Bairfield Foundation awards funds to fire dept

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Dept. has purchased a new water tank thanks to a generous contribution from the Charles and Thelma Bairfield Memorial Foundation.

Joe Lovell, trustee for the foundation, presented a check in the amount of $9,000 to Fire Chief Delbert Robertson last Friday at the Fire Station.

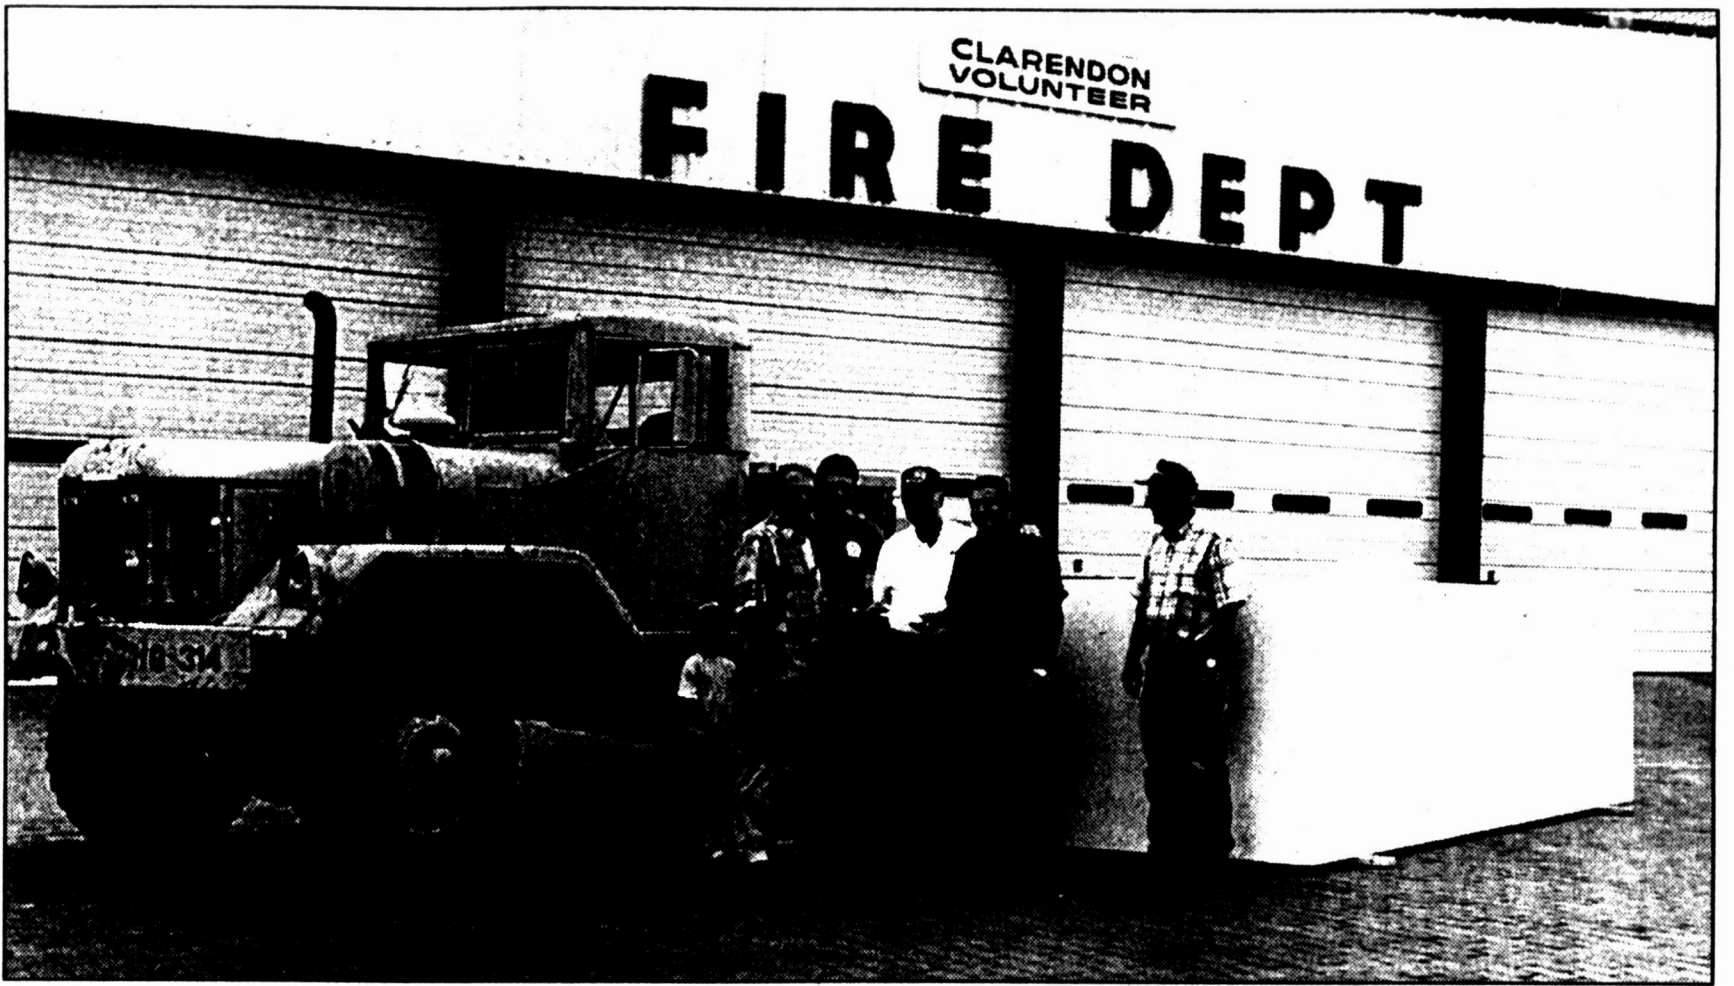

The heavy plastic water tank, which holds 2,100 gallons, will be fitted onto a truck previously presented to the fire department by Texas Forestry Service.

"The addition of this unit will be certainly enhance the fire fighting capabilities of our department," Robertson said. "On behalf of the Department and the City and community, I wish to express our gratitude to the Bairfield Foundation for making these funds available for this cause."

Trustees for the Charles and Thelma Bairfield Memorial Foundation annually award proceeds derived from Foundation investments to deserving individuals or organizations selected by the Trustees.

Previous recipients of awards include graduating seniors, who received scholarships, and the Saints' Roost Museum to assist with moving and refurbishing the old depot.

Commissioners vote to find replacement for treasurer

The Donley County Commissioners' Court decided to replace County Treasurer Wanda Smith during its regular meeting on Monday, June 9, 1997.

Commissioner William Chamberlain moved, seconded by Commissioner Randy White, to advertise for applicants for the position of county treasurer. The motion passed unanimously.

Applications for the position of treasurer will be available in Judge Jack Hall's office in the Courthouse Annex and will be read when the commissioners meet on July 14.

The current county treasurer,

Wanda Smith, became a candidate for the Donley County Hospital Board earlier this year. That action, according to the state constitution, was an automatic resignation of her county position.

Smith withdrew her name from the hospital district ballot when she learned of the conflict, but that does not affect her "automatic resignation."

The same clause that has cost Smith her job also recently resulted in the retirement of W.R. Christal from his long time position as county judge. Christal had served for many years as judge as well as a member of the Clarendon College Board of Regents.

Boll Weevil counts are high in Donley County

by Leon J. Church, Donley County Agent

Just as many Texas Agricultural Extension Service Entomologists had predicted, the boll weevil population this spring is very high. Pheromone traps are yielding very high numbers here in Donley County.

The numbers for the week of June 2 - 6 look like this. Counts from individual traps ranged from 267 to 4 on a 10 day interval and 102 to 1 on a four day count interval. These counts are from individual traps. The average was 120 weevils after 10 days and 50 weevils after four days. These counts are pretty uniform throughout the county; one area does not seem to be more affected than another.

What this means is that a large number of the weevils overwintered and are right now emerging. We also are looking at having real problems this year with boll weevil infestations in our cotton.

One possible positive note is that we have quite a bit of late planted cotton (planted after mid May). If these emerging weevil have no fruiting cotton to feed upon, the life span of newly-emerged weevils is relatively short.

However, we need to be on guard. Monitoring is a must so that we can apply pest management tools in a timely and economical manner. Pheromone traps should be placed in areas with a history of overwintering weevils, one trap for each 20 -25 acres of cotton.

Weevils entering fields shortly before and during early square are the most important from the standpoint of potential infestation. Determine the average number of weevils captured for the week that the first squares (pinhead to matchhead size) appear. Check traps regularly, at least once per week, and keep them operational.

Upon counting trapped weevil, if you have 1 or fewer weevils per trap per week, do not treat. If you find 1 but fewer than 4 weevils per trap per week, treatment may or may not be justified. At this point you need to look at the field and inspect 100 plants for adult weevils. If you find one or more weevils per 100 plants checked or four weevils per 100 feet of row, insecticide application is necessary, just prior to or when first squares reach 1/3 grown stage. When monitoring the traps if you find four or more weevils per week treatment, is probably justified.

On June 23 we are planning a Cotton Tour. Dr. Randy Bowman, TAES Cotton Specialist, and Dr. Jim Lesser, TAES Entomologist, from Lubbock will be here to give us an update on what we need to be looking for in regards to cotton management and pest management.

More details of this activity will be coming out later.

C-C sets clean-up days for Clarendon

The Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce has set up three city clean-up days in preparation for the up-coming July 4th festivities.

Clean-up committee chairman Don Stone says that the dates for the Saturday clean-ups will be June 14, 21, and 28 beginning at 9 a.m.

The first clean-up on the 14th will be for the downtown and main street area, the second clean-up will be along Hwy. 287, and the final clean-up day is for residences around town.

All good citizens are urged to do their part to help clean-up the town for the big Saints' Roost Celebration.

Entries being taken for July 4th parade

Plans are shaping up for Clarendon's 119th annual Saints' Roost Celebration, and parade chairperson Linda Gray is soliciting entries to be in the July Fourth Parade.

The parade committee is looking for all those special people to help make this year's festivities the best in the Panhandle.

If you or someone you know is interested in participating in this year's parade, call Linda at work 806/874-5203 or at home 806/874-2009. You may also call the Chamber of Commerce at 806/874-2475.

Or interested parties can fill out the form found on page two of this week's Enterprise and send it to the address shown on the form.

Hedley to schedules first clean-up day

The Hedley City Council met last Thursday night and set the date for the first Community Clean-Up Day on Saturday, June 14.

Those wishing to help clean-up Hedley are to meet at 8:00 a.m. in front of the Lioness Hall. Volunteers are asked to bring their own tools such as hammers, rakes, paint brushes, roller, and so forth. Lunch will be served at noon in the Lioness Hall.

Sandwiches, dessert, and ice tea will be served to those working from 8:00 to 12:00.

Hiker makes stop in Clarendon on trek across country

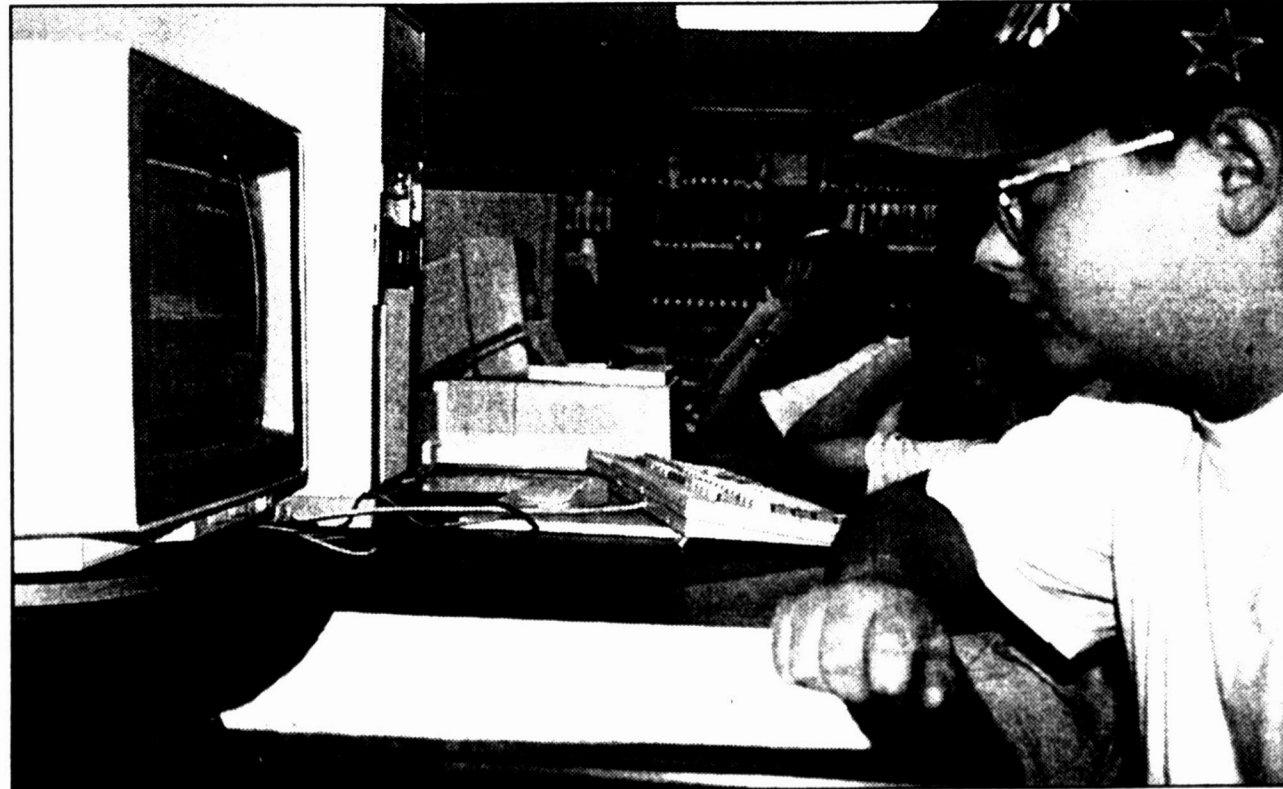

Don Dickinson, recently made a stop in Clarendon on Friday, June 6, on his cross country hike.

He started his trek across the country in Boston on April 28, 1996, and has lived out of his back pack ever since. He has already crossed 18 states and will end his journey in Ocean City, Washington, hopefully by the end of the year.

The 27-year-old grew up in Missouri, and after spending some time overseas, he discovered he knew very little about America so he decided to walk cross country to meet people and see the land.

He stated that the most interesting highlight of his trip was when he met his long time penpal in Maryland for the first time and they fell in love.

Bullock praises nursing home legislation

AUSTIN — Lt. Governor Bob Bullock recently said public confidence in nursing home care should be "strengthened substantially" by legislation approved by the Senate after weeks of negotiations.

"Texans in nursing homes are some of the most vulnerable members of our society. They deserve every ounce of protection the state can offer," Bullock said of SB 190 by Senator Judith Zaffirini, D-Laredo.

"The bill serves notice - to one and all - that there are no excuses for negligence or abuse when it comes to the care of anyone in a Texas nursing home," the lieutenant governor said.

"Senator Zaffirini has invested enormous energy and long hours in one of the toughest challenges before the Legislature this year. I commend her for her tireless effort and dedication, and all Texans should be grateful to her for making sure the rights of nursing home residents are secure.

"Public confidence in nursing home care should be strengthened substantially by this legislation. Our nursing home residents and their families can be assured the state is looking out for their well-being," Bullock said.

Once approved by the House, the conference committee report goes to Governor George W. Bush.

From The Mail Bag...

Reader: Fix the county's dirt roads

Dear Editor,

We moved to our farm in 1980. The dirt road in front was two lanes wide, and many a cattle and cotton trailer loads were hauled up and down on it. We had bar-ditches and culverts where needed. We could drive down the roads and see the crops and check the cattle in the fields. NO MORE.

The roads have been systematically destroyed by digging up and piling up the dirt on the sides. The fields are higher than the road so the water gushes down onto the road. Culverts would do no good; we have none anyway.

The road is almost impossible to navigate. Our Postal Person can't always get through. I hope we never have to call 911 for a health emergency.

With $469,471.23 in the [county's] Road and Bridge account (and growing daily with the $10 confiscated from us with each new license renewal in the county), one would think that a lot of caliche or hot-top goop could be purchased to put on our pitiful roads... BUT, only after the side-walls have been put down on the ground!

In deference to the weak of heart, I won't say much about our two inter-sections. I must say, though, that it is a white-knuckle trip inching into these dangerous deep areas, not being able to see what is coming from either direction.

Several of our neighbors have helped me compile a list of the items necessary for driving our road:

- 4-wheel drive pick-up
- 50 feet of heavy chain
- Hi-lift jack and wood blocks
- Shovel
- Cellular phone
- Jar of peanut butter and crackers (Dan Trew style)
- Chopper on call

I dare the perpetrator of this tardily deed to drive on this road in his private car, as I must, and see how he likes it.

"SAY, IS ANYONE CHECKING THE PLANE AS CLOSELY AS YOU'RE CHECKING THE PASSENGERS?"

Last month, Congress and the President reached agreement on a plan to balance the federal budget within five years.

If the economic assumptions hold up, this plan will allow us to stop piling up debt for our children and grandchildren to repay. While there are parts of the agreement I don't like - particularly in areas where it spends too much - I believe other parts are a step in the right direction.

For example, the plan will keep Medicare from going bankrupt in the year 2001 by adding 10 years to the life of the Trust Fund. The budget plan will also let Americans keep $135 billion more of their own money over the next five years through such common sense tax relief measures as a $500 per child tax credit for working families, a reduction in the capital gains tax, and relief from inheritance taxes. All told, the budget agreement will provide Americans with the largest tax cut since 1981.

The plan is not perfect. However, I doubt a better balanced budget plan could have been agreed to which stood a chance of being passed and signed into law. This fact alone causes me to give the agreement the benefit of the doubt - for now.

But clearly, the next few weeks will be crucial to making sure that what was agreed to actually gets included in the final plan, and that the tax relief which has been promised to working families and businesses will actually get enacted and go into effect.

Panhandle publisher comments on the important role of the hometown newspapers

Column by Carol Ellis reprinted from The Bovina Blade

Occasionally one of our readers will ask why [The Bovina Blade] does not publish all the courthouse news, DWIs, and items from the police blotter. In a small hometown paper, those particular "news" items are published or not published at the discretion of the Publisher. So for the answer to the question of "why not?" we defer to the late legendary editor of the Matador Tribune, Doug Meador, who authored a weekly column called "Trail Dust" and made the little town of Matador well-known throughout this state with his colorful and compassionate writings. We quote him here from a speech he once made before the members of the West Texas Press Association:

"We publish a small newspaper in a small town. We know our readers personally. We know their faults, their foibles, their hurts, their troubles, their children, and their goodness. We do know, as most of our citizens know, who drinks, who carouses, who chases women, and who is attracted to any pair of trousers that walk by."

Meador continued, "But, unlike some of you, we don't print the stuff from the courthouse, the DWIs, and the police arrests because we don't want to add to the grief. Who among us said that the printed word has priority over a broken heart? We don't want to add to the pain and suffering already experienced by the family."

"Since when has the printed word been more important than the heart of a grieving widow or the pained embarrassment of teen-agers whose father has been arrested?"

"In light of this, we suppose we're not much of a newspaperman, but we like to think we're a compassionate, caring member of the community and the human race."

Doug Meador received a standing ovation at the end of that speech.

Fresh out of journalism school, [Bill] and I thought you had to print all that sort of thing, but it didn't take long for us to realize that Meador's approach was correct regarding the hurtful things which are considered newsworthy in other papers. We see quite enough of reporters shoving microphones in the faces of grieving families, the rudeness, the prying into personal lives, the hard cynical reporters and editors who only care about getting the "inside scoop." We also don't follow police cars and ambulances out to accident scenes in order to get front page pictures of the bloody accident victims.

Have you heard this one lately? "Newspapers are the dinosaurs of the media and once the internet comes to television, local newspapers will become extinct." That's a good one! Hometown weekly newspapers have grown from 36 million to 80 million in the last decade.

[Mark Twain] once said "Reports of my demise have been greatly exaggerated."

First, radio was going to be the death of newspapers. Then it was television, then cable, the Internet, the information highway, the world wide web, etc., etc. Wrong! No one else covers the local news but your local paper. Except for crime or natural disasters (like tornadoes) the television crews ignore us. Magazines can't touch us. The Internet doesn't even know what small town papers are all about.

National Newspaper Association Chairman Roy Eaton (owner-publisher of the Wise County Messenger in Decatur) says "If you want proof of what people really think about their local paper, just look at what your neighbors have clipped out and stuck up on their refrigerators."

The Internet won't tell anyone what your daughter wore at her wedding or announce the birth of your grandbabies. The Internet won't brag on your football team or support your school bond elections. It won't publicize the activities of your Chamber or tell how area farmers will be affected by political decisions in Washington.

Besides all that, you can't paper train a puppy with the Internet, you can't line the bottom of a birdcage with it, you can't light thin logs in your fireplace with it, and you can't fold the Internet into a three-cornered hat so your little person can dress up like a pirate.

Probably the last and most important reason why there will always be newspapers is this... you can take your newspaper into the bathroom and read it while you sit on the commode.

Carol Ellis and her husband Bill are the publishers of The Bovina Blade and of The Friona Star.

New Lighting Is A Plus For Town

West Texas Utilities and the City of Clarendon should be commended for the new street lighting that has been installed along the highway.

As part of the preparatory work before Highway 287 is renovated through town, the electric and telephone lines have been moved back to accommodate the wider highway. As per an agreement with the city, WTU has installed new high pressure sodium lighting and increased the number of street lights along the highway.

The result has been increased night time visibility for motorists and a nice modern appearance to Clarendon's main traffic thoroughfare. Kudos all around!

Courthouse Sees Another Official Exit

County Commissioners decided Monday to find a replacement for Donley County Treasurer Wanda Smith. (See story on page one.)

It is a shame that good people have to leave their posts due to an "oversight," and it is maddening that there is no allowance for a person to make a mistake. In my humble opinion, once Mrs. Smith withdrew her name from the hospital district ballot that should have been the end of it. Good public servants are hard to find.

I personally have never heard any complaint about the way Mrs. Smith did her job; unfortunately, I cannot say the same for the county commissioners.

M&M Farms joins American Angus Assn.

M&M Farms, Hedley, is a new member of the American Angus Association, reports Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Association, with over 30,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on over 12 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of the registered Angus are used by the US Farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for US consumption.

Hall home featured on 'Tour of Homes'

The Donley County Senior Citizens is proud to sponsor the second annual "Tour of Homes" to be held on Saturday, June 21, 1997.

This event will both benefit the nutrition program and give the public a wonderful opportunity to view five beautiful homes. The tour includes the homes of Audrey and Jack Hall, Dee Ann and Weldon Sears, Gayla and Phil Fletcher, Kay and James Hayes, and Phyllis and Douglas Shelton.

This week's featured home is the home of Audrey and Jack Hall.

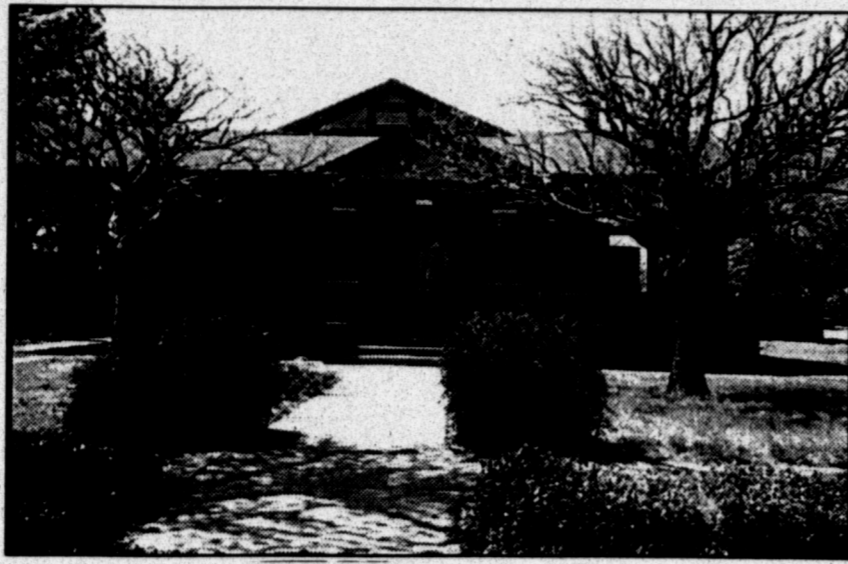

A.T. and Naomi Miller came to Clarendon to educate their daughter, Lena Mae, at the Methodist college.

They purchased all of lot 178 located southwest of the college in 1914 for $5,000.00.

A large two story house with gingerbread trim centered the block and was surrounded by a barn, carriage house, chicken house, orchard, and water well.

The Miller's lived in the house until A.T. built the three bedroom brick home on the Northeast corner of the block in 1926.

A coal chute was built in the

The home of Judge Jack and Audrey Hall

house, but natural gas was installed in Clarendon before the house was completed and floor furnaces were added. Even though coal was never used to heat the house, the chute made a great escape hatch and club house for the great grandchildren.

The house was enclosed with a wrap around porch which was an inspiration for summer naps, pea shelling, school dances, and bridal weddings.

After Mr. Miller passed away, their daughter, Lena Mae, and son-in-law, C.B. "Cap" Morris moved into the home to care for Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris remodeled the kitchen in 1960. They also had the yard landscaped using native rock for the fence and fish pond.

Mrs. Ernestine Allison purchased the home from the children of the Morris's in 1967 and operated a kindergarten in part of the house. Upon her death, Jim and Venita Sharrar bought the house, and when the telephone company transferred them in 1992, Jack and Audrey Hall purchased the house.

In the final game of the regional tournament, Lemley scored 21 points against the Metro Stars, boosting her team to qualify for the national tournament.

New Immigration Laws affect student exchange programs

Many people are concerned about new laws which are a part of the Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996. This new legislation requires exchange students on F-1 or I-20 visas to reimburse public school districts for the cost of their education before they are allowed to enter the United States. In most areas, this can amount to several thousand dollars per year.

It is important to note that students who participate in informal exchange programs offering J-1 visas, will not be affected by the new law. On such program, the American Intercultural Student Exchange, offers its participants the security of monthly contact with a representative of the program, comprehensive medical insurance, parties, and get togethers with other exchange students in the area, education trips around the US, and many other amenities.

An increasing number of American shave friends or relative in foreign countries whose teens would like to spend time studying in American high schools. To participate in such an exchange, these students should explore their options before paying tuition at an American public high school. Program such as AISE have years of experience, and their caring staff members can offer students and their host families advice and support during the exchange experience.

"Who was he?"

by Mary Beth Nelson

"The sound of organ music thundered in the night. A small boy stopped on the dark, wet street and listened. The music seemed to be coming from behind the vine-covered wall of the palace chapel. He moved closer to the wall, drawn by the music."

With a young musician's love for melody, he was willing to try to slip past the palace guard and climb the wall. Knowing he would be punished if caught, he stealthily made his way to the choir loft. He simply wanted to hear more of the overwhelming music coming from the powerful organ.

After caught by the organist who assumed the child was there to steal, he was allowed to explain his presence. The organist had known the boy's musician father and was acquainted with this young man's talent. Believing the young man's story and obvious sincerity of hearing and learning more, he offered to teach him to play the organ.

This incident occurred in Bonn, Germany, in 1781. The young man was Ludwig van Beethoven, one of the world's greatest composers. After performing many successful concerts, Beethoven discovered he was losing his hearing, after which he devoted all his time to composing. At age 50, he became totally deaf. It was then that he composed some of the world's greatest masterpieces.

The Clarendon Broncos first annual Tennis Camp will be held July 16-18 at Clarendon High School. The three day camp will consist of two sessions per day, for a total of 12 hours of tennis instruction.

The Clarendon Broncos Tennis Camp is open to boys and girls from kindergarten to eighth grade. Day campers will be introduced to the basic skills and techniques of tennis. Each day of the week will have its own priorities and objectives, and skill matches will be played throughout the week, according to Wade Wilson, Camp Director and CHS Head Tennis Coach.

Session one will begin at 8 a.m. and conclude at 10 a.m. Session two will begin at 1 p.m. and end at 3 p.m. Parents are required to pick up their students after each session and return them in time to begin the next session.

"Both the camp staff and I want our students to leave this fantastic camp with a better understanding of the tennis game and a more competitive tennis mind," Wilson said.

Assisting Wilson will be Coach Yehya "Abby" Abdullah. A veteran tennis instructor and champion player, Coach Abby will service as this year's head instructor. He has 20 plus years of experience and is well versed in styles and form of playing tennis. Moreover, Coach Abby is also the father of 1997 State Tennis Champion Kareem Abdullah.

Campers should wear cool, comfortable tennis clothes and good fitting tennis shoes. Campers need to bring their own tennis rackets. The staff encourages students to bring sunglasses, sunscreen, and a hat, if possible. A limited number of tennis rackets will be available for use. Tennis balls, water, and Gatorade will be provided.

The three day camp fee is $35 and includes at least 12 hours of tennis instruction, use of equipment and courts. Interested individuals are encouraged to register early for the Clarendon Broncos Tennis Camp. Registration is available by mail or can be completed the first day of camp (7:30-8 a.m.). Clarendon College to offer math short course for Summer II Session Clarendon College will offer a three-week short course in College Algebra (MATH 1314), beginning June 30, 1997.

The three-credit course will be taught by Darryl Perryman, chairman of the college's math department. The class will meet Mondays through Thursdays from 8 a.m. until noon, in the CC Administration Building.

"Traditionally, this has been a very popular summer course with students in our service area," Dr. Scott Elliott, Clarendon College President said. "Students can earn three credit hours in a relatively short period of time. Mr. Perryman has taught the course for a number of years, and it's always proved successful with our students. It's a special opportunity for recent high school graduates to start their college experience."

Students may register at the CC Administration Building, every Mon.-Thur., from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., or register at the beginning of the class on June 30. Payment is expected at the time of registration. Cost of the class is $88 for in-district (Donley County) residents and $94 for Texas residents.

Cost of the algebra book is $42 used and $55 new.

To register for the College Algebra Short Course, students must have a copy of their high school or college transcript, GED certificate, or a letter of permission from their high school principal or counselor, ACT and TASP scores.

Donley County Senior Citizen News

We want to welcome Jan Campbell and Gloria Gage back as summer volunteers for our home delivery program. Our condolences go out to the family of H.A. Green and to Lela Norton in the loss of her brother. We are glad to see Marie Hill back at the center doing her exercises after her knee surgery. Our best wishes for a quick recovery go out to John Judd and Louise Dickinson after recent hospital stays. Helena Catoe, Irene Jones, and Donna Hicks shared some of their beautiful roses with us. We appreciate Mildred and Linda from the Sisters Two Deli for more donuts.
