Donley County Fair And Horse Show Is Expected To Be Largest Ever Held

September the sixteenth and seventeenth are big fair days in Donley County. The Donley County Fair and Quarter Horse Show will be held at the fair grounds in Clarendon on these dates.

The Quarter Horse Show, approved by the American Quarter Horse Association will be held at one p.m. at the fair grounds on the sixteenth. John Stotts of Matador will be the judge. H. M. Breedlove, secretary of the fair and county agent, says that predictions are for one of the biggest horse shows ever held at the County Fair. Entries will be made for the horses on the morning of the sixteenth at the fair building in Clarendon.

All departments of the Fair are about ready to go with fourteen communities competing for prizes in agriculture exhibits; the Flower Show will be sponsored by the Les Beaux Arts Club and is open to everyone; merchants have already begun to make reservations for space for their department; the poultry department is expected to be the biggest ever and entries are expected from all over the county; the home economics department will feature two exhibits, one from Clarendon and the other from Hedley; many entries are expected in the Needle Craft department and canned goods department and also county home made baking department, these departments are open to the entry world. All exhibits will be set up on the fifteenth of September and ready for the judging on the sixteenth of September. Everyone is invited to attend the County Fair and Horse Show.

TRADE DAY WINNERS
Winners in the Trade Day event here Saturday were $25—Bob Baird; $10—Neal Bogard; $5—Mrs. Mark Shults. Participating merchant listed on the first ticket was Crutchfield Texaco.

George Watson of California and Mrs. Gale Ledbetter and Gary of Conroe, Texas, visited recently in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson.

WINNERS FOR FIRST TIME

College Enrollment Equal To Last Season

Upon the completion of the first day of enrollment by college students, the head count of 99 or 81 is the same as the completion of the first day of registration for the 1956-60 school year.

A check to compare the number of girls or number of boys with last year's enrollment has not been completed, but observation by the Dean offers evidence that more girls are enrolled than the first day of last year, but less boys. This observation is encouraging because the enrollment of girls has been on the short side of the ledger since college girls' basketball was discontinued over a year ago.

Dean Abel observes that any shortage in enrollment is overshadowed by the enthusiasm of those who have enrolled to this date. He looks forward to one of the most successful years in the history of Clarendon Junior College in number of students enrolled, number of high schools represented, and quality of instruction.

Services Held For Hedley Youth

Funeral services for Jimmy Lopez, 13, of Hedley, were held Tuesday afternoon in the Memphis Catholic Church. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery at Memphis.

Lopez died Sunday of injuries suffered Saturday when he fell beneath the wheels of an automobile in Hedley. He was standing on the rear bumper of a stalled automobile to bring the bumper into contact with that of a pickup which was pushing the car when the accident occurred. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Saturnino Lopez, employees on the Cap Anderson farm southeast of Lelia Lake. He is also survived by two brothers and four sisters.

Sims P.T.A. Plans Local Unit Program

"Homes Create Community Strength — through character development" is the theme Sims P.T.A. will use as a basis for planning the local unit program this year.

The Executive Committee held their second meeting of the year in the home of Mrs. Ruby Hutton on Thursday, September 1. The Executive Committee will meet the first Thursday of each month with the next meeting scheduled for October 6 at 9:00 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Bob Moss. All members of the committee are urged to attend.

In order to make it possible for more mothers and fathers and other interested citizens to attend, the regular P.T.A. meetings have been scheduled on the third Tuesday night of each month. The first meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 20. Plans are being made for this meeting to be a "Back to School" night. The parents will eat a typical cafeteria meal and then go to their child's room. Here they would be able to get better acquainted with the teachers, and see something of the child's daily schedule. This will give the teacher an opportunity to give the parents any necessary information and the parents will be able to ask questions about instructions or school regulations that they do not understand. Later there will be an opportunity for all parents to meet the new teachers and school officials and their families. A nursery will be provided for the younger children.

The Program Committee is planning to include students on our P.T.A. programs this year. This will possibly be unrehearsed demonstrations of the work the children are doing.

We are planning to give door prizes at our general P.T.A. meetings. These will be gifts that have been donated by parents. The room count will be continued this year. The home room in grade school and the one in junior high having the most parents present at each meeting will receive $1.00 each.

P.T.A. will again sponsor treat day on every Tuesday. The baked goods to be sold will be furnished by the mothers and in turn all of the money received will go to the teachers to be used in the rooms.

Through Sims P.T.A. we hope to strengthen the Parent-Teacher partnership in our schools. We need your support as we strive for a successful P.T.A. year.

Bronchos Lose Opener To Stinnett, 35-6

The Clarendon Bronchos lost their season opener to a strong Stinnett team at Stinnett last Friday night, 35-6.

The entire Bronco squad put up a hard fight all through the game but the big boys from Stinnett were just too much to handle. Even though they were playing a team with plenty of reserve strength, they put up a stiff defense that held the Rattlers in check a majority of time outside of long runs by big speedy backfield players.

The Bronchos were unable to penetrate the Rattlers end of the field until the fourth quarter. It was in this period that Jim Robinson picked off a Stinnett pass on the Broncho 45 yard line and sped 55 yards for the Bronchos lone tally.

Stinnett scored three touchdowns in the first half and two in the last half.

Night School Program Will Continue This Year

Oliver J. Abel, Dean of Clarendon Junior College and Director of the Adult Education Program announces another bold and courageous effort to serve the people of this area by enlarging and continuing the Night School Program which was very successfully initiated two years ago as a branch of the college.

The Night School Program is designed to offer courses required of those who are seeking a college degree, teacher certification or vocational competency. Courses will be offered that will aid the adult in achieving the cultural, social, artistic, and religious desires and ambitions they have hoped many times they could pursue. In addition, courses in business will be offered which would improve the individual's ability on the job he or she now holds; which will aid the individual in choosing a field of employment that will be satisfying; and prepare the adult (who has been denied vocational educational opportunities) for an employable future in a chosen field.

The following courses have been scheduled and staffed, and other courses will be offered when it is evident that there is sufficient demand to materialize a class.

Monday nights: Shorthand 113, Shorthand 221, Bus. Math 233, Music 113, Biology 114, Bible 137.

Tuesday nights: Am. Hist. 213, Govt. 213, Music 213.

Thursday nights: Typing 113, Typing 211, Physics 114, Gen. Psy. 113, Acc'tg. 114, Acc'tg. 214.

Any other college course in which the demand will materialize a class, will be offered and staffed according to Dean Oliver J. Abel.

Enrollment for the Night School classes will be held at the College Administration building at 7:00 p.m. September 12. No enrollment in these classes can be accepted later than the third meeting of the class which will end on October 3.

Classes will meet from 7:00 p.m. to 9:40 p.m. one night weekly with an intermission on the hour, except science and accounting.

Any adult, regardless of their past educational achievements may enroll in this program if they are not seeking college credit. Those who enroll for college credit must have fulfilled the regular college entrance requirements.

The adult Education Program last year served well, many of the people of this area, and it is the hope of the Administration that it will serve many more during the current year.

Service Of Recognition At Presbyterian Church Sunday, Sept. 11th

A special service will be featured at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, September 11, at 11 a.m. It will be a service of recognition of our Public School Teachers and the topic for the sermon by Rev. Baldwin Stribling will be "Our Hope of Freedom."

In addition to the sermon, a Resolution of Recognition adopted by the session of First Presbyterian Church on Sept. 7th, will be read.

The public is invited to attend this special service.

Government Club To Be Organized Here

At 8 o'clock Tuesday night, September 13, a meeting will be held in the Court Room of the County Court House to organize a government club in Donley County. This is to be a strictly non-partisan organization and both Democrats and Republicans are urged to attend. Mr. Jerry Johnson, prominent Amarillo attorney and civic leader will be guest speaker.

In recent years people have begun to grow more interested in matters, not only on the national level, but on state and local questions as well. The primary purpose of this type of organization is to help ourselves cast a more intelligent ballot and vote on the issues involved and not base our vote on personalities and the name of the party the candidates are running. Each meeting will be open for discussion giving each side an opportunity to express their views.

Several clubs of this type have recently been organized in this area and have met with great success. Our state and national governments are no more efficient than the voters make them and we would like to urge every one who is interested in our self improvement to attend. Anyone desiring more information concerning this meeting may contact Dick Kennedy.

Fire Marshal Urges That Fire Hazards Be Removed

With the coming of fall and the drying out of the grass and weeds our fire hazard on lots and alleys will increase. Now is the time to clean up your alleys and vacant lots so that we might hold down the fires that could spread to fences and buildings and become costly to someone.

Please do not set fire to your trash barrels. This has caused several fires during the past year in Clarendon. There has been an increase in the fires in Clarendon during the first six months of this year and every one is needed to help prevent more fires from starting.

October 9th to 15th is Fire Prevention Week all over the State. If you have any fire hazards let's get them cleaned out, so we can make a good showing in our town when this week comes around.

Local Teacher Judges At Collingsworth Fair

J. R. Gillham, instructor in agriculture at the Clarendon Junior College, served as judge of the Collingsworth County Fair that was held at Wellington Saturday, September 3rd. He judged all the classes of livestock which included both the club boys and girls and the open or breeder classes.

Gillham has served as judge of the major portion of the county and regional fairs in this section, and each spring also judges a number of the annual county fat stock shows of the Panhandle Region. He was recently asked to judge the livestock division of the South Texas Fair at Beaumont, but had to decline the offer because of the distance and conflict with his school duties.

H. P. Aufferl returned home Monday from Torrance, Calif., where he visited his son, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Aufferl.

Bronchos To Meet Silverton Owls In First Home Game Friday Night

After losing their first game of the season to Stinnett last Friday night, the Bronchos have their sights set high to win their first home game from the ten Owls in Broncho Stadium Friday night. Game time 8 o'clock.

NFLA Meeting Draws Good Attendance

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Combined Donley and Hall County National Farm Loan Associations held in the Clarendon School's agricultural building drew one of the large attendances of recent years when it was held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. J. R. Gillham of Clarendon and M. A. Beasley of Memphis were re-elected to serve terms of three years as directors of the organization.

C. B. Morris of Clarendon, Tom Bain of Hedley, Joe Eddins of Estelline and Paul Montgomery of Leslie are the other directors of the organization. M. E. McNally, Jr., of Memphis was re-elected as secretary-treasurer of the organization. Jane Bownds of Clarendon serves the Clarendon area as a contact officer of the organization.

Secretary McNally reported that the organization's surplus and reserves had reached well over $200,000 and the total loans of the association had surpassed the $2,500,000 mark. Dividend checks of 5 per cent of capital stock were distributed to the stockholders and the distribution of approximately $25 as cash prizes to those attending drew a great deal of interest.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

Memorial gifts have been given to the library in memory of: Mr. Genosh Doshier, Mr. Bill Word, Mrs. John Blocker, Mr. Fred Chamberlain and John Miller Morris.

"Can This Marriage Be Saved" by Pul Popenoe is a book that can be read profitably by everyone, especially those who are planning to be married soon newly weds and those who have a marriage problem.

It is a shame that those who need help the worst are often such know it alls that they wouldn't be caught dead admitting that they might be helped to change. Marriage is such an important thing that the densest should try and do any thing and go for counseling if there is any possibility of saving a marriage. Doctor Popenoe says: 'Counseling is one form of education. There are many things most of us should have learned but were not taught. The counselor attempts to help individuals make up these deficiencies."

Since the children of a nation is its greatest wealth it is pretty important that they get a good start in life. All agree that this is impossible unless they have a happy home life. Men and women can't provide this kind of a home by accident, both have to work and work hard at it!

Bear the following in mind and again I m quoting from "Can This Marriage Be Saved?" "The attitude husbands and wives have toward marriage outweigh every other factor in helping them achieve happiness. The men and women who regard marriage merely s an episode, a gamble, and opportunity to have their own way while the other fellow carries the load, are headed for the divorce court. If you look on marriage as the most important job you will ever tackle, if you determine you will invest all your resources in the job, if you decide you will let nothing short of a catastrophe interfere with your doing your level best, you will make a success of your marriage, and in marriage you will find the greatest happiness that human nature knows.

"This is my problem — if I can't solve it myself, nobody else can solve it for me" is a common remark. People would not think of offering such an excuse if the automobile, television set, or plumbing were out of order! Marriage counselors are trained to understand and cope with the problems of marriage just as a mechanic is trained to repair a balky motor."

TIME FOR STABILIZATION

This country's largest farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, deserves a bouquet for a resolution approved at a meeting in Chicago. The resolution amounts to solid opposition to a proposed bill which would expand social security benefits to include medical and hospital care for recipients.

Here's the resolution the delegates voted for: "Old age and survivor's insurane should not be designed to replace individual thrift but rather to protect against hardship in advanced years and to protect dependents against trgaedy resulting from premature death of the family breadwinner.

"Constant pressures for increased and expanded benefits have resulted in the original law being liberalized six times in the past 20 years . . . Increased tax rates are now scheduled every three years instead of five. During the next decade the tax rate will almost double.

"These increased costs are becoming a serious financial burden upon American citizens. We therefore recommend that the social security program be stabilized. We are opposed to legislation which would increase social security taxes or benefits."

The social security concept, obviously, could be broadened and broadened until it covered every conceivable human contingency from cradle to grave. Then, of course, we'd all be working for the government, at least in effect — the cost would reach unimaginable proportions. If we want to avoid that dreary and deadly prospect, stabilization is the answer.

Irresponsible Government

David Lawrence writes in U.S. News & World Report: "By overriding the President's veto of a bill to provide more than $1 billion for various 'public works' projects, Congress . . . dramatized for the nation the irresponsibility of our present-day Government.

"Many meritorious provisions are contained in this particular bill, but 67 projects are included which have never been passed upon by the Bureau of the Budget or given the necessary study by the Army Engineers, who usually examine in advance all such proposals. The President pleaded in vain that these 67 projects be eliminated now and examined later.

"Why, then, did more than two thirds of the members of both houses of Congress vote to enact the bill anyway? Only because selfishness apparently reigned supreme, as considerations of local politics seemed to replace the courage that statesman ought to exhibit in dealing with the national interest."

The vote on the pork-barrel bill represented "politics as usual" at a time when there is serious doubt if the budget will be balanced. A new high national debt ceiling has been legalized and the danger of more inflation is very real. This is the road whose end is national bankruptcy.

MARCH PLENTIFULS INVOLVE 16 FOODS

College Station — A ready-made shopping list for hearty March appetites is implied in the 16 diet-important foods listed as plentiful this month by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station.

Pork and eggs are two high-protein foods expected to be in abundance. These will be featured in Texas during March as production continues high. Both were plentiful in February, too.

Shrimp, especially frozen shrimp, will be plentiful. Peanuts and peanut products continue on the list. And milk and dairy products join the plentifuls this month as production increases seasonally.

Plentiful fresh vegetables include cabbage, carrots and celery, as warm-winter garden areas provide heavy harvests. Oranges and orange products, canned freestone peaches and cranberry products will be in sufficient supply to encourage frequent use of these fruits.

Rice is the versatile cereal grain that takes plentiful honors this month. Almonds, filberts and raisins are on the list, to provide added flavor and intrigue to March menus. And lard, right along with pork, will be in good supply all month.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, food distribution division, works closely with producers and the food trade in determining the monthly plentiful foods list for each state. Food markets in many areas feature special sales on these foods as the industry tries to bring demand and supplies into balance. Economy and wide selection are in favor of consumers who serve plentiful foods often.

NEW HOPE FOR HARD OF HEARING

Boston, Mass., Aug. 15, 1960—Something new has just been announced. It is an electronic development designed for those who hear but who do not understand words. There is nothing in either ear. No dangling cords. No tubes. The sound vibrations are conducted right through the bones of the head to the inner ear, and right to your center of understanding. We have termed this process "Vibratory Sensory Conduction"—truly secret hearing.

The manufacturer has been able to produce a hearing device so small that many who wear it report "No one knows I have a hearing deficiency". It is said to be very reasonably priced.

FREE HEARING CONSULTATION

Hotel Clarendon, Monday, Sept. 12th. 1 to 4 P.M.
No appointment necessary. Mr. George Grey, a qualified Hearing-Aid Consultant, will gladly make a FREE test and analysis of your hearing.

The new instrument is manufactured by Audivox, Inc., Successors to Western Electric Hearing Aid Division and makers of "The hearing aids your doctor knows".

Further information and details may be obtained by writing to Audivox of Amarillo, 2710 W. 10th, just west of Georgia on Tenth, or call by phone, DR 4-0722.

"Blowin' Out the Corners"
By Uncle Zeb

"Bees make the comb,
 Bees make the honey,
 Pupils do the work,
 Teachers get the money."

The above poem written by a pupil pretty well gives his side of the picture. It is a rough deal to have all your vacation fun ended suddenly.

The teacher gave her side of the story when she gave the following prayer as an expression of her heart-felt needs;

 Lord give me strength to make the day,

All joking aside it is hard for us to pass up a beginning of the new school year without a word of thanks to our teachers. We have lived with them, worked with them, worried over them, and studied about them, more so than any other group of people in our country. After all is said and done we honestly believe that by and large our teachers make up our country's best and most dedicated group, possibly with the exception of our ministers.

Likely no other group of people have the influence over the lives of our children as that of the teachers. Probably no other influence was as great on our own life as some good teacher along the way. Each one of us without trying can remember many incidents in which a kind professor gave us that needed help.

Most teachers we know seem restless by the end of summer to get back into her work and with the children she loves. Actually deep down inside we believe that most of the children are ready for school to start. So from all of us; parents, pupils, and has-beens we say a Good, Good Morning Teacher, and may the Lord Bless You might good.

travel along our highways folks are making money by seeing to it that others find something old and quaint for their hobby.

When we know absolutely nothing about some phase of antique collecting we can impress folks as being smarter by keeping our mouth closed during a transaction and afterwards.

Our experience took place the other day when we came across a friend from some 300 miles distant looking over some old guns. He was really talking on a very old looking Civil War cap and ball type pistol which we doubted would hurt a rabbit any way except to throw the thing at it.

They were dickering back and forth one asking two hundred, and the other offering one hundred and fifty. Finally the deal was made at one hundred and seventy five. While the seller was making out some sort of a title, and the buyer's wife was undoing her purse we couldn't help asking if the figure being considered was cents or dollars.

Our friend managed a flimsy makeshift of a smile, and we left unsure whether he was smiling because we pulled a funny or at our ignorance. We were sure however that we would have been ahead to have stuck with the scenic card rack.

We told the story to another gun collector friend and he didn't think it was funny either.

"Law me," he says, "That gun may have been worth 500, dollars that is."

—O—

"A penny saved is a penny earned." If we remember correctly this proverb was in our spelling book when we were a youngster. It was not as far back as the old Blue Back book, but ancient enough that we stay awake at night for other reasons than the draft.

Be that as it may, saving anything, much less pennies or dollars is a habit that has just about gone out of date. Just about as unpopular as last year's Easter bonnet. In fact, it is almost next to impossible to do if we are to keep up with or even stay close behind our next door neighbor.

The best Scotch or saving story going the rounds just now had to do with a family who recently moved into a new neighborhood. The wife of a nearby neighbor had been watching the trucks unload and was reporting to her husband at the supper table.

"You know, dear, that family moving next door just don't have anything. They have no carpets, no television set, automatic dryer; even have only one automobile between them."

"My, my," replied the husband, "Some of these poor, poor people one runs on to now and then. All they seem to have is money."

Even with the politicians worrying about our future, and the tax department thinking about our present, and it's already too late to change the past, we still think that folks ought to start a savings account right off. No one would want to see our young people do without all the things that Grandpa couldn't have, but a reasonable savings account can bring more happiness at certain times than a dozen mis-spent bank-rolls.

If we could only be middle of the road and make good money, spend for what we need, and be sure to save a part for that rainy day ahead.

Here's another: If the federal government does not start paying off the present debt, in the next 30 years we will pay taxes for interest charges equal to the $290 billion principal of the debt—and still owe all of it.

Waste and unnecessary spending by government flatten the pocketbooks of all of us—even the so-called "common man" for whom the politicians weep.

It's a real friend who likes you in spite of all he knows about you.

IN TEXAS...

You pay 90¢ tax on 10 gallons of gasoline

Gasoline taxes up 51% in ten years

Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 5 cents a gallon.

Looking at it another way, in the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period.

$78 a year for gasoline taxes! Gallon by gallon, these taxes add up to a lot of money. Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $78 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!

Everywhere in Texas, car owners pay 90¢ tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy.

Does a tax this high—on a basic commodity like gasoline—really make sense? Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

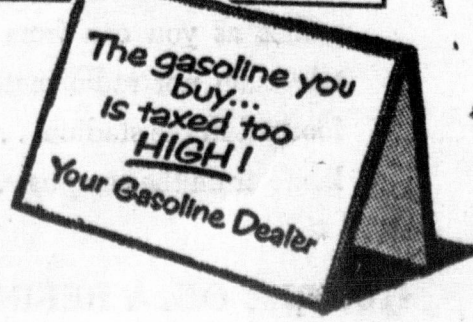

How did gasoline taxes get so high? Well, since World War II, there have been three increases in the federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 5 cents a gallon.

Your gasoline dealer—who must collect these taxes from you—feels that gasoline taxes are much too high. More and more, thinking people are coming to agree. What do you think?

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

A Moral and Ethical Problem

James C. Worthy, vice president in charge of public relations for Sears, Roebuck and Company, has written a highly unusual and unorthodox book — "Big Business and Free Men," which has been published by Harper and Brothers. It is an eloquent argument against the mechanistic view of industrial organization — and an equally eloquent argument on behalf of the value and the capacity of the individual within the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Molder and children spent part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Molder.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris and children of Stratford had dinner Sunday with Mrs. Della Barker.

Mrs. Elmer Heit of Wellington and daughter, Mary Jane, of Hereford visited Mrs. Ira Self Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Self went to the Wellington Fair Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Williams of Amarillo visited Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Williams.

An excerpt: "There is no easy way to improve employee relations. Basically, the problem is moral and ethical. Attempts to deal with it without facing up to this fact are sterile. The material advances represented by higher wage scales, shorter hours, generous employee benefits, and better working conditions are all important, but none of them goes to the heart of the problem. And the heart of the problem is the hearts and souls of the individual men and women who comprise American industry."

Mr. Worthy, it is clear, is a dedicated opponent of the kind of management philosophy which regards workers as machines, who will do what they are told without asking or understanding why. His position is based on the sheerest logic. For there can be small difference whether authoritarianism is imposed on an individual by the men at the top in an industry — or by the men at the top in a government. Human values are the infinitely important values. The free society cannot exist without truly free men.

Alma, Mich., Record: "Most of us can remember the initial birth of the March of Dimes crusade. We can remember the dimes and dollars contributed voluntarily by citizens from all walks of life. This was how polio was beaten. There were no extensive government bureaus, no red tape and no health benefit taxes. Is socialized medicine the only answer to our problems as some would have us believe? Are all those who oppose this government intervention really as impersonal and cold hearted as some would picture them? For the answer we have but to remember polio, millions of dimes and dollars given out of desire and the latest headline, 'Polio End Predicted!'"

Medical Care For The Needy

No person, regardless of age, needs to forego a physician's service because of inability to pay. That statement has been made by Dr. Louis M. Orr, president of the American Medical Association, in opposing a bill which proposes federal purchase of certain health care services for social security beneficiaries.

The backers of this bill would have us believe that many Americans, and especially those in later life, are denied medical care because they cannot afford to pay for it. But, as Dr. Orr points out, the evidence is to the contrary. Since time immemorial, physicians have given their services to the indigent without compensation, and the value of these donated services runs to millions of dollars a year. Many county medical societies have even run paid advertisements in newspapers guaranteeing the services of a physician to all who need him. "I am certain," Dr. Orr added, "that every other county medical society also will answer the need for a physician."

How, then, can the interests medically speaking, of the aged be best served? Dr. Orr listed a number of areas: By encouraging further development of voluntary health insurance; by replacing compulsory retirement and age discrimination in employment with more realistic and flexible systems; by curbing inflation; by encouraging construction of nursing homes and other facilities designed to care for the long-term patients efficiently and economically, and by increasing reimbursement of hospitals by local and state governments for care of the needy of any age.

We can, in sum, solve whatever health problems still exist without embarking on a program of gradual socialization of medical care.

SODALITAS CLUB PRESIDENT HONORED

The Sodalitas Club met for its 1960-61 club year Thursday night, at the Cotton Bowl Cafe.

The new president, Mrs. Bob Roland, was honored with the president's dinner with Mrs. H. L. Morgan and Mrs. Harold White as hostesses.

The tables were appropriately decorated with miniature gavels and a centerpiece of artificial fruit. The president's message was very inspiring and the Sodalitas Club is looking forward to a very successful club year. Mrs. H. L. Morgan presented the year-books and the theme for the year is "Reaching for Higher Goals."

A delicious menu of fried chicken, fresh corn, peas, creamed potatoes, tossed salad, peaches and whipped cream, hot rolls, and iced tea was served to a perfect attendance of active club members and two guests. Those present were Mesdames Bob Roland, O'Neal Weatherly, H. L. Morgan, Harold White, Billy White, Leon Doherty, A. L. Cherry, W. F. Maddox, Don Springer, W. L. Stewart, Doyle Messer, R. A. Shaw, Kenneth Brinson, W. B. Wiggins, Connie DeBord, L. O. Thompson, and two guests, Mrs. Mae Bush, and Mrs. Earl Wheatly.

The Sodalitas Club is happy to have three new members, Mrs. Don Springer, Mrs. W. F. Maddox and Mrs. A. L. Cherry.—Rep.

HEDLEY FHA HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

The Future Homemakers of America of Hedley held their first meeting at 8:00 o'clock p.m. August 29th. Meeting was called to order by president.

The opening ritual was administered followed by the Song of the Future Homemakers. The treasurer made her report and dues for the first semester were set.

Several officers had to be filled and the following were elected: Willa Rampy, secretary; Beverly McCallum, sergeant-at-arms; Judy Saunders, teller.

It was agreed to name 5 couples as Chapter parents. They will be voted on next meeting. The regular meeting nights are the first Monday of each month. Members of the FHA will entertain children while their parents attend PTA. Meeting was adjourned.—Sec.

FRESHMEN ELECT OFFICERS

ASHTOLA PLANS COMMUNITY MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Percival and Kathy Jo of Grandprairie were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Percival.

LES BEAUX ARTS CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Les Beaux Arts Club held their first meeting of the 1960-61 club year in the home of Mrs. Frank White, Jr., Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. The out-going president, Mrs. C. T. McMurtry presided over the first part of the business meeting. Mrs. McMurtry introduced the new president, Mrs. Frank White, Jr., with a delightful poem of her own composition. After a gracious acceptance speech by Mrs. White the new yearbooks were presented and discussed.

Plans for the Flower Show were made under the leadership of Mrs. Emmett Simmons. The Flower Show will be held September 16th and 17th in connection with the Donley County Fair. Mrs. W. W. Taylor gave an interesting report on the work of the past club year.

A brunch was then served from a table laid with a blue cloth and centered with an arrangement of fruit and flowers. Mrs. J. D. Swift presided at the coffee service. An informal discussion of art objects and picture framing followed the brunch.

Those present were Mesdames John Bass, Hall Hardin, W. K. Hardin, J. H. Howze, C. T. McMurtry, Mable Mongole, L. B. Noble, Forrest Sawyer, Bess Stricklin, J. D. Swift, W. W. Taylor, Frank White, Jr., W. C. Thornberry, Tommie Saye, and Miss Anna Moores.

Hostesses were Mrs. Frank White, Jr., and Mrs. J. D. Swift.—Rep.

ASHTOLA NEEDLE CLUB PLANS FOR FAIR

Mrs. Harold Graham was hostess to this club Thursday, Sept. 1st, in the Center. Election of officers did not take place because there was not a quorum present. Plans for the County Fair were discussed and everyone in the community is urged to contact Mrs. John White or Mrs. Slaton Mahaffey if they have any product for our booth. There will be no club meeting Sept. 15th; work will be in progress on the booth at Clarendon Fair barn.

The hostess served refreshments to 6 members and 1 guest, Mrs. Nuford Dill.—Rep.

COLT MOTHERS MEET

Colt mothers met Tuesday morning in the junior high school cafeteria to organize and elect officers for the year. Officers elected were as follows: Mrs. J. G. McAnear, president; Mrs. Barney Horton, vice-president; Mrs. Pat Slavin, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. G. W. Bradshaw reporter.

Plans were made for the operation of the concession stand during the football season and Mrs. Johnny Grady was made chairman of that committee.

The first Colt game will be with Claude the evening of September 22 here in the local stadium. Game time has been set for 7:30 p.m. Colt Mothers invite all football fans to eat their evening meal or snacks with them. All of the usual food and drinks will be on sale with proceeds being used to help finance the football banquet at the close of the season.—Rep.

MIDWAY CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Club met Thurs., Sept. 1st, with Ellen Moreland acting as hostess. Those answering roll call were Lillie Mae Carmichael, Bobbie Dishman, Marjorie Hensley, Jewel Myers, Ida Pickering, Allie Quattlebaum, Josie Simmons, Leona Scott, Katie Bell Wells, Buelah Sanders. One guest, Maud Palmer, was present.

Due to the absence of our president and vice president there was no business meeting. A sack lunch, with the hostess adding salad, potato chips and pie, was enjoyed by all present. We worked on a quilt but did not finish it. It was decided to have a chicken barbecue at Josie's Friday night, Sept. 9th, at 6:30. Have chickens there no later than 2 p.m. Bring tables, plates, glasses, etc., also dominoes. We will play "42" afterwards.

Next club meeting will be with Leona Scott Oct. 6th. We will have a sack lunch that day also.—Rep.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Fricks, Mr. and Mrs. John Adamson spent the week end in Fort Worth visiting Mr. Fricks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Lewis and other relatives and friends.

MYSTIC WEAVERS CLUB MEETING

The Mystic Weavers Club of Lelia Lake met with Mrs. Earl Myers. The sack lunches with salad, pie, and iced tea served by the hostess was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be Sept. 14 with Mrs. Albert Sanders.—Rep.

CARDS OF THANKS

We are deeply grateful for the many kindnesses extended to us during our recent sorrow. The floral offering was beautiful, the food brought to the home and church delicious, and the calls and loving sympathy manifested by all our friends was comforting. Words are inadequate to express our feelings. May God bless all of you.

Mrs. John Miller Morris Miller and Kelly Morris Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morris and family Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Green and family Mr. and Mrs. Duane Naylor and family

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to the good people of Hedley and Donley County for everything that was done for us in the loss of our loved one. We especially thank Carroll W. Knorpp of the Donley County Bank for his contribution to the children's home at Amarillo in her remembrance. May God bless every one of you. Milt Mosley and family

THE DANGER OF RED CHINA Part I: The Deadly Argument

The man Lenin called "the best file clerk in Russia" has bounced out of obscurity and into the headlines once again. After a three-year exile as Russian Ambassador to Outer Mongolia, Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Molotov will soon re-enter the splendor of full-fledged diplomatic life as delegate to the International Atomic Energy Agency. Molotov, who was Soviet Foreign Minister and Josef Stalin's closest associate, was swept from the Kremlin in 1957 for opposition to Nikita S. Khrushchev.

His withdrawal from the remote Mongolian capital of Ulan Baator touched off a chain of Western speculation. Outer Mongolia is a virtual subsidiary of Red China, and the prevailing thought seemed to be that the Russians felt Molotov has been a bit too sympathetic with the tough, unyielding policies of the Chinese. The Kremlin has been working to move Molotov to a new assignment for more than a year, perhaps with the hope of finding this devoted Stalinist an atmosphere less agreeable to his own ideological tastes.

Molotov's transfer may thus be another symptom of a deep-seated dispute between Soviet Russia and Red China. Although it has received scant general attention here, this dispute is of foremost importance in relation to our struggle with the communist world. The grim argument between these two totalitarian giants may well be as vital to the survival of freedom as our own opposition to communism as a whole. For the central theme of the Russian-Chinese battle concerns nothing less than the necessity of all-out war with Western capitalism.

Red China not only believes in the inevitability of war, but even suggests that a nuclear holocaust might be a good thing. The Chinese leadership has stated that should half its people die in such a war the country would still have a greater population than either Russia or America does today. This chilling attitude directly conflicts with Soviet pronouncements that war is "un-

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

According to a recent survey, two-thirds of the people who fish never eat fish.

When you stop to think about it, that's not too surprising. In the first place, fish is brain food. People who eat fish have large, well-developed brains. And people with large, well-developed brains don't fish.

It's that simple.

Kidding, of course. But we've gotta admit that we've wondered more than once what we were doing out in a boat on a hot, blistering, summer day, getting a whole of a burn and landing not one keeper.

But what about the fisherman who does catch them, and doesn't eat 'em? He has a problem too. But it's a different one.

His problem is how to get rid of them.

Our Pilgrim Fathers solved this problem by burying a dead fish in a hill of corn. It made good fertilizer and the corn grew "thinkable" and that peaceful co-existence was a guiding principle for Lenin. None of this means, of course that the Chinese seek war tomorrow or that the Russians have given up war forever. But the implications of the basic struggle are obvious.

Both the Soviet Union and Red China, since their very beginnings, have twisted the writings of Karl Marx to fit their own expedient purposes. Lenin's version of Communism could not be used in China, Mao Tse-tung's interpretation would have failed in Russia, and both leaders learned very quickly that the brittle dogmas of Marx were unworkable in any society. Thus Communism has developed into a highly nationalistic and authoritarian system which has radical differences in each country and which would be largely unrecognizable by Marx himself.

These traditional differences in interpretation led to open conflict between Moscow and Peiping last spring, when the Red Chinese openly opposed a Summit Conference between East and West. There has been ample evidence since that time to indicate the extreme aggressiveness of China within the communist bloc. But for the immediate future, the Soviets seem to hold the winning cards. The Peiping regime is dependent upon Russian aid and technical advice, not to mention diplomatic support.

The Chinese, however, may hold a series of significant long range trumps. Their rate of population growth has been at least five times that of the Soviet Union. They are expected to develop their own atomic bomb within the next year. The prophet Marx was certainly no enemy of war and would appear to be on the side of Chinese interpretations despite Russian talk of peaceful coexistence. And the opportunities for initiating a full scale war are plentiful for the Chinese, notably in the Formosan straits.

The Soviet Union, after tediously underwriting the communist build-up in China, is very possibly finding that Mao Tse-tung's ambitions are radically different from its own. The Peiping government has not been slow with the realization that should Russia and the United States destroy each other only China would remain, able to establish a world dictatorship with no serious interference. The idea has its appeal for Mao, and exists in the Russian mind primarily as a nightmare.

It's not exactly a pipe dream for America either. The possibilities of a fanatical and enslaved society unleashing a world conflagration are highly ominous, and all the more so because of our own general lack of knowledge about Chinese conditions. The Russian-Chinese argument offers much more than a remote instance of hair splitting or the mere possibility of causing a little embarrassment within the communist camp. We have seen the possibilities behind such a dispute, but we must also be aware of and understand the Communist Chinese life itself, and I will attempt to present a basic outline of some information during the next few weeks.

Whatever lies behind the ideological disputes of China and Russia, the truth is that this could be the opening round in a bitter battle for the leadership of world communism. Such a battle and its outcome will, I am sure, be an object of careful attention and a source of renewed opposition for every American.

Odd Methods of Disposal

We heard about one fellow who stuffed his fish in a corner mailbox, when nobody was looking. But that's not a very satisfactory method. Besides, it's illegal.

Then there was the fellow who checked his in at a bus station—then threw his check away. That was in bad taste.

Read not so long ago about a fellow who couldn't get a loan from the local bank. It made him so mad he rented a safety deposit box, put a dead fish in a paper bag and deposited same in the bank box, then and there. He was a stinker. And so was the fish!

Don't know that he ever got his loan, but I do know that it wasn't but a few days until the bank started looking for him.

There are lots of fishermen, who don't eat fish, who just fish for the fun of fishing.

Any true sportsman, if he doesn't plan to make good use of his catch, turns them loose. He cases them gently into the water, after carefully removing the hook, so as not to injure them in the least.

He sees to it that they are put back into the water, to grow larger, for other sportsmen to enjoy.

Same Applies to Gulf Fishing

Just the other day I talked to a local fisherman who had been to the Gulf for the week end. He and his party of four landed at least 50 King Mackerel. That's a lot of fish!

When we commented that he could look forward to some wonderful eating, he said, "Oh, we didn't bother to bring any back. When we got done fishing, we just umped the entire lot back into the Gulf."

Each of those Kings had been gipped and subdued. Of course, all of them were dead.

What a waste of food!

A Kingfish, properly prepared, is one of the best eating fish in the Gulf.

Same is true of the Saifish, especially when smoked. But it is seldom so considered.

A Ling is as good as a catfish, in our book. Some say it's better. So is the Warsaw — and the Jewfish.

Believe it or not, even the Ribbon Fish is regarded as good eating by some, especially when filleted, buttered and wrapped in dough — and cooked like Flounder.

There are lots of good eating fish in the Gulf of Mexico, besides Red Snapper, Redfish, Croaker, Pompano, Snook, Sheephead, Speckled Trout and Flounder.

Just why didn't that fisherman bring those Kings back to land and give them to some tourists, or local sightseers? Why didn't he turn them to some ice house or locker plant, to be presented to some orphanage? He had enough fish to feed 100 kids.

The answer is that he was lazy, wasteful and inconsiderate of others.

We can poke fun at the various means of disposing of fish. But the true sportsman will see that his catch either is returned to the water, alive, or he will make sure that some good use is made of them.

In the final analysis it boils down to a lack of respect for nature.

Miles City, Mont., Daily Star: "As schools around the country closed for the summer, a number of campaigns were started to help teenagers get summer jobs. It was a good idea.

"But the drives, often sponsored by local and state governments, are running into some snags.

"Local regulations requiring working certificates even in summer, and the Federal minimum wage requirements, social security and income tax deductions often make hiring temporary help a lot of trouble.

"The day of the casual summer job, such a help to eager youngsters in other days, seems to be passing — one more casualty of creeping public and private bureaucratization."

college and had to get back to the Capital City to get his military obligations taken care of, as well as to get himself ready for the fall semester. We drove in his car, which is one of those low type automobiles that has a removable top. Frankly, I thought I was going to be in a torture chamber for several days, but it didn't turn out that way. The ride was most comfortable, and he is a good driver. If you ever get a chance to take a trip in one of those cars, don't miss it.

Since Congress was scheduled to meet on Monday, the 15th, I wanted to be in Washington as near that time as possible. I attended the Greenbelt Bowl Parade and football game at Childress on Saturday, the 13th, and enjoyed it immensely. As a matter of fact, I got to kick off the football (the first time I had the pleasure of doing this for a number of years). I found out I wasn't in practice, because the ball went sideways. This was no doubt due to the sharp-toed shoes, rather than my inability as a kicker. I had to leave the game before it was over in order to meet my son in Shamrock, from which point we headed toward Washington which, incidentally, is about 1,600 miles. We made it by Tuesday, but did not stop for any extracurricular activities on the way.

After arriving in the Capital City we discovered that we probably wouldn't have had to come anyway, as there was not a majority of Members present during all last week, the result being that we adjourned from day to day. This situation was undoubtedly due to the sharply divided opinion among the Members as to whether or not the Congress should have reconvened. Many felt that an extended, bobtailed session would simply afford an opportunity to pass unneeded legislation. Hence, every effort is being made by these Members to block anything not scheduled under the absolutely necessary list. I hope that we can adjourn at a very early date. The committees do not have time to properly consider important measures and it would be most unwise to try to pass any new legislation under such circumstances.

Theodore Roosevelt Memorial There is quite a fuss about a "celestial sphere" proposed as a memorial to Theodore Roosevelt. It will cost approximately $900,000. Roosevelt's daughter, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, has indicated that she was horrified and called the expenditure of that amount of money "utter folly." She feels that Roosevelt Island in its raw state would be a much better memorial, with which I thoroughly agree.

On the trip back to Washington we made some most interesting observations. The motel situation in our section of the country is much better than it is in the East and Middle West. Good motel accommodations are more numerous in our Southwestern area and the service is much better than in the Midwest and East.

The bottleneck of the entire trip is at St. Louis, Missouri. If you are planning a motor trip east of St. Louis, be sure to try to arrive there in the middle of the day or late at night. Otherwise, you will get into traffic jams which will cause you to lose between two and three hours in covering 25 or 30 miles. Highway 66 is listed as having a bypass around St. Louis. This bypass is routed through a number of municipalities where the traffic is bumper to bumper. I fail to see how it could be much worse if you continued on regular 66.

We came through the town of Cuba, Missouri. The good citizens of that town have erected a large sign which reads: "CUBA - NO CASTRO". This reminded me of how the rise of Hitler caused the name of a hotel at Raton, New Mexico, to be changed from "The Swastika" to "The Yucca."

We saw another sign in Zanesville, Ohio, which read "VOTE FOR JAMES AGIN FOR SHERIFF." We wondered what James' last name might be until we saw another sign and realized that it was Agin. I would point out that we knew how to spell "again" but thought perhaps the candidate for sheriff didn't.

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Over 50,000 persons are drawing approximately one million dollars a week in unemployment compensation in Texas.

Investigations have disclosed fraudulent claims. Charges already have been filed in several Texas cities, and investigation is underway statewide.

"In view of the recent frauds disclosed by investigations in unemployment compensation claims," says Maurice Acers, Commissioner, "it is imperative that an already broad system of fraud detection and prevention be expanded and accelerated."

There are a number of ways TEC can catch the cheaters. And TEC is out after them now. One method is by "cross-matching". This involves checking a person's employment claims against his earnings.

Sometimes this isn't necessary. Some people who are drawing unemployment compensation and secretly working, will betray themselves by their nervousness when they report to the local TEC office.

In one instance a truck driver applied for unemployment compensation, then got another job. When he made his weekly trip to report to the employment office, he drove up in the truck of the company employing him and double-parked in front of the TEC office.

A TEC employe asked the man why he was driving this company's truck. "Because I'm working for the company," the driver said.

This man soon found himself in court.

There are some, says a veteran TEC employe, who take the attitude: "I've earned it. Now I want to collect it." In other words, after they have worked long enough and earned enough to qualify for unemployment compensation, they feel they're entitled to quit work and collect it.

That is not the way the program is set up under the law. Here, briefly, are some of the requirements:

1. You must have built up a certain amount of work credits during the 15 months preceding application, with an employer who hires four or more persons.
2. You must have lost your job through no fault of your own.
3. You must make application with TEC for another job.
4. You must be able and available to accept another suitable job.
5. You must visit your local TEC office once a week to report your availability for work, or if you have done any work, report your earnings.

For example, a woman unable to work because of pregnancy would not be eligible for unemployment compensation, even though employed by a concern participating in the program.

Conflicting opinions sometimes develop over what is another "suitable" job and who is "available" for work.

A typist who has been making $200 a month may consider a salary of $185 unsuitable. But if that is the going rate for that work in that area, TEC may decide it's suitable enough and deny unemployment compensation.

Others drawing unemployment benefits may be "available" in body only. When directed by TEC to apply for a certain job, they'll do it, but will appear so dull and uninterested that prospective employers won't hire them.

Most important to TEC is throwing a barricade in the paths of those people who just plain want to get some of the money just because it's there.

TEC also tries to alert employers to their role in halting fraud. When a former employe applies for benefits, a copy of his application is sent to the employer. If the employe quit or was fired for incompetence, it is the employer's duty to inform TEC at once.

TEC warns that if you're not willing to work at a suitable job, you cannot collect unemployment insurance. Furthermore, you cannot work, earn a salary and collect unemployment insurance at the same time.

Invariably some people try to get around TEC rules. Such persons cause trouble for their employers, who have to pay more taxes; trouble for TEC, which now is on the lookout for the chiselers; and trouble for themselves, because they are laying themselves wide open for suits for fraudulent claims.

Taken individually, the collection by some person of from $7 to $28 a week, to which he is not entitled, may seem like peanuts. But any unchecked fraud, viewed in the light of the whole massive unemployment compensation program in Texas, could multiply itself into a million-dollar headache.

Last year $51,376,076 was paid out in Texas in unemployment benefits. This was more than was taken in in unemployment taxes from employers. Fortunately for TEC, the program has, over a period of years, built up a substantial trust fund — $255,534,551 to be exact — against bad periods.

But this fund, designed as a cushion against depression-type breadlines, can serve its purpose only if it is not abused. It is meant as insurance, TEC officials explain, not as a dole, and not to pay for vacations for those who are tired of working.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas Department of Public Safety celebrated its 25th birthday this month. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., has been director for 22 years. The highway patrol has grown from 140 to 773 men, but is still far short of the 2,500 estimated need. Personal incomes of Texans rose five per cent last year, bringing the annual per capita income for the state up to $1,908. . . Some 700 persons from 100 Texas counties will attend the Governor's Conference on Aging, in Austin, on Sept. 7-8. Delegates will draft recommendations for the White House Conference on Aging.

AUSTIN — Summer weeds have been mowed down on the school yards over Texas this week. Classrooms are being aired, and teachers have mapped lesson plans.

Some teenagers — probably thousands — are ignoring all these tax-paid preparations being made for their benefit. Deliberately or unknowingly, they're getting ready to make one of the worst mistakes of their lives . . . not finishing high school.

Gov. Price Daniel has issued a special plea to youngsters to "go back to school and remain there until graduation."

To drop out of school, the governor reminded, is to cheat yourself out of a probable $50,000 in future income. This is the average difference between what a high school graduate and an eighth grade graduate will earn in a lifetime.

At the peak of his earning power, the average high school graduate will earn 27 per cent more than the average eighth grade graduate, said the governor.

Public concern is based on statistics showing that between the 1955-56 school year and graduation of the 1958-59 class, more than one-third of Texas high school students dropped out.

In 1955 a total of 118,272 students enrolled in the ninth grade in Texas public schools. When that class graduated in 1959, only 71,855 still were there. About 39 per cent had dropped out.

Governor Daniel reminded that in an age of swift technical advancement, it is harder and harder for an unskilled worker to find a job. He called on public and private organizations to join in encouraging young people to stay in school. Both the individual and the community enjoy a better life, he said, where more people have good educations.

SMALL WORLD PROBLEMS — In deciding what kind of materials to use in building Texas roads and bridges, the State Highway Commission found itself plunged headlong into the whirlpool of international relations.

This summer the Commission issued an order that only American-made materials should be used in Texas road and bridge building. Texas industrialists, particularly steel officials, cheered, but representatives of foreign nations lodged a storm of protest at a hearing before the Commission.

As a result, the order has been held up for further study. Decision will come probably in late September.

Representatives of the Texas steel industry called the ban on foreign materials "a forward step for Texas." They said use of imported products brings loss of jobs for Texas workers and loss of taxes from Texas business. Furthermore, they argued, the imports are only slightly cheaper and frequently of inferior quality.

Attorney representing the governments of Japan, Belgium and West Germany countered that "international trade is a two-way street." In short, they said Texas cannot expect to continue to profit from selling its products abroad unless it is willing to buy from other countries.

A Spokesman for an international trade group declared the imports ban would violate the spirit of a treaty between Japan and the U.S.

MEDICAL AID URGED — Next legislature has been urged to pass a law providing for payments for the medical care of the needy aged.

Housing sub-committee of the Governor's Committee on Aging has released its report which points particularly to the discrepancy between old age pensions and nursing home costs.

Maximum old age assistance is $67 a month, said the sub-committee, while the average charge of a licensed private nursing home is $159 per month. Medical payments, said the committee, would be a help in closing this gap.

In 1958 a constitutional amendment was approved giving the legislature authority to set up such a program. It would cost approximately $10,000,000 in state money, which would be matched with almost twice as much in federal funds.

These and related problems will be discussed at a statewide meeting of the Committee on Aging in Austin Sept. 7. Lending importance to the study are statistics showing the rapid increase in the number of older persons. During the past 60 years Texas population has tripled, but the population over 65 has multiplied by ten.

BALLOTS UP TO COUNTIES — It's up to county election boards to decide the order in which parties will be listed on the general election ballots.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that counties do not have to list the parties in the same order in which the secretary of state lists them on a sample ballot. Secretary of state sends this out to list the certified nominees for state office.

Republican officials have been urging that county officials draw lots to decide whether Republicans or Democrats shall get the preferred first column on the left.

INTEGRATION OPINION ASKED — Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education, has asked the attorney general for an opinion on whether the Houston public school system can continue to receive state aid if it follows a federal court order to integrate a grade a year, beginning in the first grade. State law denies aid to schools integrating without voter approval. Houston voters turned down integration.

TETANUS SHOTS URGED — State Health Department officials are urging Texans to have tetanus shots and keep their immunity up to date by getting periodic boosters. Lockjaw, which the shots prevent, has not disappeared. Fifty-two persons, 24 of them infants, died of lockjaw in Texas last year.

HIGHWAY FUNDS ANNOUNCED — State Highway Commission has announced plans to spend $188,550,000 on the interstate highway program. An estimated $160,912,000 will be spent on 548 miles of controlled access highway and $27,638,000 on buying right of way.

TEXAS DAIRY PRINCESS CHOSEN — An 18-year-old dairy farm girl from Sandia, Texas, Miss Louise Knolle, is Dairy Princess of Texas for 1961. She replaces Marilyn Carpenter of San Antonio, 1960 winner.

Miss Knolle was selected from three finalists in the Fifth Annual Leadership Awards Program of the American Dairy Association of Texas. They competed in Austin for the state honor.

She will represent Texas in the 1961 American Dairy Princess contest.

GEORGE'S WIFE
 By "Sarah"

We turned on our TV one morning last week, to see the new and brighter picture they all kept talking about. We forgot to notice if it really was a better picture, because something more interesting was going on.

Dave Garaway was introducing a person who was handicapped. In doing so he remarked that this was the largest minority group in the world. Which put me to thinking. All of us are disabled in some way, some visible others of us deep within our inner being.

It has been said, how thankful we should be to have two arms, two legs, one head and one heart, and above all two eyes. The most pitiful of all can be the spiritual handicapped. We have yet to see a handicapped person who was not radiant, and who always makes us feel that something less than our best in anything we try to do, in comparison.

The Sunday preceding this broadcast, we happened to be in the place we should have been, a place of worship. Our Sunday School class was interrupted by two fine young men, we noticed nothing unusual about them, except one carried a very large book. This book was a braille Bible, we should have recognized the young man, but as youth has a way of doing he had grown up. Nothing was said about one being blind, or in need of anything. His buddy had just brought him by to show what a wonderful person he had grown up to be, in spite of his handicap, and a terrible tragedy as well in his lifetime.

Bill had completed 12 years of school in only 9 years, better that his buddy who could see, or most of the rest of us. But all whose life had touched his in any way, were bursting with pride and praise of his accomplishments.

Seeing the boys, their affection for the other, their sharing themselves with us, made the day extra rich for those of us who were there to learn more of the goodness that is in our world in these troubled times.

Frank Gibney, in the new book "The Operators," (Harper & Brothers) reports: "Last year by conservative estimate, some five billion dollars, roughly one per cent of the total U.S. national product changed hands under innumerable desks, counters or expensive restaurant tables in kick-backs, pay-offs, or bribes. The country's employers lost more than half a billion to embezzling employees. A half billion went down the drain in home-repaired frauds alone."

FARM NEWS

from the County ASC Committee

Cotton Deadline Extended To September 15

September 15 is the new deadline for a farm operator to file a written application regarding failure to plant at least 75 per cent of the 1960 cotton farm allotment. Mr. Cooke, chairman, Donley County ASC office recommended growers recently.

Under program regulations for both upland and extra long staple cotton, the farm cotton allotment for 1960 will be used as the base in determining a farm's 1961 allotment if at least 75 per cent of the farm's 1960 allotment was planted to cotton or regarded as planted to cotton.

Acreage may be so regarded (1) if it was included in the 1960 Conservation Reserve or the Great Plains Programs, (2) if the allotment acreage was released to the County ASC Committee for reappointment to other farms, or (3) if the County Committee determines that planting was prevented by a natural disaster or illness of a farm operator or producer.

If at least 75 per cent of the 1960 farm allotment was not planted or regarded as planted to cotton, however, the base in determining the 1961 farm allotment will be reduced to the average of (1) the regular allotment for 1960 and (2) the acreage planted or regarded as planted in 1960.

Mr. Cooke pointed out that, to avoid adjustment in the base acreage in cases where underplanting was due to a natural disaster or illness of a farm operator or producer, the farm operator ordinarily must file a written application with the county committee not later than Sept. 15, 1960, showing that failure to plant at least 75 percent of the 1960 farm allotment was due to one or more of these conditions.

The only instance where such a written application would not be required, the chairman explained, would be if the county committee found that one or more of such conditions at planting time generally caused underplanting of 1960 allotments on a number of farms in a particular area of the county. If at least 75 per cent of the allotment for a farm in the area was not actually planted to cotton in both 1958 and 1959, however, the producer would have to file a written application the same as any other producer outside the area and have the case considered and approved or disapproved by the county committee.

Overplanting Affects Future Wheat history

With seeding of the 1961 winter wheat crop about to get underway, growers were reminded that overplanting the farm's wheat allotment will usually have indirect as well as direct effects upon the farm's crop or operation.

Farmers generally understand very well that wheat from a farm where the wheat allotment has been exceeded is not eligible for price support. With a few exceptions, such as the 15-acre exemption provision, it will also be subject to marketing quota penalties. What is not so well understood, however, is that such overproduction can also reduce the farm's wheat allotments under a ruling provided by legislation enacted within recent years.

"If a farmer complies with his 1961 allotment," the base acreage — which is the farm wheat acreage allotment plus the acreage diverted from wheat for the current year — will be considered as the farm's wheat acreage history for 1961 in establishing future wheat allotments.

"If the farmer does not comply with his 1961 farm wheat allotment however, the general rule is that only the 1961 allotment will be considered as the farm's wheat history for 1961 in determining future allotments.

Mr. Cooke pointed out that the rule governing wheat history applies in all cases where the farm allotment is exceeded regardless of the size of the allotment. Thus, if the farm allotment is exceeding quotas — such as a farm with 155 acres or less of wheat still would be credited only with the wheat allotment — not the base acreage — when future allotments were established.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Pierce, former Clarendon residents and now of San Antonio, were here over the week end visiting with his father, S. A. Pierce, other relatives and friends.

FARM HOUSING REGULATIONS CHANGED

Under a recent change in eligibility requirements for Farm Housing loans, a farmer who owns a farm that will annually produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use, may be able to obtain a Farm Housing loan.

Previously, according to James Gouldy, Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor for Donley County, an applicant had to own a farm that would produce a substantial amount of the operator's income.

Farm Housing loans made by Farmers Home Administration are made to construct or repair needed farm houses or farm service buildings.

Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged. These requirements are that the applicant lacks the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere, be a citizen of the United States, and have sufficient income from farm or other sources to pay farm operating and family living expenses, and meet payments, when due, on other debts.

Applicants for this type of credit may contact Mr. Gouldy at the County Office of the Farmers Home Administration located in the Agricultural Building in Clarendon or write Farmers Home Administration, Box 25, Clarendon, Texas.

ROTO-TILLER SERVICE AVAILABLE HERE

People in Clarendon desiring to have their lawns renovated with heavy duty Roto-tilling will be pleased to learn that a large heavy-duty Roto-Tiller has been purchased by a Clarendon man and is available for his work on a contract basis.
