Clarendon, Hedley ISDs earn 'recognized' status

The Texas Education Agency has notified the Clarendon and Hedley public schools that they have received the "Recognized" accreditation status at each campus and the district as a whole.

Clarendon and Hedley were two of 205 districts in Texas (1,042 districts) that earned the "recognized" accreditation rating.

Phil Barefield, Clarendon CISD superintendent, stated that the district is particularly proud of the students and staff of all three campuses for this honor.

"Last year each campus missed the 'Recognized' rating by the smallest of margins," Barefield commented. He further stated, "this year each campus had very strong scores with each campus nearing the top 'Exemplary' status, a rating we feel we will attain in the near future."

Hedley ISD Superintendent Gene Sheets credited the Hedley school's success to a team effort: hard-working teachers and staff, students who take school and the TAAS test seriously, parents who get involved in their children's education, and a school board and community that really support the education of its children.

The whole district stepped up a rank, improving from Acceptable in 1996 to Recognized this year.

"We are very pleased," Sheets said. "We're extremely proud of how well the students did. It's even more gratifying considering that the state raised the standard for schools to become Recognized."

Sheets said the TEA's accountability rating system helps the state and the individual school districts improve schools. "It's certainly not a perfect system, especially in a small school situation. However, schools have to be accountable in some way, and this is the best way they've come up with so far. It's another tool to help school officials know what to target for improvement."

Sheets credited Principal Bryan Hill and the teachers for identifying those students who needed the most help and then working with those students on an individual basis, many times before or after the school day.

To receive the "Exemplary" rating at least 90 percent of the students must pass each subject area. At least 75 percent of the students must pass each subject area to attain the "Recognized" rating.

The four possible rankings, required by a 1993 state law, are Exemplary, Recognized, Acceptable, and Low-Performing. Out of the 1,043 school districts in the state of Texas, 64 were rated "exemplary," 320 were "Recognized," 644 were "Acceptable," and 7 were "Low-Performing."

Those ratings are based on Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) tests, annual dropout rates, and attendance records.

Two arrests made in case of assault of local teenagers

Two arrests have been made in the July 26 attack on two Clarendon teens.

The Donley County Sheriff's Department reports that Timmy Lockey and Rodney Smith were arrested last week and charged with assault in connection with the case. Both suspects have been released on bond.

A warrant is still out for the arrest of a third suspect in the case.

Tyrone Calloway. At presstime, he had not been apprehended.

The arrests follow reports of an attack on two local boys, Pat Church and Mark Howard, on Saturday, July 26. Sources say Church and Howard were violently and unprovokedly attacked when they left the house of a friend.

No motive is known for the incident.

Administrator, head nurse resign from Medical Center

The Donley County Hospital Board of Directors met in an emergency meeting on Saturday, August 3, 1997, at 9 a.m. at the Medical Center Nursing Home.

Members present were Rabbit Osburn, Judy Synek, Vergil Welch, Sue Leeper, Buford Holland, and Billy Ray Johnston.

Among other business, the directors accepted the resignation of administrator Cheryl Ward.

Steppping down from the chair to make a motion, board president Virgil Welch moved to accept Ward's resignation effective immediately. Welch, Synek, and Rabbit Osburn voted in favor of the motion.

Earlier last week, the Medical Center's director of nurses, Cynthia Hewett, also resigned from her position.

CC Financial Aid Office offers extended hours for students

Avoid the rush by taking advantage of Clarendon College's Financial Aid Office's extended hours.

From Monday, August 18 until Friday, August 22, the CC Financial Aid Office will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Students are required to call ahead and schedule a Financial Aid appointment time.

According to Raymond Jaramillo, Financial Aid Director, this service will enable both students and parents to make sure all their college financial aid arrangements are in order. He urges all Clarendon College students to complete their financial aid business before the beginning of school.

"There's no doubt that the Financial Aid Office is the most visited location on campus come the first day of registration," he said. "Finalizing your financial aid ahead of time will definitely make your registration process go easier and faster."

To schedule a Financial Aid appointment, please call CC at (806) 874-3571, Mon.-Thurs. Students applying for the first time need to bring their 1996 Income Tax return. Parent's Income Tax return is needed if the student is a dependent.

Clarendon College's Financial Aid Office is located in the Bairfield Activity Center.

The Financial Aid staff will be serving students from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. from August 18-22. For more information, please call Clarendon College at (806) 874-3571, Monday-Thursday.

Thornberry votes for Taxpayer Relief Act

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Saying it makes a "good followup" to the welfare and health care reform bills which were approved nearly 12 months ago to the day, US Rep. Mac Thornberry voted last week for legislation that will provide working families and businesses with $94 billion dollars in tax relief over the next five years.

"Nearly a year ago, Congress passed legislation which made historic reforms to the nation's welfare and health care systems," Thornberry stated, referring to two measures by the House and Senate during the first week of August last year.

"Today, the House passed legislation that will provide Americans with their first major tax cut since 1981. If there is a common thread that connects all of these bills, it is the basic fact that it's time for Washington to give people more control over their lives.

"This begins with letting people keep more of what they earn, which is why the tax relief legislation approved last week makes such a good followup to the welfare and health care reform bills passed last year."

The legislation is called the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997. Approved by the House of Representatives by a vote of 389-43, the bill would provide, among other things:

- A $500 per child tax credit for working families (the tax credit will be $400 in 1998, then increase to $500 in 1999 and thereafter)
- A reduction in the capital gains tax rate from 28 percent to 20 percent (for those in the 15 percent bracket, the rate is lowered even further, to 10 percent)
- An immediate increase in the inheritance tax exemption for family-owned farms and ranches from $600,000 to $1.3 million (for others, the exemption will be raised to $1 million by the year 2007)

• A $1,500 HOPE Scholarship tax credit for college students (along with the creation of a new, tax-free education savings account which will allow parents to contribute up to $500 per child annually)

The tax relief legislation approved today follows yesterday's 346-85 approval by the House of spending legislation which, among other things, would balance the budget for the first time over 25 years and extend the life of the Medicare system for another 10 years, making much needed reforms to the system in the process.

"The tax and budget plan will help people in every stage of their life," Thornberry said.

Please see Thornberry on page two.

Letter sheds more light on attack

Dear Editor:

I am writing to fill in some of the details concerning the attack that occurred Saturday, July 26th. My youngest brother, Mark Howard, is Pat Church's friend, who was also attacked. Pat is new to Clarendon and did not know any of the attackers. Mark is 16 years old. Pat is 17 years old. The attackers' ages ranged from 17 to 27 years old. To run down the events as they occurred: Mark and Pat were leaving the house of a friend about 10:45 p.m. They heard a commotion near their trucks. When they got to their trucks, they were confronted by the gang of young men. The white male hit Pat first and fled the scene on foot. When it was obvious to the boys what was happening, they began to defend themselves but were overcome by the number of guys attacking them. Mark was trying to help defend Pat but was shoved and thrown to the ground and was kicked in the head. When Buddy Wootten came out of his house, the gang broke up and ran off down the street. Mark had knots on his head from being kicked. Pat was bleeding from his nose and mouth and had several contusions about his head, face, and back. There was blood splattered all over the hood, bumper, and fender of his pickup. This was a violent attack for no reason. The boys were taken to the emergency room by my mother since Pat's parents were on a business trip. X-rays were taken of Pat's nose, jaw, head, chest, and back. Fortunately, no bones were broken. It was 5 a.m. on Sunday morning when they returned home from the hospital.

Since then, we have been told that two [suspects] were picked up and then released. None of the unknown attackers have been determined. It seems as though they are not responsible for their actions. Please call me if you have any information that would help identify the attackers. If any of the attackers would like to see me, I am not hard to find.

Buddy Howard

State NFIB director urges passage of amendment

Dear Editor:

Most everyone complains about weather and taxes. While no one can do anything about the former, Texans have a rare opportunity to cut their own taxes on August 9.

On Aug. 9, homeowners can save themselves an average $142 dollars in school property taxes. All they need to do is go to the polls and vote for the constitutional amendment to raise the homestead exemption.

As a taxpayer, I am all for the amendment. Granted, $142 isn't the same as hitting the lottery. But most of us could put $142 to good use: getting some back-to-school clothes for the kids, taking the family out for a night on the town, buying any number of house and garden items.

Taking a larger view, passage of the amendment would pump $1 billion back into the wallets of tax-paying Texans. As an advocate for small-business owners throughout the state, I'd like Texans to have that "extra spending money" to boost their local economies.

The good news is: all the pundits expect the amendment to pass. After all, there's no organized opposition to it, and groups as diverse as the Texas State Teachers Association, Common Cause of Texas, and the state chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business support it.

The bad news: election officials predict lousy voter turnout - only 7 to 15 percent of registered voters. Low turnout would send a very undesirable message to our lawmakers. Those who crave ever-expanding government programs and spending would pounce on it as a sign that few Texans are interested in tax relief, that tax levels could probably go even higher without raising howls of protest.

That message should never be delivered. And it won't be if enough Texans take a few minutes on Saturday, Aug. 9, to swing by the polls and make their voices heard. I urge all registered voters to take that trip, deliver the right message, and pocket a nice piece of change in the process.

Robert Howden, Director of National Federation of Independent Businesses of Texas

Tax amendment only issue on August 9 ballot

The constitutional amendment proposing a $10,000 increase in the homestead exemption for school property taxes and authorizing the transfer of the 65 years and over school tax freeze to an alternate residence will go before the voters on August 9. It will be the only constitutional amendment on the ballot, but local jurisdictions may add items to be voted upon. The ballot proposition will read:

"The constitutional amendment providing school property tax relief by increasing the residence homestead exemption by $10,000 and providing for the transfer of the tax limitation to another qualified homestead for persons over 65 and a reduction in taxes on homesteads subject to the limitation."

Under current law, the state-mandated homestead exemption for school property taxes is $5,000. The passage of Proposition 1 would increase that amount to $15,000, saving the average homeowner an estimated $140 per year in property taxes (based on an average school tax rate of $1.40). Any tax rate increase imposed by a school district would reduce the amount of savings to homeowners in that district.

The state will reimburse school districts for lost revenue due to the decrease in value, at an estimated cost of $1.04 billion over the next two years. Because the minimum teacher salary schedule is calculated based on the amount of state funding per student sent to school districts, this reimbursement also will increase the salary schedule by approximately 6 percent over the next two years.

Current law provides that school property taxes paid by someone over 65 years of age are capped at the amount the person paid in the year after they turned 65. Their taxes in subsequent years can be lower than the cap, but they cannot exceed it. This is known as "the school tax freeze." The cap is raised for any improvements made to the homestead. If Proposition 1 is approved by the voters, people whose tax cap was set in a year prior to the 1997 tax year will have their cap reduced by an amount equal to $10,000 multiplied by the school district's 1997 tax rate.

An elderly homeowner whose taxes are frozen now loses the tax cap if they move to another home. Passage of Proposition 1 will provide that a person 65 years or older who currently qualifies for a tax freeze on their home, and who purchases a different residence, can transfer the freeze to the new home in a percentage equal to the percentage the old cap comprised of the total taxes that would otherwise have been levied on the prior home.

An individual 65 years or older will be entitled to receive a certificate from the chief appraiser in the appraisal district in which the former homestead was located that provides information used to determine if the individual will qualify for a freeze on the new home and information used to calculate the new cap amount.

If Proposition 1 is not approved by the voters on August 9, the state-mandated homestead exemption for school taxes will remain at $5,000, and the $1.04 billion that was going to be used to reimburse school districts for the decrease in value will be left in the state Treasury. Voters will have another chance to approve the transfer of the 65 and over tax freeze on the November 4 ballot in the event Proposition 1 fails.

Vegetation can improve nature's water filter

TEMPLE — People now install water filtering systems in their homes and businesses or purchase bottled water that has been filtered to assure clean drinking water. In nature, the filtering process begins as the water moves across the land into the streams, creek, and lakes which feed our drinking water system. An easy solution to improve the filtering process already exists.

A little known conservation practice prevents a majority of pollutants from entering Texas water. A filter or buffer strip is a long, narrow strip of vegetation, such as grass, forbs, trees, or a combination of the three. Planted along streams, creeks, and lakes, buffer strips filter sediment, nutrients, pesticides, and other pollutants from runoff water before it enters a stream or lake. Underground water supplies are also protected with this practice.

Other prime locations for buffer strips include areas surrounding wetlands, sink holes, and other water bodies. Another good site for filter strips is crop land adjacent to or close by a waterbody such as a stream, lake, or wetland.

Buffer strips offer low cost erosion control, easy access to fields, and travel lanes for equipment. Improved soil condition is another important benefit. Cattle benefit from buffer strips as well. These strips provide wet weather resting areas for cattle grazing the annual forage. Improved wildlife and aquatic habitats provide economic opportunities for rural landowners when they market the recreational aspect to urban areas.

Wildlife also benefit from increased food and cover. Strips with woody debris from trees planted in the filter strips along lakes and streams provide excellent rest areas and hatcheries for fish and other aquatic life. Shade from these trees also aids aquatic life by lowering the water temperature on hot summer days. Wildlife also benefit from the improved water quality.

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) can help you design a filter strip for your specific location. Soil type, slope of the land, and soil erodibility are a few of the deciding factors NRCS considers when designing filter strips. NRCS also considers which plant species are most suitable for your site, the environmental benefits, and will advise you on the proper care and maintenance of your filter strips. They will also provide you with information about the various cost-share programs available for filter strips.

If you have an area which would benefit from filter strips and would like to know more about the various cost-share programs, contact your local USDA-NRCS or USDA-Farm Service Agency (FSA) office in the county where your land is located.

Congress went home for the summer this past week having completed work on a plan to balance the budget and lower taxes for the first time in 16 years.

While the plan certainly is not perfect, it is significant when you consider that only four years ago, Washington gave the American people the largest tax increase in history and was talking about giving us a socialized health care system, as well.

The centerpiece of the tax plan is a $500 dollar per child tax credit for working families. Critics of this credit scoff that it's just a drop in the bucket and won't have much effect on people's pocketbooks. But don't let them fool you. The parents I've talked to know that every bit helps. And for families with two or three children, an extra thousand or fifteen hundred dollars a year is no laughing matter.

For the typical family with two children, an additional thousand dollars a year would be enough to pay three months worth of interest on the mortgage of their home; or fill their car's gas tank for nine months; or pay their phone bill for just over a year.

It's all about giving people more control over their lives. It's also about shifting power away from Washington and returning it to states, communities, and individuals - where it rightly belongs.

Whether it's reforming welfare so people are given a hand up, not a hand-out, or balancing the budget so the next generation is not saddled with debt, or cutting taxes so this generation can keep more of what they earn, the idea is to make government work for us, not the other way around.

I don't know if we accomplished this goal with the plan we passed this past week. But I do think we at least took a step in the right direction, and that a government which is smaller, smarter, and more accountable to the people is that much closer to being achieved.

Thornberry:

"This isn't to say the plan is perfect. For instance, I'd like to see the inheritance tax completely repealed. While this plan provides some relief in this area, it doesn't go as far as I think we should go. But it is a step in the right direction.

"Most importantly, it's something that will let people keep more of their money for themselves and their families and, like last year's welfare and health care reform bills, something that will give people more control over their lives."

Parents play role in choking prevention

College Station - Children need nutritious food to grow, but food can be dangerous if it leads to choking, according to a nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Dymple Cooksey says parents can lower the risk of a child choking by knowing how to prepare and serve "safer" foods.

She says foods that are round, hard, or small should not be offered to young children. Some of these foods are hot dogs (sliced into rounds), hard or round candy, whole grapes, and raw peas.

Cooksey also warns parents about foods that require too much chewing.

Parents should be aware of certain behaviors that may lead to choking, such as eating while running, talking, or lying down. Children should also be discouraged from stuffing food in the mouth or eating too fast.

CC to kick off fall semester with "Dog Days '97" on August 24

Clarendon College's fall semester will kick-off Sun., August 24, with the beginning of "Dog Days '97," the college's annual freshman orientation program.

"Dog Days '97" provides new students an opportunity to get-to-know the faculty, staff, and campus.

All Clarendon College students may move into the residence halls beginning at 1 p.m. on Sun., August 24. According to Judith Oman, Coordinator of Admissions and Recruiting, freshman students are encouraged to arrive early in the afternoon.

"Move-in early and then take the time to organize your room, meet your roommate, and suitemates," Oman said. "This is an exciting time, so enjoy it instead of being rushed around."

The second annual CC Parent's Orientation will begin at 3 p.m. in the Bairfield Activity Center. All parents are encouraged to attend this informative session. Topics of discussion will include financial aid, school policies, testing information, and much more.

Parents also will be informed on how-to-deal with the emotions that they may be feeling at this time. According to Gene Denney, CC psychology instructor, parents' emotions may range from sadness and emptiness to fear and excitement.

"Last year's Parent's Orientation was standing room only," Denney said. "From the feedback we received, the parents were more informed about the college and what was expected from their sons and daughters. Plus, this orientation gives parents the opportunity to meet other parents and discuss this stressful time in their lives."

For returning CC students, priority registration will be held Mon., August 25 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Bairfield Activity Center. All returning students are recommended to enroll and finalize necessary college business on this day.

"Dog Days '97" will continue on Mon., August 25, with a welcome session at 9 a.m. in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Auditorium. Students will be provided mini-sessions on subjects that are very important not only to their academic life, but future careers. Topics to be covered include time management, study skills, note taking, and stress management.

Freshman Orientation will continue through Tues., August 26, and the first day of classes for Clarendon College students will be Wed., August 27.

Off-campus registration for Childress will be Mon., August 25. Registration will begin at 5 p.m. in the Childress High School Library. Registration for Wellington classes will be Tues., August 26. Starting at 5 p.m., individuals may register in the Wellington Junior High Annex.

Individuals interested in enrolling in Clarendon College classes need to complete college admission applications, provide high school and college transcripts, GED certificate, ACT/SAT scores, and TASP scores. Payment is expected at time of registration. For more information about "Dog Days '97," general registration, or any of the classes offered by Clarendon College, please call (806) 874-3571.

Southwest Outdoors

by Mel Phillips

Dove Season Opens September 1
The Dallas Cowboys are sweating it out in Austin and swaggering on TV; can dove season be far behind? Buy a box of #8's, and circle September 1 on your calendar. Thanks to the abundant springtime rains, the number of dove in our region is approaching an all time high, but count on an early cool front pushing our local birds to the south. This cool front will barely chill the heat of summer, but it will be strong enough to trigger a migratory response in a majority of the dove who spend their summer on the High Plains. My records show that a surprise cold front happens every other year. Maybe this is the "other" year; hunters are advised to get out in the country and scout the best flyways for both the morning and the afternoon shoots.

Now is the time for a few quick trips to the local gun club. Even Tiger Woods spends time on the practice range, and if you haven't been hunting since last winter, now is a great time to pop a few caps. Every gun club that I know is open to visitors. Call before you go, just to make sure you don't arrive in the middle of a big shooting event.

Don't forget - every hunter and angler will need to purchase a new Texas license by September 1st. The old ones expire on August 31, 1997. The new electronic service of the Texas Parks and Wildlife should make renewals quicker and easier than the old paper licenses. Fees will be the same as last year. Resident hunting license will cost $19, resident fishing license $19, and a combination resident Hunting/Fishing license goes for $32. The "Super Combo" costs $49 and covers all seven Texas hunting and fishing stamps, that if purchased separately would cost $82.

In addition to these Texas fees, all waterfowl hunters must still purchase their $15 Federal "1997 duck stamp" at any post office, if not available where Texas licenses are sold.

When you buy a license, be sure to pick up a booklet called Texas Parks & Wildlife Outdoor Annual. There are way too many lawyers involved in hunting and fishing regulations, but this handy 98 page brochure describes most of the rules that will keep you out of trouble. The quality of the articles about hunting and fishing is vastly improved over last year's version, and every hunter in Texas needs to check the rules for his county before heading to the great outdoors. Maybe next year the honchos at TPW will highlight new changes in red, but until then, you better read and understand the whole thing.

Hunter Education - Every hunter (including out-of-state hunters) born on or after September 2, 1971 must successfully complete a Hunter Education Training Course. Check page 69 of the Outdoor Annual for all the details. Call 1-800-792-1112 for information on local courses that will be offered in hunter safety. Cost is only $10, and it is recognized by wildlife officials in all the other 49 states.

September 1st is a big day for hunters and anglers in Texas; don't let it be remembered as the day you got in trouble with a game warden.

Congratulations to Bobby Inman of Panhandle for winning $570 at the July Fun Fishing Tournament held at Lake Greenbelt. Inman bested 57 anglers when he came to the weigh-in with two bass that tipped the scales at 9.58 lbs. His winning pattern was flipping a saltcraw in the flooded brush in eight feet of water.

Second place and $285 went to Pampa's Gary Carter with a three-bass limit that weighed 6.64 lbs. Carter used a Dick's Pro Style "clacker" buzzbait in the shallows and a Carolina rig on main lake points. Third place honors and $142 went to Brent Breznik of Borger with three bass that totaled 6.49 lbs.

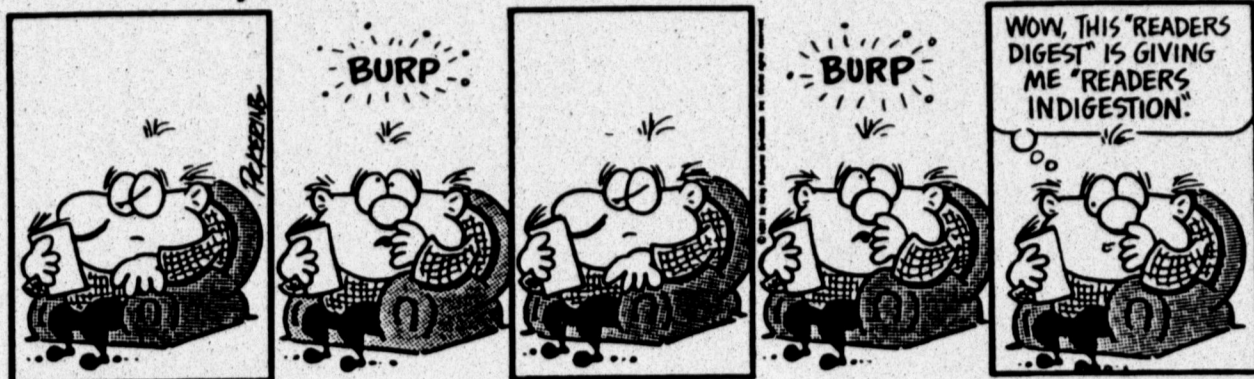

Other top anglers included Ray Smith (5.56 lbs.) of Amarillo, Rodney Sweet (4.36 lbs.) of Borger, Jack Richardson (4.22 lbs.) of Amarillo, Kurt Overton (3.33 lbs.) of Fritch, Johnny Littlejohn (3.07 lbs.) of Amarillo, Lonnie Cox (2.52 lbs.) of Canadian, and Ronnie Hill (2.38 lbs.) of Canadian.

Summertime fishing is here. Anglers reported catching bass either on a topwater bait or slow baits in water that is ten to fifteen feet deep with isolated brush.

Next open Bass Tournament is Saturday evening, August 16th, at Lake Baylor. Entry fee is only $25, and official fishing hours are from 6 p.m. until 12 midnight. Immediately after weigh-in, contestants will be treated to a moonlight feast. All interested anglers are invited to come join the fun of catching big bass in the dark at Lake Baylor.

Donley County Senior Citizen News

The Donley County Senior Citizens held our July Birthday/Anniversary Supper on Tuesday, July 29. The evening was opened with prayer by Wesley Thomas. Those attending with July birthdays were Thelma Behrens, Zell Sarsfield, Tuffy Reynolds, and Tim Wortham. Bradis and Lee Shaller celebrated a July anniversary.

J.D. Shanks, a volunteer for Clarendon's Economic Development Board, shared some information about the Economic Development Board and asked for input on interest in future development of an assisted living facility here in Clarendon. The door prize was donated by Lee Caskey and won by Al Musgrove. Tim Wortham called Bingo. Bingo winners were Betty Thomas, Lela Norton, Lacy Noble, Nancy Taylor, Zell Sarsfield, Thelma Rudder, Karen Wortham, and Leona Musgrove. Olsten Health Services furnished fried chicken for our meal. Kitchen workers were Nita Meador, Jean Baten, Don Smith, and Wesley and Betty Thomas.

For the last two years our board president, Bill Hodges, has kept busy maintaining our old ice machine. It has required many hours, machine parts, and labor. After the most recent ice machine break down, the Senior Citizens Center board decided to purchase a new ice machine with funds raised from our bake sales, second Thursday meals, and the monthly jamboree concession stand. Each person who baked a cake or pie for a bake sale or the jamboree, came to eat with us at our Thursday night meals, bought food from a bake sale or the jamboree concession stand, donated food or volunteered for any fund raiser function, or made cash donations had a part in purchasing this new machine. The Center has many needs, and we are forced to continue various fund raisers. All money brought in by fund raisers are used to support services provided by the Center.

A trip is being planned to go to see "TEXAS" on Tuesday, August 12. Call the Senior Citizens Center for more information. We hope Vada Morrison, Etta Buscher, and Cotton Nelson are all feeling better after their recent surgeries. Karen Wortham celebrated her birthday August 4. She Thelma Behrens, Tuffy Reynolds, Zell Sarsfield, and Tim Wortham celebrated July birthdays at the Donley County Senior Citizens Birthday/Anniversary Supper on July 29. Bradis and Lee Shaller celebrated their July anniversary.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank each and everyone of you for your love, prayers, kind words, food, flowers, or whatever you did to bring comfort to us in the loss of our little Jamon Lee Cox.

THANK YOU

We especially thank Bro. Bryan Knowles and Bro. Bruce Howard and Roger Smith for their comforting words they brought during the service. To Pat Knowles for the beautiful piano music. To Don Hall and Barbra Collins for the beautiful songs they sang and also the wonderful song Barbra wrote about Jamon, our little angel. To the ladies that served the lunch and to each one that prepared the delicious food, we say thank you so much. To all the people of Hedley who rallied around us with so much love and compassion, we will forever be grateful. Also to Pat and Delbert who were so wonderful and did such a professional job. Thanking you seems so small after all you have done for us, but our prayers are that God will bless you as you have been a blessing to us.
