Lecturer focuses on existing firms for economic growth

Eighty-five percent of Dalhart's new jobs were in expansion of current businesses

Vincent
 A large crowd gathered last Thursday night in Clarendon College's Bairfield Activity Center to listen to Dalhart's Lorrie Vincent speak on her experiences with the Sherman County Development Committee (SCDC).
 The SCDC was founded in 1992 to retain and expand Dalhart's existing businesses as well to recruit new businesses and industries.
 Vincent, a Dalhart native and graduate of West Texas A&M and Schreiner College, is currently serving as the Executive Director of the SCDC.
 In the last four years, the SCDC's strategies have added more than 120 new jobs to Dalhart's economy.
 Vincent said that her group starts each year with set of goals. At the end of the year, the groups which fund the SCDC review whether those goals have been accomplished or at least strived for. The SCDC is funded by generous budgets from Sherman County and from the City of Dalhart, and if those entities do not see progress in the year's goals, Vincent says they can pull her funding.
 Vincent talked about the need to set realistic goals when planning community development.
 Dalhart is a leader in the cattle feeder industry and is increasing surrounded by the swine industry. Vincent noted that Sherman County really did not have room for a hog farm, but they still were able to take advantage of being so near the swine industry. The SCDC attracted a feed company for the area hog farms, and that added 11 new jobs to the local economy.
 But Vincent repeatedly emphasized that 85% of Dalhart's new jobs have come from growth in existing businesses rather than from new businesses.

 Her office helps local businesses find ways to expand their operations either by assisting with business planning or helping an establishment move into a bigger facility. One business has gone from two employees to eight, and another has expanded from five employees to 18. This same policy has helped the SCDC fill all but four of the town's 19 buildings which were empty in 1992.
 In some cases, Vincent said helping a business was just a matter of encouraging them to clean up their facility. She cited the case of a Diamond Shamrock service station which was located at the intersection of US Hwy 287 and Hwy 54.
 Despite the prime location, this business was not doing well because the store was not aesthetically pleasing. After four years, Vincent finally persuaded the station to put on a new coat of paint and install new signs provided by Diamond Shamrock. The station has since seen its business increase 35%.
 Vincent also advised getting to know local representatives in Austin. She said it is important to get to know state representatives and senators as well as people at state agencies.
 Vincent spent a lot of time meeting Dalhart's representatives as well as Texas Ag Commissioner Rick Perry and Texas House Speaker Pete Laney. Those relationships have paid off she said.
 "We've got GTE [in Dalhart], and we've got the worst phone service in the world," Vincent said.
 Some Clarendon citizens immediately challenged her claim to the world's worst phone service, but Vincent went on to discuss how her office complained loudly to the Public Utilities Commission and worked with Laney and other legislators to prod GTE to implement equipment changes, slated for 1998, this year.

 Vincent also stressed the importance of being positive about your community and expressing a positive attitude.
 She gave the example of her office bending over backwards to attract a new hotel chain to Dalhart. After many phone calls and after sending the hotel's owner in Georgia a great deal of information, the man finally agreed to just come see Dalhart.
 But instead of coming to town on Monday for his scheduled meeting with Vincent, the man showed up a few days early. On Monday, he called Vincent from Georgia. He told her that he had come to town early predetermined that he really needed to put a hotel there. But he said his weekend there was one of the worst experiences of his life. Everything went wrong, and everywhere he went he received poor service and overheard people talking negatively about Dalhart.
 "You don't know who you're talking to or who's listening," Vincent said, noting that two other similar instances have happened to her office. All of her work in those cases had essentially been undone by rude employees and by negative "coffee shop" talk, she said.
 Vincent closed her talk with comments on shopping at home. She said that "shop at home" is a two-way street.
 "People will usually pay a little more for the convenience of shopping at home," Vincent said, "but they won't pay twice as much."
 She said that businesses must be willing to go give their customers extra service in order to keep them coming in their stores. She admitted that local businesses will never be able to provide all the goods and services of stores in the city but said that local residents should at least give local businesses the chance to serve them.

Howardwick, fire dept. still at odds

The battle between the City of Howardwick and the Howardwick Volunteer Fire Department (HVFD) continued this week with an ultimatum being issued by the city.

Firefighters were given until 10 a.m. Monday, July 29, to turn in all their keys, equipment, and records relating to the fire department or face legal action.

At a town hall meeting on Saturday, July 27, firemen were determined that they would not turn over their equipment. They maintain that the equipment the city wants is personal property paid for by the HVFD through donations. They also say the volunteer fire department is not controlled by the city.

"We are not going to give up what is rightfully an organization that is not under the thumb of City Hall," said HVFD member Lanny Edwards.

Speaking at Saturday's meeting, Edwards said that citizens would have no control over their community unless they did something before 10 a.m. Monday.

The city says that it does have authority over the fire department because it provides insurance, a building, utilities, and some equipment for the department.

No city officials were present at Saturday's meeting despite an invitation sent to all city council members and Howardwick Mayor Millie Dishong. The city council replied to the invitation by letter, saying that they would not attend the meeting on advice of legal counsel.

Mayor Pro Tem Julius Early told the Enterprise that the reason city officials have not attended the town hall meetings is that if more than three of them are present it constitutes a quorum. He said the city council would be violating the law if a quorum gathered to discuss city business outside of an official city meeting.

City officials say they sent out seven certified letters to individual firemen to seek the return of the equipment. As of Tuesday, July 29, five of the letters had been received by firemen, and of those only one member had turned in his equipment.

Earlier this month the Howardwick City Council altered their employee guidelines, containing a policy of random drug testing and criminal background checks, to include volunteers for the city. The council said their reason for taking this action was for insurance purposes.

Local volunteer firemen did not immediately sign new applications containing the new policies because they say the term "volunteer" can be applied to their support group, the Friends of the Fire Department, and to anyone who does any voluntary work for the city.

The members of Howardwick's fire department were dismissed; and Fire Chief Stan Couch was relieved of his duties by the city council on July 16, 1996, after the firemen did not immediately sign the new applications. City officials say the firemen refused to accept the new policies, but firemen maintain they simply wanted more time to look into the legality of the matter.

As this story went to press, the city was still consulting with its attorney as to what action to take next.

NASA to be among exhibitors at Tri-State Fair

Space industry exhibits will focus on the agriculture in the Space Age

Bringing a surprising and exciting new dimension to the 1996 Amarillo Tri-State Fair is a multifaceted exhibition of space age agricultural technology courtesy of such space industry giants as the National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA), Rockwell International, and Lockheed/Martin Missiles & Space Company, to name a few. According to the exhibit's official spokesperson, the primary goal of this innovative and elaborate effort is to inspire a greater interest and deeper appreciation among young people regarding the potential and promise of a career in agriculture.
 "We are currently faced with a critical, increasing shortage of people entering the agricultural field," explains Robert Smith of RWS & Associates, who will present the dynamic new show utilizing materials from leading space corporations in America and Canada. "NASA has predicted that by the year 2040, more than 10,000 people will be living and working in space. That's only 45 years from now. Those people will be entirely dependent on space stations to serve their needs, and those stations will be relying on the farmers and agriculturists of tomorrow to meet those objectives."
 According to Smith the same plants, animals, and insects which maintain our environment on earth will have to be cultivated in space in order to create the artificial environment necessary to maintain human survival.
 "The only way we're going to be able to meet those demands of the future is by calling on tomorrow's farmers and agriculturists to not only provide our food in space, but to literally provide our living environment as well. There is no other option. We are rapidly outgrowing this planet. Our survival as a species and as a civilization depends completely on our ability to explore and colonize space. We must collect all the skills, knowledge and abilities we learned in the old frontier and take them with us into the final frontier."

 The immediate problem, according to Smith, is a lack of interest among young people concerning careers in the agriculture industry. "They're leaving the rural areas and rural industries because the urban environment is more attractive and more lucrative. The sad fact is they can make more money and have more fun in a city than they can on a farm. Our goal is to expose these young people to many of the explosive new advances in agricultural technology and demonstrate how farming of the future will not only be exciting and profitable, but mandatory to our very survival as well."
 One of the new technologies on exhibit will be remote sensing satellite imagery, which allows farmers to examine their crops from the perspective of outer space. "With satellite imagery," Smith explains, "farmers can detect crop threatening problems like disease, insect infestations and insufficient levels of soil nutrients in a fraction of the time required by ordinary observation methods. It may take a farmer as long as four weeks to visually inspect his entire crop, but with satellite imagery, he can inspect and analyze the same area in less than an hour."
 Smith adds speed is essential in this area. "Using ordinary methods, by the time a farmer detects a problem, his entire crop may be threatened. The faster he can spot the problem, the faster he can apply the appropriate remedy. That translates into a tremendous increase in potential crop yield and economic profit."

 Included in the exhibition are a mock-up of the famous Hubble Space Telescope, a scale model of the Space Shuttle, and actual samples of the Shuttle's heat-reflective tiles. Perhaps the most popular attraction are actual samples of moon rocks returned from the moon during the historic Apollo missions conducted by NASA.
 The Amarillo Tri-State Fair will open to the public on Saturday, September 14 and last through Saturday, Sept. 21.
 The "Agriculture Links Up With Space" exhibit/program will be open, free of charge with regular fair gate admission, in the Coors Agriculture Pavilion. Live narrated programs will be conducted daily with opportunities to view the exhibit and ask questions.

CISD to hold registration next week

Parents of students in grade 9-12 are encouraged to accompany their students during registration on August 7-8. It is important that you take an interest in his/her education. These dates are different than those on the final report card from last school year.
 On August 7, seniors will register at 10:00 a.m., and juniors will register at 1:00 p.m. Sophomores will register at 10:00 a.m., and freshmen will register at 1:00 p.m. on August 8. New students will register at 10:00 a.m. on August 9. New students are asked to bring withdrawal information from their previous school and also a report card.

 The Clarendon Junior High will be having registration for new students on August 9, from 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-4:00. All those who have not turned in their pre-registration form need to before school starts, or they will not be able to attend school.

Clarendon Board of Aldermen meets

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen met in regular session on July 23, 1996, at 7 p.m. in the Board Room at City Hall.
 The board heard from Jim Roberts who reported that the city has received a delivery of pipe for the water and sewer projects. Contractors are expected to begin work early in August.
 The board approved a letter of support for Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority in support of their efforts to obtain grant assistance from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.
 Mayor Steve Smith requested that the bond issue be placed on the ballot again in November. The board approved this request.

Letters

Dear Editor,

The people of Clarendon are the greatest!
By the time you read this, we will be in Dallas getting prepared for transplant. We will never forget what you as a community and people in surrounding communities did for us on June 29, 1996, as you participated in the bone marrow donor drive.

A lot of preparation and planning went into getting ready for the drive. Tiny Alderson, a long time friend, was responsible for getting the drive together. There was a lot of effort put into the drive. I am thankful for those who helped with publicity, signed up people for testing, prepared items for the bake sale, and contributed to the fund to take care of the expenses of testing. The drive was possible only because of your willingness to help in this time of need. I am also thankful to those 258 people who came to be tested and to those who went to Amarillo.

My farming operation continues because of a brother's willingness to carry it on until I am able to return to work.

God has already blessed me, and He will bless each and everyone of you for your deeds. God is working in all of this. He has brought us through it all, and now we could be on our final journey because a donor has been found.

Thank you,
Roy Lee Helms

The following is a letter from First Grade Teacher, Wilma Batson, to the class of 1986.

Dear former students,

How nice to hear from some of you. Glad to know that you were having a reunion. I wish that I could have been there. I wish it possible that I could see every student that I have taught. Do you know that I taught 44 years? I think of you often and wish I knew how you are doing in real life. What did you choose for your life's work? Did you find the right one to marry? Are you happy? What do you remember about our school days?

I am living with Mack Tomlinson (my adopted son) and his wife, Linda (formerly Vallance) because I can no longer live alone. I had a stroke and fall a lot. I am no longer as "sharp" as I once was, but for 84 I am very lucky. I use a walker to help me walk.

Mack and Linda have four children and a set of twins, a boy and girl 3 1/2 years old. They will keep me young and a joy to have.

It was good of Janet's mother to tell me about your reunion. I wish that I could have met with you. I never taught a student that I did not love. May the best of everything come your way.

I still remember and love you.
Your first grade teacher, (in 1974)

Those attending the ten year class reunion from Mrs. Batson's first grade of 1974-75 were Jill (Wallace) Mays, Traci (Burch) Owens, Missy (Johnston) Storseth and her husband Gary, Rachel Bowling, Dan Nichols and wife Karen, Randy Crump and wife Crystal, Janet (Risley) Bennett and husband Paul. Others present were Doug Burlison, Dawn (May) Coulter, Kandy Floyd, Lee Smith and his wife Christi, and Audie Shields and his wife Melinda.

Thornberry gets TILF scholarship

Amy Shae Thornberry, a graduate of Clarendon High School, has been awarded a scholarship by the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation.

Thornberry received a TILF Diamond Anniversary Scholarship in the amount of $500, payable $250 each semester of the first year. The TILF Diamond Anniversary Scholarship is awarded each year to students who have participated in the University Interscholastic League Academic State Meet and who have compiled an outstanding record of academic and extracurricular achievement.

This year the TILF awarded 283 new awards and will renew approximately 212 awards for a total of 495 scholarships for 1996-97 with an approximate value of $700,000. Recipients may attend any approved college or university in Texas.

Thornberry placed first in headline writing and third in team current issues and events at the 1995 UIL Academic State Meet. In addition, she placed fourth in team literary criticism at the 1996 State Meet. She also qualified for the State Meet in 1994 and 1995 in spelling and vocabulary. Thornberry was valedictorian of her graduating class and a member of the National Honor Society, Spanish Club, Drama Club, and Student Council.

Thornberry plans to attend Baylor University and major in Political Science.

Off Campus
"Taking A Stand"
By Scott Elliott

As campuses go, Clarendon College is a relatively small place.

The campus proper, excluding the adjacent rodeo practice arena/pasture area, is only about 11 acres - albeit 11 of the prettiest acres I've ever seen.

While our campus is small, the Texas Panhandle is expansive - a place that gives new meaning to the oft-used phrase "broaden your horizons." With so much elbow room, there is ample space to engage in almost any activity imaginable.

Some activities, however, have absolutely no place on a college campus. One of those is alcohol consumption.

All residential colleges - small, medium and large - suffer with student alcohol usage. Ours, as Clarendon residents are well aware, is no exception. The difference here is that, because of the size of the institution and town, the problem may be more visible than otherwise.

To me, you always have two options when problems arise. One methodology is to throw your hands up in the air and take the position, "Hey, that's just the way it is, so why fight it?" Or you can take a stand.

I'm proud to report that the Clarendon College Board of Regents has chosen the latter. During its July meeting, the Board voted unanimously to stiffen the penalties for student alcohol use.

Under our old policy, a student could be fined $200.00 for the possession of alcohol on campus, except in a dormitory room. In a dormitory, the penalty was more severe - suspension from the residence hall.

Moreover, students subjected to the $200.00 fine had the option of working a specified number of hours on campus rather than paying the fine.

The new policy has established a $300.00 fine for first-time offenders anywhere on campus. The student has one week to pay the fine or face suspension from the college until such time the fine is paid. There are no provisions for working the fine off.

A second offense in the same school year will result in the student's expulsion from the college - period.

I believe this is a much-improved policy. First, it does not discriminate as to the penalty for where one drinks. The truth is that some students don't like living in a residence hall, anyway. If you kick them out for drinking in a dorm, you may just be giving the student what he/she wanted in the first place.

Moreover, drinking on campus is drinking on campus as far as I'm concerned.

Secondly, the provision of having to pay the fine in one week (with no work option) may cause some students to have to call home for assistance. I can only imagine how my father would have reacted if I'd called home for 300 bucks because I'd been caught drinking on campus. There would have been no penalty the college could have levied on me that would have matched Daddy's wrath, I can assure you.

The new policy also provides for a second chance. Students are human beings, and they make mistakes. Some have problems in coping with the freedom that comes with leaving home for the first time. I personally believe in second chances for many things in life. If a student messes up and pays the price, it will be our hope that he/she doesn't falter again. But if that occurs, the new policy provides for a swift and severe penalty - expulsion.

Certainly, it would be a sad, sad day for me to have to terminate a student's educational experience. But sometimes you have to make a strong statement for the greater good.

It is my belief that if a policy is administered in a fair and consistent manner and that students know you are serious about enforcement, then problems are minimized. This fall our new policy will be covered extensively with students during orientation, and it has also been published in the new residence hall contract and student handbook. New "Drug Free Campus" signs will also be posted to provide students with a warning.

In other words, students will know the rules before the game begins. We are also planning a parental orientation this fall for those Moms and Dads who wish to participate.

Quite honestly, I had some reservations about writing this column. The last thing I want to do is create any negative public relations for our college. However, I think it is vital that the college's constituents know that our Board and this administration are gut-level serious about addressing this important issue.

At stake is nothing less than the image of our institution. And one's reputation, in the end, is all you have to sell.

Clarendon College exists for the sole purpose of delivering quality educational opportunities. To reiterate, in such an environment, there is absolutely no place for alcohol. I will never ask students not to drink, as they are young adults who must make their own choices. But I will demand two things - (1) that they not drink on campus, and (2) they return to campus sober. As I have already written, if alcohol consumption must occur, there are thousands of square miles away from our 11 acres for that purpose.

I hope that you will applaud this effort and salute our board members for taking a stand. Remember that the easiest and least controversial thing to do involving any issue is nothing. In my best Frost, our Board chose a "road less traveled," and, hopefully, "that will make all the difference."

Dr. Scott Elliott is the President of Clarendon College.

Retain That Which Is Thine

by Walter Madden, Jr.

Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's, yet retain unto thee that which is thine.

In April, Governor Bush named an independent and a diverse group of 17 Texans to serve on the Citizens' Committee on Property Tax Relief. The Committee, broadly representative of the classes and culture of Texas, brings personal experience as taxpayers as well as expertise on the impact of taxes on jobs and our ability to keep and attract business.

"The role of the committee is to determine the will of Texas. The citizens' committee will take Texas' temperature and gauge whether our state is ready to take action to provide property tax relief," Governor George Bush said in announcing the Committee last April.

The Committee has scheduled fourteen Town Hall Meetings around the State to seek public input about rising school property taxes and possible ways of replacing those taxes with a fairer way to raise revenue. Alternatives to the school property tax could include a gross receipts tax, a business activity tax, expanding the sales tax or a combination of those taxes. It would not include an income tax.

The Meeting for the Panhandle area is scheduled to be held in Amarillo Thursday, August 22 at 9:30 p.m. in the Garden Center at the Amarillo Medical Center. Those wishing to make comments will sign registration cards. Everyone expressing a desire to speak will be given the opportunity.

Come one, come all.

During the past ten years, Texas property tax rates have more than doubled. Our property taxes have climbed faster than in all other states but two. The school tax accounts for approximately sixty percent of all property taxes, and the increases have come in a period when the tax base has been stagnant. That's a double whammy for us.

The burden imposed by property taxes on rural Texas is particularly oppressive. The old panacea that the cost of living in smaller towns and on farms and ranches is lower than the cost in cities is a cop-out. Folks in rural communities might be resourceful and resilient, but they do not have the same menu of earning opportunities as that afforded their city cousins. Finding a second job to supplement income received from the first job is just a tad tougher.

O.K., a majority of us agree that property taxes are the pits; but, if we ax the school property tax in its entirety we have to generate in excess of $10 billion a year to replace it. The change must be revenue neutral.

Think about it - $10 billion a year. Even if you whisper it, the task looms like a giant West Texas dust devil on a hot July day.

As I mentioned a moment ago, our options are limited. Governor Bush admonished us to exclude consideration of an income tax. It seems as though our alternatives are

- a business activity tax (Depending on how this is calculated, this could include the value-added concept.)
- a business gross receipts tax (This could be assessed on all types of businesses corporations, partnerships, proprietorships, and other entities.)
- expansion or increasing the rate of the sales tax
- a combination of the above.

Again, please keep in mind that for every dollar taken from the school property tax fund, a dollar must be found from some source other than an income tax. We need your help in evaluating these sources.

Governor Bush sincerely wants to hear from you. Our committee is the conduit for your ideas. Plan on attending the Town Hall Meeting in Lubbock on Thursday, August 29, even if you have to drive a mile or three to get there.

Finally, a Town Hall Meeting is the perfect forum for venting steam. That is normal and acceptable. In this meeting, we also want your positive input on possible solutions. We want to construct, not destroy.

Walter Madden, Jr. is a member of the Citizens' Committee on Property Tax Relief.

VISTA volunteers from Clarendon & Lakeview sought for Girl Scouts

The Texas Plain Girl Scout Council recently received an expansion on its AmeriCorps VISTA (Volunteers In Service to America) grant providing funding for an AmeriCorps VISTA volunteer in the Clarendon and Lakeview area. The grant provides volunteers to recruit girls and adults from low income areas to form long term Girl Scout Groups.

"The program has been so successful that we applied for an expansion to be able to recruit a VISTA volunteer from Clarendon or Lakeview," said Marsha Christensen, director of membership development. "The VISTA outreach program has been very successful in reaching underserved populations in Amarillo and Hereford. We hope to continue that success in the Clarendon and Lakeview area by reaching more girls."

In return for their service, the grant provides VISTA volunteers a monthly stipend of $542, medical plan, mileage reimbursement, and travel.

To be eligible as a VISTA volunteer, candidates must be at least 18 years of age, believe in the principles and ideals of the Girl Scout movement, have a knowledge of or a desire to learn planning and management skills. She or he must serve at least 40 hours per week, have access to dependable transportation, live in the assigned community, and be free to travel. Bilingual candidates are strongly urged to apply.

Upon selection, volunteers will be responsible for developing a membership plan to form Girl Scout troops in specific locations. She or he will recruit girls and leaders as well as set up a team of adults to support troop leaders. She or he will also be accountable for developing a personal relationship with community leaders and ensuring the independence and continuity of each Girl Scout group established through training and follow up.

Anyone in the Clarendon area interested in applying to become an AmeriCorps VISTA volunteer may pick up an application at the Texas Plains Girl Scout Office in Clarendon at 406 S. Goodnight, or contact Marsha Christensen at 1-800-687-4475 or 356-0096.

Check It Out

By Mary Beth Nelson

I can't seem to stay away from Burton Memorial Library's Texas Collection where nonfiction, fiction, humor, and almost any subject is available.

Horsetradin' by Ben K. Green offers twenty authentic tales of his own experience around western cattle towns. The stories are written so humorously that one who reads them cannot help but be entertained.

Suzanne Yasley's book, "Texas Quilts, Texas Women," is much more than its title might imply. It not only displays beautiful patterns with which many are familiar, but begins when quilting was brought to Texas in the early 1800's. When Jane Wilkinson Long crossed the Sabine River into Texas in 1819, she was "the first woman of Anglo-American descent known to enter Texas." She is said to have brought the art of quilting to Texas, and the quilting bee became a social event. Jane Long knew legendary Texas figures Stephen F. Austin, William Travis, Jim Bowie, Sam Houston, and pirate Jean Lafitte. Her experiences are interesting, but to her, frontier women also found comfort in the needle art of quilting while they faced the dangers of the Texas frontier. Each quilt conveys a story. One can only hope that it does not become a lost art.

Are you musically inclined or need songs or poetry for a western program you're planning? Three excellent sources are: Cowboy Songs And Other Frontier Ballads by John and Alan Lomax, and William A. Owens' two books, Tell Me A Story, Sing Me A Song and Texas Folk Songs. The books provide short histories of many of the songs. Elementary teachers, when you begin to look for something different to spice up your Social Studies Texas units, these offer great suggestions.

Although he was not a Texan, the Texas collection also includes a biography of Will Rogers. John McCarty tells the story of Billy and Olive King Dixon in Adobe Walls Bride. If you are interested in several biographies in one book, Joe Tom Davis' Legendary Texans includes Deaf Smith, David Burnet, Bigfoot Wallace, Shanghai Pierce, Charles Goodnight, and others.

Albert B. Paine depicted the life of Captain Bill McDonald, Texas Ranger, in a book with the same name.

The Texas Collection also has books concerning Texas politics.

Grasses of Texas by Frank W. Gould includes botanical descriptions of various types of grasses in Texas, plus information on changes in grasses to modern advances in grass growth and development. He involves line drawings and maps of vegetation areas. This could be of assistance to ranchers, naturalists, botanists, and researchers.

Texas fiction is in the regular fiction section, but it may be easily located by the Texas symbol on the spine. Jane Roberts Wood provides light reading in The Train To Estelina and A Place Called Sweet Shrub. Loula Grace Erdman's Wide Horizons may also appeal to fiction readers.

These are only a small portion of numerous Texas writings awaiting you on the library shelves. Why not check it out?

Annual Gospel Jubilee for FIT to be held August 10 in Amarillo

The second annual Gospel Jubilee will be held on Saturday, August 10, 1996, at the Sam Houston State Park in Amarillo, from 6:00 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. The Gospel Jubilee is an annual fund raiser sponsored by the Panhandle Community Services, presenting talented area performers singing their gospel favorites.

The concert is free, and in addition, business supporters have donated many exciting items for chance drawings during the concert, including two round trip tickets from Southwest Airlines.

Proceeds of this concert will benefit the Families In Training (FIT) participants. The FIT program is an education driven program that provides rental assistance and case management for families in transition from poverty to self-sufficiency. Currently, FIT has 135 participants/families, of which 78 percent are single parents, who are enrolled in training occupations such as education, occupational therapy, court reporting, metrology, nursing, and many more.

Families In Training has no supportive services for clients. In client case management, area resources are recommended, but often emergency situations emerge, forcing families to discontinue their education. Generated funds from the Gospel Jubilee will allow FIT families the opportunity for "responsibility assistance loans" which can prevent disruption in college goals.

Panhandle Community Services is a private non-profit agency serving the 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle area. The agency is an advocate and supporter for families needing a helping hand to meet basic needs and promotes programs to ensure personal independence and self-sufficiency. FIT advocates self-sufficiency and has $9.00 plus per hour wage rate. Due to the success of this program, the agency has received state awards and national recognition.

The Donley County area has several participants in the program. Tickets for the chance drawings are available from any FIT participant or at your local PCS office, located at 416 South Kearney in Clarendon, or at the event. Bring your chair or blanket and join them with KGNC-FM's Mary Lyn and Tim for a good time and great music.

Second Thoughts

by Mary Beth Nelson

Have you ever witnessed a live painting in progress, one in which there was no sign of paintbrush or palette? One whose artist was nowhere in sight? Yet, you saw each fascinating result of the on-going art work. My husband and I had such an opportunity while visiting friends in Dallas last November.

Enjoying after-breakfast coffee and pleasant conversation, we watched, through sliding glass doors, the antics of squirrels, cardinals, and bluejays among lovely yard shrubs. Colorful fall leaves blanketed spots of green lingering from late summer. Newly barren crooked branches added an intertwined, symmetric beauty which could only be designed by our Creator.

As the members of the feathered community continued to busy themselves from limb to limb, the sudden gentleness of large, white falling snowflakes struck us with awe. This unusual combination of seasons appearing before our eyes created a "nature's painting" beyond capture on canvas.

The scene was brief. The snowflakes softly melted as they touched the ground, leaving a memory of God's greatness and His gifts of splendor so generously provided for human pleasure.

And The Rain Came, Again

Boosted by two consecutive of wetter years than average nesting conditions have improved; the folks at the US Fish and Wildlife Services report duck breeding populations climbed 5 percent this spring to the highest level since 1979. The annual breeding duck survey reported an estimated 37.5 million ducks, up from last year's estimate of 35.9 million.

"There are two primary reasons for this good news," said acting Director John Rogers. "First, we continue to be blessed by abundant precipitation and good habitat conditions of the breeding grounds. Second, hunters and other conservationists have spent the last decade restoring and conserving vital wetlands in key duck production areas."

The service warns that duck populations naturally fluctuate over time, but they note this is the greatest increase in duck populations since the early 1980's. Of interest to our local hunters, the number of mallards dipped from 8.3 million down to 7.9 million, but this slight decrease was more than offset by an increase in the number of pintail, green-wing teal, redhead, and gadwall. It looks like 1996 will be another banner year for hunters who enjoy getting up before sunrise and sitting in icy duck blinds.

More good news is reported from our area lakes. The much needed summer thunder showers have broken the drought of '96. Lake Meredith has risen by six feet and now stands at 87 feet. In fishing terms, the rising water level at Lake Meredith translates into an increase of nearly 3,000 acres of additional prime habitat for largemouth bass. The moss is growing, the cattails are flooded, and the ample supply of baitfish in the newly flooded brush should make for some outstanding bass fishing in the years to come.

Lake Greenbelt is up three feet, but it still needs to catch an additional four or five feet before achieving optimum bass habitat. Lake MacKenzie benefited by a five foot increase but remains well below historic levels. Lake White River rose by nearly four feet, but the drought had drained off nearly fourteen feet. On the High Plains near Spearman, new Lake Palo Duro is at 34 feet and rising.

The only reservoirs not requesting more rain are Lake Baylor and Lake Childress. Both of these outstanding lakes are full to capacity, and in 1996 each has run over the spillway three times.

Now is the time to head over to your local gun club and get in a few practice rounds. Dove season starts in thirty days, and I have noticed they seem to fly a little faster with each passing year.

Until next week, Good Fishing, Good Hunting, and Good Luck.

CC offering bottom line farm classes

Clarendon College will offer the "Bottom Line Farming" curriculum on financial management in agriculture in Childress during the month of August. The class will be taught at the Childress High School. It will start on Monday, August 5, 1996, at 6 p.m. and last until 10 p.m. The balance of the 36 hour course will be taught on Monday and Wednesday of each week during August.

Registration for this class will be conducted the first class meeting. Spouses are encouraged to attend. This class meets the requirements for financial training of the FSA (formerly FmHA). If you have any questions please contact Dr. Donald L. Williams at (806) 874-2312, Clarendon College, or your local FSA office.

Beef producers to discuss Beef Checkoff by satellite

Beef producers will have the unrivaled attention of beef industry leaders to discuss the beef checkoff program from 7 to 9 p.m. on August 22 during a satellite Town Hall Meeting.

The program will be broadcast to county Farm Bureau offices throughout the state on the Ku band. Any producer with a satellite dish can also receive the program on the C-band.

On hand to answer producers' questions about any facet of the checkoff will be Jan Lyons, chairman of the Cattlemen's Beef Board; John Lacey, president of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA); Rick Allen, US Meat Export Federation (USMEF); and Bob Nunley, chairman of the Texas Beef Council (TBC).

The Beef Board is charged by USDA with administering the $1 per head beef checkoff program on a national level. NCBA and USMEF are both contractors with the Beef Board for beef checkoff funds. TBC is in charge of collecting and administering the checkoff program in Texas.

"Satellite communications allows beef producers two hours to discuss the beef checkoff program with national leaders," says TBC Chairman Bob Nunley, a rancher from Sabinal, Texas. Producers can ask questions via a toll free number or by fax.

"The checkoff is a great program because it is producer-driven," Nunley said. "This satellite Town Hall Meeting is an example of how producers can have input into the programs, objectives, and goals of the checkoff. Please make your plans to participate either from your home or office or from your county Farm Bureau office."

The Lions Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, July 30, 1996, at the Lions Hall. Fifteen members and two guests enjoyed a delicious fried chicken dinner before the meeting was called to order by Boss Lion Morris. In the absence of the pianist, the club voted unanimously to dispense with the singing. The Boss Lion led the Pledge of Allegiance followed by a prayer by Lion Alderson.

Lion Todd Knorpp indicated that he had a list of all members who did not have name badges, and the secretary said he would order them. The Boss Lion will get a membership application to Rev. Bell. There was no program and no other business, and the meeting was adjourned.
