Five Clarendon girls are listed among the students on the honor roll. They are Barbara Kooz, Sandra Pinkerton, Jo Ann Edens, Carolyn Wallin, and Norma Jones.

Numbered with these five girls are Margaret Oldham of Samnorwood, who achieved the highest grade record for the period; Jimmy Burgin from Groom, Nancy Shields from McLean, Gary Adams from Estelline, Gerard Darrow of Samnorwood, Nettie Humphreys of Ron Oklahoma, Albert Johnson of Samnorwood, Albert Motesbocker of Dodson, Leonard Mullins of Hedley, and Neal White of Quail.

JET AGE REASONING NECESSARY

Editorial comment is appearing in all parts of the United States on the opportunity and the obligation of the 15-man presidential fact-finding commission to study controversial work rules on railroads and come up with recommendation for settlements by December 1, 1961.

The views expressed are uniformly impartial but emphatic in the opinion that further years of delay in settling issues that threaten the welfare of the nation must be ended.

The commission will have the wholehearted backing of the public if it has the courage to tackle the work rules question from a non-political, non-partisan standpoint. If it fails to do this, its findings will be utterly useless.

The Youngstown, Ohio, Vindicator says: "If the commission discovers a solution acceptable to both the railroads and the unions, it could establish a precedent for settling future labor-management disputes in many areas by peaceful methods rather than compulsion."

Whatever faults railroad managements may have had in past generations, the railroads stand today as a glaring example of over-correction, over-regulation, over-taxation and over-politicking — in other words, as failures of public regulation to adjust with the times. Railroad management has been usurped by a hundred and one agencies that have no financial responsibility in the properties they control.

The fact-finding commission has a chance to at least make a start in considering the problems of railroads as in the jet age instead of in the horse and buggy days.

WHY MORE GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS?

The Post Office Department is considering introduction of a special kind of mail service by which letters would be transmitted electronically, presumably involving tremendous investment of public funds in facilities. If that assumption is correct, here would be another case of the Government entering a field of commercial enterprise developed long ago by private citizens.

In this case the Government would be in direct competition with Western Union Telegraph Company which is said to have more electronic facsimile equipment in operation than the rest of the world combined—some 40,000 facsimile machines are in actual operation—in every large city in the country.

Western Union has been furnishing telegraph service to the nation for 109 years. It has been a pioneer in the facsimile field for 25 years and has brought our nation to a position of

AUSTIN, Tex. — When the legislature is usually a sort of Irish stew of compromises. Ingredients for this session's main dish, state financing, are world leadership in this medium through its own research and its own resources.

If facsimile letters are found to be a practical feature to be added to the postal service, what is to prevent the Post Office Department from contracting with existing publicly-regulated companies for the transmission of the messages the same as it does with railroads, air lines, steamship companies, truck operators and others for the carrying of the mails?

The New York Daily News sums up the matter succinctly when it says: "... Why shouldn't special types of mail, such as these facsimile letters, be carried by the private agencies best qualified to transmit them?"

If the Government now installs machinery for a vast facsimile mail enterprise much more will be involved than possible loss to taxpayers, and to private companies that are forced to compete with a new tax-free public activity.

It will mark another retreat from the concept of government doing for the people only what the people cannot do for themselves.

14 CENTS OUT OF $10

When you buy $10 worth of groceries, how much of that stays with the store in the form of profit? It's a safe bet that a great majority of shoppers couldn't answer that question with any degree of accuracy. They would probably put the profit factor at a much higher proportion than it actually is.

The National Association of Food Chains and the Harvard Business School Division of Research have issued their fifth annual survey of margins, expenses and profits in the food chain industry. In 1960, net profits worked out to about 1.4 per cent of the sales dollar—which means it came to 14 cents on a typical $10 bag of groceries. There was nothing unusual about this—the profit was practically the same in 1959, 1.38 per cent.

Over the years, profit margins have held remarkably stable, in the general neighborhood of a cent-and-a-half on the dollar. Expenses, by way of contrast, have shown substantial increases, with payroll costs leading the way, followed by advertising and promotion expense, and real estate costs.

Summing up, the profit on food sales is so small, percentage-wise, that it would take an exceedingly canny shopper to notice the difference if there were no profit at all. Pretty much the same thing is true in other basic retail lines—profits commonly run around three cents on the sales dollar. That is the principle on which mass distribution rests—very small unit profits add up to an adequate total profit because of big volume.

fast pouring into the pot. Simultaneously, Gov. Price Daniel and the Legislative Budget Board presented plans for state spending in 1962-63.

Governor Daniel recommended general revenue spending of $479,964,734. Budget Board recommended $356,183,172 — a difference of $123,781,562.

New spending recommended by the governor would include a medical care program for the aged, $600 a year salary hikes for public school teachers and other improvements in education.

As a primary source of new money, the governor endorsed the payroll tax proposal recommended last fall by the State Finance Advisory Committee. He also approved raising state college tuition by $50 a semester.

Daniel urged lawmakers to handle separately the deficit that's expected to be about $65,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year. For this he tabbed a temporary 3 per cent natural gas tax, a franchise tax, escheat bill and transfer of the farm to market road program from the general revenue to the highway fund.

ANNEXATION LIMIT PROPOSED — A brake on headlong expansion of city limits would be provided in a bill introduced by Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Neches.

Under the bill, cities could annex only 10 per cent of their surrounding territory each year. Meanwhile, each city would have a measure of control through "extraterritorial jurisdiction" of a zone from one half to five miles deep on its perimeter. This would give the city direction over construction and sanitation codes and enable it to prevent the development of outlying slums.

Many officials feel that some Texas cities have gone overboard in annexing more territory than they are able to digest.

AUTO INSURANCE CHANGE — Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, long time critic of present auto insurance regulations, has outlined a liberalized plan he will ask the Legislature to approve.

Changes recommended by the senator:

1. Use of only that part of a driver's record which was made since January, 1960, date the new merit system went into effect. As set up, insurance rates are based on driver's record for the past three years.

2. Eliminate from the list of violations causing insurance rate penalties (a) speeding less than 15 miles per hour over the limit (b) stop light violations involving amber, rather than red lights and (c) "creeping" at stop signs.

3. Eliminate from accidents that result in a penalty those where less than $100 damage is caused. Present limit is $25.

SCHOOLS' PORTION DOWN — Texas' public schools' share of state spending has dropped from 35.5 per cent in 1950 to 30.6 per cent in 1960.

In a report to Governor Daniel, Texas Education noted that while state spending on public schools has doubled in the decade, other states have upped school financing even more.

In the 1950-60 period, the scholastic population increased 34 per cent, enrollment 46 per cent and average daily attendance 50 per cent. State spending on schools rose from $187,000,000 to $356,000,000.

Texas State Board of Education, TEA's policy making body, has recommended a raise for teachers, but did not specify how much it felt the raise should be.

WEALTH FROM THE PAST—There's money to be made in museums, mansions and missions—if they're kept up and made attractive to tourists.

An improved and increased array of historic spots could increase tourism 10 per cent and thereby state tax revenue $1,750,000 a year, the State Historical Survey Committee reported to the Legislature.

Committee did not ask for state funds to renovate historic buildings. Instead, it suggested an $82,775 appropriation for leadership and guidance of local groups who want to preserve or improve something in their locale.

Also recommended was a $50,000 a year appropriation for the Civil War Commission to be used in setting up Texas' part in the centennial observance. Other states in the South, many of whom already have combined scenery and Civil War memories to make big drawing cards for tourists, have the jump on centennial planning.

PETTICOAT WAR — Women's rights advocates have come to Austin every session, as far back as most legislative observers can remember, to try to get rid of one of more of the Texas laws that treat women differently from men.

Every session, the women are treated with courtesy, viewed with amusement, and their bills are good naturedly buried.

This year, the irked women, mostly members of the Federated Business and Professional Women's Club, are going all out. Instead of trying to get one or two individual statutes repealed, they are trying for a constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women and agolishing — at a stroke — all laws to the contrary.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Hutchins (Dallas County) will introduce the measure in the House.

NEW GOP CHIEF — Spokesman for the Texas Republican party's "new generation" of leadership is Tad Smith of El Paso. Smith, a 32-year old attorney, succeeds Thad Hutcheson of Houston who resigned.

Republicans are setting their sights on: (1) Getting revisions in the election code which they blame for their loss of Texas in the general election (2) Running a strong race in the April 4 special election to name a new U.S. senator (3) Building up momentum for a serious effort to challenge U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough when he comes up for reelection in 1964.

It would not even be the discovery of how to split an atom. The greatest thing that man has made throughout the ages has been a home for his family.

Whether it would be a mansion or a humble cottage the word home is one of our sweetest sounding names. Home makes one think of rest. It gives us a feeling of security. It usually means that here we find loved ones, and those who care about us. It is at home that we can be ourselves. It is here that we find understanding. Home means rest for the weary, food for the hungry, love for the lonely, and safety for the insecure. The cave-man was a hero when out of the mountainside he carved a home for his family. He protected it in his crude way with even his life. He provided those inside with the bare necessities for living. For even this he was a king in his own realm.

Into the making of a home in today's world we need to give it so much more thought and care. In addition to all the necessities of life we must think of the education of those we love. We have greater spiritual light and have a greater obligation to pass that light on to our children.

Yes, the making of a home can well be the greatest achievement of our life. Nations rise and fall depending upon the kind of homes among its people. Likewise, our greatest disappointment in life will be our failure to "make a home" for those we love.

GEORGE'S WIFE By "Sarah"

Freedom is not a gift for eternity by God, so says the Defense Minister of Germany. People who have lost their freedom know better what freedom is, he says. The American way of life and our conception of freedom seem to give conflicting views to foreigners. The press and radio continue to sound the danger of our losing our freedom, but when be chosen than great riches. Most everyone can treasure the good name left to them by their parents. With this good reputation comes the challenge to keep it that way. To do this one has to be constantly on guard in this task of daily living.

We will never forget the good feeling that came to our heart upon visiting the place of our birth, several hundred miles away, and meeting those who remembered only our folks. We had heard our father speak often of the banker in that small town, being a bit short of cash we walked in, introduced ourselves, and asked to cash a check. Just like that we got the money, due to the good name of our family. Even though we had grown up in the meantime several of the employees were still working.

Speaking of names — some time back we wrote a column on unusual and odd combination of names. Mail keeps coming in from our readers. The latest comes from Mrs. Nellie Spikes of Ralls, Texas. We quote from the closing part of her very interesting letter. Capital letters denotes names of people in that area.

Ralls has some Welles, the Corn-Wells and the Chris-Wells. There are many Sellars here, the Price is good, the Scales weigh correctly and are made of Steele. The roads are Easley travelled, the people Foster good will and there is always room to Park. If you come our Way please Hunt us up. Now you have Heard my Storey, and I had better go before you Lynch me. It may be Wicks and Wicks, a month or a Gillion years before you hear from me again.

There was a lot more in her letter. We hope that we do hear from her again sooner than a Gillion years. Mrs. Spikes writes a woman's column and is author of a book on Crosby County.

a visitor from another Nation comes to America they see little evidence of concern, people-wise.

We might try using the method reported to the American Cancer Society as one, yet untried way, to stamp out this deadly disease engulfing the world. They report that the major credit for increasing cancer cure rates goes to "our next-door neighbors"—women with aching backs and tired feet and overworked men who have a high sense of being their brother's keeper. Next-door neighbors are the ones who distribute life-saving literature on cancer danger signs, and tell their friends where to go and what to do about the symptoms.

The busy housewife who does not read for one reason or the other, may find out about communism by listening to their radio every Wednesday at 5:45 p.m. over KGNC. Tell your neighbor to listen, talk about it over your cup of coffee, after you get the kids off to school, and think.

If we would wage war on this unseen enemy as diligently as we do against the danger to health, comfort and ease we now enjoy, there would be no fertile ground for this germ to grow. This war is not across the sea in some remote country, just as Mr. Dan Ammerman says, "It IS Hap'ning Here."

On the lighter side, or maybe not so light, when the news commentator said: Elvis Stahr, named Secretary of the Army in the new administration, George came charging out of where he was scrubbing his face, after plowing all day, and said—Lord help us, is that the other bushy headed guy of the wiggling-hip fame? We explained as calmly as we could, the man said Elvis Stahr, not Elvis the star.

Elliott-Cornell Vows Exchanged in Church Ceremony

Nuptial vows were solemnized at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, January 28, at the First Baptist Church, Clarendon, Texas, uniting in marriage Miss Wanda Marie Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Elliott, Clarendon, Texas, and Mr. Clarence W. Cornell, son of Mrs. Z. C. Cornell and the late Mr. Cornell, also of Clarendon. Rev. Harold Elliott of Dallas, cousin of the bride, read the double-ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an archway entwined with white pon pon chrysanthemums and huckleberry and decorated with white chrysanthemums and wedding bells flanked with candelabra bearing white tapers. Emerald palms were used in the background. Candles were lighted by Jim Allen and John Cearley.

Miss Andra Pinkerton, organist, played a nuptial prelude and the traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Mrs. Lance Shackelford of Amarillo as she sang "Because," and "Through the Years."

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Glenn Reeves, sister of the bride, and Miss June Humes of Lamesa, Texas, bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of red velvet and hats, of matching velveteen and net, with short veils. They carried colonial bouquets of white pon pon chrysanthemums and red carnations.

The sabrina neckline was outlined in sequins and seed pearls and the long sleeves were tapered to points over the hands. The bouffant skirt was designed in tiers. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tierra of sequins and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and white hyacinthus atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Elliott, mother of the bride, wore a dress of spice-brown faille complimented by brown accessories. Mrs. Cornell, mother of the groom, chose a grey dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over red and a floral arrangement of red and white carnations. The four-tiered wedding cake was separated by white swan colonnades. The bride's chosen colors of red and white were represented on the cake by red roses and two white wedding rings. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom on a white swan float surrounded by white and red roses. Mrs. Robert Magee of Amarillo served the cake while Mrs. Lorene Kirkland of Cactus dispensed punch. Mrs. David Stout of Lubbock presided at the registrar.

For traveling the bride chose a suit of light blue accented by navy accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Cornell attended Clarendon High School and Junior College and is a graduate of West Texas State College. She was employed for two and a half years with the Amarillo schools and has been employed as a teacher in the Midland Public

ROGERS & PARKHOUSE INTRODUCE WATER BILL

Legislation to broaden the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and enlarging its program of State Assistance to finance local water districts and authorities has been introduced in the Texas Senate.

Senate Bill 4, co-authored by Senators Andy Rogers of Childress and George Parkhouse of Dallas would allow the Texas Water Development Board to lend up to $15,000,000 on any project approved by the Board. Such loans could finance an entire project if it did not cost more than $15,000,000 or the same amount of larger projects.

At present the Board can loan a maximum of only $5,000,000 on any one project or 1/3 of the total project, whichever is the smaller.

Indications are that this legislation will become law as Governor Price Daniel, the Statewide Water Committee, Texas Water Development Board, the State Board of Water Engineers and many legislators have already recommended that such legislation be passed.

If S. B. 4 becomes law, the water projects now under consideration for the southeast corner of the Panhandle could be financed entirely from the Water Development Board Funds. Such projects would include the dams and water projects now proposed by the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Authority composed of Quanah, Paducah, Wellington, Childress, Memphis, Hedley, Clarendon and the Collingsworth County Water District.

INAUGURATION

On Friday, January 20th, at 12 noon, a ceremony took place in front of the Capitol Building of the United States. This ceremony was the Inauguration of John Fitzgerald Kennedy as President of the United States of America and Lyndon Baines Johnson as Vice President of the United States of America. It was the 43rd ceremony of its kind in the history of this country. This ceremony was evidence in a few short seconds the shift of responsibility that has never been equalled in the history of mankind. The cloak of responsibility as Chief Executive of the democratic processes in the government of 180-plus million people was lifted from the shoulders of the oldest man ever to serve as President of the United States, and draped around the shoulders of the youngest man ever to be inaugurated as President of the United States.

The new President was sworn in to serve for the Constitutional term of four years. With this done, the people of the United States should close ranks behind him and put up a unified front to the rest of the world. The next four years will undoubtedly see great divergence of opinion throughout this country on many domestic issues. It will also see a divergence of opinion on matters concerning foreign policy. But, whatever the personal feeling of any American, we must never allow ourselves to be so split as to jeopardize the welfare and the best interests of this country in meeting challenges from foreign sources.

This event was heralded throughout the free world and watched with great interest in the Communist areas. It marked the beginning of a new regime under the greatest government ever conceived by the mind of man. It was watched by the free world because of their desire to continue to look to this country for leadership. It was viewed with great interest by the Communists in all parts of the world with the hope of possibly detecting some weakness which can be exploited.

People from all over the nation came for several days before and after the short ceremony which made Private Citizen Eisenhower out of President Eisenhower, and President Kennedy out of Senator Kennedy, there was many celebrations and ceremonies and the Nations Capital was crowded to overflowing. Tickets to all of the ceremonies were exhausted, hotel rooms were sold out for months for a radius of 50 miles around Washington; the transportation facilities both within the city and moving in and out of the city was sorely taxed to meet the demands. The Inaugural Ceremony itself was viewed by thousands. But many more thousands who would have liked to have viewed it were disappointed. There was just simply not enough room to accommodate all of those who would like to attend. One of the reasons for this was the fact that this ceremony was held at the east front of the Capitol. The site of the Capitol was chosen by George Washington. It was determined at that time that the Capitol should face the confluence of the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers. Across from the East Front of the Capitol is the Library of Congress and the Supreme Court Building. The East Front is flanked by the House Office Buildings and the Senate Office Buildings. Although there is a large space within the confines of these buildings, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to view that place where the President will be sworn except from a limited area. It has been my feeling that if the ceremonies were held on the west side of the Capitol, which is that portion of the Capitol viewed from downtown Washington and the side of the Capitol on which the White House is located, many more people could be accommodated. For instance, there is a Mall extending from the Capitol Building itself for many blocks to the Washington Monument and on to the Lincoln Memorial. The west side of the Capitol is by far the most beautiful side and many, many people have thought that it was the front of the Capitol because of its imposing beauty. The Inaugural Ceremony, if held on that side of the Capitol, could be so arranged that thousands more people could witness it in person.

Some people ask why the front of the Capitol was so arranged that it faces away from the city of Washington proper and the White House. There are several stories in answer to this query, but the one that has appeared to me to be most plausible is the following. It seems that at the time it was determined to face the Capitol toward the confluence of the Potomac and Anacostia Rivers, some land grabbers who had inside information immediately moved in and bought up all of the land between the river fronts and the Capitol Building and boosted the price so high that it was almost prohibitive. In retaliation, the people moved into that area between the back of the Capitol and the White House, much of which was semi-swampland. This was filled and made usable. It is in this area that the business district of the city of Washington is presently located, as well as many government buildings, including the Smithsonian Institution, Treasury, Department of Justice, The Archives, Labor Department of Commerce, Post Office Department, etc. In any event, I do hope that any of you who visit Washington will not fail to view Washington from the west side of the Capitol, preferably inside of the building. Looking down the Mall to the Washington and Lincoln memorials, you will view one of the most beautiful scenes in your experience.

1961 BEEF CATTLE OUTLOOK EXPLAINED

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 1.—The estimated 1961 meat production will provide consumers of the U.S. with the largest supply of meat in history, both in total and per person. If the estimates prove correct, Lloyd Bergsma, extension livestock marketing specialist, says consumption of red and poultry meats would exceed 200 pounds per person for the first time in history.

Bergsma says livestock producers will be faced with a generally downward trending market during 1961. Prices during the first half of the new year will not feel the effect of increasing supplies as strongly as those for the last half. He expects slaughter cattle to average near 1960 levels during the earlier months of 1961, but increasing supplies of grass cattle and more competition from expanded hog production are expected to have their effect by late summer. The greatest price drops are forecast in the lower grades of cattle.

The specialist expects a continuation of the herd build-up which started in 1958. But, he adds, weather conditions can play a mighty important role. Cattlemen can be expected to react quickly to changes in crop and pasture conditions, since cattle numbers on the farms and ranches of the nation are now at an all time high.

On the brighter side, Bergsma says consumers have, partially at the expense of other meats, increased their consumption of beef and he sees a continuation of this strong demand. This trend should help ease the downward pressure on prices resulting from the expanded supplies. The increased domestic supplies of stocker and feeder cattle will continue to reduce the level of cattle and beef imports, says Bergsma.

Lower cattle prices do not necessarily mean that profits will be absent in cattle enterprises, but, Bergsma suggests to producers they study the price indicators when planning their operations.

Mr. Farmer!
CAN YOU CONTROL WEEDS IN ROW CROPS WITH FLAME CULTIVATION?
Will it save you money? These and many other questions can be answered on the night of February 2, 1961 at the County Court House—7:30 p.m., Clarendon, Texas.

The man who can answer your question about flame cultivation is Dr. Tom Longnecker, agronomist, in charge of the South Plains Foundation Experimental farm at Halfway, Texas, 12 miles west of Plainview.

Doctor Longnecker will be in Clarendon, Texas the night of February 2, to explain and describe the results they have obtained this past year using two flame cultivations in cotton, grain sorghum, sesame, castor bean, corn, and many other experimental crops. He will tell you how much lint cotton was harvested on cotton that was flamed as compared to that which wasn't.

Be sure to attend this meeting Mr. Farmer. See pictures of crops being flamed. Hear a man who knows because he has done it. Flame cultivation is destined to revolutionize farming methods.

Get information first hand. Remember — 7:30 p.m. Thursday night, February 2, 1961, at the County Court House, Clarendon, Texas.

GRASS SEEDING TIME HERE AGAIN

Grass seeding time is here again. Anytime between now and May will be a good time to seed grass, and the earlier the better. C. T. Molder, J. M. Tate, and Glen Williams are among those seeding grass now, and many more farmers and ranchers plan to start soon.

Grass should be seeded into soil that is firm, and has a good cover that won't compete with the grass for moisture. This condition is best obtained by drilling some sorghum crop the year before the grass is to be planted. Then, the grass can be drilled into the undisturbed sorghum litter. This litter serves two purposes. It keeps the land from blowing, and the mulch keeps the moisture close to the surface of the soil so the roots of the young grass plant can reach it.

If you have some land that was planted to sorghum or perennial sudan (that didn't stay perennial) and would like to have a better cover on this land, possibly this would be a good time to plant this land to native grasses. If the sorghum or sudan didn't make a heavy seed crop last year, and the soil is firm and has plenty of cover, then a good stand of grass can be expected.

Grass seed prices are lower this year than they have been for several years, and moisture conditions at this time are good.

It looks like a good year to plant grass.

The Donley County Soil Conservation District has grass drills available for the use of the people in the District. The Soil Conservation Service will be glad to look at your particular situation and advise you whether or not to seed grass, and help you figure the best grasses for your land.

A TRUE STORY

A young man lives with his parents in a public housing unit. He attended public schools and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army and upon discharge, retained his National Life Insurance. He enrolled in the State University, working part time at the State Capitol to supplement his GI education check.

Upon graduation, he married a Public Health nurse and bought a home with an FHA loan, then obtained a Small Business Loan to go into business.

A baby was born in the City

Hospital. He bought a small ranch with the aid of Veteran's Land Program and obtained emergency feed from the government. Later he put part of his land in the Soil Bank and payments soon paid off his ranch. His father and mother lived on the ranch very comfortably on their Social Security checks.

Then one day he wrote his Congressman:

"I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own feet without expecting a handout. I am opposed to all Socialistic trends and I demand a return to the policies of State Rights."

The bravest sound in the world is a puppy's bark, from under the porch.

STATE USDA EMERGENCY PLANNING COMMITTEE

Under a plan announced last August by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a State USDA Emergency Planning Committee was organized in each State. The Committee in Texas was organized in October in a meeting held at College Station with Dr. John L. Wilber, Agricultural Research Service, Austin, as Chairman. The committee in its November meeting set the machinery in operation which will lead to the establishment of a County USDA Emergency Planning Committee in each county in Texas.

The purpose of the Committees is to coordinate the efforts of the various agencies of the USDA in case of a national emergency on all levels, and to help carry out the Department's emergency responsibilities under the National Plan for Civil Defense and Defense Mobilization.

The initial meeting has been held in Donley County with the following USDA personnel and the agencies they represent named as officers of the county committee: James D. Gouddy, chairman, Farmers Home Administration and H. M. Breedlove, deputy chairman, county agent. Other members of the committee are Bland Draper, Soil Conservation Service and Mildred M. Ritter, Donley County ASC.

A major objective of the plan is to have a "built-in-readiness" for planning emergency activities essential for meeting food needs and other agricultural requirements of the nation in time of national crises. County Chairman, James D. Gouddy, said. The Committee will meet on call of the chairman, and will work closely with local civil defense officials.

PRE-MEASUREMENT OF COTTON LAND

We are again offering pre-measurement service to cotton producers. Don't take chances of being over planted or under planted when you can get your allotted acreage pre-measured for a fee based on an estimate of the cost of the service on the individual farm. The final date to file your request and make the deposit for the estimated cost of this service is March, 1961.

RELEASE OF COTTON ACREAGE AND REQUEST FOR ADDITIONAL ACREAGES

If you do not intend to plant your cotton allotment it will be to your advantage to release it unless this will be your third successive release in which case your allotment will be lost for 1962. The last day to release your cotton allotment is April 14th. If you desire additional acreage from released allotments, if any, you must file your request by April 14th. Remember, that if you do not plant at least 75 per cent of your allotment, or release, if eligible, your base will be reduced for 1962. For further information please contact this office.

Former Resident Wins Freedom Foundation Award Recently

Mrs. Faye Scoggins of Phoenix, Arizona and a former Clarendon resident has been notified that she has won a first place award given by Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. The award will be an all-expense paid trip for herself and one student to Valley Forge and other historic national shrines.

The Freedom Foundation was established in March, 1949 with its purpose to create and build an understanding of our American Way of Life and to inspire love and freedom. Mrs. Scoggins, a sophomore English teacher in the Glendale High School, won the award with her unit of work on "Americanism and The American Way of Life." Work submitted included her plans for study, themes, essays, projects, pictures, etc., used in class work. Only 50 first place awards were presented over the nation; 50 received a library collection; and 100 received medals.

Mrs. Faye Scoggins is the mother of Mrs. G. W. Estlack.

Bulldogs Bow In Overtime

The Clarendon Bulldogs came from behind by 7 points at the end of the first quarter to forge ahead by 6 points at the half of their game Saturday night with Lubbock Christian College. The score at the half was 38-32.

During the second stanza, the Bulldogs held on tenaciously throughout the third quarter and continued in the lead by 5 points at 50-45, but then Lubbock Christian College's Rogers No. 14 and Burk No. 11 with help from Lundy No. 22 began eating up the advantage until Rogers of Lubbock Christian pumped a field basket from 20 feet out to go ahead 70-68 with 26 seconds left in the game. With 11 seconds, Burk of Lubbock Christian fouled Kenneth Martindale while in the act of shooting. Kenneth stepped up to the line to sink both tries to tie the game at 77 and it remained at that score when the whistle blew for the regulation game.

A five minute overtime was played to determine the winner. Lubbock Christian College by virtue of their accuracy at the free throw line dropped in 11 points while the Bulldogs could only rally for 10, giving Lubbock Christian College the conference win and a clear record of 5 wins and no losses for the season.

Coach Young was especially pleased with the determined hustle exhibited by the Bulldogs, especially John Alexander who dropped in 21 points during the last stanza and Kenneth Martindale's hitting 6 for 6 from the free throw line while all of the other Bulldogs were exceptional cold at the charity tosses.

John Tom Morrow for the third straight game turned in a stellar performance gathering in 15 points while playing a strong defensive game. Rogers of Lubbock Christian College was high point man of the game with 30 points and Alexander was high for Clarendon with 27 points while Lesley followed closely behind with 23.

Red Cross Activities During Past Year

In the past year your local Red Cross Chapter, through its stranded travelers.

As the Red Cross, under its charter from the Congress of the United States, has its prime responsibility to servicemen and their families, most of our services are performed for these two groups and these services vary greatly.

The most frequent request is for a report on the health and welfare of servicemen to their families at home, or to servicemen on the health and welfare of their families. Second in frequency is the providing of information to the Military on which their decision is based for granting furloughs or the extension of furloughs.

Loans were made to two servicemen, and three families were aided in getting servicemen discharged from the armed forces.

Two veterans were assisted in obtaining increased disability compensation, and one veteran was located for the Veteran's Administration for the purpose of having his claim reviewed.

Meals or groceries were provided for 58 persons traveling through or stranded here, and a night's lodging was provided for two people.

Emergency grants were made to three local families.

Not all requests could be met as a few clearly outside the scope of Red Cross activity and one request for aid was beyond our financial ability to meet.
