Spier voted CC employee of the year

Darlene Spier has been voted the inaugural recipient of the Kenneth D. Vaughan Employee of the Year Award at Clarendon College.

Ms. Spier, a 17-year employee of the college, works as Assistant to the President. She received the award at the college's first annual Employee Recognition Luncheon last Friday in the Bairfield Center.

CC President Emeritus Kenneth Vaughan was on hand to personally present the award to Ms. Spier. The award was voted upon by all full-time employees of the college and will be presented annually to the employee who best exhibits the highest ideals of the institution.

"Darlene is very deserving of this recognition," said Dr. Scott Elliott, college president. "As I have written before, she is the glue that holds Clarendon College together, in my opinion. It's obvious that her colleagues feel the same way about her by their voting her Employee of the Year."

Spier received a standing ovation upon receiving the award and told the gathering of some 80 employees and college regents that she "considered it an honor to work with them." She also commented that the award was particularly special to her because it was named for the man who hired her - Mr. Vaughan.

Also on hand to share the moment with her were husband, Bill, her mother, Elvie Shields; and mother-in-law, Wilma Spier. Bill presented his wife with 17 roses - one for each year of service to the college.

Mr. Vaughan, who was accompanied by his wife, Billie, and daughter, Linda, was also recognized during the ceremony. The Centennial Edition of the college catalog was dedicated to Mr. Vaughan, and President Elliott presented him with a plaque of appreciation, which was signed by all college employees. Mr. Vaughan also received a long standing ovation on receiving his award.

In presenting Mr. Vaughan with his plaque, President Elliott reflected upon what Clarendon might be like today if Vaughan had not had the

Bond issue fails 1/2 cent sales tax passes easily, Higher than normal turn out seen in all local elections

City voters narrowly defeated a proposal to issue $200,000 in bonds to run sewer and water services to the Thunder Junction theme park.

The question was decided by a margin of only 20 votes with 243 in favor and 263 against the issue.

Thunder Junction officials could not be reached for comment Tuesday afternoon, but according to statements made before the election, they felt they would be able to proceed with their plans to open the park even if the bond issue were to fail.

The target date for opening the park, located on the north edge of Clarendon, is Memorial Day weekend.

In other election news, Clarendon voters passed an additional 1/2 cent sales tax which will be to go toward property tax reduction.

City Secretary Janice Barbee said that Saturday's turnout was the highest in recent memory. According to her, only 72 people turned out in 1994, and approximately 156 turned out for the 1995 election for the economic development tax.

This year 509 voters cast ballots in the city elections.

Three aldermen were elected for the city. Mac Stavenhagen, Kyle Hill, and Shawn Barker will take the seats on the city's governing body.

Some new faces will be taking seats on the Donley County Hospital District's Board of Directors. B.B. Osburn won the place 4 seat. Virgil Welch won the position at place 5.

Judy Synek beat current board president Johnny Leathers for his place 6 seat. Doyle Messer retained his position in place 7.

In the race for Clarendon College Board of Regents, voters elected Jack Moreman, Tommie C. Saye, and Dr. Richard Gilkey. Bobbie Floyd was elected to serve out the remainder of an unexpired term.

Voters defeated long-time regents Bright Newhouse and W.R. 'Billie' Christal.

The Clarendon Independent School District elected Weldon Sears and Dan Hall to the board of trustees.

The Hedley Independent School District elected Tracy Sanders and Bob White to that school's board of trustees.

All interested Clarendon residents are asked to call the Chamber office at 874-2421 for more information.

Taxpayers group names Rep. Thornberry, Sen. Gramm as grade A 'Taxpayer Friends'

US Rep. Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) and US Senator Phil Gramm (R-Texas) were recognized recently by the National Taxpayer Union for their efforts to reduce taxes and cut government spending.

"Many members of Congress talk about balancing the budget and controlling spending," NTU President David Keating said. "But their outstanding scores in our Rating of Congress show that they backed up their words with votes."

NTU's Rating of Congress, which was based on every roll call vote affecting federal spending in 1995, assigns a "Taxpayer Score" to each lawmaker which shows how he or she voted to reduce federal spending, taxes, and debt. A higher score is a better rating because it means a member of Congress voted to spend less money.

Thornberry received an 85 percent rating from the group for his votes in 1995, which qualified him for an "A" grade and the "Taxpayer Friend" award. Only three other representatives from Texas received as high a score. The House average was 58 percent.

Gramm's score of 90 percent also qualified him for a grade "A" rating and a "Taxpayer Friend" award. The senator had one of the highest scores in the US Senate.

Founded in 1969, the National Taxpayer Union is a non-partisan, non-profit organization with over 300,000 members dedicated to limited government and fiscal responsibility.

Clarendon will be well represented Friday and Saturday at the UIL Class 2A tennis and track competition in Austin.

Sophomore Kareem Abdullah will take to the University of Texas Intramural Courts Friday at 11 a.m. The courts are located west of I-35 along 51st St near Guadalupe Street.

Abdullah will face Chase Smith of Mason in the quarterfinal match. Smith was the runner-up in the Region IV Tournament in San Marcos, losing in the finals to 1995 Class 2A

State Champion Ben Fortune of San Antonio Cole. Fortune, the number one seed in this year's state tournament is seeded in the top half of the bracket while Abdullah is seeded in the bottom half. The two will not meet until the finals if both win their quarterfinal and semifinal matches.

"We really don't know much about Smith except that Mason is sending almost an entire team to the tournament," head tennis coach Jimmy Avery said. "I stopped in Mason this past weekend on the way home from a basketball clinic in San Antonio and picked up a newspaper there. There was a story in there about the whole team and a picture too. Smith is tall and lanky."

Kim Alexander and Mandy Weatherton pass the baton in a recent 800 meter relay race. The pair are part of the Lady Bronco team traveling to Austin this week.

CHS to be well represented in Austin

"The thing about (Abdullah) is he really doesn't want to know much about the opponent. He doesn't get nervous. He just goes out and plays."

"We're just glad he's in the opposite bracket of the returning state champion."

If Abdullah wins his first match, he will return to the courts at 4 p.m. Friday. The finals are scheduled for 8 a.m. Saturday. The doubles teams play first followed by the singles participants.

The Bronco and Lady Bronco track teams cap off the two-day track and field session Saturday night at 5:45 p.m. at University of Texas' Memorial Stadium with their entries in the relays and the 400, 200 and 100 meter races.

The stadium is west of I-35 near 23rd Street and Red River Street.

Roy Williams returns to Austin for his second year in the 400 meter race. He finished a close second to Fred Hackney of Alto, who currently has the fastest time in all classifications with a 47.1. Williams has run a time in the 47s this past year.

The junior also will anchor the Region I champion sprint relay team. Evan Williams, Lorenzo Moore and Dean Stanzione were members of the team which placed first in the regional contest. Abdullah is an alternate on the sprint relay team.

Clarissa Smith also will make a repeat performance at the state track meet with her entry in the 100 meters. Smith finished seventh as a freshman in 1995.

Teammate Mandy Weatherton will participate in the 200 meters - her first time as a participant at the state meet. And both will run on Clarendon's two relay teams.

Smith, Weatherton, Kathy Bryley and Kim Alexander will run for a medal in the 800 meter relay. Smith, Weatherton, Alexander and Kasi Ashcraft are members of the 1600 meter relay team with one of the top times in the Panhandle in all classifications.

Admission to the tennis tournament and track and field events is $3 for students and $5 for adults for each session. All-session tickets for track are $15. Saturday two-session tickets are $10.

The 4A running events will take place Friday at 6:15 p.m. The 1A and 3A running events begin at noon Saturday. The 5A runners will finish out the meet Saturday night.

Local Panhandle ranches named top land stewards

AUSTIN — Any rancher or farmer in Texas will confirm they are good land stewards - it's a trait that goes with the deed to the place. Some might also confide that their commitment to the land has for the most part gone unnoticed — until now.

Twenty-six landowners, representing all 10 of the state's ecological zones, have been recognized as Lone Star Land Stewards of Texas natural resources during a special reception at the State Capitol on April 24. The representatives are the first to be honored in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's (TPWD) new statewide landowner recognition program, the Lone Star Land Steward Awards.

J.E. Leverich's 1,300-acre LOL Ranch in Donley County claimed top honors in the Rolling Plains ecological region. Leverich has been an active wildlife cooperater for four years and works regularly with TPWD and the NRCS.

Among some of the management practices on the LOL include protecting riparian woodlands along the creek and including subirrigated meadows and beaver ponds. Leverich utilizes moderate grazing of livestock to improve wildlife habitat and encourages native perennial vegetation through discing and seeding permanent plots.

He has also created annual food plots for quail and doves on the LOL, has installed wood duck nest boxes on beaver ponds, and protects historical shelterbelts for songbirds, quail, and turkey.

At a time when urban demands and financial strains have caused fragmentation of the land, cutting it up into smaller and smaller tracts, landowners are finding it tough to maintain their stewardship heritage. "In recent decades, with more of our Texas population shifting from rural to urban areas, fewer people understand the concept of actively managing and conserving ecological resources, a responsibility which has historically rested with rural landowners," said Andrew Sansom, TPWD executive director. "And, as the ability of private landowners to manage and to hold their property is more and more threatened, we need to reinforce them. The Lone Star Land Steward Awards program is a way to recognize their dedication."

Ed and Carol Harrell have been named the outstanding Lone Star Land Stewards for the High Plains ecological regions of Texas, for their work in preserving Texas' natural resources.

The Harrell's 35,000-acre ranch in Armstrong County, at the head of the Palo Duro Canyon, has worked with numerous agencies, including TPWD, Natural Resources Conservation Service, and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to ensure quality wildlife and habitat in Texas.

The ranch uses prescribed burning as a vegetation management tool, and Harrell is a local leader in soil and water conservation practices. He regularly hosts wildlife management field days and participates in mentoring programs for high school students and is the designated contact for natural resource management.

The Harrells have worked to improve mule deer buck quality, livestock production, and Neotropical songbird habitat. They also participate in mule deer reproduction research. The ranch also has historical sites from Indians and early Panhandle ranches which the Harrells have helped preserve.

The Lone Star Land Steward Awards were created to recognize and honor private landowners for their accomplishments in habitat management and wildlife conservation.

Nominations for 1997 are now being accepted and are open to any Texas landowner working for wildlife. For more information call Kibry Brown or Dennis Gissell at TPWD, 1-800-792-1112.

Dear Editor,

We are told by Panhandle Planned Parenthood in their response in your April 25, 1996, issue that they do not provide abortions like Planned Parenthood of New York does.

Now that the gruesome truth about partial-birth abortions has been exposed, many local affiliates are seeking to wash their hands of the blood of the innocents being shed in many Planned Parenthood Clinics across the nation. But are they truly guiltless when they use local revenues to pay dues to the national PP office where these funds then assist many state and local PP clinics that do perform abortions? Panhandle Planned Parenthood provides abortion counseling and referrals and often actually makes the calls to setup the appointments with the abortionist, and when needed will arrange for transportation to the appointment with the abortionist. Saying they are not guilty of providing abortions is like trying to differentiate between the contract killer and the one who hires him.

Dear Editor,

I want to thank our Clarendon College staff for the program at the Bairfield Building last Thursday night. They presented a very entertaining program of story telling, most of which was humorous. One was about the author of the hymn, "Amazing Grace." This was very interesting.

This program was made possible by 38 business places giving donations. They are called on so many times for this type of support. Their taxes are a large support for our college, public school, nursing home, and city. Their taxes and donations make it possible for many people to be employed in each of these public places. We in turn need to give them our support by trading with them instead of buying out of town the things that we can get in Clarendon.

The main reason we cannot get some things here now is because many people did not shop here when more was available. We do not want to become a town where we can get only emergency items.

Please support our local business people.

courage, vision, and resourcefulness to build a new campus "on the hill."

"One of the main things that separates Clarendon from other small cities in the Panhandle," Elliott said, "is Clarendon College. Our taxpayers invest about $200,000 a year in the college, and in return, the college injects about $4 million each year into the local economy. The man most responsible for that is Kenneth Vaughan."

Another major award presented during the festivities was the inaugural "President's Award," which is selected by Dr. Elliott in recognition of the employee who best exhibits school spirit and supports students. The recipient was accounting and computer science instructor Cynthia Ewing.

Ms. Ewing not only teaches her classes, but also serves as Phi Theta Kappa co-sponsor, school photographer, yearbook sponsor, and helps out with numerous other events on campus, including the annual judging contest.

Dr. Elliott presented Ms. Ewing with a plaque and a stuffed bulldog, symbolizing her school spirit.

The first-year president spoke of his philosophies on supporting students both inside and outside the classroom in presenting the award to Ms. Ewing and said, "If you're looking for a model to follow on student support, you need look no further than Cynthia Ewing."

Tourism is vital part of Texas economy

By Brenda F. Warned

Tourism is economic development. As the third largest industry in Texas, travel and tourism is largely responsible for the state's strong economy.

In 1994, tourism pumped $24.5 billion into the state's economy and employed 435,000 Texans. These jobs range from those in high profile sectors such as hotels, airlines, restaurants, and attractions, to less profile sectors like gas stations, bookstores, film processing stores, construction, and retail.

It is estimated that for every $56,250 spent by domestic and international travelers in Texas, one job is created.

Because of this vital industry, Governor Bush declared May 5-11, 1996, Texas Tourism Week. I encourage Texas communities throughout the state to unite and recognize the importance of the Texas tourism industry and how it affects the state economy.

Although we celebrate tourism week annually, this industry is extremely important for our economy throughout the year. In fact, tourism contributes a substantial amount to state and local tax revenue. Tourism produced $946.8 million in state tax revenue and $704.9 million in tax revenues for local communities in 1994. Without this tax revenue, each Texas household would pay an additional $615 a year in taxes, or an amount equivalent to approximately six cartloads of groceries.

As the state's lead economic development agency, the Texas Department of Commerce promotes Texas as a premier travel and tourism destination through national and international advertising, media relations, travel industry sales, and product development programs. Texas is still solidly in front of Florida as the second most visited state in the nation. In 1994, 166 million domestic visitors and 5.3 million international visitors traveled to Texas. Approximately 1.2 million inquiries for Texas travel information were received and fulfilled by the Texas Department of Commerce and the Texas Department of Transportation as a result of the state tourism advertising campaign in Fiscal Year 1995.

Commerce recently unveiled its new tourism television and print ads, which feature real Texans, who are identified as "One of 18 Million Texas Ambassadors," describing places they would take visitors to Texas. The ads are the latest twist on the state's award-winning "Texas. It's Like A Whole Other Country" tourism advertising campaign.

In addition, the state has added several marketing tools, including the Texas Tourism CD-ROM, a web page, a Texas International Travel Planner, and a new travel video. I encourage you to visit the Texas tourism web site at <http://traveltex.com>.

Our economic forecast is undeniably bright, and tourism is vital to the economic growth of Texas.

Brenda F. Warned is the Executive Director for the Texas Dept. of Commerce.

Apply now for small business disaster loans

Businesses in Armstrong, Carson, Collingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Roberts, and Wheeler Counties have until May 30, 1996 to apply for low-interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA).

These loans are available to businesses that experienced financial losses due to severe thunderstorms and tornadoes which occurred on June 8, 1995. Physical losses caused by the weather cannot be covered by these loans.

These loans are available to businesses which meet the SBA size standards and cannot meet their disaster-related financial needs through other sources. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for these loans.

Lions collecting eyeglasses

As spring cleaning season gets underway, the Clarendon Lions are asking people to look through drawers and closets for old, unwanted eyeglasses and donate them to the Lions Recycle For Sight program.

During the month of May, the Lions will be collecting used prescription and sunglasses as part of a unique recycling program throughout the United States and Canada. The glasses will be refurbished and distributed to the poor in developing countries where eye care is often unaffordable and inaccessible.

"We need everyone to donate their old glasses," said Clarendon Lions President Jimmy Johnson. "In most developing countries, an eye exam can cost as much as one month's wages, and an eye doctor may serve a community of hundreds of thousands of people."

The glasses will be shipped to the Lions' regional eyeglasses recycling center where they will be cleaned, categorized by prescription, and prepared for distribution by Lions and other groups. According to the World Health Organization, the eyesight of approximately one-fourth of the world's population can be improved through the use of corrective lenses.

To donate used glasses, place them in specially marked Lions Recycle For Sight collection boxes located at B&R Thriftway, the Outpost, First Bank & Trust, and the Donley County State Bank.

Celebration Life Festival attracts out-of-towners

According to Anna Gay Cenicerros, Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce festival chairperson, "The first annual 'Celebration Life' festival is creating interest as far away as Oklahoma and New Mexico. Memorial weekend, May 24-27, 1996, promises to be full of activity with people coming from all over the panhandle."

The Little Miss and Little Mister Pageant on Friday, May 24 will kick off the festivities. All panhandle area youngsters ages newborn to five years are invited to enter the pageant. Deadline for pageant entry is Friday, May 17.

Saturday activities include an Arts and Crafts street fair in the 300 block of South Kearney. Vendors from all over the Texas Panhandle will be here to display and sell their wares. Deadline for booth reservations is also May 17. Non-profit Donley County organizations have exclusive rights to concession stands. A favorite of all ages will be the fish tank where, for a small fee, you can sink a hook and catch dinner. The talents of local quilt clubs and area quilters will be displayed at the quilt show. Conditions permitting, Greenbelt Lake activities include a fishing tournament boat and ski show and twilight boat parade. Don't miss the street dance scheduled for Saturday night, 8:00 p.m. until midnight. Sunday bring your lawn chair to the courthouse lawn and be entertained by gospel music.

Monday morning begins with a breakfast at the local VFW hall followed by a memorial ceremony at Citizen's Cemetery at 10:00 a.m. Clarendon Girl Scouts will conduct the ceremony. Closing activity for the festival will be a box lunch auction and patriotic music presentation at the city park.

"Our purpose is starting a festival event is to provide entertainment for area residents and increase tourism in our community. Donley County has much to offer," stated Pat Archuleta, chamber of commerce executive secretary. "Donley County businesses have always been very generous toward our non-profit organizations. With cutbacks in budgets and spending, more and more organizations exclusive rights to concessions is an effort to help them raise needed funds without having to always ask the businesses in our area. As the festival grows from year to year, we believe most non-organizations will be able to raise their entire annual budget during the festival."

Registration fee for the Little Miss/Little Mister Pageant is $20.00, which includes an 8"x10" photo. Parents may enter their little one(s) by sending the name of entrant, entrant's date of birth, name of parent/guardian, phone number, and complete address along with the registration fee to the Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce office, P.O. Box 730, Clarendon, Texas 79226. Booth fee for the arts and crafts fair is $20.00 for each 12'x20' booth space. Reservations for booths must be made in advance and vendors must include a copy of their Texas Sales Tax certificate, as well as a contact person, company name, address, and phone number.

Check It Out

By Mary Beth Nelson

The name, Erma Bombeck, is almost synonymous with humor, wit, and light-hearted subjects. Her death a few weeks ago, continues to leave a void in the world of literature and journalism.

Her down-to-earth writing style presented an amusing approach to every day happenings. The fact that she could laugh at herself allowed readers to identify and take a lighter view of some of their own daily experiences.

Three years ago, in Burton Memorial Library, I came upon an audio cassette of an unusual Bombeck book which I reviewed in this column. Unusual because Erma, herself, at the outset of the book, was uncertain that she could write about such a sensitive subject in a positive way. The following paragraphs are an excerpt from my 1993 article which I think might be appropriate at this time.

One of Erma Bombeck's latest books, I Want To Grow Hair; I Want To Grow Up; I Want To Go To Boise, is very different from her usual writings. It concerns children surviving cancer. She admits she had misgivings about writing the book at first. She wondered if it would be possible to write an optimistic book about cancer. After visiting camps for children with cancer, receiving encouragement from parents, the children, and from people even outside the United States, she felt she had to try. In hearing her voice on tape, the listener recognizes the Bombeck humor, and at the same time, captures the warmth and compassion she has for these children.

After arriving at the first camp, she was invited to sit in on an hour session with teenagers as they shared their feelings. Instead of hearing despair, anger, and fear of the future which she expected to hear, they expressed how they wish people wouldn't pity them, but let them get on with their lives, and how they wanted to be treated like other kids. They let her know how important a sense of humor is to them. Their sense of humor is evident in the situations described by the author throughout the tape. They told her that her book should be funny. The author admits she was almost shocked at their optimism, but soon discovered that "humor and optimism are the things that keep these kids in the main stream of life. Laughing and believing in themselves is, perhaps, the main part of their survival." She described them as "carriers of courage" from which she learned so much.

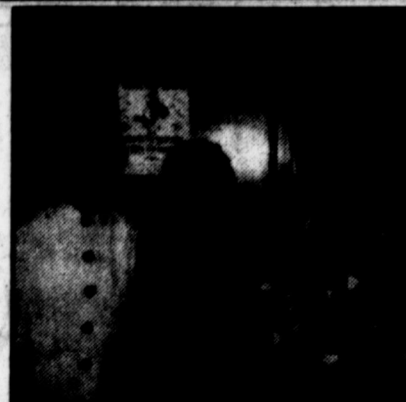

She tells of three year old Crystal in the hospital who told her,

"These people don't know what they're doing. They take blood out of me one day, and put in more another." Another three year old who had lost her hair which was beginning to grow back asked he bald-headed father, "Daddy, is your hair coming or going?" Bombeck said that "laughter seems to rise out of tragedy when it is needed most. Then she related an incident of a "below the knee" amputee whose prosthesis came off in the process of kicking a soccer ball. The child fell on the ground and rolled with laughter. These children handle hair loss in their own way. She tells of a rock group brining a concert to West Virginia. Teenager Lynn, who had experienced hair loss, used magic markers to draw their logo on her head. Everyone thought it was sensational!

Erma Bombeck also relates actions and reactions of parents and how difficult it must be not to overprotect their child with cancer. She speaks of Tony falling while he and his mother were crossing the street. His mother almost became hysterical. "Why can't you walk?" she frantically asked. He calmly looked at her and said, "Mother, my shoestring just came untied."

This review barely touches the many heartwarming things on the tape. At the end, the children's definition of "hope" is related. Then, the author gives her own definition which says: "HOPE is small; sometimes it has two legs; sometimes not; sometimes it has hair; sometimes it's bald; it can laugh and cry in the same breath; it doesn't have to talk; it can share; its very presence has enough to change the course of your life; its name is A CHILD FIGHTING CANCER."

I like to think that Erma's experience with the positive attitudes of children fighting cancer served as an inspiration during her last three years of physical suffering. Incidentally, she continued to write during her final years. Erma Bombeck will be missed.

The Donley County Senior Citizens recognized Mary Lee Noble, Lola Norton, and R.J. Hopper for having had April Birthdays at the April 30 Birthday/Anniversary Supper.

Winning essay expands horizons

Jana Green of Wellington Junior High School wrote the winning essay for Clarendon College's "Expanding Your Horizons" contest. Her subject was Jane C. Wright, an African American medical doctor who specialized in cancer research.

This is the third year Clarendon College sponsored the essay contest for area schools to encourage student interest in science and math. Thirty students in the four schools of Wellington, Hedley, Claude, and Memphis researched and wrote about women scientists.

"When they hear the word 'scientist', young students tend to think of an older man in a white lab coat standing in a laboratory of bubbling flasks," explains Carol Farris of Clarendon College who organized the contests. "Motivating students to learn about the ways science and math are applied by many different people in a variety of fields to solve real life problems helps them think about studying science and math themselves."

Both girls and boys entered the contest this year. The contest rules require that the essay be about a woman who is working in a science or a math related field. "This shows both boys and girls that science is for everyone," Farris added.

Jana Green's prize is a $100 savings bond. Second place prizes of a $50 savings bond were earned by Maria Avalos, Jessica Garcia, Vanessa Langley, and Sarah Ulrey of Wellington Junior High School. Lora Llewellyn of Hedley school wrote a second-prize winning essay about her math teacher, Linda Rowland of Clarendon. Sally Jean Gunter of Claude also wrote a winning entry.

An honorable mention was awarded to Tiffany Day for her expressiveness in writing about her mother.

Nelson Christie, Clarendon College counselor, made the awards to Wellington Junior High School at an assembly attended by their peers. He also gave the winners a key chain to symbolically hang "the key to their future" education on and a new pencil so they'll keep writing.

The contest was advertised by a letter Farris wrote to math, science, and English teachers at the middle-grade schools. Beth Lennon-Ellis, English teacher at Wellington Junior High School, asked the class if they wanted to enter. Her class took it as a project for learning about how to write a research paper that was part of their curriculum.

The scientists most commonly chosen by middle school students are Madam Marie Curie, Sally Ride, Jane Goodall, Marie Mitchell, and Diane Fossey. The woman scientist who is the subject of the winning essay each year cannot be a subject in the next year, in order to encourage students to do deeper research.

"Expanding Your Horizons" is a career exploration project of the Carl D. Perkins Office of Clarendon College.

In the world of competitive fishing, there is an endless pursuit of new products that will enable an angler to catch more fish. This search has led to a revolution in every component of if fishing, even for the occasional angler. Rods are now made of graphite, fishing reels are ball-bearing marvels, and modern fishing lines are virtually unbreakable and nearly invisible.

Still the search continues. New techniques like finesse fishing with light lines are starting to replace the old standbys like doodle socking, flipping, and pitching with thirty pound well rope.

The latest entry into the world of finesse fishing is called "Mojo fishing." Developed and perfected by some fishing guides at Lake Table Rock in Missouri, Mojo is a small 1/4 inch diameter hollow lead cylinder that is pegged with a rubberband approximately eighteen inches above a #1 wire hook.

This rig is very similar to split shotting, except the Mojo weight will not hang up on every blade of grass, clump of moss, or submerged tree branch. Because of the light line (6 or 8 lb. Trilene XL), use a side-arm sweep hook set instead of the traditional cross-his-eyes hook set that is used when fishing a traditional Texas rigged plastic worm.

Does the Mojo work on our West Texas lakes? Yes, indeed. Just ask Randall County's Eric Swirbs, who won last Saturday's Fun Fishing Tournament at Lake Greenbelt with a three-bass limit that weighed 6.94 lbs. During a four hour tournament Eric caught fifteen keepers, and credited the Mojo rig for his victory over 46 other contestants. He enthusiastically recommends the Mojo rig with either a Fish Doctor worm by Zoom Bait Co. or a small four inch ring worm. Best colors are pumpkin, electric blue, and a purple/fire tail.

For his efforts Eric won $470 and a first place trophy. Second place and $235 went to Canyon's Jay (jerk bait) Friemel with 6.86 lbs. Third place prize money of $114 went to Bill (jig-n-pig) Carthel of the Plainview Bass Club with 6.47 lbs. For the record, 40 anglers in field of 47 caught keeper bass during the tournament!

Mojo rigs are available at Anchor Marine in Amarillo, or at most baitshops on Lake Table Rock.

Open Fishing Tournaments: May 16—Thursday evening 6-9pm, Lake Meredith $25 three-bass; and May 18—Sat. morning 6:15am-noon, Lake Baylor $25 three-bass

The search for a magic bait continues, and you are encouraged to join in the fun. Now is the time to go fishing on our local lakes, because the fish are biting. See you on the water....

County Agent certified to train good service managers

Jeanene Sinclair, Family and Consumer Sciences county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has recently been certified to train area food service managers in food safety.

Jeanene Sinclair was one of more than 190 county Extension agents certified as a trainer through the Food Protection Management Training Program sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the National Restaurant Association, Texas Petroleum Marketers and Convenience Store Association and the Texas Department of Health. The train-the-trainer program is designed to bring the latest in food safety information to food service establishments.

As a certified instructor, Jeanene will be offering this information to food managers, who in turn, will train their employees on food safety practices. Once managers have completed the 15-hour course, they will receive a certificate from the National Restaurant Association. They also will be eligible to join the Industry Council on Food Safety and to receive a decal to place in their window, which lets customers know the manager is certified in food safety.

"In addition, food service operations under the Texas Department of Health's jurisdiction that have managers who complete the course will receive a 10 percent reduction in license fees each year while the certification is in effect," Jeanene said.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 24 to 81 million people get sick and more than 10,000 related deaths occur due to food poisoning in the United States each year.

"In most cases, foodborne outbreaks can be prevented if people receive food safety training and learn to follow simple food safety practices," Jeanene said.

"For years, we have been providing consumers with an enormous amount of information on food safety precautions to take when handling food at home," Jeanene said.

"Now, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is joining the food industry to train those who are providing meals for us when we are away from home."

Training materials for the course are being provided by the SERVSAFE Program from The Educational Foundation of the National Restaurant Association. Courses will be offered to food service managers beginning in October.

For more information on the Food Protection Management Training Program, call the Extension Office at 874-2141.

Annual Masonic Pilgrimage set for May 19

On May 19, 1996, Texas Masons will make their annual pilgrimage to the Masonic Oak Park at Brazoria to celebrate the event which ultimately led to the formation of The Grand Masonic Lodge of Texas. The site is a plot of ground of 10 acres divided by a street named Pleasant, with the Masonic Oak near the street on one side and a Pavilion and Park on the other side.

It was under this tree that five Master masons met at 10 a.m. on a day in March, 1835, to compose a petition to the Grand Lodge of Louisiana to form a Masonic Lodge in Texas. It was to be named Holland Lodge after the then Grand Master of Louisiana, John H. Holland. Anson Jones, first Grand Master of Masons in Texas and fourth Governor of the Republic of Texas was to be Master of the Lodge. The petition was granted.

That was the beginning of organized Masonry in Texas and the Grand Masonic Lodge of Texas, which now consists of 149,000 members in 910 Constituent Lodges.

The practice of convening at the Masonic Oak park in Brazoria began in 1949 when members of newly formed Anson Jones Lodge No. 1313 conceived the idea of a day of fellowship and picnic. The month of May was chosen because of the unpredictable weather in March. The idea caught on and became an annual pilgrimage, occurring now on the Sunday after Mother's Day.

Ward graduates from DPS Academy

Chris Ward of Childress was among 116 trooper cadets who graduated recently from the Texas Department of Public Safety's 109th Training Academy.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock addressed the graduating class at the Frank Erwin Center on the University of Texas campus in Austin. DPS Director Col. James R. Wilson and Lt. Col. Dudley Thomas also participated in the ceremony along with DPS training officers.

The cadets entered the Academy in October and completed 1,182 hours of instruction - more than twice the training required by the Texas Commission on Law Officer Standards and education. The cadets received instruction in criminal law, traffic law, arrest procedures, accident investigation, first aid, and other law enforcement subjects as well as classes aimed at developing self-esteem and goal setting skills.

"Getting into the Academy is not an easy task," said Capt. Mark Warren, assistant commander of the DPS Academy. Every recruit school receives about 4,000 applications from men and women all across Texas and the United States. Those applicants are narrowed to about 500. Troopers then personally investigate those who made the first cut. Personality and psychological tests were given to narrow the applicants to the 116 who graduated today.

Trooper Ward will be assigned to the Highway Patrol in Canyon.

Archuleta finishes first year with C of C

The Chamber of Commerce is celebrating one year since hiring Pat Archuleta as Executive Secretary according to a press release from the chamber.

President Don Stone said, "We are fortunate to have Pat's energy and commitment to furthering the development of our area through her dedication and attention to details. Things have a way of 'sliding by' unless a capable person keeps the Board on track, and Pat has been that person."

A highlight of the year includes a thirty-three percent expansion of the membership with individual memberships making up most of the growth.

The Chamber of Commerce has had a greater presence at state and regional meetings, training sessions, and events since Archuleta began to represent local interests.

The daily work of the executive secretary is to publicize the attractions and opportunities offered locally, to answer queries from outsiders such as tourists and new or relocating businesses, and to promote Chamber events. "It's been a real learning opportunity for me," Archuleta said.

One of the events this year was the successful annual awards dinner, attended by over 300 people. The recent community clean-up effort and last summer's Trade Days also required a great deal of preparation.

The committee structure of the Chamber of Commerce was strengthened, and numerous activities and planning are building from that base. The Memorial Day Festival "Celebration LIFE!" chaired by Anna Gay Ceniceros is a visible example. Many activities, both accomplished and still in the planning stages, are the result of Archuleta's facilitating of the August planning retreat. Many members were motivated to become more involved and enabled to see places to use their talents because the two-day event provided a opportunity to discuss concerns and issues in depth.

The Chamber of Commerce has also facilitated the grant of $4,880 to the Clarendon CORE Coalition to provide leadership training and community assessment for the North Ward community.

Future activities Archuleta anticipates are completing the community health assessment members of the CORE Coalition trained to perform in San Antonio providing leadership forums for students, adults, and community leaders, and facilitating a strategic community planning.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these procedures if you have a concern about:

- *the value placed on your property;
- *exemptions that may apply to you;
- *cancellation of agricultural appraisal;
- *whether your property is taxable;
- *which local governments should be taxing your property; or
- *you think the appraisal district has done something else that adversely affected you.

Your Appraisal District staff urges you to review the value records of your property at any time prior to the day of the Appraisal Review Board Hearings tentatively set for July 12, 1996, in the Donley County Courthouse Annex. Some protests result from errors or misconceptions which we are pleased to correct.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board: If you can't resolve your problem informally with the appraisal district staff, you may have your case heard by the appraisal review board.

The appraisal review board (ARB) is an independent board of citizens that reviews problems with appraisals and other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the appraisal district to make the necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for a hearing. You'll receive written notification of the time, date, and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make its decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the appraisal district office at the Donley County Courthouse Annex, P.O. Box 1220, Clarendon 79226; phone 806-874-2744.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact ARB members outside of the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

Review by the District Court: After it decides your case, the ARB must send you a copy of its order by certified mail. If you're not satisfied with the decision you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at $1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 15 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More information: You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at the Donley County Courthouse Annex, P.O. Box 1220, Clarendon 79226; phone 806-874-2744. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at P O Box 13528, Austin, TX 78711-3528.

DEADLINE FOR FILING PROTESTS WITH THE ARB*

Usual Deadline: On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later).

Late protests are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have good cause.

Late protests are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadlines: For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of determination was mailed to you.

For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of a change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest you filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.

If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (usually Feb. 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

*The deadline is postponed to the next business day if it falls on a weekend or holiday.
