the Commodity Credit Corporation's assets is the fact that under this bill American taxpayers are being required to spend upwards of 20 million dollars in order to give away 84 million dollars; the catch being that we are not only giving the wheat to Pakistan, but we are paying the freight to deliver it to her doorstep, and in doing this we are not shipping it by the cheapest transportation. The bill requires that one-half of the wheat be transported in American flag ships.

In the debate on the subject Congressman Poage of Texas offered an amendment that would require Pakistan to assume full responsibility of getting the wheat from this country to Pakistan. His reasoning was very sound and his amendment should have been adopted. He pointed out that the shipping interests appeared before the committee on this question and testified that the present going rate for wheat from here to Pakistan was $26.00 a ton in American ships; that foreign ships would carry the wheat for approximately one-half, or around $13.00 per ton. If all of the wheat is shipped in American ships, it would require 26 million dollars as against 12 million dollars to be shipped in foreign ships. Dividing the shipments between American and foreign shipping will require approximately 20 million dollars. Now, I do not object to requiring the shipment of all of the wheat to Pakistan in American ships by American business people and American labor. But what I do object to is requiring the American taxpayer to further subsidize the shipping industry by an additional 12 million dollars and to pay an additional 7 to 8 million dollars to foreign shipping companies for the delivery of this wheat. It occurred to me that it would be much better if this country wanted to throw away an additional 20 million dollars worth of surplus wheat and let Pakistan get it over there the best way they could. It further occurred to me that Pakistan should be willing to have the wheat shipped over there in American bottoms as the wheat itself was not costing Pakistan one thin dime. I wish that I had time to go further into this bill, as I did not like it one bit.

While we were fussing and fuming about Pakistan, the entire Southwestern section of this country was suffering a drought unprecedented in our history. Like Nero at Rome, we were fiddling while our own country was burning up. Those responsible for the passage of the Pakistan wheat bill are patting each other on the back because of the great speed with which they got the bill through the House and the Senate, signed by the President, and dispatched the first boat load of this giveaway of American taxpayers' property. They bragged that this was all done in two weeks. The entire Southwest has been suffering a drought that has reached the crisis stage in the last several weeks. This has been called to the attention of every official in Washington time and time again. Yet nothing was done to assist the American taxpayers who grew the wheat that went to Pakistan and who are going to have to cough up the tax dollars to pay the Commodity Credit Corporation and to further subsidize the shipping industry.

During the past several days there has been some indication of possible action to avert the pending panic in the Southwest. I sincerely hope that the speed that is necessary to cope with this problem will not be spared. The truth is that the delay in trying to cope with this problem is the result of some petty politics. It is a disgrace to play politics with the destinies of the fine people who have built the great Southwest. Had administrative officials taken the bold action that was necessary even three weeks ago, many small farmers and ranchers would have been saved from disaster and many small businesses would not have been jeopardized. Action at that time would have stabilized the cattle market and saved the government and the individuals many thousands of dollars that will now be required.

Our Terrible Thirst

If your town doesn't have to worry about its water supply, you're lucky. A lot of towns do.

Trouble is, some communities never dreamed that they might double and triple in size, that new industries would come to town, that citizens would use more water than ever before. We've reached the point where we use about 1100 gallons per person a day in the United States.

Yet why should water be short when 25 times our needs falls from the skies every year?

Unhappily, it doesn't always fall when and where we need it most. Many reservoirs were built with no idea that towns would grow so fast. And 75% of our communities rely on water from lakes and streams. Today many of these are polluted and require treatment before use.

When faced with a shortage, cities suddenly discover to their sorrow that new water sources take time to complete.

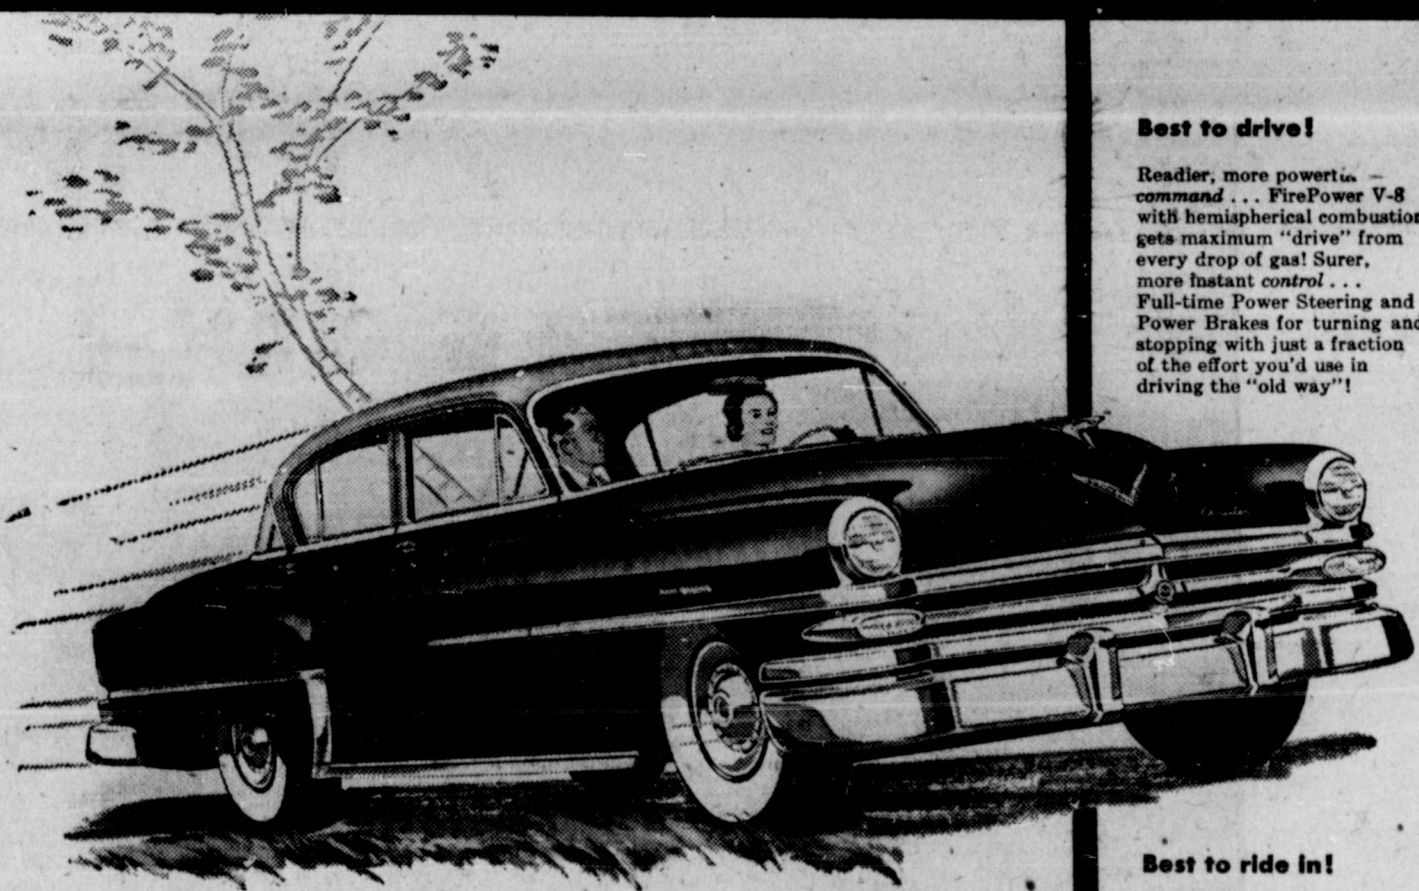

For years General Electric has contributed toward development of better and more efficient water-works equipment. This is not so unusual, since motors and other electric equipment are important in water systems, large or small.

Some of the things we've learned about water supply, and the related problem of water pollution, have been put together in motion pictures and booklets, prepared in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service. Any town fathers who are interested in what's available can write to General Electric, Room 123-2, Schenectady 5, N. Y.
