WSSA Honors James Graham

At the awards banquet of the Weed Science Society of America (WSSA) in Norfolk, Virginia on February 7, 1996 Dr. James C. Graham was made a Fellow.

James C. Graham was born and raised on a farm in Texas. He attended Clarendon College for two years. He received his B.S. degree from Texas Technological University and his graduate degrees from the University of Wisconsin, working with John Bandeen, Henry Vostral, and Cy Kust. Dr. Graham joined Monsanto in 1966 as the first full-time employee of a new research program on plant growth regulators.

In 1974, he changed from research to product development in the northeastern US. He worked on Lasso and Roundup primarily with extension and research personnel in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Maine. Dr. Graham moved into research management in 1977 and has held various research and product development positions.

Since 1993, Dr. Graham has been Director of Technology for Monsanto Europe based in Brussels. He served as president-elect and President of the Northeastern Weed Science Society and was elected Distinguished Member in 1993. Dr. Graham has been an active member of WSSA, serving on

Williams brings home 3 track medals for CHS

Junior Roy Williams took home three medals, and James Hoggatt posted a spectacular time in the 800 meter for a second place finish in Saturday's Panther Relays in Panhandle.

Hoggatt ran a 2:07 in the 800 meters - a personal best. "He did a great job," head coach Kent Allison said.

Williams - a competitor at the state level last year - brought home a first place medal in the 400 meters despite only a few days of practice in his specialty race.

He had been held out of track until late last week because of a foot injury.

The junior phenom also posted second place finishes in the 100 meters and the 200 meters.

Hoggatt, Evan Williams, Kareem Abdullah, and Scott Bivens ran to a sixth place finish in the 1600 meter relay with a time of 3:43.

Clint Green and Oren Shields teamed with Williams and Abdullah in the sprint relay for a sixth place finish with a time of 46.3.

In his first pole vaulting competition at the high school level, freshman Blake Bass sailed to a height of 10 feet and came in fourth place in the junior varsity division.

"We've still got a lot of room for improvement," Allison said. "We need to get our conditioning improved and our legs ready."

The Bronchos travel to Spur Friday for the Spur Quadrangular meet. Field events begin at 2:30 p.m. and running events kick off at 5 p.m.

Thompson, Sims winners in primaries

Randall Sims narrowly won reelection to his seat as 100th District Attorney in what was one of the most talked about local races in Tuesday's primaries.

Sims, who is from Wellington, edged out Childress attorney Earl Griffin by a measure of 56% to 44% in the Democratic Primary.

But the results in Donley County did not reflect those of the 100th Judicial District as a whole. Griffin carried the local vote by a slim margin of 52% to 48%.

Locally Donley County saw only two contested races. Sheriff Jimmy Thompson ran away with his race, beating challenger Buddy Ford by a margin of 61% to 38%.

College's livestock judging team wins Houston contest

For the first time in the school's history, the Clarendon College Livestock Judging Team has swept both the Fort Worth and Houston national contests.

Coach Jerry Hawkins' troops won the prestigious Fort Worth contest in February, and they followed that stellar performance in early March by racking up 3,660 total points to outdistance Casper College by 27 points for the Houston title.

The contest was held in the Steer Ring adjacent to the Houston Astrodome.

"There is no official national poll for judging like football or basketball," explained Dr. Scott Elliott, Clarendon College president, "but since our judging team won Fort Worth and Houston back-to-back, I think it's indisputable that Clarendon College is the national community college judging champion for 1995-96. My heartiest congratulations to Coach Hawkins and all the team members. We are very proud of you."

Although Hawkins' 1993 team strung together impressive victories in the Phoenix, Denver, and Fort Worth contests, this year's team is the first-ever to sweep the two major Texas prizes.

Hawkins characterized winning the two contests in succession as "highly improbable for any college."

no matter how good you are." "Once you win Fort Worth," Hawkins said, "the pressure just continues to build up to the Houston contest. It's very difficult to win those two contests back to back because everything has to fall into place for you. Our team was good, and we were also lucky."

Members of the winning team were Mandy Stanfield, Clovis, N.M.; Kelby Cowley, Abilene; Joe Chavez, Torreon, N.M.; Kevin Potter, New Plymouth, Idaho; Cody Dennison, Waller, Justin Dauer, Portales, N.M.; Trevor Tuell, Yuma, Colo.; and Lesley Tibbels, Mansfield.

Stanfield, a 4.0 student throughout high school and college, finished as the top individual scorer for the contest. Potter took third place, and Tuell came in fifth. In individual contests, Stanfield captured first in placing, third in sheep and fourth in reasons.

"I am very proud of this bunch of young people," Hawkins said. "They have been successful because they're highly intelligent and dedicated, and they all came to Clarendon with a good background in livestock. I believe they will emerge as leaders in the livestock industry in the coming years. They are students with solid work ethics and character and have been excellent representatives of Clarendon College." Hawkins' crew dominated the contest across the board, taking firsts in sheep, cattle, and placing, and second in reasons. CC also took fifth in horses.

In an entirely separate contest, Clarendon finished second in the meats contest, a remarkable showing for a team that was just started in January. Fourteen teams entered the competition.

Clarendon took first in placing and lambs; second in pork; and third in beef.

Members of the meats team were Derrick Martinez, Floydada; Julie Pound, Socorro, N.M.; Jonathan Lujan, Torreon, N.M.; Jeremy Blount, White Deer; and Will Edwards, Aspermont. Coaches were Jerry Hawkins, Jo Bonny LeCompte and Coach Jarrod Usery.

Edwards took first in lambs, second in placing, and fifth in beef and questions to finish third individually.

"Our meats team came a long way in a short time to finish second in a national contest," Hawkins said. "I think this program will continue

CJH students participate in Mind Odyssey

Seven students from Clarendon Junior High School attended the regional competition of Odyssey of the Mind held at Amarillo High School on Saturday, March 2, 1996.

John Carroll, Lindsey Shelton, Jared Hartman, Sam Holton, David Hall, Chris Gandy, and Catherine Chamberlain participated in the Amusin' Cruisin' problem which required them to build a vehicle which would visit two theme park attractions.

These students had spent several weeks building a battery powered vehicle which they decorated as a bloodcell to carry oxygen (O₂). Jared Hartman through the heart to the lungs and to the brain. They also had to create the stage props to represent the heart, lungs, and brain and to develop songs and skits to entertain O₂ as he was making his journey. The vehicle was powered by a twelve volt battery-driven hand drill.

The team received fourth place at the contest, and Jared Hartman was given the Outstanding Omer Award for his effort in trying to make the car complete its course after the vehicle was stalled by some wayward "fat deposits" which became entangled in the wheels and drill. In spite of the fact that the car "stalled," the judges were very impressed with the quality of the creativity which went into the project.

Vandals take country road warning signs

Vandals recently caused more than $1,000 worth of damage to highway signs in Donley County according to Sheriff Jimmy Thompson.

The heaviest area hit was on FM 2162 where the suspects removed mileage signs, a yield sign, a speed limit sign, and several warning signs. The damage was reported to the Sheriff's Dept. on Feb. 28, 1996, and total loss was estimated at $695.

"When they found out we were on to them, they took those signs and threw them in the lake," Sheriff Thompson said of the offenders.

Deputies arrested six persons in connection with the FM 2162 crimes: Brian Heath Wilhite, age 20; Brandon Lee Weaver, age 18; Jeff Bontke, age 19; Cody Pittman, age 19; Jason Fuqua, age 19; and Brian P. Gruntmier, age 19.

In another incident, damage was also reported on FM 1260 on March 1, 1996. Warning signs and markers worth $337 were vandalized.

Deputies arrested David Ross Latham, age 20; and a juvenile (whose name cannot be released by law) in connection with this crime.

All of the suspects will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, Thompson said.

"The saddest part of this is that these kids will carry this criminal record with them the rest of their lives. They just don't think of the consequences."

Bush names Pittman to state board

Bill Pittman, son of Roberta Pittman and formerly of Clarendon has been appointed to a six year term on the Texas State Board of Pharmacy by George W. Bush.

Pittman grew up in Clarendon and attended Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior College. He graduated from the University of Texas College of Pharmacy with a BS degree in pharmacy in June of 1956 and began his pharmacy career in Amarillo following service in the US Army.

Bill and Vivian have a daughter, Robin, who is a homemaker in San Antonio with her husband, Mark, and two year old daughter, Caroline. Their son, Todd, is an artist who resides in New York City.

Pittman currently owns and manages three professional pharmacies in Austin. Additionally, he is a Senior Partner in Script-Tech Professional Services, which is a pharmacy brokerage, appraisal, and consulting firm he founded in December of 1985.

He currently serves as a market consultant, appraiser, senior advisor, pharmacy expert witness, and analyst for Script-Tech Professional Services. When necessary, Pittman works the

The Evolution Of A Newspaper

With the coming of Donley County's first settlement at the junction of Carroll Creek and Salt Fork some five miles north of the present site of Clarendon in June of 1878, also came Donley's first newspaper. No settlement could hope to succeed without the aid of a newspaper to tell of the wonderful advantages.

L.H. Carhart, industrious leader of the colony, being without a printer in the colony, made arrangements to have his monthly periodical printed in Wisconsin. Often the publication failed to arrive, and thus ultimately became a monthly or bi-monthly journal as fate decreed. The name of the publication was The Clarendon News, and it had the distinction of being the first newspaper in the Panhandle of Texas.

When the Ft. Worth and Denver railway was completed in Henrietta, the paper was printed at that point, though a few issues were printed at Sherman. With the advance of civilization the publication office came nearer home. A small job press was secured about 1882, and the small sheet was printed at Old Clarendon until the Denver railway reached the point where Clarendon is now situated.

Mr. Carhart then turned the arduous duties of publication for the enlightenment of the world over to other parties. His brother, E.E. Carhart, took charge of the office.

In 1889, after The Clarendon News had become defunct along with the Old Clarendon, there came to the new town one B. Wilson Edgell who established The Clarendon Traveler. Four years later, Del Harrington became the owner by purchase and changed the name of the paper to The Industrial West.

Within a year, he disposed of the paper to W.P. Blake in 1893, who again changed the name of the paper to The Clarendon Chronicle in 1903.

Blake issued a hand-set weekly filled with reading matter that was both fair and forceful bringing down upon his head both commendation and condemnation, but he stood put on every issue for the betterment of his town and trade territory.

After operating the Chronicle as a profitable investment for a period of 16 years, Blake sold the paper to A.M. Beville and his son Haywood in 1909. The new owners changed the name to The Clarendon News. Their paper carried the words "New Series" along with their volume number to distinguish the publication from the one that had been printed in the old town.

In 1890, R.W. Kenyon established The Clarendon Journal and went into competition with Blake's Chronicle. Within a short time, Kenyon sold out to Bob Edgell (the original publisher of the Traveler) who changed the name from Journal to Banner. John Esten Cooke became the moving spirit in the paper and soon gained controlling interest in it. During his tenure, the name became the Banner-Stockman.

In April 1908, Alvis Weatherly and James Trent established The Clarendon Times and bought the Banner-Stockman complete and discontinued its publication in October 1909.

The owners of the Times purchased the Beville interests in The Clarendon News in about 1910, and they retained the name of the News. Thus a period of 13 years of competing newspapers came to an end.

Joe M. Warren soon purchased The Clarendon News and made a success of it thanks in large part to the efforts of his daughter, Miss Letta.

Sam Braswell purchased the News in 1917. With Braswell at the helm, The Clarendon News was very active in the community and its development. He sold his interests in the paper to F.L. Williams in 1935.

In 1929, J.C. Estlack established The Donley County Leader and went into competition with Braswell's News. Estlack had purchased the printery of W.P. Blake a decade earlier. The Leader force, as the editor liked to refer to his staff, consisted of Estlack, his wife, and his five sons.

In 1950, two of the sons, Alfred and George Wayne, purchased their mother's interest in the Leader from her estate. In 1951, they also purchased J.C. Estlack's remaining interest in the paper. Prior to the death of Alfred Estlack in 1958, he and George Wayne purchased the remains of The Clarendon News in about 1945. Combined that paper with The Donley County Leader, and both names were carried in the nameplate.

In 1972, Dean Singleton, in partnership with Carol Koch and Ed Eakin, started The Clarendon Press. In October 1974, Jerry Sparks was hired to be the editor-publisher of the Press.

After being printed every week for 45 years by the Estlack family, The Donley County Leader was sold by George Wayne and Ruby Dell Estlack to the owners of The Clarendon Press. The Estlacks retained the printing and office supply business that they had owned since 1919.

The Clarendon Press became the only paper in town, although Sparks did attempt to print the Leader on Sundays for a short time.

The paper then went through a series of editors over a short period of time. The only constant during this time was Helen Woody in her position as general manager.

In August of 1978, Helen purchased The Clarendon Press, along with the holdings of The Clarendon News and The Donley County Leader, from Koch and Eakin. Jeanice Weatherly continued as editor until mid 1981.

In 1989, Robert and Lynne Williams purchased the paper from Helen Woody. In January 1990, the new owners changed the name of the paper to The Clarendon News. They started this third series under the News nameplate citing studies that showed "tourists placed historical interest at the top of their list." The new publishers said they hoped to help attract tourism by the name change.

On October 1, 1995, Roger Estlack purchased The Clarendon News, along with the holdings of The Donley County Leader and The Clarendon Press. Among the many design changes he implemented was the addition of the words "Third Series" to volume and number of paper. This action was to distinguish the paper's numbering system from the first and second series of the News.

On March 14, 1996, (sixty-seven years after his great grandfather started his paper) Estlack changed the name of the paper to The Clarendon Enterprise, running the names of the News and the Leader in the new nameplate and retaining the numbering system of the News.

The history of Clarendon's newspapers is a compiled work that stretches across several generations. The bulk of the work was written down in the late 1930s by W.P. Blake, who published The Clarendon Chronicle in the late 1890s and early 1900s. The history was updated in 1971 by G.W. Estlack. Helen Woody added The Clarendon Press to the history in 1981 for her "Donley County Centennial Edition." Bob Williams included his role in the history in 1989, and Roger Estlack again updated the history and reconciled the various versions in 1996.

Welcome to The Clarendon Enterprise!

The paper you are reading today is proof positive that dreams can come true and that the American Dream in particular is alive and well. I have wanted to do this for several years now, and it has finally happened with a great deal of hard work from many people.

The name Enterprise was chosen for many reasons. One of which is that I like the name. Another reason is simply the definition of the word. Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary says:

en-ter-prise 'en-ter-priz n (15c) 1: a project or undertaking that is esp. difficult, complicated, or risky 2: readiness to engage in daring action - INITIATIVE 3 a: a unit of economic organization or activity; esp: a business organization b: a systemic purposeful activity <agriculture is the main economic - among these people> en-ter-prise-ing adj (1611) - marked by an independent energetic spirit and by readiness to undertake or experiment

Surely no other word could more completely describe the history of Clarendon and its prospects for the future. Our pioneering forefathers had to be very daring to risk starting a Christian colony in the middle of a wilderness hundreds of miles from civilization. That same spirit had to be called on again when the decision was made to move the town five miles south to the site of the railroad.

Clarendon has always stepped up to look adversity square in the face and then spit in its eye. That spirit continues today as we prepare to meet the challenges and opportunities of the 21st Century. It is our intention that the Enterprise will see us through those challenges and help us take advantage of those opportunities.

So hold on to your newspapers, folks. We're taking off...

The Restoration

When we started making plans for the Enterprise, we wanted to have something of a tribute to all those in whose footsteps we follow. Certainly the written history of the newspaper in Clarendon would be a part of that, but we wanted to do something spectacular as well.

The tribute display you see on the following page is what we finally came up with. We are using that display not only to trumpet our new endeavor but also to celebrate our past.

All of the nameplates you see on page three are authentic except the Journal and the Banner: no copies of those early papers have survived. For those we did have, some were easy to reproduce for this issue, others were very difficult. The Banner-Stockman was particularly trying since the best issue we could find on microfilm was torn in three places.

In each instance, the best possible copy of the paper was found and photocopied or imaged from microfilm. The nameplates were then scanned so they could be digitally restored on our computer.

The restoration process took approximately 64 man-hours at the computer and involved digitally cleaning, filling, and recreating, pixel by pixel in some cases, logos and typestyles that had not been used for as long as 100 years. The design of the layout then took additional time.

We have printed six examples of the restoration with this story to allow the reader to see what was done.

It should be noted that despite all our hard work, we could not include all of the newspapers Donley County has seen. The Hodley Informer and Herald, the Wick, the Clarco and the Bulldog Banner of Clarendon College, the CHS Clarion, the prohibitionist Agitator, the Donley County Pluck, the North Donley News, and the Panhandle Missionary were all regrettably left out of this tribute. The vital roles of these other publications should not be overlooked when examining the colorful history of our county.

Our Change

We this week change the name and make-up of our paper.

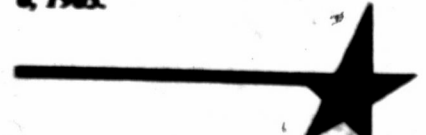

In the first place, the name of the paper cause it to be frequently misunderstood, and the name not having the word Clarendon in it, quotations from it frequently leaves a doubt in the mind of those at a distance as to where it is published. It is largely quoted, and we want all who read the quotations to know it comes from Clarendon, hence we change the name from THE INDUSTRIAL WEST TO THE CLARENDON CHRONICLE.

The main feature will be to "chronicle" events. Politically, it will be independent, reserving the right to support such measures and candidates as it believes will best serve the public and advance the interests of our country. We have the best equipped office for quick and efficient service, and while we propose to give this to both subscriber and advertiser, we only ask such patronage as you think our enterprise merits, and such will be duly appreciated.

-W.P. Blake, The Clarendon Chronicle, Vol. 15, No. 6, February 6, 1903.

"Good-bye, Grandma"

It's about 2 a.m. Monday, and I'm sitting here thinking about my Grandma. Tomorrow I'll be boarding an airplane in Dallas to say farewell to a wonderful lady who loved me, set an example for me, and taught me something of life.

The telephone rang about 4 Sunday afternoon, and I thought nothing of it. Probably just one of Scotty's friends wanting him to shoot some hoops at the schoolyard.

But the shaky voice on the other end of the line immediately signaled something was very wrong. "Scott," the voice quivered. "It's your Dad, and I've got some bad news. Grandma's gone."

She was 93, and on Sunday morning had taken a bad spill in her nursing home room. The fall apparently ignited some serious internal bleeding, causing her tired heart to race and her blood pressure to plummet. She fought the good fight for several hours, then finally succumbed as my Mom and Dad kept a bedside vigil.

There was little the doctors could do, and ultimately they turned their attentions as much to my grieving mother as to my grandmother. "Your mother is in serious, serious condition," they informed my mom. "Is there anything we can do for you?"

"No," my mother answered. "It's all in God's hands now."

And so Grandma remains.

She was a strong-willed gal to last as long as she did. Hers might have been characterized as an existence, more than a life, in recent years. Watching such evolve caused a terrible feeling of helplessness within us. It was hardest of all on my mother, especially the day Grandma was admitted into the nursing home, beyond the scope of care she could be afforded by family members.

In November I returned to Florida for three days to culminate some official business at Central Florida Community College, from which I came to Clarendon. Grandma was some three hours away in Vero Beach, and I might have rented a car and made the drive one evening.

I decided against it, rationalizing that, "I'll get to see Grandma again this summer when we return to Florida for vacation."

Now, it's too late to say good-bye. Summer never came for Grandma, and I guess I'll have to learn to live with that.

But when that hurt subsides, and I know it will one day, I'll be left with some fond memories. Of going to Grandma's house for the holidays. Of Grandma's giant hugs. Of Grandma greeting me with, "How's my big boy?" Of Grandma, who never completed high school, crying the day I became "Dr. Scott Elliott," and her calling it, "the proudest day of my life."

A Grandma's love is unconditional. She never had to be the disciplinarian, as that naturally fell to my own parents. All she ever had to do was love me, and she did that completely.

So, Grandma, if you're reading this column - and you always were proud of the way I strung words together - I'm sorry that I didn't get to see you again before God called you away.

I'm sorry for all the times I forgot to send you a birthday card when I was a young and self-centered buck. I'm sorry for the times I visited you in the nursing home and couldn't wait to race out of that dank, sad place, leaving you behind so I wouldn't have to face the reality of your plight. Most of all, I'm sorry that I never really told you how important you were to me.

But, Grandma, I love you, and I know you'll always continue to watch over me.

Please tell Grandpa I said, "Hello." I'll see you in God's own time.

Pittman has been a member of Texas Pharmacist Association, as well as pharmacy owner for 33 years. He was formerly appointed to a six year term on the Texas State Board of Pharmacy by Governor Bill Clements in 1979.

He was named the Texas Pharmacist of the Year by TPA in 1995.

During his former tenure on the Board of Pharmacy, Bill served as President, Vice President, and Treasurer of the Board in addition to serving on the NABP Advisory Committee on Examinations and the NABP Review Committee.

Pittman is an ardent supporter of the Texas Pharmacist Recovery Network, having been involved with the program from its inception. He has worked in the program by intervening with Austin area pharmacists who have had problems with drugs or alcohol.

Believing that pharmacists should "get into politics or get out of pharmacy," Pittman has become an ardent supporter of PAL and TPA's Pharmacy Lobby Day. He is actively involved with many levels of politics, having served most recently as the statewide Chairman of "Pharmacists for Bush" in the successful 1994 Texas gubernatorial race.

Pittman has supported the YMCA, participating in the "Y-Indian Guides" program where he served one year as Nation Chief, developed a program and lectured in the area schools during the early days of "Drug Abuse Education," and served two years on the Mayor's Urban Renewal Committee.

Pittman served as chairman of the River Road Development Board which brought industry to the area and as Chairman of the River Road High School Evaluation Committee on Special Education, as well as participated as a frequent assistant in Troop 80, Boys Scouts of America.

Additionally, he has served as a sponsor of the fourth grade class at the First Baptist Church and on the Insurance Committee of Hyde Park Baptist Church.

In addition to membership in TPA, Pittman is active in the National Association of Retail Druggists, American Pharmaceutical Association, West Texas Pharmaceutical Association, National Association of Master Appraisers, Capitol Area Pharmaceutical Association, and he currently serves as a Trustee of the Texas Pharmacy Foundation.

Pittman is currently serving as a member of the National Steering Committee on Discriminatory Pricing Litigation.

He is a life member of the UT Ex-Students Association, the Gamma Gamma Chapter of Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity, and of the UT College of Pharmacy Alumni Association, and was recently named a Fellow of the Prestigious American College of Apothecaries.

The girls are the granddaughters of Donna and Larry Hicks of Clarendon and Jerry and Ruth Ann Taylor of El Sauz Ranch, San Perita, Texas.

Great grandparents are the late Homer and Athlyn Estlack and Bill and Rowena Allen, all formerly of Clarendon. Maternal great grandmother is Elizabeth Hemphill of Coleman.

Great great grandparents were J.C. and Maggie Mae Estlack, who founded the Donley County Leader sixty-seven years ago this week; J.C. and Della Mae Drennan; Stinnie Sam and Lizzie Lou Allen; and Jesse and Bessie Woods, all formerly of Clarendon. Great great great grandparents formerly of Clarendon were Daniel and Clista Estlack and William and Sara Patman.

Elections:

Incumbent Steve Reynolds handily defeated challenger Frank Hommel for the Precinct 1 commissioner's seat. Reynolds will face Republican Randy White in the November general election.

White is believed to be the first Republican to run for Donley County's Commissioners' Court in its 100+ year history.

Turn out for the primaries were very low. Early estimations Tuesday night indicated that about 44% of registered voters in Donley County went to the polls.

Texas means "friendly." And now, in keeping with this long standing tradition as the Friendship State, Clarendon, Texas, will be given a far-ranging transfusion of new energy with hospitality training programs for local businesses here.

Employee training workshops, which are aimed to sharpen front-line employee hospitality habits, are scheduled for Tuesday, March 26 from 1:00-4:30 p.m. and Thursday, March 28 from 6:00 - 9:30 p.m. at the first United Methodist Church. The training is sponsored by the Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce. Register by calling Pat at (806) 874-2421 or 874-2475.

Texas Hospitality Training is a state wide training program to teach service employees and managers the fundamental skills and management concepts needed for achieving satisfied and repeat customers. It was developed by the Extension program of the Department of Recreation, Park and Tourism Sciences at Texas A&M University with support funding from the Texas Department of Commerce and the Southwestern Bell Foundation.

Conducting the workshops are Pat Archuleta and Joann Harwell who completed the two day, Texas Hospitality Instructor Training in October, 1995. Archuleta is the executive secretary of the Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce. Harwell is the director of the Oldham County Chamber of Commerce.

Whether you are an owner, manager, or an employee of any business in our community, customer satisfaction is extremely important and you are a major player that will benefit from Texas Hospitality Training in terms of developing new concepts and skills to better serve your customer. Satisfied customers mean repeat and referral business.

Registration fee is $7.50 to cover the cost of the materials and facilities used to conduct the training. Please make checks payable to the Clarendon-Donley County Chamber of Commerce.

Helpline services available in the Clarendon area

CONTACT, a free active listening program, now offers its services in the Clarendon area because of a grant from the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health.

The CONTACT program has been in Lubbock for 25 years. It is a volunteer crisis line, help line, talk line - an investment in the physical and emotional health in the South Plains area. Each year CONTACT receives thousand of calls from people who are depressed, lonely, afraid, confused, desperate, or suicidal. It is anonymous and confidential. Their phone workers are trained listeners and can act as a listening ear for people who cannot afford or get to a counselor. The line is active 24 hours per day, 7 days a week. All callers get a live listener, no machines.

Their 24 hour toll free number is 1-800-886-4351. They also have a TEENLINE available 6-10 p.m. weekdays or 6-12 p.m. on weekends at (806) 765-7272.

Check It Out

By Mary Beth Nelson

Some of us, while selecting a new book to read for pleasure, possibly have a tendency to check the "Best Seller" list and all of Burton Memorial Library's brand new books as our first priority. When did you last search the shelves for some of those "golden oldies" providing just as much interest and action?

If you've never read novelist, Elswyth Thane, you're missing something. Thane, wife of Dr. William Beebe, noted naturalist, explorer, and author, has written fiction, non-fiction, and two plays which might interest drama readers. Her collection is on a top shelf at the back of the library.

In her fiction, Thane writes with a certain charm as she individualizes her characters in a way which seems to make them come alive. I won't attempt to give titles of all her books but will focus on a series of seven known as the "Williamsburg Novels" which includes the elements of emotion, humor, suspense, and light romance set against various historical periods.

Each of the seven individual books provides interest on its own. However, historical fiction fans would probably receive more reading satisfaction if the books are read in chronological sequence since the novels involve several generations of the fic-

It's another boy

Garrett has been waiting for this his new red headed cousin. Brooks Crae Owens arrived on March 1, 1996 at 5:33 a.m. He weighed 7 pounds 15 ounces and was 20 3/4 inches long.

He was welcomed by parents James and Traci Owens of Tulia, Aunt Lisa, cousin Garrett, Papaw and Nanno (Ray and Cheryl Burch), Memaw (Great Grandmother Ann Bunyan) all of Clarendon, and great grandmother Mildred Burch of Amarillo, and step sister and brother Lacci and Copper Owens of Amarillo.

Paternal grandparents are Darlene and Cody Coday, great grandmother Violet Brooks, Aunt Nikkie Symmonds, C.J., and Winter of Aztec, New Mexico, and Aunt Michelle Barton of Puyallup, Washington.

titious Sprague, Crabb, Day, and Murray families.

Dawn's Early Light is the first of the Williamsburg novels, and it begins with the arrival of Julian Day in Yorktown, Virginia, from Southampton in 1774. Talented author, Elswyth Thane, creates marriages, families, and suspenseful events through American Revolutionary years until a smooth transition is made into her second novel, Yankee Stranger. With increasing drama, the same families are involved as the southern belle marries a northern soldier during the Civil War period.

Thane's two following novels are Ever After, beginning with Christmas 1896, and The Light Heart with a 1902 beginning.

The final three in the Williamsburg series are titled Kissing Kin, This Was Tomorrow, and Homeing. They fictitiously continue through the years, 1917-1941. The historical background of World War I and II intermitted with peaceful years contribute to the warmth, evident through humor and emotion of the characters, and nostalgia to readers who actually experienced those years.

The Williamsburg novels are only a sample of historical fiction waiting to be discovered in the Burton Memorial Library. Why not check it out?

Laura Mae Hukill Brunson

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura Mae Hukill Brunson, age 84, were held at 2:00 p.m. on Monday, March 9, 1996, in the First United Methodist Church in Claude with Rev. Buddy Payne, Pastor, officiating. Interment was in Claude Cemetery with arrangements under the direction of Robertson Funeral Directors, Inc., of Clarendon.

Mrs. Brunson died at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 9, 1996, in Palo Duro Nursing Home in Claude following a short illness. She was born March 7, 1912, in Long Pine, Nebraska, and came from Valentine, Nebraska, to Claude in 1927. Except for 26 years, she had lived in Claude since that time. She married William Roy Brunson on November 25, 1928, in Claude. She was a homemaker and a member of the First United Methodist Church in Claude.

Survivors include her husband, Roy Brunson of Claude; two daughters, Ruth Robison of Amarillo, Norma Lambert of Red River, New Mexico; two sons, Jimmy Brunson of Lubbock and Johnny Brunson of Red River, New Mexico; one sister, Willie Joyce Petree of Rogers, Arkansas; 8 grandchildren; 10 great grandchildren; and one great great granddaughter.

Casket bearers were Mark Robison, Dale Robison, Brandon Brunson, Bradley Brunson, Jeff Brunson, and Richard Hefley.

Sidney J.Y. Dodson

Graveside funeral services for Sidney J.Y. Dodson were held at Muskogee, Oklahoma, at 11:00 on Tuesday, February 20, 1996 at Greenhill Cemetery with Rev. Frank Andrus, officiating. Burial was in Green Hill Cemetery at Muskogee, Oklahoma.

He was born on the J.Y. Ranch at Paducah on February 5, 1908, where his dad worked at the time. He was named after the J.Y. Ranch at the request of Mr. Masterson who owned the ranch. He lived at the Dodson Farm east of Hedley until 1964. He went to Muskogee to take care of his dad until his death.

He was preceded in death by one sister and three brothers.

Survivors include his sisters Ruth Walls and Alice Kalka of Amarillo, Christine Harden and Maybell Walls of Stanwood, Washington, and Louise Stewart of Hedley; and by a special friend, Mary Morrow, of Muskogee, Oklahoma.

Friendship Club to meet

The Howardwick Friendship Club will meet on Friday, March 15 for a covered dish supper at 7:00 p.m. Sheriff Jimmy Thompson is scheduled to speak.

The Lions Tale

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, March 5, 1996, at the Lions Hall. Twenty members and two guests enjoyed a delicious Italian dinner topped off with strawberry shortcake.

While the members were eating, Boss Lion Johnson distributed forms for the members to nominate three delegates to the District 2 T-1 Convention. He also asked each member to write the name of a prospective member on the bottom of the form.

Following the meal and the regular opening ceremony, Lion Tamer Henson introduced the guests including Russell Estlack, who was the guest of Lion Allen Estlack and Paula Jo Johnson, the wife of the Boss Lion. She was the guest of the club because she was filling in on the music for Lion Sweetheart Dee Williams, who was absent.

One item of business was handled. Lion Elliott extended an invitation to the members to attend the Small College National Basketball Tournament at Highland Park School in Amarillo on Monday, March 11 at 6:00 p.m. to encourage the Clarendon College Bulldogs. The meeting was adjourned.

Compost Corner

By Bob McCombs, Recycling Coordinator

Composting Do's and Don'ts

Do mix a variety of other vegetative food scraps with grass clippings and leaves. Clippings tend to compact, which may inhibit the flow of air through the pile.

Do keep the pile damp, but never soggy.

Don't use the compost from a pile until the composting process is complete. Unfinished compost may take nitrogen away from your plants instead of acting as a fertilizer.

Don't add fish, meat, dairy products, bones, fatty foods, or grease to your compost pile. These food scraps

Farewell reception scheduled for Zach Wilcox

The public is invited to attend a farewell reception honoring Zach Wilcox on Friday, March 15, 1996 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., in the old Courthouse. Zach has served as County Agent Agriculture for the past 2-1/2 years. He will be taking his new job in Sweetwater, Texas, effective immediately. Everyone is encouraged to come by and say good-bye.

OCU Chorale will perform at local church

The Oklahoma Christian University Chorale, a select group of 38 singers, will perform at the Clarendon Church of Christ on Friday, March 15 at 7:30 p.m.

This concert is one of several on the Chorale's spring tour through Colorado and Texas. A variety of music will be performed, including spirituals, hymn arrangements, folk songs, children's songs, and sacred and secular choral works by composers of all eras.

The Chorale has been conducted by Dr. Ken L. Adams for more than twenty years. Under his direction, the Chorale has toured throughout the United States and in Mexico and Europe. In addition to singing a choral masterworks with orchestra each fall, the Chorale has performed with Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra and the Oklahoma Community Orchestra.

My Indispensable Tool For Spring Fishing

In an era of computer gizmos and technological leaps, the average angler now owns a boat that is equipped with better electronics than were available to Admiral Nimitz during World War II. With the eminent arrival of another spring fishing season, it is time to make sure that your fishing rig contains the most important tool for taking advantage of some early catching opportunities.

A quick glance inside most bass boats will reveal an array of electronics that probably cost more than your first automobile. Sculling paddles have long ago been replaced with trolling motors. The newest trolling motor by pinpoint (call 800-474-7550 for free video) contains computer chips that will automatically steer a boat on any selected contour line, track the shoreline, or even "automatically" find and follow an underwater creek channel. The technology is marvelous, but it is not my indispensable tool for spring fishing.

Another tool found on most fishing rigs is the depth finder. Gone are the days of the old green box flashing units that were connected to a transducer that was suction cupped to the side of a boat. Built-in depth finders display a 3-D picture of the lake bottom, indicate the size of each fish encountered, and the SideFinder by Bottomline will even identify fish that are located horizontally from the anglers.

No mention of new depth finders is complete without including GLOBAL POSITIONING SYSTEMS. Both Lowrance and Hummingbird feature units with GPS that allow an angler to utilize orbiting satellites to electronically store the exact location where the fish are biting. No more guessing or trying to remember a triangle pattern of visible landmarks. Just push a button, and these electronic marvels will draw a map of the shortest route to your hidden honey hole.

I love the new gizmos, but for spring fishing my favorite tool is a trusty temperature gauge. As temperatures climb, every lake develops a warming pattern. Normally, the coves on the northeast side receive the most direct sunlight and tend to warm before the rest of the lake. But nearly every major cove in a lake will have some isolated "hot spots." Find the warmest water and you will find the most active fish.

While the newest electronic devices exceed my fishing budget, a $35 temperature gauge continues to be my most indispensable tool for spring fishing.

The Changing American Diet Book Club meets

By Jeanene Sinclair

Americans are eating less fat as a percentage of total calories, according to a new U.S. Department of Agriculture nationwide food survey.

Data from the first year (1994) of the three year survey -- "What We Eat in America" -- found that Americans consumed 33 percent of calories from fat in 1994, continuing a downward trend. In the late 1970's, Americans consumed 40 percent of calories from fat. According to a 1989-1991 survey, Americans consumed 34 percent of calories from fat.

Even with this decrease, however, two-thirds of adults still eat more than the 30 percent recommended limit for fat calories. The survey also found that nearly as many are consuming more than the recommended limit for saturated fatty acids.

The American Heart Association, as well as other health organizations, recommends that no more than 30 percent of the calories come from fat with less from saturated fatty acids found in tropical oils and animal fats and polyunsaturated fatty acids found in soy, corn, safflower and cottonseed oils. The remainder is made up of monounsaturated fatty acids found in olive, peanut and canola oils.

That means consumers will need to read more labels to determine the amount of fat and the types of fatty acids found in various products. Also, they can read labels to determine if other ingredients are found in the products ordinarily containing fat.

People may begin seeing new food products made with the new fat substitute Olestra recently approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). The calorie-free fat-replacer olestra will be used in salted snacks and crackers and will require that Olestra-containing products be fortified with vitamins A, D, E and K. Potato chips, crackers, tortilla chips or other snacks made with Olestra will be lower in fat and calories than snacks made with traditional recipes using fat.

The FDA has found some drawbacks to this new fat substitute. Olestra is a much larger molecule than fat so it is not absorbed through the intestinal wall as is fat. Therefore, olestra may cause abdominal cramping and loose stools. Olestra inhibits the absorption of some vitamins (the fat soluble vitamins A, D, E and K) and other nutrients. These gastrointestinal effects do not have medical consequences. Olestra absorbs fat-soluble vitamins (vitamins A, D, E and K) from foods eaten at the same time as Olestra-containing products.

Whatever choice you make to reduce your fat intake, eat a variety of foods and in moderation following the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Guide Pyramid to help you attain and maintain balance in your food selection. Try to reduce your total fat consumption by increasing your selections of grains, cereals, vegetables and fruits. So eat fats sparingly.

Sheriff's Report

There was less activity than usual in February 1996, Sheriff Jimmy Thompson said of his department's regular report to the Donley County Commissioners.

The Donley County Jail served 543 meals, had 85 station logs, 87 cell logs, and 12 visitations according to the report. Twelve arrests were made for the month, and there were 30 ambulance reports, 10 fire calls, 13 offense reports, 14 traffic tickets, 7 accidents, and a total of 181 jail days.

Saints' Roost

Jamboree had good turnout last Saturday

For the second month in a row there was a large turnout for Saints' Roost Jamboree. People from many area towns in the panhandle and high plains filled the old Bivens Pharmacy Building to capacity. The person attending from the greatest distance was Sue Carney, who lives in North Pole, Alaska. She is the sister of Pat Archuleta.

The groups appearing on the show were "The Gospel Chords" from Pampa, "Plum Crazy" from Quitaque, "Grammy and Pop" from Silverton, and Clarendon's own "Saints' Roost Band."

Appearing on the talent segment of the Jamboree was Richard Lowery from Clarendon, Don Willingham from Hedley, Shirley McKinney from Clarendon, and Ben Nivens and J.M. Dickson both of Panhandle.

Voting done by the audience at the end of the show voted "Saints' Roost Band" as the favorite band.

The next jamboree is scheduled for April 13, and the public is invited to come out for an evening of good music and fellowship.

A special thank you goes out to the following: The Clarendon Enterprise, Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, First Bank and Trust, Paul Bivens, Don Stone, The Nook, Saye's, Ford's Country Kitchen, Dairy Queen, Olsten Kimberly Quality Care, KLSR radio in Memphis, and Channel 11 in Clarendon.

The 1926 Book Club held its annual Guest Day on March 5. The meeting took place in the auditorium of Clarendon College where the college choir, directed by Mr. Jim Stewart, presented a very enjoyable program. The choir sang three numbers and six girls presented solos.

Following the program the social committee which consisted of Elvie Shields, Thelma Shields, Dikki Howell, and Helena Catoe served refreshments of sandwiches, chips and dips, cookies, and apricot tea to the choir and 35 members and guests. There was no business meeting.

Guests attending were Jeanice Weatherly, Vivian Allen, Sadie Shields, Dorothy Bredlove, Mary Beth Nelson, Helen Phelps, Leona Musgrove, Naoma Spann, Nell Vitarelle, Maxine Hardin, Lucy Saye, Claudia Elliott, Bliss Knorpp, Gayle Hankins, Renee Duncan, Gloria Gage, Mary Lee Noble, and Fredie Jo Moreman.

Members of the club who attended were Evelyn Mann, Hazel Brandon, Viola Bones, Dorothy Whitaker, Frieda Tucker, Virginia Christie, Glenda Hawkins, Sue Dunagan, Pearl Hermesmeyer, Elvie Shields, Dikki Howell, Helena Catoe, Thelma Shields, Dorothy White, Frances Dorosey, and Norma Schwertner.

Medical Center News

The month of February has gone by quickly and spring is almost here.

Last month was a busy month for those at the Medical Center. Along with their usual activities, they had a Valentine Party. The king and queen were Pud Bain and Nora Decker. This month they have added new activities added to their calendar. They are also bringing back patio time when the weather gets warmer. A Saints Patrick's Day party is scheduled for March 15 and a birthday party is scheduled for March 20. Those with birthdays in March are Granville

The Lions Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday, March 12 at the Lions Hall with 13 members, three guests, and Lion Sweetheart Dee Williams in attendance.

After a delicious meal, Boss Lion Johnson called the meeting to order. Following the regular opening ceremony, he introduced the guests including Robert Powell, P.A. with the Donley County Rural Health Clinic and Stephen Truex from Midland who is Lion Johnson's grandson.

The Boss Lion announced that Lions Johnson, Elliott, and Alderson were selected for the balloting last week to represent the club as delegate to the District Convention.

Lion Sweetheart Dee Williams informed the club that her granddaughter, Cherie Lawler, who is the leader of Junior Girl Scout Troop 43 and her girl scouts provided the decorations, a poster, and desserts for the meeting. The dessert, which was called Brownies in a Cloud, was prepared by the girls in their leader's kitchen. The poster expressed thanks from the girls to the members of the Lions Club for the service work in the community. Eye glasses for needy school children and Christmas food baskets were two of the projects mentioned. The club members appreciated everything the girls did. The meeting was adjourned.

BAD BREATH

So, no one wants to kiss you, not even your dog. Maybe it's your breath. Bad breath can be chronic. Here are some of the causes, and what you can do about it ...

THE SMELL

- Hydrogen sulfide gas produced by anaerobic bacteria (need no oxygen). The bacteria feed on anything you eat.

Where bacteria live:

- Grooves in the back of the tongue
- Pockets between gum and teeth, often accompanied by tartar, cause 70% of the bad breath cases

OTHER CAUSES OF BAD BREATH:

- Food, especially onions and garlic
- Medicines, often anti-depressants
- Alcohol abuse
- Tobacco
- Dentures

ILLNESSES

- Sinus infections
- Diabetes
- Stomach ulcers

HOW TO HIDE BAD BREATH:

- Brush your teeth
- Use mouthwash
- Chew gum
- Use breath mints

HOW TO CURE BAD BREATH:

- Proper oral hygiene
- Brushing
- Flossing
- Using mouthwash
- Using tongue scraper
- Using breath mints

Thank You

Thanks to everyone who helped when I had a heart attack. Thanks to our neighbors for being there to help. We are so fortunate to have such wonderful neighbors that are there to help.

Thanks to the ambulance service members who were so wonderful and helpful. I was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital where I stayed for ten days. I was then moved to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock where I stayed for eleven days and then moved to my daughter's home where I stayed for two months. Thanks for the beautiful cards, flowers, calls, prayers, letters, and food I have received. I have been home for three weeks and doing very well. Thanks to everyone again. God bless every one of you is my prayer. Love, Grace Ayers
