Clarendon College Student-Teacher Reunion Sets Up Permanent Ass'n.

An enthusiastic group of ex-students and teachers of Clarendon College met in Clarendon Saturday and Sunday and at a "Dutch Breakfast" Sunday morning organized a permanent association. Steve Russell (class of 1925), Denver, Colo., was chairman of the meeting. Charles Dean, attorney, Plainview, Texas, was elected president; C. W. Ratliff, with the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, Lubbock, Texas, was elected vice-president; and Clyde I. Price, Clarendon Press, Clarendon, Texas, was selected secretary. The group voted to meet every two years with the next meeting scheduled for the second week in June, 1963.

The old school colors of green and white were used in decoration. Floral arrangements were of white African daisies, day lilies, and baby breath. Mrs. Ray Palmer and Mrs. W. J. Lowe presided at the tea table the first hour and Miss Mable Mongole and Pauline Ozier Stevens the second hour.

All in attendance reported a most enjoyable time and are looking forward to an even bigger and better gathering in 1963.

New Street Markers Installed

J. B. Melton, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Street Marker committee, announced this week that all the new street markers had been installed over town through the cooperation of city employees.

It was quite a chore to sort out all the signs and get them in their right locations but local citizens and strangers coming to Clarendon will now be able to find a particular location without too much difficulty.

This Chamber of Commerce project was made possible through contributions of local citizens and many hours of hard work by the Chamber committee and city employees. The signs are easy to read and are of metal construction which will make them durable for years to come. Residents who do not have house numbers should contact their insurance agent for the correct number of their property and get it marked which will make it much easier for anyone to find exactly where you live.

A library friend gave us 14 books of fiction. Thank you.

The following is by Garry Cleveland Myers, a leading authority on child education and development for 50 years. Doctor Myers is a father and grandfather. "A Parent's Prayer: Help me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say and to answer all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and to ask of them forgiveness, when I know that I have done them wrong.

May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt a child to lie and steal. So guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me Oh Lord to hold my tongue. Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things that they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise. Help me to treat my children as those of their own age but let me not exact of them the judgments and conventions of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wait upon themselves, or think, to choose and to make decisions.

Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them all of their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage always to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

Make me so fair and just, so considerate and companionable to my children that they will have a genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children."

The above is from the April Coronet.

If all of us who have dealings with children would remember that they are people and practice what this Prayer teaches, we might be surprised at the results!

"YOUR LIFE'S RECORD"

The hometown newspaper — like the rising and setting of the sun — is a vital part of our everyday living.

A letter to the editor of the Grundy, Iowa, Register, brings this point home. It said: "You were here over 50 years ago and you will find in the files of your paper a report of my birth. Your paper also had stories when I played football in school, when I graduated and later when I got married. You have reported many anniversaries in our family, the birth of our four children, their activities in school and elsewhere. And in late years you have reported the arrival of our grandchildren. Why, you and your paper have written and printed a life history of our family. And why shouldn't we look upon you and your paper as a member of our family?"

Yes, the local newspaper is the recorder of the life of a community — business, personal, political and national. Being a constant subscriber is a good habit to acquire because the local paper isn't self-perpetuating as is the sun. It needs your support even as the community needs its service.

THOMPSON BROS. HARDWARE & APPLIANCES

Can we out-fox the Big Bad Wolf? Is it possible to keep a real depression from coming in the future? These are questions which many who are old enough to remember such times keep asking themselves . . .

In grandpa's day everything that went up had to come down. This was surely true in relation to prices which were controlled by the natural law of supply and demand. When cotton wouldn't pay the pickin' grandpa turned to corn or peanuts and if he could out-smart the masses would every now and then turn up a big harvest of some scarce article. When the going got really tough grandpa tightened his belt another notch, whispered a worried warning to grandma and the kids and everybody went on an all-out saving spree. They didn't buy anything that could be done without. The merchant didn't sell much that year and sometimes a general fear set in and before they knew it the thing called a panic or a crisis was upon them. It had always happened every so often and was generally accepted to be as certain as death and taxes. They emerged physically and financially, but out of debt and self-reliant.

Today the national slogans are spend your way into prosperity with confidence. Many considerations have been given the unemployed, and the broke are urged to borrow. The government takes care of today's needs by borrowing from our future. Buying creates more work, and more work makes more buying. Earn and spend is the habit, debts and taxes are accepted . . . Even the National Debt looms larger and larger. Can we prime the pump and keep on forever with this fast pumping, or will the well finally go dry?

Ponce De Leon just about "tuckered" himself out looking for the Fountain of Youth . . . We can't help but feel a bit sorry for him because in those days one couldn't even read the ads promising more hair in 10 delightful colors. Nature gave them only two sets of teeth as today but there were no artificial replacements and likely little aids to their care. The same was true with the eye-sight, and in their young days they were supposed to hear enough to last through the later years.

All joking aside, after reading an article on ENZYMES which recently appeared in Today's Health, poor Ponce was surely looking in the wrong locality for the answer. We are told in this factual article that our bodies contain over a trillion tiny cells. We couldn't help thinking that at one dollar each these cells would equal three times the national debt at the time our give-away government last changed hands from one out-promising party to the other.

Each tiny cell in our body contains over 100,000 enzymes. It is these tiny chemists of nature that control everything from the greening of the leaves in the spring to the wagging of a dog's tail. If it were not for the work done by these enzymes we would stuff ourselves with food and still starve to death.

It is no Buck Rogers story that medical science is looking with new hope to the enzymes. The answer to cancer cure, blood pressure, and even the aging process seem possible. Even the color of skin could be changed. Grandfather laughed at the idea of a self starter on his new car. In our lifetime we have learned never to use the word impossible . . .

"Sugar is sweet," but the sugar beet growers in the United States have a sour taste toward congress and some of the government agencies over recent happenings. Looking at it from where we sit we don't blame these farmers one bit for feeling just a little bitter.

Reading Rep. Walter Rogers' recent newsletter we wondered why we would all sit idly by and see this thing happen to a segment of our people. It seems that 45 per cent of the country's consumption of sugar has been coming from the plantations in Cuba. After Castro's capers become unbearable this commitment was cancelled.

The American sugar beet grower asked for permission to make up the loss. He was under price support and acreage allotments. He offered to cut down on other crops which in surplus to make the switch in acres. It looks simple. It seems that the answer should be obvious. It doesn't look like any problem at all. It didn't work out that way.

According to Mr. Rogers, the sugar monopolies make larger profits on the part produced abroad. They objected to these profits being molested. Public officials and government agencies yielded to the pressure . . . Almost half of our sugar supply will be purchased from foreign countries under certain provisions of the Sugar Act being extended for another period.

Charity should begin at home, and we doubt that this country goes down in history as any big-hearted Joe because of this deed. It is doubtful if this candy treatment will bring a deeper friendship the relations with friends whom we try to sugar-coat.

"German soldiers crossed the frontier of France as invited guests, for the first time in 90 years. Three times before, they came as invaders. This time, they were joining French soldiers in NATO maneuvers. Their crossing is one of the signs of the present solidarity of Western Europe against the Communist peril."

Business and the Missile Program

I have received a great deal of mail protesting the recent strike activities at a missile center. The issue involved photographers who have the job of making pictures with relation to the missile program that are vitally essential to the scientists engaged in missile work. Many people were astounded that a strike or threatened strike could be possible at any installation engaged in activities related to our missile or outer space programs, and they should have been. Many thought these to be government operations. Hence, they concluded that a strike would be in violation of the law because it was against the government. The latter would be true provided the former were correct. The fact is that these operations are not government operations in the sense of the word that a strike would be in violation of the law. These programs could be completely government operated and controlled. However, in the interest of preserving the free enterprise system, the government contracts these several activities with private enterprise firms. This removes it from a strictly government operation. Hence, in the literal sense of the word, a strike in such case is a strike against the employer rather than the government. This revelation will no doubt alarm many, and it would be most alarming if it were not for other provisions of the law, to-wit: the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947 (the Taft-Hartley Act). Under this Act, provision is made for the President of the United States to initiate proceedings to enjoin a strike or lockout. This power under the Taft-Hartley Act would, no doubt, have been exercised by the President of the United States in the recent controversy concerning the missile program had the matter not been settled forthwith. There has been great controversy in the past as to whether or not this power of the President is unconstitutional and whether or not the Taft-Hartley Act was intended to apply only to an industry-wide strike or a strike involving a substantial portion of the operations of an industry, speaking numerically or percentage-wise. At the present time, these two matters have been settled by a decision of a New York Federal Court where in these two questions and others were at issue. In that case, the industry in question was the Atomic Energy Commission and involved the American Locomotive Company under contract with the Atomic Energy Commission for the production of certain items used in the Atomic program. The decision was written by Chief Judge Knight of the United States District Court for the Western District of New York, and an application for a Writ of Certiorari to the United States Supreme Court was denied. This simply means that the Supreme Court was not at issue with the findings in the case and, hence, refused to review it. In the decision, Judge Knight made several statements which would be good to remember. In one instance, he said, "The strike in effect is a strike against the government." In another instance, he stated as follows: "This is far from an ordinary controversy. It seems unthinkable that a strike in a plant producing for the government items now vitally necessary to the defense of this country and the security of its people, should be permitted to continue." The missile program, the outer space program, the atomic energy program and other programs of this nature that are being primarily financed by the Federal government in order to insure the best interests, the safety and the welfare of this country, can and should be worked and developed in full cooperation and conjunction with the basic concepts of our free enterprise system. However, it would be good to note that abuses in the development of these programs by either labor or management or both would provide fuel for the fire of those who would like to see the government take over all operations completely and operate them directly. It would seem to be much better for both labor and management to use the utmost discretion in their operations concerning these activities, to the end that neither jeopardizes the free enterprise system.

RICHMOND HONORS FIGHTING SECRETARY

An impressive statue of Mirabeau Buonaparte Lamar, valiant military hero and acclaimed Father of Education in Texas, stands in Richmond, Texas, southwest of Houston. Lamar served as Secretary of War and was the commander of the cavalry at the Battle of San Jacinto. He was well known for his service both as President and Vice-President of the Republic of Texas and was instrumental in securing a public endowment for Texas schools.

BUFFALO CLOVER FESTIVAL

Buffalo Clover is what the old settlers called it. Now it's known as the state flower of Texas. Most likely you prefer the modern name of this beautiful lupine plant for it does look more like what it is now called... the bluebonnet. You haven't seen much of Texas either if you haven't seen the fields of sky-blue bluebonnets.

Every April the town of Marlin in Central Texas (Falls County) holds a "Bluebonnet Festival." Beautiful models are provided to pose for the amateur photographers who travel from all over the nation to see the festival and to compete in the annual photo contest. Leader—Local rate, $3.00 a year

A very special friend sent this news to us, put out by the Phillips 66 Fertilizer News. We had read or heard it before, but think it bears repeating.

"One of the most difficult things to do is to get a clear mental picture of yourself and your place in the world. And this is what frequently leads to misunderstanding and the deadliest of all diseases, complacency. Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, a leader in the American Bible Society, has given a wonderful picture of the world by reducing proportionately all the people in the world into a theoretical town of 1,000 people. He tells us it would look something like this . . .

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

About 5,500 acres of brush have been sprayed so far this year. This is a good start on a very big problem that we have. Out of our 350,000 acres of rangeland, about 175,000 acres needs some type of brush control. Among those who sprayed brush are L. R. Hagy, McDowell Estate, Joe McMurtry, Rhode and Gould, Lewis Fields, Ray Holland and Sitre Ranch.

Ray Moreman's new pond northeast of Hedley handled the heavy rains of the last two weeks beautifully. The 10-inch drawdown pipe flowed several days after the rains, and the earth spillways didn't have to carry any water. The drawdown pipe prevented some possible severe damage on the fresh-cut earth spillways.

Now is the time to be thinking about what to do with wheat stubble after wheat is cut. Stubble of any kind is valuable if properly handled. A sufficient amount should be left on the surface to protect the soil until the next crop is planted and growing well. This can best be done by using sweeps or chisels to till the land. If a one-way is used, approximately half the residues is plowed under each time the land is plowed, and wheat stubble does much more good on the surface than under the ground.

Remember, though, NEVER burn crop residues. If this is done, the land is open to the elements and most certainly dies a little each time the wind blows or the rains fall hard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rumpy and family of Amarillo visited Sunday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Rumpy.

Miss Gerladine Rumpy, who is attending school in Canyon, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Rumpy, and all went to Pampa Saturday night to hear Angel Martinez, older brother of Homer Martinez who held a revival at the First Baptist Church here recently.

Cub Scout News

Any Den Mother who has not received her Cub Scout Program Quarterly for the summer, may pick it up from the Cubmaster.

Through the summer the dens meet outside, play baseball, go on tours and just have a good time. Boys do not forget to work at home on your awards in your book and turn in your award to your Den Mother, so that you can receive them at our Monthly Pack Meeting.

We are trying to pick the time and place for the June Monthly Pack Meeting and we will let everyone know in the next issue of the Cub Scout News.

Plans are being made for all Cub Scouts in the Annual 4th of July Parade. A Bear Skin Plaque has been ordered and will be presented to the Den having the most boys out to march in the parade.

Plant Disease of The Week

By Harlan E. Smith
Extension Plant Pathologist
Chlorotic plants are found in all sections of Texas, but are more prevalent in areas with alkaline, calcareous soils.

Chlorosis (yellowing of plants) results when the green coloring matter fails to develop or is destroyed. Affected plants range from light green to yellow to almost white.

The loss of color is most often due to lack of iron in plants. The diseased condition may also be due to viruses, deficiencies of sulfur, manganese or nitrogen, poor drainage or aeration, nematode damage, root rots or crown gall.

Lack of iron is most common in apple, apricot, arborvitae, ash, catalpa, cedar, cherry laurel, Chinese tallow, citrus, grasses, magnolia, oleander, peaches, pecan, pyracantha, rose, strawberry and many other shrubs and flowers. Most soils on which iron chlorosis occurs are well supplied with iron, but it is in a form unavailable for plant use.

Iron chlorosis is controlled by adding iron sulfate (coppers) or iron chelates to the soil. These chemicals can also be applied as a foliage spray in late evening when the plants are actively growing. In general, spraying will give quicker results but will not last as long as proper soil application. Applications of large amounts of well rotted compost at regular intervals are also recommended.

Mrs. Ethel Reid and Mrs. Stella Goode visited with Miss Ivy Dea Hinkle in Dumas Monday and Tuesday.

County Agent Issues Insect Warning

In many parts of the county cotton and feed are coming up to a good stand says county agent Flip Breedlove. Reports from various parts of the county indicate that there might be a grasshopper outbreak serious enough to injure some of the small young crops.

The time to combat the hoppers is while they are still young and in the hatch area. The best poisons to use is Aldrin and Dieldrin says the county agent. Cotton flea hoppers should make their appearance in the very near future and cotton farmers are warned to be on the lookout and contact the county agent for any help that you might need in combating insects threatening your crops.

Former Resident Wins National Sewing Contest

American women will be represented in Europe this Fall by a most attractive, trim, chicly clad, charming woman from Bethesda, Mrs. Ross H. Beville, 6000 Kirby Road, formerly of Clarendon, who triumphed over 283,084 competitors from approximately 4,000 clubs from all over the country to win first prize in the nationwide Fashion-Sewing Contest to select the "ideal costume for the club woman's wardrobe."

The contest is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with Vogue Pattern Service.

Final judging on the national level took place Monday, at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City.

During her European tour, Mrs. Beville, as a representative of the well-dressed American clubwoman, will have the opportunity to visit and compare notes with the famous fashion designers in London, Paris and Rome.

In addition to her own trip abroad, her award includes also a trip for her husband, who is vice president of WWDC Radio Station, she will also attend the 70th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Miami Beach, Fla., where she will be officially presented with her award before delegates from approximately 4,000 clubs from all over the country.

The trip to the Convention is part of the first prize, as is a special award of $500 in case to the Takoma Park Women's Club, of which Mrs. Beville is a member.

Her winning costume was a slim, eggshell linen suit with printed overblouse and a collarless short box jacket with 2-button symmetrical closing, lined in the same black and eggshell printed lined as the collarless, sleeveless overblouse.

The sense of fashion and fine workmanship which it displayed, helped her win a series of preliminary elimination contests at local, district and state levels of the Federation, to become eligible for the national judging.

In the final competition, her costume was chosen for top honors among 50 entries which had all scored previous statewide victories. At all levels of the competition, costumes were judged on appropriateness, becomingness to wearer, over-all fashion effect, and workmanship.

A young grandmother, Mrs. Beville stays that way because of her many interests. In addition to her sewing, which she confesses, she's been doing the last 30 years, after majoring in home economics at Clarendon College in Texas. Three years ago she began studying painting and has produced many attractive canvases, one of which won honorable mention last year in the Takoma Park Art Association contest.

At present her son, Harwood, a junior at the University of Maryland occupies many of her hours, as she's president of The Mothers' Club of his fraternity, Phi Delta Theta. Last week they served dinner to 150 guests as a fund raising project.

Harwood is majoring in engineering, and has just been elected president of the Maryland Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honorary fraternity.

Her grandchildren, Linda, 7, Nancy 5, and Bob, 3 months, children of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ward, of Arlington fill in the time she's not otherwise busy, and she admits she's never too busy to enjoy them.

Past club work includes past president and founder of the Takoma Park Art Association; chairman for the last two years of the evening section of the Takoma Park Woman's Club; and is past chairman of the department of Fine Arts of the D. C. Federation.

In surveying Mrs. Beville's attractiveness and abilities, I'm sure American women will be proud to be represented by her.

House guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Powell through the week end were Mamie McLean of San Antonio, Wilma McLean of Dallas, Mrs. R. H. Guinn of Breckenridge, Mrs. D. A. Park of Amarillo, and Mrs. Willie Boyett of McLean.

FARM NEWS

from the County ASC Committee

LAND MEASUREMENT

This office plans to start measuring diverted acreage, grain sorghum permitted acreage, cotton and soil bank base crops about the first of July. The Feed Grain Program will cause an increase in the amount of field work that will have to be done by this office. To complete this work in an orderly and timely manner, this office will need the cooperation of all persons involved. The county committee requests that farmers assist farm reporters in making the necessary measurements on their farm. This helps eliminate errors and reduces the time required to make the necessary measurements.

WHEAT

Wheat marketing cards have been mailed to all known eligible producers. All wheat marketed in 1961 must be identified by a marketing card. Wheat performance have been completed for this year. We have no overplanted wheat producers. The loan rate for wheat is $1.80 per bushel.

CONSERVATION RESERVE
If your Conservation Reserve contract expires in 1961, you may summer fallow the acreage in preparation for seeding a crop this fall to harvest in 1962.

ACP PROGRAM

We would like to urge that all producers having completed any ACP practices report them to the office as soon as possible. This will enable us to keep the practice program up to date.
