First Beneficial Moisture of Year Recorded; Totals Over 2 1/2 Inches

The first good soaking rain of the season topped off with a wet five-inch snow over the week end brought our moisture total up to par and gave farmers and ranchers the top seasoning needed to get ready for the 1961 crop and will also aid the wheat and other winter grain crops that were beginning to really need moisture.

The moisture started falling last Thursday and continued thru part of Friday. Sunday morning, residents witnessed one of the most beautiful snow covers in some time as there was no wind and the snow was stacked up on trees, wires etc. The snow was so wet and heavy that damage to trees was general all over town with the Chinese Elm suffering the most as these trees had already put on their blooms and had turned green. The snow-topping on fruit trees in bloom was an unusual sight also. Damage to the fruit crop is uncertain at present.

Moisture totals as recorded by our official observer was as follows with the reading at 7:00 a.m. which gives the total for the previous day and night: March 17—1.72 inches; 18—2.3; 19—6.6; 20—12. This gives us a total of 3.65 for the year so far as compared with 4.42 in 1960. This moisture was the first we had received for the month and we had only received .92 for January and February.

Dirt roads in the area have almost impassable due to the soaking nature of the rain and snow but were improving considerably by Tuesday.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

During the campaign and following his election President Kennedy has advocated tax reform measures for industry which would stimulate investment, and enlargement and betterment of our industrial plant. He has been specific about this. On one occasion he said: "We must stimulate plant modernization programs, which are vital both to increased production and to the building of industrial facilities which can compete successfully with the modern plants of Europe and the Soviet Union. Wherever we are certain that tax revision—including accelerated depreciation—will stimulate investment in new plant and equipment without damage to our principles of equity, we will proceed with such revision."

The accelerated depreciation need is at the heart of the problem. And so, along with it, is liberalization of depreciation allowances. As matters now stand, a producing enterprise can recover the cost of a machine or some other piece of necessary physical equipment over a long period of years. But, as a result of inflation, and also of increasing complexity of equipment, the new machine which is needed may cost two, five or ten times as much as the original. The money to make the exchange just isn't there. Most authorities think that depreciation, under present laws, is spread over much too long a time.

Henry Hazlitt, a writer of note, pinpoints it in these words: "America leads the world today in man-hour productivity because it has provided each worker with more and better tools than any other nation . . . But today our growth is retarded because we are not replacing our tools of production fast enough to keep pace with the world's rapidly advancing technology and our own economic potential. If we are to increase our productivity and maintain our lead over foreign competitors, American industry must invest substantially more than $19,300 for each new job it provides for our growing population."

Mr. Hazlitt goes on to show that our tax laws and policies are the most restrictive of any leading industrial nation when it comes to plant modernization and new investment. In this we are behind Canada, Britain, France, Germany and others. All of these allow much faster write-offs of equipment, and also allow much larger allowances. The result is constant improvement of their industrial plant. Liberal depreciation policies, for example, played a major role in the "miraculous recovery" of Germany.

In this country, on the other hand, says Mr. Hazlitt, ". . . leading economists and accountants have estimated that costs of replacement are outrunning depreciation allowances by five to eight billion dollars a year." The inevitable result is increasing obsolescence, and a steady weakening of our ability to compete.

An objection to liberalization of depreciation laws is that the government would lose revenue. Mr. Hazlitt, like other writers on the subject, has the answer to that. There would be some loss at the very beginning. But, over the long pull, the government would get the money. There would just be a longer time factor.

Secondly, and much more important, the new investment would be followed by increased production, employment and earnings. And these in themselves would automatically increase the government's tax take.

As Mr. Hazlitt sees it, "There is no more urgent task before the new Congress than to make this reform in our tax laws." He is not alone in this. A poll of leading American economists, made by the American Economic Foundation, shows that 70 per cent of them favor liberalization of the depreciation laws.

BETTER DAYS AHEAD

A special group, operating under the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, has released results of a two-year study of the transportation industry. As expected, a sweeping overhaul of our national transportation policy was urged. Among measures recommended were substantial tax relief for railroads, a program for certain user charges, relaxation of the bars to transport diversification and repeal of the passenger fare excise tax. Also proposed were drastic changes in federal regulatory machinery and operations.

The study was conducted under the direction of a retired Air Force Major General John P. Doyle, a transportation specialist who sees the nation heading for a "major transportation crisis" when many railroads and other for-hire carriers will be unable to operate profitably.

The handwriting has been on the wall for several years, especially in the case of the railroad industry. Its plight in the highly competitive transportation picture has become so clearly evident that public support of major corrective action is virtually unanimous.

Two years ago the Transportation Act of 1958 marked the first step toward bringing transportation regulatory policies up-to-date. And recently President Eisenhower appointed a Presidential Railroad Commission whose task will be to study work rules and practices.

High hopes are held for this Commission because of the manner in which it was established, the stature of its members and the fact that it comes at a time when public opinion and just plain common sense call for compliance with its findings. Better days may be ahead for the railroads. As the special Senate study said: "This nation will not permit, and properly so, the railroads to go by the board."

FAIR CHANCE

A mighty effort will be made during the current Congress to provide medical aid payments for everyone receiving benefits under the social security system.

The case against this extremely controversial proposal should be thoroughly understood. First of all, it would provide the medical aid to a certain age group whether or not they were in need. Large numbers of social security beneficiaries have substantial incomes from other sources, and are able to meet their medical costs. There is no reason why the general taxpayers—who contribute to the social security fund—should pay these bills.

Second, the medical care for the aged bill which Congress passed last year after refusing to approve the social security concept, deserves a fair trial. It is designed to provide the aid to those who are actually in need—not to arbitrarily-established groups. And it places administrative responsibility and authority where it belongs—on local government, which understands and is close to local problems.

Objective surveys tell us that the medical cost problems of people 65 and older have been greatly exaggerated—that nowhere near as high a proportion is in dire straits as some have imagined. A sound policy will help those who lack the resources to care for themselves financially, and limit government aid strictly to that. The present law has this goal.

WHO IS "THE OTHER FELLOW?"

One of the unfortunate aspects of the modern, highly-specialized industrial society in which we live is the tendency of groups in differing economic activities to blame the other fellow for cost increases. Inflation and depreciating currency aggravate the situation. A good example is the marketing "spread" of farm products. This spread is the difference between the price paid by the consumer and the price the farmer receives. In the case of the meat animals, the farmer's largest cash crop, the spread is 33 cents out of every dollar.

The widening spread of recent years in the marketing of farm products is attributable to a number of factors: 1. added services for consumer; and 2. increased costs of processing.

Consumers today expect to buy meats in different sizes and shapes, frozen and unfrozen, sliced and plain, closely-trimmed, boneless or pre-cooked. There has been great improvement in the preparation, processing and packaging of meat and meat products to meet these demands for "built-in maid services." These improvements represent costly programs.

Inflationary cost increases over which meat packers have no control have also taken their toll. Wage rates in the food industry rose 77 per cent between 1947 and 1958. Freight rates in the same period increased 79 per cent.

Marketing "spread" is here to stay. Whether it continues to increase depends largely on whether consumers continue to demand more refinements and luxuries in our standard of living and whether big government and chronic deficits continue to depreciate the dollar.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

There is a good article in the March 3 issue of Life magazine entitled "Homework." Much has been written on this subject in the last few years. It is surprising the number of parents who think it has reached the point where something needs to be done about it.

Quoting from the article. Lloyd Scott of the University of California's School of Education says, "All too often, homework is piled on student to make people think the school is being a 'tiger.' This has been especially true since the mounting political pressures for more basic instructions—that is since Sputnik."

Sputnik or no Sputnik if today's children are having to spend from two to four hours every night doing homework, when are they going to have any time for much of anything except eating and sleeping, or is that the idea?

If this is the new look in education, I'll bet an awful lot of us are glad we got our book learning 'way back yonder when you went to school, got the next day's lesson in study hall and could have put in your eye all the work you had to take home to get.

If on the other hand, this new work week in our schools produces more and greater: ministers, humanitarians, teachers, writers, painters, musicians, etc. we will not only apologize to the back-passing politician who started it all, but we will honor him in every way we can!

Quoting from a letter from the Reader's Digest, "An ancient Persian poet said: 'If thou hast two pennies, spend one for bread. With the other, buy hyacinths for thy soul.' Poetry, perhaps; but hard sense as well!

To buy hyacinths for the soul—to nourish your mind and heart with good reading—to become informed, alert, interesting in what you say to others—is just as important as progress in your business or social life.

Quoting from "Get Involved" by Morton Hunt, in the March Reader's Digest, "If there is any one secret to vitality and happiness, it lies in obeying this injunction—get involved! The list of bad things that have been made right by one person who was brave enough to go against the crowd and get involved goes back at least to the beginning of recorded history.

Memorial gifts have been given to the library in memory of Mr. C. P. Darnell, Mr. Will Johnson, Mr. Louie Thompson, Mr. Harley W. Wallin and two for Mr. William Lewis Jr.

Of course marriage is wonderful. It's just the living together afterward that's so darned difficult.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

A large number of ponds have been and will be built in the Donley County Soil Conservation District. And with ponds naturally comes the thought of fish.

For maximum fish production fertilization of farm ponds is almost always necessary. It would be worth trying if fish production in your pond is low, or if you need to control underwater weeds.

A highly fertile pond will grow more pounds of fish than on of low fertility. Experiments show that unfertilized ponds support less than 100 lbs. of fish per acre, average ponds support 150 lbs., highly fertile ponds support 400 pounds.

Fertile water shades out submerged weeds. The water is usually greenish in color because of innumerable tiny plants are present. Sunlight does not go any deeper in such water than you can see. Water weeds cannot grow without light.

Fertilizing should be done systematically. Once begun, it must be continued because the fish quickly put on weight. If fertilization is stopped, the amount of food is sharply reduced. Then the fish lose weight in order to live on the smaller amount of available food.

If you plan to use fertilizer, you should apply it at 7- to 10-day intervals, beginning early in the spring. Continue to apply it until the water becomes so cloudy that you cannot see a bright object 18 inches below the surface. Continue to check the cloudiness of the water at weekly intervals. Additional applications of fertilizer should be made when the water begins to clear.

You need nitrogen and phosphorus in about equal parts. Potash is usually required in lesser amounts than either nitrogen or phosphorus. A desirable formula for the Donley County SCD is about 100 lbs. of 8-8-2 (8 pounds nitrogen, 8 pounds phosphorus, and 2 pounds of potash) or the nearest equivalent available. Put this amount per surface acre at each application.

Further information as to method of application, how long to maintain fertility, etc., is available at the Soil Conservation Service. They will be glad to give what information they can.

BLOWN' Out the CORNERS

By Uncle Zeb

Tis' best to give our gifts today, If but a crust of bread. Than to bring bouquets of flowers When once our friend is dead. Taking our friends for granted is one mistake which is all too often made without our giving it serious thought. Because they are our friends we expect a double amount of understanding in exchange for a shortage of consideration. We never intend it to be that way but all too often it accidentally happens. It seems only natural to expect that our friends will appreciate us for the best that is in our lives. Because we believe this we do not make any effort to keep them from seeing us in one of our worst moods. We would never think of "letting down our hair" before the new neighbor down the street. Should our trash blow his way we would be fearful of the impression it would give. On the other hand, our friend and good neighbor would be supposed to use patience and understanding. To prove our point that this error is unintentional just let something happen to our friend and we are wide awake in a hurry. Sickness or death in his family and we come on the run. Too often we make the same mistake with our relatives and our loved ones. We suppose the most wonderful part of all is that real friends do have this double portion of understanding for us.

Pet Peeves are something most everyone indulges in at some time during their life. The following are a few that either happened to a friend and caused his blood pressure to rise, or we experienced them in our own life.

One real good one is toward the salesman who keeps on trying to get in the house after you have expressed no interest in his ware. One lady says that she cures this by keeping the screen locked and by closing the other door immediately before the last part of her sentence which says "not interested."

We have found ourselves in several book-of-the-month clubs

Our pet peeve toward most of them is that you have to return the card saying you don't want the next selection rather than requesting that they send it. The main trouble caused by this situation is that ordinary carelessness in answering your mail results in your getting a real bad selection. They base their judgment on the saying that no news from you is good news.

The fellow who drives behind your car at night and doesn't dim his light comes in for a bad time. This is almost as annoying as meeting the fellow with this same contrariness. We like the Burma-Shave sign which says: Dim your lights when you meet a car.

And show folks just how bright you are.

Then, something which has only affected me lately. This involves the fellow who insists on talking about his grandchildren when you are just bustin' to talk about your own.

Long pants come in all sizes today, and thank goodness for this change in styles. This hasn't been true for so very many years. Of course if you can remember

Will Writes From Austin

Rep. Will Ehrle

AUSTIN — With the legislature trying hard to solve the fund-raising problem, everyone here has to be on his toes. One new proposal has the rural representatives stirred up — and well we might be. Bob Johnson of Dallas has authored House Bill 703 which would take the 15 million annual fund for new Farm-to-Market roads out of a priority position.

Since the program began, the funds have come from the Omnibus Tax Clearance Fund and that means they have top priority. The new proposal would have Farm-to-Market roads financed out of the State Highway Fund and maintenance of farm roads from the same. I have never understood how the boys from Dallas and Houston came to be such "experts" on our farm roads.

Afraid of Effect Governor Daniel feels the transfer of funds would not affect the farm road program — that the Highway Department could adequately finance and carry out the program.

But we ask, "Why are the rural areas hit first when the state needs money?" We oppose this measure on the grounds that the Farm-to-Market program has been vital to the development of rural and farm areas of Texas.

It has provided for better transportation of products and permitted rural school children to attend classes when bad weather would have kept them at home.

We consider the measure too dangerous to allow. Even though the intentions may be good, the present set-up has served the Donley County Agent Flip Breedlove sends each and every one of us an invitation to attend the Agriculture Clinic on Monday, March 27th. The all-day meeting will be held in the Mulkey Theatre and will begin at 9:00 a.m. and will last until 5:00 p.m.

Local speakers will include Mrs. Mildred Ritter with ASC Office and Bland Draper, work unit conservationist for the SCS. Out-of-town speakers, most of which need no introduction to the local folks include, Gene Culp, Austin; Levon Ray, Lubbock Experiment Station, along with Harvey Walker, agronomist from the same station. Paul Marlon from Spur Station. From the A&M College Extension Service will be John McHaney, James Murphy, and Dave Sherril.

After looking over the program one could scarcely afford to miss it. Business men as well as farmers and ranchers could well benefit by attending.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

We had a new experience last week-end, got to keep our son's children all by ourselves for the first time. We had kept our daughter's children a number of times, but never these two before.

The five year old is the only dark eyed brunette in the family of five grandchildren, although we attribute this phenomenon to her mother, they are the same depth and color eyes as the ones we drowned in 35 years ago this month. Needless to say we kept her happy, because to see tears in those big brown eyes people well and we don't want to risk disturbing what has been valuable to rural Texas.

Death of HB 544 The committee on liquor regulation on which I serve has successfully shelved House Bill 544, proposed by V. E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio.

This bill was to increase hours for consumption of alcoholic beverages from 12 a.m. until 2 a.m. on weekdays and from 1 a.m. until 3 a.m. on Sunday morning.

I am happy that my motion to kill this bill was adopted by the committee.

Hall of Football A visitor at the House Floor last week inquired, "Isn't that Yale Lary, the Aggie halfback who plays for Detroit now?"

The bystander question was a part-time assistant sergeant-at-arms and University of Texas student.

"Yes, it is," he replied, "and that man sitting over there is 'Cowboy' Jack Crain, the best ball carrier Texas ever had. We have to keep things even."

of the one we have lived with all these years. My problem is never to let her know this weakness, so she may stay as sweet and unspoiled as she is.

The other one, a two-year-old, the baby of the family, but the biggest of them all. His favorite answer to any comment (with hands on hips) is (gol-lee). Sure shrunk up a bit first time we heard him say it, thought he had been to the barn with Granddad with no one to remind him there were two extra little ears listening.

Makes one forget the tumult conditions in our world, for a while. When the quiet overwhelms us after they are gone, we are more aware than ever of our responsibilities to them, and vow to be more vigilant to the dangers within and without our nation as well as those within ourselves.

Which reminds us of the new approach to the Farm problem Mr. Kennedy has dropped in our laps—to let the farmer start making his own laws. And IF Congress doesn't veto it, and IF he doesn't forget about it, we will think we are free. We'll be waiting with abated breath to see how many farmers are ready to begin governing themselves. One thing it will do, it will swing a bunch of farmers on his voting side I betcha!—just from talking about doing such a thing. Doing it will be something else . . .

The prospects gave ole George a lift though. He said, "Oh, for one more year of farming just as I please, before I die.

Bustin' out at the seams!

The WTU service area is growing fast and the facts prove it. Personal income, retail sales, value added by manufacture, bank deposits, savings, construction and other growth factors all are on the way up.

This company's own record of growth in the past decade is further evidence. Our KWH sales have increased 154 per cent, and our generating capability has increased 212 per cent.

Notice that our capacity to serve has increased even faster than our sales. That is because we are working hard to stay ahead of area growth — to have facilities available to serve more people, businesses and industries as they come.

Such an objective is back of our current multi-million-dollar expansion program. One example of it is the new generating station under construction at Oak Creek Lake. When completed it will provide in the very beginning an additional 75,000 kilowatts to our system.

Such long-range expansion plans and the cost figures are significant for one very simple reason. They stand as living testimony to our faith in the future of this area — as evidence of our belief in GROWTH UNLIMITED.

LUCILLE EANES HOSTESS TO MIDWAY CLUB

Members of Midway Club and three visitors met in the home of Lucille Eanes March 16 for an all-day meeting.

Those attending were: Bobbie Dishman, Lillie Mae Carmichael, Loyd Hillis, Ellen Moreland, Marjorie Hensley, Jewel Myers, Ida Pickering, Allie Quattlebaum, Josie Simmons, Leona Scott, Eddie Williams, Beulah Sanders, Grace Ayers and Louise Ater. Visitors were Misses Mary Lee Longan, Ava and Minnie Naylor.

A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed at the noon hour by the warmth and glow of the fireplace which is located in the den. A quilt to be used as a spread was quilted. Next meeting will be with Marjorie Hensley, March 30th. As we have fine Thursdays in this month it was decided best to have it on this date instead of our regular club day April 6th. Bring a covered dish.

The beautiful service, floral offerings and other kindnesses will always mean so much to us. May God bless each of you. The family of John Henry Crawford.

There is little purpose for the regular monthly meeting of many an organization other than it has been a month since the last one.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Sugar Story

The mysterious and complicated activities that have surrounded sugar activities in this country for a number of years will probably continue to be shrouded in mystery, at least temporarily. It is difficult for the people of this country to understand the back filling, the double talk and in many instances misrepresentation by implication that seems to accompany any attempt to uncover any information about sugar operations in this country. It is high time for a complete and full scale investigation of what is going on in this business, and I intend to do my level best to find out. Those of us who have tried to work to the end that this country may become more self-sufficient in its sugar production have tried to handle the matter on a reasonable, agreeable and non-controversial basis. However, we have been met with a total disregard for the rights of American people, and especially farmers who are and might be affected by this problem.

On July 5, 1960, the last day of the long session of Congress last year, a bill extending the provisions of the existing Sugar Act was being considered by the Congress. The Act would have expired on Dec. 31, 1960, at a time when Congress would not be in session. Hence, it was necessary to pass permanent legislation before Congress adjourned or extend the Act so that there would be time after Congress returned either in 1960 or in 1961 to pass such legislation. The fight was bitter because of several issues. One was the fact that under the Act 45 per cent of our domestic sugar needs came from foreign countries. Two-thirds of that amount was being purchased from Cuba. All of you know what Cuba had been doing. The Congress stayed in session all that night fighting over the Sugar Bill. The Conference Committee, made up between the Senate and the House of Representatives, finally reported that a bill had been agreed upon which would permit the President to reduce the quotas of foreign countries (this meant Cuba) and reallocate in accordance with a procedure agreed upon in the bill. As a part and parcel of the agreement, the Conference Report included the following statement:

"As a part of the understanding reached by the conferees, it was agreed that the conferees on the part of the House would undertake to pass a Sugar Bill and transmit same to the Senate on the earliest possible date after the reconvening of the House in August."

The Conference Report was agreed to by the House primarily because of such agreement and understanding. August 1960 came and went with no Sugar Bill, but with the understanding that action would be taken in the early days of the 87th Congress and before the Act expired on March 31, 1961. A number of us have been pressing constantly for action since this Congress convened. However, our pleas have fallen on deaf ears. Instead of any proposed permanent legislation or the consideration of permanent legislation, all that is being considered is an extension of the present Sugar Act for an additional 21 months. This is not in keeping with the promise made on July 5, 1960, to the American farmer and the American people. And I would point out further that the consideration given this Bill has been behind closed doors and not in accordance with the understanding of a number of members of the Congress that they would be afforded an opportunity to be heard. The only person who was permitted to testify on the subject was the Secretary of State, Dean Rusk. The Bill is being brought before the Congress (and, incidentally, will have been before the Congress before many of you receive this newsletter) under a proceeding which prohibits any amendments and limits debate to 40 minutes. Even the Rules Committee has been circumvented.

21 months means this—the Cuban quota of approximately three million tons of raw sugar, if not purchased from Cuba, must be purchased from other foreign nations. In other words, the American farmer is denied the right to participate in any portion of the quota which is taken away from Cuba. It will go as a windfall to other foreign nations, many of them Latin American nations. We are all interested in helping Latin America, but the President has only recently indicated a request for $600 million for that purpose. How can the taxpayers of this country assume a burden of that kind if they are to be denied the right to produce products necessary to provide for their own subsistence? One-fourth of the Cuban quota assigned to domestic producers who must carry the tax load would go a long way toward solving three problems. One, it would help the economic situation in areas that can grow sugar beets. Two, it would permit the planting of sugar beets, a non-surplus crop, and thereby reduce surplus crops. Three, it would help to stem the outflow of gold from this country. And, I might add, that it would not hurt our foreign relations, because the foreign countries would not lose any tonnage. In fact, they would not lose any tonnage. In fact, they would be gaining the remaining 75 per cent of the Cuban quota. But it would appear that those interests who have gained control of the sugar business are so overcome by their own greed that they are willing to risk anything to prevent additional domestic production of sugar or permit the people to be heard on the subject.

If this present proposed extension is jammed through the Congress, I would say to those responsible that it would be well to remember the old Indian saying: "If you fool me once, it's your fault. But if you fool me twice, it's mine."

Visitors

I wish it were possible to report to you the names of all the Panhandlites who were in the Nation's Capital last week, but it would probably take a special edition of the newsletter to list them all. We had a grand visit with the entire group, including folks from Hereford, Farwell, Dimmitt, Dawn, Tulia, Friona, and Muleshoe. All were in Washington representing the National Farmers Union, and we appreciate their taking the time to come by the office.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Hopes for early Legislative agreement on money-raising measures hit the dust when the House began to vote.

Future is dim for three of the four deficit-erasing measures recommended by Gov. Price Daniel.

First to be detailed was a proposal to raise the gas production tax from 7 to 10 per cent. Its sponsor, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, asked that it not be voted out of committee. He expressed hope that the money could be gotten some other way.

Two others — the abandoned property act and a bill to raise the franchise taxes on interstate corporations — got overwhelming approval of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee but ran into a hornet's nest of opposition on the House floor. Both were opposed by 79-to-69 votes.

Vote on another revenue measure for utility companies was postponed after its sponsor claimed it had been "amended to death." This bill, by Rep. Max Carrier of Roby, would set a uniform utility tax rate of 1.997 per cent and eliminate exemptions for rural areas and REA co-ops.

Fourth of Governor Daniel's deficit-canceling measures (besides the gas tax, franchise tax and abandoned property act) is a proposal to take the $15,000,000 a year for farm-to-market road building from regular highway funds rather than the general revenue funds.

MAILMEN STAGGER — Supporters of legalized horse racing bargained for time as aroused church people flooded House members' desks with anti-racing letters.

Rep. V. E. Berry, sponsor, won by a narrow 79-to-70 vote a motion to postpone action on the racing measure until March 21. Opponents pressed for action to "kill it now."

Some members reported their secretaries were bogged down in answering "hundreds of letters" prompted by sermons and religious magazine articles against the proposal.

Berry's secretary is flooded with mail urging passage of Berry's resolution.

Actually the resolution (HJR-4) does not legalize horse-race betting. It calls only for a poll of public sentiment on the subject.

ject of whether or not the voters would like to vote officially on the matter at the next general election.

Then the topic would still be up for legislative debate. Berry's argument is that the people have a right to express their opinions; and they can do so at the April 4 election at no cost to the state.

DRIVER INSURANCE DEBATED — Everyone wants to promote safe driving. Disagreements come only on whether the present merit rating auto insurance plan is a fair and effective means of achieving that end.

In a background briefing for Austin newsmen, Sen. Grady Hazlewood, opponent of the present plan, declared, "I'd like to see a plan that would really promote safe driving... but one that law-abiding, decent people can live with."

Referring to letters he had received, Hazlewood cited case after case in which people declared they had received insurance premium penalties for relatively harmless, minor violations or for incidents that were not their fault.

In the same briefing, former Sen. Johnny B. Rogers of Austin defended the plan as basically sound despite problems arising from uneven or unfair law enforcement. "During the past year, under the present plan," said Rogers, "Texas had the lowest number of highway deaths since 1949." Number of deaths in proportion to the number of miles traveled was the lowest in history.

Rogers said there was no objection to removing some of the more petty, inconsequential violations from the penalty point list.

MILK IMPORTS CAUSE HASSLE — Two segments of the milk industry are joined in battle over the conditions under which milk from other states may be brought into Texas.

Milk producers are pushing a bill which would require that the Texas Health Department certify that any milk shipped into Texas meet standards for milk produced in Texas. This will prevent importing of sub-standard milk, say the producers.

Milk distributors oppose the measure, saying that it would make it impossible for them to buy from anyone but Texas producers. They say required inspection of out-of-state dairies would be impossible and impractical. Result, they declare, would be a monopoly for Texas producers and higher prices to consumers.

Senate Public Health Committee approved the bill.

AERONAUTICS BOOST URGED — A bill to make more money available for aeronautics regulation won Senate State Affairs Committee approval.

Sens. Ray Roberts of McKinney and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo are sponsors of the bill to provide for allocation of some $70,000 to $140,000 from taxes paid for airplane fuel.

Under the Roberts-Hazlewood plan, 35 per cent would go to the Aeronautics Commission for operations, 40 per cent to the Commission for airport and landing strip improvements and 25 per cent would go to the available school fund.

FIREMEN'S PENSIONS BEING STUDIED — A plan to bolster the firemen's pension fund brought howls of protest from those asked to pick up the tab — municipal government and fire insurance companies.

It is under study in the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio is sponsor of the bill which would levy an extra 2.75 per cent tax on fire insurance premiums, with three-fourths of the money raised to go to the firemen's pension fund. Municipal governments also would be asked to up their allocations to the fund.

City officials said they didn't know where the money would come from. Insurance industry spokesmen declared it would be unfair to charge all insurance buyers — in the country as well as the city — to pay for city firemen's pensions.

Andy Sez:
By State Sen. Andy Rogers

Forty-one per cent of our State tax dollar goes to public schools, 31 per cent to the highway program, 14 per cent to public welfare (blind, aged, etc.). The remaining 14 per cent is divided into very small (relatively) slices to the Department of Agriculture, Courts, Attorney General, Legislature, Health Department, Board of Insurance and others.

The most explosive of all these areas of expenditures is our public schools. If no raises are given to teachers salaries or any other school expenditure, it will be necessary that the appropriation bill we must soon vote on be $44,000,000.00 greater than the one we passed during the last legislature. This is due entirely to the "population explosion and resulting flood of youngsters into our schools."

During the past 10 years the number of youth in school has increased nearly four times as fast as has the number of taxpayers. Eventually these youngsters will become taxpayers and this ratio and the proportionate tax burden for schools will improve. For the present, it is our Number One challenge and problem.

In this modern age a first rate educational system is our "first line of defense" against tyranny. This is one tax burden we must bear or be submerged by Communism.

Recently, our State Senate passed House Concurrent Resolution No. 10 that, if adopted by the legislature of three-fourths of our States, would require our National Government to be put on a "pay-as-you-go basis." I supported this resolution.

So much attention has been centered on the tax fight in Austin that it is often overlooked that this area of legislation is only one of many affecting nearly everything we as citizens encounter in our daily life.

Nearly 1,500 bills have now been introduced and sent to committees for hearing and study. Several hundred of these have been sent from committee, voted on and passed. Several hundred more have been approved by the various committees and await floor action. Most of the tax fight has been in committee so far. If the numerous arguments and delays on this problem seem wasteful to you, please remember that democratic or representative governments are very inefficient. Only dictatorships can be efficient.

The procedure we try to follow in this country allows everyone to be heard and fight for his rights and points of view. If this method is ever cast aside for more "efficiency and speed," you will not have to worry about losing your freedoms. You will already have lost them.

For the first time, there should remain little, if any, doubt in anyone's mind that a major water reservoir can be built on the Salt Fork of the Red River and provide the people of West Texas with another great asset. The possibility of the people in the immediately affected area to finance such a project by conventional means has always been the Number One obstacle to such a development.

Recently your State Legislature authorized the State Water Development Board to make 100 per cent loans up to $15,000,000 on any one water project. This is considerably more than the highest estimates of any offered for any water project on the Salt Fork.

Now the Legislature has passed a Constitutional Amendment which will allow the State to purchase storage in new reservoirs, whether built by local, state or federal agencies. This will be voted on by the people in the General Election of Nov., 1962. This means that if not enough people or industries are presently available to use all the water available, the State can purchase the balance and release it to those who need it as the need arises. As both national business and government studies show that all known available water supplies will be needed in not more than 20 years, this will be a good and safe investment for your State government.

Some study for a dam site and related problems still remain. Also a lot of unpaid, thankless work by public spirited citizens, but we should see full development of Salt Fork potentials into a 150,000-acre foot lake before many years.

One of the most fundamental changes to affect our country in this century is the increase of 47 per cent in average life expectancy. Average life expectancy at birth rose by over 22 years in this country between 1900 and 1959, but it still falls three-tenths of a year short of the Biblical "three-score-and-ten."

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The Connally Amendment

Just over a year ago, and on Feb. 21, 1961, I wrote you concerning the "Connally Amendment." In that newsletter I paid tribute to the greatness of Tom Connally, the former United States Senator from the State of Texas. No tribute was more justly deserved. Tom Connally deserves splendid tribute from all Americans for the outstanding contributions he made in public service. Surely there are those who did not like Tom Connally, as is the case with all human beings, but even those must admit that the mark he left by the "Connally Amendment" is an all-American mark and a mark of distinction. His agile mind and quick tongue made him a much-feared foe in debate on the Senate floor. He is reputed to have told one vociferous opponent the following: "If the gentleman would approach these problems with an open mind instead of an open mouth, he would be much more effective." When asked last year for his opinion on the move to repeal the "Connally Amendment," he branded the move as a propaganda device designed to "win an international popularity contest." This rather effectively summed up the situation, in my opinion.

For the benefit of those who have heard of the "Connally Amendment" but who have not had the opportunity of studying it, may I say that it consists of six words, which are "as determined by the United States." These words are attached to a portion of the United States Declaration of Acceptance of the World Court jurisdiction, and I quote:

"This declaration shall not apply to . . .

"(b) Disputes with regard to matters which are essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States of America as determined by the United States.

That portion in black face type is the Connally reservation, or amendment, whichever you prefer to call it. You can readily see the effect of this amendment. The particular paragraph above quoted, without the Connally Amendment, would have left jurisdictional determination to the World Court. The World Court consists of 15 judges elected by the General Assembly and the Security Council of the United Nations for nine-year terms. Its headquarters are at The Hague. On Jan. 27, 1960, the 15 members or judges of the World Court came from the following countries: one from the United States, one from Great Britain, and one from Australia. The others were citizens of the United Arab Republic, Nationalist China, Greece, Poland, France, Mexico, Panama, Argentina, Uruguay, Norway, Pakistan, and Soviet Russia. It is interesting to note that only three of the judges are from countries whose basis of law is the Common Law. Four are Latin-Americans, two are from Moslem countries, one Chinese, and one each from Greece, Norway and France. Volumes could be written as to the built-in dangers of such a situation, but since that amount of space is not available in this newsletter, I think it is sufficient to observe that Americans acquainted with the issue would immediately recognize the inherent dangers of distortion, modification, misinterpretation, and outright abuse of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution which are the protecting armor of the American citizen. Without the Connally Amendment this armor would have been broken in many places. Its preservation is vital if the sovereignty of the United States is to be maintained.

Cuban Representative Has Troubles

Eight Cuban women refugees and one District of Columbia resident invaded the Inter-American Defense Board and proceeded to tell Jose Meleon, Castro's delegate to the Board, exactly what they thought of him in loud, fast and emotional Spanish. The word was that even those who did not speak Spanish had no doubts as to how the women felt toward the Castro government. As a result of this action, the Defense Board did not have its meeting. The women finally left the premises, but only after they were fully satisfied that they had opened the eyes of the Latin-American presidents and representatives as to their feelings of protest.

Territorial Deputy Bills

Several bills have been introduced to provide certain territories of the United States with representation in the Congress of the United States. The territories are Guam, the Virgin Islands, and American Samoa. The deputies would be elected by popular vote for a two-year term, would receive the same compensation and have the same privileges as Representatives, but would not have the right to vote. Proponents of these measures vigorously deny that this is a move toward statehood or commonwealth status on the part of any of these territories. The

33 Stock Ponds Built In Donley County in '60

Each year there is a growing interest for constructing farm ponds. Last year (1960) in the Donley County Soil Conservation District there were 33 ponds built. This year the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Donley County SCD expects even more. Already this year 8 ponds are built and more are planned for construction. Fifty ponds in all are expected to be built.

Among the ponds most recently completed or are in the process of completion include M. L. Risley, Hagy Ranch, T. C. DeSpain, Joe McMurty, Hec Hoggard, Ray Morman, F. Sawyer.

The ponds to be built on McMurtry and Hoggard will be cost-shared under the Great Plains Conservation Program. The rest will be cost-shared under the ACP. F. Sawyer plans one pond for erosion control, the rest of the above mentioned are built for the primary purpose of stock water.

Ponds in Donley County should be at least 8 to 10 feet deep to insure permanent livestock water. If any shallower than this then there is a strong possibility that evaporation will be so great that it cannot be depended on for permanent water.

Supplemental benefits can be obtained from farm ponds. Among these are fish production and recreation.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service furnishes stocking fish for each pond free of charge. These fish can furnish not only the pleasure of catching them but also some good eating.

A pond should be designed to do the job for which it is intended. Soil Conservation Service technicians are trained to design these structures and will be glad to assist you in planning and construction.

ger High School, playing a regular schedule with the sophomore class team.

Before the beginning of his junior year, Bobby's difficulties forced his decision to launch out on his own. He chose Hedley where he had done his first six years of school work. This decision placed him on the hardwoods for the succeeding two years under the able coaching of Don Haskins who is currently coaching basketball at Dumas.

Aided by his intense desire to play ball, his high scholastic capacity, and two years of outstanding ball playing at Hedley, Bobby was selected in his senior year — 1958-59 on the All-District squad. All-Regional selection, and honorable mention for All-State selection. The Hedley team played its way to the state playoffs at Austin that year.

Clarendon Junior College was fortunate to have Bobby elect to continue his education and basketball here. This election on the part of Bobby brought him under the tutelage of another outstanding coach who was beginning a college coaching career at the same time Bobby was beginning a college playing career. The combination of Coach Roy Young and Player Bobby Lesley with the Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs has produced the following outstanding record during the two seasons for Bobby.

He played regularly with Clarendon Junior College as a freshman. Selected All-Conference as a Freshman at CJC in 1960. Selected on Region V All-Tournament team in 1961. Selected All-Tournament at Howard County Invitational Tournament, Dec., 1960. Selected All-Tournament at Odessa Tournament in Dec., 1960. Was spark plug and high scorer for Clarendon Bulldogs during 1960-61 season. Selected as Most Valuable player in Western Conference, 1961. Played in every one of the 18 non-conference and 14 conference games. Scored 345 points in 1959-60 season for 13.3 average. Scored 652 points in the 32-game season for 20.4 average.

Scored 997 points in two seasons for 17.7 average. Scored 333 points in the 14 conference games. Averaged 18 points per game during non-conference play — showing an increase of 7 points per game as the season ended. Averaged 23.78 points per game through the 14 conference games. Averaged 25.1 points for the last 9 conference games. Averaged 49.7 per cent of field goals attempted for 2 seasons of play.

Averaged 50.6 per cent of field goals attempted for entire season. Averaged 73.4 per cent of free throw attempts for season. In a large percentage of games, worked as playmaker. Frequently was assigned to guard high scorer of opposing team. Fouled out of only four games during season. Lost possession of ball for his team a very few times because of violations. Enjoyed confidence and respect of every member of the Bulldog team, opponents, coaches, and fans. Has been a star in the Panhandle and West Texas for 4 years on the basketball court.

This imposing record which Bobby has achieved is magnified by the fact that he has maintained a "B" average in completing a regular schedule of 62 semester hours of college curriculum during his two years at Clarendon Junior College. As a further tribute to him and his wife, Pat, whom he married in the summer following high school graduation, they now have a lovely daughter.

Bobby's friends and fans at Hedley, along with the Clarendon Junior College administration, faculty, student body, and a host of Clarendon friends, marvel at the quiet and mature manner in which he goes about his job of carrying the responsibility that he chose to take upon himself when he moved to Hedley to begin his junior year in high school.

Bobby's friends in this area, not only wish good fortune to be his partner in the continuation of his college career, but they freely predict a greater record for him in basketball in a senior college. With him always will be their best wishes for success in his chosen vocation of teaching and coaching when he finishes his college work.

Several Texas colleges have bid for Bobby's consideration of their school for his next two years of basketball and studies; however, (according to information from usually reliable sources) he has made no firm commitments and does not plan to do so until after the All-American Classic at Lawton next week end.

vals. Friday's program will consist of a general assembly and workshops.

The South American nation of Chile is the subject for the workshops this year. On Friday night a banquet and dance will finish off the day. The business session will be held on Saturday morning. The Clarendon pupils plan to go to San Antonio for a brief field trip Saturday afternoon and night and make the return trip to Clarendon on Sunday.

Voting delegates from the Clarendon Spanish Club are Larry Neece and Larry Don Phillips. Dwight McAnear and Clayton Ferris are Workshop Representatives. Peggy Webb is alternate.

The Pan-American Student Forum of Texas was organized in Texas in 1943 and was sponsored by the State Department of Education. In 1949 the headquarters and sponsorship of the Forum were moved from the Department of Education to the office of the Good Neighbor Commission, a division of the Texas State Government.

"The importance of the Forum lies in the fact that it is developing an extensive reservoir of Spanish-speaking young people for possible foreign service in business and government, with a wide and appreciative knowledge of the social, economic and cultural structures of the American Republics.

The Forum also takes justifiable pride in having made significant progress in improving Anglo-Latin relations, especially among the young people of both backgrounds in Texas.

In 1960 the Forum voted to include chapters from Mexico. Invitations were extended to schools in Nuevo, Laredo and Monterrey which were accepted, thus extending the limits of operation across the National Boundary in search of even a broader program of understanding.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Usrey and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Thornton of Boulder, Colo. visited Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crutchfield and Janet. The Harold Usrey's remained overnight while the Thornton's visited other friends.
