LITTLE LEAGUERS MAKING DRIVE TO BUY EQUIPMENT

As many of you already know, members of the Little League are making a concentrated drive this week to raise money to buy equipment to play with and some new suits so that at least four teams may be suited out alike when meeting competition from neighboring towns.

These young fellows have been making the rounds selling donation tickets to raise the needed money. They are all hustling to get the job done as quickly as possible and we know of no other project that merits your support. The Little League will have these youngsters something to do during the summer months and outside of practice, they will be playing a schedule of at least two games a night each week.

At last report around 70 youngsters had signed up to play in either the regular little league or the pee-wee group. If you have never driven up to the Jr. High baseball park and watched these boys play hard baseball, you have really missed a treat. It's not only good entertainment for the youngsters but for all us grown-ups too.

The tickets the Little Leaguers are selling will also entitle each purchaser an opportunity to win at least one of the numerous prizes being offered. Listed below are the merchants who have already contributed toward the list in order that these youngsters may have an opportunity to do something for themselves. If you haven't bought a ticket yet, be sure to do so when one of the boys gives you an opportunity. The drawing will be held July 4th and the tickets will be available until that time.

BAND PARENTS ELECT LEAD OFFICERS

The Band Parents organization met in the band hall Monday night of last week and elected the following officers to direct the group for the coming year: President, Mrs. George Thompson; vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Ann, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. S. Cook and reporter, Mrs. McClellan.

Plans were made for the selling of Cokes on the 4th of July.

The first meeting next fall will be a get-acquainted supper. The date will be announced later.

Summer Workshop For Freshman Girls

The Freshman Homemaking girls will meet Wednesday, June 3, from 9 until 11 a.m. in the Homemaking Department for the first workshop of summer project work. Each student should have the article she will make, cut, marked and prepared to sew. All necessary equipment must be on hand.

In addition to the home project work to be done by each student there will be four workshops in the department. For the first workshop the girls chose to make stuffed animal pillows and pajama bags. There will be a lesson on flower arrangement at the second meeting. The third and fourth workshops will be work on the FHA float for the July 4th parade.

The girls will earn one-half a credit toward graduation by doing approximately 100 hours of work during June. This is equal to one semester's work in class. The advantage of summer project work is that the girls have more time to practice the things they learn and the work is done in a home situation. Each student is required to keep an account record of work done and to give a written report to the instructor at the close of the month's work.

Beef Cattle Improvement Association To Meet June 1st

The second meeting of the Donley County Beef Cattle Improvement Association will be held on the night of June 1 at 8 p.m. at the Fair building in Clarendon, Texas.

H. M. Breedlove, county agent, who is working on this program, says that this is an important meeting as officers will be elected and plans will be made for the bull sale in December. This program is for all breeds of registered cattle and all registered breeders of Herefords, Angus and Galloway are urged to attend. Breedlove stated that in addition to the present registered breeders that all persons who intend to become registered breeders some time in the future are urged to attend and get in on the program.

Half of the number present at the first meeting were not registered breeders but plan to start a program of this type on the farm or ranch in the future. Walter Britten has been contacted and will sell the cattle at the bull sale at a later date. All counties are eligible to enter bulls in this sale and are urged to attend the meeting next Monday night.

Cotton John Smith of Radio Station KGNC will be present at the meeting and help to really get things under way. He will interview many of you registered breeders and those who intend to be registered breeders. Bring your friends and be present and also at this time you can list your bulls for the sale.

College Student Dies On Eve Of Graduation

Bynum Hightower, 36, Clarendon College sophomore from Dodson, died of a heart attack on Thursday night before he was scheduled to graduate from the college on Friday night. Mr. Hightower was survived by his wife, who is a teacher in the Dodson schools, and two children, a girl aged 10 and a boy aged 7.

Mr. Hightower had attended Clarendon Junior College one year, being a transfer student from Texas Tech and North Texas State College. He was preparing for a career in teaching. He died suddenly at his home in Dodson at 11:10 p.m. Thursday following what was first thought to be an attack of indigestion. He had completed his final examinations here at the College and left Clarendon for Dodson around noon on Thursday. Hightower was an exceptionally good student and had won the admiration and respect of his teachers and fellow students here at the college. He was buried in Dodson following funeral services at 3:00 p.m. last Sunday.

City To Collect Garbage Twice Weekly

The City is attempting to send the garbage wagon around twice a week in the residential districts. In order to do this, it will be absolutely necessary for everyone to have their trash barrel in the most convenient place so that they will not lose any time. Also if you want the truck to haul off trash, it will be necessary for it to be in containers. We would like to call your attention again to the fact that we will appreciate it very much if everyone will quit burning trash in the barrels. Also that the barrels will last many times longer if no fire is put in them.

Sweet Potato Test Plot Planted

A sweet potato demonstration plot was planted on the Horace Green farm in the Ashtola community on the 21 of May. H. M. Breedlove in charge of the demonstration says that 10,500 slips were set out in the plot.

Three varieties made up the demonstration with 3,500 slips of each variety. The test varieties were Nema Gold, Acadian and the Copper Skin Goldrush.

Mr. Joe Cole of the Texas A&M College Extension Service and Mr. Durwood Speitz, assistant professor in horticulture of the A&M College furnished the variety slips and brought along a mechanical planter. A starter solution of three pounds of 13-39-0, water soluble fertilizer in 50 gallons of water with one half pint per plant was put down with the slips. The mechanical planter put down the starter solution at the same time it set the plants.

This fall the different test plots will be harvested and weighed for production information. Breedlove stated that the slips were watered right after they were set out and then it came a 2-inch rain and hail but Horace Green says that he thinks nearly all the plants will survive. The information received from this demonstration will be good for all sweet potato growers in this area, after harvest this fall.

Memorial Closing Date Uncertain

From what we can learn, Clarendon business firms will have a varied schedule as far as closing is concerned for Memorial Day, Saturday, May 30th.

Due to the holiday coming on Saturday, many local firms serving the public in a more timely manner, feel that they should remain open to serve their customers on Saturday as many of our farmers will be in the fields, weather permitting, replanting their crops. Some business places plan to go ahead and close Saturday and some will be closed Monday.

If you need to transact business on Saturday it will be best for you to check with your merchant and see if he plans to be open.

Wind, Hail And Heavy Rains Cause Considerable Damage

"You All Come"

"Let's get acquainted."—With the services of the Homemaking Department, their program of work for both youth and adults, and with each other. The adult work, usually offered in June, will get underway Friday, May 29 at 3 p.m. with a Coke party at the Homemaking Department. An interesting panel has been planned to help parents become familiar not only with the Homemaking Department and FHA, but also with the policies of the school, other school organizations, and with each other. Have you ever wondered why? About anything that concerns school? In the question and answer period that follows, you will have an opportunity to have your questions answered. A special invitation is extended to parents of students who will be freshmen next year. It is hoped that a Mother's Advisory Club might be organized to help, especially making our FHA chapter programs meet the needs of the youth in our community, and to help interpret the Homemaking program of work to everyone.

Mrs. Fred Bourland, Homemaking teacher in high school assisted by Mrs. Sue Shields, Homemaking teacher for freshmen will be hostess for the meeting.

Services At Hedley For Mrs. Walter

Funeral services for Mrs. Maudie P. Walter, 77, resident of Donley County 43 years, were held Tuesday in the First Baptist Church at Hedley. Rev. J. S. Tipton, pastor, and Rev. J. E. Murdock officiated. Burial was in Rowe Cemetery at Hedley, with the Spicer Funeral Home in Memphis in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Walter died Monday at her home in the McKnight community northeast of Hedley. She was born Jan. 19, 1882, in Montague County. Her husband and a son preceded her in death.

Survivors included a son, Chester of Hedley; two sisters, Mrs. Jewel Coker and Mrs. Jessie Harrison, both of Saint Jo, and two brothers, Gwin Franklin of Whitesboro and Burnie Franklin of Saint Jo.

Pallbearers were R. H. Couch, John Nash, M. T. White, W. H. Clay, M. C. DeBord, Woodrow Farris, O. C. Sargent and Tom Wilson.

Two seiges of wind, hail and rain the past weekend took its toll of damage over the county last Thursday night and again on Monday night of this week.

The heaviest damage was to wheat and grain crops and to freshly planted crops that will have to be replanted. Flat top roofs in the business section were damaged quite heavily but otherwise the hail was of a small calibre, the type that will cut gardens, shrubs, etc. to shreds.

Water damage to fields was heavy also and this loss is hard to calculate as erosion causes a damage that it takes three years to try to rebuild.

All parts of the county received over 2 1/2 inches of rain in the two deluges and reports up to 5 to 6 inches have come in from the north and east part of the county. Here in town our official weather observer recorded 1.17 Thursday night and 1.50 Monday night; Ben Lovell reported 2.15 and 1.10 at Ashtola; Willard Knox reported 1.30 and 2.10 at Lelia Lake; Mrs. M. W. Hatley at the Country Club reported 1.80 and 1.25 and Hedley caught 2.50 Thursday night and 1.02 Monday and over three inches north of town on Thursday night.

On the bright side, the ranchers are happy with a good grass crop in prospect and we do have plenty of moisture to begin the growing season with.

BAPTIST BROTHERHOOD TO MEET MON. NIGHT

The Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church will hold their regular monthly meeting next Monday night, June 1st at 7:30 at the local church.

Mrs. Jimmy E. Thompson and Mr. Joe Whitten of Pampa will present the program for the meeting. The type and kind of program to be given is something new and different in Brotherhood work, and a warm and cordial invitation is extended to the men of the community to attend this meeting.

DUSTERS TO PLAY UMBARGER SUNDAY

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Frank vs. Maryland

The mere mention of the above case should strike terror in the hearts of all freedom-loving Americans who are laboring under the delusion that the privacy of the home is inviolate. Much will be heard about this case in the future. It is the case in which the Supreme Court of the United States held that, if a health inspector in the City of Baltimore, acting under the provisions of a Baltimore Ordinance, requested entry into a private home for the purpose of making a health inspection, it was the duty of the owner of the home to admit the inspector, and the failure of the homeowner to do so would subject him to being fined under the ordinance. In short, the Court held that the fining of the homeowner, because of his refusal to admit the invasion of the privacy of his home, was not a violation of the 4th Amendment of the Constitution which condemns unreasonable searches and seizures. There are nine Justices on the Supreme Court. Five of these, to wit, Justices Frankfurter, Clark, Stewart, Harlan and Whitaker, joined together to reach the said conclusion. The remaining four, to wit, Justices Warren, Douglas, Black and Brennan, joined together in a dissenting opinion which was in direct conflict with the opinion of the majority. The majority held that the health inspector did not need a search warrant.

The majority opinion listed all of the authority in support of the proposition that would require a search warrant under such situation, and then stated that one was not necessary. They did say that the inspector did not have the power to force entry nor to break past the unwilling occupant, but that the unwilling occupant could be fined for resisting the entry of the inspector. The opinion is most interesting. I wish everyone would study it very carefully, because the majority opinion seems to apologize for the decision on the ground that it is necessary as a part of a general welfare state. The opinion contains such quotes as these:

may, at a given time, be deemed the limits of the essentials of fundamental rights." (Wolf vs. Colorado, 338 U. S. 25,27).

The court also says: "The growth of cities, the crowding of populations, the increased awareness of the responsibility of the state for the living conditions of its citizens, all have combined to create problems of the enforcement of minimum standards of far greater magnitude than the writers of these ancient inspection laws ever dreamed."

Many more examples could be quoted but none can, in my opinion, remotely justify the holding that a search warrant is not necessary to enter a private home.

The words of the 4th Amendment are as follows: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

The dissenting opinion was excellent, and I wish I could quote it in its entirety here; however, limited space will not permit. I do quote for your benefit an excerpt from the parliamentary history of England, which has long been accepted as a true expression of the constitutional meaning of the right of privacy in the home. The quotation is as follows:

"The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the force of the Crown. It may be frail; its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storm may enter; the rain may enter; but the King of England cannot enter; all his force dares not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement."

If the decision in Frank vs. Maryland is to stand, the above observation by the Elder Pitt of England is, from this day on, obsolete.

The dissenters came forth with some most appropriate remarks that I want to pass on to you.

"The official's measure of his own need often does not square with the Bill of Rights."

And another: "History shows that all officers tend to be officious; and

Centipede

On Saturday night last, Col. Haynes, of this city, discovered one of these animals of enormous size gradually making its way upon the floor towards the bed in which reposed two of his little children. The Colonel, of course, lost but little time in terminating the career of the dangerous nocturnal visitor. In length the centipede measured exactly eight inches, and was the largest we have ever seen.

Its name, since it recently changed proprietors, is the Constitution. What is the Constitution of the United States, but the bond of the Union between the States composing the nation.

health inspectors, making out a case for criminal prosecution of the citizen, are no exception."

The applicability of these two statements to the present case is proven by the testimony of the inspector. A whole day elapsed between the first inspection and the arrest, and the only reasons given for not getting a warrant were the inspector's convenience. Here is his testimony:

"Q. Could you not just as well have made your inspection one hour or two hours later than at the time you demanded entry?"

"A. I could not. I had two students I had to release at 3 o'clock. I have to be in the office at 3:30 every day to take care of my reports."

The court observed that this was indeed flimsy ground for denying this homeowner the constitutional protection afforded by a search warrant. There is much more that could be said about this case, and I hope all of you read it because it will be history making.

As bad as it is, it is my sincere hope that some good will come out of it in that it may awaken many of the people of this country to the ever present threat against the constitutional rights that many of us believed were a part of our American heritage.

Visitors
We were honored to have as visitors in our office last week Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree of Pampa, Texas, who also visited their son who is presently stationed at Fort Lee, Virginia; and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Klein of Am- arillo, Texas.

Indian Battle

St. Louis — The Overland California mail has arrived here with advices from San Francisco to the 11th ultimo, which are six days later than were received by the Coatzacoalcos at New Orleans.

The hostility of the various Indian tribes along the route is increasing.

Mr. Bishop, with a party of 40 men, who left LeJohn some time since to co-operate with Lieut. Beale, were attacked at the crossing of the Colorado by a force of 600 or 700 Indians, belonging to various tribes, mostly Mohave, Pahute and Tumas Indians.

The engagement lasted three hours and a large number of Indians were killed, the Americans maintained their ground.

After the battle Mr. Bishop conciliated the Indians by distributing presents among them, and finally received permission to pass through their country.

Mr. Bishop and his party, however, retreated and sent to Col. Hoffman for assistance.

Col. Hoffman was expected to arrive and attack the Mohave village about the 15th of April.

Capt. J. W. Davis was announced as a candidate for Representative from Hays and Guadalupe. It should have been Hays and Caldwell.

We commend to the public a lot of neat, beautiful and accurate maps of the State of Texas, embracing all the new counties with the boundaries defined in accordance with the actual surveys filed in the Gen. Land Office. These maps are highly colored, were made by Chas. V. Pressler, principal draughtsman, and are designed either for the office or the pocket. For sale at R. D. For the beautiful one presented to the Intelligencer Office, by Mr. R. D. Carr, we return our sincerest thanks.

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS by Uncle Zeb

Some four years ago Georgia and I visited the Chandor Gardens in Weatherford, Texas. Many articles have been written both about the gardens and about the man Douglas Chandor. The man became famous as a painter of portraits. The glowing, almost like life touch which he had the talent to give his work brought to this English born artist such customers as Franklin Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, and Queen Elizabeth along with Herbert Hoover and more than 300 other prominent people from all over the world. He came to the United States in 1926 and eight years later married a Miss Ina Hill from Weatherford and thus began the future plannings of this home and fantastic garden. Until his death a few years back this home was his retreat and his place to finish some of his work. The pictures which we are also so familiar of Mr. Roosevelt sitting behind the desk, as well as the commonly used one of Mr. Churchill and Queen Elizabeth were made by Mr. Chandor. Thousands of dollars and untold hours of work went into making this garden a thing of beauty. Helped by his faithful wife, who now continues to work seven days a week, they created and designed a nook here and a place there after the fashion of things in the countries he visited. Upon this ugly spot of almost worthless land in a somewhat hilly part of Weatherford he hauled away rock and carried back better soil until he had achieved his dream of a thing of beauty in Texas under its starry skies and open prairies. The house was fitted into the garden plans. It was so beautiful four years ago but this time we missed the best blooming season. Between the first and the 10th of April is supposed to be the most wonderful time. Since his death Mrs. Chandor makes a charge in order to keep the garden cared for and going. As we rode along our beautiful Texas highways from East Texas across to South Central Texas we had the pleasure of riding for the second time this year upon a portion of the almost finished section of the new limited access road being built along the route between Waco, Temple, Georgetown and other points in that vicinity. We agree with our first impression that this is a wonderful piece of road engineering. We understand that this stretch of road was one of the most dangerous traffic risks before its rebuilding. With its four-lane divided spacious main road and the easy ways of getting on and off plus complete local service roads on each side makes this section of a soon to be completed Interstate Highway one of the most beautiful we have seen as yet. Again, Congratulations to our Highway Department. Speaking of Belton, we heard our biggest fish story of the year there at the not too large but very beautiful Lake Belton. The story was going the rounds that a catfish weighing 48 pounds had just been caught from the lake. We didn't see the proof but did order fresh catfish in one of the local cafes and got large steaks of fat juicy, fried to perfection, and with no bones. Speaking of fish, our favorite as far as eating is concerned remains since our boyhood to be that of just plain old country catfish. We like mountain trout, in fact, we enjoy almost any kind so long as it is called fish. But for fish that tastes fishy you just can't beat the old-fashioned creek variety of fresh water catfish. If you have your own idea we'll accept an invitation of any kind of a fish dinner at your house for arguments sake. Open Letter to Gov. Daniel: Dear Gov. Daniel, We notice in the paper that you asked the legislature to pass the money raising bill before they started spending it. You are to be commended for this stand but of course you are "Plumb out of style" these days. Grandpa used to say that we should work hard and make money, "then spend some and save some." If he were here to tell us that today he would be even more so out of step with the times. Even Uncle Sam doesn't practice this kind of thing nowadays. For years his nephews have been going through his pockets in an effort to spend our way into prosperity. He's done forgot about the principle of the thing. It was a noble try though Governor, and we appreciate it a lot. For one thing it proves that you still haven't forgotten your "Raisin'". We suggest that you get an E for effort anyway. But let's don't worry about it. It ain't stylish anymore to worry about what you owe. Then, Texas has so many firsts that it is getting monotonous. In this Texas is probably the last taxing agency to go off the Sound Business Basis, and you are likely the last voice to ever mention this Pay-As-You-Go business. Grandpa is sleeping soundly nad our children are not old

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin — Between now and the middle of June the Legislature has only one goal to shoot at—getting the state "fiscally fit." Gov. Price Daniel limited topics for the 30-day special session to (1) paying off the $65 million deficit from the 1958-59 biennium, (2) passing an appropriation bill for 1960-61 and (3) passing a tax program to cover appropriations. When these things are taken care of, the governor indicated he might submit such items as the Hale-Aikin school program and medical payments for the aged. He favors both these programs, said Governor Daniel, but believes in taking first things first. To cover these "first" needs, the governor is pushing a tax program very similar to what he proposed last January. This includes the "bookkeeping bill" (to cut down the deficit by crediting more money to this year), a 3 percent severance tax on natural gas, a higher corporation franchise tax and the abandoned property bill, under which the state would take over unclaimed bank accounts and property. He is willing to revise the abandoned property bill to meet some of the objections that caused it to be defeated during the last session. Absolute deadline for getting the money problems solved is September 1, when the state begins a new fiscal year. Unless new appropriations are provided by then, the government, including schools, hospitals, etc., will grind to a halt. HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL — Legislators are again asking the people for a pay raise—this time a more modest amount. A proposed constitutional amendment, approved on the last day of the regular session, would give lawmakers an annual salary of $4,800. In addition, they would get $12 a day expense money for a 120-day session every other year.

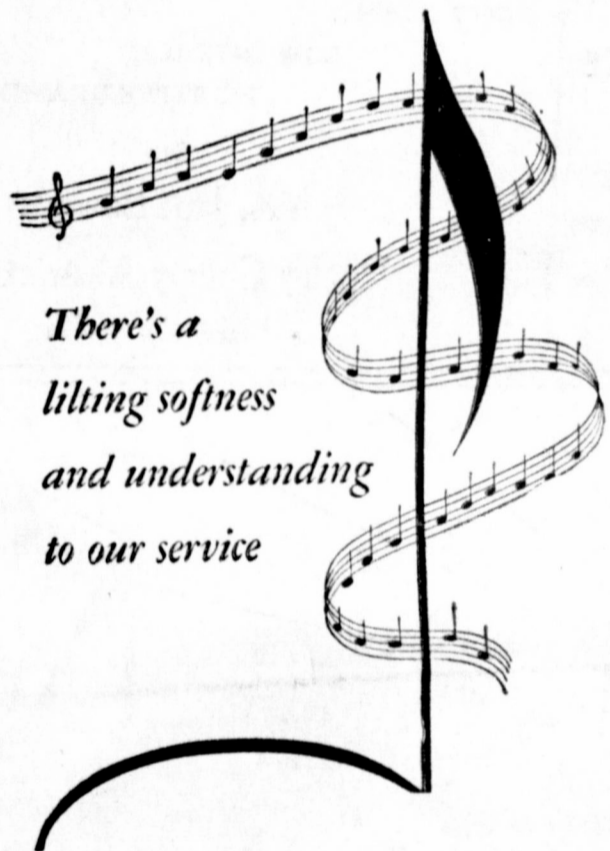

One of Texas' oldest traditions—scorching hot election days—is passing into history. Governor Daniel signed into law a measure moving primary elections up to the first Saturday in May and the first Saturday in June. Under the old law they were the fourth Saturdays in July and August. State conventions will be the second Tuesday after the runoff primary—or about the middle of June. This is the convention to name delegates to the national presidential nominating convention. Earlier elections had the strong backing of U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's friends and supporters. As a possible presidential nominee, he would be in a stronger position if his race for a new senatorial term were behind him at national convention time. Governor Daniel took exception and got the Legislature to change certain provisions of the bill before he signed it. He objected to having Democratic executive committee members elected by district caucuses rather than the whole convention. This provision was removed and the law remains as it was. He also didn't like the Legislature's proposal to have state conventions before the second primary, so the date was changed to 10 days after the second primary. NEW LAWS—These changes in Texas' way of doing things result from bills passed in the final days of the regular session: Driving an auto without the owner's permission becomes a felony offense. Under old law, to get a prison sentence, state prosecutors had to prove the person who took another's car intended to keep it. Maximum punishment under new law is three years in prison. Boat owners will have to register their craft and pay a license fee after April, 1960. Bill also requires warning lights and other safety devices on boats and prohibits reckless boating and water skiing. Non-English speaking children can receive three months pre-school instruction in basic English at the expense of the public school system. State inspection of livestock at auctions was provided. An amendment to assess livestock owners for cost of the program, estimated at nearly a half-million a year, failed. Interim studies have been authorized for the investment of the Teachers Retirement Fund, laws governing formation of water districts, financing of the Board of Water Engineers and fees charged by state agencies. Advertising prices as wholesale has been outlawed, unless the goods are intended for resale and a bona fide wholesale price is listed. Cal-roping contests will be legal under a new law. Unknown to many people, they apparently were not legal before. A state advertising program under the joint direction of the State Highway Department and Texas Industrial Commission was set up. An appropriation to get it going will have to come later. Sixteen successors to the governor were officially designated in a continuity of government bill passed to assure a living chief executive in event of atomic disaster. Corn meal and grits must be enriched with vitamins and minerals if they are to be sold for human consumption. Pensions of $80 a month were voted for some 100 former Texas Rangers and widows.

The Texas section of the American Society of Range Management is holding a field day near Wheeler, Texas, on June 12, 1959. The tour will start on the Tom Britt ranch and will visit adjoining ranches. Good range management will be seen. Spectacular results in brush control will also be observed. A large group of ranchers, research station personnel, and range specialists, are expected to attend.

According to Cap Morris, chairman, the Donley County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors feel that this would be a good opportunity for Donley County folks to see the results of brush control and proper range use. A group will leave Clarendon at 7:30 a.m. and drive to Wheeler to attend the tour. Everyone is invited to attend. Anyone interested in going should be at the Soil Conservation Service office about 7:15 a.m. Cars can be filled up and less vehicles will have to be taken.

The starting point of the tour is nine miles east of Wheeler on the Farm-to-Market road. Starting time is 9:30 a.m. and the tour will continue into the afternoon.

Quick Action Eases Threat To Texas Grainmen

Texas' important grain industry was recently faced with its worst insect threat in modern times when the dread grain-mangling Khapra beetle was sighted in the state for the first time in far West Texas.

First location of the beetle by agriculture inspectors in an El Paso grain and feed milling operation prompted an immediate investigation, and an emergency crew of inspectors was rushed to El Paso from other points in the state. Findings thus far indicate that the infestation is likely localized, and that spread of infestation is being curbed by government-supervised fumigation operations of all suspicious grain products moving out of the area.

A native of India, the Khapra beetle is the most feared pest known to grainmen, capable of destroying or seriously downgrading every form of grain and feedstuffs. The beetle is very difficult to eradicate, requiring that the entire infested storehouse be covered with impervious material (usually plastic), including the ground area surrounding the building for a radius of about 30 feet. Then the interior is fumigated with methyl bromide, allowing plenty of time for fumes to seep into every crack and crevice of the building where the Khapras may cling.

The Khapra beetle is primarily a stored grain pest and is not found in open grain fields. It can survive for as long as three years without any food at all, but in the larva stage the pest has an enormous appetite. Grain damage, depending on weather conditions, varies from 5 to 30 per cent although up to 75 per cent damage has been reported. The beetle is a "dirty" feeder, breaking or powdering more kernels than it consumes.

The adult Khapra—which belongs to the same family as the carpet beetle—is small, about one-sixteenth of an inch in length. It is a pale red-brown or black in color with wing covers that usually have distinct red-brown markings. The larvae, one-eighth of an inch long, are yellowish brown and clothed with long brown hairs. The area between the segments and the underside of the body is pale yellow in color, giving the worm a ringed appearance when viewed from above.

Presence of Khapra beetle in festation is usually first noticed by the presence of the fuzzy larvae or their cast skins in clusters around the corners of grain bins or in used sacks.

Any suspected infestation should be immediately reported to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Texas State Dept. of Health
Henry A. Holle, M. D., Com.

The next time you hear the rich full voice of your favorite singer, don't envy him. Pity him instead. He probably has extra large sinuses, and when they stop up...

Some racial groups are apparently immune to specific maladies which beset the rest of humanity. Eskimos rarely if ever get cancer. And toothache is practically unknown among natives in remote parts of the globe. But apparently the rule concerning sinus trouble is this: if you're human you're susceptible. Thus, if you suffer from a sinus condition either chronically or occasionally, you are in excellent company.

A nasal sinus is a lined cavity in the face bone which opens into the nose. There are two important ones on each side of the face: one in each cheek bone, and one over each eye.

Cheekbone sinuses are triangle-shaped, large enough to hold half an ounce of fluid. Oversized ones can hold up to a full ounce. Eyebrow sinuses are smaller, the average having a fluid capacity of one-fifth ounce.

Sinuses are lined with mucous membrane, a continuation of the membrane lining the nasal cavity. When a sinus lining becomes inflamed enough to interfere with drainage, someone is in for trouble.

You can get all sorts of answers as to what good purpose sinuses serve. Some specialists believe they warm and moisten air as it is inhaled. Others believe that sinuses, like the appendix, are evolutionary remnants which are sometimes more harmful than useful.

Sinus sufferers subscribe unanimously to this latter theory. But the truth probably is that sinus cavities serve as resonating chambers for the voice. Whether a person has a high or low pitched voice, according to this reasoning, is dependent on the size of his sinuses.

There are as many different causes of sinus inflammation as there are people suffering from it. Infection-producing agents such as viruses, and irritants such as pollens and dust are most often the cause. But facial injuries, infected teeth, and other conditions can also bring on flare ups.

What to do about it? Make sinuses drain, which is a little like telling the winter to go away. Still it can be done, if you can identify and eliminate the cause of irritation.

Temporary relief can sometimes be obtained with dilating drugs or inhalers, but the basic cause should be determined and treated by a physician.

DESTRUCTION OF AGING PERSONS CAN BE STOPPED

The destruction of the aging person by rejection must—and can—be stopped through individual community action.

That stand has been taken by Aubrey D. Gates, director of the American Medical Association's Division of Field Services. In his words: "We are permitting a new form of euthanasia—the destruction of the elderly—to stealthily fasten itself in practice in our society." And by this rejection, he adds, "we destroy them as surely as if they, like the unwanted infants of long ago, were tossed over a cliff."

This is purely a community matter, to be handled by community action. The first step, in Mr. Gates' view, is to inventory community assets in the form of its elder citizens. How many are there? What are their problems, if any? Are their valuable life experiences being utilized? Can their knowledge and skills be put to good use?

Once such questions as these are answered, the community can move to meet the needs. Adequate nursing homes, rehabilitation programs, and recreational activities for the elderly are examples of the requirements. If the necessary facilities don't exist, they can be built. Then the aged can remain in the community they will not have to be sent far away from loved ones and friends; they will not die from loneliness and isolation.

Medical progress is steadily lengthening the life span. But that will be in vain if we reject the aged and allow precious human values to be tragically and needlessly destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Turner and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mixon spent the weekend in Plainview.

Emmett Coleman of Amarillo visited last week here with his aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Bryson.

Cotton Is The Money Crop In Texas

Cash value from cotton and cottonseed in Texas for 1958 has been estimated at a whopping $756,655,000 by agricultural economists.

This means that last year Texas cotton growers received an average gross income of $140-12 for each harvested acre of cotton as compared with an average of $37.73 from all other crops.

This year, then, cotton will again be the best cash crop for farmers capable of producing high yields of good quality. But it is a challenge calling for quality production in an efficient and economical manner.

For most farmers, this goal was achieved in 1958. They harvested 4,350,000 bales from 5,400,000 acres with an average yield of 387 pounds of lint per acre. This was the highest acre yield since production records started way back in 1866. The yield was 121 pounds higher than the average of 226 pounds for the previous five years.

During this past winter however, conditions have been generally favorable for the buildup of many insects injurious to cotton. This is especially true in sections where the boll weevil and the pink bollworm are a problem. Last year, the farm cleanup and stalk destruction program were hampered by a late harvest and continued wet weather.

Complacency concerning the insect could easily prove disastrous to many cotton growers in 1959. No cotton producer should ever forget that when conditions are favorable for making good yields, conditions are also favorable for a buildup and damage from cotton insects.

A bulletin entitled Texas Guide For Controlling Cotton Insects in available to all farmers from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M. It can prove valuable in pointing out proven and practical insect control methods. All good cotton cultural methods should be practiced this year to help keep down injurious insects and make a profit out of the 1959 crop. Copies of the bulletin are available on request.

31 Donley County Residents Lose Drivers License In 1958

In a recent release from the Statistical Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety, on the number of suspensions of drivers licenses and motor vehicle registrations under the Safety Responsibility Act, 38,323 persons were listed as suspended in Texas during the year 1958.

Of the above numbered suspensions, 15,139 were suspended because of a conviction in court, of an offense making the suspension of their drivers license mandatory, such as: driving while intoxicated, driving while under the influence of problem. Last year, the farm cleanup and stalk destruction program were hampered by a late harvest and continued wet weather.

A bulletin entitled Texas Guide For Controlling Cotton Insects in available to all farmers from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M. drugs, aggravated assault with a motor vehicle, negligent homicide with a motor vehicle, murder without malice with a motor vehicle, and driving while license suspended. Another 23,184 were suspended because they had been involved in a motor vehicle accident in which $100 or more property damage was sustained by any one person or in which someone had been injured or killed and the drivers and/or owners were not covered by liability insurance or had not filed proof of financial responsibility with the Department of Public Safety as required by law.

During 1958, there were 31 suspensions placed in effect on residents of Donley County. Of these, 26 were for convictions in court requiring suspensions of drivers licenses and five were for failure to show proof of financial responsibility after being involved in an accident reportable under the Safety Responsibility Law. The above listed suspensions do not include person convicted in court or those involved in accidents, who filed acceptable proof of financial responsibility during the year.

There are three methods of showing proof of financial responsibility for suspensions resulting from convictions; they are:

1. A certificate of motor vehicle liability insurance (Form SR-22).
2. A bond in the amount of $15,000 signed by two persons owning real estate equal in value to at least twice the amount of such bond.
3. A certificate of deposit of money or securities with the State Treasurer in the amount of $15,000.

There are five methods of showing financial responsibility for past accidents. They are:
1. A motor vehicle liability insurance policy in effect at the time of the accident (Form SR-21.)
2. A release from liability signed by all damaged or injured persons.
3. An agreement to pay damages in installments.
4. An adjudication of non-liability by court of competent jurisdiction in a civil action.
5. Cash security deposit in an amount determined by the Department to be sufficient to pay any judgment for damages that might be obtained against the depositor.

Accidents Increase
A statewide study made last year through the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council on farm and ranch accidents showed that the number of accidents starts to increase with the step-up in production activities. Farmers and their families are urged by the Council not to take chances which can lead to crippling accidents or even fatalities. An accident now could cause a delay in farming activities and result in a crop failure and other serious economic losses. It is just good farm management, points out the Council, for every agricultural producer to practice farm safety.

FED UP

"The U. S. public is fed up with bureaucrats."

That is the finding of a Trendex News Poll, made in mid-April.

Those polled were asked whether, based on their experience, they preferred dealing with th employees of government or of private business. The result: private employees, 65.5 per cent; government employees, 12.5 per cent; about the same, 18.4 per cent; no opinion, 3.6 per cent.

There are, of course, many excellent and dedicated workers in government. But, that aside, bureaucracies tend to develop an attitude of indifference and outright contempt toward the citizens who foot the payrolls. That good old term, "public servant," seems to have pretty largely lost its significance.

President Eisenhower has been on the Boy Scouts' National Executive Board since 1948.

Farmers Are Customers

Farmers and ranchers are among the biggest customers of American industry.

For example:

There are 12 million tractors, cars and trucks on the U. S. farms. Agriculture buys more petroleum than any other industry. Farmers provide a market for 6½ million tons of finished steel annually.

Rubber used on the farms of America would put tires on nearly 6 million automobiles annually.

Sixteen per cent of the gross freight revenue is from agricultural products.

Agriculture consumes 50 million tons of chemicals each year. Agriculture uses more electric power than Chicago, Detroit, Houston, and Boston combined.

Total Acreage In Conservation Reserve Reported

Farmers in Donley County have 40 additional new contracts and 69 additional modified contracts to take land out of crop production and devote it to grass, according to Mr. Cooke, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. These new contracts, signed since last fall, include 10,290.9 acres of cropland that will be in the program for the first time in 1959.

The Conservation Reserve is a program under which farmers voluntarily sign contracts for periods of up to 10 years to shift land from crop production to conservation uses.

After farmers filed applications for contracts last fall, the cropland included in each approved application was inspected by representatives of the County ASC committee to determine:

1. That the land was eligible for the program;

2. The exact acreage of the land; and

3. That the land offered was of average quality for the farm. All the work related to approving land for the 1959 contracts has now been completed and the newly signed contracts are in effect. The crop acreage in Donley County on which Conservation Reserve contracts are in effect for the current crop season now totals 31,715.7 acres including the land covered by contracts signed in 1956, 1957 and 1958, as well as 1959.

The Fighting Heart and the Best Girl Athlete Awards are also given by Mr. Knorpp. These awards include athletics only and are not necessarily given to the best athletes but are given to the athletes who, in the opinion of the coaches, came the nearest to giving their best in all games and workouts, also complying to training rules and regulations. The Fighting Heart Award was given to Milton Mann and the Best Girl Athlete Award to Jo Ann Bennett. This was the third consecutive year that Miss Bennett has received this award. Both these students were seniors this year.

LEADER CLASSIFIEDS GET RESULTS

LEAD SPRAYER—When planes flew lower and slower during World War II, this anti-aircraft weapons system of four 50-caliber machine guns, towed or mounted on a tracked vehicle, proved to be a highly effective mobile defender of front line positions. With the advent of the jet age and combat in Korea, soldiers merely depressed the four barrels and found themselves with a tremendously lethal anti-personnel weapon, capable of firing 2400 rounds a minute, for cutting a swath through mass waves of attacking Communist troops.
